Condemns Who Wanted Work a Bill... That's John Bunyan's house we're coming to...

Who's there? roared a dozen men from the ranks... "Why, centurion, a man with a strong Essexshire accent..."

SEVEN YEARS OF SUFFERING

Ended at Last Through Using Doan's Kidney Pills... Miss Selma Jones, of 230 Main St., Ansonia, Conn., says: "It had not been long before my kidneys were no longer to be alive to-day..."

As he had given his hand, so he kept it... From that day Jasper shared everything with his brother...

After a while Jasper's daughter Mabel crept into his life almost imperceptibly... Her big deep eyes seemed always brighter for his coming...

When Wall street first caught the fever for "industrial combinations" and began the reorganization of everything in sight...

He had almost completed an arrangement for the consolidation of several Western enterprises... There was no time to write...

LOVE'S SACRIFICE

GILBERT RAWSON was chief accountant to the firm of Jasper Demman & Bro. People called Jasper a hard dealing man...

In these circumstances, it was inevitable that the neglected work of the junior partner should fall upon Gilbert Rawson...

After a while Jasper's daughter Mabel crept into his life almost imperceptibly... Her big deep eyes seemed always brighter for his coming...

That night Rawson returned to his rooms trending on air... His brain was in a whirl, his heart torn with conflict...

"You've the advantage over me, sir," said Rawson, fixing the pitiful figure with his keen eyes... "Perhaps you will be more—more explicit..."

"Well, Rawson," was Jasper's greeting, "do you often work as late at nights?"... "It sometimes happens, sir," said Rawson, pale to the lips...

Jasper's hand went to his brow as he reeled up against the table... "You've destroyed my faith in men!" he said, in a hoarse voice...

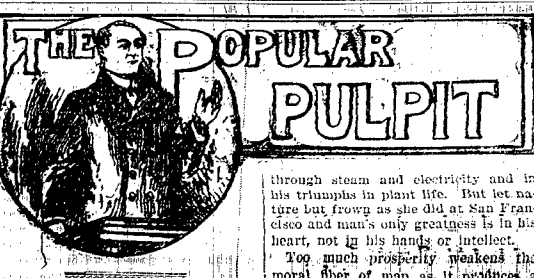

She returned to find a man at the door... "Mebbe you're Miss Demman?" he questioned... "Yes," she said, "Have you a message?"

RAWSON WENT INTO THE DARKNESS.

Horace Demman's defalcations, which ran well into nearly $20,000... It was quite the usual thing for him to take over the junior partner's uncompleted work...

Even while he was speaking, with the truth out at last, her anger and contempt flashed up for a moment in her eyes... "I say you'll forgive me!" he pleaded...

Along about meal time a car begins to attach less importance to curls and the latest fashion in frocks... Somehow when a man boasts of his rich kin he suggests a sassy boy...

THE POPULAR PULPIT

By Rev. Henry F. Cope... "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith..."

Back of all free action lies some creed, some conviction... "And the earth did quake and the rocks rent..."

Superstition's credulity is not faith... It is more than the foresight that feels on visions of a future heaven...

Only a first-hand faith is a force in the world... It is born of life; it determines life...

Given but some great principle, some purpose that becomes a holy passion... something that leads you, like one of long ago who "steadfastly set his face to go up to Jerusalem..."

No wonder the world was ever split by the divine light that that which spoke of him as the leader and conqueror of faith... So great a work was possible only with sublime confidence...

When you are weary of the world's life... "I forgive you, Horace," she said, and with his hand in hers, she sat by the bed till the hand beckoned, and the voice called to the Judgment afar off...

Rawson had been in New York a fortnight when he read the account of the wedding and the list of killed... He went to Rawson's office and laid the sad news before him...

Happy is the heart that does not prove itself by necessities... It takes more than rice to win reverence... The way to duplicate a fool is to argue with him...

It's never hard to find a good argument to back up an inclination... Most men are willing to pray for their enemies to get the worst of it... A gentleman would rather be taken for a servant than fall to be of service...

Habit-forming Medicines

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in many journals of many classes... This publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject...

Teaches Life's Uncertainty... "And the earth did quake and the rocks rent..."

Awful Suffering... From Dreadful Pains from Wound on Foot—System All Run Down—Miraculous Cure by Cuticura...

Sermo-nettes... A Mandy Christ... It is fortunate that the medical arts portrayed what is a formidable name...

The Modern Church... The churches are holding their beautiful services and the ministers are preaching eloquent sermons...

Labor Unions... The labor union that refuses to arbitrate the case implies its side is bad... It is possible for the labor unions to kill the goose that laid the golden egg...

Lesson of the Calamity... When you are weary of the world's life... "I forgive you, Horace," she said...

Short Meter Sermons... Happy is the heart that does not prove itself by necessities... It takes more than rice to win reverence...

A Siphoned Fellow... "I don't know of anyone so siphoned as my husband, his buttons are fast coming off..."

Opposition Along the River... "No, Mr. Spooner," the young woman said, edging away from him...

The Old Story... "She married him to reform him..."

A novel suggestion is made in London that the unemployed should be placed on the streets, as there is a fee of 10 cents for each day's service...

THE WAYNE HERALD.

Official paper of Wayne and Wayne county Published every Thursday.
Frank A. Bryner, Publisher.
Subscription, $1.00 a Year in Advance.

The expenditure of $10,000 for college improvements in Wayne this year, now guaranteed, will materially help people who want to work.

For the first time in sixteen years a democrat was elected mayor of Omaha on Tuesday in the person of James C. Dahlman, who favors a more liberal policy in the city's government than that proposed by his opponent, Erastus A. Benson.

The Fremont Tribune reports with authority that E. R. Garney will not be a candidate for congress and that he has planned a business rather than a political career. The announcement is made as a result of frequent mention of his name in connection with that distinguished office.

People who have come from San Francisco since the earthquake say the catastrophe was far worse than the newspaper reports indicated. The number of dead is believed to be far greater than reported, and the destruction and horror witnessed on every hand have not been fully pictured.

The advisability of preparing for a grand celebration in Wayne on July 4th was presented at the meeting of the Commercial club Monday evening, and it was unanimously decided to have one. Every business man present entered into the spirit of the proposition with enthusiasm, and it is determined to arrange for the biggest and best celebration of Independence day ever held in this part of the state. Decision having been made to celebrate, in Wayne with an elaborate program, let neighboring towns join in the festivities here.

THE HUSES AND MC CARTHY.

The following paragraph is taken from the Elgin Review, published by B. W. McKeen, who may be remembered as having floundered around in a few newspaper ventures in this part of the state a number of years ago:
"In sizing up the merits of the Huses-McCarthy controversy, or rather of the Huse attack on McCarthy, it will be well to bear in mind that both McCarthy and the Huses were long at a head in this. The Huses founded the Ponca Journal, which the elder Huse founded and ran for many years as a democratic sheet, until local politics put the republican party on top. Both Huse and McCarthy were prominent in politics. To those best posted on the past history of the two men the attack of the Norfolk News on McCarthy occasioned less surprise and showed more strongly the possibility of a motive deeper seated and older than the present announced occasion for it. These facts are worth considering."

We believe Mr. McKeen is a man of veracity and that he would reflect impressions absorbed at Ponca as nearly correct as his capacity would permit, though he may have been deceived in some respects. The quotation from him shows some animosity, doubtless due to recollection, and possibly contains some truth. The writer, however, is surprised to learn that there was a "feeling of coolness between the Huses and McCarthy" or that there was rivalry between them for political supremacy in Dixon county. On the contrary the Huses gave McCarthy vigorous support for three successive terms for county attorney and once for state representative. He was elected notwithstanding the ascendancy of the populist party in those days, and in the different campaigns the Journal waged war against his bitter opposition. If there were a "feeling of coolness," the Huses did not participate in it, and their support of McCarthy's political ambition for a long series of years was not a very pronounced manifestation of it. Nor was there open evidence of such "feeling" on the part of McCarthy. If the Review editor's statement is based on knowledge gained while attempting his journalistic feat at Ponca ten years ago, he did not get it from the Huses. If McCarthy was one of the handful of republicans who welcomed McKeen to Ponca with the expectation that he would soon hang the hides of the Huses on the fence, they did not know it, and could not have thought so in view of the unqualified support always given McCarthy in response to his yearning for office. If there were a "feeling of coolness" between the Huses and McCarthy and if there were strife for political control, we wish Mr. McKeen would stand up and tell us where he got his information. If McCarthy red-proceeded the Journal's favor and support by boosting its avowed rival for the republican field in Ponca, we would like to know it.

A few words to define Mr. McKeen: He issued from Iowa, and lit in Ponca at the solicitation of a small clique of republicans who perhaps wanted a paper that they could ride more hours per day than they could the Journal. Mr. McKeen was a man of good character and showed some symptoms of brains, and was deemed well qualified to keep the Journal from getting too rich. The Huses didn't vacate the field and sink away as they perhaps should have done on the advent of the new accession to Ponca journalism. The lit's band of republicans enjoyed their newspaper protegee for eight or nine months, and at the end of that time, a deal to fortify him by an organized company having collapsed, he moved out and added another failure to the list that had in previous years tried to put the Journal out of commission.

Now, Mr. McKeen, please stand up again and tell us whether or not Mr. McCarthy, following the Journal's repeated fights in behalf of his candidacy, was one of those who proposed to join a company for the purpose of building up opposition to a paper that had befriended him. That question is prompted by the assertion that a "feeling of coolness" had existed.

A FINE SHOWING.

The following returns were received from the ore lately found in the King Solomon tunnel in veins Nos. 2 and 4. No prospecting drifts have yet been driven on veins Nos. 1 and 3:

The Colorado Assaying and Refining Company, Denver, Colorado.
Memorandum of Results from Sample Assayed for King Solomon Tunnel and Development Company, Denver, Colorado, April 24, 1906.
No. 1—Gold, 0.43 ounces; silver, trace; value per ton, $3.10.
No. 2—Gold, 2.10 ounces; silver, trace; value per ton, $43.00.
No. 3—Gold, 2.88 ounces; silver, 3.15 ounces; value per ton, $59.49.
No. 4—Gold, 3.72 ounces; silver, 11.22 ounces, and 11.22 per cent, copper at $8.00; value per ton, $114.53.
No. 5—Gold, 3.20 ounces; silver, 5 ounces; copper, 18 per cent; value per ton, $124.
General Average $69.69.

Allowing $10 a ton for mining, railroad freight and smelting charges, which will more than cover these three items of expense, the company would then have a net profit of $59.69 a ton. When we take into consideration the fact that the Camp Bird and the Portland are the largest dividend-paying mines in Colorado, and that their averages less than $30 a ton, we see that the King Solomon carries a high-grade ore. Colonel Myers in his preliminary report, made to the directors at the time the company was organized in Chicago, three years ago, said that the tunnel would cut at least ten fissure veins in 3,000 feet; and in that report he placed the average of the best of their shipping ore at about $40 a ton.

The tunnel has not yet reached the 800-foot mark, or only about one-fourth of its total length of 3,000 feet. It has already crossed four good, strong fissure veins with results as given above. Development has proved that so far the veins are less than 200 feet apart. At this rate fifteen or more veins may

There are some things that we have to depend on others for information and we cannot make a mistake if we rely on other people if they are experts and honest. They may be honest but if they are not experienced they cannot give us the necessary information to make us successful, if we follow their instructions. You cannot fail to get satisfaction and be successful if you trade at our store. We have had more than twenty years' experience in selling clothing and have the reputation of being honest. We employ no boys or cheap help and when you trade here you can depend on what information you get as reliable. If we make a mistake it costs you nothing for we give you another suit for any suit we recommend that fails to give satisfaction. You not only get the best clothing made here but you get it for less price than others ask and our stock is the largest. Don't you think you should investigate what is here claimed before you buy anything in the clothing line? We sell everything men and boys wear. Our shoes are such as we have been selling for twenty-five years and every pair is warranted to give you satisfaction. We have shoes that boys can't wear out and plow shoes that never tire your feet. Give us a chance to show you our goods and you will feel satisfied and we will be happy. Eggs all same as cash.

IDAHO LETTER.
 ST. ANTHONY, IDAHO, April 25, 1906.
 This is in the upper Snake river country, 5,000 feet above sea level, a town of probably 1200 to 1400 people, energetic, progressive and thrifty, surrounded by a splendid farming country and less than 40 miles from the southwest corner of Yellowstone National Park. The soil is largely composed of decomposed lava and appears and is said to be of wonderful fertility. The lands that are farmed and those that will be, have to be irrigated, for which the Snake and its numerous tributaries furnish an abundant supply of water in this upper region. In some places, notably so in the neighborhood of Idaho Falls and the country near the great bend down in the Pocatello country, there is considerable sand and gravel in the soil and consequently requires a much greater volume of water to properly irrigate than in the parts of the country where this condition does not prevail, and this upper country seems to be much nearer the ideal in so far as soil is concerned than any I have yet seen.

Like all other countries I have ever seen it has its drawbacks, and the long winters are one of the things to be considered by anyone thinking of this country as a home. From the best information obtainable, snow falls here at almost anytime after October first, but these early snows seldom remain but a few days, being quickly disposed of by the warm sun and soft winds and winter usually begins in real earnest about December 10th to 20th and the snow not infrequently reaches a depth of 3 feet on the level and usually keeps the ground covered until about March 15th and sometimes even a month later, and as there are no high winds in winter sleighing is always good and the sun shines most of the time and it is said the thermometer seldom reaches 25 below and is generally from zero to 10 or 15 below, but it must be remembered that in an altitude as high as this the cold is not nearly so penetrating as in the lower levels. The farmers hail these deep falls of snow as real blessings in the way of filling the soil with moisture, thus requiring much less irrigation during the summer months and consequently greatly lessening the labor necessary to produce crops.

Winter wheat is quite extensively grown here and owing to the protection afforded by the blanket of snow always covering the earth during the cold months makes phenomenal yields, sometimes reaching 70 bushels per acre and seldom if ever going below 30 bushels. Spring wheat with one watering in some sections and two in others, where properly farmed, produces from 40 to 60 bushels per acre and the quality is unsurpassed by any I ever saw grown. Oats under irrigation here produce from 60 to 110 bushels per acre, the average probably being about 75 bushels and the quality is wonderful, some of it that I have seen weighed reaching 50 pounds per bushel and old settlers tell me the average weight is about 45 pounds per bushel. Barley yields abundantly and the quality cannot be excelled anywhere, because during the ripening and harvesting season the weather is always dry and clear, and consequently there is no discoloration. This country seems to be the natural home of clover, timothy, alfalfa and other tame grasses and such a thing as winter killing is unknown for the reasons given for the success of winter wheat. Of course alfalfa here probably does not yield as many tons per acre per year as in some other sections, because here there are only two outtings per season, but from reliable sources I am assured that where a proper stand is obtained, and that is not difficult if ordinary care is exercised, the yield per year is about 5 tons per acre and the yields of clover and timothy grown here would turn a Nebraska or Iowa farmer green with envy. Potatoes are grown in wonderful abundance and of a quality seldom equaled and never excelled. Sugar beets are another great crop, yielding from 15 to 20 tons per acre, largely depending on the culture received and I think it is safe to say the average yield is above 20 tons per acre. There are three large sugar beet factories in the valley, one at Blackfoot, another at Idaho Falls and a third at Sugar City, all within a distance of 50 miles travel. These factories have a combined daily capacity of 2000 or more tons of beets and are sending the prices of land upward at a rate that produces a feeling of dizziness to the tenderfoot. Lands in this valley range from $10 to $125 per acre, the lowest price being for lands distant from the well settled communities and without canals for irrigation, while the other extreme represents the highly cultivated, well improved, fully developed in every way, with an abundance of water for all purposes. Good lands with perpetual water rights, but generally unimproved can be had as low as $25, but $50 is nearer the average figure for moderately improved lands 5 to 8 miles from market, while those inside of that radius from good towns are probably on an average price of $75 per acre.

But the readers of a letter cannot form a real good idea of a country or its resources and I would not advise any person to sell his effects and move into any new country without first making a personal inspection and forming their own one. But I think there are some very good opportunities here for the industrious, intelligent man who is not afraid to use his muscles. Like any other country it is not a paradise to which we would advise the shiftless, indolent or vicious to go to, because it requires effort to succeed and viciousness is not tolerated.

HEALTH IN WAYNE.

Raymond Says Care of Digestion Solves Problem of Long Life.

No one in Wayne has a better chance than the druggist to know the condition of the city's health, and what diseases are the most common. Raymond believes that the problem of long life is solved by proper care of the digestive organs. Let the stomach get out of condition and soon there will be nervousness, irritation, furred tongue, specks before the eyes, weakness, debility, indigestion, and other physical and mental troubles, that directly result from a weakened stomach.

Of all the vital organs, the stomach is the most frequently abused, and hence, the one which most frequently fails, and so with the discovery of a remedy like Mi-o-na stomach tablets, which is sold on an absolute guarantee to strengthen the digestive system, aid in assimilation of food, and cure all trouble caused by indigestion, an important step has been taken towards solving the question of good health and long life.

Take one of the little Mi-o-na tablets before each meal, with the fixed determination that you are going to get well, and it will not be many days before you can eat anything without fear of indigestion.

Raymond sells Mi-o-na on an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. A large box of the tablets costs but 50 cents, if it helps you, nothing if it fails.
