The box social on Friday evening in district 23, the Kreidler school, was a great success and Clyde acting as auctioneer sold the boxes so as to net the school $24.15. There was an excellent program given and the evening was most heartily enjoyed by everybody. The funds obtained are to be used for the purpose of purchasing an organ for the school.

Fire from a furnace started a blaze in the Catholic church at Norfolk during services Sunday morning, when the building was filled with people, and would have caused a stampede and perhaps many fatalities, had it not been for the cool-headed manner in which Father Walsh handled the audience. Father Walsh was delivering his sermon when suddenly fire appeared through the floor, and his hearers were instantly on their feet. He told them to move slowly out the rear exits, and in three minutes the church was emptied. Before the firemen arrived and extinguished the blaze, considerable damage was done to the floor and carpets and smoke blackened the walls and decorations.

Our blizzard story of last week reminds us of another related to us by an old settler and the relation being a man of undoubted veracity compels us to accept it as a truth. He says that during an early day he and his son were digging a well and had gotten down into the earth about thirty feet when the son called the father's attention to the approach of a very peculiar looking cloud from the north which he immediately recognized as a sure forerunner of a blizzard and at once set about covering up the well preparatory to leaving for home and anticipating that the hole was liable to fill with snow if not well secured he laid boards over it as tightly as he could and then having a large rubber coat with him took it and laid it on top of the boards and fastened it down by laying several bricks on the edges, thus completely shutting out any possible chance as he supposed for the snow getting into the well and went home. The storm lasted for forty-eight hours and was a record breaker and when the skies cleared again he and the son concluded to go and finish the well. Arriving at the same and removing the covering they found the well completely filled with snow and not knowing how to account for it they began an investigation and found that a baton hole of the coat had not been properly covered and through this small opening the great body of snow had entered.

SEED CORN SPECIAL.

The seed corn special run by the Omaha railroad left Norfolk Friday morning for a two days trip over the corn growing country of their line in Nebraska. The special was composed of two auditoriums one for lecture demonstration on seed corn selection and two private cars for the accommodation of the university lecturers and the railway officials. Great interest was taken by the farmers along the line. The railroad officials in charge of the train are Supt. F. E. Nickols, Division Freight and Passenger Agent Lyman Sholes, Traveling Freight and Passenger Agent A. R. Witherspoon and Roadmaster B. F. Pierce. The university of Nebraska lecturers are I. L. Lyon, professor of agriculture; E. A. Barnett, director of the experiment station; Samuel Avery, C. W. Pugsley, A. L. Haecker, L. Bruner, D. P. Ashburn and E. H. Clark. The daily papers were also represented. Mr. G. W. Harvey of the Nebraska Farmer was with the party.

SYNOPSIS OF LECTURES
The average yield of corn per acre in Vermont is forty bushels. The average yield per acre in Nebraska is thirty bushels. One would think from these figures that Vermont is in the corn belt and Nebraska just outside. What it means is that the difficulty in raising corn in Vermont has resulted in better methods of culture. If the same care were given the crop in Nebraska, the present yield would be doubled.

A yield of thirty bushels of corn per acre in most years just about pays for the cost of raising it and for the use of the land. Thirty-five bushels give a profit and forty bushels double that profit. Careful selection of seed and good tillage will multiply the profits several times.

How does selection of seed increase the yield? By increasing the amount of corn on the ear. There are a number of points to be considered in selecting ears of superior excellence. A cylindrical ear carries more corn and more uniform kernels than a tapering ear. A tapering ear may be due to kernels growing smaller towards the tip, or the dropping out of rows, which makes irregular sized kernels and lessens the amount of cob.

It may thus be seen that a tapering ear by dropping out rows, shortening kernels may decrease the corn on the ear by five to ten per cent. A rough ear with deep kernel produces the greatest yield of corn. It is obvious that a deep kernel is desirable, as it produces from twenty to thirty per cent. more corn on the same cob than will a shallow kernel. A rough kernel is desirable because it is a deep kernel. On the other hand a smooth kernel is usually shallow. A deep rough kernel goes with late maturity and cannot be used in a region having a short growing season. There is therefore a limit to the depth of the kernel that can be grown in this region, but since we want the corn in our main crop to occupy the full growing season in order to give the largest yield, we want to grow as deep a grain as it is possible to mature. On the other hand a shallow, smooth kernel may require the entire growing season for its development without giving large yield.

The tip of the ear should be well filled out with kernels. A tapering tip with shallow kernels is a sign of degeneration. Such corn is in the process of "ramping out." The per cent. of corn on the ear is also decreased.

A well filled out butt with deep kernels is desirable. The shank should be small and yet large enough so there will be no danger of the ear blowing off. A large shank means a large cob with shallow kernels. The shape of the kernels should be such that they fit snugly from tip to crown.

The kernels should not be square, because they leave large spaces between the rows. You can't fit square kernels on a round cob, without leaving space. They should not be round for the same reason. And should not be too pointed as they leave spaces at the cob. They should be of uniform size. It is impossible to make a machine drop the same number of grains per hill unless the grains are uniform. Our experiments show that with ordinary corn butted and tipped only sixty per cent of the hills contained three kernels, when it was attempted to plant that number. The best yields of corn can only be obtained from a perfect stand, hence the importance of accurate planting. In order to get nearly uniform kernels it will be necessary to either screen the corn or sort the ears according to size of kernel.

There is a prevalent opinion that it is desirable to send to a distance for seed corn. This is a mistake. Our experiments have shown beyond a doubt that corn must become acclimated before it can give its maximum yield.

The most carefully bred varieties of corn have been brought from Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, but have not yielded so well as home grown corn until they have been raised here for several years. Seed brought from Iowa and grown side by side with seed of the same variety, but having been grown here for two years yielded much less than the latter. Well-bred seed corn from a distance may not yield well at first, but pure-bred seed corn if of the right type will prove better in the end than scrub corn.

Seed corn should be selected immediately. If left in the crib from now until spring the vitality will probably decrease 25 per cent. The corn should be placed on racks or hung up. It should be kept in a well ventilated room where it is not likely to freeze. Do not pack it in boxes or barrels. Will it pay to go to this trouble? We can expect much selection to increase the yield at least five bushels per acre. Suppose we are raising 100 acres of corn. We would thus increase the crop 500 bushels, worth about $200. The entire work of selecting and storing the fifteen bushels of corn would not take more than five days, making our time about $40 per day.

It is encouraging to note that the appropriation bill reported by the finance committee of the lower house, recommends $108,000 less than the amount appropriated two years ago to maintain the state government and its institutions.

The resolution of the Nebraska legislature commends the state of Kansas for its loyalty to the Standard Oil Company, and it is likely the Rockefeller combination will have hard sledding the next few years in different states in which it has tried to monopolize the oil business and furnish consumers with a distressingly poor article.

If the bill defining the kind of healers that can be hired passes the senate and becomes a law, there is no reason why the doctor should not be regulated by legislation. It is not necessary that the flour should be banded together and insist that bread is the only healthy food and have measures adopted that will prevent the sale of all other kinds.

Cassidy lies the head that wears a crown, "is certainly aptly illustrated in the present state of Russian affairs. Grand Duke Sergei, heir to the throne, has been blown to pieces by a bomb thrown under his carriage and the rest of the Grand Dukes are afraid to leave their palaces for fear of meeting a like fate. The czar himself is a prisoner within the palace of the Kremlin and to even look out of a window for fear of assassination. The lowliest citizen of our great republic occupies a position far preferable to that of the ruling classes of Russia.

The regulation rate and anti-pass bill introduced in the House by Representative Harrison on Monday, received the support of a majority of the legislature and was made a law. The bill reduces the regular passenger fare on the railroads in the state from three to two and one-half cents per mile and absolutely forbids the issuance of free passes to officials. Some opposition to the bill is being worked on the strength of its being the handiwork of George W. Berge, late fusion candidate for governor. While the bill was drafted by Mr. Berge, it was by no means his work. A man who went to Berge because he knew the latter had given the subject consideration and because he knew him to be a good lawyer who could so construct the bill as to make it court-proof. Even if it were true that the bill is Berge's, that is no valid reason for its non-support by any republican member. If partisanship is to be carried to the extreme that no support can be had for anything originated by the opposite party we have indeed fallen into a very narrow pit from which there is small hope of being rescued. We trust no republican in either branch of the legislature will show himself so narrowly partisan as to refuse to support this or any other good measure because it is drafted with the handiwork of the opposition.

Kiley Ruth, Walter Stubbs and Herbert Leuck were arrested Tuesday charged with assault and battery, at the instance of Geo. Thies whose store at Altona the boys visited the night before and had more of a lively time than the proprietor relished. They treated the clerk in a very unbecoming manner and converted the place into what might be termed a "rough house." They said they were acting in fun and accordingly Judge Hunter let them off with a small fine, taxing them $5 and costs.

Members of the M. E. church gave Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Terwilliger and daughter, Miss Georgia, a farewell party at their home on Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger were presented with a beautiful rocking chair and Miss Georgia with a handsome vase. The girls friends of Miss Anna Terwilliger gave a party for her at the home of Miss Gay Elliott Tuesday evening and made her the recipient of a good brooch. The family departed this afternoon for their future home at Parson City, Kansas, to which place they are accompanied by the good wishes of many Wayne friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Likke, who reside seven miles northwest of Wayne, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening of last week when fifteen families gathered, on invitation, at their home. An excellent supper was served, after which games and music made the time pass quickly and pleasantly. It being a silver wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Likke wore the recipients of numerous silver presents. The guests did not depart until midnight, when they departed wishing their host and hostess many happy returns of their wedding anniversary.

A study of the catalogue of Short-horn cattle to be sold by Clark and Peterson at the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Saturday will certainly convince any man versed in Short-horn lore that the offering is one of very rare and extremely desirable breeding. It is Scotch and Scotch-topped and much of the foundation stock is from the great milking family of Bates with herd and there a Booth. The whole fraternity of great breeders of this famous breed are to be found among the list of breeders of the ancestry of this offering. We know that as good an opportunity for our breeders to improve their herds has never before been presented. These men have not spared expense in securing the foundation stock from which the present offering has descended and we trust their efforts will be duly appreciated.

DISTRICT COURT.
 The regular term of district court convened in Wayne Monday, Judge Boyd presiding, and adjourned that evening until next Monday afternoon. Jurymen who were to appear at that time have been notified that their services will not be needed and accordingly have been discharged. Only civil actions, triable to the court, will receive attention next week.

In the action of the state vs. Sanford Banerly who was charged with complicity in raising the check of Asher Hulbert from $2 to $50, the defendant pleaded guilty and being a minor was ordered sent to the reform school at Kearney.

Among civil cases on which action was taken Monday are the following:
 S. B. Space vs. Wayne county, settled and dismissed.
 Edwarda Bradford Lumber company vs. Joseph Dobbin and Hattie A. Dobbin, settled and dismissed.

 One Week's use of Hyomei did more than Six Months' Treatment by Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness, which is often a result of catarrh of the ear, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days treatment will bring relief, and in three or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, the hearing will be completely restored. Miss Meeks of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea it would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was so offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

E. J. Raymond is selling Hyomei upon the unusual plan of agreeing to return the money if the medicine does not cure.

A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. A complete outfit of Hyomei can be prepared for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists and then remember that if Hyomei does not cure E. J. Raymond will return your money.

It's the Hat That Makes the Man

You may make a mistake in selecting your suit and a good many people will not know it, but if you buy a hat that is out of style everybody will know it. People will judge you by the hat you wear and you will be rated according to the judgement you use in selecting your hat. You can't make a mistake if you come here for a hat, no matter if you do not know what is in style. Our stock is up-to-date and you will get the latest if you come here to buy. You can't afford to buy a hat of a merchant that buys hats of jobbers. We buy direct from New York, from the factory, and are one year ahead of other merchants in style. It costs no more to buy hats in style here than others ask for old style hats. Why not come here?

The Hawes Hat

It is now conceded that the Hawes hat is the best $3.00 hat made and we have the exclusive sale for Wayne county. Every hat is warranted to give satisfaction. We also carry a large stock of Stetson hats at $4.00 to $5.00. We have the leading shapes.

Hats for 50 Cents
 We have some hats that are out of style and if you want any of them to wear for every day you can buy them of us at 50 cents. Hats that sold for $2.00 and $3.00 and are now out of style will be sold at 50 cents.

Our spring stock is now all in and we will be pleased to show you the styles, no matter if you are not ready to buy. Come in and look at them.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The event of last week in Carroll was the farmers' institute which was held on Friday and Saturday at the Methodist church. Large crowds were in attendance at every session, good interest was taken in all the discussions, and the whole affair was a pronounced success from start to finish.

The ball was started to rolling by the arrival of the seed corn special train at the depot on schedule time Friday morning. A large crowd was present to greet it and hear the address given in regard to the selection of seed corn which was well received and will no doubt tell in the future crops of the vicinity.

Early in the train the people were immediately to the church where the institute was formally called to order by the secretary, Geo. O. Merrill, to whose indefatigable and untiring efforts the success of the meeting may be attributed more than to any other one factor. The program which had been previously prepared, printed and distributed was carried out with but few alterations.

After music by the orchestra and the invocation by Rev. E. L. Wright, E. R. Lathrop of a new little speech was given all the greetings of the town to the institute which was responded to by Mr. Barnett of the state experiment station. With these preliminaries the meeting was finally launched and at once proceeded to the work in hand. The first discussions were on the feeding of cattle and the insect pests and how they can be eradicated by Mr. Barnett and Mr. Blum respectively. The list of the first discussion was to feed "balanced" wheat, wheat and corn, and the second, "Rotate your Crops and Spare the Birds."

At the close of these discussions free lunch was served the crowd in the O. G. U. hall by the business men of Carroll, and right well too did they discharge their part.

At 2:30 the afternoon session was opened with music by the orchestra, after which the paper on the "Care and Profit of Poultry" by John Kate of Wayne was presented. To say that this proved to be one of the features of the institute is putting it lightly. Mr. Kate had many good friends in Carroll before the institute was planned, but his list of friends was not long. He is a stronger and many new ones formed by his presence, ready wit, sound judgment and jolly disposition on this occasion. He declared that this was the first time that he had ever attempted to speak before a public audience, but as we listened to him we were reminded of the man who said that he never learned to eat tomatoes until he was grown, and that he had always felt that he had learned it, thinking himself when he thought of the fact that he had almost succeeded in eating them sooner. The world has unmistakably missed much in the fact that Mr. Kate has always persisted in keeping silent on public occasions.

But he is still a young man, and now that he has broken away from his old habit, we hope to hear from him often and we are sure that when he chooses to speak he will have an audience. Immediately at the close of his paper a large number of questions were sent in for him to answer and at every session from that until the close there were anywhere from six to a dozen questions referring to some phase of the poultry industry. Mr. Kate was always equal to the emergency and never failed to give highly instructive and suggestive and inquisitively addressed his audience with his inimitable wit, quaint sayings and ready jokes as he alone can do. His talk on Saturday afternoon just before the close of the institute on the eggs was by unanimous acclaim the best feature of the entire meeting. Every body was prodigal in their encomiums of it, and will hail with delight his return to Carroll to dispense chicken love.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The event of last week in Carroll was the farmers' institute which was held on Friday and Saturday at the Methodist church. Large crowds were in attendance at every session, good interest was shown in the discussions, and the whole affair was a pronounced success from start to finish.

The ball was started to rolling by the arrival of the seed corn special train at the depot on schedule time Friday morning. A large crowd was present to greet it, and hear the instructions with regard to the selection of seed corn, which was well received and will no doubt tell in the future crops of the vicinity.

From the train the people went immediately to the church where the institute was formally called to order by the secretary, Geo. Q. Merrill, to whose indefatigable and untiring efforts the success of the meetings may be attributed more than to any other one factor. The program which had been previously prepared, printed and distributed was carried out with but few alterations.

After the seed corn special, and the invocation by Rev. E. L. Wright, E. R. Lundberg in a neat little speech extended the greetings of the town to the institute which was responded to by Mr. Burnett of the state experiment station. With these preliminaries the first discussion was finally launched and at once proceeded to the work in hand. The first discussion was on the feeding of cattle and the insect pests and how they can be eradicated by Mr. Burnett and Mr. Burnett, respectively. The gist of the first discussion was to feed "balanced feed" whatever it was, and "of the second," "Rotate your Crops and Spare the Birds."

At the close of these discussions free lunch was served the crowd in the A. O. U. hall by the business men of Carroll, and right well too did they discharge their part.

At 2:30 the afternoon session was opened by the reading of the report after which the paper on "Care and Profit of Poultry" by John Kate of Wayne was presented. To say that this proved to be one of the features of the institute is putting it lightly. Mr. Kate had many an audience in Carroll before the institute was planned, but the qualities of friendship were made much stronger and many new ones formed.

His presence, ready wit, sound judgment and jolly disposition on this occasion, he declared that this was the first time that he had ever attempted to speak before a public audience, but as we listened to him we were reminded of the man who said that he never learned to eat tomatoes until he was grown, and as he had always felt since he had learned to kicking himself when he thought of the man he had missed by not learning to eat them sooner. The world has unmistakably missed much in the field that Mr. Kate has always possessed, but keeping silent on public occasions. But he is still a young man, and now that he has broken away from his old habit, we hope to hear from him often and we are sure that when he chooses to speak, he will have an audience. Immediately at the close of his paper a large number of questions were sent in for him to answer at every session from that until the close there were anywhere from six to a dozen questions referring to some phase of the poultry industry. Mr. Kate was always equal to the emergency and never failed to highly instruct his interrogators and incidentally amuse his audience with his inimitable wit, quaint sayings and ready jokes as he always can do. His talk on Saturday afternoon just before the close of the institute on the egg was by unanimous consent the best feature of the entire meeting. Everybody was prodigal in their encomiums of it, and will be equally ready to return to Carroll to his pen chicken love.

The Friday evening session was interesting throughout. Mrs. G. O. Merrill read a paper on the management of the farm, which was well received. Miss O. Watson of Fairbury, gave an interesting talk on household work and duties in which she made many helpful suggestions to both husbands and wives. Mr. Val Keyser of the experiment station, gave a paper on "Decorative Plants for Home Adornment" to the delight of the large audience. Last but not least was the work of the quartette consisting of J. A. Jones, Lester Bellows and Misses Nellie Love and Alice Wohlizer, which so charmingly captured the attention of the large audience.

Saturday morning's session was called to order promptly at the time appointed. After the preliminaries Mr. O. E. Quinn of the experiment station, took up the subject of "Soil Tillage." No subject elicited more real interest on the part of the farmers than this one and it is safe to say that the suggestions of the speaker will be put into practical execution by many of those present.

The program for the forenoon was taken up by queries and a discussion of "Wind Breaks and Shelter Belts" by Val Keyser.
