Unless differences between employers and employes in the coal mines of Pennsylvania and several other states are amicably settled in the meantime, one of the bitterest industrial wars in the history of the country will begin April 1 when about 400,000 workmen will strike. It is hoped conflicting interests can be harmonized and the threatened trouble averted. This hope is based mainly in consideration for the balance of the eighty some millions of people who will become innocent sufferers of the conflict. We don't know the real merits of either side, but it looks as though both were more or less arrogant, arbitrary and bull-headed and more indifferent to the sufferings of the American people than they should be. There ought to be a way to force reasonable settlements of disputes between labor and capital without injuring the prosperity of a whole nation. A reduction in freight rates on coal might help the warring mine operatives and mine owners in getting together peaceably.

RALPH RUNDELL

THE WAYNE HERALD.

Official paper of Wayne and Wayne county. Published every Thursday.
E. CUNNINGHAM, Publisher
Subscription, $1.00 a Year in Advance.

The distinguished Longworth-Roosevelt wedding in the White House takes place next Saturday—an event which has occupied a great deal of newspaper space of late.

If Ross Hammond has said how he is hitched up with the railroads he has escaped our notice. Having some other fellow write a letter like that published elsewhere by his North Bend friend does not fill the bill. Let Ross speak for himself.

Being a great Attorney General for the state of Nebraska doesn't indicate that a man may be exactly the man to represent the same state in the United States senate, but his actions as Attorney General in connection with his other known qualifications go a long way toward making him a pretty strong man in the estimation of the people of the state.

Senator Millard announces that he is going to support President Roosevelt's railroad views. It took a long time to smoke the old man out and this jumping onto the tail board of the wagon is just a trifle late to put the old gentleman in real good time for the Nebraska senatorial race. Nebraska wants a senator who is ready to lead in good movements, not one who has to be dragged out by the nape of the neck and kicked into line.

The Herald does not want Nebraska's next United States senator to be the plant tool of any man, men or corporation, neither does it want him to be a crank, an anti, one of those extremists who can see no good in organized capital or men pulling together for legitimate accomplishments. It wants him to be a big, brainy fellow, broad in his views and full to the chin of pure Americanism, one with the capacity to see things in the broad light of common sense and with the manliness to stand pat against extremists or wrong doers, no matter who they are.

Just now efforts are being made through the United States to introduce and pass laws restricting marriage to persons who have passed physical and mental examinations at least, and who shall have shown themselves fit in a financial way to withstand the burdens and responsibilities that life entails upon households. The matter is not taken seriously at all times, but there was a living example brought into Norfolk last week of the extreme fitness of such a measure. Two people, a man and his wife, both of them insane, and with two tiny children, were brought to the Norfolk hospital for treatment. It is seldom that a man and his wife are both insane, but it so happened with this couple from Wakefield. One of the little children is a babe in arms and it was a pitiful sight when Sheriff Means carried her back to Wayne to give away to anybody who would take her. There is every reason to believe that these two children, when they grow up, will both be insane. It surely seems wrong that this couple were allowed to marry. They have brought misery and burdens and woe into the world, and the world must take care of them because they are infirm and helpless and irresponsible. And this is but a single instance of a far-reaching truth.—Norfolk News.

THE U. S. SENATORSHIP.

Wayne Herald: "If reports are true, Ross Hammond is getting the pledges of a good many of the newspaper boys of the state to support him in his candidacy for the United States senatorship. Has anybody found out yet just how Ross is hitched up with the railroads?"

Dear Sir: The enclosed clipping from the "Bee" is my reason for addressing you. I like your way of getting at things. You certainly do not overestimate the importance of knowing just where our candidates for the United States senatorship stand, regarding the great questions before us. Your appeal to Mr. Hammond to tell

"just where he stands" is eminently proper.

But it occurred to me that a statement from one who has known him long, might also, in a measure, be interesting.

Soon after the close of the Civil War, I came to Nebraska and opened a stock and grain farm in Dodge county, which has been my home for thirty-eight years, so that what I say, will be from the standpoint of an agriculturist.

You ask "has anybody found out yet just how Ross is hitched up with the railroads?"

I think an answer to that question would be, in the same way that every true progressive man in the state is hitched up with them.

Who of us does not want to see the railroads enjoy all the rights and privileges which the large contribution they have made to the great prosperity of our state, entitles them to?

But when it comes to the domination of the state by any CORPORATION or CLASS of MEN, you will find Mr. Hammond true to the motto of our state: Equality before the Law.

His whole life has brought him into vital touch with most of the important interests of our state and nation, a relation, which I think is acknowledged to be true of all real journalists.

And while those in which we live is called an age of specialists, I think that all observing men will agree that the United States is one place where specialists are out of order.

Our senators should not be limited in their variety of experience or honor. Doubtless you have heard the retort of the lawyer who went to the bank to obtain a loan: "The banker said I don't know—your legal gentlemen don't seem to have any commercial honor. His quick reply was, "BANKERS HAVE, BUT THAT IS THE ONLY KIND."

We need a senator who will be honorable with his state and nation, honorable with the railroads, honorable with bankers, with merchants, as well as honorable with farmers and mechanics, with honest labor in whatever form, in short, the hardest thing of all, we want him to be honest with himself. Such a MAN we have in Ross L. Hammond. Such a SENATOR Nebraska will be very fortunate to obtain

JOHN P. EATON.

Talks our correspondent, who has known Ross Hammond for more than a quarter of a century and for the past dozen years we have quite an intimate knowledge of his political alliances and this is why we are anxious to have Ross express himself on the political issue in which this state is so vitally interested and his attitude and the earmark so easily identified by us in this correspondence, reminds us of a story:

A green Vermont Yankee was over in Canada and went into a store filled with loafers; one of the clerks in the store was a pert young fellow who noticed Jonathan's evident verdancy and at once began to "josh" him and put all kinds of conundrums to him, much to the proprietor's discomfiture. Jonathan noticed that the proprietor was very silent and so he suggested the following to the clerk: "Why did Balaban's ass speak?" Of course the clerk couldn't answer and Jonathan gave the reason "because his master was a stuttering man."

The volunteer firemen who hurried into the freezing elements in response to the fire alarm Tuesday night and who endured severe hardships in fighting and checking the fierce flames, deserve praise and substantial remuneration. It should be borne in mind that most of the young men of the volunteer company who brave the bitter cold and threaten their health to rescue the property of fellow creatures from jeopardy, are not themselves property owners and are only inspired by an unselfish devotion to the interests of others and the general public welfare.

A letter has been received in Wayne from a gentleman of Dunlap, Io., at whose residence the Holdoblers stopped on their way to Chicago last summer, and relates a story which clearly shows the insanity of Holdobler and wife. Referring to the unfortunate family, the letter says in part: "When they came along here they were in very poor condition. They were sick, had no clothing, no money and nothing to eat. He left his team, buggy and harness with me because he didn't have any money and wanted to go to Chicago. I gave him $30, and he told me not to sell the team, for he was coming back and get them and return the money. We boarded him for several weeks and gave him a house to live in. He told us that all his improvements were burned and that his stock was being poisoned; that he left two horses, chickens and hogs; all he could do to save his life; had to go through corn field so he wouldn't be seen."

LOSS BY FIRE.

The Fair Store Totally Destroyed—Mr. Robbins' Stock and the Miller and Bressler Buildings Are Greatly Damaged.

The Fair Store, owned by I. Reiffel and occupying the brick building of P. L. Miller, was the scene of a raging conflagration late Tuesday night. Mr. Reiffel's stock of general merchandise, valued at $14,000, is a total loss, with insurance of $9,500. The building, costing about $8,000, is estimated to have sustained $3,000 worth of damage, being insured for $2,000. The adjoining brick building and its fixtures, costing between $3,500 and $4,000, were badly wrecked by an explosion, and its contents, the new mercantile stock of Chas. Robbins, were greatly damaged by the falling roof and a combination of fire, smoke and water. On Mr. Bressler's building was insurance of $2,500, and Mr. Robbins' stock, injury to which is impossible to even approximate at this writing, was insured for $5,000. The heat and explosion broke the plate glass windows in the front of Ed. Raymond's drug store and caused a loss of between $300 and $400.

The fire was discovered at 10:30 o'clock and the first one to see it was Al. Sherbahn who had paid company with Marshal Miner on the corner opposite the Fair Store five minutes before and was in the act of removing a shoe preparatory to going to bed when he heard the noise of falling glass. Looking down the street, he saw the blazing store, and immediately hurried to the fire bell and gave the alarm. After leaving Mr. Sherbahn, Marshal Miner crossed the street and in accordance with his duty tried the doors and looked into the windows of the buildings down the street, beginning with the Fair Store, and had reached Wm. Damme's cigar store and had been there but a few moments when he heard the alarm.

A. R. Davis, Dr. Cosner, Luther Peterson and Thos. Holtz, who occupy rooms in the rear of the old Wayne National bank building, rushed out at the first sound of the bell and made a run for the hose cart. They soon had a line of hose stretched and were throwing water on the fire. They were reinforced by the gathering crowd, and a little later a second line of hose was laid and did effective work. When the hose cart arrived the interior of the store was a scorching mass of flames which poured from every door and window. Thus, there was no hope of saving any of the contents of the Fair Store, the effort being to prevent loss to adjoining property.

A north wind whipped the fire around into the new store of Chas. Robbins, and destroyed some of the goods in the front, though a torrent of water prevented the flames from spreading. Within fifteen minutes after the water had been turned on, a big explosion occurred, presumably in the Bressler building, and simultaneous with it the roof collapsed, one corner turning over. What caused the explosion is not known. It is conjectured that hot air forced from the intense heat of Chas. Robbins, into space between the ceiling and roof of the Bressler building produced the shock and the wreck. There was no material or fluid in the store to explode, gas-lighting apparatus in the rear being wholly intact.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Reiffel and his clerk, Mr. Blessing, left the store together shortly after 8 o'clock, and before leaving filled the stove with coal. The stove shows the effects of an explosion, whether causing the conflagration or occurring during its progress cannot be known. J. T. Leahy, who was writing letters at his drug store, says he heard a light explosion about the time the alarm was sounded. Mr. Reiffel states that there was no gasoline in the building. Besides the heated stove, the supposition of a live electric light wire is suggested. But whatever the cause, the trimmings and various inflammable materials with which the store was decorated, converted the room into a roaring furnace in a short time after the fire started.

Besides loss to the two buildings and contents in the front of Mr. Raymond's store, the city sustained some damage to its wires. The telephone exchange had only one wire put out of business.

Mr. Robbins is moving his stock to temporary quarters in Robt. Mellor's building, awaiting the adjustment of his loss and the repair and refitting of the Bressler room. For two weeks he had been receiving new goods and getting them into shape for a grand opening on the 24th inst. Of the insurance policies which he had taken out, the last one was issued on the day before the fire.

Mr. Reiffel says he expects to remain in Wayne and re-engage in business here as soon as he is able to do so.

Workmen are already clearing away the debris, and both Messrs. Bressler and Miller announce their intention of reconstructing their buildings with as little delay as possible.

The aggregate loss, above insurance, amounts to several thousand dollars, and the misfortune to those directly interested is regretted by the entire community. The two merchants who are suddenly thrown out of business with severe losses, suffer hardships that are especially heavy.

With a clear sky the eclipse of the moon Thursday night was clearly visible and no doubt many here witnessed it. There are people who think such an eclipse is caused by another celestial body coming between the earth and the moon. Instead, the moon merely gets into the earth's shadow. All planets are millions of miles farther from the earth than the moon and consequently none could pass between them.

The News reports unsubstantiated rumors of a democratic rally being launched at Norfolk. A second rally there has been undertaken and failed so often that one would suppose common prudence would prevent ambitious journalists from trying it. It is easy for people who can lose nothing by newspaper enterprises and who know less than nothing about the requirements for their success, to encourage them to start by expatiating on the need of the community, etc., but the wise newspaper man who has succeeded in the business can appreciate the situation when the field is full and will keep out.

Kenneth McRea who used to live on a farm north of Carroll, but who is now residing near Pender, was brought to Wayne Tuesday by Sheriff Young of Thurston county on complaint of E. A. Aegerter of Randolph, who alleges that McRea disposed of mortgaged property while living in this county. The county attorney of Thurston county accompanied the man under arrest to act in his behalf. Arriving here, it was found that the complaint had been sworn to before a notary public instead of the county judge, making it illegal, and accordingly, in the absence of Mr. Aegerter, the prisoner was released and allowed to return home. Whether further action will be taken or not, the Herald has not learned.

The other day a fake "press agent" invaded the capitol at Lincoln. He represented that he would formulate some pretty puff of the Nebraska state officials and publish them when and where they would do the officials the most good. The fakir figured that this being election year he would find the state's guardians easy money, and he was right about it. They checked out the last cent they had in the bank and gave it to the gentleman. It was a come-on graft that worked like a charm. The incident is submitted as proof of the wisdom of having fewer elections to put the trembling and doubting candidates at the mercy of wicked and designing persons.—Fremont Tribune.

Fire was discovered in the back part of Geo. Farran's store at Winside at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and his entire stock, together with the brick building which he occupied, belonging to John Mandy, were totally destroyed. The stock was valued at $7,500 and had insurance of $4,500. The building was worth between $3000 and $4000, with insurance of $1000. The origin of the fire is not positively known. An oil lamp was left burning in the rear of the store, as had been the custom, and it may have exploded and started the destruction. When the discovery was made the interior of the fated building presented a roaring sea of flames, and it looked then and for some time afterwards as though a large portion of the business part of town would be wiped out. But citizens promptly responded to the alarm and in the absence of waterworks quickly organized a bucket brigade. Nearly two hundred buckets hurried water on the burning store and adjoining buildings. A. H. Carter's frame building six feet away and F. S. Tracy's brick structure, occupied by his furniture stock and the postoffice, frequently caught fire and it was only through the heroic efforts of the citizens that they were saved. The strong wind that was blowing made the work doubly difficult. Goods were moved from Mr. Carter's building and the contents of the postoffice and Mr. Tracy's stock on the lower floor were taken to places of safety. Clearing of these two buildings and removal of their contents caused a loss of several hundred dollars.

RATE BILL IS PASSED.

THE HEPBURN MEASURE GOES THROUGH THE HOUSE.

Opposed by Only Seven Votes—Emboldens Means of the President and Will Increase Powers of Commerce Commission.

The House Thursday passed the Hepburn railroad rate bill by a vote of 246 to 7. Those voting against the bill were Mr. Atchafalaya, Mr. McCall, Perkins, Sibley, Southwick, Woodland and Weeks.

Following Mr. Cushman's address and the speeches of Messrs. Mann and Hepburn, the House spent until 7 o'clock Wednesday evening trying to amend the measure. But after an exciting session it was left intact, despite a flood of amendments launched against it.

For three hours amendment after amendment was offered, but all went down in defeat. These contained all manner of propositions, such as regulating preferential rates, the long and short haul, pass and port procedure, whole rate bills and parts of bills.

The majority leader, Mr. Williams, summarized the bill and all that had been done by Congress, and went over the ground that had been debated at length during the last ten days. He concluded with an expression of the hope that the House would stay in session until the beginning of the next session, before it would yield to an adjournment which might be put on in the Senate the effect of which might be to weaken the bill.

Mr. Hepburn, in his concluding speech, took up in turn the points made in opposition to the bill. First he deprecated the effort to claim political credit. He reviewed the progress and development of railroads during the last twenty years to show that the interests of the country had not been neglected, and that the progress of the industry had not been retarded by the construction of works which had been made a point of opposition. Mr. Hepburn showed the ability of getting unanimity on that point. He asserted not a member of the House could write a twenty-word sentence that would not be capable of two constructions.

President of the Bill. Mr. Hepburn explained that the bill was framed and did, so far as it could be made, to comply specifically with the recommendations of President Roosevelt in the rate question. It gives the Interstate Commerce Commission authority when it rate has been complained of, to investigate by a shipper, to inquire whether the rate is reasonable, and if found to be unreasonable, to require a rate which is to be just and reasonable and fairly remunerative, which is to be the maximum rate to be charged.

This rate so fixed is to not to effect thirty days after it is announced by the commission, and is to be subject to be set aside or suspended by the commission or by the courts. After it has been set aside it is to remain the rate for three years. During this time the opinion has been expressed by those who have participated in the debate that the rate may also be reviewed by the courts at any time, and that the courts, in the exercise of their power, may, by being constructive, can be set aside by the courts.

Another important feature is the definition of the words "railroad" and "transportation." In a manner to exclude all auxiliary instrumentalities of the common carrier and to bring them within the control of the commission. This power to make a reasonable rate and the inclusion of the auxiliaries within the jurisdiction of the commission are said to be the new features. All other provisions are modifications of existing law. They include publicity of railroad methods, which is to be secured by providing a system of book-keeping and an elaborate system of reports to seven members and increasing their salaries to $10,000 a year.

More than 100 tons of quinine yearly. In the United States every year. The quinine is obtained from the bark of several species of the cinchona tree, whose native home is in South America. MAGOON ANSWERS BIGELOW.

Governor of Canal Zone Replies to Writer's Criticisms.

Charles F. Magoon, Governor of the Panama Canal zone, has also a message to the writer's commission and the American minister to the republic of Panama, but who draws but one salary, is back home for a visit and to attend the meeting of the commission. He contradicts almost every assertion made by Poutney Bigelow concerning the state of affairs on the isthmus. He says that a large part of the 18,000 workmen are now engaged in the canal work, and as healthful as possible by drainage and the use of kerosene to destroy the mosquitoes by fumigation and netting. He says there is not a single gnawing house or house of ill repute in the zone. Most of the women who have been brought there from Marquette were living with their declared husbands and the rest were engaged in domestic work.

Mr. Bigelow has sent a check for $1,000 to the Louisville Courier-Journal, which he agrees to forfeit if, upon fair investigation, his statements are proved untrue. He says he does not think it a very severe thing to be called a liar, but extremely disagreeable to be proved one. As to his refusal to give the names of his correspondents, he says that every journalist knows that such confidences are his stock in trade.

Niagara Power at Syracuse.

A new era in the electrical distribution of Niagara's power is begun with the signing of a contract by a company on the Canadian side of the falls to deliver electrical power in the city of Syracuse by means of a transmission line. It is said to be considering a transmission line to Cleveland and other Lake Erie cities. It is now regarded as probable that Niagara power will ultimately be sent to New York City. The power is disseminated by the Niagara Lockport and Ontario Power Company, which has secured rights in its own direction, utilizing alternating current, and retaining insulators on steel towers 55 feet high. Each pylon has nineteen strands of heavy aluminum wire. This company is expected to furnish the electrical power for the New York Central lines west of Syracuse. The power is to have a total capacity of 250,000 horse-power.

Shoes Are to Cost More.

At a recent Boston meeting of the shoe manufacturers of New England it was agreed that the prices of shoes must be raised in view of the fact that the staples of the shoe industry had increased 52 per cent in cost within the last few years. This increase was attributed to reduced consumption of raw material, to a scarcity of leather, the use of tanning in the far west, and to the increased and increased consumption of leather owing to poor quality. The manufacturers justify their course by saying that they are denied access to the open market of the world by the duty on hides which they say protects an industry, but only serves the purpose of enabling the beef trust to levy tribute on the people.

Cleveland Criticizes Doctors.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland, in addressing the New York State Medical Society at Albany, Tuesday on the occasion of its 100th anniversary, frankly criticized the medical profession for failing to take patients more into their confidence. He thought it was their high and mighty profession that gave the quack a name and a name to the Legislature. He was heartily applauded.

By a vote of 27,437 to 11,760, the Brotherhood of Carpenters has decided to increase its per capita tax instead of continuing assessments.

The National Board of Conciliation in the building trades in England has lately been organized, which already has 134,000 men pledged to give the proposal a fair trial, comprising joiners, masons and bricklayers.

The annual report of the Piano and Organ Workers' Union, one of the infant international unions, shows that during 1905 benefits aggregating $45,284.91 were paid, distributed as follows: $17,733.42, sick $12,089.54, death $4,460.

According to Dun's mercantile agency the cost of living has risen 37 per cent in the last seven years. With the exception of a few workers in some of the highly organized trades, this increase is much greater than the increase in wages for the same period.

Tilghery's Union, No. 22, of Boston, recently adopted its wage request for $4.10. It provides for a minimum of $4.00 a day for journeymen, for the eight-hour day, and also for a Saturday afternoon half holiday. The demand rate for the Saturday half day is fixed at $2.50.

The painters in Chicago have demanded an increase in wages from 45 to 50 cents a hour, and several contractors have been held between representatives of the union and the master painters. The indications now say that the men will be granted the increase without being compelled to strike.

State labor inspector Thomas J. Scally, in his annual report to the commissioner of labor and statistics, states that in Kentucky 10,488 women are employed in the textile industry. The compensation for 87 1/2 cents. The average compensation for men is $1.03 1/2. He says that women who belong to organized labor are receiving nearer the wages paid to men. The inspector praises Kentucky's child labor law, and says: "It has done more for future generations than any law enacted in Kentucky for many years."

Twenty million pretzels were manufactured by Derks company (Pa.) bakeries in 1905. One baking establishment leads the list with 10,000,000 pretzels; another made 4,000,000; the third comes close with 3,000,000. It required more than 5,000 barrels of flour to make the 20,000,000 pretzels. Nearly 100 men were kept busy all the year by the work. The pretzels were not only sold to Pennsylvania consumers, but were shipped to nearly all the States and territories. Great shipments were made to Spokane, Wash., and to the great cities of California.

Although the agreement between the Missouri and British Association and the Bricklayers' Union of Chicago will expire May 1, no trouble is expected in that trade. The bricklayers will not ask for any increase this year, as there was such a demand for men last season that the minimum scale of 92 1/2 cents an hour was practically maintained. The men were paid in many instances as high as 75 cents an hour. They expect the same conditions will prevail this year, and they are not particularly interested in the minimum scale, as very few of the members work for it.

CONGRESS

THE FIRST FORMAL READING OF THE STATEHOOD BILL WAS BEGUN IN THE SENATE FRIDAY.

The first formal reading of the statehood bill was begun in the Senate Friday, and it was rejected, and a consideration of the measure was postponed. The shipping bill was the subject of considerable debate, Mr. Patterson attacking and Mr. Gallinger and Mr. Perkins supporting it. The provision prohibiting vessels from receiving subsidies for more than ten voyages struck out. One hundred and eighty pension bills were passed. Another measure adopted provides for a survey for a new deep harbor on Lake Michigan. The Senate adjourned until Monday. Speeches on the railway rate bill occupied the House for six hours. Mr. McCall of Massachusetts attacked the measure, while Messrs. Burton of Ohio, Russell of Texas, Thomas of North Carolina, Burke of South Dakota and Goulden of New York supported it.

Various phases of the railroad rate question were thrashed over in the House Saturday in the course of nine speeches which occupied six and one-half hours. Messrs. Clayton (Ala.), Henry (Texas), Eash (Wis.), Kennedy (Ohio), Crumpecker (Ind.), Ellis (Mo.), Hogg (Colo.), Floyd (Mo.) and Page (N. C.) spoke. There was no session of the Senate.

The Senate was treated to a sensation Monday when Mr. Patterson (Colo.) introduced a resolution in effect declaring the action of the Democratic caucus against the Santo Domingo treaty Saturday to have been contrary to the federal constitution. Consideration of the resolution went over. It was decided next week to consider the shipping bill Wednesday, Feb. 14, at 5 p. m. Mr. Teller made a speech against the measure. Several bills were passed and the Senate adopted a resolution calling on the Postmaster General for information as to the number of postal clerks killed in railroad accidents during the last five years. A considerable fault was found with the railroad rate bill in the House. Mr. J. D. (Mo.) opened the session with an attack on the measure. Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) ridiculed the alleged popular demand for the legislation. Ten other speeches were made, all favorable to the bill. The fortifications appropriation bill was reported.

The Senate Tuesday gave up the entire session to a review of its prerogatives in the framing of treaties. The question was raised by Mr. Bacon in a speech on his resolution requesting information concerning the Algerian conference. He was followed by Mr. Spooner, and the matter was closed by a discussion between them. The discussion of the Patterson resolution concerning the Democratic caucus action went over. A resolution directing the committee on immigration to make an investigation of the Chinese boycott was adopted. The House fixed the end of the general debate on the tariff bill at 10 o'clock. Mr. Patterson and seven other speeches were made. Mr. Gillette (Texas) expressed dissatisfaction with the reply of the interstate commerce commission to his resolution concerning the Pennsylvania railroad combination, and announced that he would address a resolution to the House on that subject. A resolution make a thorough investigation along indicated lines.

The Senate chamber Wednesday was made the scene of an effort to administer party discipline to a member of that body and the proceedings were filled with dramatic interest. Mr. Patterson was the subject of the effort, and Mr. Butler the instrument of the Democratic party. The proceedings were in connection with Mr. Patterson's resolution of renunciation against the Democratic caucus action opposing the Santo Domingo treaty, and although the subject was thrashed over through the day, the House did not include all preliminary steps to the passage of the railroad rate bill, and put off the final action until Thursday at noon. The closing speeches were made by Bourke Cockran, Mr. Mann (Ill.), Minority Leader William M. Hayden, and Mr. Patterson. The debate was the first of the year on this vote on this issue.

The Senate devoted a short session Thursday to a review of the many questions being subordinated temporarily. Mr. Tillman again made reference to the charge that the railroads in West Virginia were discriminating against private coal mines and had read a letter from the governor of the State, which was referred to the committee on interstate commerce. The urgent deficiency appropriation bill was reported and the railroad rate bill was received from the House. A number of bills were passed, including the following: Placing telegraph operators of the Civil War on a permanent basis; authorizing the use of $1,000,000 of the reclamation fund for the drainage of lands in North Dakota; authorizing the construction of a dam across Rock river at Grand Detour, Ill., and a large number of private pension bills. The House passed the railroad rate regulation bill by a vote of 340 to 7. The pension appropriation bill, carrying $129,000,000 for pensions and $1,245,000 for the drainage of lands in North Dakota, was passed. Other measures passed were as follows: To prevent leaks in government crops; report calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information regarding charges of irregularities in the Klappan, Okla., land office; to open for settlement 505,000 acres of land in the Klappan, Okla., and Apache reservations in Oklahoma.

Notes of the National Capital.

The House committee will report bill carrying army appropriation of $70,000,000. President Roosevelt urges Senators to insist on the passage of rate bill similar to the Hepburn measure. Senator Carter, speaking for the ship subsidy bill declared it favored by the entire Rocky Mountain region. Secretary Root, after reading the Canadian Viceroy's report, sent word to Minister Russell to insist on Castro settling the asphalt claims. The Cincinnati Receivers and Shipper's Association has sent a message to President Roosevelt pleading him support the bill declared in light.

The President sent a message to Congress urging an appropriation of $25,000 for the employment of experts to investigate the methods employed in the various executive departments in connection with the works of the Keop Commission, to be the subject of the Japanese diet to the post-bellum financial scheme of the government, information has reached the Japanese embassy in Washington that the same government is confident that the measure will eventually be adopted.

From Far and Near.

Germany, the Apache warrior, has just been married for the eighth time at the age of 70. John J. Crum, aged 67 years, at one time one of the leading fire shots of the country, died in Kennebunk, Me. Albert F. Springsteen, connected with the pension office, claims to have been the youngest enlisted and metered soldier in the United States army during the war of the rebellion. He enlisted at Independence on Oct. 15, 1861, at the age of 11 years and 2 months.

The sentence of Lieut. Pendleton of Manila, who was condemned to life imprisonment for murder, has been reconsidered and changed to imprisonment for two years. The Garter which has been conferred on the Mikado is set with diamonds and the star of the order is in diamonds, and the George, which is pendant to the collar of the order, is carved in onyx and set round with brilliants. It cost something well over $5,000.

PREACHER BANKER A SUICIDE.

Rev. Simmons, of Peoria, Ill., Takes Life When Scandal is Revealed. Death by suicide has ended the career of Rev. George H. Simmons, clergyman and banker, one of the leading citizens of Peoria, Ill. A startling scandal in which Dr. Simmons had become involved made him see a welcome relief in death. As a direct result of the revelations one bank closed and a run was made on another. When the body of the minister was found the climax was reached by a sensation which has shaken Peoria religious, financial and political circles worse than did the case of N. C. Dougherty, the superintendent of schools, last fall. Simmons had been pastor of the First Baptist Church for five years.

Rev. Simmons had an extraordinary career. He educated himself in a Kentucky theological school. His first business venture was about five years ago, when he organized a company with $100,000 capital to manufacture cereal coffee. He then organized the Interstate Bank & Trust Company of Peoria, with a capital stock of $200,000. In addition to this he was at the head of a movement to beautify the city and conducted a flower festival. One of his innovations was holding religious services in the Coliseum, holding 7,000 people.

His father was a farmer, and he himself lived and labored on the farm until he was past twelve years of age. The father and mother being dead, the lad went to Louisville, Ky., to secure an education. At an early age he decided to enter the ministry, and began making preparation by attending the public schools in Louisville, and later in Georgetown College, in Georgetown, Ky. He held pastorates in Henderson, Ky., Louisville, Jackson, Tenn., and at Terre Haute, Ind. He began preaching at the age of seventeen.

MAKING MONEY, TOO.

Trappers of the Northwest Included in General Prosperity. The many trappers operating in northern Minnesota will reap a rich harvest during the present winter. This side sweep of the general way of prosperity that has rolled over the land means many comforts, even luxuries, in the log cabins of scores of sturdy settlers in the wilds of the northern States, who are mainly dependent upon their traps during the cold months for a livelihood.

The settlers and professionals in the country directly tributary to Duluth look for the most part to milk, marten and otter to make their trapping operations profitable and the pots of these little animals at present command a higher price than at any time during the past 20 years, south there has been a divided slump in the prices paid for furs from the black, blue and silver fox, which bring only $50 each now, where a year or two ago they were as high as $300 apiece.

Last winter $4.50 was considered a good price for a mink pelt and it wasn't more than a season or two back that the mink was selling for $10 a pelt. A single pelt of the kind. Now a choice raw mink fur will bring $11 and a marten pelt from $18 to $20, where $4 or $7 was paid last winter. An otter skin is worth $22 just as it comes from the trapper's hands, which is away above any price paid for more than thirty years. Quite a few fisher are caught through northern Minnesota and their worth from $8 to $10. Beaver are very scarce and are worth from $7 to $9 each.

The highest prices paid for furs will also prove a boon to the Minnesota Indians, or such of them as least as have any business ability. A great many of the Indians trap during the winter, but the trouble with the majority of them is that they do not know the value of their catch. They are likely to sell a single pelt for $4 or $5 and a $11 mink for $1, or perhaps a pelt of whisky. The white man is well aware of this fact and some agents make it their business during the winter to do nothing but buy furs from the Indians, selling them later at a handsome margin of profit.

EPIDEMIC OF SUICIDES.

Sweeping over New York and All the Cities of the East. A suicide wave for which there is no satisfactory accounting is sweeping over New York and the entire eastern portion of the country, says the New York Times. Experts who say by day compile and tabulate the vital statistics of our cities have adduced this fact from their records of deaths, deaths and figures and have presented it for public consideration without opinion or comment, which is a way peculiar to statisticians and others of their kind who deal in cold, hard actualities.

And perhaps it is just as well, for self-murder at best is one of the most illusive and generally unsatisfactory problems which the human mind can face. If a great city is called upon to face it, there is no adequate explanation for it in any of its general aspects. If there is a decrease, that decrease cannot be accounted for, unless theoretically; if increase there be in the number of suicides the health authorities equally at sea, save, of course, the time of economic distress.

But in the accepted sense of the term there is no economic distress in this city, in any city of the country, at the present time. Times are economically propitious, never better, and hence the fact that New York's suicide rate in the present month has gone far above the average for the month of last year—22.7 per cent for the month—has not been explained on the basis of economics, of hard times.

From Far and Near. Germany, the Apache warrior, has just been married for the eighth time at the age of 70. John J. He enlisted at Independence on Oct. 15, 1861, at the age of 11 years and 2 months.

The sentence of Lieut. Pendleton of Manila, who was condemned to life imprisonment for murder, has been reconsidered and changed to imprisonment for two years. The Garter which has been conferred on the Mikado is set with diamonds and the star of the order is in diamonds, and the George, which is pendant to the collar of the order, is carved in onyx and set round with brilliants. It cost something well over $5,000.

ARMY SNOB SCORED.

President Says that Special Consideration is Due Enlisted Men.

That the uniform of an enlisted man in the army or navy is a badge of honor which entitles its wearer to peculiar consideration is the position taken by President Roosevelt in a Presidential message made it known in a letter to Secretary Taft commenting on the court martial of Lieut. Roy L. Taylor, who was reduced to private for ordering an enlisted man in his command to change his seat in a theater because he was seated in front of the lieutenant's party. "I do not believe," the President in his letter said in part, "in my judgment Lieut. Taylor committed one of the most serious faults which any officer can commit. I am glad that he was reduced twelve files. It is a pleasure to record the fact that his offense was altogether exceptional in the body to which he belongs. It is a pleasure to note that a number of men in this country of similar size which merit well of the country as the body of officers and enlisted men in the army and navy of the United States. Not only should the country as a whole jealously guard the interests of these men and regard their honor as being identified to a peculiar degree and in a peculiar sense with his own, but the nation as a whole should themselves feel the same jealous concern to uphold the honor and standing of all connected with it. Above all this should be the object of the officers as regards the enlisted man. "To strive to discriminate against him in any way is literally an infamy; for it is in reality one of the most serious offenses which a man can commit against the stability and greatness of our nation. If a hotel keeper or the owner of a theater or any other public resort attempts such discrimination, everything possible should be done by all good citizens to make the man attempting it feel the full weight of a just popular resentment, and if possible legal proceedings should be taken against him."

AWFUL MURDER RECORD.

With Exception of Italians, Americans Are Most Homeicidal Nation. According to the unofficial statistics gathered in 1905, as in previous years, by the Chicago Tribune, there were 9,212 homicides committed in the United States during the twelve-month just ended. This country remains on the bad evidence it has long occupied in the history of crime, indeed it has increased its record, for the number of homicides was greater by 840 in 1905 than it was in the previous year. The record constitutes a shocking indictment.

With the single exception of the Italians, the American people are the most homicidal nation in the civilized world. In we are running neck and neck with Italy with respect to the ratio of violent crimes resulting in death. In the latter country the homicides number 105 per million of inhabitants per year; in this country last year the ratio was 115 per million.

Count Boni de Castellane has published a book containing his speeches and articles since 1901 on the foreign policy of France.

Showgito Tamura, one of Japan's best known novelists, expects to be graduated from the Indian university with the class of 1907.

The phrase of "the grand old man," as applied to Mr. (Jindone), is credited to the Rev. Edward Lloyd Jones of Manchester, England.

The Cas of Russia, who is considerably below the average height of men, is fully a head shorter than his beautiful and majestic Casaria.

Sir Robert Reid, the new lord chancellor of Great Britain, has a face so typically English that he has been called "the intellectual John Bull."

M. Casimir Perier, who once resigned the French presidency, recently received a unique decoration, the gold medal of the "Assistance Public," which is vastly more rare than the Legion of Honor has become in these later times.

TREASY HAS A JOKER.

Mexico $7,000,000 Worthless Domingo Sertp Good. The resolution of Secretary Taft that members of the Senate committee on foreign relations has been called to a "joker" in the Santo Domingo treaty and, according to a Washington correspondent, it is causing them worry.

The "joker" is a provision, which reads: "The United States undertakes to secure an arrangement of all obligations of the Dominican government, foreign as well as domestic; the arrangement for the settlement of the obligations of amortization; the consideration of conducting all reasonable claims and the determination of the validity and amount of all pending claims already liquidated and unpaid of which may be established."

It was the original intention of the President that the money collected from the Dominican customs should be used in part to pay the debt of the country. Under the heading of domestic claims will come between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 of scrip of La Deuda Deferida, the deferred debt. This scrip for forty years has been of practically no value—not worth five cents on the dollar because of the doubt whether it ever would be redeemed.

Now the officials of the Dominican government have bought all this scrip they could reach, paying all the way from 2 to 30 cents on the dollar. Emilio Joubert, the minister from Santo Domingo, himself has admitted that he would not now sell the scrip he holds for 70 cents on the dollar, as he believes it will be paid in full. He says it will be worth part the minute the treaty is ratified by the Senate of the United States. This "deferred debt" is the outgrowth of the Dominican revolutions of the last forty years, which, except the last one headed by Morales, all have been successful. Whenever a revolutionary chief was operating in the field requisitioned cattle by some member of the body government. After the revolution was won this would be exchanged at the capital for scrip of "La Deuda Deferida," duly registered in the treasury books. The obligations of both sides always were recognized because no successful faction was ever sure it would not be among the "outs" the next day.

Scrip also has been used by the government in the payment of the salaries of officials and many influential men of the republic now have considerable sums of this paper. Revolutionary chiefs have used it liberally to reward friends for "services."

THE POSSIBILITY OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S BECOMING THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR A THIRD TERM HAS BEEN AGAIN WIDELY DISCUSSED.

The possibility of President Roosevelt's becoming the Republican candidate for a third term has been again widely discussed, following the statement made by Jacob Rills, the intimate friend of the President. "I do not believe," the President in his letter said in part, "in my judgment Lieut. Taylor committed one of the most serious faults which any officer can commit. I am glad that he was reduced twelve files. It is a pleasure to record the fact that his offense was altogether exceptional in the body to which he belongs. It is a pleasure to note that a number of men in this country of similar size which merit well of the country as the body of officers and enlisted men in the army and navy of the United States. Another important feature is the definition of the words "railroad" and "transportation." In a manner to exclude all auxiliary instrumentalities of the common carrier and to bring them within the control of the commission. This power to make a reasonable rate and the inclusion of the auxiliaries within the jurisdiction of the commission are said to be the new features. All other provisions are modifications of existing law. They include publicity of railroad methods, which is to be secured by providing a system of book-keeping and an elaborate system of reports to seven members and increasing their salaries to $10,000 a year.

More than 100 tons of quinine yearly. In the United States every year. The quinine is obtained from the bark of several species of the cinchona tree, whose native home is in South America. Attempts have been made in the past and are being revived to grow the tree in our sub-tropical States; but the present supply is imported mainly from India, Ceylon and Java.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

The receipt of "black hand" letters by members of the House has almost caused nervous prostration among some of them. The "black hand" ventures began to come a few days ago when several members received letters in which there was a drawing of a black hand. Recently the hand was the signature: "Only four days more." Members began to make their best guesses in an effort to think of what they had committed to gain the identity of the "black hand." Two days after the receipt of the first warning a second came with the same black hands and the ominous words, "You have only two days more." This was followed the next day with a postal with the inscription "you have one day more." These repeated warnings caused considerable alarm until today when postal cards were received inscribed in red ink: "No more black hands; was Blank sent." Members of Congress believe this particular method of advertisement should be abolished by law.

Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, told the Senate Committee on Interoccenic Canals that the reason J. F.
