WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1906.

THIRTIETH YEAR.

ARBOR DAY IS OBSERVED

Wind and Dust Shorten the Exercises.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TAKE PART

Attorney Lundburg Speaks—500 Trees are Planted in the New Bressler Park.

A strong wind and flying dust made the outer elements disagreeable on Arbor day and as a consequence only a small crowd attended the exercises in Bressler park, and the program, aside from tree-planting, was necessarily shortened. All of the departments of the public school, excepting the high school, marched to the park, accompanied by their teachers, and a number of songs which they had prepared for the occasion. After the singing, Attorney E. R. Lundburg gave a brief address, setting forth the importance and value of forest building. Then followed the planting of trees. Each department of the school set out a tree and named it in honor of some historic character. A total of about 500 trees were planted, and they will make Bressler park a splendid forest in a few years.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Newspaper advertising has become a necessity to the successful merchant in the country as well as the city. The merchant who advertises his goods and does so honestly, is the successful merchant of today. The theory which was used by country merchants years ago, "advertise to help the printer," has become a thing of the past and advertising is now as important as any branch of the merchant's business. The merchant who sells the goods must let the people know what he has and at what prices he holds them. The only reliable way to reach his customers is through the columns of the country papers. Readers of country papers should patronize the merchants who advertise, as they are in most cases the most progressive and reliable. —Stanton Pickler.

Gasoline stoves, odorless, smokeless, self-generators, gasoline stoves of all kinds at lowest prices at Vogel's Hardware.

SYDOW-RATH.

(To the Wayne Herald.)
Mr. Emil Sydow and Miss Rebecca Rath were united in marriage last Thursday in the German Evangelical Theophilus church seven miles southwest of town. Mr. Henry Rath and Wm. Sydow acted as groomsmen and Miss Lydia Ulrich and Miss Emma Sydow as bridesmaids. The children were nicely decorated. A large crowd of relatives and friends attended the ceremony. The young couple will make their home on their farm south of town.

A HERALD Reader.

Get us in competition with other prices. That's our strongest argument. Vogel's Hardware.

SPLENDID OPENING.

The expectations of Chas. Robbins in the opening of his new store Saturday afternoon were more than realized. From the moment the doors were opened at 2 o'clock until 10 o'clock at night, crowds were on hand, buying and others gathering to view the splendid and neatly arranged display of new goods. All were cordially received. A Sioux City harpist furnished music, and to each visitor at the store was given a beautiful carnation which the supply lasted. Mr. Robbins had secured 500 of the blossoms, but long before night they were gone and he thinks he should have had 2,000. The opening was a signal success in all respects.

BANK PRESIDENT RESIGNED.

Bernard McGroovy, president of the bank that failed a few years ago at O'Neill, apparently for trial at Hastings, Neb., last week on a charge of venue from Holt county, but before the case commenced, negotiations were opened between depositors and McGroovy, and on hearing of such proceedings, Judge Westover, incensed at the effort to use the criminal law as a club with which to settle debts, set the defendant free. It is reported that depositors were not anxious to prosecute McGroovy.

TELEGRAM FROM STANFORD.

Judge Hunter received a telegram Saturday from his daughter, Miss Winifred, who has been attending Stanford university in California, giving assurance that she had escaped injury from the recent earthquake. The telegram was sent from Alameda, one of the suburbs of San Francisco. The Stanford buildings sustained damages of $4,000, and it is presumed that the school will be suspended for the present. Accordingly it is expected that Miss Winifred will soon return home.

The Northeastern Nebraska Bankers' association met in Oakland yesterday. Speeches were made by the orators of the association, including E. R. Gurney, formerly of Wayne county.

Garden tools, lawn mowers, fencing, screen doors and screen wire all sizes, at the right price. Be convinced at Vogel's Hardware.

The boys of the Wayne high school ball club went to Wakefield Monday afternoon and were defeated in a game with the team of that place, the score being 28 to 5. The Wayne boys will probably practice up and give their neighbors a closer contest at a later date.

Chas. Culler has received a letter stating that his mother and two sisters who were stopping at Palo Alto, Cal., were not hurt by the earthquake but with the rest were given a terrible shock. They say that Palo Alto, including Stanford University, had been badly wrecked.

O. A. King, local representative of the King Solomon mining company, received a telegram Saturday night from the mine announcing that the tunnel had struck a six-foot vein which was growing bigger and better. Later word stated that the vein had reached a depth of eight feet. The vein is double the thickness expected.

Frank Bryner, a Benton county boy, and brother of County Clerk Bryner, has bought the Wayne (Neb.) HERALD. The HERALD is a good looking paper and Frank has the necessary staff to make it a success in every respect. We wish him well in his new venture. —Benton County Times.

An Indian, befuddled by having aboard a heavy cargo of coffin varnish, was taken off the Norfolk train here Friday morning and put on the Bloomfield passenger. He was evidently returning from a visit to the Winnebago reservation and was carrying home proof of his justification in the shape of a big drunk.

The picture of Rev. Milford H. Lyon who conducted a series of revival meetings in Wayne something over a year ago, appears in the last issue of the Columbus Journal, together with the announcement that he would hold forth there beginning Sunday, the 22d inst. He is accompanied by Jas. W. Patterson, the singer.

On complaint of Jas. Nelson, who lives ten miles southwest of town, Wm. Baden was arrested by Sheriff Mears last Saturday, the charge being assault. It was alleged that Baden attacked Nelson with a buggy whip. The defendant pleaded guilty in Judge Hunter's court and was fined $5 and costs, the whole amounting to $10.70.

Rev. R. Newmarker of Columbus, was a guest of Rev. J. H. Karpenstein in Wayne Sunday, being on his way home from Randolph where he had participated in the installation of the new pastor of the consolidated German and Missouri Lutheran churches. Rev. Rabe who recently arrived from Germany, is the newly installed pastor.

A Fremont dispatch to the Lincoln Journal says that ex-Congressman Geo. W. E. Dorsey was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake and that his office was in one of the buildings destroyed. No word has been received from him by Fremont friends. It is presumed that he was stopping at a hotel with his wife and the latter's mother.

Dr. Edwin T. Devine who has been appointed special agent of the Red Cross association to assist in the distribution of relief in San Francisco, was a schoolmate of D. O. Main of Wayne at Mt. Vernon college years ago. When Mr. Devine came to Mt. Vernon from a little Iowa town, Mr. Main helped him get a boarding place, and warm friendship sprang up between them.

It is a growing practice among high school graduating classes to dispense with a dozen or more students' orations at commencement exercises and instead secure a high-class lecturer for that annual occasion. The new plan is easier for the graduates who thus avoid added work to duties already burdensome in the wind-up of school, and it is fully as satisfactory to the listening public.

Senator Sheldon's bill providing for a one mill tax to pay off the state debt, will wipe out $300,000 of it this year. It was one of the best measures that passed last session. Mr. Sheldon wanted a two mill levy, and so introduced the measure, but one mill, it appears, will do very well. Mr. Sheldon is entitled to credit for this business like law and so is the legislature that enacted it. —Fairfield News-Herald.

Low Jones returned from Omaha Monday evening. He reports that Mrs. Jones had a very severe operation and is still very weak and suffers intensely, but the physicians think that she will survive and be able to return home in about three weeks. Her many friends in Winside have been very much concerned about her and all are pleased to think that she is getting along so nicely. —Winside Tribune.

It is about time to hear of an eruption of Ionia volcano, northwest of Ponca. It is not likely it will long remain dormant with Vesuvius belching forth and other subterranean disturbances going on in different parts of the world. Ionia will yet show vivid towers of fire and smoke and let loose a flood of burning lava. The little imp needs watching, for it will not be altogether outside.

A special from Wakefield to Tuesday's Sioux City Journal says that the Matejka saloon was broken into last night and $7 taken from the cash register. The saloon was entered through a window. The bloodhounds were brought down from Concord this morning, but could not get the scent. There is no clue to the robbers. This is the same saloon that was broken into last fall and the safe blown up.

This editor went to church last Sunday and got a crick in the neck trying to get a glimpse of the preacher. There loomed up before us a dazzling array of millinery that shut out all else from view. We are never bothered that way when we go to the theatre, as custom has made it obligatory that the ladies remove their head gear. Why would it not be a most rational reform to extend this custom to church goes? —Albion News.

WOMAN FINED FIFTY DOLLARS

Practices Medicine Without a License.

HOSKINS DOCTOR COMPLAINT

Albert Kruger Charged With Theft of a Hog—Continuance to May 1 Asked and Granted.

Two cases appeared for attention in Judge Hunter's court Tuesday afternoon. One was an action against Madam Stark of Norfolk on complaint of Dr. Langrall of Hoskins, charging her with practicing medicine at that place without authority. Sheriff Mears went to Norfolk Monday morning and accompanied the defendant to Wayne in the afternoon. She pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs. She gave a sufficient bond and is allowed five months' time in which to pay the amount.

The other case is one in which Albert Kruger is charged with the theft of a hog, valued at $20, and owned by Fred Utecht, who is the complaining witness. On application of the defendant, through Attorney Berry, trial of the case was continued until May 1. The parties live nine miles from Wayne, being east of La Porte.

LETTER FROM MRS. PEYTON.

Mrs. Chas. Robbins received a letter this week from her sister, Mrs. P. W. Peyton, nee Rena Dobbins, who has been living in San Francisco, giving an account of her terrible experience in the earthquake. It seems that Mr. Peyton was away from home at the time and a young lady was staying with her. They were aroused by the shaking of the building, and the falling of plaster. Mrs. Peyton says she grabbed a dress and hat and hurried out and later tried to return for more of her effects, but was prevented from doing so by the officers who immediately blew up the building in the effort to check the flames. Appalled, she sat down on the curb with the expectation that death would soon overtake her. Recovering strength, she was encouraged to try and make her escape. With tumbling buildings and shooting flames on every hand, and witnessing the most revolting scenes of injury and death, she managed to reach a boat that was carrying a load of refugees to Stockton. After five hours on the water, during which time it was feared the boat would sink on account of its heavy load, she landed with the crowd at Stockton. Destitute and separated from her husband, the latter having gone to a neighboring city before the earthquake, and neither knowing where to find the other, Mrs. Peyton was indeed in a most distressing plight. She says she never expects to fully recover from the terrible ordeal.

FORMER WAYNE PREACHER.

The following paragraph from the Hastings College Outlook, concerning Rev. E. Van Dyke Wight, former pastor of the Wayne Presbyterian church, will be of interest to that gentleman's many friends at this place: "Mr. Wight has been combining the work of pastor of the church and president of the college for the last four years. He resigned from the college last December, expecting to devote his full time to the church work. The committee who had charge of securing a president, of which J. N. Clarke is chairman, recommended that Mr. Wight be re-elected. He has, therefore, resigned the church and is devoting full time to the college."

HOSKINS.

Miss Frieda Beaker of Stanton is visiting relatives here.

AN ASSURED SUCCESS

No doubt a great many of you will remember what I told you last fall in regard to the distance we would have to go in penetrating the big ore veins in our property. Six months have passed and in that time we have accomplished more than we promised.

We have opened four veins of ore within 750 feet of the portal of the tunnel, just as our engineer said we would. We have had two mining engineers there two weeks ago inspecting the property, assaying and sampling the ore and they say we have a splendid mine with enough ore opened to put it to producing.

We are making preparations to erect our bins and will extend the tunnel as rapidly as possible and at the same time will put men to drifting on the four veins we have opened and will store the ore in bins preparatory to treating it in our own mill as soon as we get one erected.

A telegram stated that the last vein was six feet and getting bigger and better every shot.

Later: Word received that it was eight feet thick.

The Executive Committee have decided to advance stock in a very short time and they reserve the right to reject any subscriptions at present price. I have sold Seventeen Thousand Shares the past week. DO NOT DELAY, but come in and see me before the advance.

of country, far ahead of the Billings country and rich as a garden of Eden. There is a big beet factory here that has been in operation for three years, and I believe has a capacity of 600 tons of beets per day. The factory is located about three miles from town and has a little town of its own around the factory. The most of the field work in the culture of beets raised by the factory is performed by Japanese laborers and the natives here speak highly of them for such purposes. Land prices are moving up the grade pretty rapidly and land now under cultivation ranges in price from $40 to $80 per acre, depending somewhat on improvements, and the sage brush land sells at about $25 per acre. This of course includes perpetual water right, and, say, they have water in an abundance that removes all doubt as to any doubts ever visiting this section. The country has been settled here for twenty years or over, has many fine apple bearing orchards and they claim the thermometer in the winter seldom goes below 20 degrees and always pleasant in summer, with mountains near at hand where game abounds and rippling brooks where the elusive trout are taken into camp by the apt Isaac Waltons. I am not carried away with the country, simply telling it as others tell it to me, and have told but a small part of what I have been assured are gospel truths regarding this wonderful land of mountains, desert plain, green fields, home of the big red, luscious apple, buxom women and smooth-tongued lars. The altitude of this town of 4000 souls is pretty close to 6,000 feet above sea level and the valley of the Snake is here about 20 miles wide and has about as little waste land as you can find anywhere in the same area of territory. The farmers are certainly very prosperous or else all indications are very deceptive. Many of the farm homes are of brick, trimmed with as nicely colored stone as you ever saw and are nice enough for fine city houses; in fact the spot is a revelation to me and it may be pretty hard for me to withstand the temptation to buy some of these acres, but I am going to see other places before I do.

LETTER FROM IDAHO.

Mrs. E. Cunningham has received from Mr. Cunningham the following descriptive letter dated at Idaho Falls, Idaho, April 18, and which will be of interest to HERALD readers:

Well, I am here, just fifty miles north of Pocatello on the Oregon Short Line, got in here about 9 a. m. today and had heard so much about this country I thought I would stop over a day and go on to St. Anthony tomorrow and will probably stay there until Monday or Tuesday and then back to Pocatello and Twin Falls. The trip from Cheyenne to Pocatello over the U. P. is mighty tame in comparison with that over the Marshall Pass; no Rocky mountains of any account, no canyons, no anything except just a gradual up grade from Julesburg to Sherman, an elevation of a trifle over 8000 feet and cattle and ranches all the way up and all the way down on the west side to Rawlins, and soon after leaving there it got dark so I can't say much about it from a scenic point of view, but I certainly wouldn't travel over the U. P. if I was hunting scenery.

I have been driving in the country pretty nearly all afternoon and it is just a little the prettiest piece of irrigated country I ever saw. They are just putting in their crops now and the grass is starting up very nicely in the alfalfa fields and the hills are getting green, but the big mountains away near the summits are as nicely bandaged with a pure white covering as over the hand of the best trained nurse could swab the battered skull of a fighting Irishman. I went into one of the banks here today and after visiting with the president for about half an hour, the cashier who had been out stepped in, and who should it be but O. J. Ellis, until a few years ago cashier of Kimball's bank at Wakefield. Of course we visited, but being with a real estate man I didn't find out what I wanted to, so I am going back to see him in the morning before she train goes north. This is a wonderfully watered piece certainly proves that the management has struck the keynote to success. Mahara's challenge band and orchestra will give a street parade on Wednesday noon, May 2.

Manager Britton has been fortunate in securing the keynote attraction for Wednesday, May 2. Mahara's Minstrels hardly need an introduction to the theatre going public and this year they come to us complete with everything new in their performance, accessories and effects, except the management. Judging by the flattering notices that the company has received in papers to the east of us their appearance here will be the event of the season. Mahara's challenge band and orchestra will give a gorgeous street parade.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.
Mrs. D. C. Main was a Sioux City visitor Tuesday.

Prof. Durrin has relatives who were in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake. He says they escaped injury.

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT; examine the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity.

You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER! LISTEN NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

That the wires are not injured at the joints.
That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.
That the stays will not separate from the strands.
That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

The assurance is given that San Francisco will rise again, a greater city than ever before.

An authoritative source reports that the death list in San Francisco is 250, a fourth smaller number than at first supposed.

Candidates for district and state offices will be actively gathering together strength until the convention are held. People should take greater interest in the choice of their officers and representatives by attending the caucuses. That is the first and essential step toward getting the right men for the right places.

E. Rosewater, veteran editor of the Omaha Bee, meets considerable favor as the proper man to send to the United States senate to succeed Senator Millard. Mr. Rosewater is probably the ablest man in Nebraska, and has fought corporation control and insisted on the rights of the masses for twenty-five or thirty years. If a Rosewater boom for the senate should happen to develop and succeed, no mistake would be made.

The action of members of the California militia in shooting down innocent citizens in San Francisco without the slightest justification, is a phase of barbarism mingled with the scenes of horror in the stricken city. Complimentary to the sense of duty and decency of those higher in authority, the state militiamen, probably mostly callow youths, abridged in both brains and conscience, have been removed from service and sent home.

At the laying of a corner stone in Washington city recently, President Roosevelt gave a notable address in which he dealt plainly and forcibly with the tendency among sensational writers to often vilify public men without sufficient grounds for their charges. While he encouraged the exposure of corrupt men and methods wherever found, he is firmly opposed to promiscuous attacks that are unwarranted by the facts. Writers too often jump at conclusions and do men a great injustice. The exposure of corruption in all branches of government and in all walks of life should be a duty and not a pleasure and made exactly in accordance with the truth. Otherwise, people would learn to look more for the evil than the good in each other, confidence would be shaken and suspicion encouraged.

The most overwhelming and appalling catastrophe ever visited on an American city was that which destroyed San Francisco last week. Demolished by earthquake and swept by fire, the beautiful city of 400,000 souls of a few weeks ago, is today in ruins and grief. The imagination of people distant from the overthrown city cannot fully appreciate the intense suffering of body and mind of the stricken men, women and children. But the American government and every town and city in the United States have responded with commendable promptness to the call for aid and have been pouring into the unfortunate city immense stores of supplies for the great army of survivors, most of whom have been bereft of every worldly effect. All avenues of help for the fallen city have been quickly and freely opened, and the generous bounties of sympathetic fellow-creatures will continue as long as they are needed. Hundreds lost their lives and many their reason, while all who were in San Francisco when the convulsion of nature and the fire demon wrecked the city, will ever carry pictures of scenes of indescribable horror.

Prof. Sundry spent a part of his vacation visiting Winside friends. Mrs. Pile and Fred spent a couple of days in Omaha visiting Mrs. Harry Hinton. Prof. Buchanan and wife spent their vacation morning from the Forquena cottage to the home of Dr. Nieman.

W. O. Gamble left today on a business trip to Laurel and Randolph. Nuff said.

WILL LOCATE IN WAYNE.

W. B. Vail has completed arrangements for moving to Wayne, where he will follow his profession as an optician. Though still weak from his recent severe illness, he expects to be ready and will move the latter part of this or the first of next week. Norfolk regrets to lose Mr. Vail and his excellent family, and Wayne is to be congratulated on having secured them as residents. He came to Norfolk in 1897, and in the years that have followed he has made an excellent reputation as a business man and citizen. As an optician he has been very successful and his work has met with highest commendation. He graduated at the Iowa Medical college at Des Moines and later graduated from the Chicago Optical college, so that he is amply equipped in education for the work of his profession, while his office will be equipped with the latest scientific instruments used by the optical profession. The Press takes pleasure in commending him to the people of Wayne.—Norfolk Press.

VIEW OF MARKET STREET, CENTRAL POINT OF DISASTER.

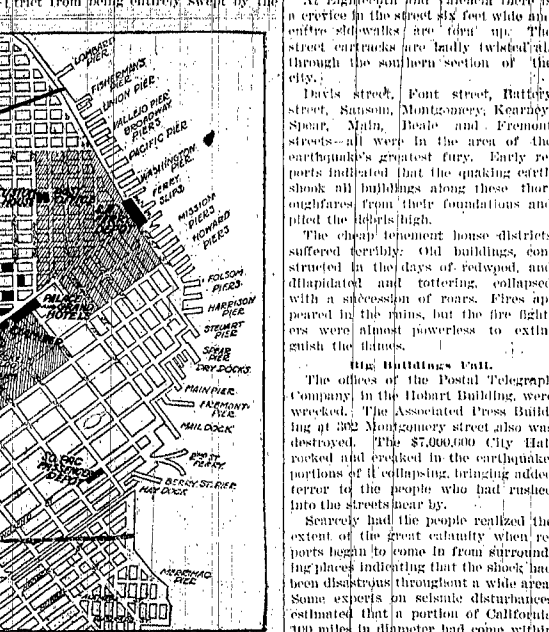

The tall, square building on the right is the Claus Spreckels building, in which the plans of the San Francisco Call were located; the next building beyond is the Examiner building and the last large building on the right is the Palace hotel. The tall building on the left is a new skyscraper, which housed the Chronicle.

The disaster would have been something beyond the power of the human mind to grasp. At the time the earthquake reached its destructive period the streets of the city were crowded with thousands of terror-stricken persons, who rushed to and fro and endeavored to keep out of the way of falling buildings. Hundreds were supposed to have been caught in the falling floors and crushed to death or killed later by the fires which sprang up all through the business portion of the city.

In general it may be said that the district lying between Market and Howard streets, from the bay as far west as the city hall, has been badly wrecked. The City Hall and Examiner buildings, as well as the Western Union Building, have been wrecked. The large department stores in this neighborhood also were ruined. Further east on Market street toward the Ferry Slip, is a section occupied by cheap lodging houses and hotels and here the loss of life is reported to be great.

Fire Follows the Shock.
Fire followed the crumbling of buildings along Market street and the firemen were powerless to prevent the spread of the flames. The earthquake had broken the mains on the big street and twisted off the side mains, and it was almost impossible to take steamers through the debris in the streets. Volunteers brought supplies of dynamite and began to blow up the blazing debris in a vain effort to confine the conflagration to the ruined area.

All power in the street car and private electric lighting plants was cut off. Wires in tangled masses had been hurled into the streets.
Near 4th and Stevenson streets the old red wood buildings made good time for the flames. Fire swept through the debris of the poorer buildings and soon got beyond control of the fire-fighters. Across the street the fire swept, licking up the debris in front of the Winchester rooming house. Fire sprang to the buildings along the west side of 3d street. Desperate efforts were made with powder, dynamite and other explosives to stop the flames.
One block away the Palace Hotel was threatened by the sweep of the flames. With no water to extinguish the fire, the big hotel was soon doomed. Calls were sent to the President for soldiers to help save the business district from being entirely swept by the strengthened as the morning wore away. It flamed the several blazes in the heart of the business district and threatened to spread the fire throughout a section filled with valuable merchandise. As the night hour drew near the flames were spreading in every direction and the destruction by fire would have been confined to the power, oil, gas, and manufacturing territory. On lower Market street, the main headquarters of the city, block after block of substantial buildings was destroyed. The Valencia Hotel, between Seventh and Eleventh streets, on Valencia street, a five-story frame building, toppled over into the street, burying several people in the debris.

At Eleventh and Valencia there is a crevice in the street six feet wide and entire sidewalks are torn up. The street car tracks are badly twisted all through the southern section of the city.
Davis street, Font street, Kearney street, Sanson, Montgomery, Battery, Spear, Main, Hoare and Fremont streets—all were in the area of the earthquake's greatest fury. Early reports indicated that the quaking earth shook all buildings along these thoroughfares from their foundations and piled the debris high.
The cheap tenement house districts suffered terribly. Old buildings, constructed in the days of redwood, and dilapidated and tottering, collapsed with a succession of roars. Fires appeared in the ruins, but the fire-fighters were almost powerless to extinguish the flames.
The Buildings Fall.
The offices of the Postal Telegraph Company in the Hobart Building, were wrecked. The Associated Press Building at 302 Montgomery street also was destroyed. The $7,000,000 City Hall rocked and cracked in the earthquake, portions of it collapsing, bringing added terror to the people who had rushed into the streets near by.
Scurried the people realized the extent of the great calamity when reports began to come in from surrounding places indicating that the shock had been disastrous throughout a wide area. Some experts on seismic disturbances estimated that a portion of California 100 miles in diameter had come within the zone of greatest activity.
Night added to the horror, and as darkness fell the sky was illuminated by the brilliant conflagration. There was no light in the city except the light that meant the destruction of homes and the loss of life. The final dying out of the fires leave only a barren sand dune dotted with the blackened ruins of what was a great city.
Ten Squares Miles Burned.
Ten square miles of the heart of the city were burned over, the water supply was cut off because of the twisted and broken mains, and the frantic residents, aided by Federal troops, fought the flames with dynamite in an effort to save the remainder of the city from destruction. The property loss is estimated at $200,000,000.

General Funston, in command of the United States troops at the Presidio, declared the city under martial law as soon as the extent of the horror became apparent, and the troops and police worked together to save life, protect property and recover the dead. The earthquake shock destroyed so many of the fire engine houses that the department would have been virtually powerless even had the water supply not been destroyed.

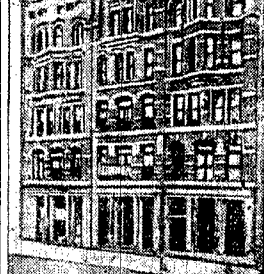

The saturation of crime and looting which began when the soldiers sacked the suburbs broke out afresh with the darkness, and unnumbered untold crimes were committed on every side. No historian will ever describe the torments which the homeless suffered; none dare attempt to recount the agonies of those who sought the ruins of their homes and missing members of their households; none may think of the woe and doom of those buried beneath the wreckage of consumed by the remorseless flames.

Number of Dead Never Known.
It will be many days before the complete story of the ruin wrought by the double calamity of earthquake and fire that visited San Francisco will be written and then there will still remain untold countless tales of pitiful tragedy. The exact loss of life will never be known, as hundreds of unfortunates have been incinerated in the flames which made the rescue of those buried under toppling steeples and falling walls impossible.

Crime in its most terrible form expanded through the devastated city and stricken inhabitants. Thursday, hunger, growing into the first stages of starvation, forced the spirit thousands who slept Wednesday night in the public squares, or on the bare pavements of the city's streets. Thirst, the most terrifying of the torments to follow the earthquake, drove men and women mad.

Animals caught in the act of holding dead bodies were shot without explanation and their bodies consigned to the flames of some burning buildings, without any further formality. The soldiers patrolling the streets were ordered to kill, forthwith, any person seen robbing the dead or burglarizing unprotected places of business. Fully a score of men were killed under this order.

The appalling calamity in San Francisco places that city in a list of Lisbon, Caracas, Naples, and other cities devastated by earthquakes. The horrors of the situation in California are the greater because San Francisco is a populous and commercial city. The earthquake destroyed at once hundreds of business blocks and the means of saving others from fire. It paralyzed commerce, destroyed railroads and bridges, cut off communication with other cities, and desolated the country to the south and east.

But, as in the case of Galveston, there will be quick recovery from what seems overwhelming disaster. Naples is a great city in spite of the eruptions of Vesuvius and in spite of earthquakes. Tokyo, desolated by earthquakes several times, is the greatest city of Japan. Chicago is greater because of the fire of 1871. Charleston is none the worse for the earthquake of 1886, and San Francisco will rise superior to the great disaster of 1906.

KILLED IN CHURCH PANIC

Three Persons Dead, Score Injured at Catholic Place in Chicago.
Three persons were trampled to death and a score or more seriously injured, some of whom may die, in a panic in St. Lubbilla's Bohemian Catholic Church, Albany avenue and Twenty-fourth street, Chicago, Saturday night.

Fifty girls dressed in white, taking their first communion, stood before the altar with the pastor, Rev. Michael Kralic, celebrating the Holy Sacrament. The first part of the services had ended and the pastor had begun the singing of the mass when the lighting of the floor and the overturning of a candle, followed by a cry of fire, sent the 500 persons gathered in the church into a panic and a wild rush was made for the doors.

Five minutes later, after a scene of the wildest disorder, when unnumbered men fought with screaming women and children, three little girls lay dead in the church, half a dozen women were maimed, and one so severely injured she can not live. At least twenty others were severely hurt.

The cry of fire, the report after a brief investigation was a lay-fish prank, no fire being in or near the office.

The greater part of the audience was composed of women and children, the latter being in the majority. The girls who had just been cleared preparatory to the march of those taking part, and the Sisters of St. Francis School were just getting their little charges in line when there came two sharp reports like the firing of a revolver and then the floor sagged in the center.

Instantly those sitting close to their feet and then a gentle on the altar was upset. Next came the cry of "Fire." Then pandemonium started and the shouts of the priests who tried to calm the fears of the frightened people were lost in the stampede. To add to the horror the doors, except those in the front of the church, were locked and exit from the sides or rear was impossible.

The side aisles were filled with little children lined up ready to begin their march to the altar, and to this fact, attributed the saving of many of their lives, for they were outside the stampede and were held partly in check by the priests and Sisters.

HANG AND BURN NEGROES

Mob at Springfield, Mo., Wrecks Court House, Hangs Three Negroes.
At Springfield, Mo., on Tuesday night, the infuriated mob of 5,000 has hanged three negroes, after having demolished the county jail, and a bloody reign was proclaimed. The mob took two negroes from the county jail, hanged them on the electric tower in the center of the public square and built a flagpole the men as they hung. The crowd then started back to the jail threatening to hang four other negroes charged with murder. One of these was hanged.

Fully 5,000 people went to the county jail about 9 o'clock, and with telegraph poles and sledge hammers literally tore the jail to pieces. Finally the two negro suspects were dragged from the jail and taken to the center of the public square and hanged. It is fully a mile from the jail to the square, and the mob marched down one of the principal streets of the town shouting and firing pistols.

Sheriff Horner tried to argue with the mob, but it was determined, and he roared and insulted him. Sheriff King was assaulted when he refused to give up the keys. He finally gave the mob some keys, which were not for the negroes' cells, however, and the mob was forced to smash in the jail bars. Sheriff Wilson, Crime of Polk County was present and tried to induce the mob not to hang the negroes. The mob, however, wrecking the jail attacked the sheriff's house, demolished the furniture and rendered the sheriff's wife unconscious by threats and violence.

Seven companies of State troops and 300 special deputy sheriffs were ordered out to prevent the outbreak of a desperate race war. The county toward the negroes which attacked a mob of several thousand men, women and boys to break into the jail and lynch and burn three blacks required not satisfied by the tragedy, and so threatened was the situation that the authorities of the city and county pulled in an appeal to Governor Folk to send the militia.

French Ballroom in America.

Paris, Comte de la Vaux, vice president of the Aero Club of France and one of the most successful air navigators of the world, has arrived at New York with three balloons, with the object of making several air voyages in this country. Since he took up the study seven years ago he has made 200 ascents, traveled 25,000 miles in the air, and has had 1,100 persons as passengers.

New Ice Automobile Idea.

Chas. E. S. Burch of Minneapolis has developed an automobile to be propelled by screw runners on the ice, according to a statement of the Scientific American. The particular object he has in view is to develop winter freight transportation for Alaska. Steam is the motive power of this ice locomotive. The spirals lie with their vertical axes horizontal, their edges being sharpened like the blades of a skate. Each spiral is connected with a separate engine. The machine is steered by compressed air operating two semi-circular steel discs at each end of the body. The bottom of the body is made water-tight, so that, if the ice should give way the whole contrivance would float upon the surface of the water, in which case the spirals would serve as propellers.

DEATHS IN WAR SHIP EXPLOSION

Charge of Powder Ignites in Gun Chamber of Gunboat, Killing 10 Sailors.
Ten men were killed and 100 injured, some of them being fatally, by an explosion of powder in the gun forward on the 13th day of the month, on a Friday, and one in a thirteen-day gun turret, has caused a shiver of superstitious terror among naval men. This is the first time that the gun turret has exploded since the war.

The accident happened on the gunboat USS Albatross, which was on duty at the Naval Station in the primary target practice. This practice was just about concluded with one satisfactory result and it was generally expected that the department that all reports would be of the nature of a success.

But Saturday being a public holiday, Rear Admiral Rodgers, commanding the Albatross, was on duty, and the target practice was continued at the mouth of Quantico Bay, indicating that the Kearsarge itself had arrived at that place.

The admiral says the cause of the explosion was not known, but that in cleaning up the turret and throwing open the breeches of the big guns after the last round had been fired, some small amount of unexploded powder was blown out of one of the guns as the breech block was swung around, only to fall into the loaded ammunition chest, where the surplus powder was being returned to the magazines below. Half the remainder of this powder exploded there might have been a repetition of the Missouri disaster.

It may be noted, however, that the cause of the accident on the Missouri was entirely different from that in the case of the Albatross, for in the Missouri's turret a breach block was swung forward before the firing power gases had escaped, resulting in the ignition of the powder in the turret. The ordinary officers were quick to make an accurate repetition of an accident of that kind by fitting out the big turret guns with automatic spraying devices and air blasts, which make it impossible to have a "blow back."

The following serious disasters have occurred on ships of the United States navy in recent years:
Gunboat Remington, boiler exploded at San Diego, Cal., July 21, 1905; 62 killed, 3 injured.
Torpedo boat USS Albatross, explosion of powder at Pensacola, April 13, 1904; 33 killed, 5 injured.
Torpedo boat USS Massachusetts, exploded in freedom at Philadelphia, Dec. 18, 1904; 3 killed, 4 injured.
Torpedo boat USS Albatross, explosion of gun, April 9, 1903; 3 killed, 5 injured.
Cruiser Olympia, explosion of barrel of alcohol at Norfolk, Va., Sept. 12, 1903; 2 killed, 9 injured.
Torpedo boat USS Albatross, blown up in Havana harbor, March 15, 1908; 21 killed.

Politics and Politicians
Secretary Taft has refused his right nearly fifty pounds. He has got rid of seventeen pounds more one of his ambitions will have been realized.
Robert L. McCormick, nominated as Republican candidate for Mayor of Chicago, Wash., is the richest citizen of that city. His friends urged him to take the nomination as a stepping stone to the United States senatorship three years hence, when Senator Anthony's term expires.
Circuit Judges Joke and Giffen have told the Ohio legislature committee of the former Boss Cox of the Republican organization asked them to reverse judgment in a suit involving $25,000. One of the judges consented, and in consequence the city lost $175,000 by compromise. The committee uncovered extensive graft in the purchase of tunnels for the county. Secretary Taft addressed the House of Representatives (Club of Cincinnati) which met Monday after the election for the purpose of keeping up the fight on the Cox machine.

The speech of Judge Alton B. Parker of New York before the Southern Manufacturers' Club at Charlotte, N. C., advocating the choice of a Democratic Presidential nominee from one of the Southern States, has called forth much favorable comment throughout the South, at least among the conservative members of the party. It is arranged that the progress made by the House, when Mr. Parker said that Nebraska had been tried and New York with failure in each case, and that 50 per cent of the young men of the North are now allied with the Republican party, while many of the old leaders have abandoned of joined the Republicans. This address is understood to have given coherence to the presidential boom for Senator Taft of Ohio.

The Missouri Supreme Court has rendered a decision which will necessitate the opening of the ballot boxes and a recount of the votes cast at the last city election wherever there is a contest over an office.
Despite the opposition of the machine factions of both parties, the Ohio House of Representatives passed the bill providing for direct party primaries in the election of all candidates for congressional and state offices, and that all primaries shall be held on the same day. The same body passed the bill raising the Dow tax on saloons from $500 to $1,000.
In the local town elections of Maine the lead of the Democrats was increased by their capture of Augusta, the State capital, which has been Republican every year except since its foundation. The Democratic Mayor of Bangor secured re-election by an increased majority.

The Iowa Assembly has passed, with little opposition, the resolution embodying Gov. Cummins' plan for a national convention of delegates, appointed by State Governors, to set on foot a movement to force a call of a constitutional convention to bring about the election of Frank S. Rowland as president of the United States. More than 200 delegates from 26 States must join in the demand before Congress can be forced to act.

Liquor Sellers' Liability Ruling.
The Kansas Supreme Court has rendered a decision upholding a law which makes liquor sellers liable for damages resulting from the liquor they sell. As a first result, a Kansas widow will get $5,000 for the death of her husband, who was killed by a drunk on a brawl.

Retels from Sand.
A correspondent of Cardiff, Wales, reports that great sand dunes extend for miles along the north coast of the British Channel. These, in addition to being utterly worthless for all purposes, are also a menace to the narrow strip of land between them and the hills. A company of business men have determined to put the sand to some use, and if their works prove profitable an industry will be built up on the dunes. The plan is to manufacture bricks from sand. The experiment has proved a success on the continent, where the bricks are produced in several colors and take a glaze satisfactorily. Some experts claim that these bricks made of sand and lime will be the building brick of the future in Wales and the United Kingdom.

Kidney Trouble Causes Weak Back and Aches and Stiffness of Limbs and Neck.
Col. R. H. Harrison, Deputy Marshal, 720 Common St., Lafayette, La., writes: "A kick from a horse when I was a boy hurt my back and affected my kidneys. I became very lame and had to go about on crutches. The doctors told me I had a case of chronic kidney disease, but I could not believe them, and finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills for my kidneys. First the kidney sensations came more freely, then the pain began to leave, and I was able to get about my work, and that completed my cure. I have been well for two years."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Running Sores on Limbs.
Little Girl's Obstinate Case of Eczema—Mother Says: "Cuticura Remedies a Household Standard."
"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble. We find that the Cuticura Remedies are a valuable household standby, living as we do twelve miles from a doctor, and where it costs from twenty to twenty-five dollars to come up to the mountain. Mrs. Lizzie Vincent Thomas, Fairmount, Walden's Ridge, Tenn., Oct. 13, 1905."

Talking No Chances.
The visitor had asked permission to inspect the extensive works.
"Certainly," said the superintendent. "You won't mind being searched before you begin, I presume? It's merely a formality. What do you want to search me for? Do you think I have bombs concealed about me?"
"Worse than that. You might have a note book and pencil, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

Fall to Running over.
The little girl was sitting in a Sunday school class one Sunday, and growing very thirsty, asked her teacher for a drink of water. The teacher brought her the glass of water, and the little girl, in her eagerness to drink, spilled some of the water down the front of her clean dress. "Handing the half-filled glass back to her teacher she exclaimed: "I must be so full now I'm running over."—Judge.

Mr. Crawford's Endeavor.
"W. B. Yeats, the English poet, got off a good thing when he was at the Franklin Inn for lunch the other day," said the Literary Man. "Of course he's for art for art's sake, but he told of a woman who once said to Marion Crawford, the novelist:
"Here you've written something that will live after you've gone?"
"Madam," Crawford replied, "what I'm trying to do is to write something that will enable me to live while I am here."—Philadelphia Press.

A Place for It.
"I have bones," said Cholly Sobby, "of getting a job in Mr. Merchant's office, don't you know?"
"I wouldn't be surprised if he did, and room for you," remarked Peppery, "he's very systematic."
"Asy—beg pardon—or why?"
"Well he believes in providing a place for everything and everything in its place."—Philadelphia Press.
