CALL AT DAVIES' STORE

And see the large stock of New Fall Cloth Bound books at 15 cents and up. Our variety of novel ies far excels in design and quality any we have beretofore shown, and at low prices. We are well stocked with School Books, Tablets and School Supplies. A full line of up-odate stationary.

In our music line we have just received a beautiful Chickering Bros. Pieno in a dark oak case, finely finished, and with hand carved parels. The action is fine, and the singing tone of the instrument is excellent. Another new piano just received is a Mahogany Case Hamilton Piano, made by the well known D. H. Baldwin Co. at their Chicago factory. This instrument was granted high honors at the last Paris Exposition, and is a fine plano at a moderate cost. We also have a large size Bentley Piano, walnut case. This is a strong and durable instrument.

In organs we have Estey, Western Cottage and the ideal.

"I can look after her," said Mary, confidently. "I'll take care she doesn't get on the line."
"Ah that reminds me!" exclaimed Will, "I must rig up a gate at the end of the garden ito keep her off the line. I'll do it to-morrow?" he added quite sectiously, as though he fancied that the baby would be running out on the line before they were aware of it if he were not quick about the task,
"What shall we call her?" inquired Mary, when they had returned to the kitchen. "I think it would be a good idea to give her a name that would remind us of how she came. Suppose we call her "Express, eh?"
Mary booked at blim as if she had an inspiration. Will shook his head doubtfully.
"Don't seem to be a very handy sort of name," he explained. "And we heard a girl called that, have you?"
"That wouldn't matter?" exclaimed Mary. "I don't see why such a darling as that should be bound to have a name that any other girl can have. Weth." turned May angrily. "When I say
I've nothing to do, of course I can

She took it up and soothed it by coking it in her arms. She contrived to give it some milk and water, feeding it with little drops in a teaspoon. Then it dropped into a slumber of peace and innoceance, and Mary sat with it li her arms and waited. It was nearly 10 o'clock before Will returned, and he found Mary still sitting with the baby askep in her arms. She held up her head with a warning expression on her face as he entered rather noisily with his heavy boots. "S-s-sh! You'll wake her, Will!" "Why didn't you put her in bed?" Inquired Will in a stage whisper. "Been holding her all this thre?" "I couldn't turn the clothes down without disturbing her," replied Mary in the same tone, "and she's so comprehable inde easy like here that I was afraid to venture. You can do it now." He was a man somewhat advanced in years, whose hands and legs were twisted with rileumatism.

"Thompson," lasked the private secretary, "how are you this summer?"

"All right, sit, thank you," the old man replied, wonderlingly.

"You get around, don't you, Thompson? Your midd is clear, your general health as good as may be expected? The doctor, you told me the other day, said you might live for years, a little twisted and bent, but well able to attend to your duties, and to support your family?"

"Yes, sit."

"Well, Thompson, the Secretary just wanted to meet you, and to wish you a continuance of good health. It is evident to him now and to all for it is absolutely useless to figure that the Bee has no influence. It has and it is wide agread and good reasoning will got suggest, the setting down upon a great influence for spite work. It is poor politics. That influence is sure, if trampled upon, to sting back and the result is serious both ways.

The republicans of Nebraska have every reason to congratulate themselves over the work done by their committee during the contest which closed so auspiciously on Tuesday. They have renewed confidence, too, in their chairman, Harry C. Linsay, who has led them with signal ability through three hard fought and successful campaigns. Under the leadership of clean and strong young men like Mr. Lindsay a new era has dawned for the republican party in this state.—State Journal.

RAILROAD WRECKED CLOTHING

railroad wrecked clothing. The American people like novelties, they want new things and are always ready to patronize anything that has a mystery about it Very few people are ever satisfied with the purchase they make of anyone selling merchandise out of the regular way, but the spirit of adventure prompts them to try it again when another opportunity presents itself. We are not finding fault with the treatment we receive from the people of Wayne County, we do not wish to driticize people for buying clothing where they please, but we desire to remind everone that we are in the clothing business. Our trade is much better than we had reason to expect. We are satisfying a large number of the people and while we have nothing about our store that has been "wrecked" or is "mysterious," we have real hargains. You get satisfaction if you trade here, and save money on every purchase you make. Our clothing is the best made. Our method of doing business is the latest; and the only fair method between mag and man. We treat all alike and have one price to all. We warrant everything we sell. Your money is refunded if you are not satisfied with your purchase. Our stock is now complete. Why not look at it before you buy elsewhere?
