WOODMEN MEET

Held First District Convention in Wayne.

FOUR COUNTIES REPRESENTED

Next Meeting to Be Held at Pender--Officers Elected--Initial Success an Inspiration.

The first annual district convention of the Woodmen of the World of the first district of Nebraska met in Wayne last Friday. Delegates were present from Wayne, Pierce, Cedar and Thurston counties. Edward Walsh, state manager, called the meeting to order and was elected to preside over the convention. Upon taking the chair he gave an eloquent and comprehensive address upon the plan and merits of the order, in general and on the object of this, the first district convention in particular. It is a compliment to him to assert that his address was the keynote of all subsequent action. W. K. Rickabaugh of Wayne, was appointed clerk and Messrs. Seman and Clark as a committee on credentials. The report of the credentials committee seated every delegate present. Rev. Dr. Schleh was appointed chairman of the press committee, with Messrs. Rickabaugh and Berry to assist him.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, George R. Wilbur; vice president, John C. Cole; secretary, W. K. Rickabaugh; treasurer, C. Vandierker.

The following were elected delegates to the first annual state convention, to be held in Lincoln during the holidays: George R. Wilbur, W. K. Rickabaugh, Wayne; L. M. Cole, Pender; Thomas Clark, Emerson; W. A. Shans, South Sioux City.

Dr. Schleh was requested to prepare a report and an address to the camps of the district, describing the proceedings and transactions of the convention, and requesting the camps to contribute pro capita funds for defraying the expenses of the district delegates to the state convention.

Wayne, Pender and Emerson were placed in nomination as candidates for holding of the next district convention, on the first Tuesday in March, 1906. After a lively contest, much lobbying and several ballots, Pender was selected. The official secret work was then executed by State Manager Walsh and Special Deputy Soman of Omaha.

At the evening session in Woodman hall, a delightful entertainment was rendered, consisting of music and recitations, after which Rev. Dr. Schleh, sovereign lecturer of the order, delivered a profound and enthusiastic address on "The Greatest of These: Perfected Woodcraft."

This being the first attempt at a district convention in the history of the order, is counted as being entirely successful. Delegations after the convention expressed themselves as highly pleased with the venture and will report favorably to their local camps. Next year's convention is predicted to be more successful even than this and the idea of permanency is assured.

Mrs. J. D. King and Ruth McKee were at Sioux City Saturday visiting Mrs. McKee at the hospital and report that lady as progressing toward recovery very satisfactorily.

The way people talk about turkey prices for the Thanksgiving bird makes it look as though most of us would have to be satisfied with hog meat—it is pretty good eating any way.

Garfield precinct is doing a lot of improving in the way of new farm buildings and among a few we have heard of are Jack Davis, Wm. Hughes and Tom James who are building barns, granaries, cribs etc.

It is reported that an anti horse thief association was formed at Concord on Monday night and that vigorous measures will be taken to bring to justice any man who steals a horse of a member of the association.

J. M. McDonald and H. Ridings of Sioux City, were in the city Monday. Mr. McDonald is one of the claim agents of the Milwaukee railroad and Mr. Ridings was looking after some property interests in the city.

Norfolk has become aroused to the importance of building a sewerage system, and will have a mass meeting tonight to discuss the question. Lack of proper sewerage causes much sickness, and it is a growing necessity which Wayne will have to meet before long.

J. J. Gildersleeve of Hill City, has been in town for a few days looking after some of the detail work for Mr. Kemmerer. Mr. Gildersleeve, previous to coming to Atkinson county was in school work all his life, being first a teacher and afterwards county superintendent in Nebraska.—Atkinson (Minn.) Republican.

At a recent meeting of the county commissioners of Meade county, South Dakota, it is said that an item reading, "Ribbons for the typewriter," appeared. One of the commissioners objected to the paying of this item, stating that he did not consider it the business of Meade county to furnish clothes for the typewriter.

Wayne county is putting in about a dozen new steel bridges this year. The move is in the right direction and the commissioners deserve to be commended. This is a move towards permanency in bridges and eventually toward lower taxation for bridge purposes. The old wooden bridges are simply a temporary makeshift and an endless source of expense.

The Tribune is sorry to report the accident which befell Mrs. Charlie Nydahl yesterday morning. While she was preparing breakfast, she attempted to open the lid of the coffee pot, when there seemed to be an explosion and the hot coffee was thrown into her face, badly scalding her. At this writing it is hard to tell how serious the burns are, but she is resting quite comfortably.—Winchester Tribune.

Joe Benisch, the well known mail clerk, who was quite badly injured in the railroad wreck which occurred near here a few weeks ago, was in town a couple of days this week shaking hands with old friends. Joe is by no means a well man yet, but is able to get around after a fashion. He says that he never will be able to assume his old duties, but expects to secure office work with the company.—Bloomfield Journal.

M. S. Moats attended the Cedar Bluffs, sale of Duroc-Jerseys of J. Warnson recently and bought four elegant gilts of that popular breed. They are of the best families of the breed and will add materially to his already fine herd. The best are none too good for Moats and when he finds what he wants the price is no bar to his purchasing. It is his aim to build up one of the best herds in the state and in this he is surely succeeding.

Geo. A. Magner, G. O. C. of the Knights of Pythias of Nebraska, was in Wayne Friday night in the interest of a revival of the local lodge. A meeting of a number of members was held in R. H. James' office that evening and it was decided to renew activity of the society. Rooms will soon be secured and meetings held regularly. The local branch of the order has been inactive for two years and it is now hoped to arouse interest among old members and add new ones to the list.

As will be noticed by a clipping from an Atkinson, Minnesota, paper, our old townsman J. J. Gildersleeve, is temporarily filling the office of superintendent for that county and we learn from other sources is likely to be appointed to fill the place. Mr. Gildersleeve at one time was superintendent of this county and gave good satisfaction as such and his host of Wayne county friends will be glad to hear of his occupying the place in his new home and know that he will be found a very efficient official.

An exchange tells of a newspaper publisher in Ohio recently who brought suit against forty-five men who would not pay their subscription and obtained judgment in each case for the amount of each claim. Of these, twenty-eight made affidavit that they owed no more than the law allowed, thus preventing attachment. Under decision of the supreme court they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $5,000 each. All but six gave bond while the six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—West Westfield Star.

Corn picking this week has been going forward, but not at the usual gait or freedom from difficulties. The rain of Saturday made veritable swamps of the fields and the labor of husking has been greatly added to by the amount of real estate and rubbish the pickers have been obliged to carry about on their feet, and the wagons, when anywhere near loaded, have sunk into the damp earth until it required a mighty good pair of horses to move a wagon containing 35 bushels of corn. Dry, clear weather for the next four weeks would be heartily appreciated by the farmers in order to allow them to get the corn safely in crib.

Charley Shulteis came home Saturday evening from a three months stay in North Dakota where he has been looking after the harvesting and threshing of his crops. He says crops were very good and that wheat yielded from 20 to 35 bushels and averaged probably 25 bushels per acre, oats all the way from 60 to 80 bushels machine measure and that it would overrun this measure from 12 to 15 bushels to the acre as the grain was extremely heavy. Flax yielded from 12 to 25 bushels and was of splendid quality. Lands are advancing very rapidly in price and new settlers are flocking into the country and new breaking is being done on all sides with new buildings being erected all over the country. Charley is more favorably than ever impressed with the future of the country and thinks investments there are sure to be good for the man who buys at present prices.

Sometime between this and the first of December the probabilities are that T. H. Fritts and family will remove from our city to Omaha where Mr. Fritts will become identified with a machine and construction company in an official capacity. Mr. Fritts has been the city electrician of Wayne for several years and as such has demonstrated a rare ability. He came here when our city plant was but a small affair and not in very good condition at that. The plant has been greatly enlarged and put in such shape that today it is one of the best in the state. The HERALD is sorry to see Tom leave, but believes the move is a good one for him, as it gives him a larger field in which to operate and we hope that the enterprise in which he is embarking will prove one highly profitable to him in a material way. He will take to the new concern, ability, ambition, a willingness to work and a head never befuddled by the use of anything that will interfere with his work. Such men are bound to succeed and we feel sure he will win out.

Probably you are a reader of advertisements and probably you are not as a rule, but we will guarantee there are some advertisements you always read and these are not of the old stereotyped form but are the kind where the advertiser has something original and particular to say. You like an original person, one with an idea and who not only tells it once and then quite but follows who persistently in various original ways keeps everlastingly at it, always attracts your attention. Here in Wayne is an instance of this method where one of our merchants a number of years ago started out to advertise a certain article and was so persistent and brought so much originality to bear on the chosen subject that eventually his name and the advertised article became so closely linked together that today they are almost inseparable; when you hear of one you always think of the other and the success attendant on the persistency of the man is almost phenomenal. Every merchant endowed with the ordinary amount of good sense can do the same thing if he will take some article or line with merit and be intelligent and persistent in presenting the good qualities to the public. He must have faith in the article advertised, faith in himself and make good everything he says and things will have to come his way. Don't allow some other fellow to tell it for you, but tell it yourself, in your own language, just as you would do if the customers were in your place of business and you will attract. Success in no line is attained by fiftal efforts. The effort must be continuous and well directed, not fired at random without a good and true aim.

THREE BURGLARS

They Break Into a Saloon at Wakefield.

DEMOLISH SAFE WITH DYNAMITE

Two Are Caught After Hot Pursuit in Which Firearms Are Used --One Criminal Shot.

The town of Wakefield had a lively experience with burglars at an early hour Tuesday morning. Three desperate characters broke into Mtjke's saloon and at about four o'clock a terrific explosion occurred, blowing the safe to pieces and doing other damage. The top of the safe landed on the big plate glass, ten feet square, and demolished it. The noise attracted the night watchman who immediately got action on his revolver and pursued the burglars who took to their heels when they discovered that their work had been detected. They shot at the night watchman but he was soon reinforced by Geo. Green and Sam Neff. They were armed and turned their artillery on the fleeing criminals. On the railroad track near town two of the men, one of whom had been shot in the arm and side, threw up their hands and were captured. One made his escape. The wounded prisoner is not seriously hurt. The two who were caught were taken to Ponca on an early train Tuesday morning and will doubtless get what is due them when the district court meets. It is reported that the burglars secured about $30 from the saloon.

From the account of the burglary, sent to the Norfolk News, is the following extract:

"A quantity of nitro glycerine and a bundle of fuse were found in possession of the two robbers who have been captured. It is believed from this that they are members of a professional gang who work systematically."

"The citizens of this place think there is another member of the gang whom they have not yet apprehended and they are now searching for the third robber."

"Bloodhounds were brought here from Norfolk on an early train this morning but there had been so many people around the spot at which the dynamiting occurred that the dogs could get no scent."

HOG GROWING.

A Nebraska reader of the Nebraska Farmer writes that paper saying: "I make my hogs weigh 300 pounds at 8 months. Now I want to know why I can't get more money for that class of stock, as certainly they make better meat."

To this the Nebraska Farmer comments as follows: "In the corn belt the matter of baby pork is of quite as much importance as baby beef, and for these reasons: First, the packer prefers the 250 to 300 pound hog (here referred to as baby pork) rather than one of greater scale; second, the cost of production grows higher as the age of the hog advances; third, if hogs can be put into marketable condition at an early age the risk in keeping them is less and there is the additional advantage of realizing quick returns on the capital invested."

"Now, as to our correspondent's question why he cannot get more for baby pork than more mature hogs, that is a matter that the packer can best explain, but as yet no satisfactory explanation has ever come under the writer's notice. Packers are outspoken in their preference for the 250 to 300 pound hog, and in market quotations that class of hogs are usually at the top, but the difference between them and the heavier hogs is usually very slight. Medium weight hogs are preferred for several reasons. In the first place they are more easily handled, hence the term 'handy weights.' Secondly, the quality of the meat is better, as our correspondent suggests. The proportion of clean meat is greater. Older and heavier hogs, unless they be of bacon breeds, invariably have a much heavier covering of fat on the outside and more loose fat on the interior. After a hog has reached a certain stage in growth, which varies with different individuals and breeds, very little additional lean meat is developed, the additions to the weight being largely in the form of fatty tissue. The packer prefers a hog that will yield the largest proportion of lean meat with sufficient fat to render the carcass firm and smooth. Such a carcass is usually produced in the 250 to 300 pound hog of 8 or 9 months, such as our correspondent is evidently producing."

PAPER UNDERCLOTHING.

Some one says that paper underclothing is coming into fashion. Paper underclothing is bound to be in great favor with the fraternity and will fill a long felt want for ordinary every day use, and to insure the very best article, take your county papers, be sure and get the largest and best. See that it is paid for or the "due" on it may cause pulmonary trouble. It will be better to have the date on your underclothing marked in advance. This will keep you from being classed as a back number. And if you are found dead in the road people can tell to what age you belong. Should the doctors wish to put you in pickle you wouldn't get in as a revolutionary hero or one of Moses' guides.—Exchange.

HARD LUCK, WITH A MORAL.

A young lady working in a stocking factory, fearing her chances small for a life partner, wrote the following and slipped it in the toe of a gentleman's sock: "A young lady, good looking and of some means, would like to correspond with the wearer of this stocking, if he is single, with a view to matrimony." A young man bought the sock, and said: "There is my chance." He wrote to the young lady, offering himself as a suitable party, and to his surprise got this reply: "I have been married eight years and have a family of five children." The man from whom he bought the socks had never advertised, consequently they had lain on his shelves for eight years.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH

Just Breathe Hyomei Three Times a Day and Be Cured.

Hyomei has performed most miraculous cures of catarrh, and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomei costs $1.00 and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei.

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation and effects a complete and lasting cure.

In Wayne there are scores of well known people who have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei. If it does not cure you, E. J. Raymond will return the money you pay for Hyomei. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to his faith in the remedy.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

Margrite Ryan writes: "I have been suffering from a complaint which has been diagnosed as a form of ovarian trouble. I have tried many different remedies, but have not been able to get any relief. I have been advised to have an operation, but I have refused to do so. I have now taken Dr. Pinkham's Compound and I feel that I am getting better. I have been able to sleep at night and I have been able to eat my food. I am very grateful to you for your medicine." Margrite Ryan, Philadelphia, Pa.

Margaret Mackley writes: "I have been suffering from a complaint which has been diagnosed as a form of ovarian trouble. I have tried many different remedies, but have not been able to get any relief. I have been advised to have an operation, but I have refused to do so. I have now taken Dr. Pinkham's Compound and I feel that I am getting better. I have been able to sleep at night and I have been able to eat my food. I am very grateful to you for your medicine." Margaret Mackley, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Laid Under a Woman's Heel.

There are many examples of Lord Chamberlain's ready wit in Sir M. E. Grant Duff's recent book "Notes from a Diary." In a debate about the Jews an orator fathered the House by enumerating many of the things which the English owed to Hebrew faithfulness. Lord Chamberlain in reply gave the discussion a sprightly turn. "I quite agree with the honorable gentleman," he remarked, "many of us owe a great deal to the Jews."

Home Medicine Chest in Danger. The "home medicine chest" is in danger. If certain people have their way, no one will be allowed to take a dose of any kind of medicine in this country except on a doctor's written prescription. The remedies that have been known of home for generations will be put under the ban of the law, and the use of so-called "patent" medicines that are prepared in large quantities from the best prescriptions of leading physicians will likewise have to go. This honest reason any person can have for attacking all proprietary medicines, few will understand. Most of the standard remedies have been in existence, and in common use for many years, and to deprive the American people of them would be to take away the remedies that every family has almost constant use for, and the use of which they thoroughly understand.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

They will surely destroy the sense of touch and completely derange the whole system of circulation. Through the mucous membrane such articles would never be absorbed, but their action would be to irritate the surface of the system. In buying Catarrh ointment, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Philadelphia, Pa., by F. J. Cheney & Co., 150 North Second Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

OPINIONS OF GREAT PAPERS ON IMPORTANT SUBJECTS

Woman and the Home.

MUCH is heard of the widening of woman's activity and "sphere" of her emancipation, and of the broadening of her interests and horizon. Let us be thankful for it in moderation. The growing capacity of woman to make her way in the world in spite of the distressful strokes of adverse fortune, her independence, her business ability, are all admirable; the elegance of life, the interest in art, society, sports and games are cause for thanks; but if they portend the obscuration of that other greater interest, the training of human beings to a sound family life, the gains are overborne by the losses. There is something wrong in our perspective if we get to the point of paying tremendous attention to the choice of the tailor, dress-maker and caterer, while we permit our children to be trained and nurtured by the best vulgar and ignorant creature who comes to hand; and we are cultivating an oblique and distorted vision when we fail to see that one of the greatest of delicate ministries in life should be the rearing of strong and conscientious human beings and the building of that sane, moral and inspiring home-stead which is alone the proper nursery for sound, beautiful character. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Era of Fast Railroad Travel.

THAT the objects made to reduce the running time between New York and Chicago will cause a generalization of the question of railway speed seems certain. Ten years ago an eighteen-hour run between these cities would have been considered hopelessly impracticable. The Pennsylvania train which left Chicago Sunday afternoon made the trip with apparent ease in 17 hours and 57 minutes. The west-bound sister train leaving New York the same day made it in 17 hours and 28 minutes. In the course of the 905 mile run several speed records were broken. At one point three miles were covered in 85 seconds, or at the rate of a mile in 28 1/3 seconds, or more than 125 miles an hour.

With these "records" in successful operation on the Pennsylvania and Lake Shore railroads a new era in passenger travel may be considered to be opened. If the new schedule is found practicable the effect of the innovation will be to raise the standard of speed requirements everywhere. By comparison the present four-hour trains, although very fast, will seem slow. With other railways covering equally long distances in all parts of the country will not have the same high speed which the west-bound train has shown. —Philadelphia Daily News.

Will the Panama Canal Pay?

WHILE the Panama Canal, when completed, will be a great boon to the American isthmian commerce, it is not clear how the American isthmian commerce will be benefited. Mr. Frelinghuysen, a member of the Senate, has expressed two opinions in the North American Review. While his figures are disappointing, his conclusions are encouraging.

The Suez Canal shortens the distance between England and Bombay by 6,240 miles, or more than one-half the distance between St. Petersburg and Bombay by 4,840 miles; between New York and Bombay by 2,990 miles. Naturally, England uses the canal more than any other nation; two-thirds of the 2,700 ships passing through the canal carrying the British flag.

By way of Panama the distance between New York and San Francisco and between New York and all Asiatic ports will be shortened 5,000 miles. New Orleans and every town on the Mississippi River below St. Louis will save 3,012 miles by using the canal. The conclusion is that the canal will be given largely to American business, the United States standing to the Panama Canal as England stands to the Suez Canal.

The Suez Canal was operated for thirty years before its business aggregated 10,000,000 tons. Mr. Paulfield estimates that six years after the Panama Canal is completed it will command a business of 7,500,000 tons, and bring to the government a revenue of $12,750,000, or a little less than the operating and other expenses. If the business can be increased to 10,000,000 tons a year the Panama Canal will be as profitable as the Suez Canal is now.

While Mr. Paulfield reaches the conclusion that for many years the canal will not pay directly, he contends that it may be made to pay indirectly by Americans entering as ship owners into competition with Europe's trading nations. He predicts that any effort on our part to create a great merchant marine will arouse the opposition of English, German and French. But he estimates that by the time the Panama Canal is opened the United States will have 100,000,000 inhabitants, and can make our commodities the staples of supply and price.

The commercial fleet at present under the American flag, it is estimated, would not pay a tenth of the canal's operating expenses. But if this is increased in the next ten years to what it ought to be, it is believed the canal will be a success from its opening. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Violin Tuner.

Also for Use on Guitars, Mandolin and Other String Instruments.

Very few inventions relating to musical instruments are patented. Inventors in all probability finding it very difficult to make improvements in this line, a device very much in need is a satisfactory tuning fork for string instruments. It is almost impossible for a musician to tune up a violin or guitar.

TUNED BY THE EYE. even with the aid of a piano. A Kentucky musician invented a tuning apparatus which can be used by anyone. It is made in the shape of a square plate, which is placed over the strings of the instrument close to the bridge. This extends the downward pull from the corners of this plate, these pins resting on the sounding board of the instrument and forming a clamp, holding the device in proper position. Reeds or tongues are attached on the forward end of the plate, these reeds having elongated slots for the reception of screws for adjusting them. The reeds are made very thin and delicate, in order to render them exceedingly sensitive, so that they will readily vibrate in sympathy with the sound of the strings of the instrument to such an extent that their vibration will be easily perceptible. The device is not intended to appeal to the ear, but to the eye. The reeds extend in close proximity and lengthwise over the strings. It being understood that for violins, for instance, the reeds are adjusted to sound the tones which correspond with the open strings of the instrument. In order to bring a string to the proper pitch the operator sounds the string by bow or by hand, and when the corresponding reed over this string vibrates sympathetically with the string, then the latter is in proper tune, and if the reed does not vibrate it is necessary for the operator to either stretch the string more tightly or to loosen the same, so that when next sounded the corresponding reed vibrates in sympathy with the sounded string. When this takes place the string is properly tuned. This operation is repeated with each of the strings of the instrument, and then the tuning device is removed. It will be seen that when the operator brings a string to the proper pitch the corresponding reed vibrates with it, and consequently the operator can see at a glance that the string is properly tuned without depending on hearing the sound itself.

Can This Be True?

Jack—How could it be?
Tom—But I know what?
Jack—What?
Tom—That a widow never calls for help when a man attempts to kiss her?
Jack—Of course she doesn't. It's usually the man who needs help.

Disease Germs in Books.

The authorities of Salt Lake City, alarmed by the spread of scarlet fever, diphtheria and other contagious diseases among school children, have adopted an ordinance which, it is hoped, will greatly lessen if not entirely stamp out these plagues. Such diseases have recently been epidemic among the children in the city and the board of health decided that the germs traveled in the school books and other things carried by the pupils. The result has been the passage of an ordinance which is probably more stringent than any other of the kind ever adopted by any municipality.

It provides that none of the school books shall be covered with any material other than paper. In all schools in which there is a free distribution of books such books after having once been used must be recovered and thoroughly disinfected by the board of health.

A student once having received a book shall keep it as long as that book is necessary for his studies.

It is unlawful for the schools to collect pencils, sponges or other articles used by the students for the purpose of redistributing them to other students.

Suggesting a New Plan.

"How can I get the ladies of my congregation more interested in hearing?" sighed the earnest young pastor of the fashionable church.

"You might intimate that things will be very exclusive there," replied the old preacher's ally. "By such means you may be able to arouse a mild interest." —Pittsburg Post.

Love in a Hat.

HAS any thinker before us found the majestic thought that love is more powerful and more self-sacrificing than ever? Under the canopy of love, nobility in contrast, love was easy. "A hat makes for a home," and she used to get it but now home is home no longer. People live in hotels, apartment houses, flats, tenement houses—some of many petals. The individual self is gone. The selfish remains. Well, to decant oneself to this congested and noisy existence is to contend meekly and dutifully to be calmed, cribbed, confined, to hear the laughing of many pianos, the sound of many solos, the ineffable toot of the hum who plays the dupe, the irritating murmur of many voices; at noon the chatter of dumb waiters, the yells of grocery boys and milkman, at night the loud laughter of the hip girl, the noise of the piano, the smell of a hundred cookings; to battle with the agent and the plumber; to hear the bellboy's impudence—she who does this for a Meek Man loves indeed. —New York Sun.

Curious of Rural Life.

THE rural scene is fast becoming a city in its general appointments, accommodations, manners and style, and it is the means of disseminating the city of ideas and the city of goods and services to the rural areas. Through the rural areas an improvement in the country is being made, and the city, nearer to the rural areas, is becoming a city in its general appointments, accommodations, manners and style, and it is the means of disseminating the city of ideas and the city of goods and services to the rural areas. Through the rural areas an improvement in the country is being made, and the city, nearer to the rural areas, is becoming a city in its general appointments, accommodations, manners and style, and it is the means of disseminating the city of ideas and the city of goods and services to the rural areas.

Punishing the Rich Criminal.

THE way of the high-bred transgressor continues easy in the Fort Leavenworth penitentiary. A visitor reports that Bigelow, the Milwaukee bank embezzler, is having a more comfortable time than the majority of men who are at liberty and working for a living. He wears no prison garb, does not consort with the vulgar, "common" criminals of the place, enjoys his meals at a special mess table, in company with the other aristocrats of "bankers' row," and what work he is required to do is at light and agreeable tasks. And yet learned counsel are solemnly arguing that the penalty of five years' imprisonment at hard labor for bank embezzlement is a cruel and unusual punishment for so distinguished a man. —Boston Herald.

THE WATER-SAW ON THE ZAMBESI.

The picture shows the water-gorge crossed by the new great bridge on the Cape to Cairo Railway. Below the Victoria Falls the Zambezi winds with endless twistings through the gorge here depicted. Through this passage the waters pour with a terrible deafening rush. One of the most singular features of the Falls is the spray, which rises continually in lung-staining clouds. It was Cecil Rhodes' petting scheme to have the windows of the railway carriages as they crossed the bridge should be dashed with the spray of the Falls.

WORLD'S MERCHANT MARINE.

Total Tonnage is 33,043,000 Tons.

England Leads America Second.

Report statistics published in France estimate that the total tonnage of the world's merchant marine at 33,043,000 tons, says the New York World, and the number of vessels of 21,842, of which 12,571 are steamships, with 27,041,000 tons, and 12,192 are sailing vessels, with 6,150,000 tons. This gives an average of about 1,540 tons for steamers and 538 tons for sailing vessels.

Although the construction of large ships has greatly developed during late years, the greater part of the world's goods is still carried by vessels of average tonnage. The number of ships of over 10,000 tons is only eighty-nine.

The tonnage of the principal countries is as follows: England, 16,908,371 tons; America, 3,671,936; Germany, 3,282,247; Norway, 1,073,740; France, 1,022,016; Italy, 1,180,325; Russia, 809,482; Spain, 714,117; Japan, 688,815; Denmark, 581,247; Austria-Hungary, 575,000; Greece, 378,199; Belgium, 157,017; Brazil, 155,086; Turkey, 154,494; Chile, 103,758; Portugal, 101,404; Argentina, 95,780.

It sometimes happens that the very girl who refuses to recognize duty, recognizes it after she has married, or she wouldn't be living with her husband.

The fashion in boys never changes; they all want something to eat. The fashion in mothers does; they don't always get it.

That Deadly Harpin.

That deadly implement the harpin of modern times, is a descendant of an equally formidable object article used by Roman women.

The Aspersion and Julius and Claudius who decorated themselves a couple of thousand years ago, to the indignation of the puritanical Balbus or Marcus, they desired to fascinate, were long harpins of prodigious length. Yet the women of this present time, they seem to have experienced the same difficulty in keeping them in place. This fact came to light during excavations at Winchester, in England, a hundred or so of these bone harpins being found in the Roman bath, which, maybe, by the bath attendant, to prove all these countries later that there is nothing new under the sun, and that in all ages the same little fiddles have been possessed by women.

ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Suffered Tortures Until Cured by Cuticura

My scalp was covered with little pimples and I suffered tortures from the itching. I was scratching all day and night, and I could get no rest. I washed my hair with hot water and Cuticura Soap, and then applied the Cuticura Ointment as a dressing. The box of the ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap cured me. Now my hair is entirely clear and my scalp is growing splendidly. I have used Cuticura Soap ever since, and shall never be without it. (Signed) Ada C. Smith, 300 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

Wayne College

Where on earth can you find another college that will give as much good goods for the same money as you can get at the Wayne College? We have lately inquired into the matter and find no place in America where you can receive as much at a college as you will in Wayne for the same money. In our conversation with men that have had much experience in colleges, all ask the same question. "How much is your college endowed with?" is what they ask when we tell them what the Wayne College is doing. They are all surprised to find out that this good enterprise has no endowment, but stands firmly on the foundation erected by Mr. and Mrs. Pile. This college stands a monument to remind any man what may be gotten out of nothing by hard work. To do this it is necessary to be prepared by having a thorough training in the work you are about to commence and then make it a life work. No undertaking can fail when these conditions are present. The Wayne College grows and will continue to grow as long as the present management own and control it. Wayne has many things to be proud of, but we all agree that the Wayne College stands first in the list. Now don't get it into your heads that we ever ran a college and know all about that business. The Two Johns were both poor orphans and never went to school after they were fourteen years old. We were put into clothing stores and made to hustle for a living. If you have ever been surprised at our success, you can understand it all by knowing that we have been working at the clothing business ever since we were fourteen years old, and we intend to devote the balance of our lives to this business. That is why this store grows. It was started from nothing by trained and experienced clerks and it continues to grow. You can't make a mistake in buying your clothing at a store built on such a foundation. Patronize the Wayne College and the Two Johns and you will receive more good goods for your money than can be found elsewhere. If you have not yet bought your underwear remember that the right kind is Staley. We would like to tell you all about the many good things we have and the low prices, but we have used up our space and can only invite you to call and see them. Will you come?

A fellow can eat crow, but chicken tastes better.

Shake hands and smile, it may be your laugh next time.

The Lord loveth a cheerful giver and all men honor a good loser.

Next time it may be the other fellow that will feel good, so enjoy yourself now.

Whoop'er up and congratulate yourselves on how "we democrats won out again."

It has to be done all over again two years hence. Some of us won't be in the mixup.

The man behind the pencil, alone in the booth, with his own conscience to guide him, is after all the real thing at election time.

The Chinese are at their old tricks, killing missionaries. This time it is reported that seven Presbyterian missionaries have been slain.

It is easy enough after it is all over and results are ascertained, to put on an air of "I told you so" when you didn't even suspect anything.

No use in crying about it. If it didn't go your way it was because you were against the majority of the voters and that is what counts in this great free country.

The building of the Milwaukee from Chamberlain to the Hills is causing a wonderful immigration of people into the country through which the road will pass. Construction of the road is being pushed very rapidly.

It was a "still hunt" but a mighty hot one just the same. The corn fields were about as thoroughly tramped as the time permitted and if the voters failed to vote it was not because they were not solicited.

M. Witte, the Russian premier, holds aloft the olive branch of peace and back of him stands the terrible Trepoff with his armed Cossacks ready to compel attention and acquiescence. It is a case of peace if they have to fight for it.

The Lincoln Daily Star cannot be accused of not doing its duty fully in the matter of trying to educate Nebraska republicans against the railroad policy of President Roosevelt. It continually preaches the railroad side of the contention and its editor must be given considerable credit for his manner of presentation of the subject, but it is out of tune with Nebraska sentiment.

Germany is suffering from a most famine of most serious proportions. In some places rabbit markets have been opened. Horse flesh has risen in price above the means of the laborers and dog meat is no longer obtainable. The municipalities in many places are buying sea fish by the car load and selling them at a profit to the populace. Such experience as these seem a long way off from Nebraska abundance in this year of plenty. Verily, our lines have fallen in goodly places.—Norfolk News.

"United we stand, divided you fall."—Pat Coleman. Can you express the situation any more forcefully and truthfully? Pat is a democrat and one that understands the conditions that brought about the election of Jack Cherry and Charley Reynolds and he voices just what every well posted man knows to be a fact. That is the real aim of democrats in Wayne, to be united themselves, stand firm under all circumstances and by all means in their power seek to divide the republicans.

Nebraska republicans will watch pretty closely and with marked interest the position Senator Millard will occupy when it comes to the inter-state commerce committee of the senate making its report of the bill to be presented to the senate relating to the powers to be granted the inter-state commerce commission. They will expect the senator to favor a bill that will embody the views of the president on this matter, and should the senator see fit to ignore the wishes of his constituents very little doubt will exist as to his being his own successor when the next election of a United States senator to represent Nebraska occurs.

It is naively announced that McCall & Webster, who "have the privilege of the line of elevators" on the Great Northern Nebraska extension, are about to build a grain house in Fremont. In all the new towns on the road any man who wishes may go in with a mercantile stock, or a bank, or a newspaper plant. The towns company will cheerfully sell lots to all comers for all kinds of business enterprises, but when it comes to the item of grain, the most important thing of all to the farmers of the tributary territory, only those who "have the privilege" may secure sites for elevators that will enable them to do business advantageously.—State Journal.

It will surprise many people to learn that the poultry and eggs of Nebraska bring in more money annually than potatoes, rye, sugar beets, sorghum, broom corn, mules or sheep. Yet such is the fact as shown by the census reports. It appears that poultry products footed $2,374,930 for the year for which returns were made, while the output of eggs was valued at $4,068,003 during the same period, giving an aggregate of $6,442,933 for the two items. The Nebraska hen as a wealth producer should be better appreciated than she is. Unobtrusive for the most part, except when in the state of pardonable exultation immediately following the successful laying of an egg, she is doing much toward assisting the advance of agricultural prosperity.

Washington Post: "When the president got out of his carriage to enter the state capitol down at Raleigh the other day almost immediately in front of him stood a farmer of gigantic size," said J. B. Patterson, of that city, at the Raleigh. "There was an immense crowd and much enthusiastic yelling, but this sturdy tiller of the soil outdid them all in vocal effort, and his stentorian hurrahs so rent the air that the president was vastly tickled. With his face wreathed in smiles, the chief executive made a little pause, and, pointing his finger at the countryman, shouted: 'Aha! my friend; I've got you spotted, and I'll bet you are the best fox hunter in this country.' The 'little touch of nature that makes the whole world kin' was understood and appreciated by the vast throng, and the cheering that went up was terrific."

Things are beginning to settle down in Russia. The manifesto of the Czar granting constitutional rights to the country, setting political prisoners free and giving the people a voice, is bearing fruit and it now looks as though the country under the guiding hand of Witte is going to eventually be on a better basis than it has been for some time and that the threatened revolution will be averted. Surely it has been a sorely tried land. Despotism there is responsible for a terrible condition that went from bad to worse until mobs everywhere committed awful acts of destruction in which neither life or property was in the least respected. The inoffensive Jew has particularly been made the victim of awful atrocities and thousands of them within the past few weeks have been put to death while other thousands have been beaten, bruised and maltreated beyond the conception of a people accustomed to orderly conditions. M. Witte is the man of the hour, the man who prior to the Russo-Japanese war was for peace, who asserted himself to keep his country from engaging in the conflict that resulted so disastrously, but all to no avail. He then stepped into the breach and perfected a peace honorable to his country and now is at the head of his government bringing order out of chaos.

As a farmer protectionist you cannot afford to be a "stand-patter." The success of your farming operations from a financial point of view is largely dependent on the high or low price of cattle and hogs and you are consequently interested in having the widest market facilities in order that the demand may be equal to or a little in excess of the supply in order to maintain prices at a profitable point. In order to have the markets of the world for the products of our farms we must not build a wall of exclusion around our markets and bar the products of other countries or if we do we must expect retaliation. Today our cattle and hog products are barred from many of the European countries under various pretexts of improper inspection on this side of the water, but the real gist of the whole thing is that it is in retaliation of our exclusive policy. The cattle production of the United States has increased in five years over 20 per cent, and today our markets are glutted and prices are constantly tending to a lower level because the supply is largely in excess of the consumptive demand, brought about by our being held away from the markets of other countries where the prices are almost prohibitive for the average wage earner. Europe needs our meats and we need their money, why not be rational and seek to bring about reciprocal relations that will be of immense benefit to all concerned? It can be done by the great producing west standing together and demanding of congress that these conditions be remedied, and if that body fails to respond to the popular demand, a year from this time we can send men there who will represent the interests of the entire country and not the interests of a few greedy manufacturing corporations.

KNOX ON RAILROADS.
Few things could have happened to throw the opponents of railroad regulation into worse confusion than the speech of Senator Knox unreservedly supporting the president on that issue. On the friends of the president the effect will be as marked in the opposite direction. To all appearances the speech of Mr. Knox is a bomb that went straight through an open port and exploded in the bowels of the railroad ship.

The effectiveness of Mr. Knox's argument lies in an important degree in the fact that it comes from one of the ablest of eastern senators, and a senator from a state that is not expected to produce advocates of this side of the question. The people of Pennsylvania have little to do even indirectly with choosing senators. Mr. Knox was appointed at the instance of the usual influences, prominent among them being the Pennsylvania railroad. While nobody who knew him believed that his appointment was due to subserviency to any interests, the state of Pennsylvania politics at least precludes the charge so ready on the lips of the railroad managers when a statesman takes the president's side in the controversy, of playing for political effect. It will have to be conceded that the utterances of the able ex-attorney general could have had no motive other than unbiased conviction, and therein will lie much of its effect.

In ability Senator Knox is conceded to be a giant. Such a champion on the floor of the senate fighting for rate regulation will offset the influence of many senators whose speeches for opposition are under suspicion, and makes much more likely than before the fulfillment of the prediction of President Stickney, made on the day of Mr. Knox's speech, that the rate regulation demanded by the president will be enacted into law at the coming session of congress.—State Journal.

THE NEW RUSSIAN ASSEMBLY

While the duma will be merely a consulting body, the czar not conceding and his autocratic power, there are provisions in the document setting forth the organization and powers of the duma which will make a constitution possible. This body, declares the first paragraph, is established for the preliminary discussion and study of legislative propositions "which, according to the fundamental laws, will be submitted to the supreme autocratic authority by the council of the empire." Members of the duma, which will represent all Russia, are to be elected for five years, although the emperor may dissolve the body at any time and order new elections. The expenses are to be defrayed from the imperial treasury. The president and vice president are to be elected annually from among the members, who will enjoy absolute freedom in expressing their opinion on matters "within the competence of the duma." As to the authority or competence of this body, the receipt says:

"The competence of the duma shall extend (a) to all questions relating to new laws and the modification or amplification and temporary suspension or appeal to existing laws; also to making or altering appointments to the staffs of the ministries and to the expenditure thereby involved; (b) to departmental, ministerial and national budgets, and to other expenditures not provided for therein; (c) to the financial report of the controller of the empire; (d) to the expropriation of any portion of the revenue or property of the state; (e) to the construction of railways by the state; (f) to matters submitted to the duma by imperial decree."

Among the powers of the new body, which will meet some time in the month of January, 1906, are: (1) Jurisdiction in the matter of taxes in provinces where there are no zemstvos; (2) initiative in the repealing or modification of old laws and the adoption of new laws (no power, however, to touch the fundamental law of administration); and (3) the right of interpellate ministers and chiefs of departments and call their attention to infractions of existing laws. Measures passed by the duma go to the council of the empire, and the combined conclusions are submitted to the emperor, whose decision is final. Elections for representatives are to be held in only twenty-six towns, which are named. In all others and in the provinces and territories, election is to be brought about by an electoral college, members of which will be chosen by the land owners, city electors and delegates of the peasants. The last will have the right to choose two delegates from each canton. The voting qualification is based on a property holding, and the only persons barred are women, men under twenty-five, holders and sailors in active service, officials exercising their functions, and persons not acquainted with the Russian language. "Special measures" are to be applied in the cases of Finland and Poland. Contained in the grandly conceded right of representation, however, and behind all the vague, exalted phraseology of the receipt, there is a germ of constitutional Russia.—Review of Reviews.

"The Convict's Daughter," a melodrama with a plot of thrilling interest from beginning to end, was presented to a large Wayne audience last night by a first-class company. The play is one of exceptional merit, and the manner in which it was reproduced excited the keenest interest and won the hearty plaudits of the crowd present.
Burglars entered the First National Bank of Platte Thursday night by breaking through a window. They then dug into the vault but were probably discouraged to find the treasures of the bank locked up in a Mosler safe, as they made no attempt to enter it. The intruders threw down and broke a typewriter, which with the damage to the vault wall and the window constituted the loss sustained to the bank.—Wisner Chronicle.

The election in Dixon county resulted in the choice of republicans for all offices excepting that of sheriff, the democrat candidate for that office being elected for the fourth time. In Stanton county democrats won all offices but those of treasurer and superintendent. The democrats elected only two officers in Madison county—judge and commissioner.
BIG LAND DEAL.
Probably the largest land deal ever negotiated in northeast Nebraska was completed here yesterday by the cooperation of Wayne capitalists. The purchase, which comprises a tract of 20,000 acres of land situated in McKinosh county, North Dakota, is made by an incorporated company consisting of the following stockholders: John T. Bremser, Chas. Craven, Phil H. Kohl, S. R. Theobald, Theo. Duerig, Dr. Wightman and Henry Kellogg.

Mr. Bremser was chosen president and Mr. Craven secretary. Those who have seen the land pronounce it first-class in quality and well located. It is surrounded by numerous settlers who have been engaged in successful farming there for fifteen years. The crops which they have grown every year are ample evidence of the productivity of the soil. Sale of the land in small tracts will begin without delay, and they will be offered at prices which, considering the excellent merits of the property, cannot fail to attract many buyers.

"Dip" or "Kick Yourself"

Last spring there was a great cry among the stockmen for a dipping tank in Wayne, that they wanted to dip their cattle but when you have a chance to dip you are not so anxious. I have put in a dipping tank for your benefit and I must have business enough to pay expenses to maintain it. If I should take it out and the state Veterinarian should come down and inspect your cattle and make you comply with the law, what would you do, put in a tank, kill your cattle, drive them 15 or 20 miles further, or perhaps ship them to Sioux City and pay ten days feed bill in order to get them dipped twice, as the law requires. This state of affairs is sure to come if you farmers neglect this matter. I don't suppose 10 per cent of the farmers know what the law is in regard to diseased cattle. If you don't you better look it up for yourself.

This is my last appeal to you. Now don't put it off until you will want to get up a club to buy a kicking machine.

My prices, 25c single dip. Two dips, 10 days apart 40c or last dip 15c. It is getting late and cold weather will soon set in and it will be difficult to find warm sunshiny days to dip.

Miss Anna Evans of Norfolk, visited with Misses Lulu and Effie Cronk Saturday.

Miss Webster's sister from David City, visited at the college from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. Miller of O'Neill, a brother of A. F. Mullen of the class of '08, arrived Thursday and expects to be in school the remainder of the year, completing the teachers' professional course.

There was a basket ball game played on the college grounds Saturday between teams composed of young ladies from the college and high school. Only one half was played, rain preventing further play.

Among former students who were visiting at the college during the past week, were Mr. Henry Raubach, principal of the school at Newport, Nebraska, and Mr. William Cole, who teaches in Thurston county.

Among the new students this week were Mr. Hubbard of Chambers, Misses Day of Remsen, Iowa, Luise of Geddes, South Dakota. Several more have written that they will be here in the course of a few weeks.

Misses Neptune, Christensen, Ellis and Scott went to Fremont Friday where they attended the state meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association. They all report a very enthusiastic meeting in every way.

The students of the elocution department, assisted by Miss Stewart, gave a very enjoyable program in the chapel Saturday evening. In spite of the rain a very good audience was present and enjoyed the play, "The Obstinate Family." Miss Yarkish intends to have a play given each term by the members of her department.

A worthy addition has been made to the library by the purchase of a set of the latest edition of the International Encyclopedia. The set consists of twenty-one volumes and will prove of great benefit to the students. The books for the Alumni library continue to come in, there being nearly seventy-five in the new case at the present time.

Miss Lulu Nelhardt has received word that she has been placed on the program of the State Teacher's Association which is to be held in Lincoln during Christmas holidays. Miss Nelhardt's subject is "Culture Study in the Grades." The college will have a week's vacation at Christmas time, thus enabling the teachers to attend the meeting.

Bloodhounds from Norfolk were put on the trail of the thieves who stole the horses of William Pedrel, near Wakefield, last Thursday night and followed them about 200 miles northwest into the country near Winneston, Knox county; where, we learn, the horses were overtaken and the thieves allowed to get away because the driver of the team carrying the pursuers refused to drive the country during the night. Wakefield has had more than her share of trouble with horse thieves and safe blowers, during the past week, but from the way she has rounded up the fellows engaged in the undertakings it is possible the fraternity will shy clear of that burg for awhile.

weather and but mighty little better for the republican party. In a county with about 300 as a normal republican majority and good clean men as its nominees it really seemed as though every candidate on the ticket ought to have been elected, but the voters willed it otherwise and consequently the party has to take the dose administered by its own members. The second term precedent and the sympathy racket was worked hard and very successful and it remains to be seen if the latter is to become a foremost factor in local elections. The vote was a light one except in the towns, and in Wayne and Winneston local candidates seemed to be able to meet particular favor at the hands of the voters. While democrats are jubilant over the partial victory, republicans are not disheartened by any means and two years hence will doubtless find the latter in the field with a strong ticket and an enthusiasm that cannot be set aside by any set back such as the one just received.

AN AWFUL SITUATION

Russia's Fourth Day of Continued Terror

Dispatches from Russia are very meager with regard to the disturbed condition. The situation in St. Petersburg, where order is maintained by a show of armed force, remains critical, although improvement is shown in the result of operations by the restoration of lighting plants. Communication by rail with the frontier has not yet been reestablished.

From many of the interior cities come reports of conflicts, in which the Jews appear to be the principal sufferers. In Kiev the loss of life and property has been great. In Kharkoff and Saratoff the disorders have been serious. There is an unbridled report that Kishineff has been totally destroyed by fire.

London papers' St. Petersburg correspondents estimate that in the leading fifty provincial towns of Russia 1,000 persons have been killed and 10,000 seriously wounded in the last twenty-four hours.

The revolutionary movement in Finland is unchecked, the Finnish national guard opposing the advance of Russian troops and compelling them to retire.

At St. Petersburg all is quiet. There is no attempt at business, and Cossack patrols are everywhere. Shops have been barricaded, and communication with the frontier has not been restored by railway.

The newspapers are again being issued, and the electric lighting plant has been put in operation.

Friday Count White and Prince Orlowski received the leaders of the progressive constitutional party, including prominent members of the municipality.

TROOPS HOLD ODESSA

Marital Law Declared at the Big Sport

A dispatch to a London news agency from Odessa says that martial law was declared there Thursday afternoon. The police are in the city and are not to be disobeyed. All citizens are forbidden to leave their houses after 9 o'clock in the evening, at which hour all lights must be out. Maxim guns have been placed on positions commanding the streets. Under these conditions, the dispatch says, a repetition of the fearful scenes is practically impossible. The police are practically reorganized at the prospect of witnessing the restoration of order, and the comparative security of the city and property. The military has now adopted drastic measures to force the disorderly mobs to return to their homes.

The London Standard's correspondent at Odessa says: "Within three hours of the declaration of martial law, which came to the unexpected relief of peaceful citizens, no fewer than 5,000 ruffianly looters have been dispersed by the students and the military. How some 30,000 ruffians, however, became possessed of revolvers and an abundance of cartridges is a question requiring solution. The rigorous efforts have been made to search for anyone in the streets after midnight. It is found to arrest anyone appearing at night without a pass or otherwise risks being shot without warning."

Without warning, the correspondent said Thursday that he had done his best with the headmaster forces at his disposal. He was unable to guard the safety of officials and financiers, and he especially advised them to keep within doors."

Weak Hearts
 Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion.
 It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only treatable, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time the heart muscle itself becomes diseased.
 Mr. D. C. French, of Nevada, Cal., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble and was unable to do any work. I was cured by using Dr. King's New Discovery."
 Kodol Digests What You Eat
