The Miller Manure Spreader.

Doubles the value of manure by covering two acres where you could only cover one by hand.

Note the following points of superiority over other makes.

It is just the right width to straddle corn rows and leave all land evenly covered with manure. Other machines can not do good work without driving team and spreader wheels on cut corn-stubble, a thing any farmer knows is impossible. The Miller is the Only Spreader that will do good work in winter. Why? Because it has a solid bottom that is scraped clean every load. It is low down, making it easy to load. Is lighter draught than any other machine. We can stop or start cylinder independent of feed, either is operated at will of driver. We can put on 6, 10, or 15 loads per acre and unload in six minutes. Is simple, strong and durable, having been on the market 14 years. Try one.

Miss Jennie Bayer, who visited here last week with Mrs. John Matheson and family, returned to her home at Wayne, the first of the week.—Pilger Herald.

Remember the old settlers picnic at Bressler's grove northwest of the city, Thursday, August 20th. It will be a big event. Reed's celebrated band of Sioux City will furnish the music. Jules Lombard will be there and amusements will be in abundance.

Frank A. Salmon of Omaha, conductor on the Bloomfield line and Miss Fannie McDaniels of Tekamah, were married in this city last Thursday afternoon at the home of O. N. Stutey, railway mail clerk on the same line, Rev. Dawson officiating. The contracting parties are young people highly spoken of by a large circle of friends, whom the HERALD joins in extending congratulations.

Milk is about eighty-five per cent water and some farmers erroneously suppose they can decrease this percentage by withholding water from the cows. The percentage cannot be decreased by a failure to supply plenty of drinking water. When a cow does not have a sufficient amount of drinking water she does not produce milk with less water in it, but she produces less milk. It is wrong to think the milkman can add what water is necessary, for he cannot. Water is necessary for the best digestion of food and with it a cow is fed wastefully.

In the nomination of J. A. Jones for treasurer the republicans of Wayne county have respected and honored the choice of all the people in this section of the county. The INDEX knows no political interests but it recognizes in Joe Jones all the virtues of the brand of public servants good citizenship demands. He is considerate and accommodating to everybody and one of the most genial of men. Experience and training have qualified him and sentiment about Carroll and the Welsh Settlement is strong in his support. We all are confident that Carroll's candidate for county treasurer would direct his official life on the same high plane that has marked his business dealings and private life.—Carroll Index. The 23rd annual re-union of the Pioneers' and Old Settlers' Association of Dakota county, Neb., will be held at Dakota City, Aug. 27. The HERALD acknowledges an invitation.

The Western Publisher, in its Nebraska notes has the following to say of a Wayne's Co. editor: "Editor Lundburg of the Carroll Index surprised his friends and acquaintances by recent announcement of his marriage. The now Mrs. L. was a former student in Wayne college, and is a woman of many accomplishments."

The writer accompanied Prof. Durrin to the cemetery Saturday, where we viewed the marvelous work of art that is pictured there. Monuments of beauty in granite and marble are numerous and the work of the sculptors reflects great credit upon Mr. Durrin. No cemetery in Northern Nebraska contains more beautiful monuments in design or otherwise. Especially is this true of the large monuments of Mellor's and Pingrey's. They are models of art and beauty. One thing that is badly needed is a sidewalk to cemetery grounds. As it is at present it is no credit to the city and furthermore, the grounds are not kept in the condition they should be by any means.

Ed Lundburg went to Sioux City Sunday afternoon on business concerning the boundary line between Nebraska and Dakota.

A ball storm just this side of Sioux City last Sunday evening, broke nearly all the windows in passenger train No. 11, giving it the appearance of a rough house, hold up or something worse when it reached Wayne.

Postmaster McNeal, having been granted a fifteen day's leave of absence, and having received advertising transportation from the railroad companies, he and his wife will visit with the latter's folks in Michigan among the pine clad bluffs, along the coast of Lake Michigan, black bass and trout fishing, boating and sight seeing at Ottawa and Makatowa beaches and other points. If Mo never gets back Wayne will exist, no doubt, and if he does, ditto.

While working with a bridge gang 15 miles northwest of Bloomfield, Geo. Fox was overcome by the heat Tuesday and died in one hour. Mr. Fox was a printer and had been working at his trade, but joined the bridge crew because of higher wages. He was working in a ravine in which were tall weeds, and his indoor work left him poorly prepared to withstand the oppressive heat of Tuesday. At 5 o'clock he became deathly sick and at six he passed away at a farm house to which his companions carried him.

George Fox was born in Lee county, Illinois, Jan. 13, 1864, and was 39 years of age. In 1876 he came with his mother and brothers to Wayne county and has ever since lived in Northeast Nebraska. He worked at the printers trade in Wayne, Norfolk, Randolph and other towns in the state, and was a rapid compositor. About a year ago he became a partner in a paper at Pipestone, Minn., leaving that place to return to Nebraska.

He leaves a wife and two children, one 7 years and one 7 months of age. His aged mother of this city, is nearly heart broken with grief, for George was her youngest child and was the subject of her solitude and tender love. Besides these he leaves five brothers; J. J. W. and F. W. Fox, of Randolph, C. A. Fox of Hartington, S. C. Fox of Osmond, and J. S. Fox of Bonesteel.

George was a big hearted man, generous and companionable and was well known to the printing craft in this part of the state. He was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge at Wayne and was a sincere lover of the order.

The funeral was held at Wayne, Friday, the Odd Fellows taking charge. A number from Randolph attended the services.—Randolph Times.

The republican state convention will be held at Lincoln on Tuesday, Aug. 14.

At the judicial convention to be held at Norfolk next Monday, Aug. 10th, Judge J. F. Boyd will be re-nominated by acclamation.

Corn stalks are growing at a terrific rate, and if the ears of corn grow likewise, and frost attends to its own business, there will be a bumper crop of Nebraska's golden corn in this section.

O. H. Kuhl of Hoskins, the republican nominee for District Court Clerk, is a young man highly spoken of by those of his acquaintance as a man of sterling worth and thoroughly competent to fill the duties of the office.

At the adjourned meeting of the Republican County Commissioners convention held at the court house Saturday afternoon Ed Owens who resides west of the city was nominated for Co. commissioner to succeed Aug. Wittler. Mr. Owens accepted the nomination with reluctance, and only at the earnest request of numerous friends.

It takes very little to make some people "mad clear through." The fact that a limited quantity—less than 1 per cent. of the total production—of American goods is being sold to foreign countries at out prices ought not to cause anybody to lose his temper.

This is the sort of thing to make a public spirited citizen mad clear through. It is all right for the manufacturer to throw dust in your eyes and say it is necessary to get rid of the surplus, but you cannot make an intelligent American believe it pays to sell goods at a loss; or that, if a sacrifice is made at any time, it is right to make it in favor of foreigners and against one's own country.

The "Courant's" rage is a trifle behind time. Three years ago the Democratic campaign managers made the utmost use of the out price argument to defeat William McKinley for re-election. It was one of their warmest issues, but it cooled off and fell flat.

College Commencement Week.

To-day marks the close of one of the most successful years in the history of the N. N. C. Thirty graduates take their diplomas and, while they realize that such documents merely testify to one stage of progress in the intellectual life, they will none the less find themselves the better equipped for usefulness and success by reason of the year spent in acquiring elementary truth and strengthened faculty.

But a body of college students above all other companies looks to the future, and so by dint of association, if from no other cause, do college institutions and faculties. Looking to the future then, let it not be forgotten that the great need of the N. N. C. is greater building capacity.

As to faculty, the school will retain its old force with the exception of Miss Kingsbury, who takes a position in our State University. The school here will miss her scholarly culture and refinement. Her work in German and Latin will be taken by Miss Polk, who has just completed two years of post-graduate work in the Iowa State University.

The school in every way, under the untiring efforts of its efficient president, has struggled to deserve success and it is but fair to presume that ever greater success will come.

The following is the report of the various programs and exercises that have transpired, and been listened to by large and attentive audiences.

The week's exercises began on Saturday night with a contest between the literary societies. The program was rendered in the college chapel which had been tastefully decorated.

Prof. Wolfe was the presiding officer and promptly at 8 o'clock the first number on the program was rendered, a pleasing piano solo, by Miss Rundquist. Then followed the contest in essays, Miss Schwichtenberg representing the Crescents and taking as her subject, "The Face I Know Best."

The orations were led by Mr. Meinke (P.), a soldier of the Spanish-American war, who appropriately and eloquently spoke on the "Ship of State," and were closed by Mr. Smith (C.), who declaimed on "Makers of History" in a manner most acceptable to his attentive listeners.

The program at this point was varied by one of Miss Cunningham stirring solos, and then followed the recitation numbers.

"His Pa's Romance," Miss Longacker's (P.) selection, was well interpreted and therefore well delivered, while Miss Ora Moore (C) spoke the thrilling lines of "Toussaint L'Ouverture" with a grace of bearing and perfection of enunciation seldom exhibited by non-professional elocutionist.

The debate was upon the question, "Is foreign immigration detrimental to the United States?" Mr. Rohn (C) affirmed and Mr. Rightmire (P) denied. It is agreed by all that this was a splendid forensic performance, the first speaker excelling in logical presentation of matter and the second in enthusiasm and force of his delivery.

The following judges acted on the essays and orations: Messrs. Ames Phillips, E. B. Phillee and Dawson. On the orations and debate as the judges were Prof. Snodgrass and Messrs. Lundberg and Davis. The decision averaged less than two points in favor of the Crescents, the announcement of which was made on the part of Crescent member and the large audience dispersed amid the cheers and college yells of the victorious society.

Sunday was baccalaureate day, and so high a type have been the ministrations secured to deliver the address to the graduates in recent years, that the people have come to expect sermons of a high order, and in this the large audience assembled in the opera house was not disappointed this year. The speaker on this occasion was Rev. Dr. Rowlands, late of Lincoln, but now of Davenport, Iowa, and one whom many of the citizens of Wayne, have heard at various times. The subject was the life of Daniel, and the theme the place of heredity, of environment and of personality in determining the character of a man.

sequent responsibility constituted one of the strong and wholesome portions of the sermon.

The music rendered on the occasion deserves more than passing mention, and Miss Cunningham's efforts to make it such were as untiring as they were successful.

The marching of the body of students and faculty in a body from the college to the opera house, as is the annual custom, presented a most impressive sight, the procession being led by the members of the graduating class in caps and gowns.

The conjoint program of the Y. M. and Y. W. O. A. on Sunday afternoons has come to be one of the notable meetings of commencement week, and last Sunday's service maintained the previous high standard. As relating to the topic for the day, "Live as if life is earnest and it will be so," Miss Enzella Johnson read an excellent paper on "Life as a Holiday," and Mr. Lookwood on "Life as a Reality."

TEACHERS' CLASS ORATIONS.

On Monday evening in the chapel hall were given the orations of the first section of the Teachers' Class. The members of the class spent a good part of Monday in re-decorating the stage in the class colors, ultra marine and old gold, and a surprising transformation of the old stage was accomplished.

LeRoy Roggles, Three Rivers, Mich., spoke with clearness and force on the evils of "Competition" as viewed from the standpoint of true political economy, and Miss Pearl Francis, Gibbon, Neb., in telling phrases set forth the need of trained faculties in an oration whose caption was, "A Clear Head."

Not inconsistent with it that Will F. Richardson of Wayne, should elect the subject, "A Broad Mind," for his theme and not narrowly was it treated. "A Head, a Heart, a Hand," with the grace of intellect, the vigor of conscience and the readiness for service implied therein found appreciative consideration by Miss Bailey, of Newcastle. A sweet vocal solo rendered by Miss Palmer gave acceptable variety to the program at this point, and this was followed by the oration of Michael Hofer, Mitchell, S. D., on the subject, "Our Nation." Though Michael has not lost all the traces of his "mutter-sprache" he is none the less a true American patriot and will do his part in making our country greater as he predicts it will be.

A characteristic found in the lives of the men of our country who have made history, was urged upon aspiring young men and women today, that of "Earnestness," by Claude Ramsey, Winside, "Ideal of Duty," than which for mortal man there is none higher, was dwelt upon with profit and delight to the listeners, by Miss Eva Beauchemin, Elk Point, S. D.

As befitting an evening of oratory its close was marked by melody, a pleasing piano duet by Misses Pile and Rundquist.

On Tuesday evening at the appointed hour there filled again into chapel hall with sacerdotal dignity the classic column of learned neophytes. Mr. Claude Ramsey, vice-president of the class, presided over the exercises. After a piano solo given by Prof. Dilworth with his usual charm and skill, Miss Vennerberg of Wayne, talked on "Ideals" and gave evidence that she is wont to pursue them. "Our Noblest Birthright," received worthy treatment at the hands of Mr. Niss of Wayne, while Miss Jenkins of Carroll, followed with some excellent advice about "Seeing Things." Mr. Ira Steele, also of Carroll, spoke with force and feeling on "Cuba, the New Republic."

"The First Fiddler," was the figurative title of a charming essay on pioneers in action, by Miss Pile, of the College, the delivery of which was followed by Miss Cunningham in a refreshing vocal solo. Miss Ross of Winside, talked in pleasing revery on "A Dreamer," and Mr. Asplin of Bega, mixed good sense with philosophy in a discussion of the "Phillipine Islands."

Wednesday evening was the Scientific night. For this occasion the stage decorations were cream and crimson, the class colors. Mr. Junge is the president of the class and acted as chairman of the evening. A piano solo from Chammanade by Miss Bressler proved a worthy introduction to a program of unusual excellence. Miss Nieland of Wayne, led the intellectual march with an inspiring oration on the subject, "Scorn to Do Wrong," and Mr. Jange of Pierce, followed with a forceful presentation of the theme, "No, and Mean It." "United We Stand" was made the occasion of a worthy eulogy to American union by Miss Coleman of Wayne. Mr. Mack, also of this city, entertainingly discoursed on the curious but pregnant subject, "Follow Your Nose." "Literature as a Factor in Life," was the theme of Miss Leahy's appreciative treatment of matters literary, and then came Mr. Beauchemin of Elk Point, S. D., who delivered an exceedingly rational talk under the caption "No Chance for Me."

Miss Elmore favored the audience at this point with a charming vocal solo, and then Miss Bingham of Parker, S. D., talked on "The Good Times Coming," emphasizing especially that in the Golden Age woman would be supreme. "The Poor Rich Man" was the subject of an oration marked by much originality and sanity by Mr. Barta, of Verdigris. Miss Ringer of Wayne, in a telling oration urged the significance of "A Social Problem" that is ours to solve, and Mr. Vaught of the College faculty, in an oration that was at once profound and fascinating dwelt on our "Whence and Whither."

Fred M. Pile, of the College, fittingly brought the series of orations to a close in an eloquent, effective and pleasing treatment of the subject "Smatter."

The program was concluded with a solo by Miss Rundquist.

This class is the largest Scientific class in the history of the school and this fact combined with the excellent character of its members, makes the class one of which the school is proud.

THURSDAY EVENING PROGRAM

This evening there will be a lecture at the opera house by Rev. Hatch of Omaha, to which an admission of twenty-five cents will be charged to other than college students. The diplomas will also be presented after which the Alumni Association will assemble in the College dining room for a banquet. Prof. Gregg has been designated as toast-master and the following are down to respond to toasts: Mr. Lookwood, Miss Nieland, Miss Wallace, Prof. Wolfe, Mr. Beauchemin, Rollie Ley, Mr. Mack, Miss Cunningham, Miss Kingsbury and Mr. Raubach.

C. A. Berry went to Omaha Friday afternoon on business.

Mrs. S. Mettlen went up to Hoskins Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. H. J. Candy.

The early autumn number of The Designer is in many respects the most remarkable issue of this popular magazine for women that has ever appeared. The art work is of an unusually high order, and the articles are brimful of entertainment and helpfulness. Fashions and millinery for autumn are tastefully set forth, and "Millinery Lessons" and "Points on Dressmaking" assist the amateur to attain excellent results in both. Every woman who wants to make money or who is interested in amateur photography should read "How a Camera Raised a Mortgage," an actual incident charmingly related by Annie Donnelly, and illustrated from photographs by the author.

"Artistic Table Arrangements," by the well-known writer, Waldon Fawcett, accompanied by handsome half-tones showing the table spread with the correct appointments for the various meals, will be highly appreciated by the young housekeeper, and will incidentally furnish hints to those who are at a loss what to give in the silver line to prospective brides.

"Patched Metal Work," by Ursula Cannes, will set everyone searching for materials with which to do this most fascinating work, which can be turned to good account on Christmas time, or indeed at any season, if one wants to decorate the home or to make pocket money. A most novel departure in the appearance in this number of the initial article of "Fashion Notes for Men," which is taking illustrated, and supplies thoroughly up-to-date items on the various smaller items of the masculine toilet. No woman who reads The Designer will, after this, wonder what she can give brother, sweetheart, husband or son, nor will the man himself, even if he lives miles away from a metropolis, be forced to look "behind the times" because he does not know what is in good taste. Fashion notes for women are given in "Woman's Fads and Fancies" and "Fashions and Fabrics," both of which describe and picture what is displayed in the most exclusive shops. There are two excellent short stories in this number, also a laughable farce, "The Campers," which is suitable for amateur production, while "Fireplaces and Mantelpieces," by Mary Kilyath, will be valued by the home builder. The regular departments, "What Women are Doing," "Helps Along the Way," "Etiquette Hints," "Toilet Table Chat," "In Motherland" and "The Kitchen Kingdom," are filled with timely suggestions, and a "Floriculture," which is made quite a feature under the able conduct of Miss M. W. Park, a practical florist, is devoted this month to the cultivation of plants raised from bulbs.

Puts an End to it All. A grievous wall oftentimes comes as a result of unbearable pain from overtaxed organs. Dizziness, Backache, Liver complaint and Constipation. But thanks to Dr. King's New Life Pills they put an end to it all. They are gentle but thorough. Try them. Only 25c. Guaranteed by L. P. Orth's Drug Store.

SCIENTIFIC CLASS ORATIONS. Wednesday evening was the Scientific night. For this occasion the stage decorations were cream and crimson, the class colors. Mr. Junge is the president of the class and acted as chairman of the evening. A piano

Cured Paralysis. W. S. Baily, P. O. True, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle at Raymond's Drug Store.

A Worm Killer. J. A. J. Montgomery, Paxico, Wayne Co., Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at Raymond's Drug Store.

Swicide Prevented. The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A run-down system, or despondency invariably precedes suicide, and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. Sculpture will be a feature of Oklahoma's exhibit at the World's Fair. D. J. Martz, a sculptor of Guthrie, is preparing some specimens of his work for exhibition. Mr. Martz will make a bust of President Roosevelt and other noted public men. He carries all his work out of the celebrated "gypp rock" for which Blaine County is famous.

Quite a number of Wayne people attended the picnic at Winside on Tuesday. The Wayne college carried off all the honors in the base ball winning from Pilger by a score of 16 to 0. The basket ball game between the College and Winside teams resulted in a tie game, each side having 12 scores. Everyone from here reports a good time and most excellent treatment from the citizens of our neighboring town.

It would fill the heart of any loyal citizen with pleasure to have witnessed the splendid body of students, who marched from the Nebraska Normal College last Sunday morning to the opera house, where they filled entirely the seats reserved on the north half of the building. It was a great sight and one Prof. Fife can well be proud of. It was the beginning of the college commencement exercises. The opera house was filled with people, who listened to an able and most eloquent address by Rev. H. O. Rowland of Davenport, Iowa, formerly pastor of one of the leading Baptist churches of Lincoln. Mr. Rowland was given marked attention throughout and the discussion of his subject was certainly a treat, not only to the students but to the large audience assembled, which the speaker said was much larger than he had expected. The choir music was splendid and the vocal solo by Miss Mae Cunningham excelled any that it has ever been the privilege of the writer to hear in Wayne. Her voice is marvelous in volume and tone and she seemingly has it under almost perfect control.

The college has grown to be an institution of which all are proud, but there is one thing the citizens must help to do, and that is, a large main building is needed and Prof. Fife should be encouraged. It is a question in which everyone is concerned whose home and interests are here. This fact is before you. What are you going to do?

Saturday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Goss was the scene of a splendid reception in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. As usual among Wilburites the intended surprise leaked out a day or so before the event, nevertheless the nicety with which every detail worked out is very gratifying to those who did the planning. The rooms were tastefully decorated with fern leaves and sweet peas, and the lawn, where the feast was served, was appropriately lighted by the silver moon. The happiness of the whole party was in keeping with the occasion, the gentlemen chatting and smoking upon the porch, the ladies in the parlors and the young folks reveling in games upon the lawn. We feel that exceptionally good taste was used in choosing presents. A pretty honey dish was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, silver salt and pepper by Mr. and Mrs. White and Mrs. Watson, solid olive fork Miss Simpson, and aluminum mirror, Mr. and Mrs. Watson, also an oak rocker that would grace the parlor of Herbert Spencer was brought in with the compliments of Messrs Carpenter, Alex Williams, Earl Gibson, and Messrs and Meedames Chas. Schultze, Henry Bush Jas. McIntosh, Adam Grler, Geo. Porter, Hans Hanson, Emil Weber and Hamer Wilson. Engraved silver bread tray Blanche Goss. The guests were so delighted that the day of — was appointed for the silver wedding for one couple and the 19th of September, 1928 for another couple. — Republican.

OBITUARY.

Geo. F. Fox, the subject of this sketch was born in Lee county, Ill., Jan. 18, 1864, died near Bloomfield, Neb., Aug. 4, 1903, aged 39 years, 6 mo., 21 days. A wife, two children, a mother and five brothers survive him. In 1878, when 14 years of age, he with his family moved to Wayne Co., Neb., where he resided most of his life. He was well known to the people of Wayne Co., among whom he had a large circle of friends. George was a printer by trade and had worked on the different Wayne papers; he had been working on the Bloomfield Monitor up till a few days before his death; when he engaged to work with a bridge gang. While at work he complained of being ill and died thirty minutes later.

The remains were brought to Wayne for interment, Friday, Aug. 7. The funeral was under the auspices of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of which the deceased was a member. The funeral services were held at the Lutheran church conducted by Rev. Ringer.
