GEYSERS, CANYONS AND PEAKS

Diary of a Six Days' Trip Through America's Land of Never Ending Scenes of Beauty and Wonder.

(May L. Cunningham)

Thursday, Aug. 12, 1904.

Slept like a log all night and had a splendid breakfast. We then started at seven on our journey. The sights that unfolded were nothing short of marvelous. First we passed the Obaldian Cliffs, which are of black glass and rise to a height of 500 feet. These cliffs show great volcanic action in days gone by. We came to "Crystal Spring" next which is a cold spring coming from a rock. We then saw the "Twin Lakes" which are as blue as the sky and clear as crystal. Just as we passed this calm spot we heard a puffing and roaring and looking up saw what is known as "Roaring Mt." The steam escapes in twenty or thirty different places and sounds like three or four engines puffing along at a terrific rate. But I must hasten on as I can never tell it all. Following a boiling creek we came to the "Devil's Frying Pan" which is a pool of boiling, popping mud. It sounds like the old Nick was frying beef steak and eggs. Next came the Norris' basin and here we saw our first geysers. The first one we watched was "Constant" which is named from the way it plays. Following a trail on the formation we came to what is called "The Growler." This is a vast cavern from which the steam puffs. Next we came to the "Devil's Luk Well." This is a deep pot of black formation and all at once we saw the water begin to rise and then begin to boil. It spouted and spewed and puffed then all at once it began to draw back into the caverns of the deep and we heard it go roaring down into the very bowels of the earth. Passing on we came to "Emerald Lake," which is a small lake of green water clear and sparkling. We went on through the pines and all at once came to a new crater which is unnamed but horrible and grand. It is at least a hundred feet straight down and awful. From Norris basin we rode into Gibbon canyon, following the river along for about six miles. Upon a hill at the right is a beautiful spring called "Beryl Spring." This spring is as blue as indigo and has a blue formation on all the rocks around the spring. We followed the river and came to Gibbon's Falls, which were 80 feet high. This dropped down over huge boulders in the form of terraces. In about five minutes we were at Gibbon's camp where we lunched and fed our team. I want to add right here that our driver's name is No 41, and his team are four—Tom, Jerry, Red and Sam. The driver is a dandy and I have been sitting on the front seat with the driver "Ikey" since noon. "Sit mit your mudder." We left our noon camp and came to "Fire-Hole River" and passed the "Fire-Hole" rapids, which were caused by the beaver dams. We then landed at the Lower Geyser Basin. We first visited Fountain Geyser, which is very large and has a colored spray like a rainbow. Then we visited the Paint Pots. These pots are of pure white and pink boiling mud. These pots supplied the N. P. Fountain hotel with caldime. These pots resemble a huge monster throwing out boiling mud from their mouth's. We passed on in this basin and next saw a pool which is called "Turquoise Pool." This pool is the color of a turquoise and the rocks are blue in its depths. We then passed on to Fiamante lake, which owing to the formation of strata in the lake causes it to have the colors of a prism. The mist which arose from this lake was rose-colored and pale-blue. All of these places of course were of boiling water. On this section of the Lower Basin we saw "Excelsior Geyser," a huge boiling lake which has blown out from the side of a hill. As we rode along at our left we saw the "Forget-me-not Pool." This pool is the shape of a forget-me-not and shades from that color of blue to pink in the bottom. Passing on we came to Ideal, Gem and Artissima pools, all about the same size and color. Next we came to the "Morning Glory" spring which is shaped on the outer edge like a huge morning-glory and the center winds down just like the corolla of the flower. It is blue and gazing at it one thinks that God himself, in his infinite beauty is in it all but when you touch the water you find that the "Old Man" himself has a hand in things in the U. S. yet awhile. We arrived at Camp Geyser on the Upper Geyser Basin, having made a drive of thirty-nine miles from Willow Camp. After eating a good hearty supper we went with our guide to "Grotto Geyser." This is in the shape of an old Grotto and the water dashes fifty feet above one of the pyramids. All at once the thing began to growl; then roar and stream after stream of hot water began to spurt and I fairly screamed with delight. Just then the alarm was given that the "Mortar Geyser" had begun to play and it was quite a wonderful sight. It poured out in a steady stream twenty-five feet high and as it was just at sunset we saw a rainbow in the mist. From this we went to see the "Spectacle Pools" which had a formation in the bottom that looked like huge opals. We then went across the mountain and looked at another "Paint Pot," but this was similar to those at the other basin. Besides this Paint Pot there was Cyclops Spring, which had large logs in its deep caverns covered with a white formation. Then back to camp for the night. I can not express it and all I can say is "glorious!" Just this minute as I write a searchlight is turned on "Old Faithful" and it is playing grand. I must close now as it is time to put out the camp-fire.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Attorney Welch went to Center, Knox county, Monday on legal business.

C. D. Frink and daughter went to Newman Grove Monday to attend the funeral of Mr. Frink's brother's child.

Joe Beyer of Leigh, Neb., was in Wayne over Sunday visiting his daughters, the Beyer sisters, returning home Monday.

If the old saw "rain on Easter, rain for seven Sundays" should prove true we are in for a damp time for several weeks to come.

From pretty good railroad authority it is learned in Norfolk that the North-western railroad company now has a large force of men at Casper, working on the extension, and that within three weeks the stretching of the track will begin. This, of course, will mean much to Norfolk, as it would bring a continental line through here, with mammoth tea trains and fruit trains from the west, and it would bring in many new families in the way of car repairers, extra crews and the like.—Norfolk News.

Last Friday was a gala day for the Senior class as well as the whole high school for during the morning the Wayne Seniors drove over to spend the day. The afternoon proved a most enjoyable one. After excellent refreshments in town, the classes returned to the school building, being just in time for the literary exercises. After school the Seniors were royally entertained at the home of Professor Stockdale, where a dainty luncheon was served. The class returned to Wayne Saturday morning and all the high school students declared the visitors a delightful class of graduates.—Wisner Chronicle.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Ulrich fell from a second story window of the Wisner house last Tuesday evening about seven o'clock striking the wooden walk along the east side of the building upon his shoulder and head. The window had been left open and the child who was playfully running about the halls and rooms where house cleaning was in progress, ran to it and jumped out to escape from his aunt, Mrs. George Ulrich, who was pretending to be trying to catch him. The child, who is about two and a half years old, was severely shaken up but fortunately no serious consequences have developed from his fall.—Wisner Chronicle.

Once in a while we find a man who walks into our office, giving us a news item or two about himself or neighbors. You don't know, dear reader, how we love that man. We don't think for a minute that he is hankering after notoriety or that he is trying to get his neighbors into print just because they don't like it. You see our business is to print the news—we must get it somewhere and somehow and we would rather get it first hand from good authority than to get it by the long distance rumor route, when it is likely to be wrong and misleading. Such a man shows also that he takes an interest in our work and wishes us well and that he appreciates the difficulties under which the editor or the paper's correspondents have to labor while gathering news in a rural community.—Ex.

It there is a place anywhere in the state where the saw and hammer are putting in more hours or being more rapidly welded than in Wayne county, we do not know where it is. In town and country new buildings are being erected, old ones overhauled and rebuilt as rapidly as men and material can be secured to do the work. The county is already famous for its elegant homes and that reputation is not likely to suffer any relative from present appearances and indications for the future. But why shouldn't new homes, modern in every respect be built in this county? There is no place in the United States where greater blessings have been showered on a deserving people than have fallen to our people. Industries hands have been directed by an intelligence that with the assistance of timely seasons has brought to the toilers abundant harvests and now permits them to enjoy some of the luxuries of life and make of this a land of happiness and contentment.

Prof. E. A. Moore, of the Wisconsin experiment station, writing on the subject of barley, gave a little advice in last week's Homestead which might be heeded with profit by many of our readers. He points out its uses as a food for live stock, especially hogs, and calls attention to the fact that throughout a large part of the corn belt more pounds of barley on an average can be raised per acre than of any of the other grains. He expressed the idea that the growing of barley will of a large extent solve the difficult problem of getting a catch of clover, as it is an almost ideal nurse crop. We find that there is not a single farm of the Homestead but what contains information that would be cheap if one had to purchase it at the subscription price for a year, and while we believe that the farmers of this community are a prosperous and up-to-date class, yet if the Homestead found its way into every home, it would contribute materially to still greater advancement. Subscriptions for the Homestead are taken at this office.

PAINFUL PERIODS

Suggestions How to Find Relief from Such Suffering

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the pain of nature that women should suffer so severely. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. It is painful or distressing something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

More than fifty thousand women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham's Compound. It is a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Nellie Holmes, of 549 N. Davidson Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

Your medicine is indeed a field medicine for women. I suffered for years with painful periods, headaches and nervousness. I consulted two different physicians but failed to get any relief. A friend from the East advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and no longer suffer as I did before. My periods are natural, every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who suffer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Laramie, N. D., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

I might have been spared years of suffering and pain had I only known of the benefits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. I have been suffering from irregular periods, headaches, nervousness, irritability, melancholy, and general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or general weakness, loss of appetite, faintness, lassitude, excitability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

Land of Bad Snowdrifts.

The worst snowdrifts ever known by any railroad are said to be those in Sweden. Although the snow is not so intense as in some of the Western States, the snowfall is heavy and continuous. This snow covers various kinds which are used on these roads are said to be the most powerful in the world. There are three, however, which even this machinery fails to clear the year, when hundreds of men must be employed to dig out the stalled trains.

The Prince's Wooing.

BY THE PRINCE.

On the contrary, if you follow my advice, you will first avenge yourself upon him and then marry him.

At this point the Princess' face relaxed somewhat, and she showed signs of curiosity.

"To-morrow," I continued, "the Prince in his madness is going to disguise himself as a workman, and so out into the city to find a wife for himself. Now, not many streets distant from the palace, there is a tavern called the 'Black Boar,' the proprietor of which is a very good friend of mine, since in my youthful days I frequented his tavern, and once in later life was of slight service to him when charged with some trifling offense. If your highness were to disguise yourself as a workman and come to this tavern to-morrow morning, I would take the Prince (father, also) and then it would be an easy task for you to bring the Prince, who is young and inexperienced in matters of beauty and love, vanquished to your feet. Thus would you obtain your revenge and at the same time prevent a terrible war."

"But," I faltered, the Princess said, "I am not a workman."

"And," I urged, "the said workman is not a workman, but a man who is as well and fat as—as—and he sang a rhyme rhyme—which I blush to repeat—"

She cast in her eye, and her mouth's all awry, about you.

"But are you sure the tavern is safe?"

"Your highness," I answered, "the tavern is wholly at your service. You may bring your own redress."

"And how shall I know the Prince?"

"He will have a green patch on his sleeve."

"Then," she said, resuming all her former laughfulness of demeanor, "I shall squander your proposition. To prevent a war I may do as you desire. You may now go."

But before I reached the door she called me back, and, bending down, anxiously asked:

"Did he really say those horrid things about me?"

I bowed.

"You may go," she said, drawing herself up rigidly.

At about ten o'clock the next morning the Prince was kneeling at the feet of the Princess Clothilde in the little side chamber of the "Black Boar." By what means the Princess had brought him to this position I cannot say, for I had been sitting in the large guest chamber while she was practicing her arts upon the Prince in the room next door.

But just now, tired of awaiting further developments, I had, so to speak, taken matters into my own hands, and was peering through the doorway.

"That's how I knew the Prince was on his knees."

Evidently the Princess had not revealed herself for the Prince, with outstretched hands and upturned face, was crying, passionately: "Grissette, Grissette, I love you."

The Princess flung back her head and laughed a shrill, mocking laugh.

"Why, who would ever marry such a ragged vagabond? My Karl is a thousand times as pretty a fellow as you."

"And who is this Karl?" eagerly demanded the Prince.

"Oh," she said, "he is a master carpenter, and only twenty-three of age. And when he comes of a Sunday to take me to church he wears a fine new silted doublet and a long feather in his cap. You," she said, contemptuously, "look like my old grandmother's patch-quilt, with that gruff green patch on your sleeve."

"But," pleaded the Prince, ardently, "if it is honor and wealth and fine clothes you desire, I can give you more than anyone else in the country. If you will marry me, you will have your own coach and four, and your own maids to wait upon you."

"Oh, indeed?" said the Princess. "I'll be glad if you do not run off without paying the reckoning. Why, to hear you, anyone would think you were the Prince himself!"

"And I am the Prince! I tell you I am Prince Amagon himself," said he, proudly.

Again the Princess' mocking laughter rang through the room.

"That's a good joke!" she cried. "Your highness, indeed!" and she swept him a mocking courtesy. "Why, if you be the Prince Amagon, I am the Princess Clothilde."

"But Stein, my Prime Minister, is here, and he will bear witness that I speak the truth," persisted the Prince.

"And Stein will bear witness that I, too, speak the truth," mocked the Princess.

"Stein!" called the Prince.

"Being near the door, I did not take a long time answering his summons. I was in the room in an instant.

As I entered, the Prince caught me by the sleeve.

"Am I not the Prince Amagon?" he demanded. "Do I not speak the truth?"

"Your highness does, indeed, speak the truth," I answered, bowing gravely.

"And I," the Princess cried, clutching me with more eagerness by the sleeve than I not the Princess Clothilde, "I do not speak the truth?"

"Your royal highness also speaks the truth," I reported, with a bow for her.

The Prince started.

Suddenly the Princess broke out singing shrilly:

I've a cast in my eye,
And my mouth's all awry,
Then the Prince understood, and he did the wisest thing that could be done under the circumstances. He said nothing, made no excuses or objections, but slowly he drew her, laughing, blushing and half resisting, to his breast. Short Stories.

TOMATOES DIDN'T COME UP.

The Trouble Was that the Seeds Had Been Hotted.

Several years ago Uncle Sam was "sizzled" by an swindler as ever swindled, and who afterward managed in some clever manner to keep without the precincts of the penitentiary, says the Washington Star. The swindler in this particular case worked his wiles on the authorities of the Department of Agriculture. It is stated, and put the free garden seed division of that department in bad odor with numerous agriculturists for many moons thereafter.

It was a grifter from Grattsburg, this fellow was, and his particular graft was boiled tomato seed. He conceived the brilliant idea of furnishing the Department of Agriculture with large quantities of these seeds from the vegetable canneries of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, representing them to be the best product of the tomato vine, and excellent for propagating purposes.

The fact that the tomato seeds had passed through boiling water in the process of canning and were therefore practically cooked and rendered unproductive did not bear a feather's weight on the fellow's conscience, for was not Uncle Sam regarded as common prey for all manner of grifters. He was backed by influence and the government bought liberal quantities of his boiled seeds.

When these were sent out in little manila envelopes broadcast by members of Congress and others to farmers and even backyard gardeners in all parts of the land, labeled "Early Dutchess tomato seeds," with full directions for planting, the government agents acted in perfect good faith. But at the expiration of the proper period and tomato vines failing to rear their heads from the soil where the cooked seed had been planted there arose a howl, long and bitter. The tomato crop is said to have been short that season, and so many protests were hurled at the Department of Agriculture by the injured ones that it became necessary, out of expediency, to establish a new division temporarily in the department, known as the division of tomato seeds and tomato seedlings, and for a time it was the busiest branch in the building of agriculture.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S. Recommends Per-una

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an actor born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Keenan, who heard Quesada speak at the Estaban Theater, Matanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement. But I have rarely witnessed such a scene as that of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Marti." In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, written from Washington, D. C., Senor Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—Gonzalo De Quesada.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR COW OWNERS

The mechanical Cream Separator has become a vital feature of every home dairy just as of every butter factory. Its use means much more and much better cream and butter, no waste of water, ice, time and roots.

The difference in results is not small but big. Few cows now pay without a separator. Dairying is the most profitable kind of farming with one exception, and that is the creamery business of the world, now made with De Laval machines, and there are, over 500,000 farm separators.

Wayne Merchants Are Getting Rich...

We frequently hear customers make the above remark. A great many farmers seem to think that Wayne merchants live in luxury and are rolling in wealth, and for that reason send to Montgomery Ward & Co. and to Sears & Roebuck for things they want. Let us inquire into this matter and see if Wayne merchants are really getting wealthy. We have about thirty-seven merchants in Wayne and about twenty-nine of them are renters and a majority of them live in homes that they rent. That don't look to us like Wayne merchants were getting rich very fast. Does it to you? Montgomery Ward is a millionaire many times over and yet some people will send their money to them. If all the people did buy what they needed of Wayne merchants we would soon see them build new store buildings and own them. We are glad to say that our trade is very satisfactory and we own the building that we do business in, and expect to build a better one if our trade keeps increasing as it has. If you will call at this store and investigate what we have you will be satisfied to trade here and our prices will satisfy you better than if you trade elsewhere. Our stock at present is so large that you can find anything you want and the class of clothing we sell always gives satisfaction. You will make a mistake to send away for anything in our line before you have looked here. Come in and let us show you that we can please you, and satisfy you in price and quality.

The recent rains insure the dandelion crop in such abundance that no corn-fed, bandy-legged monopolist can corner the market and prevent the masses from luxuriating on greens. There is no longer any doubt about the dandelion crop.

Those fortunate enough to be present at the Easter services Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church enjoyed a treat in hearing the solo by Miss Edna Bush. Her voice is one of great range, power and sweetness and we predict a brilliant future for the little lady in a musical line.

The Northwestern is threatening to build a lot of new road in Nebraska in retaliation for the Great Northern's Sioux City-Ashland extension. The Northwestern looks on this move of the Great Northern as an invasion of its territory and proposes to play even by getting into Burlington territory.

The Easter services Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church were very nice and seemed to be heartily appreciated by all present. Frank Gamble's boy choir was a very pleasing feature of the services and the desire is expressed by many that he will keep up this feature in the regular evening services.

George Springer had an experience with a lawn mower Tuesday that cost him the end of the third finger of his left hand. George had the knives of the mower in a lathe and was running them at a pretty lively rate sharpening them when by some means or other he got the hand too close and had the end of the finger completely clipped off.

A special train passed over this line Tuesday afternoon bearing a Mr. Farren of Chicago, who had been summoned to the bedside of his sick sister, Mrs. Fred Hodson, at her home west of Winside. Judging from the new subscribers being constantly added to the HERALD's list, the paper must be appreciated. It is certain the management appreciates the favor with which the paper seems to be meeting and we will not spare any effort to make it better as time goes on. Don't be haphazard about imparting to us any news that you may know, because we need your assistance. Nearly every part of the country tributary to Wayne is covered by rural telephones and is free to call us up at any time and tell us the happenings.

It is likely that a fine stock show will be held in connection with the speed meeting at this point in September. It will be done if the business men and those interested can be persuaded to put up sufficient money to insure its success. It requires money to make such things go and the people having this matter in charge are not going into it unless they are backed up properly and they do not propose to be beggars either. It must be a matter in which all feel they have an interest or else it will not be undertaken. It is up to you to say whether there shall be a fine stock show or not.

Wright vs. Barley was the title of a case in Judge Hunter's court on Monday. The litigation grew out of the moving of the house that Barley purchased of Dr. Williams and hired Wright to move onto a lot up on the hill. Wright claimed that Barley had not paid in full the contract prices for the moving and Barley set up as a counter claim damages to the house, hence the lawsuit in which the jury decided that Wright was entitled to his pay for moving and accordingly awarded him a verdict for balance due.

Just a little over a week ago the all knowing fellows were of the opinion this was going to be a dry year and one of short crops, but a change has come over the spirit of their dreams. The rains have been falling pretty plentifully for a week and now these same fellows are ready to get boats and provide against a Noah emergency; they see ahead a season of floods, of drowned crops, of untold suffering among the masses. It is difficult to get things just right to suit some people, but what do you suppose it would be like if they had the running of things?

Wayne has a lot of old board walks that can't be put out of business too soon. Main street between third and four streets has a stretch of walk that is not only a disgrace to the town but an absolute menace to life and limb and the city is liable to be up against damage suits at any time and in many parts of the residence portion there are dangerous walks. Pride in our city ought to be sufficient incentive for the property owners to put in good walks, but it seems is not and that only drastic measures by the authorities will make some people do their plain duty. Let us get rid of the dangerous old walks during this season and thus beautify and add value to the property of the careless owners.

Tuesday was quite a cattle day on this part of the Omaha system. The good prices prevailing brought down a number of carloads from the branch and several went out from here. Among the shippers were Rick Lanman, four cars of mixed stuff, Perry, Lund, Gilderleeve & Co., two loads of fat cows they purchased of Charley Welch at five cents per pound and shipped to Omaha and two cars of steers bought of Wallace Bros., for which they paid $6.30 per hundred and which averaged 1615, that went to Chicago and Henry Kloppling also shipped a load of good steers to the latter market. It has been said there were not many cattle on feed and in fact the number is much less than usual, but it is surprising the numbers that good prices bring to the markets.

Sibley, Mo., April 24.—Special: "Walter Yaryan, manager of the Harris Grain company, is missing, and from all prospects will not return. Last Thursday evening with the expressed intention of going to Sheldon on business, he left the keys to the elevator and to the Harris gas lighting plant with Geo. Marsh, who was to have temporary charge. At Sheldon he wrote back to Mr. Marsh stating that he would return, and asking that the keys be turned to his wife. No trace of him is ascribed for his sudden departure.

It is not known that he had any domestic difficulty and it is believed that his accounts with the elevator company are straight. Mrs. Yaryan is in delicate health and is left with the care of a small child. She has sold the household goods and will leave immediately for the home of her mother in Nebraska." The above is taken from the Sioux City Journal and evidently refers to a former Carroll boy.

The extension of the Great Northern from Sioux City, Iowa, to Ashland, Neb., has finally been determined on and surveyors, right of way men and other preliminary workers are going over the ground between the two places getting everything in readiness for the grading and construction gangs. The contract for grading has been let and it looks as though nothing is now in the way to prevent the joining of the Great Northern and Burlington by the proposed connecting link. Lincoln, Nebraska and Sioux City, Iowa, are both anticipating booms in consequence of the building of this line. Lincoln expects to become the real headquarters of the extension when completed and figures that as such she will have several hundred men added to the pay rolls of the company in that city. Various towns along the proposed route are pricking up their ears and expect to be largely benefited by being on this north and south line. New towns will spring up along the line and some of these are destined to be good ones because the road will pass through one of the most fertile and thickly settled portions of the state of Nebraska and will doubtless become quite a beneficial factor to the country adjacent.

Kearney is to have a summer session of its new normal school. Superintendent of Public Instruction McBrien announced Tuesday morning that the arrangements for the term were about completed and that the school probably would be opened June 13. The state board of education will meet in the office of the state superintendent May 5, in another effort to elect a principal and select the faculty of the new school and when the principal and the professors are engaged they will go to Kearney to prepare for the term. The city of Kearney has provided the Longfellow and Whittier public school building for the use of the normal during the summer term and communications now being received from school teachers residing in western Nebraska indicate an enrollment of at least five hundred teachers at the opening of the term. The contractors on the new building announce that it will be ready for dedication before the summer term closes and may be occupied at the beginning of the fall term. Superintendent McBrien also announced that there would be next three junior normals during the next summer, one at Alliance, one at Valentine and one at McCook. He therefore recommended the opening of the new school at Kearney in June instead of September, and the board took action accordingly.—Lincoln Star.

Talking of breeders of improved stock we are reminded that within the last few years this county has increased in the number of men engaging in this business at a wonderful rate. At present writing we can think of the following who have accumulated fair sized herds: George Von Seggern, down on the south side of the county with his herd of scores of the best Herforders to be found anywhere; L. S. Medham of Winside, with as good a lot of Short-horns as one could wish for; Frank Hopper, just southeast of Carroll is another with a good lot of them; Grif Garwood, north of Carroll, is building up a herd of these animals and Spencer Jones, west of Carroll, is another that has established a herd of which he is justly proud and then there is the Ulrich Bros., west of Winside, who have a number of grand individuals of this popular breed, to say nothing of the big herds of A. B. Clark, Wm. Lesman and E. P. Peterson, breeders well known all over north Nebraska. The Aberdeen-Angus are represented by the mammoth herd of the Bronna stock farm owned by the Moses and Charley Schroeder north of Wayne; M. S. Moats of Sholes and possibly others we do not now recall are breeding this great tribe of excellent beef animals. Levi Diltz of Wakefield is another lover and breeder of the white faced fellows and Charley Heikes has a goodly number of pure bred Shorthorns. There may be and doubtless are others in the county who are breeding the pure bred cattle. The Poland-China hogs are bred by so many that it would be next to impossible to reel off a list of the breeders without greater investigation than we have given the matter. The red or Dorset-Jerseys have as their principal champions James Hurst, M. S. Moats and Ed. Pritchard, but these are not by any means the only men engaged in the business. A few years ago pure bred sires of either cattle or hogs were not plenty among our breeders. Today no man pretending to be abreast of the times will use anything but the pure bred and in dozens of instances must have dam as well as sire and the result is that Wayne county is becoming noted for the excellence of its flocks and herds and may the good work go on until there will be no place for anything but the pure bred.

Earl Fairbanks and Bert Luke, who are charged with arson as a result of evidence connecting them with the burning of several buildings in Norfolk lately, have been bound over to the district court of Madison county with bonds fixed at $600 each.

A fellow by the name of Gaugher gave some free exhibitions on the streets Friday and Saturday of the mind readers' ability to make drives about the streets, finding hidden articles while blind-folded and in the evenings gave entertainments at the opera house where an admission fee was charged.

Rollie Ley was Wayne's sole representative at the Northeast Nebraska Banker's Association at Laurel, on last Friday. Wonder if these associations, like many others, do not grow a little bit stale to the average banker. It is fair to presume that they are not different from others and are in the main given up to the exploitation, in the words only, of the fleeting ideas of the "talky" members and to the hardheaded practical fellows a little of that kind of stuff goes a good way.

The school board held a meeting Monday evening and elected as superintendent Mr. Wilson, who is at present superintendent of the Ponca schools. The corps of teachers were re-elected except Miss Green and Miss Ringer, both of whom had handed their resignations to the board sometime ago. It is expected that a man will be chosen as principal to succeed Miss Green and also the successor of Miss Ringer will be elected at a future meeting.

The different churches observed Easter Sunday with special programs in which the young folks took conspicuous parts. The services were appropriate to the occasion and largely attended notwithstanding the threatening weather. The frowning clouds did not prevent winter head gear from being shaved and the introduction into society of new hats or bonnets, more or less gorgeous and attractive. Thus, with fitting services and new millinery, Easter was duly remembered in Wayne.

The following was handed us by a friend and we think it worthy of reproduction in print, as the copy was handed a printer in a neighboring town for all auction sale bills: "Where I had my farm to sell as I want to want out west I makes offer to sell a load of corn, oats and several tons of other stuff to previous to mention. Also you pull beef, fresh milk cows, sows and hogs, a big fat sow and pigs by me, J. Smear, one hav mile south of John Smith's hay stack on order side of road. Derna, gash if you hav him, if not, notes signed by somebody."—Southwest Iowa.

The following special to Monday's Norfolk News from Stanton gives details of a fatal accident which occurred near there Sunday: Carl Hans, aged nineteen, and Joe Emerich, still younger, started out hunting yesterday forenoon along the Elkhorn river. At about 9:30, while they were in Appelby's pasture, Emerich's shotgun was accidentally discharged, the entire load striking Hans, who was about ten feet distant, in the calf of the leg. The leg was bound up and Dr. William Ferren, was summoned. On his arrival the injured boy was removed to the Hans home. The wound was at first not regarded as fatal, but notwithstanding the efforts of attending physicians, Drs. Ferren and Peters, it resulted in the death of the injured boy at noon.

The habit some persons have of "butting in" is a very disagreeable and obnoxious one. This is especially true in the case of party telephone lines. Some of the rural lines have so many of this class of people on them that it is next to impossible to get anything like satisfactory service. It is supposed that the persons of ordinary intelligence are able to distinguish their own ring from that of someone else on the line and when a ring is given that is not their own there is no earthly necessity for the jerking down of the receivers along the line and thus by "butting in" not only make it impossible to talk with the person called but at the same time making themselves an almost intolerable nuisance. If these "batters in" would have the delicacy to remember the golden rule and keep their "hooks" off the receivers when not called they would increase the respect of their neighbors for them in a marked degree.

CATARRAL TROUBLES PREVALENT.
Spring Months Cause Sickness, Breathe Hyomei, and be Cured of Catarrh.

Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than at any other time of the year. The sudden changes that come during the spring months are productive of many cases of catarrh that without proper treatment will become chronic.

The pleasantest, most convenient and only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh, is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day.

No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the system when Hyomei is used. Breathed through the inhaler, the balsamic fragrance of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane, and gives complete and permanent cure.

Thousands of testimonials have been given as to the astonishing cures made by this remedy. J. S. Nugent, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Company writes: "Hyomei has completely cured my daughter of catarrh, from which she has been a sufferer for years."

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and as the inhaler will last a life time and there is sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment, it is the most economical catarrhal remedy known. Extra bottles can be procured for fifty cents. Ask E. J. Raymond to show you the strong guarantee under which he sells Hyomei.
