PERFECT DAY FOR EASTER

Ideal for Exhibition of New Millinery.

CHURCHES OBSERVE THE DAY

Appropriate Religious Services Attract Large Congregations.— Czars of Fashion.

Sunday brought ideal weather for Easter. An Italian sky, splendid sunshine and balmy zephyrs contributed to a perfect day, and it gave inspiration to the important ceremony of installing new hats and suits. Perhaps the transition to vernal toggery did not wholly obliterate the fundamental spirit of the occasion. Anyway, the different churches had appropriate programs, some more elaborately prepared than others, and large congregations attended. Communion was added to the services in a number of churches, and all received thoughts touching the resurrection of Christ. The day also brought an end to the Lenten season, a period of forty days of personal sacrifice.

The myriads of uniquely shaped and variously ornamented head awnings reflect credit on the creative genius of the czars of fashion. These designers and hatters of style are smart enough to make the shapes of hats different each year, and to occasionally introduce a feature that is really attractive. It is well to have a few leaders and makers of fashion, for they create business and create mental activity in planning, fixing and adjusting, and it is well that there are some who feel comfortable in roles of fashion leaders, for most people would scorn the idea of molding the standard and all-arounding of unworldly fellow-creatures, and often unbecoming and grotesque millinery and other wearing contrivances. As between hats that look like windmills, wrecked ships or common pancakes, all more or less decked with feathers from the songsters of the forest, there is little choice until one gets used to the accepted variety. Then, on occasion afterwards, the fashion changes, and the distress of becoming accustomed to a new whim is repeated.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

W. N. Huse of the Norfolk News, who went to Rochester, Minn., for an operation last Thursday, had it performed Saturday morning by the famous Dr. Mayo. The gall bladder was removed and Mr. Huse survived the operation in good condition with promise of steady recovery. Such an operation is usually considered very serious. Monday afternoon's News reports Mr. Huse's condition as follows:

A telegram received from Rochester this morning says that Mr. Huse passed a comfortable night last night, ate breakfast this morning and is feeling fine.

The gall bladder was removed and a gallstone was found in the cystic duct, which was removed. This had been felt after the first operation.

Dr. Saiter returned last night.

Just across the hall from Mr. Huse is W. E. Honch of Pierce, who has been operated on for gall stones and for appendicitis. He is doing well.

A letter written yesterday and received today says that Dr. Mayo gave every encouragement that the operation would not be very serious and pronounced the patient in good condition.

WORSE CASES THAN JOHN'S.

John Kate of Wayne is not the only one who has been sorely by the will of the devious attention to chicken culture, and he escaped fortunately compared to two other cases mentioned in recent dispatches. Mr. Becker living near Brunswick, Neb., lost his residence and all its contents by reason of his wife dropping a lighted lamp which she was preparing for use in her incubator, and allowing it to roll down stairs, so quickly distributing the flames that nothing could be saved. Another recent case: A mother and son were instantly killed in New York by grabbing a live electric wire with which they were conducting experiments in connection with a newly invented incubator. Probably that particular variety of chicken hatching machine will not be put on the market very soon. Thus, in comparison, John's accident by which he burned his hand and roasted to a crisp brown eighty-five promising chicks, was not very serious. John's misfortune, however, was due to experimenting with a new kind of brooder.

PROF. GREGG'S WORK

The following correspondence from Fern, Neb., to the Lincoln Journal speaks of a former well known Wayne educator: "The one hundred and twenty students taking agriculture instruction under P. M. Gregg, associate professor in the biological department, have begun work on their outdoor gardens. Each student has his own plot of ground and cares for the same. The work serves a two-fold purpose—to aid in the study of plant life and agriculture at the present time, and also to give prospective teachers an insight into the plan and method of carrying on school gardening while teaching. A variety of about twenty vegetables and flowers will be planted."

DR. ISAACS GOES TO EUROPE.

Dr. Isaac will leave this week for Glasgow, Scotland, to enter a medical college for the purpose of perfecting himself in the treatment of diseases of the eye, ear and nose. He will later go to Germany to finish his studies. The doctor informs us that he had made these plans for himself two or three years ago, and now is about to put them into effect. Dr. Isaac has been a resident of Winslow for nearly two years and has been remarkably successful in his profession. He will leave many friends who regret his going away very much. The Tribune wishes the doctor unlimited success in his profession and all the good luck possible.—Winslow Tribune.

THE MONDAY CLUB'S SOCIAL.

The ladies of the Monday club and their husbands had a pleasant social gathering at the residence of Dan Harrington Monday evening. An interesting feature of entertainment was the representation of popular books and advertisements by the slips in response to directions noted on pieces of paper that had been distributed. The men of the crowd, some of them rather elderly, sedate and rheumatic, became young and active again and entered into the spirit of the amusement with gusto and gaiety. It was a happy event, and all participating enjoyed it hugely.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

On Monday the last warrant as the result of indebtedness incurred by public improvements by the city of Wayne in the last three years, was paid, and now there is not a cent of indebtedness aside from the original bonds of $14,000 for water works and $1,500 for lights, and there is some money on hand. During the last three years improvements have been made at an aggregate cost of $15,000, being $8,700 for the power plant, $3,200 for new wells and $3,000 for permanent crossings. It is not likely another town of Wayne's size in the state can make as good a showing.

PROHIBITION AT RANDOLPH.

Martin Buol, banker of Randolph, was in Wayne Friday completing the purchase of a half section of the (Geo. Barnes estate, consideration being about $50 per acre. Mr. Buol is very enthusiastic in behalf of the reform movement at Randolph. Drunkenness and disorder had been carried to such excess there that law abiding citizens proposed to wipe out the saloons entirely and take vigorous measures in promoting a better state of society. The saloons had imposed more lawlessness on the community than it would stand.

Trip to Idaho Irrigation District.

E. Cunningham started Tuesday morning for Twin Falls, Idaho, to see the neighboring country and perhaps invest. Twin Falls is the center of a big irrigating enterprise and the influx of people and capital during the past year has been very large, and development has been rapid and substantial. Mr. Cunningham will visit other points in the west before returning.

Death of Bloomfield Cashier.

Louis C. Crosby, cashier of the Farmers' & Merchants' bank at Bloomfield and brother of John F. Crosby of Hoskins, died at his home in Bloomfield on Wednesday last week after a lingering illness. Mr. Crosby was aged about 42 years and leaves a wife, daughter and adopted son. He was one of the foremost citizens of Bloomfield.

Unique Way of Raising Money.

At Ocoty, in the Big Horn country, Wyoming, nine-tenths of its male citizens have been indicted for gambling, and the fear is expressed that there are not enough left from complicity to serve on juries to try them. Such whole sale action is said to have been taken to raise funds with which to replace bridges washed away by recent floods.

The Dispensary Law.

A Lincoln dispatch to Tuesday's Norfolk News says that Attorney General Brown had filed a brief in the supreme court upholding the legality of the dispensary law. He argued that the law should be sustained because it was a benefit to mankind. The brief was filed in the habeas corpus proceedings of William A. Simmons of Dawes county.

Wayne Commercial Club.

The Wayne Commercial club is nearing the end of the first year of its organization. About May 1 there will be an election of officers, with probably a celebration in the way of speech-making and a big feast, and the club will begin another year with new determination to accomplish things for the welfare and upbuilding of Wayne.

Increase of Appendicitis Cases.

There seems to be no diminution in the number of people being operated on for appendicitis. On the contrary there is an amazingly large and growing list of young and old who are submitting to surgery for the removal of pains which doubtless used to be erroneously attributed to encumbers and other indigestible articles of diet.

Norfolk's Hospitality.

Norfolk's generous hospitality in treatment accorded the teachers at their recent meeting inspired them with next appreciation and desire to hold their next annual meeting there. Doubtless the committee authorized to select the place and date for next year, will act in accordance with the wishes of the teachers.

State Convention in August.

The republican state convention will be held at Lincoln August 22, in accordance with the action of the central committee which met last Thursday. The convention will be asked to express a preference for United States senator.

PLANT TREES NEXT MONDAY

Appropriate Exercises in Bressler Park.

EVERYBODY SHOULD BE THERE

And Everybody is Invited to Bring a Tree and Plant It.—Schools Will Participate.

For day, April 22, comes on Sunday this year, and therefore the following day, Monday, will be devoted to appropriate exercises and tree-planting in the Bressler park where also will be carried out a program of speeches, recitations and songs. Aside from an address by E. R. Lundburg, the features of the program will be furnished by the students of the public school and college.

J. P. Gavrtner has made an attractive design of the park as it will appear when it is completed, and it is the intention to set out trees like those of a forest and without reference to straight rows. Everybody is invited to be at the park next Monday afternoon and bring along a tree and plant it.

The formal program will doubtless deal with the inestimable value of tree-planting—how the forest conserves moisture, furnishes protection and shade, lumber and fire wood, and how the timber states of the north and east have been stripped of their products until the price of lumber has multiplied and the big mill men have been forced to invade the hitherto virgin forests of the distant Pacific coast. Doubtless also the memory of the father of Arbor Day, the late J. Sterling Morton, will be eulogized and his notable accomplishments reviewed. Systematic and persistent tree-planting, as taught by Mr. Morton, has materially helped the development and enrichment of the state of Nebraska.

DEATH OF LAURA HOLTZ.

Miss Laura Holtz, who spent eighteen years of her life in Wayne and who was known and esteemed by a large circle of friends, died at the home of her sister in Dakota City Monday morning at nine o'clock after a lingering illness from consumption. Her brother, Thos. Holtz, was called to Dakota City Sunday afternoon by the rapidly failing condition of his sister and was at her bedside when she died.

Miss Laura Holtz was born in Ontario, Canada, twenty-five years ago, and was the youngest of a large family. At the age of 7 she came with her parents to Wayne and lived here during most of her remaining days. She graduated from the Wayne high school and later devoted five years to teaching, which she was finally compelled to abandon on account of failing health. When the dread consumption was detected a number of years ago, she was given a change of climate and the best of medical skill, but neither could stay the steady progress of the disease. The death of her mother occurred only a short time ago. For several months she has been under the care of her sister at Dakota City.

The funeral was held in Wayne yesterday morning when funeral services were held at 10:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, being conducted at the request of the deceased by Rev. Chas. Sidebotham, of Hartington. A large crowd of Wayne people filled the church and paid their respects to the memory of their departed and esteemed friend.

Returns From Colorado.

B. P. Peterson stepped off the morning train Wednesday. He is well satisfied with his new home at Colorado Springs, although somewhat lonesome for the old farm, and reports Mr. Peterson as slowly improving in health. It is his intention to remain in Carroll some little time.—Carroll Index.

Nearly Enough Funds Subscribed.

Only a few thousand dollars yet remain to be guaranteed before the $10,000 needed for improvements at the college will be secured. The Herald is requested to state that any who have been missed by the committee, can take stock, if they desire to do so, by calling at any one of the Wayne banks.

Deputy Treasurer Has Deserved Rest.

Miss Zetta Rayburn who went to Hot Springs, S. D., about four weeks ago, to visit and for the benefit of her health, arrived on her return home Tuesday afternoon, and has resumed her duties as deputy county treasurer. This was her first vacation during fourteen years of service in the treasurer's office.

Wakefield Old Settler Moves.

O. T. Barto left on Thursday for South Dakota where he expects to make his future home. Riley Duncan accompanied him to look after his stock. Charlie has been a resident of this part of Nebraska for many years and his friends here will hope that he will do well in his new home.—Wakefield Republican.

THE RED STORM Or the Days of Daniel Boone

By JOEL ROBINSON

CHAPTER XXV. A maiden approached the station, and Reynolds and Joel Leighton hastened to open the postern for her admittance.

"This is Captain Boone," said Lizzy. "Let me breathe a moment; I am excited, my heart beats very fast."

"To save you all from destruction, the treaty talked of is but a trap to destroy you. If you go out of the fort, you will never come back; you will be seized and carried to the spot," added Innis with increasing fervor.

"Who are you?" asked the captain in a more kindly tone. The young girl hesitated, and then, covering her face with her hands, replied: "My name is Innis McKee."

"That unfortunate!" muttered Joel to himself. "Alas, sir, why should I attempt to conceal what is so well known? The perjury of my father fills me with shame."

"The plot is simple: this. When you go out to make your terms with Du Quesne, you will be seized and not allowed to return to the fort. A large party of warriors will surround you and effectually cut off retreat."

"Very good," said Leighton. "Send them word that we will meet them sixty yards from the block-house. In the block-house we will station our sharpest shooters. If they attempt to seize us, let them shoot down the first who lifts a hand."

"The measure of his sins is full and running over," added Leighton. "Girty ceased speaking, and nothing of importance took place on either side until a little past noon, when he again appeared with the announcement that Du Quesne had returned, and the cannon and reinforcements had reached them."

"Gentlemen, do you hear this offer; you are at perfect liberty to accept or reject it," said Daniel Boone. "Do not let me see gross injustice to Innis; I shall consent to such a proposal for a moment," replied Mr. Alston, quickly.

THE SINNER'S CHANCE. A story which comes from the Contemporary Review has a bearing considerably broader than the mere facts of the case; for the negro who is the central figure was possessed of a quality not infrequently in white offenders, to-wit: the ability to unguilely note in his neighbor's eye until the whole community forgets that he has a beam in his own.

CHAPTER XXVI. Captain Boone stationed his men in the block-house to command a view of the parson, and where they could cover them with their rifles.

"If they lay hands on us and attempt to do us any wrong, we will surely die and neither shall we be seized," said the first of Leighton's men. "And mark me, remember Girty and Du Quesne," said the pioneer, when, with his two companions, Fleming and Leighton, he was ready to leave the fort.

"I think it would be well," said Joel. "For each of us to conceal some kind of a weapon under our hunting frocks. I've an idea that we shall feel the need of 'em before we get back."

"I think it would be well," said Joel. "For each of us to conceal some kind of a weapon under our hunting frocks. I've an idea that we shall feel the need of 'em before we get back."

Color May Prove Valuable as Anesthetic in Surgery.

Interesting experiments with blue light as an agent for producing analgesia, or insensibility to pain—the discovery of Prof. Richard—have been carried out by Dr. Harvey Hilliard, anaesthetist to the Royal Dental Hospital of London, and by a well-known Geneva dentist.

In the Medical Times and Hospital Gazette Dr. Hilliard states that he found that the blue light had on himself "a most distinctly calming influence; a desire to close the eyes and sleep is experienced, and after some minutes sensibility to pain is lessened. For instance, the difference between light pressure made with the tip of the little finger and a needle could not easily be detected and surgical needles could be pushed into the face, lips, gums and arms and blood drawn freely without actual pain being felt unless a still deeper pressure were exerted."

Dr. Hilliard gives instances of the utility of the blue rays in the case of the extraction of teeth. One man said that under its influence he felt no pain when a molar was extracted and returned to his usual work.

A Mexican Legend. Thomas A. Janvier relates in Harper's magazine a number of folk-legends of the City of Mexico; among them is the legend of Don Juan Manuel, told as it came to him from a Mexican peasant:

"This Don Juan Manuel, senior, was a rich and worthy gentleman, who had the bad luck of killing people. Every night at 11 o'clock, when the palace clock was striking, he went out from his magnificent house—say you know, senior, it still is standing in the street that has been named after him—all muffled up in his cloak and under it his dagger in his hand.

"Then he would meet one in the dark street and would ask him politely, 'What is the hour of night?' And that person, having heard the striking of the clock, would answer, 'It is eleven hours of night.' And Don Manuel would say to him, 'Senior, you are fortunate above all men, because you die peacefully the hour at which you die.' Then he would thrust with his dagger—and then, leaving the dead gentleman lying in the street, he would come back again into his own house.

And this bad vice of Don Juan Manuel's of killing people went on, senior, for a great many years."

The English language, according to a German statistician, who has made a study of the comparative wealth of languages, heads the list with the enormous vocabulary of 200,000 words; German comes next, with 80,000 words; then Italian, with 75,000; French, 50,000; Turkish, 22,500; and Spanish, 20,000.

Interest makes some people blind, and others quick-sighted.

THIRD PASTURE.

Now we come to a frisky lot, the "Labor Union" editors. You know down in Texas a weed called "Loco" is sometimes eaten by a steer and produces a "loco" animal of the brain that makes the steer "batty" or crazy.

There is quite an assortment of fraudulent and jay-at-home members of the tribe of Ananias who tell their falsehoods for a variety of reasons. In the spring it is the custom on a cattle ranch to have a "round up" and brand the cattle, so we are going to have a "round up" and brand these cattle and place them in their proper pastures.

Now let all these choice specimens take notice: We will deposit one thousand or five thousand dollars to be covered by a like amount from them, or any one of them, and if there was ever one different than our selected who would barly with a little salt and yeast in the making of Grape-Nuts, we will lose the money.

Our pure food factories are open at all times to visitors, and thousands pass through each month, inspecting every department and every process. Our factories are so clean that one could, with good relish, eat a meal from the floors.

The word people, both men and women, are of the highest grade in the American, and according to the state labor reports, are the highest paid in the state for similar work.

Let us tell you exactly what you will see when you inspect the manufacture of Grape-Nuts. You will find tremendous elevators containing the grain, wheat and barley, possible to buy these grains are carried through long conveyors to granular mills, and there they are milled into flour.

These great loaves are sliced by machinery and the slices placed on conveyors, these trays, in turn, placed on great steel racks, and rolled into the cylindrical trays, each tray 7 1/2 inches long. There the loaves are subjected to a long low heat and the starch which has not been before transformed, is turned into a form of sugar general known as Post Sugar. It can be distinguished on the granules of typical Post sugar, and rolled into the loaves, sugar is not poured over or put on the loaves, but the loaves are saturated with it as they pass through the rollers.

Now after that process to the loaves having been ground it was passed through about one hundred buses of soaking in water, then placed on conveyors and slightly sprouted, developing the diastase in the barley, which changes the starch in the grain into a form of sugar.

FIRST PASTURE.

Cooking school teachers—this includes "teachers" who have applied to us for a weekly pay if they would say "something nice" about Grape-Nuts and Postum, and when we have declined to hire them to do this, they get waxy and show their true colors.

This also includes "demonstrators" and "lecturers" sent out by a certain Sanitarium to sell foods made there, and these people, instructed by the small-be-whisker-of-doctor—the head of the institution—to tell these prevarications (you can speak the strongest word if you like). This same little doctor conducts a small magazine in which there is a department of "answers" to correspondence, many of the questions as well as answers being written by the aforesaid doctor.

In this column sometime ago appeared the statement: "We cannot recommend the use of Grape-Nuts for it is nothing but bread with glucose poured over it." Right then he showed his badge as a member of the tribe of Ananias. He may have been a member for some time before, and so he has caused these "lecturers" to hussle him in the ways of the tribe wherever they go.

When the young lady in New York put the "iron on" to this "teacher" and branded her right eye, she sent $100 to the girl for her luck and bravery.

Editors of "Frank" papers known as growers' papers. Remember, we don't put the brand on all, by any means. Only those that require it. These members of the tribe have demanded that we carry advertising in their papers, and when we do not consider it advisable to institute a campaign of vituperation and slander, printing from time to time manufactured news on Postum or Grape-Nuts, when they go far enough we set our legal force at work and hale them to the judge to answer. If the pace has been hot enough to throw some of these "cattle" over their backs, feet tied and howling, do you think we should be blamed? They gambol around with tails held high and jump stiff-legged with a very "clucky" air while they have full charge, but when the rope is thrown over them "it's different."

Should we utter them, because they beat soft and low? Or should we put the iron on, so that people will know the brand? Let's keep them in this pasture, anyhow.

Official paper of Wayne and Wayne county. Published every Thursday.

It is announced from Washington that a boom for Speaker Joseph G. Cannon for the republican presidential nomination will be launched as a banquet given in honor of his birthday anniversary on May 7.

The Stanton Picket commends Hon. W. W. Young of that city as a man well fitted to succeed to the congressional shoes in this district. Mr. Young was a close rival for the nomination when Congressman McCarthy won it four years ago.

The Sioux City Journal has taken time from its Perkins-Cummins fight to glance into the political situation in Nebraska, and insists that E. Rosewater of Omaha, is the logical candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Millard.

Elijah Dowie has refused to consider peaceful negotiations looking to a settlement of his trouble at Zion City, but instead proposes to go into court and fight for the power and property which have been wrested from him. Some startling miracles from the re-incarnated Elijah are past due, and if they are not forthcoming we shall refuse to believe that he is the real article.

There never were at one time as many lines of new railroad being built and in prospect as there are now. This year will be a record-breaker in such improvements, and as a consequence vast areas of rich, undeveloped country are being opened for settlement. The great amount of capital devoted to railroad improvements and other big enterprises is an assurance that there is no immediate danger of the present era of prosperous times being disturbed.

The Tekamah Journal says concludes and pigeonholes the Huse-McCarthy dispute by declaring that "to one on the outside it looks as though Huse's real object in trying to breed trouble for Mr. McCarthy was hidden behind a baseless charge." One possessing such rare, occult metaphysical power of reaching final deductions, after carefully sifting the evidence of W. M. Robertson and W. N. Huse on one side and of Congressman McCarthy on the other, ought to be able to elucidate the "real object" to which he learnedly refers. We want to know what it is.

Hon. George D. Meiklejohn, who still claims Fullerton, Neb., as his home, but of late years has been devoting much attention to mining interests in Nevada and Mexico, was in Lincoln Saturday visiting friends. Asked as to his senatorial aspirations, he would not deny nor affirm the report that he would be a candidate. The Journal quotes him as saying that the people of Nebraska know his record as a legislator, lieutenant governor, congressman and assistant secretary of war and if they desire to honor him further, they will in due time make it known.

The work of the enraged mob at Springfield, Mo., in hanging and burning three negroes on evidence of guilt that was not conclusive, does gross violence to law and civilization. Women and children watched the lynching, and a dance in the neighborhood was only interrupted long enough to give its participants a chance to witness the gruesome and revolting spectacle. Frenzied people, already despising the negro, lacked reason in their determination to mete out swift and vengeful punishment without regard to courts or law or the evidence connecting their victims with crime.

The Perkins-Cummins fight for the governorship in Iowa, increases in fervor, with considerable bitter feeling developed within the party. As a consequence, if it were not for the fact that Iowa is overwhelmingly republican, a democrat might enter the field against the convention's winner and outstrip him at the polls. Cummins has scored the first victory by gathering a handful of pledged delegates in a northern county. He is a flamboyant orator and knows how to tickle the galleries by stentorian shouts for reform. Perkins is also for reform, but his voice is a trifle weak and he cannot yell as loud as his opponent. That fact—though rather a disadvantage in campaigning—would not prevent him from making an honest, capable, efficient chief executive.

THE WELD THAT HELD

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT; examine the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly-declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity.

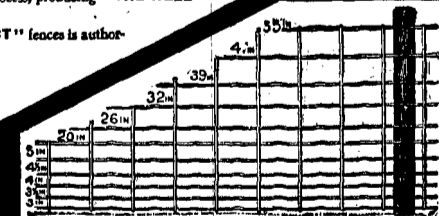

You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them. "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

- That the wires are not injured at the joints.
- That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.
- That the stays will not separate from the strands.
- That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

The explosive harpoon, the whale hunter's chief reliance, which is the modern whale hunter's chief reliance, is a truly murderous weapon, six feet in length and strong in proportion, made chiefly of malleable iron and admirably designed for the slaying of the immense creatures. Its most striking feature next to the bomb head, which is operated by a time fuse and explodes in the vitals of the whale, is the anchor-like device that prevents the harpoon "drawing" out of the body again under the terrific strain of the wounded monster's frantic efforts to free itself.

UNDER THE JAPON.

The office of Stuart & Lincoln was not a model establishment, where there was a place for everything and everything in its place. And it was not in deed, as a managing clerk the Juniper partner would have been a hopeless failure, and as an attorney, in the technical sense of the term, he would never have distinguished himself. He disliked everything connected with the drudgery of legal routine, hated drawing the declarations and pleas, despised the artificialities and refinements which were even then beginning to creep into the pleadings and disregarded forms whenever it was possible to do so.

PEPPYS AS A PLAYGOER.

The Time When Women First Appeared on the English Stage. In the methods of producing plays Pepys's period of playgoing was coeval with many most important innovations which seriously affected the presentation of Shakespeare on the stage. The chief was the substitution of women for boys to female roles. During the first few months of Pepys's theatrical experience boys were still taking the woman's parts. That the practice survived in the first days of Charles II.'s reign, we know from the well worn anecdote that when the king went behind the scenes to inquire why the play of "Hamlet" which he had come to see, was so late in commencing he was answered that the queen was not yet shaved. But in the opening month of 1660, within five months of his first visit to a theater, the reign of the boys ended. On Jan. 5 of that year Pepys writes that he "first saw women come upon the stage." Next night he makes entry of a boy's performance of a woman's part, and that is the final record of boys masquerading as women in the English theater. I believe the practice now survives nowhere except in Japan. This mode of representation has always been a great puzzle to students of Elizabethan drama. It was difficult to imagine what boys in Shakespeare's day, if they were anything like boys of our own day, made of such parts as Lady Macbeth or Cleopatra. Before, however, Pepys saw Shakespeare's work on the stage the usurpation of the boys was over. It was after the Restoration, too, that scenery, rich costume and scenic machinery became, to Pepys's delight, regular features of the theater. When the dramatist saw "Hamlet" "done with scenes" for the first time he was most favorably impressed. Musical accompaniment was known to pre-estorators for the first time placed on the floor of the house in front of the stage instead of in a side gallery. The musical accompaniment of plays developed very rapidly, and the methods of opera were applied to many of Shakespeare's pieces, notably to "The Tempest" and "Macbeth." From "Pepys and Shakespeare," by Sidney Lee, in Fortnightly Review.

D. E. Miller returned yesterday from the Big Horn Basin, Wyo., to arrange to move with his family to Thermopolis where he and Ralph Bangell have exclusive right to bottle the famous hot spring water. Mr. Miller modestly admits that the state capital will be located at Thermopolis. Really, with the prospect of two railroads, it is a town of great promise. He says the Wayne people in the Basin country are flourishing, making money, and enjoying good health and contentment.
A special to yesterday's Sioux City Journal from Magnet, Neb., contains the following: A horse belonging to Mr. Heesey, the implement man, was found to be afflicted with glanders and was promptly shot by Dr. Severn, of Randolph. It is rumored that there may be other cases and they will be dealt with in the same manner. At Bloomfield glanders has been found among the horses on the Indian reservation and the Indians keep them in hiding to prevent the state veterinary or his deputies from shooting them. In this way the disease is gaining a foothold in this section.

SPRINGFIELD'S FURY

MOB HOLDS MOCK TRIAL OF THIRD NEGRO VICTIM.

No better evidence of the improved condition of affairs in the section affected by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius near Naples, Italy, can be presented than the following telegram from Director Matteucci, sent Friday evening from the observatory on the side of the volcano:

"Last night and today the activity of Vesuvius and the agitation at the surface of the volcano sensibly diminished. Electric discharges ceased today and the discharge was less abundant. From the presumed formation of the crater and other indications, and if the news coming to me is true of the eruption of Java at Bonocore, I predict with reserve that in two or three days volcanic calm will reign."

The publication of this assuring dispatch has brought joy to the people and the Good Friday services at the church, which was attended by large congregations, took the form of fervent thanksgiving for danger's past. Conditions at Naples were so much better Friday that the people were almost incredulous of the tales of terror told by those who had escaped from farther within the zone of devastation. The weather was fine and the wind had shifted so that the clouds of ashes from the volcano instead of enveloping Naples were carried in the direction of Caserta. But in other quarters there is no escaping from the awful evidences of the volcano's fury. At Bonocore the exhumation of the dead is being carried on by soldiers, who, owing to the advanced state of decomposition of the corpses, are unable to work more than an hour at a time. The work is one of great physical cost as well as of danger and a number of the men engaged in it have died of cholera, more or less advanced, while others are but little disfigured. As quickly as possible they are buried in quicklime, to lessen as far as may be the danger of epidemic. None but those engaged in the work of recovering the corpses are permitted in the vicinity.

SEVERE STORM IN NEBRASKA.

Wind, Snow and Sleet, with Temperature Near Freezing. An Omaha, Neb., special says: A wind, snow and sleet storm of unusual severity is reported sweeping across the western part of Nebraska and extending into eastern Colorado and into the Black Hills.

At Union Pacific headquarters the storm was reported most severe in the vicinity of Julesburg, Colo., where the wind was blowing at the rate of 60 miles an hour and a heavy snow falling and badly drifting. The roofs of two cars standing on a siding a short distance west of Julesburg were blown off, wrecking the telegraph wires.

East of North Platte, Neb., the storm was also severe, the Union Pacific dispatchers at Grand Island being sent by special train west of the breaks in the telegraph lines to handle the trains.

ALIENS POURING IN.

New High Record Being Set by Arrivals in New York. A new high water mark in the tide of American immigration will be set when the aliens who arrived in New York Sunday on the European steamer, and also those due on eight big ships which were expected to pass Sunday before midnight, have been permitted to land on United States soil.

Big Cargo of Gold.

A steamship, Campania, which sailed from Queenstown Sunday for New York, has on board what is said to be the largest commitment of specie ever sent across the Atlantic in one shipment. The total value of the shipment is about $5,250,000 and its weight is close to twelve tons.

Run Down by Train.

Mrs. Maud Calvin and two of her children were killed and two other children were injured near Greenville, Pa., Saturday, when an Erie passenger train struck a carriage in which the family was crossing the tracks.

Volcanic Eruption of Vesuvius Seems Almost Spontaneous. No better evidence of the improved condition of affairs in the section affected by the eruption of Mt. NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Teachers End a Busy Session—Enrollment at Fremont Approaches the Thousand Mark—Interesting Meeting of Educators Comes to a Close.

The Eastern Central Nebraska Teachers' Association closed their first session at Fremont Saturday morning. The enrollment far exceeded the expectations of the local committees, the total being 551, over 600 of whom came from outside of the city. The committee ran out of badges and had to issue an assignment of badges to late arrivals who came in time to attend the section meetings.

Friday evening's session was held at the opera house, which was crowded. A witty and instructive lecture was delivered by Wm. Hawley Smith. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, H. H. Hagan, city; secretary, S. M. Graham, South Omaha; secretary, F. E. Taylor, Fullerton; treasurer, W. A. Yoder, Omaha; members executive committee, N. C. Abbott, Tekamah, and J. C. Matzen, Fremont.

An invitation of the Fremont Commercial Club to hold the next meeting in Fremont was unanimously accepted. The Saturday morning session was held at the Congregational church, the Normal auditorium being not large enough to accommodate the teachers. The church, which seats the largest number of any edifice in the city, excepting the opera house, was crowded.

After being held three hours the jury in the Clarke case at Omaha returned a verdict of murder in the first degree and fixed the penalty at death. The verdict was returned at 11:30 a. m. on the night of March 7. Harrison C. Clarke, with a companion, Alvin Karpis, attacked the conductor of the Chicago and North Western passenger train at the Alhambra terminus of the street car line. Karpis showed fight and was shot by one of the men and died eight days later. On the night of the conductor's death a mob gathered about the county jail, with the intention of lynching the colored man who had been convicted of the murder. McDermott defeated this purpose by removing the prisoners from the city.

MANSEE GOES TO PRISON.

Norfolk Forger Gets Sentence of One Year—Other Cases. The spring term of court has convened at Madison. Ernest Mansee, of Norfolk, charged with forgery, was sentenced to one year in state's prison. Marjorie Pifer, a girl man who sold a hand of his employer's grain and received the proceeds, was charged with larceny, and was also given a one-year sentence.

Prisoners Sent to Asylum.

John Schmidt, sentenced to the penitentiary at Lincoln for twenty-five years for murder committed in 1896, Joseph Steeder, sentenced for burglary committed in Dodge County, and Charles H. Smith, sentenced for life for murder committed in Seneca County in 1909, have all been transferred to the asylum at Lincoln. The men were examined by the prison medical board and pronounced insane.

Five Years in the Pen.

Sheriff Carrig of Columbus took to Lincoln the two young men, Charles Nelson and Thomas Jones, Judge Holbrook having sentenced them to a term of five years in the penitentiary. These men were tried a couple of weeks ago for being implicated in the Moore bank robbery. There were four of them. They were tried by two, the others, James Porter and Thomas Sweet, were sent up for six years.

Denison Succeeds Sutton.

Judge Sutton, of Omaha, who was appointed by Gov. Miley to be one of the delegates to the National convention at Lincoln, has notified the governor he will be unable to attend. In his place he recommended that E. E. Denison be appointed.

Wet Candidate is Lucky.

The Springfield village board met Monday night to canvass the vote of the Tuesday election. There were a tie vote, and whoever won in the straw drawing contest decided whether or not the town would be wet or dry. T. T. Bell, the wet member, won.

Scene of Awful Devastation Around West Barrage.

While the news from Mt. Vesuvius Thursday was reassuring, the conditions in Naples are such as make it difficult to realize that conditions are actually better. The wind is blowing from the volcano in the direction of Naples, carrying the ashes in that direction. Towards evening the fall of ashes and cinders was worse than at any time since the eruption began.

"The scenic effects vary from hour to hour. Now the sky is chocolate colored, lowering and heavy, under which men and women with their hair and clothing covered with ashes move about like gray ghosts. Fort San Marco, as it towers above the town, can only just be seen, while Castel d'Oro is boldly marked in light, seeming like silver against the brown sky."

From the observatory of Mt. Vesuvius, where Director Matteucci is conducting his work in behalf of science and humanity, the scene is one of great impressiveness. To reach the observatory one must walk for miles over hardened but hot lava covered with sand until he comes to a point whence nothing can be seen but vast gray reaches, sometimes flat and sometimes gathered into huge mounds, which take on semblances of human faces. Above the heavens are gray like the earth beneath, and seem just as hard and unmovable. In all this lonely waste there is no sign of life or vegetation, and no sound is heard except the low mutterings of the volcano.

One seems almost impelled to scream aloud to break the horrible stillness of a land seemingly forgotten both by God and man. Every day that passes gives new evidence of the magnitude of the catastrophe. Thursday's visit of King Emmanuel to Ottaviano revealed new tragedies.

In the presence of the king 125 more bodies were extracted from the ruins. The dead at Ottaviano are said to number 550. There have been a large number of bodies of deserted houses in spite of the efforts of the authorities to protect property. In the excited condition of the population there is some difficulty in preserving order.

BIG THIEVES FOUND GUILTY.

Green and Gaylor Convicted on Three Indictments. At Savannah, Ga., Capt. D. E. Greene and Cpl. John P. Gaylor were found guilty on all three indictments by the jury Thursday afternoon. Judge Spear will impose sentences Friday. The trial consumed about thirteen and a half weeks.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy to defraud the government and embezzlement in connection with big government engineering work. It has required over six years of costly fighting to convict Greene and Gaylor. They were indicted in Savannah, Ga., in 1915, charged with embezzlement and defrauding the United States government, together with Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, in the performance of government contracts. Their illicit profits were estimated at $2,000,000.

Lawmakers to Go to Cap.

The question whether the employ will come to St. Petersburg to open parliament has, according to the Novaya Vremya, been decided in the negative. The representatives will be summoned either to Kazan or to Petrograd.

Green and Gaylor Sentenced.

At Savannah, Ga., Judge Spear in the United States court Friday sentenced Capt. D. E. Greene and Cpl. John Gaylor each to a term of four years in the penitentiary and a fine of $575,749.99, the amount each was charged with having fraudulently obtained from the government.

The Trip West in 1907.

A Washington, D. C., dispatch says: President Roosevelt has taken up the question of a trip through the west during the spring or summer of 1907. He expects to reach a conclusion in the matter before a great while.

Killed in Electrical Storm.

During an electrical storm Thursday lightning struck a heavy line in the village of Mahaska, Kan., killing James Kishoush and Frank Anderson. The barn took fire and burned, but most of the live stock was saved.

Woman and Family from Germany Lose Father and Wealth at Sea.

A Norfolk special says: With four of her family—her husband, two sons and a daughter—lying in the bottom of the Atlantic ocean and with all of the Atlantic world's population of 1,500,000 in each ship, a German woman named Krause, with her three surviving daughters, is suffering from the effects of a storm at sea. The family started from Hamburg to this country on a steamer last July. The vessel was shipwrecked and sank. Mr. Krause and two sons and a daughter 24 years of age were drowned. The mother and three daughters, aged 22, 23 and 25, were saved. The oldest surviving daughter, nearly 20 years old, having clung to the mast until rescued. The family reached Walside, their tickets having been bought for there, and a farmer took pity on them and gave them a house. Neighbors took in the family and fed them for a week without a morsel to eat. One day a week the oldest daughter flew out backward while drying clothes at a neighbor's house from weakness from starvation.

The family was wealthy in the old country, where they had over $50,000. They had a house in a chestnut street in Hamburg, where they had a paper. Crews have been working for the vessel and have brought up many chests, but not this one as yet.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in the Case of W. C. Cook. A Fremont special says: Coroner Overgaard held an inquest Monday morning on the body of W. C. Cook, the young man who shot himself Saturday evening at the back of his head on Main street. The jury, after a short deliberation, brought in a verdict of accidental death.

The jury also advised that Mr. Cook was in the habit of going hunting with a rifle, and that he had been borrowing of Matheson and which has been in possession of Sheriff Rasmussen since the shooting, was before the jury and it was discovered that the safety pin had been pulled and discharged. The sheriff was formerly home, for several days.

HUNTINGTON HELD FOR TRIAL.

En-ville Farmer Fine for Being Before Commission. At Chicago, Ill., a special says: The United States marshal of Chicago, for substitution of papers in a hearing and illness, was fined $50. Special United States Attorney, S. S. Bush, attended by the prosecution and J. C. Patterson, of Chicago, and Judge J. D. Scott, chief clerk of the court, presided. The hearing took place Monday.

After adjournment by all the lawyers, the court heard Huntington held for trial at Omaha at the May term of United States court, in the sum of $500.

Negro Burglars Caught.

Bob Fleming and George Crockett the two negroes wanted for the Gallego store burglary at Nebraska City, were arrested in Pacific Junction, Mo., and placed in the county jail. The men were each wearing three suits of the stolen clothing when arrested. Some of the clothes had been burned by the thieves and the remainder was sold to parties in Pacific Junction. When the thieves left Nebraska City they went to Union, Neb., where they stayed about a week, and then they were arrested and were first located in Pacific Junction.

Thought He Was a Voter.

In the county court of Tekamah Judge Foster fined H. C. Hill $20 and costs for sitting at the spring election. Mr. Hill came to the county jail in the latter part of December, rented a building and ordered a stock of goods preparatory to opening a restaurant. Mr. Hill was in town most of the time from then on, but his name did not move to town until Jan. 2. Thinking he was entitled to vote he voted, with the above result.

Arquitue Veterans Celebrate.

Garrett post No. 120 at Arquitue Saturday celebrated and commemorated the fortieth anniversary of the post by a sumptuous dinner to all the old veterans, wives and friends. There were only five members of the post, but additions from Edison, Holbrook and other towns swelled the number to over 100.

School Land Sold at Ainsworth.

A public school land auction was held at Ainsworth Monday by N. D. Eaton, state commissioner of public lands and buildings. The bidding was based upon 6 per cent. of the appraised valuation and will bring an income to the permanent school fund of the state of about $100 a year for the period of twenty-five years.

Merchants Organize.

The merchants from forty towns in the northeastern corner of the state met at Emerson and organized the Northeast Nebraska Retailers' Association. A. A. Travis, of Emerson, was elected president; W. H. Dickson, of Lyons, secretary; D. McFadden, of Bancroft, treasurer. The purpose of the organization is to exchange business ideas and to enjoy a social time.

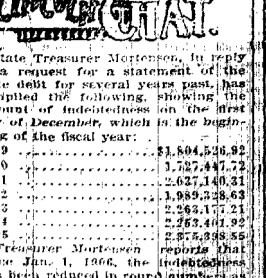

Holdup Near Auburn.

John Peter, a son of E. E. Peters, of Auburn, was held up and robbed of $26.45 by three men about two miles north of town Sunday evening about 9 o'clock. Mr. Peters is quite sure he recognized two of the men and warrants are out for their arrest.

Five People Poisoned.

Five persons came near death at Lynch by poisoning. Mr. Van Hadden took corrosive sublimate instead of a medicine tablet and four boys playing on the creek bank ate wild parsnips.

SEEDING PROBLEMS

Some interesting and instructive information on an important Western Crop.

By Chas. H. Thornton, Publisher
Duluth Commercial Record.

Coming to the low prices prevailing in the past few years, it is not surprising to find that the price of seed has advanced last fall there seems to be a tendency to cut it out, and in this the writer believes a mistake will be made.

The comparatively low prices at which the last crop was marketed were not due to the size of the crop itself, but to the fact that the accumulated reserves carried forward from the large crops of 1902 and 1903, which had been unusually held off the market, were released, and did more than anything else to depress the price. In the season, with the crop of 1905, amounted to about 10,000,000 bushels less than the country's annual consumption, but with export sales and an enlarged domestic demand the entire load has been well absorbed, and by the time we can harvest another crop will be pretty well out of the way.

The world's situation on flax is very strong, stronger than at any time since 1901, and with nothing in sight to make it weak.

Europe's principal sources of supply, Argentina and India, are both short in their crops; Argentina with a shortage of 28 per cent compared with 1905, and with barely 50 per cent of the crop of 1904; the Indian crop is just being harvested, and it is known that the drought at seeding time worked material damage to the crop. The final crop figures, which will be published next month, will show a great shortage compared with 1905, and this in turn was only 80 per cent of the 1904 crop. Argentina will not start shipping another crop until next January, and India will not harvest another crop until March of 1907.

Aside from the foreign situation, the domestic outlook, of itself, is strong enough to encourage an increasing tendency every year, and last year's crop would have been barely sufficient to supply domestic demands. It will be remembered that the crop of 1905 was exceptional in its large average yield per acre, and it does not seem probable that its average yield can be again duplicated this year. The area in 1905 was much more than it would have been were it not that the spring season was so exceptionally favorable to a large area of everything. With the rapid settlement of the far western part of North Dakota, the large new holdings of the past three or four years are no longer available for flax, and the trade will hereafter depend on the product raised from smaller fields, the twenty, forty or eighty acre fields of scattered farms.

The writer has followed statistics on flaxseed since it first became a prominent crop in the Northwest and is firmly of the opinion that the fall prices for seed will be higher than they have been before in five years, and much higher than at present. Should an accident of any kind occur to any considerable crop of any year, American crop the world's statistical situation is so delicate enough to bring about extravagant prices.

It is a well recognized fact that flax cannot be grown continuously on the same field owing to the disease known as flax wilt. It can, however, be grown continuously on the same farm by so rotating the crop as to bring flax on each field only once in seven to ten years. Flax requires a good soil, as it is not a strong feeder, and it does very well following corn or a grass crop. It is no harder on the land than is any grain crop. In fact, there is no more fertility removed by a crop of flax than by a crop of wheat, oats or barley. Flax is undoubtedly a valuable crop as a small portion of the total grain crop raised. The average yield in money value per acre has been in the past larger for flax than for wheat. It also has the advantage of requiring a shorter time to mature than other grain crops, thus making it possible to sow flax considerably later in the spring, which is quite often an advantage.

WINSIDE.

John Mundy is preparing to soon begin the erection of a one-story brick store building to replace the one destroyed by fire last winter.

The 11-year-old son of Gus Robinson, living four miles south of Winside, died of kidney trouble last Friday, and funeral services were conducted in the German Lutheran church at Winside Sunday about noon.

W. H. McClusky, A. T. Chapin and Harry Prescott left Winside Tuesday for McClusky, N. D., where which place Messrs. McClusky and Chapin have large real estate interests and where they will remain during the summer. Mr. Prescott will look over the country with a view of investing.

One new man will become a member of the town board next month, the others having been re-elected. There were no issues and no political rivalry at the recent election, and therefore no special interest was aroused.

Frank Tracy is just completing a new front and other repairs to his building which was destroyed by fire a few months ago.

PAT M'KILLIP AGAIN.

It seems to be settled in the Third congressional district that Patrick E. McKillip is to be given one more opportunity to show how he can run where there is something worth running for. He has practiced in the last two years and is a more fluent speaker today than he was two years ago when he made a brave but losing fight against McCarthy. And he has a face that is good to look at, but there are a great many people in the district who would have a larger faith in his sincerity of purpose were he to slip over to the barber shop some fine morning and get his hair cut.—Lincoln Journal.
