KINKAID LAW IN OPERATION

Twelfth Annual Convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. at Laurel—More Money than Usual Secured for the Dixon Picnic—Prominent Cuming County Farmer Dies of Blood Poisoning—Waterworks at Wausa.

Wausa has a system of waterworks under construction.

Wintner will have a circus as an adjunct to its 4th of July celebration.

Pender has organized a brass band and employed an instructor at $40 a month.

Attorney Geo. W. Wiltsie, a Randolph actor, has been engaged to deliver an address at Bancroft on the Fourth.

Gustav Wegner, a prominent farmer in Elkhorn precinct, Cuming county, died of blood poisoning on Tuesday of last week.

The finance committee for the Dixon picnic, to be held August 15, has secured $700 more than has usually been contributed for that occasion.

Norfolk has a full-fledge commercial club which is actively at work advancing the interests of that city in particular and northeast Nebraska in general.

What is known as the Kinkaid law, granting 640 acres apiece to settlers in western Nebraska, became operative the first of the week. There are nearly eight million acres subject to entry under that law.

The twelfth annual convention of the K. P. S. O. E. of the First Nebraska district was held in Laurel on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst., and was a success, though the attendance was disappointing in falling short of expectations.

One of the multitude of tramps journeying to Bonesteel was asked by a News reporter what the traveling gentry of his stripe would do when they reached their destination and he indignantly replied that they would turn around and come back.

It is expected that 30,000 people will register at Bonesteel next week to participate in the Rosebud opening. The town believes it can accommodate them, and the government has authorized the United States marshal to have enough deputies on the reservation to maintain good order.

Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, the distinguished statesman who in all probability will be named by republicans today for vice president, is an own cousin to J. J. England, of this city. (We did not learn this from any member of the England family.)—Stanton Picket.

At Pender a man was summoned before the board of equalization to show cause why the assessment on his dog should not be raised from $5 to $25, and he couldn't show. Anyway, to have maintained that the dog was worth less than the amount from which an assessment of $25 would be reached, would have reflected unfavorably on the caste and social standing of the animal.

H. M. Poole, who returned this week from a visit of several months in Southern California, says he witnessed incidents of where orange growers shipped car loads of their fruit and had to dig up extra money to pay the freight and expenses of marketing them. These oranges were harvested from land valued at a thousand and more dollars per acre. This bears out the statement heretofore made by the Journal that a man in Burt county, with an apple orchard to which he gives one half the attention and cultivation that is given the California orange orchards, can make more money than can the latter, and that too, at a smaller investment.—Tebamah Journal.

MRS. HENRY LEY ENTERTAINS

Wilbur-Hitchcock Wedding at Blunt, S. D.—Bride a Former Wayne Girl—School Picnic South of Town—A. F. Lane Moves His Drug Stock to Howells—Majority of Wayne People Will Celebrate at Carroll.

Remember and attend the lecture by Prof. J. M. Pile this evening for the benefit of the public library. Reserved seats may be secured at the grocery store of P. L. Miller & Son.

About twenty little folks were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. W. S. Goldie Saturday afternoon in honor of Margaret Lane in view of her removal with her parents to their new home at Howells. Games delighted the children during the afternoon, and before leaving for their homes they were served with an excellent supper.

Next Monday is July 4th, the anniversary of American independence and one of the chief holidays of the year. As the day will not be especially observed in Wayne, many of its people will attend celebrations in neighboring towns, a great majority going to Carroll where elaborate preparations have been made to entertain visitors and give them a good time.

A. F. Lane packed his drug stock and household goods this week and shipped them yesterday to his new location at Howells, Neb. Mrs. Lane and children left Tuesday for Schuyler where they will visit relatives for a short time before going to Howells. During their residence in Wayne Mr. Lane and family have won many friends who regret to see them leave.

The school of which Miss Mable Young is teacher, several miles south of Wayne, had a picnic Monday, and the boys' brass band of this place attended and enlivened the occasion with music. In the afternoon the Wayne boys played a game of base ball with a nine picked from the neighborhood of the school, the former winning by a score of 16 to 6. The day was enjoyably spent.

The HERALD has received a copy of the Account ($ D.) Advocate in which is an obituary of the marriage of Miss Blanche Hitchcock, formerly of Wayne, to Mr. Howard Densel Wilbur of Marshalltown, Ia., on the 16th inst. The bride is an accomplished musician and was one of the popular young ladies of this city where she resided until a few years ago. According to the Advocate, her husband is a young man of much merit and highly deserving of the prize he has won.

In response to invitations there was a large gathering in the Masonic hall Friday evening, being the occasion of that order's installation of officers. Theo. Sprecher of Norfolk acted as installing officer, and the following persons were given their respective places amidst due ceremonies: J. G. Mines, W. M.; R. Donley, S. W.; H. W. Theobald, J. W.; H. Ringland, treasurer; J. M. Cherry, secretary; J. S. French, S. D.; Otto Kuhl, J. D.; C. A. Bagert, tyler. After the installation a short program of music and talks was carried out—orchestra selections, solos by Miss Mae Cunningham and Geo. Wilbur and talks by Rev. Thos. J. Wright and Rev. P. F. Baker. These were followed by refreshments and every feature of the occasion passed off successfully and to the pleasure of all.

Mrs. Henry Ley entertained a party of twenty lady friends Monday evening in honor of Mrs. W. W. Wheeler of Sioux City. The rooms occupied by the guests were beautified by profuse floral decorations—roses and peonies. Progressive high-five furnished amusement, Mrs. J. J. Williams winning the prize, a hand-painted plate. At the close of the game light refreshments were served on hand-painted China. All had a delightful time. Names of guests: Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Mrs. E. D. Mitchell, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Mrs. Thos. Fritts, Mrs. A. H. Ellis, Mrs. Onas Schnitser, Mrs. Henry Bash, Mrs. J. H. Kate, Mrs. Geo. Stringer, Mrs. A. N. Mass a Mite.
The psychological effect of such baptisms as that at Marlinville is really impressive. In the presence of the working of the earth's crust in that diabolical style everything else looks small. Even the mighty human race, with its ambitions and quarrels, which take up so large an amount of one's attention, tends to shrink to microscopic dimensions. The mind seems to be strictly to see that just as there was an earth before the race came upon it, so there could easily be an earth here again without a single human being existing on its surface. The question of a spring bonnet or a summer suit, and the issues of "civilization" generally, can't stand the comparison with such dignity. Proud man simply has to go back somewhere and sit down.—Springfield Republican.

A Reason for Sickness.
Healthy kidneys take from the blood every 24 hours 500 grains of impure, poisonous matter—more than enough to cause death. Weakened kidneys leave this waste in the blood, and you are soon sick. To get well, cure the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great kidney specific. Mrs. J. H. Bowles of 118 Core St., Durham, N. C., says: "I was sick and doctored for over nine months, and the doctor who attended me said unless I submitted to an operation I would never be well. I would not consent to that and so continued to suffer. My back was so weak I could not stand or walk, and it aches constantly. The first day after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I felt relief, and in a short time I was up and around the same as ever, free from backache."
A FRIBER TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Bowles will be mailed to any part of the United States. Address Roster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all druggists; price 30 cents per box.

Laugh.

Learn to hide your pains and aches under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have an earache, headache or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but they are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance as well.

THE POPULAR PULPIT

LACK OF FILIAL OBEDIENCE.
By Rev. W. F. McMurtry.
"A wise son maketh a glad father, but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother." Prov. x, 1.

God has brought the human race together in families. The relations of the members of the family are most intimate. Parents and children are much together by day and by night; in grief and in joy; in sickness and in health. The family is rendered happy by each member filling his own place, and doing his duty to every other member. Such a family is a type of heaven. It may become a wretched family if the members are not considerate of one another, and if duty to each other is not discharged.

All good parents desire for their children that they be wise, useful and successful. No sacrifice is too great for parents to make if this end is to be attained, and children should have high appreciation of the sacrifices made. We take off our hats to the boy whose widowed mother had sacrificed every comfort of life that he might finish his college course and come to graduation; who, having placed in his hand the medal of honor, left the platform from which he had delivered his oration, walked down the aisle and placed the medal upon his mother's neck. The whole world looked upon and appreciated the laudable pride of Garfield's mother when she witnessed the inauguration of her son. And the public was not less stirred when the mother of President McKinley stood before thousands and saw her son taking the oath of office as President of the United States.

The Bible is not silent on the subject of filial obligation. God considered it of such importance to make it one of the Ten Commandments. "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." You will note the position of this commandment. It is the first in the second table of the law, and indicates very clearly that the family is the basis of all society. God would have us understand that the proper training of the youth is at the foundation of all virtue, and that children who do not honor their parents will, when the occasion offers, likewise dishonor all other authority.

Obedience to parental authority is a thing that should be insisted upon. The ability and willingness to obey is fundamental in character. We are taught obedience by nature and by the civil law, as well as by the Scriptures. As a rule, it should be unquestioning; and the only exception to the general law of filial obedience is where the conscience is involved. The instruction is, "Children, obey your parents in the Lord"—that is, as far as the commands of parents are according to the will and word of God. No child is called upon to obey that parent giving unreasonable and unscriptural commands.

The lack of filial obedience is everywhere looked upon with disfavor. It is said that the place of Absalom's pillar is known, and that it is common for travelers to throw stones on the heap with the words "Cursed be the memory of wicked Absalom, and cursed forever be all wicked children that rise up in rebellion against their parents."

In addition to obedience, we owe our parents reverence. They gave us our life and sustained that life until we became strong enough to be independent of their help. Their tender watchfulness over our infancy provided for our wants, and in their wisdom directed our education. They are superior to us in age and experience and in wisdom. Our attitude toward them should be the attitude of courteous speech and respectful demeanor.

We should look up to them. It is no uncommon thing for the children, because of the advantages which had been given them by the parents, to become more lenient, more wealthy, and to occupy a higher position in the social and business world than did their parents. The child looking down upon the parent from this position ought to be enough to call down upon that child universal contempt. The parents may have infirmities, or may count deeds that bring them under condemnation; still it is our business to hold them in honor, notwithstanding our grief for them. The picture presented when Garfield kissed his venerable mother after taking the Presidential oath was a fit subject for a painting or a poem.

Irreverence for parents, for old people in general, is a great fault, and promises no good to our social future. Alexander the Great, bloody monster as he was, illustrated the reverence for one whom he could not have respected if she had not been his mother. She was of an unhappy and troublesome disposition, but he bore her ill humor with meekness and patience. When at length Antipater, his intimate friend, wrote a long letter against that mother, Olympias, Alexander, after reading it, said: "Antipater does not know that one single tear shed by his mother will obliterate ten thousand such letters as this."
Our parents, who live three score years and tell some very near the point where they started at the beginning, and this second childhood is like the first childhood in its weakness and helplessness, and needs protection. Age changes the position. In the first place, the parents in their strength sustain their children; and now the children have grown strong and must take up the duty of caring for the parents. They taught us to walk and supported us when we were too weak to stand. It is now our duty and privilege to permit them to lean upon us. No sacrifice was too great for them to make, no labor was too hard for them to do, if by doing so they might give us comfort and plenty. It is the smallest thing we can do to assist them on the journey down the western slope of life.

SPEECH BY ELIHU ROOT.

Temporary Chairman Republican National Convention.

Elihu Root, temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, in his address at the Chicago Coliseum, spoke as follows:
The responsibility of government rests upon the Republican party. The complicated machinery through which the 80,000,000 people of the United States govern themselves answers to no single will. The composite government devised by the framers of the Constitution to meet the needs of a free people has become a century ago, requires the willing cooperation of many minds, the combination of many independent factors, in every forward step for the general welfare.

Government on Practical Basis.
The practical governing instinct of our people has adapted the machinery devised in the eighteenth century to the needs of the twentieth century by the organization of national political parties. In them men join for the promotion of a few cardinal principles upon which they agree. For the sake of those principles they lay aside their differences upon less important questions. They represent their principles and to carry out the government in accordance with them, they present to the people candidates whose competence and loyalty they approve. The people by their choice of candidates indicate the principles and methods which they wish followed in the conduct of the government. They do not merely choose between men; they choose between parties—between the principles they profess, the methods they follow, the trustworthiness of their professions, the inferences to be drawn from the records of their past, the general weight of character of the body of men who will be brought into national government by their ascendency.

When the course of the next administration is but half done the Republican party will have completed the first half century of its national life.
History affords no parallel in any age or country for the growth of national greatness and power and honor, the wide diffusion of the comforts of life, the uplifting of the great mass of the people above the hard conditions of poverty, the common opportunity for education and individual advancement, the universal possession of civil and religious liberty, the protection of property, the security for the rewards of industry and enterprise, the cultivation of national morality, respect for religion, sympathy with humanity and love of liberty and justice which have marked the life of the American people during this long period of Republican control.

Internal Taxes Are Reduced.
Four years ago the burdens of the country were loaded with burdensome internal taxes, imposed during the war with Spain. By the acts of March 2, 1901, and April 12, 1902, the country has been wholly relieved of that annual burden of over $100,000,000, and further accumulation of a surplus which was presented by the money that the country from circulation has been prevented by the reduction of taxation.

Between the 30th of June, 1900, and the 1st of June, 1904, our Treasury Department collected in revenues the enormous sum of $2,268,000,000 and expended $2,238,000,000, leaving a surplus of $30,000,000. Out of this the money for the Panama canal and loaning $4,000,000 to the St. Louis exposition. Excluding those two extraordinary payments, which are expenditures of current income, the surplus for the country is a reasonable amount of about $12,000,000.

The vast and complicated transactions of the treasury, which for the last fiscal year show actual cash receipts of $4,250,200,262 and disbursements of $4,113,160,414, have been conducted with perfect accuracy and fidelity, and with the management of a dollar, under wise management the financial act of March 14, 1900, which embodied the sound financial principles of the Republican party and provided for the maintenance of our currency on the stable basis of the gold standard, has wrought out beneficial results.

On the 1st of March, 1901, when the second administration of McKinley began, the money in the country was $2,407,295,228. This was $28.34 per capita, and of this 45.27 per cent was gold. On the 1st of May, 1904, the money in the country was $2,498,985,000, and was $31.02 per capita, and of it 48.02 per cent was gold. This great increase of currency has been arranged in such a way that the large government notes in circulation are gold certificates, while the silver certificates and greenbacks are all held in the hands of the people. The gold certificates represent gold actually on deposit, their presentation at the treasury exchange for gold can never bring upon the gold reserve.

As the small silver certificates and greenbacks are always in active circulation, no large amount of money can be accumulated for the purpose of hoarding on the gold reserve; and thus, while every man can get a gold dollar for every dollar of the government's currency, the endless chain which we were once thought to fear so much has been effectively put out of business.

Practical Regulation of Trusts.
At every election the regulation of trusts had been the football of campaign oratory and the subject of many insincere declarations.
Our Republican administration has taken up the subject in a practical, sensible way that we are not attacking the corporations, but endeavoring to do away with any evil in them. We are not hostile to them; we are merely determined that they shall be so handled as to subserve the public good. We draw the line against "misconduct," not against "wealth."
The Department of Agriculture has been brought to a point of efficiency and practical benefit never before known.
We have at last reached a point where the public wealth of farm land is nearly gone, and the problem of utilizing the remainder for the building of new homes has become of vital importance.
The present administration has dealt with this problem vigorously and effectively.

great areas had been unlawfully, by means of large means, and the home-builder of the country has been compelled to relinquish their booty, and more than 2,000,000 acres of land has been restored to the public.

The postal service has been extended and improved. Its revenues have increased from $76,000,000 in 1895 to $95,000,000 in 1904, and $144,000,000 in 1904. In dealing with these vast sums a few cases of peculation, trifling in amount, and by subordinate officers, have occurred. Neither fear nor favor nor political or personal influence has been allowed to protect the wrongdoers. Their acts have been detected, investigated, laid bare; they have been dismissed from their places, prosecuted criminally, indicted, many of them tried and many of them convicted.

The losses in the carriage of second-class mail matter have been remedied. The rural free delivery has been widely extended.
The systematic collection and publication of information regarding the magnitude and condition of our crops is mitigating the injury done by speculation to the farmer.

To increase the profit of the farmer's toil, to protect the farmer's product and extend his market, and to improve the conditions of the farmer's life; to advance the time when America shall raise within her own limits every product of the soil consumed by her people, as she makes within her own limits every necessary product of manufacture—these have been cardinal objects of Republican administration; and we show a record of political things done toward the accomplishment of these objects never before approached.

The Philippines is the sheet anchor of Cuban independence and of Cuban credit. No such revolutions as have afflicted Central and South America are possible there because it is known to all men that an attempt to overturn the foundations of that government will be crushed by the overwhelming power of the United States. The treaty of reciprocity and the act of Congress of Dec. 6, 1903, which confirmed it, completed the expression of our policy toward Cuba; which with a far view to the future aims to bind us by ties of benefit and genuine friendship, that shall open the highway to the Caribbean and always be, in hostile, an outpost of attack, and, if friendly, an outpost of defense for the United States.

When the last national convention met the Philippines was under military rule. The insurrection from the mountain spread terror among the peaceful people by making a form and secret assassination. A quiet and humane time in a secret retreat. Over 70,000 American soldiers from more than 500 stations held a still vigorous enemy in check. The Philippine commission has not yet begun its work.

Situation in the Philippines.
The last vestige of insurrection has been swept away. With their work accomplished over 55,000 American troops have been brought back across the Pacific. Civil government has been established through the actions, peace and order and justice prevail. The Philippine commission, guided at first by executive order and then by the wise legislation of Congress in the Philippine government act of July 1, 1902, have established and conducted a government which has been a credit to their country and a blessing to the people of the islands.

The action of the United States at every step has been in accordance with the law of nations, consistent with the principles of justice and honor, in discharge of the trust to build the canal we long since assumed, by denying the right of every other power to build it, defeated by a high and unselfish purpose, for the common benefit of all mankind. That action was wise, considerate, prompt, vigorous and effective; and now the greatest of constructive nations stands ready and competent to begin and to accomplish the great enterprise which shall realize the dreams of past ages, bind together our land with the far corners, and open a new highway for that commerce of the Orient whose course has controlled the rise and fall of civilizations. Success in that enterprise greatly concerns the credit and honor of the American people, and it is for them to say whether the building of the canal shall be completed, or of the weaklings whose incredulous objections would have postponed it for another generation.

America as a Peacemaker.
All Americans who desire safe and conservative administration which shall avoid course of quarrel, all who abhor war, all who long for the perfect way of the principles of that religion which we all profess, should rejoice that under a high and unselfish purpose, the United States has attained a perfect leadership among the nations in the cause of peace and international justice.

We have advanced the authority of the Monroe doctrine. Our adherence to the convention which established the Hague tribunal was accepted by the other powers with a formal declaration that nothing shall be done to impair the authority of the United States of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions.

Meantime, mindful that moral powers unsupported by physical strength do not always avail against selfishness and aggression, we have been augmenting the forces which command respect.
We have brought our navy to a high state of efficiency, and have exercised both army and navy in the methods of seacoast defense. The joint army and navy board has been bringing the two services together in good understanding and the common study of the strategy, preparation and the co-operation which will make them effective in time of need.
The present administration has reduced taxation, reduced the public debt, reduced the annual interest charge, made effective progress in the regulation of trusts, fostered business, promoted agriculture, built up the navy, reorganized the army, resurrected the militia system, inaugurated a new policy for the preservation and reclamation of public lands, given civil government to the Philippines, established the Republic of Cuba, protected the rights of the people, secured a commercial interest of common defense, sprung open the closed gateway of the isthmus, strengthened the Monroe doctrine, ended the Alaskan boundary dispute, protected the integrity of China, opened up her doors of trade, advanced the principle of arbitration and promoted peace among the nations.

WHY HOT WEATHER MAKES WOMEN NERVOUS

Blanche Grey.

A Well Known Canadian Lady Sends Letter of Endorsement to Pe-ru-na.
Miss Mary Burns, 28 Spring Garden Road, Halifax, N. S., writes: "Having used Pe-ru-na for indigestion and stomach trouble and to build up a broken down system with the very best results, I am pleased to state my experience with this excellent medicine. I had been troubled with stomach trouble and poor digestion for some years, and although I tried many remedies and dieting, nothing seemed to restore my health until I used Pe-ru-na. In three months I had entirely recovered my health and strength."
—Miss Mary Burns.

Suggestions by Dr. Hartman.—How to Combat the Nervous Depression Incident to Warm Weather.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to a number of causes. The nervous centers are the receivers of the impressions of the senses. These centers become overloaded for the want of proper nutrition.
Nervousness is especially noticeable during the warm season. Every summer an army of weak nervous systems. This could easily be overcome by the use of Pe-ru-na. Pe-ru-na sticks to the root of the trouble by correcting the digestion. Perfect digestion furnishes increased nutrition for the nerve centers. Pe-ru-na furnishes the necessary vitamins of life a vitality which creates strong, steady nerves, and in this manner fortifies and nourishes life.
Miss Blanche Grey, a prominent young society woman of Memphis, Tenn., in a recent letter from 174 Alabama street, writes: "I was a society woman, whose nervous forces had been taxed to the utmost from lack of rest and irregular meals. I know of nothing which is so much benefit as Pe-ru-na. I took it a few months ago when I felt my strength giving away, and it soon made itself manifest in giving me new strength and health."
—Miss Blanche Grey.

Pe-ru-na Contains no Narcotics.

One reason why Pe-ru-na has found permanent use so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Pe-ru-na is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Pe-ru-na does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.
It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of ailments where Pe-ru-na has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Pe-ru-na contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.
At this season of the year we are peculiarly liable to inflammations of the stomach and bowels. It is the part of wisdom to learn how to cut them short and to prevent their return. Pe-ru-na does this by its peculiar power over all forms of catarrhal troubles.

At a Recent Charitable Function in Washington Senator Patterson donated $10 to the cause. The delighted ladies were profuse in protestations of gratitude and never failing remembrance. Later some one asked the price of a rose.
"Five dollars," said Miss Alice Roosevelt, quickly.
"Isn't that high?" gasped the astonished buyer.
"No," replied Miss Roosevelt. "Senator Patterson gave twice that for a simple forget-me-not."—New York Times.

AN UNEXPECTED CALL.
Which Placed a Clergyman in an Embarrassing Position.
A distinguished Episcopal clergyman was once called on to officiate at a fashionable summer resort church, and, finding only a short surplice and no cassock in the vestry, was very much disturbed at the thought of having to appear in a vesture that to the frivolous would look like a white shirt and trousers. But a happy inspiration came to him. Why not wear one of his wife's black petticoats? The surplice would look exactly like the regulation cassock, and no one would ever be the wiser. So he hurriedly sent one of his ushers with an explanatory note to his wife in the hotel, and in the nick of time the petticoat arrived.
The makeshift turned out to be a perfect success, and no one at a distance could tell that he was not wearing a cassock. After the close of the service he decided to go out to the body of the church without taking off his robes, in order to greet some friends. And he was soon the center of a group of fashionable women, when an Irish maid from the hotel came up and in a loud voice said to him: "Yer riveness, the missus sint me after her petticoat, that ye do be wearin', an' I wuz to walk till ye take it off."—New York Tribune.

Signs of Spring.
"Has it never occurred to you at strange," remarked the inquisitive man, "that strawberry boxes never have any lids to them?"
"Not at all," replied Wiseman, "it's hardly necessary when the bottom is so near the top."—Philadelphia Press.

Bravo Man.
Mrs. A.—So you say there was a man under your bed the other night. Was he a burglar?
Mrs. Z.—No; he was my husband. We heard a noise below, and while I went down to investigate he crawled under the bed.

In Swedish towns the average marrying age of males is 30 1/2 years and of females 27 1/2.

Tricked the Amerer.
The death of the Amerer of Afghanistan brought out a flood of anecdotes illustrating this comradely man—a man of an open and generous heart and ignorance, of gentleness and savagery, of humor and unrelenting vindictiveness.
A man was once condemned to have his ears sliced off—a punishment regarded as rather mild. The culprit, however, had a powerful friend who went to the amerer and begged, as a special favor, that he might be permitted to perform the delicate operation.
The amerer consented. Thereupon the friend asked him to indicate how much of each ear he wished removed. The monarch lightly touched the ears of the trembling victim.
Then the ingenious friend, not without trepidation, proceeded to quote a passage from the Koran, saying: "Anything touched by the representative of the Almighty became sacred." This skillful trick amused the amerer so greatly that he forgave them both.

Winside and Carroll celebrate

There is no good reason why anyone don't celebrate this year on the Fourth of July. Winside has a beautiful shady park and has made arrangements to give everyone a good time that comes there to celebrate. Carroll has been at it for weeks getting ready and we suppose no one will be sorry they went to Carroll on the Fourth. "Pay your money and take your choice." Remember there is only one place in Wayne county where you can get the best clothing made in America. If you will see us before the Fourth and let us furnish you what you need to wear you will enjoy yourself, no matter which place you go to celebrate. We will save you money enough to celebrate with on your purchase here, and you will be dressed right in style. It is a mistake to buy anything for men or boys before you have looked over our line. Of course if "any old thing" will satisfy you it is not necessary to see us, but if you want clothing that is made right and up to date at right prices we are the people to see before you buy. You don't have to buy because you come to look. We will be pleased to have you look whether you buy or not. See us before you celebrate and you will be well satisfied with this country and stand ready to defend it.

Among its Improvements are:

A metal-covered hub, which will not check or split. A combination wood and steel axle, the wood and steel going the whole length of the skirt. This axle will stand twice the strain of an ordinary hickory axle. Also a bolster-stake made from heavy sheet steel.

The popularity of the MacKinnon Wagon rests not only on the above improvements, but every piece of lumber used in its construction is carefully selected from the best Wisconsin timber. The parts are fitted and put together by skilled workmen, and nothing is left undone, even in the smallest detail, to make it a perfect wagon in every particular. We manufacture our own wood stock, from the log to the wagon, and as we have been twenty-five years engaged in the manufacture of wagon material, we have gained an experience in the selection of wagon wood second to none. Our factory is supplied with the most complete and latest machinery. We have at all times a large stock of lumber carefully selected and well seasoned.

Hundreds stood in line all night Monday night in front of the different land offices in western Nebraska to be on hand to take advantage of the Kinkaid law which went into effect Tuesday morning. While in Sioux City the first of the week the Journal interviewed Judge Norris concerning the Philippines and published the result in its issue of yesterday morning. The article is very interesting. The commissioners re-convened as a board of equalization Monday morning and have since been listening to complaints about assessments. A treat is in store for the lover of music in Wayne. Joseph Gahn one of the leading pianists in this country, and Hans Albert, undoubtedly the finest violinist in America, and with few if any superiors in the world, will give a recital in the M. E. church on Tuesday evening July 5th. This is a rare opportunity to hear those really great artists. You cannot afford to miss it. There will be vocal music interspersed with instrumental. Tickets can be procured of the pastor of the M. E. church or at the door on night of entertainment.

The Wayne branch office of the Edwards, Wood Commission company received orders yesterday that it would go out of business here with the close of this month, and according to an article in yesterday's Norfolk News all of the company's offices on the Sioux City-Deadwood line were to be discontinued. The manager of the Norfolk office gave the News the following explanation: "The line is discontinued here because it has not paid over the entire distance. The wire is too long to maintain for a few offices which do pay. The offices at Norfolk, O'Neill, Long Pine and Deadwood have paid well, but the other offices have sent in blanks for so long that things had to stop."

There was a congestion of tramps in Wayne yesterday and Marshal Miner was kept busy watching them and telling them when it was time to move on. Nine were ordered out of town and two of the worst specimens were locked up in the city jail. One of the latter precipitated a row with D. S. McVicker. He struck at McVicker with a crutch, but missed him and landed on Geo. Hoguewood. McVicker immediately proceeded to reduce the pugnacity of the tramp, who was subsequently dry-docked by the marshal. Today Sheriff Mears searched one of this genus, but found nothing to arouse suspicion, though establishing a strong presumption that he hadn't worked and earned anything of late. These tramps seem to find plenty of employment and the city might do the humane thing by making some provision for them. Mowing weeds would serve the city and is a kind of labor that would doubtless suit the ambition of the tie-patters and hand-out seekers.

A party was given by Mrs. E. Cunningham and daughter, Miss Mae, to a number of lady friends Tuesday evening, made especially appropriate on account of the prospective absence of the latter who leaves tomorrow for a week's visit at Fox Lodge, Ia., and from there goes west, intending to go as far as more or more. She will spend the summer visiting Yellowstone Park and other points of interest, and in the fall will begin a term of school, probably in western Montana. However, she has had offers of positions in different states and has not as yet decided definitely on a location. She goes west in quest of better health. The guests of the Cunningham home Tuesday evening were entertained with games and refreshments and the occasion passed off very pleasantly. Names of guests: Mrs. Harry Jones, Miss Edna Britton, Miss Mary Jones, Miss Reasoner, Mrs. John Harrington, Mrs. Dan Harrington, Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Geo. Wilbur, Miss Nettie Craven, Mrs. Harry Craven, Miss Hattie Weber, Mrs. Fen Ellis, Miss Rena Olmsted, Miss Laura Holtz, Miss Reba Nangle, Miss Maud Wilson, Miss Virginia Cunningham, Mrs. Rollie Ley, Mrs. Elmer Barber, Miss Edna Britton, Miss Edna Britton, Miss Lucy Elffington, Miss Maud Bonshoff, Miss Elmer Barber, Mrs. Verne Miller, Miss Emil Weber, Miss Mary Mason, Mrs. Taylor Swan, Miss Mamie Wallace, Miss Abby Manning.

Fred Marshall, county superintendent of Knox county, spent Wednesday at the college on matters of business connected with his office. Mr. Marshall is a loyal alumnus of the college and is making a record for himself as an educational official in his county.

Lyman Lockwood, recently principal of the Fairfax, E. D., schools was an over Sunday visitor at the college. He is representing one of the Bonestell land agencies, the purpose of which is to aid those who register in the Rosebud land lottery in selecting and locating lands.

Prof. Wolfe's lecture Tuesday promises to be something out of the ordinary. The views will be fine and the speaker is both able and eloquent. The admission fee is twenty cents and the proceeds go to liquidate the obligations of the local Y. M. C. A. and the state association.

The value of the Wayne Normal to Wayne county and vice versa is well brought out in the fact that one-fourth of this year's graduates come from this county. The class has averaged an attendance of seventy-seven weeks, which is the equivalent of two ordinary college years.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE.

Hymel, the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure, Prescribed by Physicians.

No one should confound Hymel with patent medicines that are advertised and sold as cures. It is far superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hymel gives its formula to all reputable physicians. It is not foolish to try and cure catarrh by swallowing tablets or liquids. The only natural way to cure this disease and all other diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe Hymel.

This treatment has been so successful, that curing 98 per cent of all who have used it, that Hymel is now sold by J. J. Raymond under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. You run no risk whatever in buying Hymel. If it does not possess unusual powers to cure, it could not be sold upon this plan.

DROP ADVICES ARE BETTER.

This Causes an Improved Tone in Business.

New York. Bradstreet's on June 25 published the following on the business situation in the country:

There is some enlargement in business in the west this week, but the betterment as yet is largely one of tone, and is predicated on the unquestionably better crop advices received from nearly all sections.

The iron trade appears to be grounding upon the bottom as regards prices, and curtailment is becoming widespread.

The key of the situation, of course, is the demand for woolen goods, which will be closely watched from now on.

Two young men named Frank Valenta and Edward Divoky were charged before Justice J. V. Shestak with the complaint of John Kubert with administering to him a deadly poison called carbonates, mixed with lemonade.

Rules Required a Roll Call, but Nomination Was Unanimous—Fairbanks Named by Acclamation—Ex-Governor of Black, Senator Dolliver and Lesser Lights Deliver Speeches—Party's Campaign, Directed by Cortelyou, to Begin at Once.

Chicago correspondence.

Nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President, Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana for Vice President, appointment of committees to notify both of their nomination, and the election of George B. Cortelyou as chairman of the Republican National Committee on Thursday brought to a close the proceedings of the thirteenth Republican national convention. The adjournment of the convention marked the beginning of the great national political campaign of 1904. The best orators in the Republican party were numbered among those selected to spread political wisdom among the delegates for dissemination among the states and territories of the Union, and campaign thunder in large chunks was hauled in the nomination speeches before the convention.

With every contested detail adjusted the Republican convention, after only two days of harmonious sessions, had nothing to do except to go through the form of nominating Theodore Roosevelt of New York for president and Charles Warren Fairbanks of Indiana for vice president. The platform had been adopted, the contests up the cheering orgies. With the appearance of the huge crayon of the President there went up from the main floor a vocal roar that perhaps was never equaled in a political gathering. New York led the demonstration. The seventy-eight delegates from Roosevelt's native State started the burrring, but soon they were mere sparks in the panorama of fluttering flags and clamoring clans. Leaping to their chairs the New Yorkers sent up a mighty shout and flung their silk flags to the breeze. It was the signal for an outburst. The band had begun to play at the outset, but its a large plating at his right was unveiled, and the features of President Roosevelt appeared. A shout went up from every corner of the immense hall, floor a vocal roar that perhaps was never equaled in a political gathering. As the "key-note" of the convention Mr. Root's speech was listened to with intense interest throughout. He reviewed the deeds of the present administration, embracing everything in its sweep from the Spanish war to the Panama Canal, and dwelt with touching eloquence on the deaths of President McKinley and Senator Hanna.

At the conclusion of Mr. Root's speech the selections of the national committee for temporary officers of the convention were approved on motion of Senator Dick of Ohio. "Tom" Carter of Montana, former chairman of the national committee, then offered a resolution providing that the rules of the last national convention govern until permanent organization be effected, and it was adopted.

The roll call of States then was called for members of the various committees, the convention approving the action of the national committee in seating delegates from Porto Rico and the Philippines, who will have the right to vote upon all questions.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSION. Temporary Chairman Elihu Root called the Republican National convention to order in the Chicago Coliseum for the second day's session at 12:30 o'clock. The noise and confusion at the moment were great and quiet was

GEMS OF POLITICAL THOUGHT.

Paragraphs from the Nominating Speeches at the Chicago Convention. There are times when great fitness is hardly less than destiny, when the elements so come together that they select the agent they will use. Events sometimes select the strongest man, as lightning goes down the highest rod. And so it is with those events which for many months with unerring sight have led you to a single name which I am chosen only to pronounce. Gentlemen, I nominate for President of the United States the highest living type of the youth, the vigor and the promise of a great country and a great age, Theodore Roosevelt of New York.—Frank S. Black.

The President knows how and when to plan, and, better still, how and when to execute. Alert of mind, he has quickly seized every opportunity. In the procurement of concessions for the Panama canal he accomplished more in a few hours than his predecessors accomplished in more than a hundred years. He did not attempt to outdo, he cut the Gordian knot. His enemies say that he cannot be trusted, but the people know that one who always does the right thing at the right time and in the right way is entitled to their implicit confidence.—William O. Bradley.

We of the South believe Roosevelt is animated by a spirit of patriotism as broad and as bright as has ever streamed from the White House over our beloved country, and we believe that when he has fulfilled his mission, that when he has fulfilled his mission, the son of the north and South, will carry with him the consciousness that fatherland and motherland, once divorced in sadness, through him and because of him, have been drawn together again in the bonds of the old affection.—Harry Stillwell Edwards.

We want this younger Lincoln—the keeper of our great eagle—we want him with his hands on the balustrade of our flag, we want him the defender of our constitution and executive of our law, and when we have used him and the best years of his young manhood for the good of the nation he will still be holding our banner of liberty with stars added to its azure field, its history sacred, its stripes untrampled, and by command of the majority hand it to the American patriot standing next in line.—George A. Knight.

We stand at the beginning of the new era, and while the Republican party leans upon the counsel of its old leaders, it has not hesitated to summon to the responsibilities of public life the young men who have been trained under their guidance to take up the burdens which they are ready to lay down, and finish the work which comes to them as an inheritance of patriotism and duty.—Senator Dolliver.

Theodore Roosevelt wanted to give Uncle Sam a job and he did it and Uncle Sam wanted the job and he took it. He belongs to the union. We see him standing to-day with his feet upon the globe, his garments are made of his flag, his inventive yankee whiskers are brushed, there is an American smile on his face, and his heart is gladdened as he looks at his commercial future.—George A. Knight.

The great mission of the Republican party will not be performed until every section of our constitution and every amendment thereof shall be respected and made effective, and until every citizen of every section, of every race, and of every religion shall proclaim in one grand chorus of that constitution, "Thou art my shield and buckler."—H. S. Cummings.

In the Democratic convention there will be only two living exponents of Democratic principles. On the one side will be their only President rising and saying "Be sane." While on the other side, in opposition, will come their last candidate for President, saying "Be Democrats." The two are incompatible.—Senator Dewey.

Pennsylvania, with the approval of her judgment and with glad anticipation of victory in her heart, following a leader who, like the cavalier of France, is without fear and without reproach, seconds the nomination for the Vice Presidency of Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana.—S. W. Pennypacker.

One difference between the opposition and ourselves is this: They select their candidates for the people and the people select our candidate for us.—Senator Beveridge.

There are no Democratic plans for the conduct of the fall campaign. Their zeal is chiefly centered in discussion as to what Thomas Jefferson would do if he were living.—Frank S. Black.

Roosevelt is not conservative, if conservatism means waiting till it is too late. He is not wise, if wisdom is to count a thing a hundred times when once will do.—Frank S. Black.

Theodore Roosevelt hypnotizes obstacles, looks them in the eye, and overpowers them with honesty of purpose. Dishonesty, cowardice, and duplicity are never impulsive; Roosevelt is impulsive.—George A. Knight.

Theodore Roosevelt unhesitatingly measures swords with the giant corporation, which threatened the people with wrong and oppression, and brought it into subjection.—William O. Bradley.

The American people, frank themselves, demand frankness in their servants. No mystery was ever elected President of the United States or ever will be.—Senator Beveridge.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated among other purposes to the great task of arresting the downward march of the nation. In 1860 it elected its first President. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the government. For sixteen months of the forty-four years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the government, while the Democratic party during the same period has had complete control for only two years. This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has consistently the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equaled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been widely and ever more conspicuously by the incapacity and misfortune shown by its opponents.

The Republican party secured power in its present period of complete supremacy in 1860. We have every right to congratulate ourselves on the fact that we have been in power, for it has added laurels even to the traditions of the party which were won in the struggle with the forces of evil war.

We then found the country after four years of Democratic rule in a state of chaos, with the national debt doubled, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the national credit was ruined, and the people were suffering. Consistent Protective Tariff. We met these unhappy conditions bravely, effectively and with honor. We replaced a Democratic tariff law, based on free trade and protection, by a consistent protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the tariff, has since that time expanded to a degree never before known, has created new markets and has created a new era of expansion and progress.

Approve President's Attitude. We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and his cabinet in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor, and promise a continuance of the Republican policy in the future.

BLOOMING JURY NAMED.

President Roosevelt has appointed, as a commission to investigate the General Slocum disaster, Lawrence D. Murray, assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor; Gen. John A. Wilson, U. S. A., retired; Commander C. M. Winslow, U. S. N.; Herbert K. Smith of the Department of Commerce and Labor; and George Chier, inspector general of the steamboat inspection service. The commission will investigate independently of the New York board, but Mayor McClellan has arranged to aid the body in every way.

At the coroner's inquest Henry Landberg, a United States steamboat inspector, refused to answer questions on the ground that he might incriminate himself. He acted on the advice of his attorney. He was placed under $500 bail. Testimony brought out showed that there was no equipment for turning steam into a cabin in which oils, paints and other dangerous combustibles were stored; no fire drill; no testing of fire hose; no licensed mate; no new life preservers since 1885, and fire hose bought at 10 cents a foot, against a price of $1.50 a foot from the city fire department. Many of these omissions are said to be violations of the federal laws. A bookkeeper testified that she had altered many times the name "Grand Republic" on the bills for life preservers so as to make it appear that the bills had been bought from the Slocum. This she did by means of acid.

Dynamite and field guns were used in the search for bodies, and many more dead were raised. In all 846 bodies have been recovered, and 706 have been identified. The missing number 308.

BEAR BEATEN AGAIN.

Russians Lose Many Men in Another Big Battle. Reports received from Liaoyang and Newchwang show that a furious battle has been fought in the vicinity of Kai-Chou or Hai-Cheng, in which the Russians were defeated with heavy loss and driven back on Liaoyang. A big Japanese army is said to be marching to the northwest to prevent the Russians retreating to Mukden. The Japanese attacked Su-Chen.

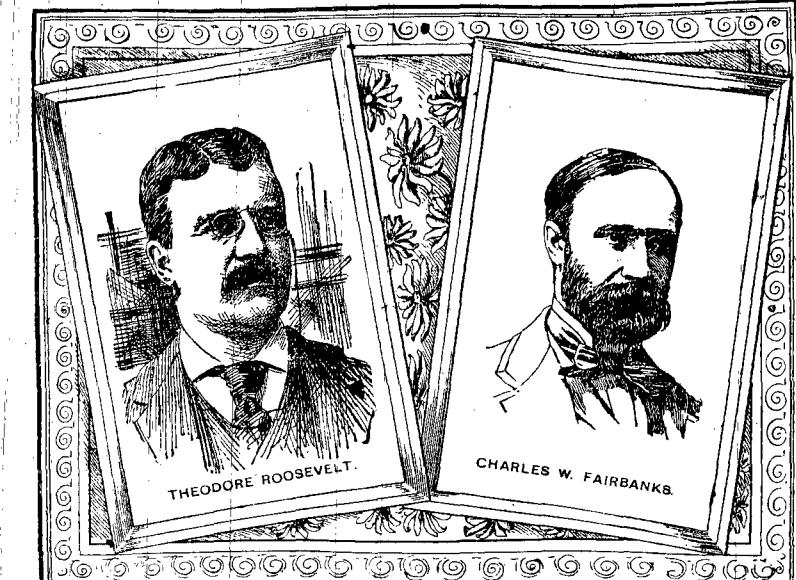

While a Russian force of 8,000 under Gen. Kondratschik was traversing Wangkungo ravine, nine miles southeast of Kai-Chou, it was surprised by concealed Japanese artillery. The Russians lost heavily, and Kondratschik was killed in number. Gen. Kondratschik extricated his men and led them in good order to an entrenched position. A division of the army under Gen. Oku occupied Haiung-Yao without opposition.

The reports of the Japanese treatment of prisoners and wounded are marked by extremely cruel and inhuman practices. In some cases the greatest kindness has been shown to the Russians, but from elsewhere come reports of brutality and worse. One case is cited in which the Russian wounded on the field, sent Chinese surgeons and had them removed to hospital.

REPUBLIC'S GLOWING FUTURE.

Argentina Gives Promise of Becoming a Great Country. The trade of Argentina is becoming in a way that promises a bright future for this South American Republic. Last year the foreign trade of the country increased 25 per cent, while in ten years the increase was 90 per cent.

Argentina has only 5,000,000 inhabitants, though the country can easily support 25,000,000. The population is 80 per cent of white extraction. The revolutionary troubles that have arrested progress in the past appear to be over and signs of prosperity and progress are to be seen on every side. Money is abundant; wages are good for South America; the railroads are prosperous, and there is an enormous acreage of good land available for cultivation. Hundreds of individual men in every province own each from one to five square miles of land, which is a good feature of the situation. There is a demand for this land, but it is divided into small holdings in part; but immigration is slow. This is in part due to troubles in the past, and to the unfavorable conditions of taxes and land purchase in the interior. The government will have to reform that condition of things to induce immigration.

for individual seats had been settled, the other candidates for Vice President had been withdrawn, and nothing remained except to make the nominating speeches and to choose the standard-bearers by acclamation.

Mr. Pitt of Illinois, the only out-spoken competitor of Senator Fairbanks who had any chance of victory, was withdrawn from the fight at his own request. The other minor candidates followed suit, and so the situation gradually settled itself to the point where only nominating speeches were left to occupy the attention of the delegates.

Former Governor Black of New York made the speech nominating Theodore Roosevelt for President of the United States. He was followed in succeeding speeches by Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, George A. Knight of California, Harry Stillwell

Edwards of Georgia, Joseph B. Cotton of Minnesota, and Harry S. Cummings of Maryland, the latter a leader of the colored people. Under the rules a roll call was required which showed the nomination to be harmonious, after which the friends and admirers of the President gave full vent to their lung power.

Even before the word "Roosevelt" was uttered by Governor Black the delegates were on their feet, bracing themselves for a demonstration. The New York delegation was the center of the noise, and used every device known to excitement-invitors to keep strains were drawn out. Human lungs completely squelched the instruments of brass. Bedlam seemed to have broken loose in the great Coliseum. Women stood on the seats in the galleries, shouting and screaming. Delegates hugged each other. Hats flew into air and the great hall was full of waving banners. Then came the procession of States. Delegates wrenched their State standards from the floor and paraded up and down the aisles cheering, singing and pounding the floor with their staves. Senator Cullom even joined the wild march. Alaska's totem poles marched in crazy lines after New York's banners. It was the climax of the Republican convention of 1904. The demonstration lasted fully twenty minutes.

The nomination for the Vice Presidency followed the Presidential nomination. Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa placed Senator Fairbanks in nomination. He was followed in succeeding speeches by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Senator Dewey of New York, Senator Foraker of Ohio and former Senator Thomas Carter of Montana.

When the roll call of the States for the vice presidential nomination was begun Alabama passed her right to suggest a name on to Iowa, and Senator Dolliver, amid a whirlwind of applause, took the platform to nominate Charles Warren Fairbanks. The Iowa senator's naming of Fairbanks was the signal for a riot of noise, only second in volume to that which followed Frank S. Black's naming of Roosevelt. The roll call for the vice presidential nomination was dispensed with, and Fairbanks was made the running mate by acclamation.

secured with difficulty. After prayer by Rev. Thomas E. Cox, the chairman called for the reports of committees, beginning with that of the committee on credentials. Senator McComas of Maryland, rose with the report and was called to the platform, where he read the document and made some explanatory remarks upon the Wisconsin decision, unsating the La Follette faction.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was made permanent chairman of the convention and given a gavel which he could use as a weapon to "shoo" away talk of the vice presidential nomination. Mr. Cannon prefaced his speech with some humorous remarks, causing general laughter, and closed with praise of President Roosevelt and a tribute to the late Senator Hanna.

Members of the committee on resolutions brought their report into the convention, immediately after Speaker Cannon had taken the gavel with the announcement that it had been agreed upon in harmony. Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee, presented the platform to the convention.

All interest in its reading was centered upon the tariff plank, over which the only clash in the committee had occurred. The resolution reported gives small comfort to the revisionists and does not in its terms change the doctrine of protection of the Republican party.

Thursday's session closed a national convention which for absolute harmony was almost unique in the history of the party.

Chairman Henry C. Payne, of the National Committee, called the convention to order shortly after 12 o'clock. The buzz of conversation throughout the big building ceased almost in a twinkling, and the convention arose en masse while the opening prayer was delivered by Rev. Timothy P. Frost. At the conclusion of the prayer, Senator Scott, of West Virginia, presented Chairman Payne with a handsome gavel.

REMARKABLE CURES BY DR. CALDWELL

Help for Sick, Particularly for Those Who Do Not Delay.

Often a Few Weeks of Neglect Allows Disease to Reach a State Where They Can Not be Cured.

Dr. Caldwell heals not by Osteopathy, by Hypnotism, nor by Divine healing, but by a system of natural science in combination with the most true and reliable remedies of the age. She is a woman that cures the sick because she understands the nature, cause and the condition of circumstances which bring disease about. Her discoveries are those made from personal experience and from long continued practice in her profession. A woman far beyond the average doctor, a woman who is capable, otherwise she could not be "successful." Dr. Caldwell, as a practicing physician, is successful, and she is one of the greatest diagnosticians of chronic diseases of the age. Is it not reasonable to believe that if one is successful in one branch of science that woman is certainly capable of being successful in other branches? Analyze these matters yourself. Do not allow your thoughts and your opinions to be influenced by others who are not interested. One does not know how to appreciate health until they have lost it.

Dr. Caldwell has studied her profession both at home and abroad, and after a thorough and painstaking investigation, has succeeded in curing the diseases of her specialty when other physicians had failed. Why not? Some of these people were blind, some were deaf, some were lame, some paralytic, scarcely able to move, others afflicted with Bright's disease, heart disease, consumption, cancer, others with kidney troubles, dyspepsia, incontinence and the thousand and one symptoms of those dreadful maladies. It is claimed by her friends that she can tell the disease of a patient without asking him a question. This is perhaps true, for since she is so learned in her profession and so experienced in treating disease, why shouldn't she know the exact cause and the reasons of symptoms which produce disease? For years she has been visiting professionally the largest cities of the United States. Her opinions are quickly made, and if a cure can be made then and there she tells them, and if it cannot be made she is equally honest and tells them. We know that she has cured thousands of cases of disease. We doubt if there is one hundredth of one per cent of the cases that she treats that she fails to cure. We publish by permission the names of a few of her recent cures:

Mrs. A. Anderson, Grand Island, Neb., cured of chronic rheumatism, rheumatoid, and dyspepsia. These troubles soon disappeared.

Miss E. McBeth, Harder, Neb., cured of female and nervous troubles, was

Mr. Nulph Wyndure, Beaver, Neb., cured of gall stones of liver.

Joe Carlson, Ft. Wayne, Ind., cured of large cancer of breast.

Mrs. J. H. Sommers, Craig, Neb., cured of female trouble, general weakness and loss of flesh. Cured in three months. Mrs. Sommers had doctored with many doctors.

S. J. Blosson, Platte Center, Neb., cured of stomach trouble of long standing, nervous debility was treated by many doctors.
