LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

A. L. Tocker was doing business in Hoskins Monday.

Joe Jones was down from Carroll Monday morning.

"Doc" Jones and F. A. Berry went to Omaha Monday.

J. R. Manning was a Monday passenger for Milwaukee.

Wakefield is figuring on installing some kind of a lighting plant.

A girl was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Norton of this place.

Geo. Tharp and family, of Carroll, were in Wayne over Sunday visiting relatives.

County Attorney Siman and Harry Prescott were down from Winside Monday afternoon.

Miss Laura Holtz returned Monday morning from a visit with a sister in Dakota county.

The Nebraska Press association will hold its annual session in Lincoln, February 26, 27 and 28.

Wakefield sinners are getting shaking up by an evangelist who is holding meetings in that town.

Lois Sommer, proprietor of the marble and granite works at Randolph, was a Wayne visitor Friday.

L. W. Alter went to Grand Island Saturday to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the A. O. U. W.

Peter Norell and Will Wester and their families will move to North Dakota sometime between now and March 1.

Thos Rawlins, of Wakefield, was in Wayne Friday viewing the many fine residences here to gather ideas to use in building a new dwelling in his home town.

George Porter informs us that his son who had an operation for appendicitis a short time ago is recovering very nicely and will soon be in good health again.

T. A. Berry, traveling auditor for the Edwards & Bradford company, was in Wayne between trains Monday afternoon on his way up the Bloomfield branch.

Miss Mamie Wallace, teacher in the high school building, is forced to take a vacation this week on account of an attack of measles. Her place is supplied by Mrs. Harry Craven.

John Murphy, who lives in the vicinity of Winside was escorted to the Lincoln asylum Saturday by Sheriff Meares, having been adjudged a fit subject for treatment for drunkenness.

The Norfolk Industrial company proposes to make a determined effort to secure another sugar plant to replace the one that was moved from there to Colorado something over a year ago.

The Northwestern has announced its intention of building a new depot of ample dimensions and modern architecture at Norfolk on the site where the former one was burned some months ago.

Mr. Phillips, the lady from Wayne who started a restaurant here a few weeks ago, has quit the business and moved her household effects to Florence. Her restaurant outfit is still here.—Wakefield Republican.

Last week P. J. Samuelson of Wakefield, shipped his personal effects and moved his family to Walworth county, South Dakota, where he has purchased several quarter sections of land and will make his future home.

Rev. C. S. Hughes, the big M. E. preacher from Pender, was shaking hands with friends in Wayne Saturday. His recent lively tussle with infidelity in Pender hasn't reduced his size nor apparently his genial good nature.

Carroll and vicinity seem to have several persons affected with appendicitis. Within the past ten days a daughter of Asher Hurlbut and also Mr. Fitch have been operated on by Dr. Warren, of Sioux City, for this trouble.

Philleo & Son have sold within the past two weeks $1,840 worth of horses of their own raising. Incidentally it may be added that Messrs. Philleo attribute their quick and satisfactory sales to advertising in the local papers.

Wm. Miller was brought here Saturday from Winside and committed to the county jail for failure to pay a fine of $10 and costs assessed against him in a justice's court at that place. He was convicted of disorderly conduct.

Don't overlook the advertisements in the HERALD. Each week they contain bargains which buyers should read and take advantage of. In this day of sharp competition, it pays to keep posted on what is being advertised, and the prudent housekeeper does so.

Roscoe Herrell, the college student who was accidentally shot in the hip by the discharge of a revolver a few weeks ago, is recovering quite rapidly. The bullet has not been removed, but the surgeons believe it will not seriously affect him to let it remain.

Quite a number from around Wakefield are going to the Dakotas this spring. Some have purchased land and others have homesteaded and all go there expecting to materially better their condition and it is to be hoped they will not be disappointed.

Henry Goll writes D. O. Main that he is getting along nicely in his Washington home and that he raised 18,000 bushels of grain last year and is now hauling it to market on sleds and that the ground is covered with a 15-inch coating of snow. He says "Bob" Osborne and Mark Jeffrey recently visited him and were feeling good and are prosperous.

On Friday Joe Benescho showed the HERALD a can of dirt in which flax, corn and wheat are growing luxuriantly. The dirt was taken from his South Dakota claim, twenty miles southwest of Pierre. The soil appears very rich, the stalks of grain attaining a growth of from six to eight inches in eight days.

The high school students had a very successful box social in their room Friday night, realizing $30 in cash, with which to buy new suits for their baseball club. An excellent literary and musical program preceded the box supper, and the evening was most pleasantly spent by the large crowd present.

A large crowd attended the joint installation of officers of the A. O. U. W. and D. of H. last Thursday night. After the installation a number of musical selections were rendered, and an interesting address given by Grand Master Van Dyke of Grand Island, followed by the serving of refreshments. All had a good time.

The Hoskins Headlight, in charge of Bruce Spears, came to our table last week as bright and chipper as a 16-year-old girl. It is an at home print and bears on its face evidence of stability. The HERALD congratulates Hoskins and extends the hand of good fellowship to the paper with the hope that its life may be long and prosperous.

The Concord and Wakefield anti-horse thief societies propose to make it red hot for the fellows who take away the other fellows horses and for the purpose of aiding in the capture of thieves, have purchased a pair of bloodhounds at a cost of $300. The dogs arrived at Wakefield last Saturday and caused considerable excitement by chasing Shoop, the editor of the Republican, up a telephone pole and keeping him there until Dick Tambert finally persuaded the dogs they had the wrong ooon treed.

J. R. Rundell and D. E. Miller, of Wayne, Nebraska, are here looking up locations. They will doubtless move to Basin in the spring, as they are highly assisted with the looks of things here.

... J. T. Hurst and wife, of Wayne, Nebraska, arrived last Friday and will make their home here. Mr. Hurst will put up a large store building at once on his lot north of the Shaffer Hardware & Lumber Co's yards, in which he will establish a wholesale liquor business. He will also put up about 500 tons of ice.—Basin (Wyoming) Republican.

A dispatch from Yankton to the World Herald says: Crofton, Nebraska, is in the midst of such a boom as no town around these parts has enjoyed for years. An inland town with no railroad, few knew it was on the map, but reports from there are to the effect that there will be quite a city there by the time the Omaha road extends from Hartington to Crofton next summer. The demand for corner lots has raised the price to $1000 each, although a month ago the lots could have been had for a promise. Two banks are sure to be established there as well as four lumber yards. The town is situated in a well settled and well-to-do farming community.

If you got onto the Wayne Republican's subscription books during the infamous piano contest conducted by that paper some two years ago, it will probably be well to look up your receipt for amount paid and come to the HERALD office and see whether you have received the credit due you, because we find that W. H. Gibson, the publisher of the Republican, was pretty lax in his business methods and many credits were not given as they should have been when the list was transferred to the Herald. We are anxious to get this mixed matter straightened up and trust you will attend to it.

After an absence of twenty years from this county, Geo. Russell, of Bayard, Guthrie county, Iowa, has returned to visit his brother, Richard P. Russell, of Wayne, and old neighbors near Winner and Beemer. With his wife, son and brother Dick, he visited with Mr. Trucks, of Winner, his former comrade in the 2nd Iowa cavalry, on last Thursday, and with J. E. Spencer and family on Friday and Saturday; also with E. H. Trucks and others in Beemer Saturday afternoon. Mr. Russell formerly owned the quarter section now owned by John Wiesel north of town.—Beemer Times.

Half the hogs belonging to farmers living north, northwest and northeast of Norfolk have died of the hog plague within the past three months. The disease has spread slowly from farm to farm and wherever it has reached to, the hogs have slowly dwindled in numbers until two-thirds and even more of a drove have died. The disease, which is commonly known as the hog plague, is a contagious pneumonia. The diseased animal first shows signs of illness by coughing. It goes off in its feed and then drops slowly away, perhaps living a month before it dies. The farmers have found it almost impossible to cure a hog once infected with the disease or to stop its ravages when found in a drove of hogs. Not a single case of the disease has been reported south of Norfolk.—Norfolk News.

A queer freak in the calf line was born Saturday night at the farm of William Wells, ten miles west of Norfolk. The animal has but one head and in this head are three eyes, two mouths, two sets of teeth and lips, two tongues, two noses and but one ear. The little baby calf uses each of its two mouths at the same time in deriving sustenance for its stomach. It can bite with each set of teeth and can see with each one or all of its eyes. Mr. Wells is at a loss to explain the cause of an extraordinary phenomenon, but attributes it to the fact that during the past year the mother cow has been in a yard with two other younger members of the herd. As the calf is alive and healthy it is probable that Mr. Wells will place it in some circus for exhibition as a freak.—Norfolk News.

The HERALD does not in any way desire to be considered as criticizing the board of county commissioners in its bridge policy because it believes they are doing what they believe to be for the best interest of the county and the taxpayers, but it desires to suggest that in making its contract for the year 1906 it will specify that all bridge building shall be completed on or before November 1. Winter bridge building does not give an opportunity to properly construct approaches and grades and as a result, when spring rains and thaw set in it is almost an impossibility to get on to the bridges with loads. Bridge building should all be completed during the months when the grades approaching bridges can be properly made and have time enough to become raked before the severe freezes of winter set in.

A boy, a gun and a dog formed the trio that brought Brown, the stock feed man, and Wm. Wright, one of Uncle Sam's rural mail carriers, to blows on Sunday. The story as related to us is that one day last week one of Wright's boys, with a gun on his shoulder, was passing Brown's place and for some cause or other took a shot at Brown's dog and it is claimed the bullet came in pretty close proximity to Mrs. Brown who was in the stable. When Brown came home the latter part of the week, complaint was made to him by his wife regarding the shooting, and Brown on Sunday, went over to Wright's to interview the father of the boy and the outcome of the interview was that the two men got into a fist fight and up to date we are not informed as to the amount of physical damage either sustained.

Prof. Bruner is State Entomologist, and his works are standard authority everywhere; his services are sought by all counties; there is such a demand for his students that all of them are placed in good paying positions as fast as he can get them ready. Prof. Bruner will lecture at the opera house in Wayne February 8. Price of admission 10 cents.

Man's efforts in life are largely directed for the purpose of providing not only a competency for the time when he cannot expect to be a bread winner but also that in case of his being called to quit this stage of action he may leave something to provide for the necessities of those dependent on him. The production period of his life at best is of short duration, and many times with his best endeavors he is unable to provide sufficient, but under the conditions existing today there is no excuse for his having his loved ones unprotected for. The Bankers Union of the World is offering a form of policies to those desiring to provide for the future that cannot fail to be satisfactory to anyone who will take the time to examine it, and W. H. Hiltner, a former citizen of this vicinity, is here representing the company, and anyone having the welfare of his loved ones at heart ought to see Mr. Hiltner and have him explain the plan of his company. You can find him at the Union hotel.

ULCER OF THE STOMACH.

Insidious Nature of the Disease How to Recognize and Cure It.

Ulcer of the stomach may exist for years without very marked symptoms, excepting those caused by indigestion.

In good health the stomach resists the action of the gastric juices, but when weakened the membrane is badly nourished and the digestive fluids act upon it as well as upon the food, keeping up until perforation of the stomach occurs. In advanced cases of ulcer of the stomach there is much discomfort from eating, with a constant gnawing sensation between meals, pain from the pit of the stomach back to the shoulder blade.

At the first symptoms of indigestion, treatment should at once be started with Mi-o-na. This is a scientific remedy adapted specifically to one purpose, the cure of stomach troubles. It is so uniformly successful that E. J. Raymond gives a signed guarantee with every 50-cent box that the money will be refunded if it does not cure.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation. Write Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor.

I felt so that it meant my death warrant, and was very despondent. I spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in one of the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before resorting to an operation.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all suffering women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

AFTER HOPE WAS DEAD.

But you are such a slip of a girl! what could you do on a farm? "But I am 16 years old."

"Oh, are you? I would not have imagined it." Bruce Conklin's attention had been distracted, but he now took a good look at the girl standing before him.

"I'm afraid, I'm afraid!" he said at length, as the girl modestly turned her face away from his searching scrutiny.

"My name is Sallie Meadows."

"Oh, but I am not, indeed. I can work. You shall see that I can." "But your weight would not hold you down to such work as you would have to do here."

"How does he talk it?" It was at the post office, while waiting for the mail to be distributed, that she overheard the remark.

"But since you want a girl would you at least give me a chance to try?" "Well, yes, I might do that, but I would first have to consult my aunt."

"My name is Sallie Meadows," the girl answered, and once more she brushed beneath the searching scrutiny of his eyes, and her own felt. Modest in the extreme, she flushed and beamed face bore evidence of the heart she was undergoing, of which Bruce was eventually becoming aware.

"No, Jerome McWade! No, never!" Her cruel words, wrung a groan from the strong man's lips, but he was not yet daunted.

such a little jewel as Sallie she would not have thought possible. Mild, gentle and affectionate, an industrious and competent little worker, that was what the week had disclosed of the new acquisition to the household.

It was not long before Miss Collins began to suspect the possible source of the inspiration that had come into the girl's life, rendering her impetuous to fatigue.

Bruce was engaged. Engaged to a fashionable city butterfly, who would make but an indifferent farmer's wife compared to the jewel he would have had in little Sallie; but since he was no longer free, she would see to it that these attentions to Sallie would cease.

Bruce must not know, neither must his aunt, nor her mother, nor anyone else. She was thankful now that she had never expressed her admiration for him to any of her friends.

"Did you go into that speculation you were talking to me about?" "What do you expect to realize from it?"

"Yes, he tried out my voice and said it was the sweetest he ever heard." "Was it after you had sung for him?"

"No, it was after I had said 'Yes' when he asked me to marry him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Despairing Woman. Weak, Nervous and Wretched from Wasting Kidney Troubles. Mrs. Henry A. I was wretched and nervous, and had backache, bearing down pain, head ache, dizziness and weak eyes. Dropsy set in and bloating of the chest choked me and threatened the heart. THE WAYNE HERALD.

Official paper of Wayne and Wayne county
Published every Thursday.

E. CUNNINGHAM, Publisher

as second class mail matter.

Subscription, $1.00 a Year in Advance.

They tell us that Secretary of State Galusha accepted free passes from the railroads for the year 1906. It was said that when the year 1905 ended he was going to comply with the platform of the last republican state convention and we trust he has done so and that present reports are untrue. We did like to see republican officeholders act like the pigs used to do.

The B. & M. has appealed from the decision of the federal district court in the tax suit against the state of Nebraska. The case will go to the supreme court of the United States and every trick known to shrewd lawyers will be resorted to in order to keep the case from coming to trial and it may be years before a decision is reached and the money owing the state and counties for taxes be kept away from them. The result of this action of the railroad in thus refusing to pay its taxes is an increased levy on the balance of the taxpayers because expenses must be paid.

Geo. D. Perkins, owner and editor of the Sioux City Journal, is a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Iowa. If Iowa has a man in every way fitted for its chief executive that man is George D. Perkins. He is one of the state's pioneers, a man who has always been in close touch with the state's affairs, one who has and always had an abiding faith in the great commonwealth and its people, one who knows its every want and one who has always sought to advance its every interest. The republican party of Iowa is nominating George D. Perkins and we believe itself and rewarding in a small way the great work this man has performed for it and the HERALD hopes to see the nomination made and Perkins elected to the office as he will be if nominated.

The daily press is considerably excited because of the increasing number of desertions from the regular army and is seeking far and wide for the reason therefor. It seems the recent exposures of the leading methods of upper classmen in the military and naval academies ought to shed some light on this subject. Men who resort to these barbarous practices will be tyrants when they come to be commanders of men, and so these are largely the fellows who have charge of the enlisted men in the army. It is not assuming very much to say that without a doubt they subject the private soldier to many things that are very humiliating and in some cases extremely brutal and thus cause the boys having the true spirit of Americans bread in them to refuse to submit, and the only course left open for them is to desert and take the chances of capture and punishment, and even the latter is seldom worse than the indignities they are compelled to suffer at the hands of these graduate snobs.

What is the difference whether the next United States senator from Nebraska is Edward Rosewater, Ross Hammond, Norris Brown or whoever else desires the place. What the people desire to know is who will truly represent Nebraska sentiment in the house of Lords. It is not a matter of personal desire; it is the man who knows the needs of the state and who has the stamina to stand up for these needs that Nebraska wants, and unless she is terribly deceived will elect just such a senator. The candidates for this high office must declare themselves so that all men may know just how they stand. The day of quibbling generalities and actually saying nothing by candidates is past. Let us have men not afraid to declare their positions on the questions of great interest now before the nation. It is not enough to point to any epoch of the past; we want to know how you stand today, and where you expect to be in the future, and if you can't tell us candidly and honestly it will be just as well to chase the senatorial bee out of your bonnet before the people take a snuff at it with the club of their impatience.

The B. & M. and Union Pacific railroads are not going to grow in popular favor with the people of Nebraska by the course they are pursuing in the now infamous tax cases. The people of Nebraska are fair minded and do not desire to do an injustice to any person or corporation but the spirit of antagonism manifested by the railroads in the matter of fighting the taxes levied against them has a tendency to embitter other taxpayers and is liable to cause them to retaliate in ways that will not be entirely pleasing to the railroads. The approaching state conventions will doubtless tackle this matter in not uncertain tones unless the railroads are able to send a majority of the delegates to the conventions pledged to look after their interests and should they succeed in packing either of the party conventions there will be grief for the party so controlled at the polls. Nebraskans, without regard to party, are terribly in earnest in their demands for a square deal and fair deal and we do not believe the party that does not heed the demand. It is not going to be a matter of men presented by the parties as candidates for the offices to be filled; it is going to be a matter of principle, what the candidates stand for, and a positive knowledge that if elected these men will carry out the will of the people instead of being controlled by any individual or corporation for selfish ends.

It is reported the city administration is seriously considering the idea of increasing the charges to consumers for electric lights. If the rates are so low at present as to not pay fixed charges and create a sinking or maintenance fund that will keep the plant in good working order, then it is the proper thing to advance charges. If, on the other hand, as is claimed, the plant not only pays its own way but pays the deficiency created by the waterworks and also helps defray other expenses of the city government, then there can be no reasonable excuse for an advance in electric lighting charges, because it is unfair to consumers to compel them to pay an undue portion of expenses that should be borne alike by all citizens of the city. There is one thing, however, that is patent to every user of the lights and that is that the service is far from satisfactory and ought to be remedied even at an advanced cost if necessary. When the lights are on in the business section of the town persons in many if not all parts of the residence district find the lights far from sufficient for the purposes intended, and a movement ought to be inaugurated to right the defects. We hardly believe, however, that it is just or fair to compel the users of electric lights to pay the entire expense of street lighting because this is something that benefits every resident of the city, and this item ought to be charged up to the city and paid for by it out of the city taxes the same as street work or any other expense is paid. But under the present method the cost of street lighting is charged against the plant and the revenues derived are collected exclusively from the individual consumer and any deficiency that arises is charged to the consumer not paying high enough rates. There is no reason why the person who illuminates his place of business or home by other than electric lights should escape paying their fair share of the cost of street lighting and the city council ought to take this feature of the matter into consideration before they conclude to raise rates on the present consumers. Then there is another feature of this matter that ought to be thought of and that is a minimum monthly charge the same as is fixed to water consumers. There are times when the plant has to be kept in readiness for the demand likely at any time to occur for the extreme limit of its capacity and the consumer at the same time will be figuring in every way possible to cut his electric light bills just as low as possible, and while economy is commendable, it is pretty hard to figure out just how to meet the conditions brought about by these varying whims of the consumer and a minimum monthly rate would to some extent overcome too close economy on the part of the user.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Miss Bush of Battle Creek is a late arrival. The epidemic of measles is about over, much to the relief of both students and those in charge of the sick.

Revs. Osborne and Daley visited chapel exercises during the past week, and both gave fine talks to the students.

Miss Thelander, who left a few weeks ago to take charge of a school in Knox county, writes that she has a fine school and is enjoying her work very much.

Rev. Trefy of Omaha visited the college Tuesday afternoon. He expressed himself as being very well pleased with the growth of the school since his last visit.

Mrs. Cronk of Page has been at the college for the past week, looking after her daughter who has been quite sick. The young lady is rapidly improving and will soon be able to be around again.

The mid-term examinations were held last Friday and the results were gratifying to both teachers and students. In spite of the crowded condition at the present time, the work being done is excellent.

"Don't whine; don't envy your competitor; it is time lost. Attend to your own business and pay no attention to the business of the other fellow, he has his griefs just the same as you have and besides it will require all the energy and brains you possess to properly run your own affairs, so don't waste either."

Don't grieve, my boy, because you are not the son of a Field, Gould, Vanderbilt, Rockefeller or Clark. Remember you are an American, born in a country whose golden opportunities are open to everyone and that success crowning efforts of your own will be much more satisfactory than any ready-made package that can be handed you.

Tomorrow is Ground Hog day which will pass unobserved by special remedies at this place. It is presumed the animal will quietly issue forth, witness its shadow and return to its subterranean habitation in anticipation of future outbreaks of Arctic winter. People would feel disappointed if it didn't see its shadow and by that authentically prophetic sign declared the end of something that has not as yet begun.

Charley Spahr and family left yesterday for north central Kansas where they expect to reside in the future. We are sorry to see Charley leave as he is the kind of citizen that communities want, a man that attends strictly to his own affairs, upright, honest, industrious and a good citizen and neighbor who will carry with him to his new home the best wishes of his neighbors and acquaintances.

It is hoped that the growing opposition to "hazing" in colleges will stop the barbarous practice which has wrecked the mental and physical powers of many young men, and often caused death. The son of Judge Hall of Lincoln recently died at the age of 24 as the result of mistreatment at West Point whose federal school he entered in perfect health. It is a disgrace to civilization that young lives, full of promise, are impaired or destroyed to satisfy coarse, brutal, cold-blooded devilry.

William Miller of Winside is in the county jail serving out a sentence imposed by a Winside Justice of the Peace. It seems William is quite a "boozier" and when he gets a good sized jag aboard he proceeds to make things rather torrid around home even to the extent of taking a swipe at his better half. Finally the other side of the house got tired of this procedure and thought that William ought to be using his finances in providing floor and meat for the support of the family instead of investing so freely in extract of rye and filed a complaint against him and as a result Bill is playing checkers with his nose in hotel de Meurs.

There is some talk among our citizens, we understand, of forming a club for the purpose of playing golf, tennis, croquet and other outdoor sports. It is planned that such an organization would take in young and old, and any who care to take advantage of such a form of exercise and recreation. There has certainly been a great lack of anything of the kind in Wayne and our people are beginning to feel the need of something that will take them out into the fresh air and sunshine, thus promoting health, happiness and long life. We believe that such a movement would be a popular one with both men and women, boys and girls, and we hope to see it meet with the success it deserves.

Ted Perry says that one day last week Jay Cole who works for P. M. Corbis was out in the pasture quite a distance from the farm buildings and thought he heard the "peeping" of little chickens and on investigation discovered in a tuft of grass alongside of the fence an old hen with a nice brood of chickens just a few days old. Jay gathered up the hen and chicks and took them to the house where they are doing nicely, but what we desire to particularly call your attention to is the Nebraska climate that will permit a hen to hatch a brood of chickens in the open in mid-winter. If any of you fellows know of anything that can beat Nebraska climate or Nebraska hens we would like to have you stand up and tell about it.

John C. Pawelski appeared before Justice Feather Tuesday afternoon in answer to an action charging him with depositing a miscellaneous collection of rubbish on a lot within the city limits near the residence of Anton Biegler, the latter gentleman being the complainant. Announcing that his attorney of Norfolk, was necessarily absent on account of serving as a member of the supreme bench in Lincoln, the defendant was duly authorized to officiate as his own adviser and pleader. Attorney Davis, for the city, introduced the testimony of several witnesses to show that the allegations in the complaint were correct. Pawelski cross examined them with considerable energy, and later took the stand for himself, performing the dual role of questioner and witness. In the closing arguments, he followed the city's attorney with a speech in which his explanation rather conflicted with the evidence of the plaintiff's witnesses. At the end, after Justice Feather had found him guilty and assessed the minimum fine of $3, he gave the justice somewhat of a worthy lambasting, but at the latter choked down his first inclination to fine him for contempt of court. As a finale to the proceedings, the crowd present, including the justice, raised $1.50 of the fine, and the balance was remitted by order of the mayor.

PROF. BRUNER TO LECTURE.

On December 26th Professor Bruner who holds the chair of Entomology in the State University, delivered a lecture before our school on "Birds and Bugs" which was very interesting and instructive; it seemed to strike the boys in the right place. After the professor had spoken an hour and one-half he wanted to stop, but the boys would not listen and compelled him to continue one-half hour longer and then with great reluctance allowed him to close. The lecture was full of practical information and instructions concerning the subject of Birds and Insects which are so common and of which the ordinary person knows so little. He had a number of specimens from the University Museum which he used to illustrate his lecture.—Kearney Courier.

Prof. Bruner gives this interesting and instructive lecture at the opera house Thursday, February 8. The price of admission is placed at 100—no reserved seats—making it possible for everyone to attend.

MOST WORTHY PLAY.

To be presented by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church on February 15, that wonderful drama, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, taken from Robert Louis Stevenson's masterpiece of the same name. This announcement will be hailed with pleasure as this play is one of the greatest dramas before the public today. Mr. Edwin Strong (better known here as Arthur Sivilize) will portray the title role.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

A congregational meeting was held at the Presbyterian church Monday evening, and among other business receiving attention was action concerning the desire of Rev. Theo. C. Osborne to resign as pastor of the church in order that he might leave here to complete his residence on a homestead in western Nebraska. The congregation voted to concur with the pastor in requesting the Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relationship. Rev. Osborne expects to move from here March 1, when he will go to his homestead to remain at least a year. The members and friends of the church regret to see him leave, and hope that he may some time return and again become pastor of the Wayne church.

A committee of five was appointed to present plans for a new parsonage to the April meeting of the congregation. The financial report for the year 1905 was given by the treasurer in brief as follows: General receipts, $1950; expenditures, $1850; balance on hand, $100; improvements—pipe organ, $2200.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN.

Hyomei Inhaler That is Guaranteed by E. J. Raymond to Cure Catarrh. Thousands who have been cured by Hyomei, call the Inhaler that comes with every outfit, "the little pocket physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarrh now that Hyomei is so readily obtainable. If you have any doubts about its value Mr. Raymond will let you have a complete outfit with the understanding that unless it cures catarrh, it will not cost you a cent.

A complete Hyomei outfit consists of "the little pocket physician," a medicating dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only $1, while additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents, making it the most economical, as well as the most reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Complaint is made that Wayne has not been paying as high for grain as some other towns in this vicinity and that as a consequence considerable business which should have come here has been lost. Farmers naturally had their grain to the best market and while there do their trading. There seems no good reason why Wayne should suffer such disadvantage and injury, and it looks as though the commercial club, if there is still such an organization, should consider the facts and change the condition, which can be done by united effort. Let the club get together, hear complaints, and if higher prices are paid for grain elsewhere ascertain the reason, and then act judiciously and effectively. If there are good grounds for the complaint, no delay should be allowed in doing something.
