Wm Schroeder Uses Knife on Himself.

ATTEMPT OCCURS AT WINSIDE

No Arteries Severed and He Will Recover—Had Been in Wayne, Slept in Box Car—Thought He Had a Prophetic Dream—Does Not Regret His Rash Act—A Brother is Notified.

Wm. Schroeder, aged about 27 years, tried to kill himself by cutting his throat with a jack-knife in John Nicholas' pool hall at Winside Saturday evening. He slashed his throat unobserved and when discovered was bleeding profusely. He walked out of a rear door and threw himself on the ground where he was lying when Dr. Sorrgus and County Attorney Siman arrived. It was found he had not severed any of the arteries and the wound was dressed and drawn together by a number of stitches.

Young Schroeder had been working for Christopher Weible on his farm near town. Last week he was in Wayne and while intoxicated found lodging in a box car. He explains that while sleeping in the car he dreamed that a train had run over him. Jumping up suddenly and landing on the ground, a freight train passed. He concluded that his dream was prophetic and proposed to hurry his end by suicide.

He has a father in Indiana and a brother in Chicago, the latter of whom was notified by wire. It was his wish that the news be withheld from his father. It is believed he will recover, though he expresses regret over his failure in destroying his life.

The frequent and successful operations for appendicitis have inspired the organization of what is called the Appendicitis club in Sioux City. The organization was perfected Friday night.

West Point is suffering from a scarlet fever epidemic. The city schools have been dismissed and there will be no graduating exercises or alumni banquets. Many houses in the town show red tags warning people of the presence of the dread disease.

At the commencement exercises in Dakota City an admission fee of fifteen cents will be charged everybody excepting children under school age, and they will be taxed fifty cents apiece. The discrimination against little children is intended to keep them away from the meeting.

Indians on the Omaha and Winnebago reservations are getting married at a lively rate to entitle them to benefits from the government. Also occasionally domestic infelicity disturbs an Indian household and inspires divorce proceedings. A recent instance of that kind is mentioned by the Republic.

Madison county pays a bounty of $2 on wolf scalps, while neighboring counties pay half that amount. Therefore, it is said wolves prefer going into Madison county to be scalped—a compliment which taxpayers there do not particularly relish. As a result it is proposed to reduce the bounty to an equality with that of other counties.

It is pretty generally conceded that the nomination for state senator this fall belongs to Wayne county, and it is equally probable that the nomination will go where it belongs. Our neighbor on the north has men who are available and who, we are informed, are not averse to accepting such nomination. It might be well for them to hold a convention, select delegates, decide upon a candidate and see if the matter cannot be amicably settled. So far as we are informed Stanton county republicans are favorable to the nomination going to Wayne county. We have had no opportunity of discussing the matter with the senatorial delegation but do not doubt that they are of the same mind.—Stanton Picket.

A young woman of marriageable age on being asked what kind of a young man she liked best, said: "I love a young man who loves his mother so fondly that for her sake he is chivalrous to all women. I love a young man who will step out of his way to avoid crushing a worm, and will not deem it beneath his dignity to succor a stray kitten. I love a young man who believes there is a nobler life than being a good dancer or a successful society man. I love a man who is not ashamed of tears for others' sorrow, for a tender song, for a beautiful thought. I love a man who hates whiskey as angels hate Satan and thinks so much of his brain to make smoked meat of it. I despise a 'goody goody' young man, but love a good one. I would not like to be third cousin to a duke, but I love a young man who is a hale fellow well met with nice girls and seems not the company of a sister."

The merchants of the little town of Hoskins, where there is no newspaper, are doing things which prove valuable lessons to those of cities many times larger. B. E. Fenner & Co., and F. S. Benser are getting out little newspapers of their own once a week—papers containing the news of their stores. They are holding special sales on certain things every little while and they are using the rural routes, paying postage on their posters and printing, besides, to let the prospective patrons know what is going on. It is needless to say that they are making it win. Their success at this feature is merely a demonstration of the fact that the same principles apply to country stores as city stores—that the same sort of human beings buy in a small town as in a large one. Messrs. Fenner and Benser, of Hoskins, are carrying out on a small scale at Hoskins just what the department stores of the city pay $50,000 a year for newspaper space, to do. The annual sales are leaders and they draw.

FALSE IMPRESSION CORRECTED

To correct a false impression possibly created by the Republican's representation that W. H. McNeal withdrew the B. E. giving himself a boost, that gentleman has received the following affidavit, which explains itself:

J. M. Curtis, of lawful age, being by me first duly sworn deposes and says that he is the duly appointed and acting correspondent of the Omaha Daily Bee for the city of Columbus, Neb., that as such correspondent he did on the evening of the 18th day of May, A. D. 1904, wire in an advance story pertaining and relating to delegates who were then in the city of Columbus ready to attend the republican congressional convention which was held in said city of Columbus on the following day, May 17th, 1904. That in said special to said paper this affiant did refer to one W. H. McNeal of the city of Wayne, Neb., as "the old war horse of the Third congressional district." THE FERTILE LOGAN VALLEY.

A pioneer of Nebraska lying at Neligh, who has been in the employ of the land department of railroads for many years, was discussing the merits of different sections while riding along on the Northwestern last week and among other things declared that the Logan valley had the richest and most productive land in the state. He characterized it as the best land in the world. He has traveled in all parts of the United States and is excellent authority on such matters and, hence, his opinion is well worth considering.

FATAL LIGHTNING

C. C. Clark Killed Instantly on Tuesday.

HIS SON SHOCKED BY THE BOLT

Three of Four Horses are Stricken Dead—"Shot Driver" to the House and is Met by the Father who Comes to Help Unhitch the two Teams, when the Deadly Electricity Strikes—Loss Mourned by Large Family.

C. C. Clark was instantly killed by lightning at his farm residence, five miles north and two miles west of Wayne, Tuesday, about noon. Three of four horses standing near were also killed. His son James, aged 21, was shocked by the bolt and especially had the fingers of his left hand considerably injured.

The son, who had been in the field harrowing, drove up to the house as the storm appeared threatening, and the father came out to help unhitch the teams. The clouds were not heavy, but the lightning was fierce. The two men and teams were standing by a wire fence and had been there but a few moments when a tongue of electric fire suddenly issued from the sky and Mr. Clark and the three horses dropped dead. Mr. Clark was struck on the forehead, burning his hair and causing a wound in his neck. The son fell under the force of the shock, but with assistance he was soon revived.

Another son was quickly sent for the assistance of a neighbor, Wm. Buetow, who was soon at the Clark home. After rendering all necessary aid there, he came to Wayne to convey the sad news to two daughters who were attending the college and notify out-of-town relatives.

Mr. Clark leaves a wife and four daughters and three sons. He was a member in good standing of the M. W. A., holding insurance for $3,000.

He was a worthy citizen and had a large circle of friends. The grief-stricken family have the sympathy of all. Announcement of the funeral arrangements for which had not been completed at this writing, will be found on the local page.

For six months ending this week 1386 registered letters and packages have been handled by the local postoffice. That is showing of which the town may well feel proud.

The interior walls of Ralph Randall's grocery have been calcimined and decorated and the stock re-arranged, much improving the convenience and neat appearance of the place.

S. E. Anker has a novelty in the shape of an apple tree in his orchard. The tree above the ground is green and apparently healthy, filled with leaves and blossoms, while the roots are dead, decayed and dwarfed. Mr. Anker expects to bring the tree, roots and all, to the college this week for the inspection and study of the students.

An old and esteemed friend of the HERALD editor, Rev. Geo. Bray, of Ponca, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit in Wayne Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Bray is the author of "By the King's Command," a historical novel, which is growing in popularity everywhere. The third edition of the work will soon be issued. He has received favorable criticism from the leading papers of the United States, and his marked success has inspired him to write another book, really a sequel to the first one, and publishing houses are already making efforts to control it. He is a versatile writer, a lively thinker, and thus his familiarity with English history enables him to picture English life accurately and in an interesting style. Rev. Bray has retired from a regular ministerial charge and is devoting himself to an ideal life-improving, a seven-acre plot at the edge of town and pursuing his literary talent with every assurance of success and ample remuneration.

Thirty says: "Do you crave money? Then be merciful yourself."

Rural mail carriers will receive $60 per month after July 1. It is none too much.

The state ticket nominated in Lincoln by the late republican convention is a sure winner.

Col. Watterson alludes to Hearst's presidential candidacy as "an extraordinary combination of impudence and money."

The presence of Hon. John M. Thurston in the republican state convention revived old-time admiration for the man, and he was urged to speak and was received with enthusiasm. Republicans had buried memory of his little thoughtless outburst of poetic sentimentality which helped unhorse him politically some years ago, and on this occasion gave him a cordial ovation.

The democratic party of Nebraska will go through the formality of nominating a ticket at Omaha June 1 and thus perpetuate its organization.

A fight for the possession of dandelions, the pest which this country would gladly be rid of, resulted in the death of three Italians at Meyerdale, Panama.

W. H. McNeil was elected congressional commissioner for this county at the Columbus convention, having the support of most of the delegation from Wayne county.

Some of Hearst's friends are urging him to pull out of the presidential race and try for second place. He is being impressed that he will not be too old to become a candidate in a future campaign.

Congressman McCarthy was re-nominated without opposition at the Columbus convention last week. His first year in congress shows more to his credit than usual with new members, and his re-election is generally conceded.

After the Winside Tribune's depiction of the ultra religious propensities of Gov. Micokey, we expected to see that gentleman attempt an evangelistic feat on the republican convention and convert the gathering into a huge prayer meeting.

Hon. E. K. Burkett who will succeed Senator Dietrich, satisfied the highest expectations of his friends in his appearance before the state convention. He looked right, acted right and gave utterance to the right things. He is certainly all right.

The HERALD hopes every child hereabouts was permitted to attend the circus in Wayne last week. The glitter, the gorgonzola, the gaudy stiring music the aggregation of trained and wild animals, the army of skilled and splendidly attired actors are always attractive to both old and young and the latter, especially delighted, will be less injured if allowed to share in the enjoyments. Take the children to every good circus that comes along.

The defeat of Mr. Manning for commissioner of public lands and buildings may be attributed to untoward conditions which could not be overcome. Two candidates in this congressional district divided the vote of a number of counties, which otherwise would have gone solid for Wayne's man. Easton of Dodge county, who won, had the advantage of acquaintance over the state gained by his position as deputy land commissioner. He was able to make a strong combination, and helped his candidacy by prolonging the initial ballot. If the result of the first ballot had been immediately announced and a second ballot taken, Manning would have gained and either he or Pickett would undoubtedly have been nominated.

The editor of the Democrat has assumed that the HERALD has been trying to put it out of business. A little candid reflection (a mental exercise, by the way, which its editor probably never experienced) would show the utter nonsense of such twaddle. Doesn't the HERALD expect democratic competition? Laying aside personal likes and dislikes, what paper would the HERALD naturally prefer out of the way? From a purely business standpoint, and with all due consideration for its editor, is not the Republican, if either the paper we should want to see demoralized? Which of its competitors would the Republican naturally like to see wink out? The HERALD, of course. But the HERALD has not "blowed" about putting either out of business, and pitted against both, it challenged detection of methods not in keeping with fair competition. Can "by-dad" say as much? Does he know what "fair" means? Wouldn't he consider it something to get a new kind of drink?

The editor of the Democrat rather condones the Democrat's practice on the ground that there is money in it. If the profit justifies the editor, why don't papers elsewhere pursue the same policy? Why is the Democrat the only paper in the state that does it? If one were warranted in disregarding decency and good influences because he is thereby enabled to excite thoughtless curiosity and accrue pecuniary profit, what a demoralized and deplorable condition of society the world would drift into!

MORE ABOUT "BY DAD."

Last week's Democrat drives some, brags much, exhibits flatulence and a great deal of gall and treats the leniency of the U. S. court as a triumphant vindication. From his story one would presume that he was met in Omaha by a brass band and the mayor, and escorted with due pomp and ceremony, amidst the kotows of the multitude, to the federal building where the action against him was dispatched in an apologetic fashion. One would suppose that there was evidence of his remarkable distinction on every hand. It would appear that the paragraph on which the charge was based was the only one of questionable propriety he had ever published. I stand of cringing with fear and pleading ignorance, as reported, it would seem that he was buoyant in the consciousness of his immaculate goodness. It would look as though his return met an enthusiastic ovation and that he was restored as the community's cherished literary benefactor. To those who took legal steps to check his fifth mill, are ascribed ulterior and spiteful motives. From what the HERALD can learn, the action was taken purely in behalf of public morals, and when it was hinted to this paper that such move was on foot, it ceased its agitation against "by dad"—a consideration which it seems his dwarfed sense of decency would not allow him to appreciate. As a matter of fact the people of Wayne do not look with favor on "by dad's" penchant for bad literature and scorn the evil taste thus cultivated, as repeated expressions from business men and citizens generally testify.

Note what some of the exchanges say: Ponce Journal: "W. S. Goldie, publisher of the Wayne Democrat, was indicted last week by the federal grand jury at Omaha for violating the United States laws in the printing and circulating of obscene literature. Everybody that knows anything about the Wayne Democrat's 'By Dad' column, knows that it is worse than rotten. The only wonder is that the respectable people of Wayne have stood for it as long as they have."

The O'Neill Frontier: "A Nebraska editor has been fined $20 in federal court for publication and circulation in his newspaper of obscene literature. However, this is only one out of several hundred editors in Nebraska. Most of them publish papers that any home or reading rack can be proud of."

The Norfolk Press: "Goldie, of the Wayne Democrat, paid a fine in United States court at Omaha this week for publishing a story that wasn't fit to be seen—just which story the Omaha newspaper didn't say. Goldie runs a good many of 'em and it's to be hoped that now he will be good."

The Stanton Picket: "He got off easy. The Democrat is a disgrace to journalism. It is a polluter of morality."

Osmond Republican: "Bro. Goldie of the Wayne Democrat, has been on the federal court to contest this week for the offense of publishing and sending through the mails obscene matter. He contributed $20 to the funds of your Uncle Samuel and promised to sin no more."

Sanborn Blade: "W. S. Goldie, editor and proprietor of the Wayne Democrat, was arrested last week on the charge of sending obscene literature through the mails. Mr. Goldie is an unusually bright newspaper man, but little by little he has allowed himself to drift from broad humor to something less refined in his manner of stating things. He returned to Wayne last Sunday, and will no doubt go free this time."

Winside Tribune: "The Norfolk News prints a sermon on the late indictment of a Wayne newspaper man and lays the whole blame on the editor. But is this entirely right? Were not those who subscribed for and bought his paper with the tacit understanding that there would be something 'hot' in it, also to blame? The editor simply furnished what they apparently wanted and what a large number really took the paper for. We are not defending this style of journalism, for we deplore it; particularly so in this case where the editor is so capable of running a splendid paper without resorting to the slum. But we do think that he would not have gone so far if he had not known that his style met with the approval of most of his readers. Suppose that several years ago half or more of his subscribers had notified him that they would no longer read that kind of literature. Does anyone think he would have continued it at a loss? Hardly, and therefore we say that while the editor in question is being cussed and denounced, a goodly share of the blame should be laid to those who, in one sense, really forced him to write the 'lively' items."

The Tribune editor rather condones the Democrat's practice on the ground that there is money in it. If the profit justifies the editor, why don't papers elsewhere pursue the same policy? Why is the Democrat the only paper in the state that does it? The state ticket nominated in Lincoln by the late republican convention is a sure winner.

Col. Watterson alludes to Hearst's presidential candidacy as "an extraordinary combination of impudence and money."

The presence of Hon. John M. Thurston in the republican state convention revived old-time admiration for the man and he was urged to speak and was received with enthusiasm. Republicans had buried memory of his little thoughtless outburst of poetic sentimentality which helped unhorse him politically some years ago, and on this occasion gave him a cordial ovation.

The democratic party of Nebraska will go through the formality of nominating a ticket at Omaha June 1 and thus perpetuate its organization.

A fight for the possession of dandelions, the pest which this country would gladly be rid of, resulted in the death of three Italians at Meyersdale, Panama.

W. H. McNeal was elected congressional committeeman for this county at the Columbia convention, having the support of most of the delegation from Wayne county.

Some of Hearst's friends are urging him to pull out of the presidential race and try for second place. He is being impressed that he will not be too old to become a candidate in a future campaign.

Congressman McCarthy was re-nominated without opposition at the Columbia convention last week. His first year in congress shows more to his credit than usual with new members, and his re-election is generally conceded.

After the Winside Tribune's depiction of the ultra religious propensities of Gov. Micokey, we expected to see that gentleman attempt an evangelistic feat on the republican convention and convert the gathering into a huge prayer meeting.

Hon. E. K. Burkett who will succeed Senator Dietrich, satisfied the highest expectations of his friends in his appearance before the state convention. He looked right, noted right and gave utterance to the right things. He is certainly all right.

The HERALD hopes every child hereabouts was permitted to attend the circus in Wayne last week. The glitter, gorgonness, pageantry, stirring music, the aggregation of animals, the army of dildly attired acrobats, to both old and later, especially d injured if allowed joyments. Take t good circus that o

The editor assumed that the HERALD has been trying to put it out of business. A little candid reflection (a mental exercise, by the way, which its editor probably never experienced) would show the utter nonsense of such twaddle. Doesn't the HERALD expect democratic competition? Laying aside personal likes and dislikes, what paper would the HERALD naturally prefer out of the way? From a purely business standpoint, and with all due consideration for its editor, is not the Republican, if either, the paper we should want to see demoralized? Which of its competitors would the Republican naturally like to see wink out? The HERALD, of course. But the HERALD has not "blowed" about putting either out of business, and pitted against both it challenges detection of methods not in keeping with fair competition. Can "By-Dad" say as much? Does he know what "fair" means? Wouldn't he consider it something to set or a new kind of drink?

hard worked tongue will get a much needed rest by lack of a subject to vent its spite on and, to further that glorious end, we will cheerfully acknowledge that if we have to keep on swallowing fire silver and populism in order to stay in the democratic party, here is one who can be considered out.

A SURE THING. It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands on testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by A. F. MORE ABOUT "BY DAD."

Last week's Democrat drives some, brags much, exhibits flatulence and a great deal of gall and treats the leniency of the U. S. court as a triumphant vindication. From his story one would presume that he was met in Omaha by a brass band and ceremony, amidst the kotows of the multitude, to the federal building where the action against him was dispatched in an apologetic fashion. One would suppose that there was evidence of his remarkable distinction on every hand. It would appear that the paragraph on which the

WIFE SLAYER KILLED

HUSBAND OF THE MURDERED WOMAN SHOTS TO KILL

Quarrel in a Boarding House Between Two Italians Leads to Tragedy—Woman Killed Because She Went Back After Husband's Hat.

Dubois, Pa.: At Cardiff, a village near here, an Italian woman sacrificed her life for her husband's hat, being shot down in cold blood by another Italian while recovering the hat, and a self-same man who had just shot her, then turned and shot her husband.

Frank Paul, a prominent Italian resident of Cardiff, left home Saturday night to visit friends at a boarding house a short distance from his home.

Paul, who was accompanied by Paul Pelligrone, an inmate of the house, although the quarrel was trivial, Paul, suspicious of danger, would not remain, and left hurriedly for his home.

His wife urged him to return for the hat, but he was tired and unwilling and his wife refused to go and get it.

She walked to the boarding house, which was in plain sight of Paul's home, and as she stooped to recover the hat Pelligrone fired point blank at her with a shotgun.

The charge of shot struck the woman's head and she fell dead. Paul, who witnessed the scene, took a revolver and shotgun and started to avenge his wife's death.

As the Italian was trying to escape, Paul fired several shots from his revolver, but missed. Pelligrone succeeded in locking himself in his room and Paul, who was a guard in the house, did not interfere.

After half an hour Pelligrone, hearing no stir, struck his head through the door. Paul, quick as a flash, fired his shotgun, killing the murderer of his wife.

After examining the body, it was found that no life remained. Paul picked up his wife's body and tenderly carried it to his home. Surrounded by his three children, the officers, when they arrived to arrest him, found him bending and weeping over the remains.

The residents of the village uphold Paul, who bears a good reputation.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION. Seven Killed and a Dozen Injured at Findlay, Ohio.

Findlay, O.: As a result of an explosion in the two drying rooms of the Lake Shore Novelty company's plant here Sunday, seven persons are known to be dead; five are so seriously hurt that recovery is believed to be impossible, and twelve or fifteen are injured badly.

From reports of the physicians, ten of the less seriously injured may die as a result of blood poisoning from the splash that was driven into their bodies.

The Lake Shore Novelty Works plant covered nearly ten acres of ground in the southwest part of the city, and employed nearly 200 men, women and children. Railroad tracks and Fourth of July explosives were manufactured.

Outing to the lake on Sunday, the officials of the plant requested the employees to report for duty Sunday. About thirty complied with the request.

The property loss is $60,000. The plant, it is said, will not be rebuilt.

CUBANS CELEBRATE

Great Rejoicing Over Their Second Anniversary.

Havana. The second anniversary of Cuban independence was celebrated Friday with enthusiasm, although a heavy rain spoiled most of the outdoor features. There was a display of troops in front of the palace, a parade of police and firemen during the day and an exhibition of fireworks at night.

President Palma's reception at the palace was largely attended. The principal feature of the evening was a patriotic mass meeting at the National theater. The speakers achieved great success in their addresses, and predicted a splendid future for the island, although a few radical utterances were made by the promoters of the meeting who were opposed to the Iberian-American movement which is being encouraged by many Spaniards and by some Cubans.

The meeting was engineered by those who contend that the Cubans should maintain a distinct entity as Cubans instead of especially striving to perpetuate Latin ideals and customs. The speakers were enthusiastically applauded by the great audience.

President Palma received and replied to a number of messages of felicitation over a cable which directly contacted his office with the Cuban banquets in New York.

The president expressed himself as highly gratified at the interest and enthusiasm shown in the United States for Cuba's welfare.

Among the congratulatory cablegrams was one from Francis B. Loomis, United States assistant secretary of state, conveying the congratulations of the President and the people of the United States on the second anniversary of the free and independent government of Cuba, with assurances that President Palma's two years successful administration has given deep satisfaction, fresh strength, courage and hope to the friends of Cuba.

President Palma cabled his warmest thanks and his most sincere appreciation of these and other manifestations of the continued interest of the government and people of the United States in Cuba's welfare.

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Barber Sentenced to Hang—Makes a Full Confession to the Court—Shot His Brother Daniel and Immediately Afterward Daniel's Wife.

At Red Cloud Saturday, Frank Barber, aged thirty, was sentenced to hang for the murder of his brother and his brother's wife, and surrounded by hissing steam, crushed and mangled, he perished a note to his wife and child in Seattle and made but a few minutes later the four hours' struggle was over.

Barber said he went to his brother's home on the city and knocked. His brother Daniel opened the door and Frank shot him. The wounded man ran back into the house, Frank following and firing a second shot into his body, from which he died instantly.

Barber jumped from her bed and Barker shot her through the head, according to the statement he then buried the bodies in a cow shed, where they were found a week later.

The condemned man was quieter Saturday night and expressed remorse at his deed. He asserted that he was drunk at the time of the murder and the deed was committed.

Ludwig Radel, a young German shoemaker, lately from the old country, who worked at his trade in Stuart, was found hanging from a trolley car on the street in Stuart, Iowa, Sunday.

There are many conflicting rumors about concerning the mysterious disappearance of Eli Fessel, but the recent developments would indicate that a murder had surely been committed by someone, and the circumstantial evidence is by many considered strong against the parties now under arrest.

HAS STOCK DISEASE

Farmer Going Blind and Many Cattle Are Dying from Malady.

Rush Miner, a ranchman living four and a half miles southwest of Dunning on the Dismal River, is afflicted by a new and unclassified stock disease which broke out in his herd ten days ago, carrying away nineteen head in a few hours.

Miner contracted the malady while skipping one of the dead cattle. He has had constant medical attendance since and the prospects are that even now he will be lame in one or both eyes.

The disease takes the form of rash or erysipelas when transmitted to a human being, causing great blotches to appear on the face and other exposed portions of the body. The victim suffers excruciating pains about the head and eyes. Usually the eyes are thus afflicted. When stock is afflicted the disease is not lingering, but kills in a very short time, acting much the same as erysipelas when it strikes to the heart.

Reasons are simply concerned about the new malady to cattle and it is thought that an investigation will be held soon in which the state veterinarian and others learned in stock ailments will take part.

KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK. Engine Jumps Track at Orappolis and Turns Over.

At Orappolis, the engine of a heavily loaded train jumped the track and rolled on its side in the ditch, and four freight cars loaded with coal were smashed into kindling wood beside the track.

Engineer Huntegar had his back badly hurt by the accident, but he was not known just how seriously he was otherwise hurt.

Frank Allen, his fireman, was caught in the wreck and it was some time before he could be released. He was crushed so badly that death relieved his suffering a short while after the accident. He was married about six months ago and his wife resides in Lincoln.

The head brakeman had one of his knees badly broken. The master mechanic and the traveling engineer arrived at an early hour and with the wrecking crew and crew had the track cleared by noon.

SUSPECT THREE PERSONS. Finding of Human Hand Revives Talk in Fessel Case.

A Nelson special says: As a result of the finding of a human hand on the Fessel farm, supposed to be that of Eli Fessel, County Attorney Brown has filed a complaint against Mrs. J. Hutchinson, Charles Hutchinson and Harley Fessel, charging them with murder in the first degree.

There are many conflicting rumors about concerning the mysterious disappearance of Eli Fessel, but the recent developments would indicate that a murder had surely been committed by someone, and the circumstantial evidence is by many considered strong against the parties now under arrest.

ROSEBUD OPENING.

So many in Wayne county are interested in the proposed distribution of 882,000 acres or about 2400 quarter sections of the Rosebud reservation that the HERALD prints the following facts relative thereto:

Commencing at nine o'clock a. m. July 5, 1904, and ending at 6 o'clock, July 24, 1904, a registration will be had at Chamberlain, Fairfax, Bonesteel and Yankton. To obtain registration each applicant will be required to show himself duly qualified by written application to be only made on a blank form provided by the commissioner, to make homestead entry of these lands. Registration cannot be made by mail or through an agent having a duly executed power of attorney, and no person can act as agent for more than one soldier. The successful applicants will be determined by a drawing to take place at Chamberlain beginning Thursday, July 28, 1904, and continuing until all applications are drawn. The successful applicants will be notified by postal card at the address given in their applications. Filings upon the lands will commence at Bonesteel at 9 o'clock a. m. Aug. 8th and at that date the successful applicants numbering from 1 to 100 must present themselves for the purpose of filing upon the quarter of their choice. The applicant holding No. 1 having first choice, No. 2 having 2nd choice, etc. On Aug. 7th in the same manner number 101 to 200 will be called and so on at the rate of 100 per day until all the lands subject to entry under the homestead law and desired thereunder are entered. If an applicant for entry fails to appear when his number is reached, his number will be passed until the close of the day when he will be given another chance to make entry. Failing to appear at that time he will be deemed to have abandoned his right to make entry under the drawing. Each successful applicant at time of entry must personally present the certificate issued to him at the time of registration together with the regular homestead application and make the first payment of $1 per acre, but an honorably discharged soldier may make his declaratory statement through an agent. $1 per acre of the land is $4 per acre payable $1 per acre at the time of filing, 75 within 6 yrs., 75 in 4 yrs. and 75 within 6 months after the expiration of 3 years after the entry is made. Thus one, if not an old soldier, must register at either Bonesteel, Yankton, Fairfax or Chamberlain any time from July 5 to July 28. It is not necessary to be present at the drawing which commences at Chamberlain July 28th if you are successful you will be at once notified by postal card and then you will have time to go and look over the reservation and make your selection.
