ROSEBUD BILL BECOMES LAW

Thus 418,000 Acres of the Reservation Will Be Thrown Open to Settlement—Will Be Formally Opened July 1—Governor Issues Proclamation Calling Attention to Semi-Centennial Anniversary.

The Missouri river is reported on its annual rampage. The Nebraska state fair is to be held in Lincoln from August 29 to September 2.

Zachary H. Gardner, one of the old settlers of Onming county, died at his home northeast of Wisner last Thursday.

The Security bank at Ponca has bought the Citizens bank of that place, reducing the number of banks there from three to two.

The Bloomfield Journal has nominated W. E. Hearst for president and Nelson A. Miles for vice-president on the democratic ticket and floats their names at the head of its editorial column.

Tom Holtz of Wayne came up Tuesday noon for a couple days visit at the Weston home. Tom is the kind of young man who will make a success in life. He has clean and industrious habits and is as straight as a string.

Governor Mickey has issued a proclamation calling attention to the semi-centennial anniversary of the signing of the bill that made Nebraska a territory and setting apart Tuesday, May 31, as the day when the event should be appropriately celebrated. He reminds us that the schools remember the occasion with suitable exercises on the preceding Friday and that Nebraska ministers express from their pulpits on the preceding Sabbath thoughts touching the growth and development of the state.

Many letters never reach the parties to whom the writer intended they should go, owing to the fact that the address is not sufficiently plain or explicit. There is a party living on one of the rural routes out from Ponca who is not guilty of this fault, however. In Monday afternoon's bag of mail, brought in by one of the carriers, Postmaster Logan found a letter with the following very explicit address and directions neatly penciled on it: "Mr. Cummings, the man that owned the jackass last season, Newcastle, Neb." Ponca Journal.

The bill opening 418,000 acres of the Rosebud reservation to settlement was signed by President Roosevelt Saturday morning, the price of the land being $4 per acre. The lottery plan will be followed in the distribution of the tract, and according to reports from Washington, it has been agreed that prospective settlers be allowed to register at Bonesteel or Fairfax and at Chamberlain. The registration offices will be opened some time in May, the precise date being unknown at present. The drawing will take place at Chamberlain, S. D., where the land offices are located, a few days before the date which may be set, when filings can be made. The date of filing will be between June 15 and July 1 next, the desire of the South Dakota delegation and the officers of the general land offices being that the Rosebud reservation shall be formally opened to settlement not later than July 1.

Wayneites who attended the bankers' meeting in Ponca Friday report that the citizens of that place were most attentive and generous in their hospitality to the visitors. About one hundred bankers and fifty other visitors were in attendance and committees appointed for the purpose handled the crowd to the high enjoyment of all. The bankers were met at the train by the brass band, which gave forth lively and inspiring strains. In the afternoon a program of speeches and music was carried out. The banquet in the evening at the opera house was a joyful climax to the occasion. The visitors were regaled with a six-course supper, served by twenty-five young ladies. After three hours of eating, three hours were devoted to toasts, and the crowd did not disperse until 2 o'clock the next morning. Among toasts responded to was one by Mrs. Geo. Merrill of Carroll whose effort won special commendation. All are loud in their praises of the hearty welcome and hospitality of the Ponca people.

ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION

Eighty-fifth Anniversary of the Institution of the Order in America Appropriately Remembered in Wayne—Daughters of Rebecca Net $40 From their Supper—Lightning Hits Nels Dullard's Barn.

J. W. Epler's new residence is nearing completion. Work was commenced Monday on the new house of Prof. J. M. Pile. Sixty ash trees have been planted in Greenwood cemetery at this place.

Wilbur Union Sunday school is increasing in attendance each session. A contest for members is now on, each side striving to win.

Some trees were planted on Arbor day, and the closing of the banks and postoffice during part of the day reminded all that it was a national holiday.

The C. E. will hold a ten-cent leap year social in the parlors of the Presbyterian church, Friday evening, April 29. Ice cream and cake will be served. Every one is cordially invited.

Rev. P. Birrell's pastoral relations with the Wayne Presbyterian church were dissolved at the meeting of Presbytery in Norfolk last week and his resignation as minister here will take effect May 15.

It is none too early to rid barn yards, alleys and hog pens of the winter's accumulation of rubbish and filth. A foul, germ-breeding stench should be removed in the interest of both health and sensitive olfactory nerves.

Lightning struck Nels Dullard's large, new barn, seven miles southeast of town, last Thursday night at 7 o'clock, and burned it to the ground, together with four horses, eighteen loads of hay and a quantity of oats. The flames spread so rapidly that Mr. Dullard was unable to save the horses or other contents of the barn. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Members of the senior class of the high school had a delightful time Friday evening as guests of Prof. and Mrs. Snodgrass and Misses McGuire and Green. Detecting the contents of bottles by the odor created lively interest, and the winner in the contest, Arthur Neely, received a choice bottle of perfume as a prize. Flinch and pitch were also features of amusement. Delicious ice cream and cake were served at the proper hour.

Mrs. E. Hunter entertained a party of young folks, most of them teachers, at a five o'clock tea Saturday afternoon in honor of the birthday anniversary of her absent daughter, Miss Leona. The supper was excellent and the occasion passed most pleasantly. Names of the guests: Misses Barrett, Cunningham, Wallace, Berger, Morgan, McGuire, Green, Stocking, Manning, Moran, Buffington, Color, Mason and Craven, and Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Ted Phillee and Mrs. Geo. Wilbur.

The school board met Monday evening to elect teachers for next year and filled all the places except the eighth grade. Following were chosen: High school building—Miss Katherine M. Green, principal; Miss Ella Leahy, assistant principal; Miss Willie Berger, sixth and seventh grades; Miss Mamie Wallace, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Abigail Manning, second and third grades; Miss Lizzie Barrett, first primary. Ward building—Mrs. Phillips, principal; Miss Winona Moran, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Schwerin, second and third grades; Miss Stocking, primary. A teacher for the eighth grade will be elected next Monday evening.

The Odd Fellows' anniversary celebration at this place Monday attracted a large crowd, a number being in attendance from Hartington, Randolph, Wakefield, Emerson and Carroll. Chas. A. Randall, P. G. M., of Newman Grove, was present and by his address added much to the interest of the occasion. The program was carried out as published and the speeches, recitations and music were appropriate and enjoyable. The supper given by the Daughters of Rebecca netted about $40, to be used for the Orphans' Home. The celebration was a complete success in every detail and those having the management in charge deserve commendation.

DEATH OF MRS. SUHR.

Mrs. E. C. Brooks.

Mrs. E. C. Brooks died at her home, eighteen miles west of Wayne and eight miles south of Randolph, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. It will be remembered that her husband died last October. The funeral took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and the remains were buried beside those of her husband and son in the Randolph cemetery. A daughter and two grandchildren who have been living with her are the only remaining members of the family. In their bereavement, they will have the sympathy of a multitude of friends.

Mrs. Brooks was aged about 80 years and she and her husband were among the early settlers of Wayne county. On leaving Norfolk, where the family lived while Mr. Brooks was railway conductor, they located on a farm in Wayne county where they spent the remainder of their days. The family was well known and highly esteemed, and like the death of her husband, the death of Mrs. Brooks will be generally regretted.

Funeral services were conducted in the German Evangelical Lutheran church at this place Monday by Rev. J. H. Karpenstein in German and Rev. J. C. Ringer in English. The remains were conveyed to Silver City, Iowa, to be buried beside those of her husband.

HAS A SAY. The School Principal Talks About Food. The Principal of a High School in a flourishing California city says:

"For 23 years I worked in the school with only short summer vacations. I formed the habit of eating rapidly, masticated poorly, which coupled with my sedentary work led to indigestion, liver trouble, lame back and rheumatism."

"Upon consulting physicians some doped me with drugs, while others prescribed dieting and sometimes I got temporary relief, other times not. For 12 years I struggled along with this handicap to my work, seldom laid up, but often a burden to myself with lameness and rheumatic pains."

A Story of An American Girl.

BY MATTIE DYER BRITTS.

CHAPTER XXIII.—(Continued.) The dreary, rainy day wore on to its close, bringing near the bride hour. It continued, not many of the guests could get there. But for those who could, fresh towels laid out, covers filled, and everything arranged for their comfort.

"Excuse me, captain," he said, "but how did you know it was coming? I'm connected with the weather bureau and I wish you'd give me some points."—New York Times.

"Yes, darling, yes; never to leave you again," said Vance, clasping her closer. "I've got to give up my own girl any more."

"No, no! I could not live if I did!" fervently sighed Marcia, forgetting that a confession she was making, forgetting Louis, Florence, everything, for the moment, except that Vance had come, and she could feel his strong hand beating her neck and arms against her breast.

"I'll try to go with you," said Vance, his mind during the last half hour. Perhaps it might succeed.

What I have written I shall forever write. "What I have written I shall forever write."

And closely allied with this thought of the unalterableness of the past is its irreparableness.

There is a tendency in every one of us to repeat the past in the future. In less there are other influences of great power to work we are sure to perform any act or think out any line of thought in the same way that we have done it before.

Quick Work. At one time Bishop Williams, of Marquette, was university preacher at Cornell for a few weeks, and during that time he not only gave the sermons, but provided his friends at the university with many good stories.

Miss M. Cartledge gives some helpful advice to young girls. Her letter is but one of thousands which prove that nothing is so helpful to young girls who are just arriving at the period of womanhood as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly, for it is the only medicine I ever tried which cured me. I suffered much from my first menstrual period, I felt so weak and dizzy at times I could not pursue my studies with the usual interest. My thoughts became sluggish, I had headaches, backaches and sinking spells, also pains in the back and lower limbs. In fact, I was sick all over.

"Finally, after many other remedies had been tried, we were advised to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am pleased to say that after taking it only two weeks, a wonderful change for the better took place, and in a short time I was in perfect health. I felt buoyant, full of life, and found all work a pastime. I am indeed glad to tell my experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it made a different girl of me. Yours very truly, Miss M. Cartledge, 533 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga."

At such a time, the grandest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the necessary changes, and is the surest and most reliable cure for woman's ills of every nature. Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Estes, of New York City, says: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to you because I believe all young girls ought to know how much good your medicine will do them. I did dress-making for years before I was married, and if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I do not believe I could have stood the strain. There is no other work that is such a strain on the system. Oh, how my back used to ache from the bending over! I would feel as though I would have to scream out from the pain, and the sitting still made me so terribly tired and weak, and my head throbbed like an engine. I never could eat after work, I was so worn out. Then I was irregular, and had such frightful cramps every month they would simply double me up with pain, and I would have to give up working and lie down. But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound changed me into a strong, well woman. Yours very truly, Mrs. MARTHA ESTES, 513 West 125th St., N. Y. City."

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of female troubles cured. Sold by druggists everywhere. "WILL YOU READ IT TO ME?"

The dinner done, the lamp is lit, And in its mellow glow we sit And talk of matters, grave and gay, That went to make another day. Comes Little One, a book in hand, With rings and clasps of command, For 'who'd gainsay the little sprite? "Please—will you read to me to-night?"

Read to you, Little One? Why, yes. What shall it be to-night? You guess You'd like to hear about the bees? Their bowls of porridge, bees, and chairs? Well, that you shall. There, that tale's done. And now—You'd like another one? To-morrow evening, 'twill be: It's "hans-paw seven." Off to bed!

So each night another story— Wicked dwarfs and giants gory, Dragons fierce and princes daring, Forth to fame and fortune faring, Wandering toots, with leaves for bed, Houses made of gingerbread, Witches bad and fairies good, And all the wonders of the wood.

"I like the witches best," says she. Who nightly nestles on my knee. But why by them she sets such store? Psychologists must puzzle o'er. Her likes my mine and I mine. With all that she confides in me. And thus we travel, hand in hand, The storied roads of fairyland.

Ah, little one, when years have fled, And left their silver on my head, And when the dimming eyes of age With difficulty see the page, On you I'll turn the tables then, For I shall put the question, when I borrow of your better sight: "Please—will you read to me to-night?" —Pittsburg Dispatch.

WHEN MAN PROPOSES.

DO I look perfectly calm?" inquired Polly, climbing into the wrong side of the sleigh and trying to tuck the lap robe around the dashboard. "Because," she went on, beginning to take off her gloves, and then, as she recollected herself, nervously drawing them on again, "though you might not suspect it, I'm—a little—excited. I've just finished getting proposed to."

I gave the check rein a violent jerk that must have insulted a horse had Marc Antony.

"I wouldn't even ask who—?" began.

"Oh, you needn't," said Polly. "It was only Bobby Paddington."

I started. The check rein slipped from my fingers and I let the whip fall with a thud into the snow.

"Why, what is the matter?" asked Polly. "It isn't polite to be surprised when a girl gets proposed to. It looks as if you had thought she couldn't."

"Oh, it isn't that," said I. "Anybody could get proposed to by Bobby Paddington—and in leap year."

"Poo!" said Polly, as I stepped into the sleigh and tucked the robe around her. "Leap year has nothing to do with it—Bobby Paddington, either."

"If a girl has really made up her mind, Leap year merely gives her a privilege which a woman can take whenever she likes. It's like the kiss under the mistletoe, entirely a joke. You wouldn't dare kiss any girl under the mistletoe whom you wouldn't dare kiss anywhere else. And no girl would think of asking a man to marry her on leap year, or at any other time—that is, no girl with a particle of common sense or delicacy."

"Or womanliness," I declared. "Or knowledge of men," said Polly. "Or breeding."

"Or experience."

"I wonder," said I, "if any woman ever did use that leap-year privilege."

"Never," said Polly, "since she has had the every year privilege of making a man propose to her. It would have been so very unnecessary. Any woman who uses a little tact and sets out to get a proposal. The difference between proposing herself and making a man propose to her is the difference between using a whip and spur. You don't have to whip a horse—that is, a horse worth having—do you? But you do often have to spur him when you come to a jump. A man is like a horse; he hates a whip, but he minds a spur."

"Oh, I see," said I, chuckling to Marc Antony, until the sleigh sped over the frozen road. "A proposal is like a hedge. A fellow wants to get over it, but he is afraid of what is on the other side. He may land in a tangle—or he may get a cold water dousing."

"Or he fancies there might be a ditch somewhere."

The water on the other side couldn't possibly be cold, but just warm tears of affectionate sympathy, and that there aren't any ditches in which to be entombed alive, or any traps in which to be caught, and then can make him believe that you don't care whether he takes the leap or not— "He will go pell-mell on to his doom!" I finished indignantly.

"Like Bobby Paddington," Polly giggled.

"Oh, Bobby Paddington?" I remarked with disgust. "He is just like some fool horses that would take any ledge, even if it was brick wall—and always land on their feet. There is a divine Providence that protects Bobby."

"I'm very sure you're very uncomplimentary," said Polly. "And, besides, Bobby Paddington landed right in the ice-cold water this time. I refused him—as hard as I could."

I looked down at the demure little bundle of fur beside me, with one curl and a nose sticking out of the big collar.

"Did you do it for my sake, Polly?" I asked, softly.

"No," said Polly. "For Bobby's. He needed the lesson. His conquest was something atrocious. Besides, I had made a sort of wager with Kitty Carter—"

"Well?" I suggested.

"Oh, well—that I could—that he should—I mean—Oh, don't you understand Mr. Heavyside—by twelve o'clock, I finished refusing him at five minutes of, while you were waiting with—"

"How do you know with whom I was waiting?"

"Oh, I had only to keep one eye—and an ear on Bobby—and not my heart," said Polly sweetly.

I melted beneath Polly's smile, as the snow beneath the sun.

"Polly," said I, "tell me how you managed the mental suggestion in Bobby's case—how you manage it, anyway."

Polly made no answer.

"But you must have begun somehow," I insisted.

"With Bobby? Oh, yes, I began by telling him that the jam was in the closet, but that the door was locked."

"I don't understand," said I.

"I told him," said Polly, "that I never intended to marry, never!"

I jerked the reins so suddenly that Marc Antony threatened to stand up on his hind legs.

"What did you tell him that for?" I exclaimed.

"Bobby would hate to think anybody who was in the matrimonial market had entangled him," explained Polly.

"He likes to think he is pursuing somebody who doesn't want him. That's the funny thing about most men. They always want the girl who they think doesn't want them, and thereby lay the foundation for the divorce court proceedings right there in the parlor where the proposal is going on. It is nearly always safe to begin making a man propose to stop, by telling him you are unattainable. It is like telling a snail by that there is jelly-cake in the pantry, but that it's locked up. He immediately begins to look for the pantry key."

"Polly," said I, gazing down upon that small bundle of fur with real awe in my eyes, "are you sure you aren't a reincarnation of Plato—or Socrates—or somebody? For an unreasonable little person, you can reason better."

"Mr. Heavyside?" exclaimed Polly, sitting up perfectly straight. "You don't mean to say—Bobby Paddington knew I was engaged to you?"

"Oh, yes; I told him all about that only this morning," I replied nonchalantly.

Polly was looking straight ahead of her with flaming cheeks and snapping eyes.

"And, as I remarked to you," I went on, slipping my arm across the back of the sleigh and glancing sideways at Polly, "Bobby Paddington would take any sort of a ledge, even if he knew it was a brick wall."

Polly didn't even notice my arm. As she leaned back into the depths of it and the sleigh, with a long breath, there were tears of mortification in her eyes.

"Then," she said, looking pathetically up at me, "he was only flirting—with me—all the time!"

"Polly, dear," said I, bending over and kissing the top of the fur cap softly, "and what were you doing?"—Helen Rowland, in Washington Post.

LITTLE GIRLS' STOCK DEAL.

They Disposed of Shares for Big Price Before Break.

A story told at Union Pacific headquarters shows that the children of W. H. Bancroft, the new general manager of that line, seem to have inherited some of their father's business sagacity, says the Omaha correspondent of the New York Herald.

Mr. Bancroft's daughters, aged 10 and 12 years, were visiting him at his office in Salt Lake City one day. A man came in who desired to sell their papa some mining stock. Mr. Bancroft did not take kindly to the proposition, but after the man had labored some time with the general manager one of the little girls spoke up and said:

"Papa, I wish you would buy some of the stock for me; the mine has such a pretty name."

The other little girl chimed in at this juncture and expressed a desire for some of the certificates on the same grounds—that the name appealed to her.

The father responded that if they were willing to give up their savings they might be the proud possessors of a block of the stock. This they agreed to do and the deal was made. One of the children secured $100 worth, and the other $50.

Time wore on and both children and the father had forgotten the stock deal, when one day a man appeared at the house and stated that he had come to buy the stock in case the owners were willing to part with it. They both considered the matter and talked it over between themselves, finally deciding that they would not sell for the price offered, which would net them about $150 each.

In a short time another man appeared on the scene and tried to buy the stock at $250, but both girls refused the offer. A week later an offer of $300 each was made by the same man. When the last offer came a long consultation was held and a decision was reached to sell. The buyer paid the money and it went into the girls' bank accounts.

A few days later Mr. Bancroft spoke of the stock, it having been brought to his attention in some manner at the dinner table, saying:

"I see by the quotations that the stock you bought in the mine that day at my office is worthless. The vein has played out."

"Yes, but, papa," responded both of the girls in chorus, "we have sold out."

Great was the amusement of the father when he learned of the transaction which had taken place about two days before the mine was declared worthless.

Highest Railway in the World.
One of the most interesting trips afforded by the present transportation facilities of Peru is that over the Oroya Railroad, which runs from Callao to the gold fields of Cerro de Pasco. It is considered one of the wonders in the Peruvian world. It is certainly the greatest feat of railway engineering in either hemisphere. Commencing in Callao, it ascends the narrow valley of the Huacra, rising nearly five thousand feet in the first forty-six miles. Thence it goes through the intricate gorges of the Sierras till it tunnels the Andes at an altitude of fifteen thousand six hundred and forty-five feet, the steepest point in the world where a piston-rod is moved by steam. The wonder is doubled on remembering that this elevation is reached in seventy-eight miles.

An Unsatisfied Brother.
Too cold for him in winter—In spring he's got the chills; In summer time it's blazin' In the valleys on the hills, An' he'll have his reit is broken By the dangin' hippooriville!

Oh, heaven an' earth can't please him; If he should go to-day An' ketch a fever. To whar the angels stay, He'd say: "It's a head swim— A case of 'flu'—a-way!" —Atlanta Constitution.

"Anglo-Saxon English. There is an old fallacy that Anglo-Saxon words are best. The fallacy is based on the belief that words of Anglo-Saxon origin are more simple and vigorous than those derived from Latin. In point of fact, some Anglo-Saxon words are obscure and long, and many of our commonest, most simple words are from the Latin. The London News tells a story in point. A barrister more remarkable for the vigor of his address to juries than for the proceeding of the other party in a case under trial. "I do not know what gibberish my learned friend is going to put upon this matter, but I will not mince my words. I denounce it in plain, downright Anglo-Saxon English as a nefarious transaction."

A ROBBERED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back had sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. We have been having unusual weather. From Malice to California come reports of unusual weather. Every locality in the universe has issued the same complaint every year since the beginning of time.

A reliable source reports that W. B. Hearst has spent $1,500,000 since the first of the year, or about $15,000 a day in pushing his presidential candidacy and believes he can buy the high and honored trust the same as he would buy a newspaper.

A unique and exceptionally foolish ground for suicide developed in New York last week. A woman killed herself as the result of remorse over the death of her pet dog which she had shot because it could not be admitted into her boarding house.

A session of court here emphasizes the fact that there is very little litigation in Wayne county—a condition very much to the credit of our people, though not advantageous to the legal fraternity. Probably no county in the state furnishes less business for the courts.

Dr. Birby, of the Lincoln Journal's "Daily Dribble" urges moderation in eating for all wishing to retain health and perennial youth, and then gives what he deems a temperate bill of fare. His prescription of vitamins, however, for the lean man of sedentary habits is of sufficient dimensions to charge him with incurable dyspepsia and gout.

The villainous length to which practical jokers went, resulted in the death of an innocent negro, aged 61 years, in Missouri, last week. The negro was charged with an imaginary crime, and a crowd of young men proposed to burn him to the stake. The fabled preparations frightened him to death, and the fool jokers then realized that they had gone too far with their joke.

The democratic party is like a kite without a tail, a ship without a rudder—it is without an issue. It can deal in generalities, denouncing the opposition, and trying to maintain that things should be changed, but can offer no tangible, specific argument to support their deliterations. Banquets and verbiage are not enough to lead people to abandon a tried and prosperous administration.

Congressman Kinkaid's bill allowing settlers to acquire 640 acres in semi-arid parts of Nebraska, has passed both branches of congress and promises to receive the president's signature at an early date. A large area of very desirable land is available under the new act and according to reports it will be taken rapidly. With the passage of that bill and the opening of the Roosevelt reservation, northern Nebraska ought to see lively times before long and enjoy a healthy and permanent growth.

Bryan discussed the New York democratic platform in Chicago and condemned it as being in "opposition to every needed reform and opposition to all that the masses desire." He also frowned on Judge Parker's presidential candidacy, declaring that he was "not a fit man to be nominated either by the democratic party or any other party that stands for honesty or fair dealing in politics." Parker ought to be as acceptable as Willie Hearst who, without his inherited cash, would be a opher in the political arena. But the war on between the two democratic factions and their antagonism will secure materially to the already victorious strength of the republican party.

Peter Niedermeir, Gustav Marx and Harvey Van Dine, notorious car barn bandits and confessed murderers of eight men, were hanged in Chicago Friday. All the murderers were under 25 years of age. Worthless lives of dissipation and crime, ending ignominiously on the gallows, should be a warning to young men who view right living indifferently. After a series of crime, and capture, trial, conviction and sentence to death, it was too late to repent and reform. Then regrets follow, early memories, come trooping back, every gentle admonition a lash and every fond recollection a scourge. But it is too late. The young man who is importuned to start in the path these shipwrecked lives have gone should put such tempters far from him.

BUGGIES ranging in price from $88.50 up to $100.00.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. ## Men of Oak Timbers of oak keep the old homestead standing through the years. It pays to use the right stuff.

"Men of oak" are men in rugged health, men whose bodies are made of the soundest materials.

Childhood is the time to lay the foundation for a sturdy constitution that will last for years.

Scott's Emulsion is the right stuff. Scott's Emulsion stimulates the growing powers of children, helps them build a firm foundation for a sturdy constitution.

We have been having unusual weather. From Maine to California come reports of unusual weather. Every locality in the universe has issued the same complaint every year since the beginning of time.

A reliable source reports that W. R. Hearst has spent $1,500,000 since the first of the year, or about $15,000 a day in pushing his presidential candidacy and believes he can buy the high and honored trust the same as he would buy a newspaper.

A unique and exceptionally foolish ground for suicide developed in New York last week. A woman killed herself as the result of remorse over the death of her pet dog which she had shot because it could not be admitted into her boarding house.

A session of court here emphasizes the fact that there is very little litigation in Wayne county—a condition very much to the credit of our people, though not advantageous to the legal fraternity. Probably no county in the state furnishes less business for the courts.

Dr. Stixby, of the Lincoln Journal's "Daily Drite" urges moderation in eating for all wishing to retain health and personal youth, and then gives what he deems a temperate bill of fare. His prescription of victuals, however, for the lean man of sedentary habits is of sufficient dimensions to charge him with incurable dyspepsia and gout.

The villainous length to which practical jokes went, resulted in the death of an innocent negro, aged 61 years, in Missouri, last week. The negro was charged with an imaginary crime, and a crowd of young men proposed to burn him to the stake. The feigned preparations frightened him to death, and the fool jokers then realized that they had gone too far with their joke.

The democratic party is like a kite without a tail, a ship without a rudder—it is without an issue. It can do no good in legislation, denouncing the opposition and trying to maintain that things should be changed, but can offer no tangible, specific argument to support their delarations. Hancock and Verblage not enough to lead people to abandon a tried and prosperous administration.

Congressman Kinkaid's bill allows settlers to acquire 640 acres in arid parts of Nebraska, has passed through congress and promises to receive the president's signature at an early date. A large area of very desirable land is available under the new act according to reports it will be taken up. With the passage of that bill, the opening of the Rosebud reservation in Nebraska ought to see its times before long and enjoy a long and permanent growth.

Bryan discussed the New York dramatic platform in Chicago and demmed it as being in "opposite every needed reform and opposite all that the masses desire." He frowned on Judge Parker's preside candidacy, declaring that he was a fit man to be nominated either by democratic party or any other that stands for honesty or fair deal in politics. Parker ought to be a respectable Willis Hearst who, with his inherited cash, would be a candidate in the political arena. But the war between the two democratic factions and their antagonism will secure finally to the already victorious side of the republican party.

Peter Niedermier, Gustav Marx, Harvey Van Dine, notorious car bandits and confessed murderers of eight men, were hanged in Okla. Friday. All the murderers were 25 years of age. Worthless live dissipation and crime, ending ignominiously on the gallows, should be a warning to young men who view right living indifferently. After a series of crime, and capture, trial, conviction and sentence to death, it was too late to repent and reform. Then regret, early memories come to back, every gentle admonition to do it is too late. The young man is impetuous to start in the path shipwrecked lives have gone a put such tempters far from him.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE WAYNE HERALD

Die Verstorbene wanderte als junges Mädchen nach Deutschland aus und ging nach Milwaukee, Wisconsin, wo sie sich mit Herrn Hein. Christian Noychin Suhre verheiratete. Aus dieser Ehe gingen acht Kinder hervor, wovon sieben am Leben sind, nemlich zwei Töchter und fünf Söhne; die älteste Tochter, Frau Luise Meßall, wohnt in diesem County. Die zweite, Frau Emma Hoff wohnt in Phelps County, Neb. Anton und Edward wohnen in Mills County, Iowa. Heinrich Albert, Georg und Alexander wohnen ebenfalls in Wayne County. Sie erkrankte vor sechs Wochen an einer Lungenentzündung, zu der sich noch Gehirnentzündung gesellte und ihren Tod herbeiführte. Ihr Ehemann ging ihr vor vier Jahren in die Grube voraus. Außer den Kindern hinterläßt sie noch 20 Entelkinder. Ihre irdischen Überreste sollen in Silver City, Iowa, neben denen ihres Vaters ihre Ruhe finden. Der Leichenbegängnis fand in der Deutschen Kirche statt und predigte Pastor J. D. Karpenstein in Deutsch über Psalm 90 und Pastor G. D. Ringler in Englisch über 1. Moses 15, 15.

Das Gehalt der Kommissäre für den Jahresanfang wurde vom Präsidenten auf jährlich $12,000 festgesetzt, was nur die Hälfte von $15 per Tag treten, so lange die Kommissäre auf dem Jahresanfang warten.

Ein Kontrakt zur Lieferung von 3,000,000 Eiern zu 1 1/2 Cent per Duzend wurde kürzlich mit einem Großhändler in Kansas City, Mo., abgeschlossen. Die Eier sollen nach Chicago, New York und Boston versandt werden.

Ein Riesebart trägt ein gewisser Jean Coulon in Montluçon in Frankreich. Der Bart ist fast zehn Fuß lang und soll 6 1/2 Fuß davon liegen, wenn der Mann aufrecht steht, auf dem Fußboden auf. Die Enden seines Schnurrbartes hängen ihm bis zur Taille hinunter.

Die größten Männer fand der berühmte Afrikaforscher Henry M. Stanley in Höhen von 4950 und mehr Fuß über dem Meer; die kräftigsten in der Höhenlage von 3300 bis 4950 Fuß, und die kleinsten, abgesehen von den eigentlichen Negern, an den Küstensee und bis zur Höhe von 3300 Fuß.

Bibliotheken hat die Gesellschaft für Verbreitung von Volksschulung im Jahre 1903 im deutschen Reich 2721 mit 71,894 Bänden begründet und unterhält. Davon fällt die Mehrzahl, 821 mit 14,047 Bänden, auf Brandenburg, dann folgt Westpreußen mit 180 Bibliotheken und 6337 Bänden.

Ein neues Rechesheim ist ein will der Parler Gehirngymnastik erkrankt haben. Er behauptet, er habe mittelst Eingebungen eines Reches (Siphon) das aus dem in hundert Jahren Neubildungen seit langen Jahren konstatirten Micrococcus neoformans stammt, eine größere Anzahl von Heilungen erzielt.

Anstehende Kinderkrankheiten.
Noch immer behaupten der Keuchhusten und der Scharlach in Bezug auf Häufigkeit unter allen Infektionskrankheiten des Kindesalters das Feld, und leider haben wir noch immer kein zuverlässiges Mittel, um die Ansteckung abzuwehren.

Bei einem Keuchhustenanfall öffnete man dem Kind alle beengenden Kleidungsstücke, besonders am Hals und um den Körper herum, bringe es so möglich in frische Luft oder an's geöffnete Fenster und halte es an, tief zu atmen. Der Anfall geht dann meist rasch vorüber und endet mit dem wohlbestimmten Ueberstöße, welches das Einströmen der Luft anzeigt. Am Schluß werden dann ein wenig süßes Schleim oder Speisereste gegeben. Der letztere Umstand ist deshalb von Wichtigkeit, weil ein Kind, das täglich viel Anfälle hat und nach jedem bricht, in der Ernährung sehr herabkommt, falls man ihm nicht nach jedem Erbrechen gleich wieder zu essen reicht. Die Kinder haben meist guten Appetit und essen nach dem Brechen ruhig weiter. Bei schweren Anfällen sind kalte Uebergießungen an Rücken, Hals und Brust und reiben mit spirituellen Flüssigkeiten gut, wenn auch nicht unbedingt nötig. Von neuen Heilmitteln gegen den Keuchhusten seien das Peruvian und Antitussin erwähnt.

Der Scharlach ist trotz aller moderner Ergründungen (Strum) eine sehr gefährliche Krankheit. Das Leiden wird nicht nur von Person zu Person, wie der Keuchhusten, sondern auch durch gesunde dritte Personen und auch durch leblose Dinge, wie Kleider, übertragen. Erkrankt ein Kind an Scharlach, so ist dasselbe von seinen Geschwistern vollständig zu isoliren. Anfangssymptome des Scharlachs sind Schmegeben beim Schlafen und Fieber. Nach soll nicht warten, bis der Ausschlag ausbricht, sondern sofort bei diesen Symptomen der Arzt rufen. Zur Zeit einer Scharlachdämie ist es jedoch rathsam, nicht wegen eines jeden unbedeutenden Unwohlseins den Arzt zu rufen, denn derselbe kann dann erst das Scharlachtoxiemum mit in's Haus bringen. Ueber die Dauer der Ansteckung des Scharlachs herrschen verschiedene Ansichten. Nach einem Uebersichten der Pariser medizinischen Akademie soll die Ansteckungsmöglichkeit, also die Nothwendigkeit der Isolation, 40 Tage dauern. Andere sind der Meinung, daß die Ansteckungsmöglichkeit so lange dauert, als noch Abschuppung stattfindet, und sich bis zum Ende der achten Woche erstreckt. Sicher ist, daß ein Scharlachkranker, so lange er schuppt, noch ansteckend ist, und daß nach der Krankheit eine gründliche Desinfection aller Gegenstände, mit denen der Kranke in Berührung war, erforderlich ist.

Bei kleinen Kindern ist die Mundpflege sehr wichtig. Säuglingen ist nach dem Trinken der Brust mit einem Weinauflöschen, das in Wasser getaucht wird, sorgfältig auszuwaschen. Eine bei kleinen Kindern häufig auftretende Krankheit ist der Soor (Mundschleimhaut, die von der dort stattfindenden Entzündung eines pflanzlichen Schmarogers, eines Pilzes, herrührt). Zeigen sich die ersten Spuren des Soor, kleine milchweiße

Pünktle oder Flecken, so laßt man die Lappchen in einprozentige Boraxlösung und reinigt damit den Mund. Gewöhnlich verschwinden die Flecken bann. Sollten sie nicht thun oder sogar zunehmen, so wende man sich sofort an einen Arzt; denn der Soor ist nicht die harmlose Krankheit, wie im Volke vielfach geglaubt wird; er kann zu sehr schweren Verdauungsstörungen führen.

Tuberculose und Wohndichte.
Daß die Tuberculose in den dichtestbesiedelten Quartieren moderner Industriestädte vornehmlich ihre Opfer fordert, war eine längst durch die Erfahrung bekannte Thatfache, ohne daß in dem eingedengter, die verdichtenden Bevölkerungslagen familienweise trennende Unterlassungen darüber stattgefunden hätten. Die ersten Erhebungen dieser Art rührten von zwei Marburger Forschern, sowie von dem Großindustriellen Freudenberg in Weingheim, Baden, her. Die von dem Marburger Forschern im Jahre 1902 angestellten Untersuchungen führten zu dem Ergebnis, daß sich in dem besser gestellten Fünftel der dortigen Bevölkerung nur 0.2 Prozent Schwindkrüchtige fanden. Freudenberg ermittelte von 2900 in den Jahren 1901 und 1902 in Mannheim Verstorbenen die Wohnhäuser und Wohnungsbeziehungen und nahm als Maßstab für die soziale Stellung der durch den Tod betroffenen Familien die Zahl der von ihr benutzten Zimmer an. Die Kopfzahl der betreffenden Familien gab einen ferneren Maßstab für die Wohndichte. Auf diese Weise erhielt Freudenberg fünf Klassen von Haushaltungen, deren Wohnräume von Klasse zu Klasse im Verhältniß zur Kopfzahl sanken, deren Anteilnahme an der Tuberculoseerkranklichkeit aber progressiv stieg, so daß während Klasse 1 mit 10.3 Prozent daran befallen war, die fünfte und letzte Klasse einen Prozentanteil von 42.2 aufzuweisen hatte. Die Tuberculoseerkranklichkeit ist mithin proportional der Wohndichte, die Gefahr der Ansteckung um so größer, je enger die Menschen zusammenleben und schlafen.

Die Friedhofsgesellschaft in Wayne hat 60 Eichenbäume gekauft und ist Vater R. Besti dabei dieselben zu pflanzen. Die Gesellschaft hat das Vorhaben, den Namen des Friedhofs "Greenwood" "Grüner Wald" in der That zur Geltung zu bringen.

Sling Your Banner on the Outer Wall

No one who is sure that he is right is afraid to put his banner out where everyone will see it. No good American citizen is afraid to put the United States flag up where every one can see it, because it stands for what he believes is right. We have this week put our banner where everyone will see it. We have had the painters paint it in large letters on the outside of our building so that everyone can read it as they pass. We know we are right. We are not ashamed to let the world know what we sell and who made the goods that we have to offer our many customers. We have sold these lines of goods for more than twenty years and we know that no other line of men's clothing is as good. No other merchant will pay you one dollar if you rip your pants and ten cents for every suspender button that comes off. No other merchant in Wayne county will give you a written contract that his suits must give satisfaction or you get another suit. We are the only merchants that sell hats and will give you another hat if your hat don't give satisfaction. Our shoes, everyone knows, are the best made and fully warranted to give satisfaction. Why not trade where you know everything is the best? We charge no more than other merchants do for clothing that they cannot warrant. Trade here and you take no chances.

Mrs. C. A. Grothe underwent a successful surgical operation at St. Joseph's hospital in Sioux City Tuesday morning. She was resting comfortably at last accounts, and it is believed her recovery will be rapid and permanent. Aside from a scabie change of hairless wash directed at the HERALD editor, the general character of the Democrat was so much improved last week that we are not disposed to renew attack at this time nor until we feel warranted in doing so. As to the Republican editor's suspicion that we executed a diabolical design in employing his printer, we would say that he is laboring under a false impression, as an investigation of the facts will prove. Last Friday's Randolph Times contained the following explanation of Mrs. E. C. Brooks' fatal illness: "Mrs. E. C. Brooks, is lying very ill at her home nine miles south of Randolph. The trouble seems to be some internal growth that threatens to close the passage from the stomach to the bowels. For two weeks past Mrs. Brooks has scarcely eaten anything, liquid food being administered by injection. Mrs. Fleming of Murray, Neb., and Nelson Holcomb of Oshing, Iowa, her brother and sister are at her bedside. It has been more than 30 years since she had seen her brother."

TWICE A MURDERER

GEORGE WALSH MAY ALSO DIE IN CHICAGO.

Watchmen Find Thieves in International Packing Co.'s Smoke House—Two of the Former Killed and One Thief Wounded.

Chicago, Peter McGee, the stock yards watchman who attempted to arrest George Walsh, who is alleged to be stealing hams from the International Packing plant Saturday night, died Sunday morning, after which Walsh will have to answer should he recover from the wounds which he received in the fight with McGee and Clemmons, the watchmen. Clemmons was justly killed during the fight with Walsh.

Wash Is In a Critical Condition. Pneumonia Has Developed and His Chances for Recovery are Slight.

His accomplice has not been located. The fight occurred at the plant of the International Packing Company at Sixty-seventh and Packers Avenue. Six watchmen, who were on their first round for the night, discovered two men in the smoke house stealing hams. The two thieves started to run, and one of them made his escape. Clemmons seized Walsh, and the latter pressed a revolver against the watchman's breast and fired at the first shot. McGee ran to the help of Clemmons, and Walsh as he ran toward McGee, Walsh fell to the floor, but regained his feet and shot McGee three times. He then staggered to his feet and attempted to escape, but was intercepted by other employees and held until the police arrived.

At the hospital the wounded man gave the name of George Walsh, and said that he was 20 years of age.

"Disaster" at paying the price of carelessness," said a member of the admiralty, "and previous disasters seem to teach nothing."

The war commission suppressed part of the viceroy's dispatch, which showed where the mine was being laid. It is believed that as launches were employed they were mining the entrance to the harbor in order to prevent the Japanese from forcing an entrance and attempting to destroy the remaining ships.

It is evident that Viceroy Alexieff has no intention of leaving his ships to go even to fight an inferior force, though this may not be the policy of Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who will determine the plan of operation when he assumes command.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

NEWS OF THE WEEK, IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Lieutenant Defies a Sworn of Bees Which Had Taken Possession of Cable Box—Repairs Damaged Wire While Insects Sting.

The other afternoon Charles Diehl, a Union Pacific liegman, was sent along the wire to locate and repair a break in the line. When he arrived at Portal he found a crisis in the wires and in order to get the cable box repaired he was obliged to proceed to do so, but was considerably surprised when he discovered that he had run amuck of a swarm of bees which had taken possession of the particular box. The bees swarmed out by hundreds, some getting down on his face and others making such severe efforts to expel the intruder that Diehl was soon compelled to beat a hasty and ungracious retreat down the pole.

There was no way of smoking the bees out, they being on top of a fifty-foot pole, neither was there any other way to get the wire repaired. It was imperative that the wire be repaired immediately. Farmers came to the rescue and suggested all kinds of remedies which, upon being tried, resulted in nothing but stings, the bees holding the fort.

Time was being wasted and Diehl concluded that the most practical method to be employed was to accordingly he resolved to make the repairs in spite of the bees. Reclimbing the pole he set to work with a will amid a perfect cloud of the insects and performed the task, receiving the hearty plaudits of the onlookers.

TWO WOMEN BADLY INJURED.

Run Into by John Duggan's Team on Road to Homer.

A Dakota City social waltz Mesdames Clayton and Frank Sawyer, while en route from Dakota City to their homes at Homer Saturday night, met with an accident that luckily only resulted in them both being badly bruised up. When near the Robert Lapsley place the vehicle they occupied was run into by Duggan's team right on top of the vehicle occupied by the women and both were trampled under the horses' feet. Mrs. Clayton secured a knife from Duggan which she cut the lines on Duggan's horses and thus allowed the team to get away.

John Duggan, who happened along, assisted the women from their predicament and conveyed them to the home of R. C. Hillman, when a physician was summoned. Both are badly bruised and Mrs. Sawyer was injured in her back. It was lucky that the women escaped with their lives.

NEW HOMESTEAD LAW.

Thousands of Acres Will be Affected by O'Neill District.

There was much rejoicing at O'Neill over the news of the passage of Congressman Kinkaid's 640-acre homestead bill by the national house of representatives. Inquiry at the county and office departments of the O'Neill office developed that the bill applies to this land district and that there is yet about 700,000 acres of public land in this district, divided approximately as follows: Holt County, 148,400 acres; Brown County, 6,020; Garfield County, 145,400; Loup County, 204,000; Rock County, 54,000.

It appears to have long since been recognized that the increase in the acreage of the homestead was the only proper and lasting solution of the public land question in western Nebraska, and is pointed out by those who have had experience that a farmer cannot make a living on a single acre in the present market with 640 acres a careful man can, by keeping cattle, make a good living for his family on most any section of the purely sand hill lands. If this bill becomes a law it is believed that it will rectify all the trouble heretofore caused by fencing public lands.

NEBRASKA CROP CONDITIONS

Season Continues Abnormally Cold and Dry Through the State.

The weekly crop bulletin of the Nebraska section of the climate and crop service of the weather bureau for the week ending April 10, 1914, says:

The past week has been very cold, averaging about 10 degrees below the normal for this time of the year, and four degrees below in the western half. The lowest temperatures were recorded on April 16, reading about ten degrees below freezing being recorded throughout the state.

No rain occurred during the week except a trace in scattered localities. The week has been an excellent one for sowing spring grain and this work is nearly finished in all sections. The early planted oats are coming up in the counties along the river and in the favorable circumstances, the soil being sufficiently moist to plow well, except in some western counties. In the eastern half of the state winter wheat is in good condition and no damage reported from the dry weather of last week. In the western half of the state, however, much damage to winter wheat has resulted from the many weeks of dry weather. Potatoes are about all planted. Spring grain, grass and gardens are starting slowly because of the cold, dry conditions.

Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock burglars entered and blew open the safe of the First National bank at Napier. There were two explosions and the men secured about $1,200. The whole plate glass front of the building was entirely blown out.

A. J. Standford heard the noise, dressed and came to the street, where he watched the north road, but no one was to be seen. It is supposed that the burglars have gone south or west. The sheriff is expected from Butte with bloodhounds, but there is no clue to work upon. The bank carried no casualty insurance. It offers $500 reward for the capture of the men.

RUSSIANS SAID WEEK.

HOODOO OF BAD LUCK STILL PURSUING CZAR'S FORCES.

Disaster to Petropavlovsk Caused by a Jap Countermine—Togo Lured Admiral Makaroff from Shelter by Tempting Bait—Russians in a Panic.

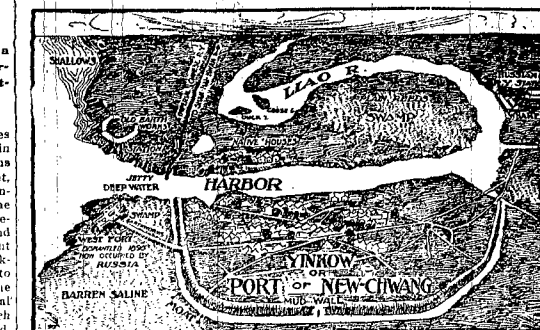

The hoodoo of bad luck still pursues the Russians in their naval operations in the East. Last week was a calamitous one for them. The Port Arthur fleet, which at the beginning of the war consisted of seven battleships and about the same number of cruisers, has been reduced to two unharmed battleships and two or three cruisers. The persistent hammering of the Japanese has so weakened it that its only hope of safety is to remain in the harbor, protected by the guns of the forts, and await the arrival of the Baltic fleet. That fleet, on which the hopes of the Russians are centered, ought to be leaving soon for the Orient. The chimerical project of sending it by way of the Arctic ocean has not been entertained. The vessels will pursue the customary route.

When the Petropavlovsk was sunk by a Japanese countermine the Russians had the best battle ship in the world. After the disabling of the Retzovian and Czarevich. They lost over 700 men, and among them one who counted for more than all the others—Admiral Makaroff. Had he escaped he could not, even though a brave and skillful seaman, have done less than to be killed. On Friday Admiral Togo again bombarded Port Arthur to what purpose is unknown. Probably the immensely strong fortifications have not been damaged by his fire. On this occasion the Russian fleet did not venture into the harbor, as it has usually done. After the sinking of the Petropavlovsk and a torpedo boat, and the injury received by the Pobieda Wednesday, no more chances will be taken. It is reported that Admiral Togo is still bent on blocking the entrance to the harbor by sinking merchant vessels. He is one of the present men who usually carry through their plans sooner or later.

On land, the war moves slowly. That may be due in part to the condition of the roads in northwestern Korea. Men who served in the army of the Potomac had and have a lively recollection of the mud which they had to wade through on the movements of an army. The Japanese are apparently adding to their forces on the Yalu, but they do not seem to have made a serious attempt to cross the river. No news comes from the correspondents who were allowed to join the army operating in the Korea, and the natural conclusion is that the Japanese are not yet ready to force the fighting.

The Japanese hold most of Korea. They have a grip on the territory which was the cause of the war. In China and Japan exclusive control over Korea there would have been no fighting. It is impossible, however, for the Japanese to stop at the Yalu, fortify themselves, and prepare to resist a Russian attack. They must move on into Manchuria. The military experts agree as to what should be their objective

PORT OF NEWCHWANG, NEAR WHICH PLACE THE JAPS ARE REPORTED TO HAVE LANDED

The port of Newchwang, near which the Japanese are reported to have landed an invading force, is commonly known as Yinkow, or Yinkang, though it also bears the name of Yung-tze. It is situated at the head of the Gulf of Liaoning, and in it are located several consulates, banks, churches, hotels and stores, the Russian administration building and the villas of Europeans. The place was captured in 1895 by the Japanese, who were compelled to cede it back to China by Russia, England and France. The Imperial Chinese Railway and a branch of the Manchurian road enter the town. Hence its importance from a military point of view. This Yinkow was believed to be the objective of the Japanese, when Gen. de Wagnac was placed in command of the troops there. In the war with China Yinkow was one of the last places to be taken by the victorious Japanese.

THE RUSSIAN NAVY'S NEW HOPE IN THE WAR

Admiral Skrydloff, the new command-in-chief of the Russian fleet, has been named with much enthusiasm, has said to his friends in St. Petersburg that when he arrives in the Orient he will attempt to unite the Port Arthur and Vladivostok squadrons at Port Arthur, and use the combined squadrons there as a nucleus to the Japanese until reinforcements arrive.

RUSSIA ISSUES PAPER MONEY. Puts Out $15,000,000 Against Gold War Finances.

Russia has made a new issue of $15,000,000 in paper currency against gold in the State bank. At the ministry of finance it was explained that it was an ordinary issue and in no sense was forced. Under the law paper is issuable to double the amount of gold, up to $15,000,000 gold, in excess of which paper issued must be covered by gold. The daily expenses are averaging $750,000, and it is estimated that a year's expenditures for the war will total $250,000,000. To meet this there existed a free balance of $50,000,000, which was increased to $115,000,000 by reductions of the ordinary budgets, leaving ostensibly $185,000,000 to be found. But a portion of this sum is made up by the increased earnings of the railroads owned by the government. It belongs in reality a question of bookkeeping, how the balance is to be raised has not yet been determined.

HURLING SACKS OF GOLD.

Japs Spend Several Hundred Dollars a Minute Shooting at It. The bombardment of Port Arthur has been a most expensive pastime for the Japanese. The feature of the engagement of Thursday, March 30, was the activity of Japanese gunners who mangled the 12-inch shells. In all, 154 12-inch shells were fired. The Russian war vessels were targets for some of them, but the greater number were aimed at the fortifications within the town. Now, a 12-inch shell usually contains 200 pounds of powder and carries about 500 pounds of armor-piercing projectile. In addition to these things the Japanese shot within each shell 250 pounds of shot, 50 pounds of gun cotton, and 70 pounds of picric acid. Shells stuffed in this manner cost $750 each, while the shot which weighs less than the rate of one every five minutes has a target at $60,000. The Japanese gunners hurled $78,540 worth of 12-inch shells into Russian Port Arthur within a comparatively short time on March 30. In addition to the 12-inch shells the six-pounders and three-pounders, the torpedo boats and the torpedo-torpedo destroyers were active. The three-pounders are being fired at the rate of three each minute at a cost of $20 for each shell. The six-pounders may be fired at the rate of one every minute at a cost of $30 for each shell. A Whitehead torpedo represents a cost value of $250,000, and here it is, in a word, and a little more than this sum when it is on board a war vessel at Port Arthur, for a torpedo mine tender, although helpless, a $5,000,000 battleship freighted with 700 human beings.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

A dispatch from Port Arthur reports the complete destruction of a Japanese column on the Yalu river. It is said that on the eve of the Japanese attack on the Russian fleet, Admiral Makaroff telegraphed to the Czar that he was about to fight a decisive action with the enemy's fleet. The European Economist of Paris says that Russia is negotiating with the principal French banks for a loan of $150,000,000 at 5 per cent four-year treasury bonds, to be placed at 98. St. Petersburg telegram says the Czar has ordered the Russian fleet to East by July 15. Orders are issued to hasten the work on the ships. Two suspected Japanese have been arrested on the railroad near Volodga, in northeastern Russia, 302 miles from Moscow, with plans in their possession of attacking the island of Genoa, Marjinsk. Captain Crow, a descendant of a Scotchman who fought with Russia in the war with Sweden, when he captured the first British.

JAPS LURE TO DEATH. Latest Disaster to Russian Warships Fully Explained.

The Japanese are elated over the successes they have won at Port Arthur. They are also proud of the achievements of Vice Admiral Togo, particularly of the newest strategy of counter-mining the enemy's harbor and deceiving him in this field of mines to an equally dangerous flank attack. The success of the system of placing deadly countermines due largely to a series of careful observations made by the Japanese during their previous attacks on Port Arthur. The Japanese saw the Russian fleet leave the harbor and return to it several times, and they followed an identical course every time they came out or went in, evidently for the purpose of avoiding their own mines. The Japanese took bearings on this course. When the destroyer divisions of the Japanese torpedo flotilla laid the countermines during the night of April 12-13 they placed them along this course. The countermines were placed in exceedingly perilous places, because, if any Japanese boat with mines on board had been struck by a lucky Russian shot she would have been annihilated. The weather of the night of April 12-13 favored the mine. There was a heavy fog, the night was cloudy and the Russian searchlights playing over the channel failed to reveal the presence of the Japanese destroyers. Rear Admiral Dewa was in command of the Japanese squadron which decoyed the Russian ships over the field of mines. His squadron consisted of the cruisers Chitose, Aikido, Kasagi and Takasago, all unarmored vessels, which presented a tempting bait for the heavier Russian ships. Vice Admiral Togo directed the flank attack. He had the battleships Hatsuse, Mikasa, Asahi, Suikishima, Yamashiro and Fuso. He went into the harbor with Rear Admiral Dewa signalled him by wireless telegraph to come in. His vessels then dashed at full speed toward the entrance of the harbor. All the battleships under Vice Admiral Togo are capable of a speed of eighteen knots and their shells are of long distance. It is not clear what warned the Russians that they had been trapped, but they probably discerned the battleship squadron on the horizon and retreated precipitately to the harbor. Vice Admiral Togo did not succeed in preventing the Russian fleet from entering, but did force them to a decisive retreat, which resulted in the destruction of the Petropavlovsk and the disabling of the Pobieda. After these occurrences the cruisers Nishin and Kasuga were used to bombard Port Arthur. They possess the latest light guns in the fleet, capable of throwing shells of great weight, and their main deck works, which are beyond attainment by the average naval weapon. Expressions of regret at the death of Vice Admiral Makaroff are general in Tokyo. Speaking for the naval staff, Commander Ogasawara was published a letter of sympathy for the death of the Russian vice admiral and pronounces it to be a loss to the navies of the world. Commander Ogasawara reviews the life, professional career and the personal attributes of Vice Admiral Makaroff and declares that he is entitled to be ranked with the best admirals in the world. The Koru Maru, which participated in the latest attack on Port Arthur, is a torpedo depot-ship, under the command of Commander Oda. Oda is a mine expert and the success of the Japanese countermining operations was due largely to his ingenuity and bravery.

JUSTICES TO RESIGN.

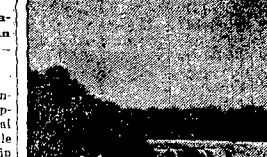

Fuller, Harlan and Brown Will Soon Leave the Bench. Important changes in the personnel of the Supreme bench are now expected before the meeting of the next Congress. It is known in judicial circles that Chief Justice Fuller, Justice Harlan and Justice Brown plan to retire. No date is fixed, but it is understood that they will take such action within the next few months. Having passed the age of 70 years, and having served more than ten years upon the bench, Chief Justice Fuller is entitled to retire on full pay. He took the oath of office Oct. 8, 1888. Despite his years, he continues in excellent health and is mentally vigorous, but it is known that sickness in his family has caused him much worry during the last year. For this reason he has been tempted to take advantage of the law governing retirement and leave the responsibilities of his position to a younger hand. Justice Harlan will be 71 years old June 1. He will have been twenty-four years on the bench on the 10th of next December. He is, therefore, entitled to retirement with full pay, but on account of age he is not so inclined. Justice Brown's health has been far from good in the last year, and he is beginning to show his age more than any other man on the bench.

BIG FIGURES FROM THE WEST.

Marvellous Progress Outlined in a Few Astonishing Sentences. In an interesting article in the Bookkeeper Magazine Harold Cole furnishes some astounding figures regarding the tremendous growth of the great West during recent years. We append some of the most startling paragraphs: "During 1903 30,000 homesteaders were established on free farms in the vast regions of Manitoba. Three years ago in one of the counties of the State of Washington there were but 95 voters. Now the population is 20,000 and last year the county shipped 2,000,000 bushels of wheat. The value of the gold and silver from Alaska last year exceeded $20,000,000. During 1903 60,000 people were added to the population of San Francisco.

VALUE OF NIAGARA.

Its Destruction Threatened by Power-Speaking Companies.

The appearance of another corporation seeking to obtain from the New York Legislature title power privileges at Niagara Falls has caused widespread interest. In this connection it is well to note that the commissioners of the State Park have already given warning that some of the present companies enjoying the privileges of the use they may make of the falls is so aimed that a possible development of even the present companies would rob Niagara of one-third of its water, obliterate the American fall, and leave only the deeper green floor that curves smoothly over the brink of the Canadian Horseshoe.

Recent figures show that Niagara develops 3,500,000 horsepower, which is flood or drought, but the Great Lakes acting as an equalizer of the flow. Allowing for the brief periods during which horses can put forth their full force, unretaining Niagara could do about as much work in a year as the 18,000,000 horses of the country combined. It could furnish nearly one-third of the 11,200,000

GREAT TORONTO FIRE.

BUSINESS AREA OF CANADIAN CITY WRECKED.

Damage Done Will Reach $10,000,000—Flame Overtook More than Thirty Big Buildings—Water at Last Stops Course of Flames.

Flames that swept the wholesale district of Toronto, Canada, Tuesday night with startling rapidity destroyed more than thirty of the leading business buildings. The property loss will reach $10,000,000. From the Currie warehouse, in Wellington street, where it originated, the fire spread quickly to the west, consuming eight big buildings in less than an hour. Then the flames made a clean sweep up Wellington street, leaving devastation on both sides of that thoroughfare. The conflagration raged down Bay street, destroying every building on both sides of the street from the National Club to Front street. Nothing could resist the sweep of the fire as it rushed down Bay street toward the lake. It stopped only when it had reached the water.

Help from Outside.

Appeals were sent early to every surrounding city where fire apparatus could be obtained, including London, Montreal, Hamilton and even Buffalo, N. Y. Little assistance arrived for several hours, and by the time it came no number of men and no amount of fire apparatus could have checked the march of the flames.

Many Small Fires.

The fire started at 9 o'clock. Throughout the course of the conflagration high winds carried huge brands to far-away sections of the city, causing many incipient fires, which were fought by bucket brigades of the householders, all the fire-fighting force being engaged at the scene of the conflagration.

THE AUTOMOBILE

To the Herald: Mechanical wagons, called by whatever name fancy has dictated, have arrived at a critical period of their existence. For the past six or eight years public attention has been attracted to them largely through their novelty and the sweeping assertions and predictions of manufacturers and faddish newspapers, who gave the date of the disappearance of the horse with a precision almost suggestive of "second sight" and heralded the information that orders for machines were two years in advance of the manufacturers' capacity to turn them out.

The machines demonstrated their capacity to travel very rapidly, not only upon tracks, but in our streets and parks, with a reckless disregard to life and limb that would not have been tolerated from any other source. The time has arrived, however, when the results of the generous and expensive trials given to all the various kinds of automobiles by many representative business houses of the large cities must be shown through their more general adoption or their rejection. Some months ago indicated the trend of sentiment along this line by recording a number of instances where the horseless carriage had been discarded by large business firms in New York City on account of unreliability and unsatisfactory service. We could add case after case where physicians, private families and business houses have cast them aside and resumed the horse power.

As an evidence of the comparative merits of motor cars and horses for light delivery work and heavy trucking, an order placed last week by the new Fourteenth street store, of Chicago, of which Henry Siegel is at the head, will probably carry more weight among practical business men than all the short special trials that have been or may be made by automobile manufacturers. As everyone knows, the Fourteenth street store is a new establishment from the ground up. Starting with a new stock in a new building, it has been the purpose of the management to have every feature of the equipment the best from the standpoint of efficiency and economy. When it came to the delivery service, which is one of the most important features of twentieth century department store, Mr. Siegel and his associates had to choose between horses and motor wagons, and it did not take them long to make their choice. After having themselves tried the steam and electric trucks and delivery wagons, and having seen a score or more of the leading business houses of New York test all of the various types in an experimental way, the new firm turned them down, one and all, and placed an order with Fies, Doers & Carroll, the largest dealers in the world, for two hundred and forty horses of the best stamp. One hundred and fifty head are to be of the light delivery type, for quick work on the city and suburban retail dry goods wagons, fifty heavier express horses will be supplied for the furniture wagons and the remaining forty will be heavy draught horses for hauling merchandise from the steamers and cars to the Fourteenth street store.

The order is one of the largest filled by Fies, Doers & Carroll since they fitted out the great Barrum & Bailey shows with three hundred high class draughts about a year ago. It is also one of the most important orders of the year from the fact that it indicates the passing of the automobile for practical business purposes in a city where conditions are more favorable than anywhere else for the use of motor cars. The good horse will always be with us.

OREGON COUNTY

Great Klamath Basin Invites Investors.

THE LAND OF BIG IRRIGATION

Forests of Sugar and Yellow Pine—Abundance of Alfalfa Grown Under Irrigation—Thousands of Acres Already Irrigated, and Steps Taken Toward Another Great Ditch—Scenery, Climate, Water.

The HERALD wishes to call the attention of people who are seeking opportunities for investment on the Pacific coast, to a newly developing section, Klamath county, Oregon, which has lately become a strong rival among other localities in offering inducements to men of capital. No spot on the coast has more substantial and diversified resources, and the approach of a railroad is the impetus behind an era of unusual growth.

Knowing the county's resources and having reason to believe its bright prospects are well founded, the HERALD feels warranted in inviting prospective coast investors to give it consideration. We shall from time to time set forth in as fair a manner as possible the resources and possibilities of the country, and if enough are interested and will go there to investigate, we will accompany an excursion some time the coming summer. Our plan would be to interest people in visiting Klamath on their tours of the coast and after doing so, invest or not as their judgment might direct. Round-trip excursion rates will again be inaugurated August 15, continuing until September 10, allowing a visit to both San Francisco and Portland. The round-trip will cost $56. The middle of August would be a desirable time to go. We would be glad to meet any who may be interested and show them maps and pictures.

Irrigated land set to alfalfa varies from $30 to $50 per acre, land accessible to future irrigation $15 to $25 per acre, and dry ranches from $5 to $15 per acre.

Klamath county, equal in area to the state of Massachusetts, lies on the eastern slope of the Cascade mountains, in southern Oregon, having an elevation for the most part of 4,200 feet. There are 1,206,000 acres of agricultural land, 1,000,000 acres of grazing land, 1,250,000 acres of timber land and 275,480 acres covered by lakes and marshes. The forests of sugar and yellow pine are the source of great wealth. The value of timber must continue to increase in harmony with the growing demand and it is always a good investment.

Klamath is not in the rain belt of Oregon. Best crops are raised under irrigation and several big ditches now pour approximately 80,000 acres. A project is at this time developing for a larger ditch than now in operation. It will tap Upper Klamath lake, a natural reservoir, ten by thirty miles, lying from sixty to one hundred feet above the lower valleys.

The excellent quality and abundance of alfalfa and native grasses favor that country for stock-growing, and the great Klamath Basin has become in late years the chief winter feeding ground for cattle of southeastern Oregon. The acreage of alfalfa, the most profitable crop grown, increases as irrigation extends. Small grain and vegetables are raised in abundance. Considerable fruit is grown in favored spots, though that industry is not followed as a business, but merely for home consumption. To its credit it is not what is called a "fruit country." It is exceptionally adapted to dairying, which is a growing industry.

Like most other sections along the Cascades, the spring is the most disagreeable part of the year. With no railroad, the mud makes travel unpleasant. The wet season, however, doesn't last long and the annoyance of it will be largely remedied when the railroad finally has building to the Falls.

Within the last year Klamath's first railroad has been built, branching off from the Southern Pacific at a point called Land in northern California and building up the Klamath twenty-five miles to a new station called Pokesama, thirty miles from the county seat, Klamath Falls. The road proposes to continue on to that town in time, and will thus be able to use the chain of lakes and tributary streams.

In natural resources, healthy climate, attractive scenery and hunting and fishing, Klamath county has few equals. It has an inexhaustible supply of both hot-cold and boiling-hot water. With neither oppressive heat in summer nor excessive cold in winter, with no cyclones, water spouts or severe lightning, the climate is usually agreeable as well as healthy. The lakes and streams, teeming with different varieties of trout, the abundance of deer and small game, and the grand scenery, notable among which is the famed Crater lake, attract thousands of tourists every year.

The above is a brief and hasty review of what one may expect to find in Klamath county. Later we expect to treat the various subjects at greater length. We trust people who desire investment on the coast will give the merits of this comparatively undeveloped section consideration and let us hear from them or talk to them about it.
