GEYSERS, CANYONS AND PEAKS

Diary of a Six Days' Trip Through America's Land of Never Ending Scenes of Beauty and Wonder.

(May L. Cunningham)

Livingston, Mont., Aug. 9, 1904. Came up from Cokedale about four o'clock. Stopped at Hotel Albermarle. Will leave for the Yellowstone park tomorrow morning at 8 a. m.

Wednesday, Aug. 10, a. m., 1904. Left Livingston at 8 a. m. The first point of real interest was Emigrant Peak—a mountain of about 11,000 feet—although all the scenery along the way was weird and beautiful. Running along the Yellowstone river through the Paradise valley we soon ran into Yankee Jim's Canyon, a narrow canyon of about three miles in length with the mountains rising to vast snow-capped heights on either side. Out of this canyon again we soon came in view of the Devil's Slide, which is well named as it looks as if the "old fellow" himself and all his traps had been coasting. This slide is of bright red rock and smooth as glass. It is about 450 feet in height. The next thing we saw was Electric Peak, majestic and wonderful with her snow covered sides. In a few moments we landed in Gardiner and here we are for winter. The air is fine and my neck is about stretched out of joint "rubbering." Our party is real jolly. Four old maid school teachers in the crowd. The men I think are all married as they look sort of downcast.

August 10, p. m. We started from the Wylie eating house about 12:30. We were twelve in number, four New York women, three Boston women, the science teacher from Kasadena high school, a policeman from Sheridan, the English teacher of Leland Stanford university, a conductor from Wyoming and myself. The coach rolled along beautifully on the splendid roads. No dust and a lovely cool breeze like autumn. We gradually ascended the mountain following the Gardiner river in its course which was beautiful. We had a fine view of Mt. Everest to our left and kept on going up and up. As we neared Ft. Yellowstone everything began to be grander. The next thing we saw was Liberty Gap and Pulpit Terrace, which were back of the mammoth Hot Springs. Coming around these Terraces we came in view of Jupiter Terrace. This terrace rises to a height of about 100 feet or more. It is all the colors of the rainbow along its sides and the center of the terrace is terra cotta and white. With the steaming water pouring over this formation, it is certainly a beautiful sight. I might add here that the water has a strong suspicion of "ranch eggs" in its odor. Our driver stopped here for about half an hour and we explored. On top of Jupiter Terrace are the Hot Springs. They are blue as the heavens and boiling hot. As you stand on this place you are very apt to think of goblins and gnomes and even of the old Thunder God, "Thor." Finally we started along and still kept on going up. We passed through "Silver Gate" and drank from a lovely spring. We then went along a stretch of road by the side of which were the rocks called "hoodoos." These rocks are of a weird, queer shape and have the appearance of being dropped into the deep ravine from all sides. In a few moments we were at the entrance of "Golden Gate" and on the "Viaduct." The Golden Gate is so named from the golden color of the rocks caused by the yellow moss which grows upon them. The stones in this gate look so much like the old Mission work, it is wonderful. Just as we view this gate are the Rustic Falls, which fall about fifty feet. From this point we came through the pine woods for miles, down to our camp for the night. Our camp is called Willow Park and it is composed of twenty-two tents besides the eating tent. I am in the tent with the Boston women. Our tents each have four bunks and a wood stove. Outside the camp is a lovely fire burning and swings and benches. The bell is ringing so must close. The oh-hunks are running in and out of the tent and owing to my abhorrence to cats, I am suffering a little discomfort. Must go to supper now.

After Supper. Just must write a little more. We all sat down to a long table covered with white oilcloth and the tent was decorated with pine boughs. After supper our party went out and picked purple gentians and monk-hood. The camp is quite lively now. Some of the tourists are playing croquet and others are seated around the camp fire. The air is cold but perfectly glorious. I met Mr. and Mrs. Wely at supper and they are fine people. I just went up to the "Apolonaries Spring" and the water is charged and tastes like a phosphate. If I should fall in I think I might become young again like King Dodo.

More new things. Just now an organ has been brought out and every one is going to sing by the fire. Must close and help sing.

A VALUABLE SHORTHORN.

Wm. Lessman has recently purchased of R. E. Watts & Sons of Miles, Iowa, a young Shorthorn bull that demonstrates fully that Mr. Lessman really believes there is nothing too good to head his great herd of Shorthorns. The animal that he has purchased is sired by the great Scotch bull, Double Gloster 2nd, a Crinkshank of the Duchess of Goster family, one of the tribes that helped largely in making the name of Amos Crinkshank stand well up toward the head of great Shorthorn breeders. The dam of Mr. Lessman's purchase is Village Lass 3d of Scotch topped breeding and a cow of great individual excellence. This cow has been a winner of several sweepstakes and many first prizes at prominent Iowa shows and is the dam of other noted winners in competition with some of the best. Double Gloster is acknowledged as one of America's great bulls, having an individuality that meets the requirements of the closest judges and weighs in ordinary flesh 2400 pounds. The young bull that Mr. Lessman has secured is only ten months old and weighs almost 800 pounds, is pretty nearly perfect in his conformation, is a rich roan, with plenty of substance, mellow hide and the carriage of royalty stamped on his every movement; a bull that will doubtless prove a fit successor to the great bull, Scotch Fashion, now at the head of the Lessman herd. We doubt very much if this herd, taken in its entirety, has a superior west of the Missouri river, and we really believe will show up well in company with many of the most noted herds of the United States and ere many years it will be among one of the big ones. Extraordinary care is being taken in the selection and breeding of this herd and today it is worth the time of any person interested in improved cattle to visit it and see what can and is being done by this enterprising breeder of this most useful breed of cattle.

THE VIOLIN CASE

One Used by Hans Albert in Suit.

VERY VALUABLE INSTRUMENT

It is Held by Proprietor of Hotel Boyd for Board Bill, but Nichols, of Omaha, Claims and Recovers It.

Monday, the Hans Albert violin case was heard before Judge Hunter and possession of the instrument was given to Mr. Nichols, of Omaha. This is a case growing out of a visit of the famous violinist to our city last winter at which time it will be remembered Albert was declared insane and sent to the Lincoln hospital for the insane and the violin was held by Landlord Turner for an unpaid board bill. After Albert had been taken away Mr. Nichols put in an appearance and claimed the violin was his and a very valuable instrument and proceedings were begun for its recovery and he succeeded at the trial Monday in convincing the court he was the rightful owner. The decision, however, cuts the landlord entirely out of his bill, which we understand Nichols agreed to pay, but up to this time he has failed to put up the money.

FIRE AT STANTON.

The Stanton fire Sunday morning not only burned the lumber yard of Horton & Chace, but also that of the Nye, Schneider, Fowler company and also several smaller buildings belonging to Knox Tipple, that were used in connection with the hotel Barnes. Horton & Chace carried $18,000 insurance and while we are not informed as to what their loss will be, the entire loss is said to be about $40,000. The fire originated in a shed of the Nye, Schneider, Fowler company at about 2:30 Sunday morning and the cause is unknown.

Early Spring is the Period of the Annual Flow—Scientific Explanation of the Sweet Nectar Which is Made Into Sugar.

The crop of maple sugar this spring will be about 45,000,000 pounds and will put something like $2,000,000 into the pockets of American farmers.

Why does the maple tree yield sugar? The question has long been regarded as a most puzzling one.

HOW HE GOT RID OF HIS OBSTINATE MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Jones tells of the Way by Which He Trained Himself Successfully, When Doctors Failed.

Six physicians, all of them good, one of them a specialist, had done their best for Mr. Jones at different times during three years, and still he endured fearfully from the tortures of rheumatism.

The rheumatism that had been dormant in his system was suddenly brought to an acute stage by exposure to a severe cold in February, 1901.

Of his condition at this time, Mr. Jones says: "My rheumatism started in my right thigh, but in time it spread to every muscle of my body."

When I was on the third day, says Mr. Jones, I could realize a change for the better. I felt throbbing then that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were the right medicine for my ailment.

Mr. Williams' Pink Pills were the right medicine for my ailment. I had tried every remedy, but nothing could be done for me.

MARRIED.

MANNING-FULLER—At Fremont, Nebraska, Friday, April 15, J. R. Manning of Wayne and Mrs. C. B. Fuller of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were married.
Of the bride-groom it is scarcely necessary for us to speak as he is one of the old settlers of the county and a man well and favorably known throughout the entire state. The newly married couple arrived in our city Friday and left again Tuesday for a trip to Steamboat Springs, Colorado, to be gone about three weeks, when Mrs. Manning will return to her old home for awhile and after that we believe Mr. and Mrs. Manning expect to make their home in our city. We know the readers of the HERALD will join us in extending to Mr. Manning and his bride the heartiest congratulations and best wishes for their future.

There are no better or brighter women in the world than the farmers' wives and daughters of Wayne county. Their fame as housekeepers and as exponents of good cookery is more than state-wide, and they are especially quick to welcome new ideas from any source. A large element in the progress of many of our farm homes is the Home Department of the Iowa Homestead, of Des Moines, Iowa, which abounds in recipes, household hints, points in dress-making, suggestions about beautifying the farm home and grounds and editorial chats with subscribers on timely subjects. These admirable features and the weekly Sunday school lesson, in which many farmers' wives are deeply interested, make the Homestead a truly ideal paper for the farmers' wife and daughter. In increasing the circulation of our farm journals of this character in our county the HERALD feels that it is rendering a real service to the farming public. If you would like to subscribe for the Homestead or see a sample copy of it, we shall be pleased to attend to the matter for you.

EASTER EGGS

It may seem strange to an inquiring mind why eggs were selected to represent Easter. There are many good reasons why eggs represent immortality. In that small shell is all that nature requires to produce life. Take an egg to any part of the earth and place it in an atmosphere of 103 degrees and in a short time it will produce life, and without any assistance except God's it will live and grow to maturity. When I was a boy I used to gather turtle eggs and bury them in the sand and in a short time I was amused to watch the little turtles appear and run away ready to meet the trials of life. An egg is truly a wonderful thing and a good representation of immortal life. I care not how slow you may be to appreciate the beautiful things of spring; you cannot pass a flock of young chickens "just out" without admiring them. That is why eggs and young chickens are used to remind you of the resurrection and immortal life. To properly observe Easter Sunday it is necessary that you put on your best clothes and if you have not made arrangements for a new outfit let us remind you that we are better prepared than ever before to meet your wants. This store is the proper place to visit before you buy your spring clothing, for here you will find more and better clothing than any other place in Wayne county. Our prices are especially pleasing this spring to everyone that has investigated them. We have everything worn by men and boys and you will find what you want here at prices as low as other merchants ask for clothing out of style. Our furnishing goods are an attraction that can be found in no other store in Wayne. Remember that our shoes are the kind you want and our stock is complete. We are the men that sell more hats than any other firm in Wayne. It is certainly a mistake to buy a suit before you have investigated the large stock now ready for spring trade here. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you in this store before Easter Sunday and you will be glad that you came in. You will be courteously treated here, whether you buy or not.

It is estimated that the railroads of the country will expend during the present year over $300,000,000 for new equipment.

At the great English Shorthorn shows and sales a twenty girder reserve is placed on the animals for sale. Thus no animal is allowed to change hands at a less figure than $100.

A movement is on foot to merge the New York Central, Northwestern and Union Pacific railroads and bonds to the amount of $790,000,000 are to be issued for the purpose. This amount of bonds to pay an annual interest of five per cent. will require an income of $39,500,000 above operating expenses.

One of the greatest crops for the rehabilitation of exhausted soil is clover. Too much attention cannot be given to the importance of this plant in corn raising sections of our country, because corn is one of the greatest soil robbers and wherever persistently grown is bound to eventually impoverish unless something is done to neutralize its effects.

Mike Harrington, the O'Neil lawyer and big populist of the Elkhorn valley, thinks this is an opportune time for the organization of a new party that will remedy all the existing evils of the day. Mike feels that as matters now are he is without a party and if he could get up a new one skakety in his liking he would be the big thing in it and that is about what he wants to be.

The total appropriations of the legislature for the biennial period after being cut down by Governor Mike's veto amount to $8,845,187.06 against appropriations footing $9,740,380.70 two years ago or a decrease of $895,111.64. Of this total amount $770,712.06 comes out of the university and other special funds, leaving the total amount to be paid out of the general fund $2,874,465. It is figured that the state levy for this year will be five instead of six mills for last year, and that the state's income from this levy will exceed the expenditures by something like $500,000. If this be true there will be something to apply on an old debt.

It looks as though the administration in its investigation of the charges against the Santa Fe railroad for rebates is going to be somewhat hampered by Paul Morton in the cabinet as secretary of the navy. If Morton in any manner stands in the way of a full and complete investigation and prosecution of the offending railroad the proper thing to do is to fire him out of the cabinet and if he is responsible for the wrongdoing of the company he ought to be punished just the same as any other law-breaker. We believe President Roosevelt in earnest in this matter and do not believe the presence of Morton in the cabinet will in any way influence him in a full investigation.

The Pender Republic puts up a stunning argument against allowing Christian Scientists or others not skilled in administering calomel and oil and other things according to the materia medica, to practice healing in this state, and crowns the same with the crushing and decisive assertion that the "governor shows that he hasn't brains enough to cover the point of a needle," by vetoing the legislature's enactment. Such recklessly incisive argument will undoubtedly make the governor feel like changing his mind and regretting that he struck down a barrier to the liberty of conscience. No more convincing proof than that was needed to send heretics to the rack in Spain or burn alleged witches in good old Puritan Massachusetts.

We know of two men, just ordinary farmers, who eight years ago decided to improve the quality of their farm. Each selected the Polled Angus as the type of animal he wished to keep. An investment of about $500 in each case secured enough animals for a start on pedigreed lines. We passed their places recently and were much pleased to note that in each yard there was to be seen a drove of thirty to forty sleek and handsome cattle of this breed. The fact is that an investment of $500 to start with and a subsequent infusion of some fresh blood will enable any man who knows how to take care of stock to substitute well bred, choice animals in place of scrub stock. This is one of the most sensible and practical things which a man can do in the way of farm improvement.—Joe Trigg.

The supreme court of Nebraska at present consists of nine members, three judges and six commissioners. With this amount of legal talent the court ought to be able to bring its work up in the next five years to a point where at least some of the cases originated within the memory of man now on the books of action can be adjudicated. There is one feature in the present formation of the court on which we are not exactly struck and it is the idea that seems to prevail among the membership that the judges for the future shall be chosen from the commissioners of the court. If this should become a rule the judges of the court, as long as the commissioner plan exists, can name their successors because they have the appointment of the commissioners. We are opposed to anything that favors of the ability of an office holder to name his successors.

There is a probability of the state normal school at Kearney not being ready for opening for some time; in fact it is listed that it may be three years yet before it will be in shape. The legislature of 1903 made the appropriations necessary for the erection of the buildings, but the people furnishing material and contractors having the construction of same have been rather slow with their work and it is claimed the appropriations will lapse August 31 of this year and there is small probability of the completion of the buildings prior to that date and after that time there will be no funds available for payment of builders. If this is true the completion of the buildings will have to wait until after the legislature meets again and makes the appropriations necessary. It is claimed this predicament is the outcome of jealousy on the part of the Perù people headed by T. J. Majors.

The city papers are kicking because the meat packers have put up the price of dressed beef. When the price of beef goes up a wall arises from the consumer and when it goes down the howl comes from the sage brush and feed yards. Today the cattle producer and feeder is happy and his sun shines undimmed by even a floating cloud; probably tomorrow it will be otherwise. If the middleman, the packer, doesn't force extravagant margins between the price of cattle on foot and dressed beef on the block there is really no room for complaint on the part of either producer or consumer, and with present facilities for the carrying of dressed beef from season to season it really looks as though there is a smaller reason for violent fluctuations in price and when prices do fluctuate so violently it creates a suspicion of manipulation for illegitimate profits and this is what sets the American people as a whole against the packer and leads them to believe that he is an unfair factor in the trade. Under the conditions existing years ago these wide differences in prices were looked upon as a natural result of heavy marketing at one season of the year and light marketing at another season, but today well informed people are aware that under existing methods of taking care of the product there is no such thing as a scarcity at one time and a glut at others; consequently they believe the necessity for wide differences in the market value of the raw material, or of the finished product are not brought about by the law of supply and demand but are caused by the desire for extreme profits by the people who manipulate both ends of the market.

Northern and western Nebraska is powerless in the state legislature. They are obliged to take just what the eastern and southern part of the state chooses to give them and that is not much. This is so because about twenty years ago the legislative districts of the state were apportioned and the southern and eastern part of the state being the most densely populated got the bulk of the representatives and from that time to the present it has been utterly impossible to get a re-apportionment, although the constitution expressly says: "The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-five and every ten years thereafter; and at its first regular session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, but at no other time, the legislature shall apportion the Senators and Representatives according to the number of inhabitants excluding Indians not taxed, and soldiers of the United States army and navy." During several of the recent sessions of the legislature bills have been introduced to carry out this provision of the constitution, but each time have been unceremoniously turned down and as a result the northern and western part of the state has not nearly the representation it is entitled to and stands but small chance of getting it, just proportion because the other parts of the state are unwilling to be just and give up a part of their representation. In many of the districts in the northern and western parts of the state the population to each representative is twice and in some cases three times as great as in districts in the southern and eastern part of the state. We can never have the power and influence in the halls of legislation that we should have while this condition of affairs exists and it behooves us to put on our fighting clothes and keep them on until we are put on an equitable footing with the rest of the state.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomei Cures this Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of the catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs. Offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, pain in back of the head, pain front of the head, tendency to take cold, burning pain in the throat, hawking to clear the throat, pain the chest, a cough, which in side, losing of flesh, variable appetite, low spirited at times, raising of frothy mucus, expectorating yellow matter, difficulty in breathing, frequent sneezing, hoarseness of voice, discharge from the nose, stoppage of the nose at night, itching of the body, droppings in the throat, mouth open while sleeping, tickling back of the palate, formation of crusts in the nose, dryness of the throat in the morning, loss of strength, spasms of coughing, coughs short and hacking, cough worse at night and morning, loss of vital force, a feeling of chilliness across the upper part of the chest. Hyomei will cure this disease, destroy activity of all germ life in the respiratory organs, enrich and purify the blood with additional oxygen, and after a few days use of this treatment the majority of these symptoms will have disappeared. In a few weeks the cure will be complete. Catarrh or ostarrhal colds cannot exist when Hyomei is used. This is a strong statement, but E. J. Raymond emphasizes it by agreeing to refund your money if Hyomei does not cure.

A Great Story of a Great War and a Vast Gallery of 200 War Pictures. This interesting book is by Marshall Everett, the greatest descriptive writer the world has ever known. It is the story of Japan and her war spirit; the story of Russia and her advance; the story of China and her strange customs; the story of Korea and her hermit kingdom; the story of the cause of the war. It tells why England supports Japan; why France supports Russia.

There is an old cow from which I have sold $1650 worth of calves and have six of her produce yet on the farm," is the way Will Lessman spoke of an old cow he has on his farm. This cow is a pure bred Shorthorn and the six head of her produce that yet remain on the farm would readily sell for $100 each, thus making the produce of this cow alone she came into Mr. Lessman's possession worth almost $2000. Do you know of any investment that will beat this one, if you don't ever keep a good cow on the farm.

J. C. Forbes, living a mile and a half northwest of town, had a pretty lively runaway one day last week in which he got his horses pretty badly out in a wire fence. He was disenging with four horses and stepped away from the team a few feet to look after something when the horses ran away, got a team on each side of a wire fence and ran lengthwise of the fence for quite a distance, breaking off every post that came in the way. When they finally came to a standstill one of the horses was so badly injured that it is believed it will have to be killed and the others more or less put out of business.
Mr. A. J. Hyatt announces the arrival of the second pair of twins in the kind line at his farm in West Randolph. A year ago Mr. Hyatt had the same good fortune to possess a cow that more than came up to expectations, and now he starts the natives by the statement that the feat had been duplicated. "Stand up for Randolph," and then some. A deal was consummated Wednesday, whereby H. J. Smith and Geo. W. Hyatt came into possession of the furniture and undertaking establishment conducted by J. M. Davis, which will be operated by the new firm first of next week. Mr. Smith will have active control of the business and we predict for the new firm a prosperous business.—Randolph Reporter.
Mr. Bolford of Carroll has been considerably wrought up of late over what they for a time supposed was a really first-class scandal and the tongues of the gossips were rioting in great shape for a time, but the bubble has burst and there seems to be no substance to the tale. Trouble had existed in a family for a time and suddenly the wife left in company of a brother-in-law and straightway the gossips told of an elopement and the wroking of two families and said the husband of the fleeing woman was carrying a gun looking for the other man and the sexton was said to be ready to toll the funeral bell at any time. The man in the case has returned and there are no corpses and it develops that he was only aiding the sister-in-law to make her "get away" in which she is said to have succeeded admirably.
S. O. Lane, the market gardener, is not the man that one would pick out as a fellow likely to create any undue excitement or disturbance, but while this is true in a general sense, yet he did wake up the natives for a few minutes Monday morning. In fact he and his team of horses were the star actors in a runaway on lower Main street. S. O. left his team untied down at the depot and was attending to some matters at a little distance away when the old fellows woke up and started north at a rate that while the race lasted would make Dr. Leisinger's auto or George, the "flying Dutchman" with his motorcycle look like a last year's bird-nest, but they couldn't or didn't keep the middle of the road but ran astride of a telephone post in front of Philleo's and there left the wagon in a pretty dilapidated condition while the horses unhampered and unburied ran for their lives up Main street and were caught at Second street.
There is a matter to which our attention has been called and as it is quite a timely subject and something which we believe ought to receive attention we are going to speak about it. It is the lariatting or tying out of cows and horses on streets, alleys, or vacant lots. Many persons are somewhat careless about this matter and use streets and alleys for pasturage purposes and are thus a menace to public safety because the animals frequently go to the opposite side of the street carrying their ropes across the street and when teams come along frighten them and cause run-aways. Then again the animals get on the sidewalks and break the boards and at times become vicious and are dangerous to persons passing. No animal should be picketed on a public highway and when on vacant lots within a corporation ought to be fastened at a safe distance from sidewalk or street, so as to insure perfect safety to pedestrians and teams. A city like Wayne should not be turned into a cow pasture and we trust none of our citizens will be guilty of doing anything that will give any part of it that appearance.

The claim is frequently made that farming is not a profitable occupation and that the only way farmers have become wealthy is in the rise in price of land. Now we know a farmer who landed in America less than twenty years ago, coming from Sweden and who didn't have fifty dollars' capital when he struck our shores, whose only capital was a pair of hands and a desire to work. The opportunity for work was here and he embraced it and did with his might whatever he undertook and today he is the owner of 480 acres of the best land in Wayne county and lives in one of the most comfortable homes with every modern convenience and has great barns and everything in shape to take care of his dozens of good cattle and fine horses and scores of hogs, and the beauty of it all is he doesn't owe a dollar and has money to buy another quarter section of land. This man has never sold an acre of land; consequently no part of his fortune has come from these things he and his family have not been deprived of any of life's necessities and have enjoyed many of the luxuries. Our friend's case is not an isolated one by any means. Scores of others have done equally as well and some even better. This case is cited only to show that Nebraska soil has been a prolific source from which to extract wealth and independence and exceeds in this respect all the gold mines or business enterprises of the country and has brought richer rewards to its tillers, taken as a whole than any other spot on earth. Stick to the farm my boy.
DIED.
At his home southwest of Carroll, Nebraska, Sunday, April 16, William Oollins. Deceased was born in township Duoro, Peterboro county, Canada, April 9, 1869, and died April 16, 1906, aged 36 years, 7 days. Cause of death was pneumonia from which he was ill less than a week. The funeral services were held in the Catholic church in this city, Wednesday, April 19, at 11 o'clock and the remains laid to rest in our silent city. Will Oollins came to Nebraska seventeen years ago and lived in Ounuing county three years and for the last fourteen years has been a resident of this county. He was unmarried and was highly respected by all with whom he was acquainted. Local and General

Dan Davis and wife of Carroll, were in town Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Sol Slaughter left Saturday for her new home on the Rosebud.

Miss Baroit, one of the teachers in the city schools, and Dorothy Ellis visited friends at Carroll Saturday.

Dr. Nieman went to Omaha Saturday to spend a few days with his wife who is under treatment in a hospital.

Ralph Rundell pursued piscatorial pleasures at Crystal Lake, Dakota county, during a few days of the past week.

Prof. Graham of West Point was here Saturday with a view of making application for the superintendency of the Wayne schools.

Mr. Senter, the new clerk at Harrington's, has moved his family from Randolph to our city and occupies the Mrs. Parson's house in the northwest part of town.

Distemper is creating considerable trouble among the farm horses, quite a number of them being badly affected with the disease and somewhat retarded in the spring work of the farmers.

Mrs. E. J. Tucker of Pender, who visited for a couple of weeks with friends in and about Wayne, left Saturday for Winside where she will visit for a week or more with her brother, Perry Brodd.

H. P. Peterson and family left on Tuesday for Shell Lake, Wis. He expects to return to Winside in August to look after the farms he has in charge, and also again in the fall.—Winside Tribune.

W. H. McOnsky submitted to an operation for gall stones in a hospital in St. Paul last Friday. The latest report is that he is getting along nicely, which will be good news to his Winside friends.—Winside Tribune.

H. C. Prince was in town Monday afternoon, for the first time since his illness. He looked a little thin and pale, but a few days' work on the farm with these March (?) winds, will soon change his complexion.—Winside Tribune.

E. R. Chace received a letter Sunday evening apprising him of the destruction of the lumber yard of Horton & Chace at Stanton on Saturday night. As most of our readers know, Mr. Chace of this firm is Nathan Chace, for a long time a resident of our city and for many years the assistant cashier of the First National bank.

Peter Porterfield of Norfolk, a freight conductor on the Elkhorn, was instantly killed in Omaha Saturday while coupling cars. Mr. Porterfield lived at Norfolk, was a brother of James Porterfield and was an unmarried man. James was notified Saturday of the accident to his brother and at once went to Omaha to look after the remains.

John Hoison, a farmer living northeast of Norfolk, sent word last Thursday to his wife in Norfolk, who had deserted him, that he wished to see her. When she arrived she found his head entirely blown off with a shotgun. His feet were bloody, indicating he had walked around after once wounding himself. Dependancy over losing his family and farm was the cause.

H. B. Hemstreet's team, supposed to have been stolen were recovered at Hubbard, where the party named, A. O. Merritt, had left them. Sheriff Maskell located the fellow at Merrill, Iowa, and took him to Ponca. His case was to come up for trial Wednesday, but on Tuesday Merritt pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary. It is reported that as soon as his time is up he will be re-arrested and tried on other similar charges.—Emerson Crescent.

Many, many years ago we knew a man who had a fine saloon and had money to burn. He ran a poker joint in connection, got the players drunk, and, it was hinted, jolted them when in that condition. Tonight we picked up the home paper and saw that he was acting as agent for a dinky concern not worth mentioning. And he is now reaping the harvest—getting old, decrepit, unlovable, not loved, and well nigh friendless. This is one of the lessons we have observed while stumbling along life's tangled way.—Allen News.

Our article of a few weeks ago, suggesting that farmers co-operate in putting in a cattle dipping plant seems to have struck a popular chord. Every cattle raiser or feeder realizes the necessity of doing something to rid the herds of the mange or itch plague, now so prevalent, and they know that owners of small herds cannot afford the expense of putting in individual plants for the eradication of the disease; hence co-operation is the only way to solve the problem. Call a meeting for the near future, get together, organize, put up the necessary funds and authorize some one to go ahead and put in the plant. That is the way to do it.

A Women's Relief Corps was organized at G. A. R. Hall Friday afternoon by the state organizer, Mrs. M. Cleaver of Neligh. The following officers were elected: Mrs. D. C. Main, president; Mrs. L. U. McKee, senior vice president; Mrs. E. A. Johnson, junior vice president; Mrs. Harry Craven, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Ferguson, chaplain; Miss Ethel McNeil, conductor; Mrs. F. Lundberg, grand. A. J. Ferguson was largely instrumental in bringing about this organization and deserves credit for pushing it to its perfection. We understand the corps has a membership of over fifty.

As between the "knocker" and the "knocker" there is but small choice, but whatever advantage there is is certainly with the former. The knocker is a common nuisance and a bad example to the rising generation, one whose influence tends to the direction of shiftness and poor citizenship while the knocker, however industrious he may be, is constantly pulling down not only his own building but his ears, but is an element of destruction to his immediate surroundings. The knocker is against everything that tends to the upbuilding of the community, always finds fault with the fellow who do things and no matter how laudable the undertaking always finds the defects and glories in pointing them out. Be anything except a knocker if you do not wish to be despised by your neighbors and eventually get to hate yourself.

My boy, you may know lots of things your dad never dreamed of, but don't get it in your head that you know it all and that the old man is an all around fool. The old man may never have learned the art of rolling a cigarette and then being able to push the smoke out through your nostrils like a steam engine with its exhaust valves all open; probably he never sat in a game of poker and doesn't know the difference between a bobtail flush from the caudal appendage of a monkey, or cannot step to the music of the violin or harp, but there are a few things he can give you pointers on. He knows that the fellow who monkeys with the wine-cup or beer-mug, or makes companions of swaggering bums or scarlet breud women, is on a track that leads straight to hell without a kink or quirk. These things are as an open book to the old man and he wouldn't advise you to get into the game, even on a small scale.

Cheeny Chace tells the following on himself and Bruce Roosa: "One day while I was in partnership with Link Neely a traveling man came into the store with a broken umbrella that he wanted repaired and was directed to the tin shop, presided over at that time by John Kreitle who fixed up the broken parts and when the fellow wanted to pay for it he asked John the price and was told how much and directed to go and pay Chace, but says the traveling man, 'I don't know Chace.' Kreitle replied, 'go out into the store and pay to the laziest man you find and that will be Chace.' The man went into the store, looked around and found everybody busy and thought it surely wasn't any of these fellows, and thinking maybe Chace was on the outside he stepped out of the front door and there found a fellow that exactly fitted Kreitle's description and handed the money over to him and it was Roosa."

Probably no town of its size in the state of Nebraska, or for that matter elsewhere, receives as many complaints from strangers as does the city of Wayne. Its substantial business houses, good residences and well kept lawns invariably bring forth praise from every stranger brought in contact with us. Its own citizens are proud of their home town and take pride in doing everything within their means to constantly add to its appearance and for this spirit they are deserving of unstinted praise. The laws of sanitation are fairly well observed and as a result serious epidemics of any kind have never been our misfortune and the practice of medicine within the city is not a very profitable one, but it does look as though we are just a little careless in regard to a couple of alleys that parallel Main street and it is barely possible that the future may have grief in store for us if we do not give greater care to this source of "pollution." Let us not abate our watchfulness over matters of this kind lest we be made to pay a fearful price for our carelessness.

CLEANUP NOTICE.

You are hereby notified that all rubbish must be at once removed from the alleys or streets adjacent to your lots. Under the ordinances you are forbidden to deposit tin cans, ashes, manure or rubbish of any kind in the streets or alleys and the same must be promptly removed. Geo. MINER, City Marshal.
