MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.....

Saturday was St. Patrick's day and the significant green was generously displayed in honor of the occasion.

The authorities are quarantining measles at Fremont and Wahoo. At the latter place nearly half the students of the public schools are suffering from the disease.

The Missouri river was sufficiently frozen at Niobrara so that people could walk over it on Friday and Saturday. Two weeks before, the ice had entirely disappeared.

For a cold siege in March, the weather has been a record breaker this year, and bears one good result in removing the fear of an ice famine next summer. People everywhere took advantage of the opportunity and were quick to fill their ice houses.

The Stanton Picket says that W. H. Gibson was in that city one day last week to buy the Picket and would have done so had not the paper just been sold to its present owner. Stanton doesn't know what a great good thing it missed in not getting Gibson as one of its newspaper men.

Andy Stortz drove across a covered well at Creighton on Tuesday of last week and he and the team went in. The well is fifteen feet across and thirty feet deep, half full of water. Help was summoned and the man and his horses were finally rescued. One of the horses narrowly escaped drowning.

The saloon question is not all there is to our approaching city elections and the persons who allow it to obscure other great questions are indeed narrow in their views as to the real interests of our city. Get off your hobbies and attend the caucus and help to put up men for the various offices broad enough to treat all questions fairly and who will do what is best for the entire people.

The commissioners of Holt county have increased the reward offered for the capture of Patrick Hagerty, fugitive cashier of the defunct Elkhorn Valley bank at O'Neill, from $500 to $1,000. The bank failed late in November, 1904, and the president, Bernard McGreevy, and cashier, Patrick Hagerty, fled and the latter has never been detected. McGreevy was found in Arizona about a year ago, and brought back under arrest.

The sale of brood sows by J. E. Abbott Friday was another demonstration of the desire there is on the part of our farmers for improved live stock of all kinds. Only a few of the sows sold were eligible to registry and notwithstanding that and the further fact that they were mostly late farrowed gilts, the average price was better than $22 per head for the entire lot and they were worth the money and will do the purchaser good.

A letter recently received by A. L. Tucker from Geo. Harrigfield of Squirrel, Idaho, says the Oregon Short Line is building its line right up along the west line of the Yellowstone National Park and has located a town site on a piece of land owned by George. He also says the Northwestern has had surveyors at work all winter long in the mountains east of where he lives and have a right of way man in their country looking up matters. He also says that land values are on the jump and the country developing at a surprising rate. It looks as though things were coming about right for the Wayne county people who have invested their money and pinned their faith to eastern Idaho.

Mrs. W. L. Jones returned from Wayne Sunday evening. She is somewhat improved in health. After spending the winter with his family in Winside, Sidney Price departed yesterday for Moose Jaw, Canada, where he has large farming interests. The saloon men have commenced to circulate their petitions for signers to allow them to continue their business for another year. Mrs. W. C. Lowry went to Omaha Tuesday morning where she will enter a hospital and have the operations removed from her eyes. The Tribune deeply sympathizes with Mrs. Lowry and hopes that the operation will prove successful. Jerry Miles intended to go back to North Dakota last week, the Tribune understands, but changed his mind and waited to go with the crowd this week. Jerry has been in Winside most of the winter working for Frank Weible. Onss, Loig moved to Hosking last week. He has purchased the dray business at that place and took charge of the work Friday. Hopkins people will find Mr. Long a good man to deal with and the family an acquisition to their town. The Tribune wishes Mr. Long the best of luck in his new venture. The Hornby boys have over a hundred little pigs and it keeps them busy these cold days and nights trying to keep the little fellows from chilling. They have a nice comfortable log house, but found it necessary to set up a stove and keep a fire to save the little porkers. Winside Tribune.

THE CAUCUSES.

Thursday and Friday evenings the caucuses for the nomination of city and school officers, will be held. It is one of the privileges of good citizenship to be present and take part in the deliberations of these meetings. It is here that the men who will control our municipal and educational affairs will be named, and on the selections made at the caucuses the good or ill administration of our affairs depend. If you stay away from the caucus and good men, representative of the best interests of our city are not chosen, the fault is just as much yours as it is of the men who do attend. The city of Wayne deserves to have at the head of her affairs, the best men in the city, men fitted to properly administer her affairs, and the selection of these should not be left to those having an axe to grind. Get out to the caucus, do your duty and put up men to whom the finger of suspicion can never justly point. Let us not select men just because they are good fellows or are our personal friends without any regard to their fitness for the places for which they are chosen. Our taxes are high, in fact almost burdensome, and for that if for no other reason it should be an incentive to get the best to be had. Municipal ownership of our water works and electric lighting plant, brings with it burdens not placed on the shoulders of cities conducted along the lines of private ownership. The administration of our affairs requires ability and honesty of a high order and the petty differences of factionalism or personal preferences should have no place in the selection of our officials. Don't put this matter off and think you can right it at the polls, because a failure to get the right kind of men nominated will surely not give you an opportunity to vote for the proper persons at election time. Will you exercise your privileges, or will you stay away and be a fault-finder. It is up to you to do your whole duty.

THE INEBRIATE LAW.

The O'Neill Frontier re-prints an article of complaint from an individual under treatment for chronic drunkenness at Lincoln. It does not agree with the experience of those who went from Wayne county. All were glad they had taken the treatment, rejoicing on their return over their release from a baleful habit. The kicker in question will probably feel different and better after being cured. In this county the law which enables forcible treatment of inebriates, is regarded a success and of signal value to society. Here is the kicker's complaint:

An inmate of the asylum at Lincoln under the dispensation law writes to the Burrill Tribune that "the law is a farce and fraud on the taxpayers of the county and another means of graft." His chief objection seems to be in the matter of rations, for he says: "The system of feeding the occupants is a graded system. For instance: They kill a beef and begin on the African steak for head officials; sub-officials get roast; attendants, ribs and ramp roast and the inmates stewed neck and tail soup. They have a cream separator. The cream goes to the officials; skimmed milk to attendants; while the inmates, if they are real good, can clean the empty vessels." And concludes by saying: "It is my belief that if I had the money to go through court that I could get damages for being placed here with insane people. We eat, drink and sleep in the same wards with the lunatic."

FUNERALS AT WICHITA.

In Wichita, Kan., a ban has been put on Sunday funerals. If report may be trusted, the ministers, undertakers and grave diggers of Wichita, appalled at the riotous excess to which Sunday burying was being carried by vicious or thoughtless cadavers, have formed a compact among themselves, each agreeing to do away with such frivolity except on a week day. So, in the future, if any inhabitant of Wichita should be so unlucky as to die on Friday, he will be given an option whereby he may either hurry up his arrangements and be planted on Saturday or take a stay of proceedings until Monday. Of course, he might get out a writ of habeas corpus and bury himself. But this would be very plainly a resort to legal technicality and would be nothing for him to brag about. When a man has recourse to technical quibbles and underground methods it is a pretty good sign that he is a dead one. With all the ministers and all the undertakers and all the grave diggers standing together it would seem to be a pretty stiff combination and well calculated to impress upon the mind of every candidate for the Wichita mayoralty that there is a time for everything - World-Herald.

NOTICE TO LAND SEEKERS.

A large tract of valuable agricultural land is to be thrown open for settlement on March 20th, 1906. This land has been in litigation for twelve years and on the 20th of January the United States Land Office handed down an opinion which will open this land for settlement on the 20th of March. The tract consists of about 60,000 acres of fine agricultural land in North Dakota, or about 400 homesteads. This is a very fine tract of land and is worth, at the present time, from $3,000 to $4,000 per homestead. It is valuable wheat land with an immense deposit of lignite coal underlying it. A special excursion for March 20th is being arranged to take a party of people up to see this land and will be in charge of an agent of the Illinois Central R. R. Co. It is a chance of a life time to get a good quarter section of farm land and a coal mine for the asking.

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From This Sad and Costly Experience.

It is a sad but certain fact that every year a large increase in the number of operations performed upon women in hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on these narrow beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, vertigo, dizziness, faintness, displacements or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the trouble may make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

Miss Luella Adams, of Seattle, Wash., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham— About two years ago I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and bearing down feeling, and for nearly a year I had a tumor and must undergo an operation if I wanted to get well. I felt that this was my death warrant, but I sent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. Fortunately I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was cured. The tumor disappeared and my suffering woman would try this great preparation."

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman who suffers from female troubles, inflammation, kidney troubles, nervous excitability or nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been curing sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Some Big Oysters.

The usual size of the shell of an oyster is three to five inches, but away back in California times there were oysters in California that had shells thirteen inches long and seven or eight inches wide. The animal and shell combined weighed fifteen or twenty pounds, since the shells were five inches thick. These oysters have long been extinct, but their fossil shells are abundant. If the oyster farmer could produce individuals of such enormous size now, and the flavor were good in proportion to its size, we would be most fortunate. In that case a single oyster would be enough for one stew at the church festival.—St. Nicholas.

CASTLE YESTERDAY.

In the Valley of Contentment, just beyond the Hills of Old, Where the streams are always still and the sunshine always gold, Where the hours are ever warm and the skies are never gray, In the yellow haze of springtime stands the Castle Yesterday.

Oh, the seasons that we spent there when the whole wide world was young; The friends we've had as maid and lad, the songs that we have sung; The echoes of their music cannot quite have died away, But still must thrill the roof-tree of the Castle Yesterday.

And the loving hearts we knew there in the time of trust and truth, Surely still they wait behind us in the Pantheon of youth; But the angel of the valley at the portal bars our way, And a flaming sword forbids us from the Castle Yesterday.

When the pilgrimage is ended, may we turn then, may we change, To the vanished and familiar from the present and the strange? Who so chooses to his heaven—I shall be content to stay, Where the ghosts of dead years wander through the hills of Yesterday. —Saturday Evening Post.

THE JUNIOR PARTNER.

FIELDING ROBERTS walked into his private office one morning about 10 o'clock, in a very perturbed state of mind. He carried a telegram in his hand.

"I'm in the greatest sort of a fix," Dick, he began, gloomily.

"Of course, it's a great fix if you're so fit," old boy, declared the long blonde man lounging at a desk. "Pour out your woes and I'll shoulder my half, like a gentleman."

"Can't you ever take a thing seriously?" retorted his companion, with much irritation than he often showed. "Hang it all! How can a man be in two places at the same time?"

"By being built on a demi-sol, self-detachable, double-acting, non-collapsible, each-side-for-itself sort of plan, little?"

"I see," continued Mr. Roberts, as though he had not heard the gift answer to his query. "Haywood has just arrived at the Morris House about that De Koven will case. He is stopping over only for one day, and every minute counts. I simply must go to him at once—and here is Minnie's friend due on the eleven o'clock express from Washington, and I've promised to meet her to arrange about a lot of flowers for a wedding in some villainous little country town or other."

The junior partner picked up his gun. A girl in the question made lots of difference.

"What's the friend's name, Ding?" he inquired, sitting up quite straight.

"What on earth has that to do?" exclaimed Roberts. "You certainly

"Don't get cross, Ding," put in Dick, solemnly, "but tell me, like a good boy."

"Well, if you must know, her name is Amy Cloverdale, and she's 23 years old, a graduate of Wellesley, dark eyes, fair hair, dresses well, and is one of my sister's dearest friends. Her ancestors, on her mother's side, were French Huguenots, on her father's English Cavaliers. Her father is a banker in Washington. I believe she is fond of Kipling, and can make good chocolate caramels. Her favorite color is blue, but she wears much brown."

"This catalogue of personal traits was rattled off at furious speed in such violent contrast to his usual dignified utterance that Dick could only stare in wonder. He began to realize that his friend thought his dilemma a truly serious one.

"Thank you, Ding," he said, quite gently, "I didn't know you were personally interested."

"It was Mr. Roberts' turn to stare."

"Why, I'm not; I've never seen her, but—"

"Never seen her?" ejaculated Dick, with amazement and a sudden suspicion. "Did you make that all up?"

"No," responded his friend, rather grimly. "I'm not the romancer of this firm. I've heard Minnie talk of her."

"I've never forgot a word! Ding, I fear I've done scant justice to your extraordinary mental powers. By George! I've got a scheme!" he exclaimed a moment later, and springing up in great excitement, knocking over his chair as he did so. "If you've never seen her, Ding, why can't I go to meet her and attend to the errand, whatever it is? Haven't you a photograph of her, so I can recognize her? And then you can accompany me to see De Koven, and stay a week if you want to. Amy Cloverdale—I like the sound of that name!"

"For the first time Fielding's brow cleared.

"I wonder how that would work, Dick?" he said with animation. "You know, it really doesn't make any difference who sees about the flowers, so long as they are sent out to Roxbury on the morning of the twentieth. My cousin of Miss Cloverdale, living there, is to be married. She is coming on now to the wedding, and I was to meet her to get the details of the order from her in person, besides showing a little civility to Minnie's friend. You understand?"

"Perfectly," was Dick's grave rejoinder. "I'll take along my notebook, and I'll be as civil as I can. Amy Cloverdale—Amy Cloverdale—What a lovely name, so musical and suggestive of dusky coyness, to say nothing of gentleness and innocence, Amy—Amy—Amy Clover—" forget that he was Roberts, and that Robert, lived with another sister whose offspring Minnie adored? "Why, Minnie's children, of course," responded Miss Cloverdale, watching his confusion with clear eyes.

"Oh, yes," he answered, smoothly, giving the rapid around his notebook a vicious snap. "They are all quite well, thank you. I believe they've been having a time with the—some disease or other—I forget what."

"I should think so!" exclaimed the young lady, bestowing on him a reproachful glance. "Minnie told me they'd been quarantined for six weeks with scarlet fever."

"Yes, that was it," affirmed Dick, absently. He had been cudgeling his brains to recall the names of the youngsters he saw but rarely. Fielding—that was one—namesake of his uncle of course.

"Fielding is a fine little fellow," he ventured, with quite an air of proprietorship. "He grows more like me every day, they all say."

He was gazing openly into the face he found more attractive, as he made this perfectly safe remark. The big, gray eyes were raised to his; their owner spoke demurely:

"Fielding was a girl, Mr. Roberts, who I saw her photograph last week." And then she sat, there looking straight at him, gray as a nun to all appearance.

Again he flushed scarlet, his whole attitude and manner expressive of a discomfort which ill accorded with the personage of so elegant a gentleman. But he made a gallant struggle.

"To be sure," he assented, "to be sure, she is, bless her sweet heart! you know, I went on, recovering confidence with every syllable. I find it the happiest thing in the world to tell boys and girls apart in these days when they dress so much alike. Don't you ever have trouble, Miss Cloverdale?"

"His manner was impressively confidential.

"Never, Mr. Roberts, and especially with Maud's children, for they are all girls, you know."

"The dickens, they are!" he ejaculated mentally. "Heavens! what a mess! Why can't we switch on to Roberts? I could talk as straight as a string about him! But, why, Mr. Roberts myself? Jove! I'll try Frank."

"I guess I don't know much about children, to tell you the truth, Miss Cloverdale," he confessed, ingenuously. "But I know Maud's husband to be the best fellow in the world. Have you ever met him?"

"No; but I've heard a great deal of him from Minnie. He has one quality I simply adore in a man, and must have in all my man friends, and that is straightforwardness."

"The beautiful clear gray eyes were again looking straight into his, just as they had done in the photograph. At first he returned the glance, but big, honest fellow that he was, he soon was unable to meet it, and dropped the fearless blue eyes which never before had quailed. Another minute and he would have blurted out the whole truth in an agony of self-condemnation and embarrassment, but at that instant the train official marched in and roared out his endless enumeration in such volubrious tones that further speech was out of the question.

"My train," said Miss Cloverdale, rising.

They mingled in the crowd pushing through the gate. He walked beside her in silence down the long platform. When, finally, she was seated in the car, she said, graciously, giving him her hand:

"Thank you very, very much, Mr. Roberts, for all your kindness. You may be sure that Bessie and I, as well as Minnie, appreciate it thoroughly. Give my love to Maud, please. Good-by!"

He could not bear to leave her so. Heaven only knows what wild impossible thoughts surged through his brain. But the train began to move. He pressed her hand closely, and turned away without a word.

When Fielding Roberts returned to his office, about 3 o'clock, he found his partner seated at his desk hard at work. Books were piled about him; papers were scattered everywhere; he did not glance up from his writing.

"How did it go off, old chap?" asked Fielding, hanging up his hat.

"Like a ship ahoy!" replied Dick, savagely. "She's the dearest, sweetest girl in the world—square and straight and true as heaven—and I made the biggest ass and fool and dolt and blockhead of myself my worst enemy could wish. I can't talk of it, Ding, even to you. So don't ever refer to it again, or I'll have either to pitch you out of the window or leave myself, for good and all!"

"All right, Dickie!"

Two weeks later he came over to Dick's desk one morning.

"Dick," he said, quietly. "Maud and I have been talked out to Bessie Cloverdale's wedding, and we are going next week, Thursday. I want to tell you that I was mistaken about Miss Amy's being engaged to some one in the Philippines. It is another friend of Minnie's who is to marry Amos Cloverdale, an officer in our army out there, and Amy's brother. The similarity of the names made the confusion in my mind. And, Dick, you know, it was on my account and by my suggestion that you went to the train that day and personated me. You must let me help right whatever went wrong with you then. It is my right, Dickie, and you know whatever touches your heart touches mine, too."

The trial of the first libel suit growing out of the attacks on "patent" medicines has resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. The first case to come to trial was that of the Dr. Pierce company against the Ladies' Home Journal, and the jury found the Ladies' Home Journal guilty of libel and fixed $12,000 as the damages it should pay. A motion was immediately made by the Dr. Pierce company to have this verdict set aside and the case retried, the grounds being that the verdict was insufficient. This motion is yet to be argued.

The article on which the suit was based was printed in the Ladies' Home Journal, and was to the effect that the Pierce medicines contained alcohol, digitalis and opium. It was shown that they contain none of these drugs, and Mr. Bok admitted, on the stand, that after the article was printed he had caused analysis to be made by three chemists and none could find a trace of the drugs mentioned.

A Little Vacation. Conditions are changing in so many businesses that it would not be strange if the manufacturer had yet to plead for protection against the girl in her teens.

A young girl appeared at a large hat manufactory one Monday morning, and asked for work. She was next engaged her at once, and took the time to teach her one department of the work.

She learned easily and very quickly, earned something the first day, and in two days was making as much as any other girl in the room. They noticed that she seemed to enjoy the work and the prospect of good wages, and were greatly surprised when she appeared at the office Friday night and desired to "settle up," saying that she was through with work.

The manager asked if anything disagreeable had happened.

"Oh, no," the girl replied, smiling. "It's a real nice place to work. But I was only visiting in the city for a few days, and thought I might make a little money. I'm going home to-morrow morning."

A Careful Patient. A woman whose throat had troubled her for a long time, says a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, grew impatient at the slow progress she was making, and made complaint to her doctor, who said:

"Madam, I can never cure you of this throat trouble unless you stop talking, and give your throat a complete rest."

"But, doctor," objected his patient, "I'm very careful what I say. I never use harsh language or anything of that kind."

THE NEW FOOTBALL. The press generally has favorably commented upon Dr. Khees' remark that those who play football "will have to play it as gentlemen or the game will have to go." Perhaps every man has a different idea of what constitutes a gentleman, but in polite chivalry intercourse the man who collides with another without apologizing would not be considered entitled to the appellation.

Ergo, when football players, as gentlemen, but into one another they must stop, bow, apologize and remark, "After you."

If one player jumps on another player's chest, and breaks a few ribs, he must quickly step off and remark, "I beg your pardon."

If when about to kick off, the kicker should observe one of his opponents in danger of being hit by the ball, the least he could do, if he would claim to be a gentleman, would be to stop long enough to call "fore!"

But if the game were played in this gentlemanly way, it is hardly possible it would lose some of its exciting interest and popularity.—From "Vest Pocket Confidences." In Four-Track News.

COLLEGE NOTES.

A pleasant social was held in the chapel Saturday evening.

Miss Brant of Kunkle and Mr. Gregory of Holt county enrolled this week.

Prof. Pile is going to Pierce next Saturday to give an address before the Teachers' Association.

The first half of this term end Friday and examinations will be held in all the classes. The work has been very good and this term and good results are looked for in the examinations.

Rev. Osborne spoke to the students at the chapel exercises Friday morning. Rev. Osborne always has something of interest to say to the students, and his talks are very much enjoyed.

Mr. John F. Power, principal of the school at Magnet, visited the college Saturday. Mr. Power will return to school this summer and complete the scientific course. He is meeting with good success at Magnet.

The music department of the college will furnish part of the music for the Teachers' Association, which will meet at Norfolk on April 4, 5 and 6. Misses Steward, Yalish, Bruner and Anderson will take part in the program.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Results in Stomach Troubles and Physical Breakdown. E. J. Raymond Offers Simple Remedy.

The strenuous life of modern times forces people to rush through their daily routine, hurrying from the train in the mad rush after the almighty dollar.

The result is incomplete digestion, inflammation of the walls of the stomach, and lack of secretion of the gastric juices, ending in chronic stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

How much better it would be to eat more slowly, cure the stomach trouble with Micon, and soon regain perfect health. The headaches, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, pain after eating, spots before the eyes, backaches, melancholy and gloomy foreboding would be soon overcome and perfect health would be restored.

So reliable is Micon in curing all forms of stomach weakness and trouble that Mr. Raymond gives a signed guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing out as it cures. Each box of Micon sells for fifty cents and is invaluable to anyone who suffers from indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

PAYNE & WELLS.

Having sold my dry to Mr. Powers, I am now interested in the flour and feed business, giving my whole attention to that line. You will find me at the old stand south of the depot. Call and see us, and we will please you. We have come to stay and will give you the worth of your money. When you have chickens, hay, corn or oats to sell, come in and the old fat tray man will treat you well. The new firm's name will be Payne & Wells. J. L. PAYNE.

Are You Blind?

There are not many people blind but quite a number deaf. It does seem to one who writes advertisements each week that there must be a great many blind people in Nebraska. It doesn't seem possible that any one who can see will fail to investigate our claims before they buy clothing. We have asked (and used the most pleasing words we are capable of using) everyone to come to our store and look at the largest stock of clothing in Wayne county, and yet there are some people who have failed to accept our invitation. We can not understand how any one who can see will fail to look at what we have before buying anything in the clothing line. Our spring stock is now in and we are ready and willing to show you, no matter if you do not buy, or are not ready yet to purchase your spring suit; come in and see what we have. You may like some other merchant better than you do us, but it will do him no harm for you to see what we have, and if our goods don't please you better and our prices are not lower, you will feel you ought to buy from the merchant you like best and we will be glad to have you do so. You cannot make a mistake to investigate our new stock and get what we believe are the lowest prices any one will make you. We have good reasons to believe that no one will sell you clothing and shoes as cheap as we sell them this season. Your eyes are given you to see anything that will please you, and it is a duty you owe to yourself and family to see our clothing before you buy, for we can save you money that you can use for other purposes to make your life more pleasant. We cannot describe how well our clothing is made and how cheap we sell it. If you are not blind you can see all that if you will just take a few minutes to investigate our store. Our plan of doing business is so plain that you can see at a glance what we are offering. All our goods are marked in plain figures and we sell at one price only. Every good suit or shoe is guaranteed to give satisfaction so you take no chances if it fails to wear. Our goods are nearly all new and up to style. Just step in and look at our new spring suits and hats for a few moments and you will please us and benefit yourself. Will you come?

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS

The instructions furnished with the Ladies' Home Journal Patterns are far superior to anything of the kind ever published with patterns. The illustrations are large and clear; the type is easy to read. In addition, the patented guide chart makes everything so simple that one can almost put the pattern together without reading the instructions at all. Once you use a pattern with a guide chart, you will never think of going back to the old style patterns.

Helpful Hints For Careful Shoppers

Items of News and Styles from the Busy Store

Men's underwear has been one of our best selling items the past week. This line we offer is one of exceptional merit and many favorable comments have been heard in regard to the fine materials—pretty designs and the exceptional amount of trimming on every garment.

When buying the underwear we were shown through the factory. It would be very hard for mothers to compete with the wonderful machines which make these garments. One machine made six rows of tucks at a single sewing; another sewed on 5000 buttons per day—another worked 5000 buttonholes per day—and one wonderful machine put the sleeves in nightgowns in the twinkling of an eye—trimming the raw edge of the cloth as it sewed. You can appreciate the efficiency of these machines if you will examine the workmanship on these garments—of which we are showing such a splendid assortment.

The Ribbon Sale last Saturday was well patronized. The ribbons were a fine bargain at 10c. These Saturday specials are being taken advantage of by a great many people who appreciate a rare bargain and have an eye for economy.

Miss Barnes, a very competent trimmer, who will have complete charge of our millinery department arrived from Chicago Sunday.

She has been engaged in trimming our stock of Pattern hats for the past three weeks. The hats are all copies of the high class millinery shown in the millinery stores of Chicago—with prices adapted to the purses of all. We will have a formal opening in this department soon.

If you wish to make the pretty ruffled Battenburg curtains for your bed-room windows you can now get the materials here. We have the bobbinet at 25c per yd, the battenburg edge at 30c yd and the insertion at 4c yd. These curtains are the daintiest bed room curtains on the market.

Styles in women's coats are much improved over those of a year or two ago. Then, one particular cut garment was the proper thing, and to be correctly dressed a woman was obliged to wear this style whether it was suited to her figure or not.

At present the styles are so varied that everyone may have a coat proportioned to their own form. The tight-fitting covert jacket—the loose box-coat in covert and light mixtures, the long coat either loose or tight-fitting are all popular.

You are welcome to come in and see these styles—try them on and find the coat best suited to your style.

A fashion authority states that the American woman fulfills three-fourths of her engagements attired in shirt-waist and skirt. You cannot have too many shirt-waists. We have made fine preparation in Waisting Materials—we have secured every good serviceable, stylish cloth offered, buying always with an eye to the washing and wearing qualities of the material offered. Our line of white waistics is especially strong.

There is a rule observed in the treatment of our customers which will become apparent to you in time, but which we wish you to be aware of as soon as possible and it is this—you will never be urged to buy. We are here to give you and your needs the most careful attention when you do wish to buy, but you will be made just as welcome at this store and treated just as courteously if you are only "looking" or inspecting the stock of stylish, up-to-date goods which you will always find here. Make this store your home when in town.

We have 100 new egg cases on hand. We would be pleased to have you take out an empty case and bring it in when filled. It saves you work, it saves us work.

The New Ready-to-Wear Hats

The new ready-to-wear hats for spring are entirely different from anything shown in previous seasons.

The shapes are different, the trimmings are different and the colors are unlike anything shown before.

There are over 60 different styles from which you can select, variety enough to insure a becoming hat for every lady who comes.

The prices range from

$1.00 up to $5.00

and we have a competent milliner in charge who will assist you in making the right selection.

Butter, Eggs and Poultry Same as Cash

We Are Making Wayne the Best Egg Market in the Country

I can afford to make the lives of this grand old couple a model for our future guidance.

Tuesday Howell Reese and O. H. Mattheson of Pilger were in the city and purchased of Frank Strahan the fast three year old chestnut pinto stallion, Sioux Chief, with a mark 2:18 1/2. This horse is bred by Union Medium, Jr., with a race record as a trotter of 2:18 1/2 and one of the gamiest racers that ever took the world from a starting judge.

Sixty-two years ago, March 20, 1844, Mr. and Mrs. S. Oehler of this city were united in marriage in Oueda county, New York. Sixty-two years they have traveled life's pathway hand in hand through sunshine and shadow. Together they have climbed the hill of life, sharing the joys and sorrows of the passing years, sometimes standing with loved ones at the marriage altar and then again looking with tearful eyes into the coffin where all that was mortal of loved ones lay. It is a long stretch of years, covering the period of most lives that this worthy couple have lived in the companionship of love. The husband is now past 85 years of age and his good wife but a twelve-month younger, and while not endowed with an abundant wealth of this world's goods, they have an inheritance richer than precious gems or much gold; they have the respect and love of their neighbors, to know that by no sort of theirs has harm ever come to a single human being and to be fully satisfied with their past and to have a hope of a future without a cloud. Gentle reader you and patent to give good services to the city. The retiring members of the city council are W. S. Goldie in the first ward, Theo. Duerig in the second and Dr. J. J. Williams in the third. After the mayor and councilmen are chosen, let there be no relaxation of vigilance until the board of education has been properly looked after. Your taxes are high enough for municipal and school purposes to awaken your interest and cause you to wake up to the necessity of putting the best men in these places of trust and responsibility. Get out to the caucuses; there is the place to get the right kind of men on the tickets.

Tuesday evening the Commercial club had a well attended, enthusiastic meeting at which the subscription list for the college bonds got a decided good start. When the meeting adjourned, just one half of the bonds, $20,000, had been subscribed and the occasion demonstrated that the business men of the city are fully alive to the necessity of pushing the sale until the entire amount will be subscribed. When the soliciting committee waits on you in this matter be prepared to put your shoulder to the wheel and do your share, because this is not a work of charity, but one in which every man in the city and the country surrounding ought to feel a personal interest. The school is deserving of all the aid you can possibly give it, and more than that, when you aid the school you are helping yourself and doing a good thing for the generations that are to follow you. The great business that is being offered to the school must be taken care of and provided for, and this cannot be done by President Pile, because he is not in possession of the means to do it with, and it is only asked of you to loan, not give, the amount necessary. You cannot be so blind to your own interests, it would seem, as to need urging by anyone to do your full duty in this matter. Good towns in any country add to the value of every acre of farm land tributary to them and good towns are only built by the united efforts of the people thereof. Wayne is a good city; let us make it better. Let us make it not only the best in North Nebraska, but try to make it the best on earth.

Several names are being talked of in connection with the office of mayor for the ensuing year. Among those mentioned are Charles M. Craven, John T. Bressler and Wm. Piepenstock, all good business men and representative citizens and we believe that in the selection of either of these men no mistake would be made and that the city would under the administration of any of them be well governed and its best interests well served. But the selection and election of the proper man for mayor is not all the duty that devolves on the voters of the city if they would have their municipal affairs properly managed. Good councilmen are just as necessary as a good mayor and without men of this kind on the council we will not be governing as we should. Let good business men be chosen for these places and our affairs placed in the hands of men com-

STORM IS UNABATED

COLORADO SNOWSLIDE CRUSHES MINING CAMP AND MILL.

Loss is Nearly $500,000—Storm Has Been in Progress a Full Week—Big Slide Barely Missed Camp Bird Bunk House.

A mammoth snowslide in the Mt. Sheffield district, six miles south of Camp Bird mill, trampled the bunking house and reading room.

The Camp Bird bunk house adjoining the reading room, which was wrecked, narrowly escaped being crushed.

The avalanche, which moves annually and is called the United States slide was larger this year than ever before.

Telephone communication with the Mt. Sheffield district has been interrupted for four days and the first news of the disaster was brought to this city Saturday afternoon by County Commissioner Smith.

A telephone message received here from Silverton at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon says that a report has been received there that scores of miners were killed by the destruction of the Camp Bird boarding house.

The destruction of the provision house at the Camp Bird mine cuts off the food supply. The 250 men employed in the mine, fearing other slides may come, have taken refuge in the barnyards.

Police Asked to Locate Employee Involved in Wreck. The police of Denver, Colo., have been asked by the sheriff of Fremont county to locate Frank Lively, the Denver and Rio Grande telegraph operator.

Bellamy Storer to Retire. Other than admitting that Bellamy Storer, the American ambassador to Austria-Hungary, is to retire immediately from his post.

Nigeria Rebels Crushed. A dispatch from Zungera, northern Nigeria, to the London Daily Mail Friday reports that the British punitive expedition has crushed the Sokoto revolt.

Storm in Kansas. Wichita, Kan., special says: The heaviest snow storm of the winter prevailed in this part of Kansas Sunday and extended south into Oklahoma.

Alarming Coal Famine. Centennial, Mo., a coal famine prevails to an alarming extent. Two cars received Saturday night were delivered in small quantities to each family Sunday.

Labor Leader Shoots Two Brothers. John Gehr, a former organizer of the United Mine Workers of America at Florence, Colo., Sunday night shot John Thomas and his brother, Tom Thomas.

Woman Kills Her Guest. At Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Ida Donelson, while entertaining a party of friends at dinner Sunday, became engaged at a remark of E. C. Harris, a painter, one of the guests, and killed him with a shot from a revolver.

ERROR BRINGS DEATH.

Operator Blunders and Passengers Perish.

A wreck accompanied with horrors exceeded only by the Eden disaster, which occurred on Aug. 7, 1904, on the line of the same railroad, resulted from a head-on collision of two passenger trains on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad four miles east of Florence, Colo., at an early hour Friday morning.

The trains were the Utah-California express No. 3, westbound from Denver, and the Colorado-New Mexico express No. 16, eastbound from Leadville and Grand Junction.

It is known that the engineer of the westbound train put forth every possible effort to bring his train to a stop before he succeeded in checking and although he succeeded in checking the speed of his train the crash that followed was beyond his power to prevent.

This mishap is vouchsafed by his fireman, who, seeing the uselessness of remaining in the face of sure death, jumped and saved himself.

The disaster was made more horrible by the manner of the death of many of the passengers, variously estimated at from twenty to thirty-five.

A list of the injured given out by officials, comprises twenty-two names. None of the injured is dangerously hurt and it is believed all will recover.

A STEAMER ASHORE.

Crew Refuses to Leave Vessel—May Be Floated at High Tide.

An Atlantic City, dispatch says: The steamer Cearense, of the Booth line, went ashore near Island Beach, Life Savers report the crew refused to leave the vessel, believing she would float at high tide.

The passengers also still remain aboard. Capt. Mason said the passengers became panic stricken when the Cearense struck, but were soon calmed.

ROOSEVELT IN NO HURRY.

Will Take Further Time to Decide Successor of Justice Brown.

President Roosevelt Friday authorized the issuance of the following statement regarding the succession of Justice Brown in the supreme court:

As Justice Brown will not retire until June, when the supreme court will take a vacation until October, and no public inconvenience can arise from a vacancy continuing through the vacation, the president will take further time to decide the question of Brown's successor.

MOB QUICKLY ROUTED.

Jail Stormed in Attempt to Lynch Prisoners.

An Omaha, Neb., special says: A very weak attempt was made at 1 o'clock Friday morning to secure a number of men charged with murder, who were believed to be confined in the county jail, for the purpose of lynching them.

Thursday evening Edward Flury, a street car conductor, who was shot when his car was held up a few days ago, died and the newspapers announced that three negroes, Clarence Gathright, Calvin Wain and Harry Clark, had confessed the holdup and shooting.

It began to be stated quite openly that a mob, headed by street car employees, would assault the jail during the night, and that every man charged with murder would be lynched.

Articulate debate over the President's recent message scoring the resolution for an inquiry into the coal roads as being inadequate occupied the early part of the Senate session Monday. Senator Tillman, who framed the resolution, bitterly condemned the President's attitude. It met with many objections. A resolution calling on the Postmaster General to inform the House why the Indiana Union Signal of Shawnee, Okla., is excluded as second-class mail matter was laid on the table. Both houses adjourned until Monday.

Editor of Town Topics Held on a Perjury Charge. Colonel William D'Alton Mann, of New York, editor of Town Topics, has been indicted for perjury by the grand jury on charges growing out of the trial of Norman Hargood, editor of Collier's Weekly, for criminal libel. He was held in $1,500 bail.

Colonel Mann has been president and editor of Town Topics since 1891 and has won an unequalled reputation in Journalism. He also is the founder and manager of Stuart Set. Mr. Mann principally made his fortune through improvements in army accoutrements and by his invention of the bouclor car, later sold to the Pullman Company. He was born in Sandusky, Ohio, in 1839 and was educated as a civil engineer and served with Michigan regiments in the Civil War. When hostilities closed he settled in Alabama, and was the first Democrat from the Mobile district elected to Congress under reconstruction, but was not seated. He is a companion of the Loyal Legion and holds membership in several clubs in New York City.

President Roosevelt's special message on the joint resolution authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to make an investigation into the subject of railway discriminations and monopolies in coal and oil contains some reminders which the members of both houses need. The resolution makes no provision for the necessary expenses of the suggested inquiry and falls to give the commission power to administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. While the President has signed the resolution, he confesses that he has misgivings as to its utility. He urges Congress to note that at least it must make proper provision for the prosecution of the inquiry if it is not to be barren of results.

Secretary of State Root, in a letter to Representative Denby of Michigan, explains the attitude of the American government toward the alleged scandal in the Congo Free State in central Africa. The Congressman had written regarding the widespread feeling that our government ought to do something to bring about an international adjudication of the issues involved. In reply, the Secretary says that our country is not in a position to take the initiative toward such a step, because it has no possessions or spheres of influence in Africa.

Uncle Sam has discovered a real hero and rewarded him. It took the old fellow a year, but this caution makes the reward all the more valuable. An act of Congress was approved on February 23, 1905, which provided for the bestowal of a bronze medal on such persons as risked their lives to save others in the railway service. The first hero to get this medal is George Poell, of Grand Island, Neb. Mr. Poell was a locomotive fireman on the St. Joe & Grand Island Road, and on a run with a heavy freight train a little boy, Paul Ussary, was discovered on the track. The lad, two and a half years old, did not realize his danger, and headed not to the whistle. Mr. Poell made his way to the plot and reached out for the youngster. In saving him the fireman slipped from the plot and was dragged for 125 feet, his left foot being torn off and his arms broken. The boy had been dropped in the grass and was unharmed.

EDITORIALS Opinions of Great Papers on Important Subjects.

INCOMPETENCE IN THE NAVY.

THE colliding and grounding in New York harbor of three of Uncle Sam's biggest fighting machines show our navy is not properly officered. From $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 of the people's money is invested in each of these boats. Extreme care should be exercised in their handling so that the period of usefulness be made the greatest possible.

WE ARE NOT "GOING TO THE DOGS."

MANY have got an idea, from the sensational announcements of measures under way, that the people of this country are engaged in a life-and-death struggle with the great financial and industrial interests.

PARTICULARLY PERTINENT PERSONALS

"What is the cause of all this barking, madame? What is the cause of all this barking?" exclaimed Pa Jones, as he impetuously rushed in to the happy home and threw his hat and coat on the hall rack instead of the usual spot on the west end of the piano.

ing tone of the business world. The proceedings of the bankruptcy court show strikingly that the great majority of business failures are not tainted by dishonesty or dis honor.

But the broader minded optimist sees that justice, honor and honesty are the normal condition—that they rule as a matter of course in social and business relations. Millions of instances in which they are in evidence never appear under startling headlines of a newspaper. They are far too ordinary to constitute "news."

EVIL OF TOO MANY CHURCHES.

MERICA has too many churches. Towns which might be well administered spiritually by one clergyman or two have six, eight or ten. No one of the six or more congregations can pay for a good preacher.

THE TELEPHONE IN THE COUNTRY.

An important phase of the rural invasion of the telephone has been its perceptible effect on the value of lands. It is on record that two or three years after the establishment of lines through the country districts the prices of lands begin to rise rapidly.

MARRIAGEABLE GIRLS.

IT is very difficult to say what laws regulate proposals—why some girls attract attention only, while others attract "attention."

Senator Clark Keeps Land. The Supreme Court has denied the case against United States Senator Clark of Montana, brought to cancel the patents on 11,000 acres of public domain, on the ground that they were obtained fraudulently.

Drainage Canal Decision. After innumerable delays, the Supreme Court of the United States has rendered its decision against the demand of the State of Missouri for a perpetual injunction to prevent the city of Chicago from emptying sewage into the drainage canal, whose waters reach the Mississippi through the Desplaines and Illinois rivers.

Nitrates from the Atmosphere. High value is accorded to the recent attempts to put the artificial production of nitrates from the atmosphere on a commercial basis, according to a statement by Sir William Ramsay in the London Times.

Dr. Surgeon-General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service has notified the various government quarantine stations of the appearance of yellow fever at Bocas del Toro, and the officials in charge will, under existing regulations, be ordered to take the usual measure of inspection and detention of quarantine of ships and passengers arriving from that place.

The report of Mr. Tillman on the House ratification bill, the reading of the views of Mr. Newlands and a speech by Mr. Nelson on that subject occupied the time the Senate devoted to the regulation measure Thursday.

The Washington land office has decided that a man who has made homestead entry on the land and who has not forfeit his claim by absence while serving in the army.

Chairman Burrows of the Senate committee on privileges and elections, has agreed with Senator Smoot and his counsel to hear the evidence in rebuttal in the case of the Utah Senator Monday, March 20.

President Roosevelt has taken official cognizance of the famine which has grown to such serious proportions in northern Japan, and in an appeal requests that contributions for the sufferers be forwarded to the American National Cross.

Richard L. Ashurst, who has just been made postmaster of Philadelphia, was born in Naples, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, and is a lawyer.

The tashi lama of Tibet during his recent visit to Calcutta was taken to the races and was much astounded. He said that he had never thought there were so many people in the world.

The Rev. W. H. Fitzpatrick of Boston, who has not taken a vacation for forty years, will shortly start for the Holy Land, stopping on his way to pay his respects to Pope Pius X.

J. M. Barrie, the novelist, is one of the most painstaking dramatists of the day. So hard is it to please that he rewrites an act eight or nine times.

ply stay in the house long enough to take a little homemade syrup and then go out and monkey in the snow to keep down the fever! I have had more cold spells than you could find in a Red Trust refrigerator, and all that my good old mother ever did was to saturate me with kerosene and feed me on molasses and vinegar, and—

"I can easily believe it, you sweet crook!" broke in the taunting Ma, contemptuously. "You are full of kerosene yet, and—"

"Silence, woman! Silence, love-dorey!" thundered Pa, ragefully, glaring at his devoted Mary. "You have said enough! You have sprinkled on a little of the Smith's extra! How dare you throw the harpoon into the time-honored methods of my good old mother? How dare you pose as an authority on therapeutics? What right have you—"

"Oh, for heaven's sake, shut up, you squawking quawk!" shouted Ma, with evident annoyance. "You are worse than a chirping singing society! Why don't you forget your grouch and 'phone for the doctor? Why don't—"

"I won't shut up, dear soul! I won't shut up!" returned Pa, explosively, as he started for the kitchen, followed by Ma. "I refuse to be muzzled! I refuse to permit the Smiths to ruin the roof! I am the main guy of this gang, and I am going to prove to you the efficacy of my good old mother's medicine. I am going to make you eat crow! I am going to step up some of that syrup as a matter of vindication! Where do you keep your pans? Norah, get me the molasses! You may also trot out the vinegar! Now, then, Smithy, take a look and get wise to the ways of domestic remedial! You will notice that as these ingredients begin to sizzle I begin to stir! You will—Norah, bring me a hunk of butter and a lump of lard! That's right, now, get a hustle on you and fetch a dash of mustard, some ginger, and—"

"Aren't you a smart old hero?" interposed Ma, sarcastically, as she watched the mixtur Henry. "Why don't you put in a little shoe polish and sand soap? Why don't you—"

"Who is doing this, madame? Who is doing this?" was the snarling rejoinder of Pa. "Who is conducting this laboratory? Who is so kindly exhausting his chemical knowledge to cure your dear mother's cold when she ought to be Oslerized? Why don't you take a sneak? Why don't you vanish like other ghosts? Why don't you attend to your own business, and be thankful that you have a guardian angel named Jones to look after you?"

"It's just good for you, you officious brute!" put in the unsympathetic Ma, with a triumphant gleam in her wily eyes. "I don't pity you one bit! You haven't got any more than was coming to you! I saw you dumping a pound of cayenne pepper in that cough cure instead of ginger, but I couldn't interfere with the mixture that your mother used to make!"

"Pa Jones did not reply at the time. He was too busy sucking water out of the reservoir regardless of microbes. But at the end of two hours, when he felt physically cooler and mentally hotter, the good old family battle began in earnest, and continued until long after a real doctor had prescribed for Mother-in-Law Smith and the other coughful cases.—This adeptly Telegraph.

Conquered All Obstacles. Strength of character may be shown in many different ways. Mary Lizzie Carter had a way of her own.

"I can't just tell you, Mary Lizzie has what I call a real strong character," said one of the young woman's friends to her mother. "She's got determination and perseverance and a lot of other fine things."

"Indeed, how does she show of these splendid traits?" asked the admiring mother, who had been accused to think of Mary Lizzie as a frivolous and selfish young person.

"Why, she wanted to go skating this afternoon, and it just seemed as if everything went wrong," said the admirer. "Her aunt came from Buffalo, just for two days, and her mother was half sick with a dreadful cold, and her brother Jim was out, and her new skating skirt hadn't come home, as the dressmaker had promised."

"Now I should have given up and stayed at home, but Mary Lizzie has too strong a character. She sent her aunt off to see the new library with one of the neighbors, and put her mother to bed with a hot-water bottle, telephoned Jim to come to work until to-morrow instead, and borrowed Fanny Ogden's skirt."

you that I have faith in its virtue! You will observe that I pour out a tablespoonful! You will also observe that I fearlessly put it in my mouth and—Wow! Holy smoke! Help, Mary! Help! I have swallowed lava from Mount Vesuvius! Run! Run for a doctor, dearest! Run for—

PERSONAL MENTION.
R. D. Merrill of Carroll was in town Saturday afternoon.
W. E. Tucker of Wausau visited relatives in Wayne Sunday.
A son was born Monday the 19th inst. to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bama.
O. A. King was doing business in Carroll between trains Monday.
Chas. McLeod of Stanton, visited in Wayne Sunday, returning home Monday morning.
Mrs. Emil Weber and Miss Fay Smith who were visiting in Laurel returned to Wayne last Thursday.
Ira J. Rice left the fore part of the week for Ransom, N. D., where he owns some land and will locate.
The Herald learns that Mayor Britton will not be a candidate for re-nomination and election this spring.
Wm. McCabe and wife and babe came up from Lincoln on Wednesday of last week and expect to remain here permanently.
Wm. Brady of Rawley, Ia., and Mrs. Cal Bradstreet of Sioux City, arrived in Wayne Monday morning, called here by the serious illness of E. R. Chace. Mr. Brady is a brother of Mrs. Chace.
E. K. Valentine, pioneer of West Point, and a well known man in this part of the state, has moved from the town where he lived so long and taken up a permanent residence in Omaha.
E. R. Gurney, formerly of Winside, now president of a bank at Fremont, has lately helped promote the consolidation of two banks at North Bend, acquiring stock in the resulting institution.
Chas. Robbins left Monday, accompanied by John Dobbin, of Chicago, where he will buy a new stock of goods which will be considerably larger than the one which he had purchased before the fire.
Mrs. Harriet E. Hunt, editor of the Sioux City Stylus, died from an attack of grip Monday morning. She was the wife of G. W. Hunt who died a year ago and who was well known in north-north Nebraska newspaper circles.
Gen. John M. Thayer, aged 86 years, died Monday the 10th, at his home in Lincoln. Gen. Thayer had represented Nebraska in the United States senate, was territorial governor of Wyoming and governor of Nebraska. In the civil war he served under Gen. Grant.
Rev. Dilley's son, Kenneth, who has been sick for some time, was worse Sunday and it was thought then that an operation would have to be performed, but the next morning there was great improvement in the boy's condition and a resort to surgery was unnecessary.
Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Matheny expect to move into their large and commodious, and elegantly furnished and furnished new residence next week. They have been a long time watching and directing its growth from the foundation, and now rejoice that it is ready for them to move in.
Homer Graves, father-in-law of N. N. Briggs and Mrs. Graves of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graves of Neligh, Am. Graves of Atkinson, and Mr. Briggs and Mrs. Newton, father and sister of the deceased, of Calro, Iowa, were present at the Robert N. Briggs funeral Thursday.—Winnipeg Free Press.
There was a family reunion at the J. B. Felber home the first of the week. H. J. Felber, wife and little daughter were here from Wayne and Miss Bertha was at home from Morchingside college, Sioux City. The occasion of the gathering was the approaching birthday of the late Mrs. Felber, Mrs. H. H. Young, of Empoli, Wis. Mr. Young is expected to come for them sometime this week.—Laurel Advocate.
Mr. L. M. Stockwell, depot agent at this place, was called up on the carpet before the "high moguls" at Omaha the latter part of last, on some charge brought against him, and after cross examination was removed from the office. The news came as a big surprise to all the patrons of the office, as Mr. Stockwell has always been polite and accommodating to all, and we have never heard one remark against him. A petition was circulated last Monday around town, petitioning the company to reinstate him in his job, but at this writing no reply has been received from them. We do not know what are the intentions of Mr. Stockwell, but as he owns a claim in South Dakota, he will probably move his family onto that while he can find employment at something else.—Wausau Gazette.
