ANOTHER LETTER

To this Paper from Grand Junction, Colorado.

COLORADO SPRINGS AND VICINITY
Any Amount of the Most Magnificent Scenery—Railroads and Mining Industries.

If you have money to burn Colorado Springs will furnish the fire and show you the smoke. Someone has said that Colorado Springs is "a place of change and rest," and tourists put it thus, "the street car companies take the change and the hotels the rest." But while they take your money without a grimace they furnish you some pretty good sights. It cost the builders of the Pikes Peak cog railroad, the most wonderful of its kind on earth, a pretty snug sum to build the road to the summit of the peak, over 14,000 feet above sea level, and while the charge of 85 per cent passenger for trip seems to be pretty expensive it is worth the money if you enjoy the wonderful sights. People travel to Europe and rave over the wonders of Switzerland's Jungfrau and yet here in America is a peak almost two thousand feet higher than that when the summit is reached commands a view that ought to be magnificent enough to satisfy the most critical. From the summit can be seen the great Grapple Creek and Victor mining district on one hand and on the other spread out at your feet lies beautiful Colorado Springs and restful Manitou. Off in other directions are other mountain peaks some higher and some lower than Pikes', for Colorado boasts of twenty or more mountain peaks that reach greater altitudes than Pikes Peak. The garden of the Gods is another grand sight easily accessible at a distance of only about three miles from the Springs and will cause you to wonder what great forces did the work that has filled this spot with its grotesque shapes and wonders that cannot fail to draw from the beholder exclamations of astonishment and furnish food for thought to the contemplative mind. Cheryness canon, three miles to the south west, is another point of interest with its great cavernous depths and its beautiful seven falls and scenery that baffles the descriptive powers of ordinary men and that to properly appreciate must be seen. Away on the top of one of the great mountains that overhang this canon is the spot where the remains of Helen Hunt Jackson, were buried when she passed from earth. To this point nearly every tourist of sufficient physical equipment to climb the precipitous mountain trail on foot or having the courage to ride a burro wears their way and today the spot of her interment is marked by a great pile of stones that have been carried thither and deposited by the admirers of the authoress, but of course you are aware that her remains have been disinterred and taken elsewhere for final interment. The route of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad from Pueblo to Salida, a beautiful and thriving mountain town on the Arkansas river 94 miles west of Pueblo, leads through a country where grand scenery abounds on all sides. It is this journey that carries you through the Royal gorge of the Arkansas, be careful about the pronunciation, one of the great scenic sights of the American continent, where the sides of the mountain loom up thousands of feet above your head and in places those great walls are perpendicular or overhanging. In through, around and among these marvelous works of Almighty God winds the narrow gauge railway conceived and devised by the cunning brain of the masters in engineering feats and along its pathway over roaring rapids and marvelous cascades goes the great river on its way to the peaceful plains of eastern Colorado and the sunny fields of wonderful Kansas and out to its junction with the father of waters where it is finally swallowed up. Salida is hemmed in on all sides by great mountain peaks and is a thriving railroad town of 6000 souls and is just a trifle over 7000 feet above sea level. Near the town are mines of gold, silver and copper and up one of the valleys leading away from the town considerable farming is done and between the town and the Royal gorge are a few farms and all along the river traces yet remain of the placer diggings of the early gold hunters, in fact it looks as though those hardy old fellows turned over pretty nearly every rock and shoveled the sand and gravel of all the streams of the eastern Rockies into their pans or sluice boxes in their eager search for the precious metal that lured so many to untimely graves and so few to fortune.

During Thursday's races at Tokamah quite a serious accident happened to one of Frank Strahan's horses. Hixie Allerton was in the lead at the turn of the stretch when another horse started around her. The driver swung in too soon resulting in Hixie getting her foot in the sulky wheel and being thrown. The mare was injured quite severely and will be knocked out of a couple of races, but luckily the driver, James Hurst, escaped injury.

Last Saturday S. E. Anker brought to town a specimen of a Canadian thistle which is a very undesirable weed. It grows from two to three feet high and is a greenish-white color, while the leaves are quite long and pointed and have sharp spikes on them. The flower is a sort of a purplish blue bulb. When once in a piece of ground this weed spreads so rapidly that it will take the entire field and stock will not go near the patch where these weeds grow. The plant will grow both from seed and the root and the only sure way to exterminate it is to get the root out of the ground and to fall plow the ground helps some. If you have just a few in your field get them out for this is surely a case of where "a stitch in time saves nine."

When it comes to job printing remember the Democrat grades one score better than John Kate's famous clothing store. We not only "own our own building," as John puts it, but also "the other fellow's." We don't throw away any good money on a solicitor, and little for help, therefore can do your printing at half rates and grow fat on it. Call up 145 and we'll attend to your wants in this line.—Democrat. Really Bro. Goldie our remarks are very, very kind. In fact they cut us to the quick, when you mentioned not throwing away good money for a solicitor. To verify the fact we got to counting up a little, and say Goldie, it looks as though that money was thrown away to a good purpose. Help yourself to the scalloped tomatoes and your 20 per cent out, and as you say, grow fat on it, but as to that we only ask our readers to look at your wonderfully powerful physique and to see how nice and plump one really does become when he makes a 20 per cent cut on job work.

The following are clippings from a Seattle, Washington, paper and by the tone of the articles it seems as if Wayne is full of note worthy personages: "Hon. J. J. McCarthy, congressman from Nebraska, and Hon. John T. Bresler, a Nebraska state senator, and C. M. Craven, mayor of Wayne, Nebraska, were in the city a short time yesterday the guests of Col. Grissely, on their way to the Lewis & Clark fair. Mr. Bresler has traveled over the coast extensively and says that beyond a doubt Seattle is the best city on the Pacific slope. R. Philleo and wife are in the city, the guests of Col. Grissely. Mr. Philleo is a prominent lumber dealer of Nebraska and has made a tour of the principal cities of the coast from California north and he visits Seattle in the interests of his business. He says that Seattle is the best city on the coast and that while many people visit the Portland exposition they stay but a few days, and then come to Seattle. Congressman J. J. McCarthy, of Nebraska, accompanied by State Senator John T. Bresler and Charles Craven, also of Nebraska, was in Seattle for a few hours yesterday on his way to Portland to visit the exposition. While in the city the visitors were the guests of Col. C. F. Drager and J. E. Baker. During his stay here Mr. McCarthy called upon Congressman Will E. Humphrey and latter was entertained by Col. Drager and Mr. Baker, who accompanied the party to Tacoma on the steamer Flyer. Congressman McCarthy was on his first trip to Seattle."

In company with Representative McLeod this editor went to Wayne last Saturday. Crops along the route are looking fine. Between Winside and Wayne we noticed a number of pieces of winter wheat ready for the harvest. In some of them the self binder had just started. The fields looked beautiful as they waved in the breeze, free from weeds, uniform in height and waves of yellow glistening in the bright sunlight. One German farmer told Mr. McLeod that the first seed came from Otoe county. Last year his crop yielded 25 bushels per acre and this crop he thinks is even better. We heard one man say that the yield would be at least 30 bushels per acre. At Wayne we found Editor Goldie, editor of the meanest paper in Nebraska, speaking politically, and one of the best from a news standpoint, at the depot to welcome us and put himself outside a glass of Whalen's lemonade with us. Our object in going to Wayne was to look at the herd of Duroc-Jersey hogs which James Hurst has brought together from several of the best strains in the country. He has a number from prize winning hogs and can tell their pedigree with the glasses and accuracy of a licensed auctioneer. As soon as Cheney Chase got hold of us we were his prisoners, and not unwilling ones. After a pleasant hour spent at his home, which included supper in one of the most pleasant dining rooms we ever entered on a hot day, we now know just why comes that look of calm contentment which Mr. Chase's face always wears. Of course we put in a half hour with Postmaster McNeal and found everything as neat and orderly as a new pin. Men do not smoke in that office now, they don't spit on the floor and everything about the office is on the same plan of order and neatness. There is a general opinion prevailing that Mc will be re-appointed for a third term, and he ought to be. It was purely a lack of time that we did not call upon many others, among them L. L. Way, who is doing a fine business in the livery line and is popular with the public. The Herndon people had their floors looked at 5 o'clock, apparently keeping union hours, so we did not get in. Wayne is a good town, in fact there are few better, and we always enjoy a few hours visit with her people.—Stanton Pickett.

A Grim Tragedy is daily enacted in thousands of homes, as death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. Nebraska furnished her quota of men in the Bennington disaster, which was four, none however were from this immediate vicinity.

It makes us wonder if such an accident might not have happened to the Maine as the one that happened to the Bennington. Perhaps people were a little hasty in the Maine matter.

It looks as though the time had come for the administration to make its most decided stand against graft by standing pat with Secretary Wilson. The secretary of agriculture has never seemed to be such an aggressive man and now is the time for the administration to stand as his back and through this investigation strike a staggering blow for reform.

The Chicago teamsters strike has at last ended and the teamsters have given up the useless struggle and now desire their old places back. The trouble started originally with the garment workers union at Ward & Co.'s and from there it soon spread to the teamster's union and from there to the other business houses in the city. What a long and useless struggle it has been, over thirty lives lost and hundreds that attempt were made on while the money loss to the strikers and employers was enormous. It has looked to us most of the time as if Chicago did not need so much municipal government as it did martial law.

who is now traveling in Colorado, says: "There has been a decided change in the methods of mining during the past few years; they have been brought down to a business basis. Gold and silver mining is now conducted exactly like coal mining in Pennsylvania and Illinois. Economics have been introduced which enable the operator to get out everything there is in the ore, and have enlarged the profits. There is no more helter-skelter recklessness.

"Mining in Colorado is today on a better basis than ever before; for the reason that operators have secured cheaper methods of mining and extraction, and have reduced things to a system."

"The greatest increase has been in gold. In 1890 Colorado produced only $4,000,000 of gold. In 1904 as I have already shown you, the output was more than $28,000,000 and the superintendent of the mint announces a gain of nearly $9,000,000 in the receipts for the fiscal year just closed.

"The reduction of ores by the Cyanide process has been increasing and the old dumps containing millions of dollars, heretofore wasted, are now being worked over with great profit.

"Throughout all Colorado as I have said mining is now in the hands of business men, like the coal mines of Pennsylvania. The romance is all gone. The old fashioned prospector, with his burro loaded with a sack of flour and a side of bacon, has disappeared with the cowboy."

became filled with gas and when a match was lighted the room became a mass of flames. Assistance was hurriedly summoned and the blaze put out with but little damage to the room.

Some excitement was caused Sunday night by the runaway of Charley Sellers' horse. Mr. Sellers and Miss Geis were driving in the west part of the city when a dog ran out and frightened the horse so that it turned squarely around in the road throwing the occupants out into the road. The horse then ran until stopped on main street. Miss Geis suffered a cut face while Mr. Sellers had one arm bruised quite severely. The buggy was damaged by having the top knocked off.

A couple of weeks ago we mentioned something about cement blocks coming into use as building material. During the fore part of the week there was a gentleman at Phillet's lumber yard with a machine for making the cement blocks and turned out several that were very satisfactory. Undoubtedly cement will be used more extensively from now on in building work as it is a very substantial and satisfactory article. Already cement posts are being used successfully.

On Monday night a team, harness and spring wagon was stolen from Arxel Fredrickson who lives a few miles south of Dixon in Dixon county. Sheriff Moore sent for the Norfolk blood hounds and when they arrived on Tuesday afternoon were taken to the scene of the robbery and put on the trail, which they followed almost to Carroll where they overtook them and forced them to give up the hunt. It is improbable that the thieves can escape with the country filled as it is with rural telephones which makes communication with officers very easy.

A Few Horticultural Notes.

As it is getting along towards the season of the year that the trees should be pruned it might be well to give a few notes on this pruning.

Many persons differ in regard to the time of pruning trees and in support of their different theories, they advance good reasons. However the most of them agree that the month of August or just after growth starts in the spring is the best time to prune trees.

Too often we see evidence of where people have pruned their trees, but in reality have done them more harm than good. Now we have spoken of the time of pruning and perhaps it might be well to speak of the way to prune. Since we know that the movement of prepared food in plants is from the leaves toward the root, it follows that when a branch is cut off at some distance from the member that supports it the wound cannot heal unless there are leaves beyond the wound to manufacture food and thus make possible a growth current. The cut therefore should be made close enough to the supporting member that it can be healed by that member. In most woody plants there is usually more or less of a swelling about the base of a branch and just beyond this swelling a more or less distinct line. In a healthy tree the cut should not be made out any farther than this line, for if it is the wound is apt not to heal, fungus disease and parasites get into the wound, and from there into the heart of the tree. Make the cut parallel to the trunk of the tree, make the cut close and make it smooth. In cutting a large limb, to prevent splitting, saw up from the bottom a little way, then go out a little farther and saw down from the top, then after the heavy end is off go back and saw clear through from former cut in to.

For those on your roses treat with hellebore and an arsenite such as Paris green applied in form of dust using one pound of Paris green to twenty pounds of common flour or slaked lime.

Doubtless some have noticed that the leaves on the cherry trees are turning yellow and falling off. In many cases it is caused by a small insect called the aphid and if the leaves continue to fall it will kill the tree. An excellent remedy for these insects is a kerosene emulsion which can be sprayed on the tree. The proportions is as follows: kerosene 2 gallons, rain water 1 gallon and one half a pound of soap. Dissolve the soap in water by boiling and take from the fire while hot and mix in the kerosene and churn to a creamy color and dilute with 9 parts water.

F. M. Skeen and wife left on Monday for a visit with their sons Homer, at Pierce, and Blaine, at Plainview.

Dan Harrington leaves next week for the eastern markets where he intends to lay in his supply of fall and winter goods.

Mrs. John Gannon and son Gene and Miss Maude Kinney drove up from Pender on Sunday to visit Mrs. Gannon's daughter, Mabel, who is attending college.

I. W. Alter left on Monday morning for Grand Island, where he will attend the regular monthly meeting of the financial committee of the A. O. U. W. lodge.

Mrs. McKee and daughter Ruth left on Monday afternoon for Rock Rapids, Iowa. After making a visit there they intend to go to the lakes for a short time.

A surprise party was given Master Joe Ringland Saturday night, in honor of his fourth birthday. All his friends were there and seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

Thomas Farrand, who has been sojourning at his old home in New York state, returned to this city Monday evening. Mr. Farrand said that he had a very enjoyable trip and is much improved in health.

An aggregation of ball players (?) went up to Bloomfield Saturday to play a couple of games with a team at that place. Dumb playing and a seeming spring fever lost both games for Wayne. The score of first 9 to 3, second 17 to 7.

Miss Yakish, who comes to the college as teacher of violin, played a collection at the M. E. church Sunday which thoroughly demonstrated that Wayne college will not only have an efficient instructor but another charming lady member of the faculty.

On Wednesday, the 19th, at Hartwell, Nebraska, occurred the wedding of Mr. Chas. Reynolds of this place and Miss Ida Linstrom, of Hartwell. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's sister. The HERALD joins with others in extending the glad hand.

Charley Bright received notice last week of his appointment as a teacher in the Philippine Islands. Mrs. Bright also received an appointment and they are now waiting for further orders but expect to report for duty about the latter part of August or the first of September.

Wayne has been honored during the last week by the visit of some fifteen or twenty gentlemen tourists who are leisurely touring the country for their health, on the tops, on "rollers" and on head ends. While in the city the distinguished guests stopped at the Hotel Stockyards.

The camping party that went down to Crystal Lake last week returned Monday night and all report a most enjoyable vacation. Harry Fisher says he caught the second largest bass ever caught there, 4lbs., 10oz., and brought home the head and an affidavit to prove to the credulous that it is no fish story.

Carl Beckenhauer had an unfortunate accident on Monday while freezing ice cream at Raymond's drug store. Something went wrong with the engine and in trying to fix it up he caught the index finger of his left hand in the cog wheels and crushed it so badly as to necessitate amputation at the first joint.

One day last week one of L. L. Way's teams went down to a hay field south of town to get a load of hay. During the loading a few bees were noticed flying around the wagon, but no notice was taken of them, however, when unloading at the barn the men uncovered a swarm of bees which were successfully driven by Bert Brown and Ed. Lundberg.

The other day the writer spent a few hours in the country and was more than surprised to note the wastefulness in the looks of the corn during the last two weeks. This warm weather has certainly made things hum and it does not look as though the crop was much behind last year's crop. However, the hay crop seems somewhat lighter than last year's crop and the haying outfits confirm this belief.

The Hidden Fortune Mining Company is having the full quota of trouble at the present time. Only a few days ago Francis H. Whorton, of Lead, instituted a suit to have a receiver appointed and that matter is being considered at the present time. The fellows that bought some of that stock here, should be mighty thankful that they got off as easy as they did.

On Thursday, July 20, a boiler explosion on the U. S. gunboat Bennington killed 53 seamen and officers. The summary of the situation is fifty-four identified dead, four unidentified dead, fifty-six wounded, one missing, one missing, ninety uninjured and one deserter. Not a man of the crew is unaccounted for at the present time and a thorough investigation of the sad affair is being set on foot by the navy department.

The report is current that Philo Graves and Judge Moses intend to build new brick buildings in place of the ones now occupied by Fleetwood & Johnson and the Bayer Sisters. This is a very good move on the part of these gentlemen, for that side of the street needs some good buildings very badly. The beauty of it is that they will not be one story structures but are to be two stories high and it is safe to say that they will not be tenants.

Not only is Nebraska a state that is a leader in the production of corn fed cattle and hogs, but it is also fast forging to the front as a dairy state. What better evidence of this could be desired than the simple fact that nowadays nearly every farmer is the possessor of a cream separator and that every day we see a vast amount of cream shipped out and through our own town. The country creamery scarcely, if ever, was profitable, but the cream buying stations have revolutionized the business and today more cream is brought into the Nebraska towns than ever before in the days of the creamery.

Last Thursday evening the elegant and spacious home of Prof. and Mrs. Pile was the scene of one of the most brilliant social functions ever given in Wayne. The occasion was a farewell to Miss Leona Hunter who leaves today for another sojourn in the Philippine Islands. The hosts and hostesses were Prof. and Mrs. Pile and Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Theobald. The grounds were beautifully illuminated by myriads of incandescents lights. Sassan, the harpist filled the air with sweet music. The hosts and hostesses were assisted by the Misses Buffington, Britton, Nangle, Mason, Cunningham, Blanchemin, Neilhart, Stewart and Naphtine. A boy of college girls served refreshments on the lawn. The library and dining rooms were filled with curious things from the Philippine Islands and China while another room contained a rare collection of Indian head work. On Friday evening the same parties were at home to the four hundred students now in attendance at the college. A number of the young men of the college served refreshments. Whalen was caterer for both evenings.

The question is frequently asked why do so many people go to railroad stations at train time. They apparently have no business there, yet they will go to every incoming or outgoing train with the regularity of clock work. Just as well ask why do people go to a circus, why do thousands who have no business to transact go to the various towns Saturday afternoons, on holidays and at other times? Why do people go to church? Or some go to church for the purpose of worship, others go to be entertained by the eloquence of the preacher, others to sleep and some of the boys to meet their best girls. Some people go to the railroad stations because they have business there, others go to see a friend away, to come the Lucy and Sophia act in the presence of the admiring onlookers, others to meet and greet friends, but the great majority at the country stations go for the entertainment they get out of it; they like to see the various types of humanity and see how they act. There is the green boy or girl making their first trip with a bran new grip in hand putting on an air of superiority over their less favored fellows. Here comes the old lady with her bundles and boxes galore afraid that her husband will forget something, an air of responsibility surrounding her every move and yonder comes the smart travelling man who owns most of the earth and every lady must make way for him or the commerce of the world will come to a dead standstill; here comes the pretty Miss and her best fellow, one of them going away and the other must see that the train is safely boarded and the dozens held in check at the car steps while the sweet farewells are being said. The fond parent is there to say good-bye to the boy or girl who is leaving the parental roof, perhaps never to return; here comes the stretcher with its precious burden of stricken humanity being carried by tender hands that some hospital may be reached where the ills that afflict and rack can be relieved, and yonder is a group of weeping ones around the rough box whose contents are all that were near and dear to some of the group. The baggage smasher, the important brakeman, the fellow with his dog, the dude with his cane, they are all there; these are some of the things that attract the crowds to the depot. Some are there out of idle curiosity, some for the entertainment to be had, others on errands of love, mercy or sorrow.

THE BEST TIME TO DIP.
 It is advisable to dip cattle twice in the fall and twice in the spring, at intervals of ten or twelve days; or during the summer when any skin disease is visible. Yet it is difficult to persuade owners to dip cattle at intervals of ten or twelve days. Experienced men say that it is best to dip twice in the fall regardless of the condition of the cattle.
 I dipped 110 head of S. E. Anker's on the 12th that went through in fine shape and he reports them doing splendid. I expect to re-dip them again in ten or twelve days. I had a little bad luck with the first small bunch, so I cleaned my tank and charged it with different dip that is all right.
 If you have any cattle to dip drop me a card or call me up on phone No. 190.
