of every kind, and for your fields of growing crops, is what you want, and what you have a right to expect, when you buy fence. A fence that a bull can break through or break down is not worth paying good money for. You want weight in the fence you buy, weight enough to turn the heaviest Percheron or stop a "devil wagon." Now, it is a fact—and you should know it—that, per running rod, you obtain the most weight in wire that is given in any fence, in the celebrated

AMERICAN FENCE

It is made on purpose to be the heaviest, most durable and lasting of any fence at any price. It is made and sold in larger quantities than any other two fences in the world, solely on its merits. The makers of AMERICAN FENCE own and operate their own iron mines and furnaces, their own wire mills and six immense fence factories. Their product is the acknowledged

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

We can show you this fence in our stock and explain its merits and superiority, not only in the roll but in the field. Come and see us and get our prices.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS

O. H. Frink returned Saturday from a visit at O'Neill.

Morgan Cagle of Carroll moved with his family to Shell Lake, Wis., on Monday.

Richard Closson and J. P. and E. H. Fitch of Oat Hill, were Wayne visitors Monday.

Judge Hunter on Monday morning married Oscar McOlanahan and Maggie Bates of Lead, S. D.

Father Hedy arrived home Saturday evening from St. Louis, where he accompanied Daniel Dineen.

A letter to this office from Frank Gordon, the cement walk man, who is now in California, says "I will be back in God's country May 1st."

O. C. King returned Saturday from Iowa towns in which he did a large and satisfactory business selling stock in the King Solomon mine.

D. E. Miller has sold his residence north of the opera house to John Morgan of Harmon, Ia., who expects to locate here in the near future.

I. Baifall went to Sioux City Monday, called there by representatives of the companies in which his store was insured and for the purpose of a "justing the loss."

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanson died of pneumonia, following measles, at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ringer in the Lutheran church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Wm. Healey has sold the Bloomfield Journal to F. B. Emmons of Carroll, Ia., possession having been given March 1. Mr. Emmons is an experienced newspaper man and the HERALD wishes him success. Mr. Healey expects to deal in South Dakota lands.

Hartington is trying the experiment of holding regular combination auction sales, to which people can bring live stock, farm machinery, furniture or anything that they desire to dispose of.

H. F. Slaughter was the happiest man in town one day last week, and when asked why, he said he had sold that automobile to VanEvery, but someone said he didn't believe it, so Hank displayed a check to that effect and of course that settled it. But what we dislike about the deal is, that we will not be able to have any more fun with Hank about his auto.—Fairfax Sun.

Alfred Peterson sold his farm Monday to Swan Nelson of Wausau, consideration $88.75 per acre. Mr. Peterson's farm lies about eight miles southeast of Laurel, consists of 240 acres, and is said to be one of the best improved places in this locality. Mr. Peterson is a pioneer here and has brought the place from the raw sod to its present high state of cultivation. He will remain there this year.—Laurel Advocate.

This office is in receipt of a card from Mrs. Ella J. Wilbur at Bradstockville, Texas, ordering the HERALD changed from that place to Wayne, and saying that she would leave there on Feb. 27th for San Antonio, and after visiting there a few days would leave for home. In speaking of the climate there she says it is splendid and everything in green and nice with peach and other fruit trees in full blossom, but she added "I shall be glad to get home again."

Rev. Thos. J. Wright of the Methodist church has been preaching a series of interesting sermons lately touching the development and training of children. He has called attention to many of the injurious indiscretions manifested and the indifference and neglect often shown in the management of the young. Wise counsel and direction on the part of parents who have gained and retained the confidence of their children, found emphasis in his sermons. People should turn to profit the suggestions, warnings and admonitions thus offered.

Martin Kerwin one of the county's young farmer's residing three miles south of the city, was at Lyons last Friday and purchased two splendid gilts and an aged sow at the pure bred Duroc Jersey sow sale of W. J. Stone. Mr. Kerwin has now several pure bred sows of this splendid family of swine and it is to be hoped that success may crown his creditable efforts to help build up the improved stock business in the county. These young fellows are the kind that make success of this line of work, bringing to it new blood, new ideas and an enthusiasm that the older men do not possess and it is to them that the business must look for its best exponents and supporters.

PROSPECTS OF COLLEGE.

Over eighty of Wayne's business men and representative citizens gathered at the elegant home of President Pile of the Normal College Friday evening in response to invitations issued and were splendidly entertained by him and his estimable wife at a most excellent banquet. The toasts and responses brought out the real purpose of the gathering which was to boost Wayne by getting all to put their shoulder to the wheel and help increase the facilities of the college so as to enable it to properly care for the hundreds of students seeking entrance to that great institution of which every loyal citizen of Wayne is so justly proud. It was demonstrated beyond a doubt that the proper support would be given to the movement now on foot to build additional school and dormitory room sufficient to care for the great demand being made. It is proposed to issue $40,000 in bonds for the purpose of erecting a chapel and recitation building probably about $40,000, another big dormitory, a central heating plant and also putting a large addition on the present dining hall. The bonds will be in denominations of $50 and $100, will run ten years and will bear five per cent annual interest. D. C. Main, Henry Ley and H. F. Wilson will be the trustees in charge of the bonds and have them for disposal and will have entire charge of the funds received for their sale. These bonds will be secured by a first mortgage on all the present property and also on the new improvements to be made, and thus the security will be gilt edged in every respect and Wayne county people owe it to themselves and their families to invest liberally in them; and while thus adding to the value of the college property, add value to every city lot and every acre of farm property within the county and more particularly to that within a radius of ten miles of the city of Wayne. This college or school has done more to promote the cause of education in this part of Nebraska than any other factor in the great problem and deserves to meet with a ready and hearty response from all lovers of education and those interested in the general uplift of humanity. Now let us show by our acts as well as by words our appreciation of the great work this school is doing. Let us demonstrate that we are fully aware of the opportunities the school presents, of the encouragement it gives to the young man or young woman ambitious to make something of themselves. Let us show that we are aware of the great work it has already done and that we have full confidence in the future of this seat of learning. Prof. Pile is fully satisfied that with buildings sufficient to accommodate he can easily run the attendance of the school within the next five years up to 1500 students and believes that even that number can be beaten. So in lending your aid at the present time you are not making any gift, but will not only receive interest on your investment but are assured of the payment of the principal as agreed and not only that but will help to make of Wayne a city of 5,000 people instead of leaving it come to a standstill at the present 3,000 mark. These additional facilities must be provided by us for the students seeking an education or in the event of our failure to grasp our opportunity our towns in our territory will build schools, will supply the demand that is now pounding on our doors with sledge-hammer blows. Will we wake up or will we lie still and die?

BENEFICENT SNAKES.

Much is written about the scenic attractions, historic incidents, and natural advantages of timber, water, soil and climate of Klamath county, Oregon, but little is said about its great colonies of snakes. These creatures which acquired priority of rights along the rivers and lakes of Klamath, are omitted from the advertising matter touching the resources of that country, because of the natural aversion to snakes and the likelihood of injury to immigration through procuring such features. If the facts are known, however, they are no objection. On the contrary, they are a signal benefit, and old-timers and others who have become familiar with their habits and virtues shrink as much from the idea of killing one of them as they would from injuring a pet cat. On a warm, spring day, along the water courses, one may see myriads of these snakes, some millions of them formed in huge coils, other millions sprawled out in the act of taking a sun bath and the rest—usually younger members of society—gambolling and playing among the rocks. They have insatiable appetites for all kinds of vermin and are deadly enemies to rattlesnakes, and can always "make good." Therefore, rats, mice, bugs and an endless variety of noxious specimens of creation are greedily and joyfully devoured. One might live in Klamath twenty years without seeing a rat or a mouse. As to rattlesnakes, they do not dare to venture into the county, well knowing the fate of their kin that had tried it.

The Klamath snakes have proved to be absolutely harmless to humanity and all animals of value. Thus, it is evident why seasoned residents of the county regard their snakes with tender solicitude and are anxious for a perpetuity of the species, why they consider it a form of sacrilege and a violation of decency to kill one of the crawling, squirming, repulsive-looking creatures.

One year the snake colonies were threatened by the spirit of commercialism. A Minnesota firm announced its desire for an unlimited supply of snakes, and as there was no law against it, a local citizen, possessing more avarice than sentiment and home pride, proposed to meet the demand. The first order called for 200 pounds of snakes, which were carefully gathered, weighed, and shipped. For some reason no more orders were sent in and the marketable value of snakes ceased. But had the threatened industry been kept up, an injured and impeded public would undoubtedly have asked the legislature to pass a law prohibiting the importation of the much prized Klamath snakes.

CARROLL NEWS.

Howard Porter topped the local market the first of the week with a car of hogs he brought in to John Shannon.

George Goodman has moved into the new Root improvements; don't suppose George will look at common people now.

Mr. Isaac Isaacs returned home with his bride Monday night. The index extends its congratulations to these young people.

Mr. Jenkin Simmerman returned home Monday evening. Jenk has been visiting at his old home in Ohio for more than a month.

The family of Chas. Morris has been having quite a siege with scarletina, the whole family having been afflicted. They are now reported as doing well.

Miss Virginia Cunningham of Wayne was a visitor at the H. J. Cander home the first of the week. Mrs. Cunningham is an old friend of the Cander family.

James Shannon accompanied two cars of stock to Chicago Monday. Methinks brother James must be after a "big leaguer" to strengthen the ball team for the coming season, thus the frequent trips to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Phipps of Winnebago, Neb., arrived Wednesday with their car. They will take up their residence on the Ziegler place southeast of town. Mrs. Phipps is a sister of Byron Young.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Burress in this city occurred a quiet but happy wedding on Wednesday, February 22nd, the contracting parties being William L. Billeter and Miss Minnie Eokomon. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony took place at 12:30 o'clock, Rev. E. L. Wright officiating. After congratulations the guests sat down to a bountiful dinner to which all did ample justice. The happy young couple will make their home with the groom's parents for the present. The good wishes of a host of friends accompany them in their new life.—Carroll Index.

FROM WINSIDE.

W. E. Tucker was heard to remark last week that he had not been home for six weeks, but thought he would go last Sunday for he had seventeen pair of socks to take home for mother to darn.

We received a card from Rev. Benj. McKeen yesterday asking us to change his paper to Hoskins as he was going back on the old farm. The McKeens have many friends who will welcome them to this locality again.

R. E. Fish packed up his household effects and shipped them to Bonesteel, S. D., last week and left with his family Monday morning for their new home where he is engaged in the hardware and furniture business. Bonesteel people will find Mr. Fish an upright and honorable business man, full of push and progressive traits, and one that will assist materially in the upbuilding of their town. While the family has resided in Winside, they have made many friends who regret to see them leave. Nothing but the best of wishes for health, wealth and prosperity follow them.—Winside Tribune.

How much money does the average farmer of Wayne county make out of a season's work? We do not mean how much net profit is left at the end of the season, throwing in the labor of the farmer and his sons in the fields and of his wife and daughter in the house and poultry yard, but how much profit results after all labor is included at a fair value and a reasonable return allowed on the capital invested in land, improvements, etc. Farm bookkeeping should be simple, but it is important. All such questions as these are discussed in The Iowa Homestead, of Des Moines, Iowa, a farm paper which we most heartily recommend to the farmers of this vicinity and for which the HERALD is glad to receive and forward subscriptions at a reasonable combination clubbing rate. The Iowa Homestead has departments covering every interest of the farm and employs a large corps of able special contributors. The leading experiment station, workers and best farm writers of Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, write for it.

NOTICE TO LAND SEEKERS.

A large tract of valuable agricultural land is to be thrown open for settlement on March 20th, 1906. This land has been in litigation for twelve years and on the 20th of January the United States Land Office handed down an opinion which will open this land for settlement on the 20th of March.

The tract consists of about 65,000 acres of fine agricultural land in North Dakota, or about 400 homesteads. This is a very fine tract of land and is worth, at the present time, from $3,000 to $4,000 per homestead.

It is valuable wheat land with an immense deposit of lignite coal underlying it. A special excursion for March 20th is being arranged to take a party of people up to see this land and will be in charge of an agent of the Illinois Central R. Co. It is a chance of a life time to get a good quarter section of farm land and a coal mine for the asking.

In order to avoid a rush the facts are not made public at this time but full information can be had by applying at the Illinois Central City Ticket Office, 1402 Farnam St., or addressing, Samuel North, District Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb.

The Hardman Piano.

The Hardman piano has been before the American people for more than SIXTY YEARS. Its essential points consist of MUSICAL SUPERIORITY, DURABILITY, REPUTATION AND ITS BEING SOLD AT A MODERATE PRICE. Possessing as it does these four points of merit only one other requisite necessary to insure its success, and that the public be given an opportunity for examination and selection. We expect a larger business and a still higher reputation for these pianos here in Wayne, last week we sold one of these pianos to the coast, as that particular climate requires DURABILITY, the Hardman's most important requisite. Did you know that it is only after reputation is secured, is it entirely safe, even for an expert to purchase a piano, because neither excellence nor durability can be proven except after long and complete tests, which, when successful, result in reputation. There is but ONE GENUINE Hardman Piano.

THE WAYNE HERALD.

Official paper of Wayne and Wayne county

Moses Warner of Lyons does not appear anxious to don the gubernatorial toga, yet it is believed he would not try to avoid it if it were thrust upon him.

Wayne county is a treasure house of wealth but that does not justify the railroad company and elevator trust in levying on her products an unjust tribute and the only way to prevent it seems to be through the ballot box.

It is pretty difficult for editors of the Nebraska republican papers who are postmasters in Nebraska towns by grace of Senator Millard, to express unbiased opinions of the real status of railroads in the politics of the state. There is a string on these molders of public opinion that is likely to be pulled so vigorously as to disturb their equilibrium at any time.

Schneider, Hammond, Brown, in conference. That don't look just quite right does it? Schneider, one of the leading lights in the great grain elevator combine, Hammond, the fellow who always talks mighty fair and has plenty of ability that is frequently used about convention times for the purpose of pulling Northwest or U. P. chestnuts out of the fire, and Brown, a candidate for United States senator from Nebraska—guess we'll just wait a while before we jump into this senatorial scrap.

The postoffice department in trying to make receipts and expenditures come somewhere nearly balancing, room-mendly outting off some of the rural free delivery service and less expansion than is being asked for and by no doing figures it can save over a million dollars a year; but strange as it may seem, the economics do not anticipate any reduction in amount paid to railroad companies for hauling mails, but on the other hand an increased expenditure of about $3,500,000. This is done in face of the well known fact that the railroads are paid for the transportation of millions of pounds of mail they never haul. Probably the system of weighing mails as a basis for amounts to be paid for transportation is one of the greatest frauds practiced on the government.

The republicans of Buffalo county, the friends and neighbors of Hon. Norris Brown, at their mass convention assembled at Kearney, February 28, 1906, to observe with pride and gratification the spontaneous expression of public sentiment which have been made throughout the state in his favor for the office of United States senator. We take pleasure in testifying to his sterling integrity and genuine worth as a citizen and his ability and faithfulness as a public officer. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby unqualifiedly endorse the official acts of Attorney General Brown and pledge him our unanimous and loyal support in his candidacy for the United States senate; that we commend him as a man faithful and conscientious in the discharge of public duties, loyal to the principles of the party he represents and worthy of the confidence and support of the people of the state.

This is what Brown's neighbors say of him.

Some of Norris Brown's friends at Kearney have sent us the following regarding Mr. Brown, which we gladly reproduce:

"Hon. Norris Brown, whom the people of Buffalo county have announced as a candidate for United States senator, is a familiar character in Nebraska where his ability as a lawyer is known and where his republican principles have been fearlessly declared from the rostrum.

He was born at Maquoketa, Iowa, May 2, 1833, attending the public schools, graduated from the University of Iowa, studied law and was admitted to the bar in Iowa, October 1, 1858. He practiced law at Perry, Iowa, until April 28, 1888, when he moved to Kearney, Neb., where he has since resided and practiced law. In 1888 he married Lucile N. Beeler, and has two daughters in the Lincoln high school. In 1898 he ran for congress against Congressman Greene, and in a series of joint debates with that accomplished orator attracted attention as a public speaker.

Mr. Brown was county attorney of Buffalo county for two terms, and deputy attorney general for four years. In a single year as attorney general he defeated two great railway corporations in the federal court and saved the state over $90,000 in Texas; or washed the Nebraska grain trust in a suit in the supreme court, thus securing the only competition among grain dealers in Nebraska since 1896, and saving the farmers at least two cents a bushel on all grain sold, amounting to more than $2,000,000 in a year; triumphed in a case in the supreme court requiring foreign insurance companies to pay into the state treasury reciprocal taxes amounting to $37,000; and defeated the suit brought by the sugar trusts to recover from the state $40,000 in bounties.

Norris Brown is an ideal candidate—brave, gifted, genial, upright, an untiring worker, and a staunch republican. In all relations of life, both public and private, no breath of scandal has ever attached to his name."

It is announced through the daily press that Norris Brown has openly launched his senatorial boom after a conference held at Fremont between Mr. Brown himself, R. B. Schneider, Ross L. Hammond and Mr. Bidwell, manager of the Northwestern railroad. How do you suppose this coalition will taste to the fellows who have been howling about railroads mixing in politics? We shall watch with no small degree of interest the utterances of Phil Sprecher and Eph Cunningham on Mr. Brown's candidacy.—Stanton Picket.

We cannot speak for Phil Sprecher but as for Eph Cunningham we are free to say that if the reports about the conference referred to are true, he doesn't think much of Brown as a candidate. This is not because we are opposed to railroads or desire to have anything done that will in any way conflict with rights that are justly theirs, but because we object to railroads seeking an assurance from candidates that in the event of their candidacy being successful, the railroads will receive consideration not given to others. Our idea of good government is that it shall be so conducted as to give equal rights to all and special favors to none, and for this reason we are not particularly proud of the stand taken in the senate of the United States by men who claim to be representatives of all the people and members of the republican party and we don't propose to knowingly help, aid or assist any man to misrepresent the state of Nebraska; and if our determination to do this makes us "persona non grata" with those who seek to shape the policy and course of the republican party in Nebraska, we have no apologies to offer or any explanations to make; and will go our way doing what we believe to be right and for the best interests of all, regardless of the slurs of the fellows who do not see things just as we do, who may be honest, mistaken or densely ignorant. But let it be distinctly understood that we are not taking it for granted that the reports circulated as to the conference referred to are true, because we are quite suspicious of the source from which they originated; but if after careful investigation we find them to be true, and that Norris Brown has given these people any assurances of treatment different from what any individual should receive, then we are not for but will be against him at every turn in the road. Trot out the proof of accusations made and let it be something more substantial than the unsupported declaration of an unassigned report from an unknown correspondent of the World-Herald of Omaha.

Getting Ready for Spring

This is the season that everybody begins to get ready for spring work. It is always a pleasure for anyone to anticipate the coming of warm, sunny days, when everything will show life again. The farmer is now making arrangements for the harvest, and the enterprising merchant is now filling his shelves with spring goods. We have been busy during the past week unpacking the largest stock of spring goods we have ever bought. We feel that we are in a position this year where our competitors will find it hard to compete with us in price and quality. Our spring goods were contracted for more than eight months ago and as prices have since advanced, we feel we have a great advantage over our less fortunate competitors, as we can sell for the price they now have to pay and still make a fair profit. It will be worth your while to call and investigate this fact, and you will see at once that it will pay you to buy your spring clothing of us. Come any time and look at the new styles, and get acquainted with the largest and cheapest stock of clothing ever in Wayne county. Eggs same as cash.

The great Crow Indian reservation to be opened to settlement sometime during the present year lies within a few miles of the city of Billings and provision has been made for the reclamation of these lands by the national government. This district offers market opportunities not afforded by many of the cheap land districts to which people are flocking in almost countless thousands. The insurance companies have finally settled with Chas. Robbins for his loss sustained in the fire of about a month ago. Mr. Robbins received something over $2,000 in settlement of the damage done by fire and water and feels that he has been fairly treated in the final settlement, although long delayed and subjecting him to much uneasiness for annoyance.

Tuesday Frank Hood sold his Main street residence to W. S. Goldie, consideration $2,000. The place is a very nice one and will make a very pleasant home for Mr. Goldie and family. in Basin.—Basin, (Wyo.) Republican.—The city authorities of Winner have just installed an electric call bell system for their firemen in case of fire. A bell is placed in the home of every fireman and the wires are run into the telephone exchange, where they can be set ringing by a single touch of a button. At times such as last night it is difficult to get out all the fire department as the sound of the alarm does not carry to every house. But the electric bell does reach every house and rings until it is turned off by the fireman.—Norfolk News.

The Herald has no axe to grind in the approaching city election, but it believes that under all the circumstances a change in the mayorship of the city would be a great thing. There has been considerable dissatisfaction expressed with the present incumbent and some things hinted at that if true, certainly would indicate that it is time to put the administration of the city's affairs in the hands of some good thorough young business man who will see that the city's interests are well taken care of at all times and under all circumstances. Wayne has many men who would make a creditable mayor and who would honor the place and reflect credit on the city, and it is to be hoped that some one of these can be induced to accept the position and give us an administration we can be proud of and to which no suspicion can attach.

A story is current that when Jack Cherry was sheriff of this county one of our townsmen was tried for an offense and fined and ordered imprisoned until fine and costs were paid. The prisoner put up a pitiful story to Jack about not having any money to pay fine and costs and said that several parties were owing him and that if the sheriff would go along with him he could collect sufficient to liquidate. The sheriff hitched up his team, got the prisoner in his buggy and started out on his mission of mercy, and to each debtor the prisoner told of being in jail because he didn't have the money to pay fine and costs and invariably the party appealed to put up the amount he owed until an aggregate of about $40 was collected, when the fine and costs were liquidated and then the prisoner pulled out a roll of about $80 additional and said he thought the opportunity for collection was too good to be neglected, hence the method resorted to.

The preacher's offer to the Omaha court to take the place of Rev. Ware in serving sentence for the latter's irregularities in securing public lands, contrasts with the result of a proposition to a member of the clergy to accept the fate of an Indian at the close of the Motoc war in 1873. Captain Jack who led the redskins against the government and who with three confederates was to be hanged, was smart and clever and very matter-of-fact. The day before the time of execution, a minister called on Jack to prepare his soul for sterner. He told the doomed Indian of the grandeur of heaven and how one should be thrilled with joy at the prospect of going there. But Jack was stolid, and while he was not grieving over the prospect, he did not consider it especially fascinating. So in view of the preacher's knowledge of heaven, Jack proposed that he take his place on the scaffold the next day, and that in addition to being ushered into everlasting bliss, the Indian would in advance deed over to the preacher's family all of his large bands of horses and cattle.

AIDS STORM VICTIMS

MISSISSIPPI ASSEMBLY APPROPRIATES $5,000.

Convicts Used for Rescue Work

Nineteen Persons Are Known to Have Been Killed and Many in the Negro Quarter Unaccounted For.

A Meridian, Miss., special says: Nineteen people are known to have been killed as a result of a tornado which swept over a section of this city shortly after 6 o'clock Friday evening.

Twenty-four persons were injured and property with an estimated value of $1,000,000 was destroyed.

Twelve blocks in the very center of the business section were swept away, and not one house of any consequence along Front Street was left standing.

In the terror and confusion following the storm reports of an appalling loss of life were current, but after a careful canvass of the situation Saturday night the list of nineteen dead appears to be complete.

The sixteen clerks in the Queen and Crescent offices who were reported killed, have all been accounted for.

A mass meeting of about 20,000 was called Saturday and $2,000 was immediately subscribed to aid the victims and injured.

The Mississippi Legislature has appropriated $5,000 to the relief fund.

Yardmen at noon Saturday secured a special train and loading it with convicts from the Ravah County farm, dispatched it at once to Meridian.

The city now enjoys the unique spectacle of state convicts doing the rescue work.

Business is practically suspended and every citizen is giving his best effort towards alleviating the suffering.

The tornado appeared in the southwest at 6:27 o'clock Friday evening.

A low, funnel-shaped cloud was seen to form near the city. A heavy rain had been falling, when suddenly the humidity became intense.

With a roar that could be heard a great distance the storm descended upon the city.

The greatest loss of life is reported from the east end, in what is known as the cotton mill settlement.

The large mill was partially wrecked and probably four hundred small houses were demolished or badly damaged.

The tornado swept Front Street and wrought great damage there.

The electric light plant was partially wrecked and the city was thrown into total darkness.

GEN. SCHOFIELD DEAD.

Famous Civil War Veteran Passed Away Suddenly.

St. Augustine, Fla., Lieut. Gen. John M. Schofield, United States army, died at 8:20 o'clock Sunday morning.

He was attacked Sunday morning with cerebral hemorrhage. His wife and young daughter were with him.

He was among the last survivors of the great generals on the union side in the civil war.

The body will be taken to Washington for interment.

Gen. John M. Schofield was secretary of war during 1868-69, and his name was marked by a continuous service in the army from the time he entered West Point in 1849 until he retired Sept. 29, 1895, with the rank of lieutenant general, the highest military honor then permitted by law of congress.

STORM KILLS SCORES.

Many Victims of Tornado at Meridian, Miss.

A Mobile, Ala., special says: Information has reached Mobile by telephone that a destructive tornado visited Meridian, Miss., at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, killing twenty-one white persons and over 100 colored people and damaging property to the extent of $1,000,000.

There were also scores seriously injured by being caught in wreckage of houses. The tornado caught the city on the southwest and traveled to the northeast, expending itself in two suburbs where many negroes were killed and injured, a whole tenement district being wiped out.

Two large wholesale stores, one smaller one of the principal hotel, the electric lighting plant and all the smaller property between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad depot and the business part of the city are badly damaged.

Twenty-one men were caught in a restaurant and several were killed. Two stories of the Y. M. C. A. building were wrecked and the upper stories of other buildings suffered.

The negro tenement district in the north part of the city was demolished and the debris caught fire and threatened a new danger, but the local department, with the help of hundreds of citizens, triumphed over this after a hard fight. They were assisted by the torrential rain, following the tornado.

The path of the storm was about 600 feet wide and one mile in length. The tornado struck Meridian, Miss., from a northeasterly direction near the New Orleans and Northeastern Railroad. The passenger and freight depots were completely destroyed.

Severe casualties at the Catholic and Protestant churches were reported in the ruins and as far as could be learned none of them have been rescued.

A number of bodies have already been found, but as the tornado passed through a densely populated section and the houses caught fire immediately it will take days to learn the exact total number of the killed.

The operator at Toomsula, Miss., four miles north of Meridian, who had just come from the scene of the disaster, says that upwards of 100 persons were killed and that the property loss was enormous.

LIKE A MURDER.

Des Moines River Furnishes Another Mystery.

The Des Moines River has tossed up another mystery, one suggesting crime, and which it is believed will be shortly solved.

Bridge builders in the city of Harvey, Ia., discovered a floating body in the river. It was that of a man about 40 years old, of large build, and is believed to be either J. C. Baker, of Indianola, Ia., or of George Chapman, who has been missing from Emmetsburg, Ia., since last December.

That the man was murdered there is not a particle of doubt, as the skull is crushed as from a heavy blow. One ear is torn off, and the examination made by physicians from Pleasantville and Harvey disclosed the fact that there was no water on the lungs.

FOR SOLDIER DEAD.

House Passes Bill to Mark Confederate Graves.

At Washington, D. C., the house Thursday passed the army appropriation bill, also the Foraker bill providing for the marking of the graves of Confederate dead buried in the north. The discussion developed an unanimous sentiment in favor of marking Confederate graves, and as the bill had during the last session of the military committee received favorable action it was brought in by Mr. Prince and passed unanimously amid applause on both sides of the house.

Points of order made to the provisions for a cemetery for the Atlantic coast and to a shop for mine planting on the Pacific coast eliminated those provisions from the appropriation bill.

The alleged powder trust came in for a scoring in debate and Democratic endeavor to have the government begin the manufacture of its own powder consumed some time, but met defeat both on points of order and finally by direct vote.

The army bill as passed carries something more than $60,000,000.

Mr. Underwood, of Alabama, made a plea for the creation of a Confederate memorial commission of three members to investigate and report the proper steps to mark the graves of the Confederate dead and offered an amendment to that end.

Mr. Hull stated that his committee had just reported the Foraker bill, which practically accomplished the end sought, but Mr. Underwood replied that this applied only to Confederate graves in the north.

A letter was read by Mr. Harwick, of Georgia, expressing the satisfaction of the women of the south with the Foraker bill and concluding with the words: "I trust that Mr. Underwood would not press his amendment."

The amendment was defeated by a point of order by Mr. Kaku, of California.

The army bill was then passed. Immediately Mr. Prince, of Illinois, asked and secured unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the Foraker bill for the marking of Confederate graves in the north.

The bill provides for the erection of white marble headstones over the graves and the fencing of the same. A commission is authorized to locate the graves.

After a brief discussion the bill was then passed amid general applause.

Puzzle of Omaha Police—Street Murderer Velled in Mystery—Victim Had Life Insurance—Authorities Believe That This Furnished Motive.

The Omaha police are attentively trying in their search for the murderer of Frank E. Wheeler, a fireman in the city, who was found dead in the street between the hotel and his home Friday night.

Wheeler left $4,000 insurance in favor of his wife, and in the absence of a more definite clue the police are working on the theory that Wheeler was murdered for the insurance money.

James Diggs, a colored man, is known to have been associated with the Wheeler woman, then Mrs. Reynolds, about five years ago. Diggs, who is an ex-convict, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler's brother, Gal, Wheeler, are being held pending further investigation.

Lying with his head down the steep incline between the sidewalk and the gutter, the face upward, the body of Wheeler was discovered at 7:45 o'clock on the street from the office of the Fred Busch Transfer Company, at Fourteenth and Mason Streets. No one in the neighborhood could be found who heard any outcry or saw any persons acting in an unusual manner.

Who was returning to work at the time he was shot, and was about to step off the walk to take a short cut to the office, when his foot touched the inanimate body. Discovering the cause of his fall, he was about to step off the walk to take a short cut to the office, when his foot touched the inanimate body. FAVORS SUNDAY SALOONS.

Rev. T. J. Mackay, of Omaha, Causes Controversy.

A sensation has been caused at Omaha by the pronounced attitude of the Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, on the Sunday closing question.

At a secret meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Federation Dr. Mackay appeared before the committee and was given the floor on the opening of saloons in Omaha. He said that he did not think it fair or just to close the clubs of the poor man just because the rich man's club is to him, many of the former having no other place in which to spend an hour in conversation or amusement.

Even the Young Men's Christian Association prohibits games of all kinds on Sundays, and even on week days offers no place for a poor man to play a game of cards or to "smoke," said the reverend gentleman.

Mr. Mackay protested against the discrimination between classes in the matter of Sunday closing and contended that as long as clubs are permitted to sell liquor saloons should be allowed to do the same, that is, quietly, with only the side or rear entrance open.

His remarks created a profound sensation among the members of the Civic Federation who heard them.

Lively interest is developing in most towns at this time over the approaching municipal election. At many places the annual battle will be fought over the saloons.

The case of the state vs. Kenneth Moore, charged with selling a mortgaged horse, was dismissed at this place Monday on the discovery that the alleged crime was not committed in this county.

Joe Jones of Carroll passed through Wayne Monday on his way to Omaha to see his sister who underwent a surgical operation in a hospital there on the Saturday previous. Her home is at Red Oak, Io.

Floyd, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bell of this place, being aged one year and eight months, died Friday night of pneumonia which had followed an attack of measles. The funeral took place from the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. Daley officiating.

See the abridged statement of the Citizen's Bank covering its progress for three years. Witness the wonderful increase in its deposits and business generally. It not only shows the rapid and substantial growth of that institution, but is one of the leaders in reflecting the great wealth and prosperity of Wayne county.

A. R. Witherspoon, traveling freight agent of the Northwestern, was in Wayne Friday and again Monday looking into the local grain market in response to complaints that Wayne had not been getting its share of the grain business. From here he went to Laurel and proposed to visit other points in this vicinity to pursue the investigation.

On last Saturday Charley Thompson of this city sold to Joe Michener of Sioux City the best team of mules produced in north Nebraska for some time, and the price, $682, indicates they must have been considerable above the average in quality. The pair weighed 3,200 pounds; one of them was four, the other five years old and were purchased by Charley of James Chase in Stanton county.

When the frost comes out of the ground and the rains of spring set in how quickly do we see our errors in road making. Then it is that we are forcibly reminded that only good, well-graded roads, with ditches open and plenty of fall to take away the water, will insure us even passable roads. It requires some intelligence, some skill and plenty of good horse sense and much hard labor to make good roads in a black loam soil, but it can be done.

GRAIN MARKETS AND RAILROAD RATES.

The railroad people seem to think the HERALD is somewhat unjust in its conclusions as to why trade that ought to come to Wayne, Winfield and other Omaha towns is diverted to towns on the Elkhorn and Great Northern. It may be possible that in laying the blame entirely on the railroad because of its shortcomings, we were too sweeping, but it is not without blame in the matter. Whether the difference in prices paid at towns on the Omaha and those on the other roads in controversy is due to the railroads or to the grain trust or elevator combine or to all these causes, it is pretty difficult to say positively, because the railroads and the grain combination work in such close touch that it is pretty difficult to divorce one from the other, but it is not difficult to figure out that the producer and consumer are both being mulcted for the enrichment of the management of the carcass in question. We are very reliably informed that the U. P. and Elkhorn have in effect a joint rate for grain from points on the latter to Denver, Colo., and that this rate is just the U. P. rate from Norfolk to Denver, and we know that if a shipper along the Omaha desires to ship a car of grain to Denver he must pay a rate from Wayne to Norfolk of seven cents per hundred pounds, and this added to the charge from Norfolk to Denver puts the shipper out of business. We also know that if it is true that points on the Elkhorn get the Norfolk to Denver rate on corn or oats that shippers along that line have an advantage of almost 4 cents per bushel on corn and 2 1/2 cents on oats and think it is an injustice for the Omaha simply because the railroad wants to get the full benefit of the long haul. If it is true as we are also informed, that prior to the annulling of the joint arrangement by which the Union Pacific ran its trains over the Omaha tracks between Sioux City and Norfolk, a representative of the Omaha railroad interviewed independent shippers along the line and informed them that unless they, the buyers and shippers, would use as a basis the prices paid for corn and oats on the Minneapolis market, the joint arrangement would be annulled and the Denver market closed to them, we think the railroad was resorting to pretty extreme methods to compel the independent buyers to follow the lead of the line elevators or be crushed. We know further that the contract between the two roads was annullified, that the price of grain dropped about 4 cents in a single day, and we are reliably informed that the Union Pacific has since sought to enter into a joint arrangement and have been willing to pay the Omaha more than half the rate from Norfolk to Denver for its haul of the cars from Wayne or Winfield to Norfolk, and that the Omaha will not enter into a joint rate but demands a rate of 7 cents from Wayne to Norfolk and by so doing compels our feed graders to go east where we are at the mercy of grade makers instead of allowing us to reach a better market west where there is no such thing as grades.

It is probably true that the railroad company is not entirely responsible for the difference in price and that a portion of it is chargeable to the grain trust or elevator combine that holds us in its vice-like grip and refuses to accept anything less than its pound of flesh, and that is powerful enough to compel every independent buyer to accept its quotations as a basis for prices to be paid and this is what is done all along this line of road and if an independent were to attempt to spring prices or refuse to "divvy up" the combinations would simply put their inquisition methods into effect and make the recalcitrant come to time or bankrupt him, and with this fate staring every independent in the face, and with the further knowledge that if he will be a "good injun" there is good money in it, there is little trouble for the man of ordinary intelligence to discern why prices are so uniform among all the buyers of the towns along certain lines of railroad.

The wrong way to select harness is the way it is usually done. Price is generally the first consideration. If that is very low the goods are seen, attractive, regardless of quality. Judge our goods the other way about. Examine into the quality of this harness first. Then it will be seen that it is worth almost any price. But our prices are not high. Value considered they are remarkably low.
