ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

St. Valentine's Day was the busiest day at the post office the present postmaster has ever known during the five years in the office. If anyone missed getting one or more it was strange. The lobby of the office was crowded with people all afternoon and the sale of penny and two cent stamps kept one person busy for several hours. The dealers in valentines had an enormous business and sold out everything in that line. Many things for substitutes were used instead.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

Witness the performance of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and be convinced that it is the greatest dramatic drama of the period.

Dramatized from Anthony Hope's novel of similar title, the popularity of the play has even exceeded that of the book, which is now in its fiftieth edition, making a total of over five hundred thousand copies sold.

E. B. Sothorn found "Zenda" the best of drawing cards, appearing in it for an entire season in New York City. Its success on the road is but the duplicate of its metropolitan career.

Shipman Brothers are directing the present tour, and nothing that might add to the production, has been neglected. The members of the company have each been chosen for their special adaptability for the parts assigned. The settings of the Prologue and four succeeding acts are marvels of stage fixtures; and the costuming rich and costly, is artistic and consequently harmonious.

Those who appreciate a fine performance, must not miss the present engagement of "The Prisoner of Zenda" booked at the Auditorium, Wakefield, Neb., Feb. 24.

Don't forget that a year's subscription to the HERALD entitles you to one of those guaranteed outside thermometers and barometers.

Isaac Arvold, well known in Wausau, has accepted a position with the Bargain Clo. Co., and gone with the concern to Wayne. Mr. Arvold, who has been here for some three years past, expects to return in March to his home in Norway, but whether he goes to remain permanently or only on a visit we did not learn. While calling at our office one day this week Isaac showed us a photograph of his parents home, just recently received; it is a beautiful place and one which he may well be proud of.—Weekly Gazette.

There can be no doubt but a real fight between the people and the trusts will be precipitated in the near future as a result of the determination of the present administration to have a trust regulation bill passed at this session of congress. When such a fight comes all persons regardless of party affiliation should start shoulder to shoulder with president Roosevelt who is now and will champion the interests of the people. Let all those who were disappointed in the relief they desire from a former democratic administration come forward now and assist the people, which they can do by standing with the president in his efforts to relieve the country of oppressive wicked trusts. No man need be afraid to follow the lead of Roosevelt for when the fighting is done and the victory won he will be found fighting for the rights of the people.—O'Neill Frontier.

FROM LINCOLN.

On Thursday, Feb. 12, the ninety-fourth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, Deputy Supt. McBrien, of the state department of public instruction gave an instructive and entertaining account of Some Things Lincoln Did.

Director E. A. Burnett of the experiment station and Regent C. J. Ernst accompanied the joint committee of Agriculture from the House and Senate to Ames, Iowa, Friday to visit the Ames Agricultural College.

J. A. Barrett of the State Historical Society has prepared a number of maps showing the sources of Nebraska's population from 1854 to 1893. They indicate the states from which the people emigrated to Nebraska and also the nativity of those who came from foreign countries.

The State Museum has just received from Mr. and Mrs. James Cook of Sioux county a fine collection of moss agates which were found on their extensive ranch along the Moberly.

J. I. Mosberger of Lincoln, has presented to the State Museum a collection of thirty moonstones which he found on Catalina Island, California.

Ralph C. Ioper, a University law student has an article in the February number of "The Open Court" on the religious beliefs of Abraham Lincoln. The article is said to be one of the most complete statements of the beliefs of Lincoln that has been published in any magazine. Mr. Ioper not only searched the works of Lincoln but has gone through twenty volumes on the life of Lincoln for evidence of his views on the subject of religion. He concludes that Lincoln believed in God but not in the divinity of Christ; in salvation through works and not in a deathbed repentance; and in the evolution under law of all things in creation.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Football has had its period of ephemeracy; racket ball has passed its zenith of favor; base ball has come into the arena to make glad the hearts of university fans and exploit the fame of ambitious athletes. Though work has but recently begun along this line yet the boys are doing their daily stunts in the "cage." About twenty five men have handed in their applications, of these the large number are candidates for battery positions. But three old men are back this year, yet the showing is promising and a strong team ought to be collected from the material on hand.

While the junior laws were waiting for their professor, who was late in arriving, the time was utilized by stump speeches from various members, who eulogized the junior law class and proceeded to pronounce an inquisition on its individual members and extract if possible some of the laurels accumulated by the senior class; in the course of these forensic opinions, some one suggested the propriety of supporting a junior ball team, when a senior arose to make a suggestive remark as to the inability of the junior department to concoct anything commendable. It is an unwritten law in the legal department of the university that no senior shall speak in junior councils. This infraction on president was heedlessly overlooked by the senior, who strenuously demanded recognition as he waived his arms in retribution to the numerous cries of "sit down" and gestulated in true oratorical style. Some one suggested to "put him out" never was a command attempted to be executed with such alacrity by the juniors. The sound of conflict was born to the seniors in the library adjoining, who seated the spirit of battle and collecting their disjointed forces came to the rescue of their class mate, as each side was preparing for the final rush the belated professor arrived and peace was proclaimed without formal negotiations.

When Klock-feller sent that message to the United States, he forgot that that August body was representing, or supposed to be, about 80 millions of people, not Klock-feller, and how he wishes that he hadn't.

Organized labor of this country has won its first great victory over the hokeyish monopolists and it is not the least either. Does any one think for a moment that the great mass of the people of the United States don't approve Roosevelt's attitude in the recent coal troubles as well as in numerous other cases?

Senator Warner has framed a new judicial bill doing away with four judges, which if passed will be a saving to the state of over $20,000 a year. This district will be known as the seventh district and have two judges and will consist of the counties of Boone, Madison, Stanton, Channing, Thayer, York, Dakota, Antelope, Pierce, Knox, Cedar, Dixon and Wayne.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature providing for an authorizing municipal corporations within the state of Nebraska, in times of famine or where the price is artificially enhanced by combination, of food products and coal, to purchase said necessities and sell the same to its citizens at actual cost price thereof. The passage of this bill will have a salutary effect, and that it will pass is a sure thing.

The railroad seems to be the bone of contention in the legislature, in the city, in the towns and in the country. So far as Wayne County is concerned the railroad company pays a nice fat tax into the county treasury, that ought to be satisfactory. However, the principal kink here is, because it is believed that rates to and from the cities of Omaha and Sioux City, are entirely too high in comparison with the rates for much greater distances elsewhere, because there is no competition. If this was remedied it is doubtful if a single kink would be forthcoming from the people in this vicinity.

The elevator men have representatives at Lincoln, this week, lobbying in an endeavor to defeat any legislation that would place the farmers of the county upon an equality with these combine. A bill having been introduced in the legislature providing that farmers or others may build elevators costing not less than $5,000 and connect with railroads to build side tracks to them, etc. The men forget that the legislative body is composed of 53 farmers a majority of the House and that these representatives of the backbone of the state cannot be hoodwinked. Men do not appreciate having grain to town for which they must take any old price and some times be obliged to haul it home again because the combine refuse to take it. Competition should prevail in the business the same as in any other. Most people in Wayne county would be pleased to see the Brady bill passed.

some republican newspapers have been getting very hard on the Christian-tying citizens of Cuba, regarding the late Andrew Carnegie. The editor of the "Protective Tariff League" writes the editor of the "Cuba" that the Carnegie Committee that deceased at the same place divides in his bill higher proper as to allow for reduction in these things. Mr. Carnegie wants them retained at their old-fashioned rate. But with in a few days the anniversary of the birth of William McKinley will be observed and the people of the United States will be reminded of his noble "Gospel of the Peace" which he put in the city when he met death and will be well acquainted with the resolution of THE LEAGUE.

Read and contrast according to the views and principles of the man who delivered it, and according to its literary language, the speech of President McKinley in September, 1901, at Buffalo, in perfect harmony with the doctrine and policy of THE AMERICAN PROTECTIVE TARIFF LEAGUE. It is a genuine, competitive reciprocity that THE LEAGUE has pronounced. It was against competitive reciprocity that William McKinley pronounced in his Buffalo speech when he favored only another trade arrangement as "should not injure domestic industry" or "overrule home production." It is for that kind of reciprocity, and only that kind, which the Republican national platform of 1900 declared. It is the only kind of authorized Republican reciprocity. Competitive reciprocity is out of tune with sound Republicanism and with sound Protectionism. It is sectional, selfish and democratizing at home and it is certain, as Mr. Carnegie says, to breed trouble in our relations with foreign countries. It is, in short, a thing best left alone by Republicans.

What a deceptive old world this is to be sure. The pessimist struck this town when he said in his hurry and enthusiasm "all men are liars." He might have struck thirty if he had included women. And so long as the millennium is an iridescent dream, so long as the earth is peopled by those who have only in limited numbers attained sinless perfection the lie is a valuable invention, an ever present help in time of need. If we all told the truth about one another, what a miserable world it would be. How we would be lying at each others throats or taking the other side of the street. Chancel rails of churches would be used for halahals to illustrate our remarks. The rolling pin would give way to more deadly weapons. Suppose our thoughts were registered on a thinkometer. How would we date look each other in the face? How could we go to a reception and tell the host and hostess when we departed we had had a delightful time? How could a woman ask her callers to come again? How could we congratulate our friends on their success when the register showed us to be "barning with envy"? How—but there are a million possibilities anybody can foresee, that would confront us all. Therefore brethren and at the hazard of discouraging something regarded as im-

The Venezuelan blockade was raised Monday, a satisfactory agreement having been reached with that nation and the allied powers of Great Britain, Germany and Italy, through the administration of Consul Bowen, representing the United States, who is being congratulated from all sides.

According to the New York Tribune the new senator at Albany who offered a resolution for an amendment to the constitution providing that state senators should receive a salary of $3,000 a year while the representatives should humbly draw $3,500 to an illustration of the proverb "Poole rush in where angles fear to tread." This sort of discrimination has not been a temptation since the early days of the republic. Way back in the '90s of the nineteenth century, a senator in congress Jolly looked up by the business of his office, undertook to get through a bill and increasing the pay of senators and putting off the congressman with a much smaller salary. The way the lower house sat on that proposition was a warning that has been heeded ever since. When the lower house of congress or of state legislature lets a proposition of that sort go through it will surely be time for the pigs to begin to fly.

By virtue of an Order of Sale, to me directed by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the May 1900 term thereof, in and to the proceedings in said court where in Fuller & Johnson Manufacturing Company was plaintiff and Eli Jones, Mary Jones, The Wayne National Bank, Frank E. E. P. Olmsted made a trip to Randolph on Tuesday.

M. S. Davies was a Sioux City visitor Monday afternoon.

Dr. W. D. Hammond went to Wauson on business Tuesday.

Postmaster Panning of Aitona, was a Wayne visitor Tuesday.

M. S. Merrill was looking after business matter at Carroll Tuesday.

Alex Terwilliger went to Hartington yesterday afternoon to attend a party given there last evening.

The Danish Orchestra will give their last dance of the season in the hall at Aitona on Saturday evening, February 21. Everybody is invited.

Authenticity and Inerrancy of the Scriptures, and Personal Influence are the subjects at the Presbyterian church Sunday. You are specially invited.

The Acme Club meets Tuesday, Feb. 24, with Mrs. J. T. Bressler, leader, Mrs. Crawford, Critic, Mrs. H. F. Wilson, Lesson, pages 221-232, Universal Religions.

A medicine show has been holding the board at the opera house the past few nights, but owing the extensive cold weather the audiences have not been very large.

The Monday Club will enjoy a number of its pleasant events on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Wightman has a birthday and has invited the ladies to an old fashioned quilting, a supper of "the golden times" also.

The millinery of the past few days has extended from coats to coats and is general all over the country from north to south. In many places it is much worse than in this section, while in the ranges to the west the loss of stock has been very large.

Last Saturday, M. S. Davies delivered two Estay organs, direct from the factory, one to Mrs. Aug. Ulrich, at Winston; the other to Rev. C. Iffert, at Hoskins. When people want the best in musical instruments they come to Wayne.

Prof. Gregg's bill, house roll No. 154, providing that School Teachers, Principals, Superintendents shall not receive their full terms pay until they shall have made their full report as provided by law, passed the house Monday, by a vote 62 to 12. His bill house roll 143, was also ordered advanced to third reading.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith entertained twenty ladies and gentlemen at high five, in honor of Mrs. E. P. Ellis of Omaha, on Saturday, Feb. 14. Late refreshments were served and Mrs. William carried home the ladies prize, a china Bon Bon dish. Dr. Williams captured a handsome Niagara Falls inkwell. Every one had a royal good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith most delightfully entertained at a six o'clock "Tea" on Tuesday evening, in honor of Mrs. C. B. French, of Sioux City. The table was a delight in beauty and the repast was served in four courses. All enjoyed the flower game that followed. Those invited were Messrs. and Mesdames Main, Bressler, H. Wilson, Clark, J. Britton and Tricker, also Mesdames C. B. French, Mary Jones, McLeod, Sigworth and E. P. Ellis.

Last week, Sheriff Mears, took the two crazy men to Lincoln alone, thereby saving the county $24.30, that the law provides for attendants. A few weeks before he also took two prisoners to the penitentiary alone, and thereby saved the county $26.50. Grant is not bigger than a mountain, but he makes a splendid Sheriff and the people of Wayne county will bear this in mind next fall. Obiding, courtions, and ever ready to fulfill his duties to the letter, are qualifications that fit a man for the position, these he possesses.

The Lincoln Star says: "The house in which Jesse James was killed will be on exhibition at the exposition. Missouri might have made a better impression upon visitors by forgetting that Jesse James ever was a Missourian. By the way, it is to be hoped that Nebraska will not give the curious thousands to understand that her principal productions are coyotes and rattlesnakes, and that an ordinary Nebraska frame house is built of eod. Enough people think that way already, and too many. What we should advertise at St. Louis is the Nebraska of today, not the one of thirty years ago."

RHEUMATISM

CURED AT LAST

Good News For all Who Suffer with Rheumatism, free.

To all who suffer with rheumatism I will gladly send free the wonderful story of how my mother was cured after years of suffering, together with the most elaborate treatment on rheumatism ever published. No matter what your form of Rheumatism is, whether acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, deformed, sciatic, neuralgia, gut, umbago, etc.—no matter how many doctors have failed in your case—no matter how many so-called "sure cures" you have tried—I want you to write to me and let me tell you how my mother was cured.

I am neither a doctor nor a Professor—simply a plain man of business—but I have a CURE for Rheumatism, and I want to tell everyone who suffers with Rheumatism all about it. I wish to be clearly understood, and trust that all who are suffering with this terrible disease, however apparently beyond the reach of cure, will write to me this day and I will send you by return mail the work of mine. I appeal especially to the "chronically ill" who are wearied and discouraged with "doctoring" and to those who have been cast aside as "incurable." All you have thought about Rheumatism may be wrong. Let me tell you my experience. Surely, if you have Rheumatism, or have a suffering friend, it will pay you to investigate my offer, anyway, and prove yourself these claims I make.

Send me your address today—a postal card will do—and I will mail you this wonderful story. If you have any friends suffering with Rheumatism no matter where located send me their address, and I will mail them a copy. My address is Victor Rainolds, Bloomfield, Indiana.

ACME CLUB ENTERTAINED.

The Acme Club and their husbands were entertained by Messrs and Mesdames F. G. Philten, J. T. Bressler, H. F. Wilson and Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams, at the home of the former last Thursday evening. A delightful three course meal was served at six o'clock, after which the guests played progressive Hunch. Walter Weber captured the gentlemen's prize, and Mrs. Corlitt the ladies' prize. The favors were cards upon which were painted Gibson Heads. The rooms and tables were beautifully decorated with ferns, also red, pink and white carnations. Mrs. Mose and Mrs. Bressler, also Mr. Weber and Prof. Davies furnished violin and piano music.

The event was in honor of the Club's 18th anniversary and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Don Bixby in the Daily Drift of the State Journal says: "If we were to compute the sentence of Noe's grandfather to imprisonment for life. The man is not right to the head. He is degenerate and can not help it. Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." It may sound brutal to some to disagree with the sentiments expressed in this paragraph, but there are a whole lot of people in this section of the state who have no hesitancy in standing by the conviction that Noe's grandfather merits the punishment decreed by the courts and nothing less. As long as there is a law providing for capital punishment this man is certainly one against whom it should be enforced as his crime was thoroughly brutal. Fatherhood there are a large number of people who would have taken the law in their own hands had they doubted that such would be the murder's fate. It is not believed that the governor has been requested to show clemency by anyone cognizant of the crime, and the resultant impression is, they are entirely satisfied with the court's degree. There would be many to compliment the governor should he follow the advice of the Journal post, but there would unquestionably be much dissatisfaction in this part of the state where the crime was committed.

The battlefeld should be the last resource of nations.
 There is a natural and necessary progression from the extreme of anarchy to the extreme of tyranny, and arbitrary power is most easily established on the ruins of liberty abused to licentiousness.

A FORFEITED STEPFATHERHOOD

ELMER Harding picked up an envelope addressed to the firm which he was senior partner.

"Where is the letter which this contained?" asked Harding, as he held up the empty envelope.

"I will bring it," the woman who wrote it wanted us.

"I'll read the letter then and find out what it says."

"You're a fool, Elmer Harding," he said, pulling himself together with a sigh.
