WAYNE, NEB. W. H. MONROE, Publisher DEFALTER PENNELL

SENSATIONAL ALLEGATION BY A BUFFALO NEWSPAPER.

Says He Was Shot $150,000 - It is Said He Contemplated Suicide for Two Years, and Sought Opportunity to Make It Appear Accidental.

A Buffalo, N. Y., dispatch says: The Commercial Monday afternoon published a story in which it is alleged that Arthur E. Pennell, who was killed in an automobile accident on March 10 was a defaulter to the extent of from $150,000 to $200,000.

The story, the Commercial says, leaked out as the result of a legal dispute over two life insurance policies and is to the effect that Pennell induced friends in the east who had known his family and the family of his wife to place money in his hands for investment. He acted, in fact, as their financial agent. He would inform them of some good investment which he had come across, which would pay an excellent rate of interest, and they would send him money.

Wallace Thayer, who was Pennell's attorney and intimate friend, is referred to by the paper as saying he had suspected irregularities, but that he had no proof of any such wrongdoing.

Incidentally it has been learned that Pennell had provision for the payment to Mrs. Edwin L. Burdick of $25,000 out of his life insurance.

Pay When You Get Ready.

Did you ever stop to think that when you bought clothing and told the merchant to charge it until you got some money, that you were paying from 10 to 25 per cent more than you ought to? Now you may be one that pays his store accounts in a short time, but if you buy clothing where they sell them on the principle of pay when you get ready, you will be charged up for the fellow that only pays once a year and the fellow that never pays. If you stop to think you will realize that a merchant who will sell you a suit and let you pay when you get ready must charge more than we do. Why should you pay as much for a suit when you pay cash as another does who don't pay for a year? That is not all. Merchants that sell clothing on time sell a cheaper quality than we do. That is like burning a candle at both ends. It takes lots of money to buy your clothing if you do business where they let you pay when you get ready. Don't do it. See us before you buy your clothing and you will understand why it pays to trade here. Our stock is the largest in Wayne and equal to any stock in a much larger town. Our clothing is all guaranteed to give satisfaction and is in style. We buy direct from the factory in large quantities and for cash, saving you at least 25 per cent on your purchase. We pay no rent and do business with less expense than any house selling clothing in Wayne. We have had longer experience in the clothing business and there is no reason why you can't save money by trading here. Try it and be convinced that you can save money on clothing by trading with us.

The bill appropriating $100,000 for the rebuilding of the Norfolk hospital for insane is now a law, and North Nebraska is to retain the one state institution it had. The measure was so much in line of a business proposition that there was very little opposition to it in either house when once it was thoroughly understood. The Press has never had any doubt of the outcome for this reason, but still it congratulates Norfolk and North Nebraska on the restoration of the institution.—Norfolk Press.

Robbed The Grave.
A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of an 'other victim.' No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at L. P. Or-h's drug store.

Stoerfer's enemies will gloat over defeating him for a second term, just the same. His vindication now comes too late to save him in a political sense but it ought to serve to prove that those who fought him are unworthy of confidence and should be discarded in the future.—Fremont Tribune.

There has been considerable talk of a sewerage system and the talk is based upon common sense. The amount of money expended upon the streets every spring and in other ways in a few years costs more than it would to perfect a sewerage system that would be lasting and of untold benefit to the city in every particular. The matter should be taken up this year as well as the building of a reservoir for the filtering of the city water, which is not in the best condition and there is much reason for complaint. The HERALD believes that Mayor Britton elect has a great deal of pride for his home city and that he will exert his best efforts to bring about these results. May he be successful.

Saturday was a very busy day at the Library. It certainly is very gratifying to see such an interest taken in this enterprise by the children.

CHAPTER V.

After breakfast the next morning Miss Barbara walked to the stables, which were situated a short distance from the house. Brie had not yet had a chance to see her, and she was a little disappointed.

"Why, that's strange!" cried Barbara, with widening eyes, inwardly very much pleased. "He said nothing about it to me, and I have no riding habit."

"Mrs. Rutherford has one, and you are about to have it. He has asked her for it. It is a very nice one, and I think it will suit you very well."

"I received your invitation at second hands," she said, with a shy glance. "I thought you would not want it, and I thought I would give it to you."

"I do not believe that your mother would promise to make such a suggestion to me," Barbara deliberately said, the color reddening from her face, a steady gleam of light in her brown eyes.

the reply. "It's a trait. The owner has come back. I'll have sent her Barbara, you'll marry him some time, and own Croylands. It would be just like your luck. Oh, you'd compound yourself with sufficient dignity, only you'd be sort of throwing yourself away."

"Where are you going?" asked Barbara, not liking his allusions. "To the Black Hills."

"No, you are not strong enough," she said. "You are not strong enough. I am. To dig, do you mean? Well, maybe not. They can put me to some use. I suppose they have cemeteries out there, for they're progressive, you know."

"I never reminded you of it," Barbara softly rejoined. "No, you didn't—not even when I kept on asking. He's hooped me now, the fellow. Maybe that's a sign that I'm not lost to all sense of shame. I hope it is. Then, too, how shamefully I acted toward you, your dear, kind, high-hearted father! He's gone now, and I couldn't ask him to forgive me, even if I wanted to."

"I think you might," he pleaded. "Don't mistake me, Barbara, and his hand shook as he lifted it to his mouth. "I'd like to see you back again, if you can. I'll be glad to see you. I'll be glad to see you. I'll be glad to see you."

"I do not believe that your mother would promise to make such a suggestion to me," Barbara deliberately said, the color reddening from her face, a steady gleam of light in her brown eyes.

Trace Generosity. A charming story of the late Queen of England, recounted by A. F. Story, is told in the "Childhood of Queen Victoria." It is so consistent with the Queen's known kindness of heart that it speaks for its own truth.

The Princess Victoria had set her heart on buying a doll she had seen in a shop window; but her mother, the Duchess of Kent, would not let her buy it until her next allowance of pocket money was due.

At last the day came, and the Princess hurried to the shop, paid over the six bright shillings and got the long-coveted doll.

On coming out of the shop with the treasure in her arms, the Princess encountered a wretchedly miserable stranger, who plucked up courage enough to ask for help. The Princess hesitated a moment; then, realizing that she no longer had any money left for the man, she returned to the shopkeeper and gave him back the doll.

Women Railway Workers in France. In France there are 15,000 women employed as gatekeepers at the railroad crossings. They get very small pay, but the railroads provide each one with a house and a small garden plot free.

Couldn't Remember. "Who was that you just spoke to?" asked the first Chicago woman. "His face was rather familiar to me." "I believe," said the other, "his name is Jenks—Henry Jenks."

Provoked Wit in Others. "I suppose those newly rich friends of yours will entertain in society next season." "No," answered Miss Cayenne; "they won't entertain. They will amuse."—Washington Star.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

Mrs. Mary A. Villet, Newcastle, Colo., writes: "I believe Ballard's Horse-hound Syrup is superior to any other cough medicine, and will do all that is claimed for it, and it is so pleasant to take. I have never known a breed of cows that could go over Sunday without being milked when they are in full flow of milk. Where milk is taken to the creamery it is difficult to care for it in summer on Sunday unless there is a supply of ice or some very excellent place to keep it. Some arrangement ought to be made for caring for the Sunday milk without depending on the creamery or any other outside feature of the business.—Homestead.

Good For Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and self-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. L. P. Orth.

Speed the spring plowing so that one may be ready to plant corn when the ground is warm enough. One very good way to ascertain this is to observe the oak leaves which will put out where the earth is in proper temperature and not one day earlier. I have seen them come out the last week in April and I have seen them not put forth until the first of May. This is not a moon sign; it is a plain case of cause and effect. A warm hillside exposed to the rays of the sun can be planted earlier than one with opposite conditions. The dry, friable soil can be planted earlier than the cold, sour and clammy soil. The planter will need to know his business.—Homestead.

Bring on your oak leaves.

Due Notice Is Served.

Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles that would not yield to any other treatment, and this fact has brought out many worthless counterfeits. Those persons who get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are never disappointed, because it cures. L. P. Orth.

Walks Without Crutches.
I was much afflicted with so-called writes Ed. C. Nad, Iowaville, Sedgwick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me, I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons, all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c 50c and $1.00 at Raymond's Drug Store.

A newspaper whose columns overflow with advertisements of businessmen has more influence in attracting attention to build up a town than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor go where there is an enterprising community. No power on earth is so strong to build up a town so well as a paper well patronized and its power should be appreciated. The man who overlooks his town paper injures himself by injuring his town and townsmen.—John Wanaamaker.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin of Wipacosh, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at L. P. Orth drug store.

A Story Worth Telling

We never tire of telling the story of Uneeda Biscuit. We do not believe that lovers of good, wholesome food ever tire reading it.

Uneeda Biscuit are the result of two ideas. That soda crackers could be made better than they had ever been made before. That it was possible to convey them to the home fresh, crisp and clean.

The importance of the soda cracker as an article of daily consumption, made this worthy of extraordinary effort. True, many people laughed at the idea of so much thought—time—labor—capital, being devoted to a soda cracker. But the greatest industries of the greatest country in the world have been developed from smaller things than a soda cracker, and so it seemed worth while to make the best soda cracker that could be made and to place it on the table as good as it had been made.

To do the first required the selection of the best materials, of the best equipment, the highest skill. To do the second upset all traditions. The oldest bakers said there was no way to keep a soda cracker good.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

A Story Worth Telling

That no one expected it any way. That people were satisfied to eat them stale, as they had been in the habit of doing. And so it fell to the lot of younger minds to do this unheard of thing—to keep a soda cracker good until eaten.

The result was the creation of the In-cr-seal Package with red and white seal. An invention that kept out the air, moisture, dust germs, that first retained the natural flavor of the biscuit, keeping it crisp and fresh until it reached the table, and so Uneeda Biscuit became a reality. The little thing that seemed hardly worth while became a great thing that seemed hardly possible.

To-day over 300,000,000 packages have been consumed by the thoughtful people of this country and the demand is ever increasing.

That is the story of Uneeda Biscuit. Some day we will tell it over again for the benefit of those who are still "satisfied" with the stale and broken crackers that come in a paper bag, when they can get Uneeda Biscuit whole, fresh, and clean.

Often Disagree With Us

Because we overeat of them. Indigestion follows. But there's a way to escape such consequences. A dose of a good digestant like Kodol will relieve you at once. Your stomach is simply too weak to digest what you eat. That's all indignation is. Kodol digests the food without the stomach's aid. Thus the stomach rests while the body is strengthened by wholesome food. Doing is unnecessary. Kodol digests any kind of food for you. Strengthens and invigorates.
