GEYSERS, CANYONS AND PEAKS

Diary of a Six Days' Trip Through America's Land of Never Ending Scenes of Beauty and Wonder.

(May L. Cunningham)

Saturday, Aug. 14, 1904.

We left camp Geyser at seven and started on our way to the Yellowstone lake. Our ride through the woods was fine. The pines smelled grand and flowers of every variety bloomed everywhere. The first thing we viewed today was "Kepler Cascades." These cascades are falls dropping in a series of five falls, 160 feet in height and fall from the Madison river. These fall from the center of a beautiful canyon on either side of which are lovely pine trees. I have come down to the beach of the Yellowstone lake to finish my diary of today and to say it is beautiful does not express it in the slightest. The lake is as blue as the sky and smooth as glass. Oh! this beautiful wilderness is beyond our comprehension and we can't ever imagine in our wildest dreaming anything about it until we have seen it all. The lake is surrounded by beautiful mountains snowcapped. Well I am wandering. I will return. From Kepler cascades we rode along a lovely creek and kept climbing up and up till we came to "The Continental Divide" and the altitude is 8439 feet in this place. We still passed through lovely woods and just on the other side of the divide, in the distance we could see the Shoshone Lakes and beyond them sixty miles in the distance were seen the Teton mountains snowcapped and standing up behind the lakes like tall sentinels, but I am getting ahead of my story. Just before we came to the divide we saw the "Twin Lakes" and one lake is on the Atlantic slope and one on the Pacific slope. We arrived at the Lake Thumb Camp and had dinner. Just as dinner was over, the steamer whistled and we started for the boat and got on. Our ride into camp for about fifty-five miles on the lake was grand. We could see Mt. Sheridan in the distance 11,000 feet high and Laddie Mountain. We landed upon an island and saw the elk and buffalo. We finally arrived at Lake Camp and I am seeing the grandeur of it all here in the sunset.

Later—I have just had a lovely boat-ride on the lake and when I thought I was just one and a half miles above New York City it seemed very strange. Our party are becoming better acquainted every day and we will hate to say farewell. It is nine o'clock and we all go to bed early so as to get an early start. I only wish I could write better so as to describe it more perfectly but it is impossible to tell it all.

Sunday, Aug. 14, 1904.

We arose at six and by seven we had left our pretty Lake Camp and were started on our way to what we were told was the grand climax. We followed the lake until we came to its outlet which is the Yellowstone river! Here and there the river was dotted with pelicans fishing for trout and we saw a great number of sea gulls flying over the river. We made our first stop at Mud Geyser, which is a huge crater with boiling mud dashing out of three or four caverns. In 1888 this geyser erupted and the mud was thrown so high as to cover the pine trees standing near with a coating of mud. For a few miles after we left the Mud Geyser our ride was over a rather barren looking strip of ground. We were told by our driver to keep a sharp lookout for elk and sure enough in a few moments we saw a number feeding on a side hill. As we were riding along a very strong smell of sulphur filled the air and in a few moments we were in sight of Sulphur mountain. The thick sulphur is seen oozing out of the mountain in a number of different places. At the foot of the mountain is a geyser whose center is formed of solid yellow sulphur hard and shining. We then followed the river along in its course and finally came to the Upper Falls of the Yellowstone, which are 164 feet high and falling in a glorious spray. I cannot describe it at all as it should be. The rocks in the canyon on either side were in a hundred different colors and in all shapes. Our first stop was at Inspiration Point and we looked down from a height of 100 feet. On either side and below us the rocks were of rainbow colors and on a point below we could see an eagle's nest with the young one's perched on it. To the left of us there was added to the beautiful color of the rocks, the green of the pines. At the foot of the canyon the river winds along in a changeable ribbon of turquoise and white. From Lookout Point we could see the Lower Falls of the Yellowstone, which fall 360 feet, and look from this point to be green and white. We climbed into our coach and rode to a place where we could look down on what is called Castle Ruins. These are cliffs of pure white, pink, green and blue and their shape is that of the ruins of a grand old castle such as the Gods of all things beautiful might have lived in or the palace of Apollo. One young lady of our party expressed the scene as it appeared to her, beautifully. It was thus: "This might be a fit judgment hall and grand enough for all the nations." From Lookout Point we had another beautiful view of the canyon and saw what is known as Red Rock, standing alone. This rock is of a bright magenta color and has green pines growing on its sides. Then we came up to camp for dinner and after dinner started out on foot for another look at this wonderful place. We climbed around on a trail and went out on a platform just above the Lower Falls and I simply cannot express my feelings or the beauty of the scene. The mist formed a beautiful rainbow and threw its different colored lights on the rocks beyond. I never expect to see so many beautiful and wonderful things all in a week or even in my life again. As I write I can hear the roar of the falls and it seems a pity to have to leave such a beautiful place. This is truly the climax of the whole trip.

Later—Two bears have just come down to the garbage pile and one of them has chased the other up a tree and they are having quite a fight.

Monday, Aug. 15, 1904.

We left the Canyon Camp at 7:30 this morning, coming by the way of the Virginia Creek and the first thing we saw were the Virgin Cascades, which fall from a height of about eighty feet in beautiful spray and foam. From here we went straight to Norris Basin and here we doubled the distance again to Willow Camp. We started from Willow Camp after dinner and arrived in Gardiner at 5 o'clock and from there at 7:15 to Livingston. So ended the trip. Every inch of it enjoyable and pleasant. It was hard to say goodbye to our friends of the Park and we all hope to meet again sometime.

An interesting discussion is now running in the columns of the Homestead relating to the type of horse that is best adapted to farm labor in the corn belt. The editor of the Homestead has taken the position that the horse weighing from 1,450 to 1,700 pounds is not only the most profitable to raise for the market, but that an animal of this weight, if the quality is right, is much more useful on heavy farm implements than the light-weights. The expression of this opinion has stirred up some of the advocates of the lighter breeds, and one subscriber goes so far as to say that he can do more ground with four 1,200 pound standard horses than can be done by a similar number of drafters. He points out that the standard horse has more snap and that he will do his work with a greater degree of ease than the heavy-weights. Some interesting arguments are put forth on both sides of this question, and the matter is not ended yet. We would like to here repeat that subscriptions for the Homestead are taken at this office, and we shall be pleased to do our part towards swelling the number of homestead subscribers in this community.

FAULT OF CUPID

Too Much Love Brings Trouble.

FRANK MCGUIRE THE VICTIM

Breaks into the Residence of S. C. Bressler and Has a Complaint Lodged Against Him in the County Court.

Monday S. C. Bressler of Leslie precinct swore out an information in Judge Hunter's court against Frank McGuire of the same precinct charging McGuire with breaking and entering a house in the day time and committing an assault. This trouble has been brewing for some time and is the direct result of a love affair in which McGuire and a daughter of Bressler are the principal actors. For quite a while McGuire has been an ardent and at times a somewhat injudicious admirer of the young lady and has pressed his suit with uncommon vigor at all times. Last winter the young lady in question was a student at the college in this city and McGuire became so active in his campaign that it was found necessary to use repressive measures in order to cool the ardor of the young man and while no formal complaint at that time was lodged yet the good offices of the sheriff were brought into requisition and that goodly officer gave the young man some advice that for a time was supposed to have put a quietus on his wooing but it seems it was only temporary. On last Sunday Mr. Bressler says he and his wife went to church and while there he observed McGuire driving toward the Bressler home and fearing that matters were going to assume a strenuous shape Bressler got into his buggy and followed and when he arrived at his home found the young man had kicked in the outer door that he found locked and was busy trying to effect an entrance into a room to which the young lady had fled and locked the door. The father rushed the lover and with the butt of a carriage whip proceeded to drive the intruder from his domicile and after giving him a blow over the head, the lover and he looked in sweet embraces and were parted by the ladies of the household before serious damage resulted and the lover was sent on his way without obtaining his sweet one. The father says the advances of McGuire are not looked upon with favor by his daughter and McGuire on the other hand claims she does reciprocate his love and that parental interference is responsible for the present state of affairs. McGuire is twenty-six years of age and the lady in the case is just a little over eighteen.

Mrs. T. W. Moran was a Sioux City visitor Thursday.

See A. B. Clark if you want a pure bred Short horn bull. He has the right kind.

Rev. F. E. Lodge will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

Gougher, the hypnotist, is reported to have gouged the people of Fullerton Monday night.

E. W. Huse, of the HERALD force, was doing business in Ponca Friday and Saturday of last week.

Allen is without a hotel. The only one in the town closed up a few days ago for want of proper support.

Rev. F. E. Hudson, field secretary of the Grand Island college, will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

R. H. James, a few days ago, sold the quarter section of land belonging to J. D. King four miles south of town to Chris Sydo for $60 per acre.

Mrs. J. G. Mines handsomely entertained the members of the Acme club and a few invited guests at a four course dinner Tuesday afternoon.

Last Thursday Father Haley, Eugene Leahy and Hugh O'Connell accompanied Robert Ahern to St. Joseph's hospital at Sioux City where the latter went for medical treatment.

John Ahern was in town the latter part of the week. He was taken to the hospital, where he is in a Sioux City hospital as the result of an accident is not seriously injured and will soon be all right.

They keep coming one after the other to have their names enrolled on our subscription list and the beauty of it is that they pay for the paper because they believe they are getting their money's worth.

Mrs. G. P. McLaughlin of Omaha, speaks at the M. E. church in Wayne Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. Theo. J. Wright, goes to Winslow to preach a baccalaureate sermon, but will conduct services here in the evening.

Mr. U. P. Hill and Mrs. L. S. Blankinship of Randolph, visited Mrs. Grant S. Mears here between trains Saturday forenoon. The ladies were on their way home from Fremont where they had attended a meeting of the federation of clubs.

The junior class of the high school entertains the graduating class at the home of F. M. Northrup on Friday evening. We are not informed as to just what the nature of the entertainment will be, but understand that a banquet will be one of the features.

Mrs. Geo. Damon last Thursday evening gave a goodly number of ladies present and during the evening they presented Mrs. Damon with a neat testimonial of their love and respect in the shape of two solid silver spoons.

Rev. E. B. Young went to York Friday to attend a state Sunday school convention. York is Tim Sedgewick's town and is an historic town for many years not always without a saloon. Tim is the editor and proprietor of the York Times and is one of the fellows who is able to point to the fact that a good town can be built and maintained without a saloon as a part of its business institutions.

Robt. Mellor and daughter, Mary, spent some of the day with Geo. Mellor the first of the week. Robt. is the owner of nearly 5,000 acres of land, all under cultivation. He has nearly six sections in one body and for a distance of four miles of fencing. He owns all the land on one side of the road. Southwest Iowa (Malvern, Iowa). The above undoubtedly refers to our "Bob" and his holdings in this county.

Sam Barley, the carpenter, is laid up with a badly sprained foot and ankle as the result of a fall from a scaffold. It appears that Sam was at work on the new house on Monday when one of the boards of the scaffold on which he was working broke and threw him to the ground severely spraining one of his ankles. Mr. Barley will doubtless be confined to the house for sometime in consequence of the mishap.

Father Haley will on the evening of May 25, at 8 p. m., deliver an illustrated lecture on the immoderate use of alcoholic liquors. This lecture will be a treat to our people and ought to be very largely attended. It is a subject which has made an extensive study of the subject on which he proposes to talk. The admission charges will be low enough to allow everyone at all interested in the subject to attend.

E. E. Driskell, of Wakefield, Nebraska, brought in on Monday four loads of steers from his farm at Wakefield, Iowa. Of these, forty-three head, including two stags, averaged 1,445 lbs. and sold at $6.50, while the remaining twenty head, including two stags and one heifer, averaged 1,183 lbs. and went at $6.10. Mr. Driskell was well pleased with the price obtained and remarked that these cattle made him plenty of money.—Chicago Stock Journal.

C. H. Frink is another carpenter suffering from a fall from a scaffold. On last Friday while putting cornish on his new house in the northwest part of town he and another carpenter were on a scaffold and Frink was standing on the extreme outside end of one of the scaffolding boards and the other workman on the other end. The latter stepped off the board when Frink's weight caused the board to tip and let him fall to the ground badly injuring his back and chest.

Alex Laurie, living a mile north of Carroll, bought a good Cornish topped bull at the Sioux City sale on last Thursday. This animal will be placed at the head of his herd in which he has about twenty females of the very best families of American and Scotch-bred Short horns. Mr. Laurie is one of Wayne county's progressive farmers who has within the past four years entered the list of pure-bred cattle men and has wisely adopted the reds and whites on which to bestow his care and attention.

John Kate says that the best chickens raised in the county are to be found about Carroll. We should conclude that this ought to be so from the price paid by several of our chicken raisers for settings of eggs. Mr. Dan Shannon has received several shipments that cost $2 for a setting of thirteen eggs, which express the eggs cost over 40 cents each. But a high grade fowl is the result and proves the most profitable in the end.—Carroll Index. The old hen will soon be trotting in the same class with Standard oil.

C. E. Thompson, the horse buyer, and Jack Winger, noted an experience with a runaway team Tuesday that Thompson is not likely to soon forget. The two gentlemen were driving one of Bonawitz's lively teams that are pretty hard pullers on the bit and while going down a grade near Adam Green's, north of town, one of the lines broke and a first class runaway was on immediately. Winger jumped and escaped without serious injury but Charley's jump was not so fortunate and he broke one of the bones of his neck. The team which he is suffering greatly. The proper surgical attendance was rendered by Dr. Leisenring and we understand Mr. Thompson is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

As a country grows and its population increases, not only the cities but the living become congested by over population but its cemeteries are filled until it becomes necessary to extend their limits. Wayne has within the past year found it necessary to add ten additional acres to its cemetery on the west side of the city. In conversation with John L. Davis, the sexton, we learned that the occupants of this city numbered 594. The first person was interred in this cemetery sometime in the winter of '82 and '83 and it was not until a few days ago in conversation with John L. Davis, the sexton, we learned that the occupants of this city numbered 594. The first person was interred in this cemetery sometime in the winter of '82 and '83 and it was not until a few days ago in conversation with John L. Davis, the sexton, we learned that the occupants of this city numbered 594.

Sometime ago the city council ordered Logan street, the first east of Main street, opened from Second street down across the railroad tracks to an intersection with the street leading from Main street to the fair grounds. It has been generally supposed that at time of laying out the original town of Wayne a street had been surveyed and platted as above but the council now claims that such is not the case and that the street only runs to the railroad right-of-way and there stops. If this is true the expense of putting a street through as indicated would be pretty heavy as doubtless the railroad company would claim pretty heavy damages. There is no room for doubt as to the necessity for the opening of this street, but the question of expense must be one of the factors in determining the feasibility of making this street. The council will be obliged to have all cattle that go north of town driven to or from the stock yards through Main street and by so doing constitute a menace to both life and property, but it is often easier to give the money than to give the remedy and this is a case in point.

Columbus Manson returned Friday from a trip to Sully county, S. D. He reports an immense rainfall from Hewarden west to the Missouri river and says he never saw a greater amount of water fall than during his three days' stay in the state. The ground is saturated and low places are filled with water. He reports the small grain as looking exceedingly good and that hundreds of buyers are traveling over the state and buying the lands at considerable above the figures prevailing six months ago. History is simply repeating itself. South Dakota has splendid soil and like Iowa and Nebraska is getting a class of settlers that are making it bloom like a rose and the days of cheap land in the country east of the Missouri river in that state are fast passing. It will at farthest be but a few years until the prices that now prevail in western Iowa and eastern Nebraska will be the standard of South Dakota. The new conditions are being and maligning by the majority of the early homestead settlers of the state, who too often were not practical farmers or who failed to adapt themselves to the new conditions, circumstances and consequently failed, and then they went back to their old eastern homes cursing the country. Today the state has thousands upon thousands of men who have made marvelous success in cultivating the rich soil. The number of these successful ones are being added to so rapidly as to completely confound the pessimists.

So It Is

You may get clothing that looks as good as our clothing and has every appearance of being as good and lasting as well, but when you put it to the test you find out you have been mistaken. When you buy clothing here you know you have the best made. We are trying to impress this on your mind so that you will not be kicking yourself in the future because you bought clothing that looked as good as ours. It won't cost you anything to come and look at our clothing, anyway, and let us show what it is. All we can do is to give you the invitation, then it's up to you whether you profit by it or not. We give you a dollar if you rip a pair of Dutchess Trousers. We give you ten cents for every suspender button that comes off. No other merchant in Wayne will do that. We give you a written guarantee with every good suit that if it don't give satisfaction you will get another suit. No other merchant in Wayne will do that. We will give you another hat for every Hawes hat you buy here that don't give satisfaction. Who else will do that much for you in Wayne? Our shoes are the same kind we have sold for twenty-seven years and every pair is warranted. We know they are the best, or we would not have sold them so long. Don't deceive yourself by buying any clothing that other merchants say is just as good as you can buy here. You can't make a mistake if you trade here.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Self-government is gradually developing in the Philippines. In 1902 Congress passed a law which provided that a census of the population of the islands should be taken, and that within two years after the completion of the census a representative popular assembly should be elected. The census was completed on March 27th of the present year, and on that date the Governor of the islands issued a proclamation fixing March 22nd as the date for the election of the assembly. The Legislature to be chosen is to consist of 30 members, 10 from each of the three principal islands. The Philippine Commission has already appointed 10 members to represent them in Washington. It is expected that these representatives will be allowed to sit in the American Congress much as Congressional delegates now have seats there.

Events are continuing to hold an important place in international discussion. The despatch of Germany, as stated in a memorandum to the United States, is for the maintenance of the "open door" in Morocco, of the preservation of the status quo, and for the protection of the commercial interests of all trading nations. It is pointed out, however, on the other hand, that the Anglo-French agreement of April, 1904, expressly declared for the principle of commercial freedom. April 26th, King Edward, on his way to join Queen Alexandra at Marseilles, paid a brief visit to President Loubet at Paris, and the incident, following so soon upon the call of Emperor William at Danzig, was interpreted by the French press as a confirmation of the Anglo-French agreement.

In the Sunday schools of the United States there are fewer pupils by about five millions than the number enrolled in the public schools. Putting the fact in another form, of every three girls and boys who attend the day schools, only two go to Sunday school. It would be a delicate task to apportion the responsibility for this state of affairs; but it is fair to suggest that when children stay away from the public schools their parents are held responsible.

The annual report of the Philippine Commission shows improved conditions in the islands, as to tranquility and the disappearance of bandits, or other bands, except in certain mountainous and sparsely settled districts. Samar, Mindanao and Jolo. The enrollment in the public schools has increased during the year from 182,000 to 200,000.

At the beginning of the new year, administration for the second time in succession there is no change of party control, whereas from Garfield's inauguration to McKinley's there was very little an alternation from party to party, which made the retiring President seem almost like a captive chief facing the triumph of a conqueror.

CHICAGO'S SUBWAYS.

The strange, bustling Chicago has no idea of the immense amount of traffic that is being carried on beneath its feet. As a matter of fact, that enterprising western metropolis has developed a vast underground system so quickly that many of her own residents are unaware of its great extent. This compares quite favorably with New York's method of surface-way construction where the people literally "blunder" in the work by falling down the gaping chasms in the streets being operated upon or else were made aware of it by dramatic and noisy messages from the building blocks. Without noise, dirt, smoke or the slightest delay in traffic, the central business district of Chicago has been completely underlaid with these tunnels. Twenty-six miles already have been laid out, and extensions are being planned.

The principal street, which is now almost completely underlaid with these tunnels, has been built far below the surface, so that the business blocks are pulling down upon them, and are taking thousands of tons of load into the earth. This is done by means of a concrete structure, which is built in the shape of a tunnel, and is supported by a series of pillars. The pillars are built in the shape of a tunnel, and are supported by a series of pillars. The pillars are built in the shape of a tunnel, and are supported by a series of pillars.

When the new schemes are perfected and added to the present pneumatic tube service for first-class mail, Chicago will have the most perfect underground mail facilities in the world. Through the tunnels 500 tons of mail will be handled daily, in special locked United States cars. The system will be in operation by June 1st.

THE RUSSIAN BALTIC FLEET.

WAR DURING THE WEEK

No Important Developments in the Naval Game. The week's developments in the naval game in the China Sea make it clear that Vice Admiral Rogojewsky will not undertake to give battle to Admiral Togo, or to make a dash for a safe harbor at Vladivostok until his fleet has been re-enforced by Rear Admiral Nebogotzki's division.

Rogojewsky left the shelter of the French harbor at Kamranh Bay just in time to prevent the neutrality crisis between Japan and France from assuming a critical stage. Apparently he anchored just outside the three-mile limit for French dispatches from Kamranh Bay said he would not leave the Anam coast until he was joined by Nebogotzki's ships.

Consequently the waters have been busy with rumors concerning Nebogotzki's collection of antiquities, which is to be re-enforced by Rogojewsky. This squadron may have reached the China Sea without having been observed by reliable witnesses, but that does not seem probable.

Rogojewsky has now been three weeks in the China Sea, a time long enough, it would seem, to satisfy him that Togo has no intention of leaving the neighborhood of the Japanese naval bases to attack him. Admiral Togo is still keeping his feet well away from the trade routes. Otherwise his vessels would have been reported long before this.

In addition to the many ports which have been closed by the Japanese to commerce, the whole of the island of Formosa has now been proclaimed to be under martial law. It might be inferred from this that Togo was in waiting in Formosa waters, but such an inference would be rash. Only the event will show where Togo elects to meet Rogojewsky's when Rogojewsky elects to proceed on his course.

No one knows where Togo's feet is but Togo. There is, however, a quiet note of confidence in all Tokio dispatches, which indicates clearly that in Japan, at least, there is no anxiety for the outcome of the naval combat when it does take place.

The neutrality question seems to have settled itself. Probably if the truth were known the Tokio stationers were not nearly so angry with France as the Japanese newspapers represent. And, doubtless, France received nothing that could by any stretch of diplomatic usage be called a "protest" or a "demand for an explanation."

DOZENS DIE IN WARSAW.

THOUSANDS PERISHED.

Many Also Wounded in Clashes Between Troops and Workmen. The recent earthquakes in India have been much more disastrous than at first supposed. Instead of a few hundred having been killed, the number of fatalities reaches 15,000, with the prospect that hundreds, perhaps thousands, more may have perished.

The affected area is 700 square miles in extent, with a population running up in the millions and thickly dotted with towns and villages. In this area nearly every building was damaged and many were entirely destroyed and their occupants with them.

The town of Dharmatala was practically annihilated and nearly 500 Gurkha soldiers perished in the ruins of their barracks. Several Europeans also perished. At Mussorie much damage was done to buildings and many persons were killed or injured.

At Simla, which is the summer home of Lord and Lady Curzon, the latter in Antwerp, the damage wrought by the earthquakes was confined chiefly to property. Lady Curzon had a narrow escape, a tall chimney crashing down upon her.

Easter Sunday in Russia brought a respite from the Emperor of far greater importance than the absence of disorder, a rescript granting religious freedom throughout the empire. The Ukase will benefit 30,000,000 believers in the old faith, 40,000,000 non-conformists, and about 12,000,000 of alien faith, including Roman Catholics, Lutherans, Protestants, Mohammedans and Buddhists.

Logically the Ukase involves a complete reversal of Russian policy of seeking national unity in conquered provinces by compelling religious unity.

Told in a Few Lines. The Loreto cotton factory, near Mexico City, burned. Loss $200,000, fully insured. A law was passed by the New York Legislature forbidding profanity in telephone conversations. The Susquehanna planing mills, in Williamsport, Pa., operated by George B. Brown, were destroyed by fire. Loss $50,000.

SEEKING HAPPINESS.

I followed far o'er heath and desert land
The fairy gleaming of a distant light;
A shining lure, that beckoned as a hand,
And with fair promise pierced the hostile night.

O'er rugged stones, and marshes, and slimy clay,
And clinging tangles of the thorny briar;
But still the dancing light shone far away,
And at my feet lay stagnant waste and mire.

Wearily I paused, and, turning in the track,
Glimped where the lone, bleak, barren hills declined,
And lo! the wizard the trailing, ragged wreck,
The whitest beacon glimmered far behind.

The Czar's Messenger

THE thing that caused me to first promotion," said Colonel B... of the Sovereign's Russian Infantry, as we sat in the balcony of the little posthouse at Tchernoz, in one of the driest parts of Central Asia, watching the red glow of the sunset fading over the broad, shining curves of the Syr-Daria and the great plain beyond, "was rather a queer affair altogether."

"It was certainly one of those things which are a good deal pleasanter to talk about afterwards than to go through at the time, and I don't much think that I should care to try it again, anyhow."

"This was how it happened: When I first came out here the Khokandese still held all the country that we Russians have taken since, and it would have been no easy matter to get even as far as this."

"As for the country on the other side of the river, we knew no more about it than if it had been in the moon."

"Now this tract beyond the river (which belonged to the Amoor of Bokhara in those days), was just the very place that our colonel, Tchernoz, particularly wanted to know about."

"We were pretty certain to have to invade Bokhara sooner or later, and it was especially important to know if we should find any water or forage on the way, and what sort of country we should have to cross."

"So, when I got down here with one of our flying columns, which was making a raid through the Khokandese territory to give the 'coffee-faces' a lesson, I thought 'myself that it might be long enough before I was so close to the border again, and that, as I knew the native language pretty well and wasn't afraid of a rough ride, I'd just go over into Bokhara and see what it was like.'

"Didn't the old colonel look pleased when I volunteered? And I hadn't to ask twice for leave to go."

"I don't think you'll ever come back, my boy," said he; "but if you do, you shall see that I know how to reward good service."

"With this consolation I set off, accompanied only by two Cossacks."

"I remember well how queer I felt when I stood for the first time on the opposite bank of the river and looked back at the camp-fires of our soldiers and then forward at the great wide waste of desert, but the bright sun shone kept my spirits up—it's wonderful what a difference it makes sometimes, whether the day is fine or gloomy—and away I went, merrily enough."

"As for my two Cossacks, they looked as comfortable as if they were going to a picnic."

"We kept a bright lookout as we went along; and well we might in a country where we might all have our throats cut at any moment. But for the first two hours we didn't see a living thing. However, I had already made up my mind what to do in case of a fight, and it was well I had, for all at once I caught sight of a cloud of dust, far in the distance, with a sort of glitter running through it every now and then, coming right down upon us."

"I saw my Cossacks looking at me to see how I took it, and so, of course, I had to put on as bold a face as I could; but I don't mind confessing now that I would have given all my chances of promotion to find myself safe across the border again."

"However, it was too late to think of that, for by this time we were so near that we could see we had in front of us a body of at least fifty horsemen, every man with a gun at his back and a sword by his side. I tried my white handkerchief to the point of my sword, by way of a flag of truce, and, bidding the Cossacks to stay where they were, I rode forward to meet the Bokharians, who slackened as I came up and looked at each other in a puzzled kind of way, as if they didn't quite know what to make of me."

"Peace be with you, brothers," said I. "You have doubtless been sent to meet me by the great Ameer, under the shadow of whose throne the whole world rests. May he live a hundred and twenty years, and let his gifts from the Czar of the Ordoos (Khan) be many. Let our horses be swift to reach Samarand, that I may make the dust upon the threshold of Hazret (his majesty) into ointment for my eyelids."

"The fellows looked more puzzled than ever, but no one thought of doubting what I said, for, indeed, it could never have entered into their minds that any Russian could be riding through their deserts with only two men at his back, unless he really had some business there."

"So the leader of the band saluted me politely, and said that he 'had his forehead in the dust before the messenger of the great Czar,' with a lot more rigmarole of the same sort; and then the whole party turned and rode back toward Samarand, with me and my Cossacks in the center."

"We slept at Dizjak that night, just where the desert ends and the mountain begins. The governor pitched a tent in the garden behind his house, and entertained 'the messenger of the great Czar' sumptuously. My Cossacks

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which falls off perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Patt, superintendent of the Pender schools, ordered the lady assistants to whip thirty-seven boys that he decided needed it, and the four teachers put the rod where they thought it would do the most good. The result is that some of the parents are "hollering" and threaten to turn things inside out in school matters.—Wisner Chronicle.

The question naturally arises why didn't the superintendent do the whipping himself instead of shifting the unpleasant task to the shoulders of the assistants.

The advertisements judiciously placed will bring the crowds to your place of business and then it is up to the advertiser as to whether he can sell the goods or not. After the customer is in your place of business courteous treatment, right prices and fair treatment will be sure to make a purchase. If you have misrepresented your goods or prices in your advertisement you need not expect to gain any trade, because the buying public are intelligent and are pretty good judges of values and refuse to be duped. You must be square to succeed.

The Boston Herald will send a party of thirty New England "schoolma'ams" to the Lewis and Clark exposition at Portland, Oregon, which opens June 1. The party will leave Boston July 5, traveling by way of the Montreal and the Canadian Pacific railway. Portland will be reached July 12, after many interesting stops to view the scenery on route. The teachers will spend three days at the exposition, stopping at the American Inn, inside the grounds. On the return trip two days will be spent at Banff, the noted scenic resort in the Canadian Rockies. A special dining-room car will be provided for the entire journey.

Jim Hurst was up at the fine stock farm of M. S. Moats last week and says he was both surprised and pleased at the many things he saw. Jim says M. S. has one of the biggest and best herds of Durro-Jersey hogs he has seen anywhere in the state and he has heeded many of the best. Moats has spared no expense in getting the best breeding stock to be had and the result of his wisdom in doing so is fully demonstrated in the excellent produce of the great sires and dams that grace his farm. Mr. Moats expects to hold a big sale of hogs sometime this fall and during the latter part of the winter he and Hurst will sell bred sows. Keep an eye out for the event.

Ted Perry was jumping sideways the other day. He thought careless hunters along the creek up on his dog town ranch had fired into a lot of young pigs and killed several of the little fellows, but going out to the ranch early Monday morning he discovered that instead of his being hunters with guns that had been reducing the numbers of his porkers it was a couple of coyotes. He says they are uncommonly bold and not only have they been killing young pigs but in one instance at least attacked an old sow after killing her young and compelled her to swim the creek and escaped the murderous brutes only by flight to the barns. Ted has his war paint on and swears there will be some wolves made to bit the dust ere many days or else his marksmanship will be at fault.

We Sell New Deere No. 9 Corn Planter

This is the planter that will drop just the number of grains you want in a hill. This planter has a force drop valve. This planter has no obstruction in seed tubes to interfere with the free falling of the kernels. This planter has a spring knocker directly above the opening to upper valve so that each kernel is discharged without fail. This planter is changed from hill to drill drop without using tools. This planter has checkrow, built solid on planter. No change in checkrow head. The tongue is adjustable for dropping in lines. There are a number of other good points on this planter we would be glad to explain to you. Come and see it. We also have the JOHN DEERE No. 10 rotary drop, and the David Bradley FORCE DROP.

STATE BANK OF WAYNE

HENRY LEX, President. C. A. CHASE, Vice President. R. W. LEX, Cashier. Individual Responsibility $200,000. Will do a General Banking Business. Interest paid on Time Deposits.

THE WAYNE HERALD. Published every Thursday. E. CUNNINGHAM, Publisher. E. W. HUSE, Business Manager.

A Norfolk woman whose husband while drunk fell down stairs and died from the injuries received, sued the saloon keeper and the Krug Brewing company for damages.

Standard oil is having pretty strenuous times. Indictments are being piled up against it all over the country.

The Omaha Indians are soon to receive $100,000. It is estimated by those to a position to know that eighty per cent. of this money will be spent by the Indians for liquor and that the stuff will be sold to them at from $6 to $10 a gallon.

Under the inebriate law passed last winter a person so addicted to strong drink that he cannot break away through the persuasive power of his own high resolve, may be confined in a lunatic asylum until he shows symptoms of being able to stay sober.

Ever since the biennial election bill was signed by Governor Mickey we have been congratulating ourselves on a year's freedom from politics.

The state board of education met at Lincoln Saturday and tried to elect a principal for the new Kearney normal but after voting one hundred times came to the conclusion that the factions were not built on the get-together plan.

The Omaha Bee and Lincoln Star are demanding "bugger men" for places of public trust. The press of the state has been calling for larger, more capable men in office for years.

We would urge upon our Dixon open readers a suggestion that they should bear in mind when casting about for desirable official timber. The county has most capable and efficient deputies in the persons of Chas. D. Stough and N. Porter.

Senator Millard's friends are getting pretty active in attempting to create a split throughout the state having a view the election of the senator to succeed himself at the expiration of his recent term.

elect and if he can so demonstrate we will be for him, otherwise we beg to assure his boomers we will not.

It is sometimes considered that civilization takes all the fight out of a man and thereafter they become ready victims to the brutality of the unorganized. Such is not the case with nations nor with men.

For two years past there has been a disposition on the part of cattlemen to sell off their she stock. This has come about by the extremely low prices that have prevailed, and today it is a question whether this disposing of the breeding stock is not about to bring them face to face with a shortage of steers in the very near future.

The Winside Tribune seems to think Supt. Bright will be employing his time and talents to better purpose in promoting an interest in spelling rather than in corn growing.

Our normal school has given to northeast Nebraska and its people fourteen years of service. We know that every one who is familiar with the work of the school both past and present are thoroughly convinced of the merit of its claim on the support of all people who are interested in the great educational development of our section of country.

A citizen informs the Journal that he has an intimation that the board of equalization may lower the assessment put upon some of the railroads of the state on the ground that they are now higher than they ought to be when compared with the valuations put upon other property.

The president of the school has done well and has provided dormitory buildings and other necessary appliances and apparatus to meet the demands of the capacity of the present recitation building, but all who have watched his progress know that the citizens must contribute to a new building if we are to have one. He can and will continue to build dormitories, heating and lighting plants, and such other building as are required.

The Franklin (Nebraska) Sentinel complains that a cottage costing $1,000 five or six years ago, cannot be duplicated in this year of our Lord 1906, for less than $1,500 or $1,500. But we have not heard the owner of such a cottage complaining.

prices. That was why it wanted 16 to 1, as we recall. But not many years ago the World-Herald and Mr. Bryan were crying out, as they are now, that prices were too high. Then the "paramount issue" was tariff for revenues only, and the paramount point to get lower prices. This is the fix of these grand old reformers: when prices are low they complain, and when they are higher; when they are high they complain and want them lower. They complain anyhow. Certainly, the price of eggs is about double what it was when ten years ago these reformers were complaining that it was too low. The price has gone up on the single gold standard, when they said it would go down. But are the farmers complaining because they get more for their eggs? So as to wheat, corn and nearly everything the farmer has to sell. Look at Nebraska land. What a jereidid Mr. Bryan can compose over the advance in our land prices! But what's the use of talking? Nothing on earth moved these reformers. They must have a paramount issue, something to complain of. No matter how you fix things, higher or lower, or anywhere between.—Lincoln Star.

During March live stock receipts at the markets of Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis and St. Joseph amounted to 1,867,951 head, and not only showed an appreciable gain over similar movements for the preceding month, but were also much heavier than the arrivals for the third month of either 1904 or 1903, reports the Department of Commerce and Labor.

For three months to March 31, the arrivals of live stock at the five markets specified aggregated 8,511,534 head, in contrast with 8,344,718 head in 1904, and 7,603,901 head in 1903, showing a slight loss for the present year if compared with the first three months of the preceding one, but an increase of over a million head if compared with a similar movement in 1903.

Our normal school has given to northeast Nebraska and its people fourteen years of service. We know that every one who is familiar with the work of the school both past and present are thoroughly convinced of the merit of its claim on the support of all people who are interested in the great educational development of our section of country.

Our recent legislature passed a law which requires all teachers to have some Normal school training before they can receive a first or second grade certificate. Present conditions are calling for better trained teachers.

The president of the school has done well and has provided dormitory buildings and other necessary appliances and apparatus to meet the demands of the capacity of the present recitation building, but all who have watched his progress know that the citizens must contribute to a new building if we are to have one.

Over 600 students were enrolled during the winter months and this could be increased to 1000 and more if sufficient room is provided. What all this means to our town and all northeast Nebraska, no one can tell, but that it is much no one can deny. This does not mean in a money sense only but in every sense which makes a community strong.

Being over stocked in street and ready to wear hats, we will close them out at greatly reduced prices. If in need of military call at the new store. DALL & FITZGERALD. For Sale, good milk cow. Inquire of D. E. NEWTON.

CATARRAL TROUBLES PREVALENT.

Spring Months Cause Sickness. Breathe Hyomei, and Be Cured of Catarrh. Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than at any other time of the year.

The pleasantest, most convenient and only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh, is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day.

No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the system when Hyomei is used. Breathe through the inhaler, the balsamic fragrance of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane, and gives complete and permanent cure.

Thousands of testimonials have been given as to the astonishing cures made by this remedy. J. S. Nugent, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Company, writes: "Hyomei has completely cured my daughter of catarrh, from which she has been a sufferer for years."

SON LOST MOTHER. "Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Mo. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a cough or cold, I have taken Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble."

STRICTLY GENUINE. Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The following notice recently appeared in the Atchison (Kan.) Globe: "Joe Tack, a well known engineer running on the Missouri Pacific between Wichita and Kiowa, lately appeared in a big one, with a picture, and when he was in his office he called on me and said: 'He says he had terrific pains in his stomach and thought he had cancer. His druggist recommended Kodol and he says it cured him. He recommended it to me, and I have used it for several months. It has cured my stomach troubles. Just as surely as the sun shines your stomach can be brought back to its originally pure condition and life sweetened by this lasting and truly the greatest agent known. Sold by Raymond's Pharmacy.'

MAN'S UNREASONABLENESS. Is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctor to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by Wayne Drug Co. Price 50c.

HOT WEATHER PILES. Persons afflicted with piles should be careful at this season of the year. Hot weather and bad drinking water combine to irritate the bowels and make the piles more painful and dangerous. De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve stops the pain, draws out the humors and cures. Get the genuine, bearing the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co.

"I THANK THE LORD!" Cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark. "For the relief I got from DeWitt's Little Early Risers. It cured my fearful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for 5 years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at Wayne Drug Co. 25c.

TIME TRIED AND MERIT PROVEN. One Minute Cough Cure is right on time when it comes to curing coughs, croup, whooping cough, etc. It is perfectly harmless, pleasant to take and is the children's favorite cough syrup. Raymond's Pharmacy.

A DISASTROUS CALAMITY. It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had by Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at Wayne Drug Co. 25c.

When ever you feel impending ill, And need a magic little pill, No other one will fill the bill. Like DeWitt's Little Early Risers. The Famous Little Pills. Early Risers, cure constipation, sick headache, biliousness, etc. They never gripe or sicken, but impart early rising energy. Good for either children or adults. J. G. E. Jones, Chief Engineer, Milwaukee, Wis., says: "I never used pills in my family during the forty years of housekeeping, that gave such satisfactory results as DeWitt's Little Early Risers." Sold by Raymond's Pharmacy.

TEACHERS ATTENTION! Deputy State Superintendent E. C. Bishop will be present at our meeting Saturday. He will explain the workings of the new law for certification of teachers in the forenoon and give an address in the afternoon. O. H. BROWN, Co. Supt.

DENTAL NOTICE. Having made arrangements to take post graduate work at a Chicago school I wish to give my dental patients notice that my office will be closed during the month of June. If you have work that is needing immediate attention have it attended to this month. To avoid disappointment out of town people should write for a new law for certification of teachers in the forenoon and give an address in the afternoon. TRUB & EBERT, Dentist.
