

THIRTIETH YEAR.

MORE ABOUT IDAHO LAND

Mr. Cunningham Treats the Subject.

IDEAL IRRIGATION CARRIED ON

Energy of the Pioneers and Natural Resources Accomplish Wonders—Good Investments.

St. Anthony, Idaho, July 2, 1906.

Editor HERALD: I received a copy of HERALD of June 28 and was glad to get it. People at home of a county newspaper do not really appreciate it as they should, but let them be away for a time among strangers and the appearance of the home paper is like an angel of light.

I judge from Huse's writup of this country that he was very favorably impressed and will he might be for it is indeed a good one with great opportunities for the man of energy and thrift. It is today a bud just ready for the opening. The pioneer came here with a dollar of ready money for the development of the resources of the land and a desert country to a man without means to carry him along until water, the great necessity, can be put on the land, does not seem a very risky prospect and how these people managed to eke out an existence during the years of hard labor required to dig the great canals now threading the entire Snake valley is a problem I am unable to solve, but they did it and today the land is one well watered and as fertile as the most favored spots of earth. The people who are coming here now and buying these lands at present prices are getting them much cheaper than the settlers who got them for the taking, and what is more, the newcomers do not have to undergo the privations and hardships of the early settlers, who, if they properly appreciated what they have done and what the future holds in store for this valley, would not part with the lands at present prices, but it is ever thus with the pioneer. The resources of this valley, speaking of it from an agricultural point of view, can hardly be measured, and the returns per acre in dollars would run an eastern man green with envy and as yet the price of land are very moderate, but as Gene has told of these I shall not go in to the matter at all.

This section of country has what so many irrigated sections lack—an abundance of water, and as I have before said the canals are pretty well completed and the water is today ready for the hand of the husbandman to utilize.

The development of the country has been greatly retarded by lack of means, the early settlers being obliged to dig ditches until the food supply ran low and then go elsewhere and work at other things in order to get a "grub stake" and then back to the ditches again. During this time not a furrow was turned, for, mark you, without water most of the great valley was barren of all vegetation except sage brush, and no crop of any kind could be grown. These canals, with the limited labor available, required years to construct, but today the difficulties are overcome, the work of reclaiming the waste places is in full swing and the price of land are jumping up at a rapid pace. But they have only really begun their climb and today there are golden opportunities for the man of small means who is willing to apply his intelligence and muscle. I am not a real estate agent and have no interest in trying to induce anyone to come here, but I have had some experience, as most of your readers know, in new countries and ought to know something of the prospects of future developments and I have no hesitancy in saying that I believe the future of this section will equal, if not surpass, any other of which I have any knowledge. However, let no man believe this is a country of perfect conditions, for it is not.

The growing season here is not as long as in more southern countries or where the elevation is not so great, and the crops grown are not as varied. It is pre-eminently a land of small grains, alfalfa, sugar beets and potatoes and these grow in an abundance unsurpassed anywhere. The feed grains command much higher prices here than in the east because of the home markets afforded by the mining and lumber interests and the sheep and cattle men must have the hay for the winter feeding of their flocks and herds.

Yours truly,
E. CUNNINGHAM.

CARNIVAL AT CARROLL.

It seems that in some way the impression was made that Carroll would not celebrate this year. This is wrong. It was decided not to celebrate the Fourth but to wait until there were no counter attractions. It has been planned to have the most elaborate entertainment ever furnished in this part of the state.

At a meeting of the business men held Thursday night the following committee was appointed to take charge of affairs: Chas. Beebe, J. W. Johnson, Jno. Melick, Simon Tracht, and Henry Trant. The plan is to furnish a free street fair in connection with a two-day baseball tournament. The date has not been settled upon but will be in the near future.

Carroll will certainly live up to its past reputation and give the public a big time at a slight expense.—Carroll Index.

DROWNING OF SCOTT HUFF.

Scott Huff, a Wayne young man who was employed in Bennett's store in Omaha, was one of the victims of the accident at Lake Manawa on the night of July 4. He was among the crowd that went into the lake when the landing platform collapsed and was one of the six who were drowned. His body was found at noon on Thursday, and the shocking news of his death was immediately dispatched to relatives at this place.

The remains of the unfortunate young man were brought to Wayne Saturday morning and funeral services were conducted in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon by Rev. Benjamin of Norfolk. The church was crowded to overflowing, several hundred people being unable to gain admission. The floral decorations were profuse and beautiful, and the minister gave an appropriate sermon, referring frequently to the many virtues and high character of the deceased.

Scott Huff was aged 24 years, and spent most of his life in Wayne county and was esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances. For a time he worked in Norfolk and later accepted a position in a store at Omaha. During the past spring he underwent an operation for appendicitis and recovered satisfactorily. He leaves a mother, three sisters and three brothers whose great sorrow has aroused the hearty sympathy of this community.

The young man held two life insurance policies, one for $1,000 in the Penn. Mutual Life of Philadelphia, and one for $2,000 in the Fraternal Life association.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Fifty years ago, June 1, 1856, the Father Tracy Colony landed upon the fertile soil of Nebraska and the next day founded the old town of St. John, in Dakota county, which stood a short distance northeast of Jackson. The first Catholic church of Nebraska and South Dakota was established here.

The occasion is to be commemorated with a great celebration and reunion of the pioneers, their children and grand-children, at Jackson, July 17 and 18.

There will be reduced rates on all railroads.

A Lincoln report says that Dr. J. L. Green, superintendent of the Lincoln hospital for the insane, has resigned and will take charge of the hospital at Kankakee, Ill., at a greatly advanced salary. Gov. Mickey has appointed Dr. J. T. Hay to succeed him. Hay has been Green's assistant for years.

The postoffice department has ruled that mail must be looked over before leaving the office, and that any letter put in your box by mistake must be returned before leaving the postoffice under penalty of $200 for failure to do so.—Ex.

Wm. Baden living near La Porte, was before Judge Hunter Monday afternoon on a peace warrant issued at the instance of his neighbor, Jas. Nelson, who complained that he had been the victim of threatening, insulting and opprobrious language whenever he met the defendant. Baden was bound over to the district court with bonds fixed at $200, which he gave.

Don Cunningham departed Monday afternoon for Champaign, Ill., to attend a national convention of the fraternity on Artha Vota, being the sole representative of the Iowa agricultural college at Ames. To have been chosen as a delegate from the large list of students at Ames is a distinguished honor which Don's many Wayne friends rejoice to see accorded him.

N. O. Eicher, who was recently sent from Wayne to the asylum at Lincoln for three years' treatment for drunkenness, made his escape from that institution last week, according to word sent to B. F. Feather, clerk of the district court. If Eicher keeps away from Wayne county, it is not likely the authorities here will work very hard to correct him again.

It seems that someone had shot into a cable, admitting moisture and causing damage. Mr. Phillos says new cables will be added to the system and the service otherwise improved. The list of phones has been greatly enlarged of late.

While in town Saturday Wm. Meyer informed the HERALD that he had some trouble with Henry Meier at a picnic on July 4, in the German settlement northeast of town, with the result that he received two blows on his head from a beer glass in the hands of Henry Meier. Wm. Meyer talked as though he expected to take action through the county attorney of Dixon county where the trouble occurred.

Judge Kinkaid arrived home from Washington Monday, congress having adjourned Saturday. The judge says he is glad to get back to Nebraska as the weather was getting excessively hot at the capital and our cool breezes here are refreshing to him. In point of legislation that affects the whole people Judge Kinkaid thinks the session of congress just closed has been the most important in many years.—O'Neill Frontier.

Judge Boyd, republican candidate for congress, was circulating among friends in Wayne Monday. It is doubtful if one could find a man in Wayne county who is opposing Judge Boyd's candidacy and it is probably safe to guess that none of the other candidates could pick a delegation here that could be persuaded to oppose Judge Boyd in the congressional convention. His friends are numbered by his acquaintances. They are not mere passive friends, but ardent admirers of a man of high character and broad intelligence.

Local artificial stone companies are being organized in all parts of the state. At present most of the product is going into foundation walls, but when Nebraska comes to be rebuilt, as it will in the next fifty years it will be rebuilt of Nebraska material. Portland cement from the inexhaustible deposits in the northern part of the state and good sharp sand from the Platte and other localities. Dimension stuff can come from the new Nebraska pine forests now being started in the sand hills.—Lincoln Journal.

Editor Clomon of the Carroll Index was doing business at this commercial center Saturday, and devoted spare time while here to setting forth the merits of the carnival to be held in Carroll next month, probably on the 9th and 10th. Amusement companies are to be secured and paid for from funds secured in advance, and accordingly their exhibitions will cost the visiting multitude absolutely nothing. Wayne will of course respond, in a spirit of fair reciprocity, by contributing to the crowds and thus to the success of its neighbor's proposed carnival.

A Kansas paper tells a story about a certain church that was very exclusive. A poor man applied for membership and they didn't want him. They hardly liked to turn him down, so requested him to take it to the Lord in prayer and come again. In about two months he showed up. They asked him if he had taken it to the Lord and he said he had. They questioned him as to what reply, if any, he had received, he answered as follows: "The Lord told me not to get discouraged. He said he had been trying to get into your church for several years, but had not succeeded."

WHITNEY BIOSCOPE CO.

The Whitney Bioscope Co., which was at the Larson yesterday, matinee and night, drew out a very large audience. The fact that pictures of the late San Francisco disaster were advertised to be shown, drew a large audience, larger than usually attend a moving picture show, and it is only fair to state that the entire audience felt well repaid for their attendance. The pictures of the disaster, as well as the others shown, were life-like and realistic in the extreme, and the enjoyment of viewing them was enhanced by the fact that the machine was an unusually good one, which threw the pictures on the canvas with little if any "flickering." Those who attended have a much clearer conception of the awful disaster than they could have obtained in any other way.—Fremont, Neb., Daily Herald, May 31, 1906. Opera house, Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14. Prices 25, 35 and 50.

WATCH LOST BY PASSENGER

Gambler Suspected and Searched.

TIME PIECE VALUED AT $100.00

Later It is Found in the Coach on the Bloomfield Branch Where Loss Occurred.

A flurry of excitement was caused at the depot Monday afternoon by the declaration of a traveling man that he had lost a watch, valued at $100, the presumption being that it had been stolen from him. The watch disappeared while he was on the Bloomfield train, and suspicion pointed to a man who was a gambler, according to his possessions, revealed by a subsequent search. When the train arrived here, Marshal Miner was notified and placed the suspected individual under arrest. He was thoroughly searched, but no watch could be found and he was released. Later the valuable time-piece was found in the car and restored to the owner. Marshal Miner thinks that some one stole the watch, but afterwards, frightened by the vigorous steps to detect the guilty party, left it in the car.

SEVERAL ENACTMENTS BECOME OPERATIVE JULY 4.

Anti-Pass, Anti-Misc and Pure Food Bills, Passed by Last Iowa General Assembly, Are Now in Force.

Des Moines correspondence: A large number of the laws enacted by the last Iowa General Assembly became operative July 4.

Among them are the numerous statutes fixing the terms of State, county and township officers to comply with the recently adopted biennial election amendment.

There are about twenty of these laws and under them the terms of officers are extended or cut off, as the Legislature deemed best.

The law providing for a system of municipal accounting went into effect July 4, and is really about to become operative on April 1, 1907.

Another important bill which went into effect of the nation's birthday, after July 4, is the public health bill, which is to be of the Federal government, State, county, township or city.

Two bills went upon the statute books as laws July 4 but which do not become operative immediately are the State teachers' certificate and the gasoline bill.

The following new statutes became effective July 4: Making the rate for legal publications; Making the terms of State, county and township officers to coincide with the provisions of the biennial election amendment.

Providing a uniform system of municipal accounting; Providing freedom of worship to members of charitable State institutions.

Encouraging the use of wagons with wide tires by remission of part of road tax; Encouraging life insurance companies to invest funds in construction of office buildings.

Prohibiting issuance of or acceptance of free passes over streets or interurban railways by such railways or public officials respectively; Authorizing registration of stallions and bulls.

Prohibiting the establishment of saloons within 200 feet of cemeteries; Limiting poll taxes to five years; Prohibiting child labor in certain cases.

Prisoners and Captives

"You've been very kind to carry out this theater party and see me about it. I shall be at home all the morning. Yours, very truly,

"AGNES WINTER."

The young actor read this letter among others at the breakfast table. His father and sister were engaged in their own affairs.

Miss Winter's elderly maid servant expected Lieut. Grace, for she opened the door and stood back invitingly. He was ushered up into the warm, luxurious drawing room, and after the door had been closed, stood for a few moments irresolute in the middle of the deep carpet.

Presently he began to wander about the room, taking things up and setting them down again. He looked at the pictures on the wall and at the busts on the mantelpiece.

"I have never come across it—anywhere else," he said, looking at the photograph of a young man in a military uniform.

"What?" she said, suddenly, "about the expedition?"

"He looked back at her over his shoulder, for he had gone toward the window, and she saw a sudden gleam of determination in his eyes.

"What expedition?" he asked curiously, on his guard.

"This theater expedition," she replied sweetly.

"Oh, well, I suppose it will be carried through. We all want to go. I suppose you have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

"I am afraid," he began at once, with perfect equanimity, "that I have made a mistake—a social blunder. I came to inform you that I have secured a box—the stage box—for Wednesday night, at the Epiphany Theater. It will be doing me a pleasure if you will form one of my party. I do not know exactly how the things are managed in England, but I want Miss Grace and her brother to come as my guests, too. Miss Grace was kind enough to ask me to be one of a theater party, and mentioned the Epiphany Theater."

"I don't know," she answered, "but I have heard of it."

FAMINE HOLDS SWAY

RAINS IN RUSSIA TOO LATE TO SAVE CROPS.

Unfortunate Subjects of the Czar Become More Desperate as Famine Increases in Severity, and Many Are Killed in Conflicts.

A correspondent of the Associated Press has just completed a tour of the provinces of Samara and Saratov, Russia. He reports that the drought is finally broken, but the rains have come too late to save the crops in any condition.

These disorders have reached the highest pitch in the province of Voronezh, where the troops and Cossacks, although in considerable force, are practically helpless and on the defensive.

According to a telegram received here from Tambov peasants on the estate of Princeps Barudinsky attacked a commissary and a posse of rural police. The commissary and four policemen were seriously wounded.

In another section of the province of Tambov a body of peasants, armed with pitchforks and spades, resisted a squadron of dragoons. Because of this resistance the troops fired, killing three peasants and wounding many others.

At Kladnoy, southeast of Tiflis, a hand to hand fight has occurred between Cossacks and an armed band of peasants. With the result that several men were killed on both sides.

WAS PERILOUS TRIP

Eastern Aeronaut Picked Up Far Out at Sea.

After one of the most remarkable experiences in the history of aerial navigation, James K. Allen, the aeronaut who made a balloon ascension at Providence, R. I., on the Fourth of July, was brought to Boston Friday night on the fighting schooner Francis W. Sullivan.

Allen had a narrow escape from death by drowning, the winds that prevailed Wednesday having blown his balloon a long distance from Boston. Until news of his arrival at Providence he had been thought that he had met death, as it was known that at the last time he was traveling out to sea.

That Allen is alive is wholly to the fortunate shift of the wind. When he made his ascension at Providence on Wednesday the wind was blowing a brisk breeze from the southwest. The aeronaut was carried in his balloon in a northwesterly direction and passed over the town of Attleboro.

From Attleboro the airship traveled in the direction of Brockton, and the last seen of the aeronaut by observers on shore was when he passed over Attleboro early in the evening. At that time the balloon was headed straight out to sea.

After Allen passed over Massachusetts Bay his plight was more perilous. Wednesday night he was over Provincetown. At this point of the voyage the wind shifted from southwest to northwest and from Provincetown the balloon sailed down the outer Cape Cod coast.

The aeronaut was rescued twelve miles off Chatham by the fishermen of the Sylvia. The balloon was saved in good condition and was brought to Boston on the schooner. During his flight Allen covered a total distance of about 200 miles, nearly half of which was over the water. The point where he was picked up is about 77 miles from Provincetown.

NO JAIL FOR THEM

Violators of the Elkins Law Can Only Be Fined.

Judge Holt, of the federal court at New York, Friday handed down an opinion the effect of which is to dismiss the indictments against Nathan Guilford, vice president, S. Bromery, traffic manager of the New York Central Railroad, S. Boudine Edger and Edwin Esplan, sugar merchants of Detroit, charging conspiracy to violate the Elkins rebating act punishable by imprisonment.

The court, however, holds the indictments against the New York Central Railroad, Guilford and Bromery, found under the Elkins act, are good and sustains them so far as they are punishable by a fine.

The court holds congress did not intend violations of the Elkins law to be punishable by imprisonment.

FOUR WERE DROWNED

Naval Reserve Men Lose Their Lives in Lake Michigan.

According to information from Chicago, four members of the first division of the Illinois naval reserves were drowned Thursday night while practicing rowing in Lake Michigan. The boys drowned were out for a rowing cruise in a "dingy." With the exception of one of them all were inexperienced, and through some unexplained reason, the boat was overturned and all were thrown into the water. The men drowned were Schlepman, O'Carroll, Schorn and Pines.

At the time of the accident there were six men in the boat, but two of them were rescued by the life-saving crew.

Seaman Pines came to Chicago from Baltimore recently. His body was recovered Friday after the accident and is being made for the bodies of the other boys, but up to a late hour no trace of them had been found.

The accident happened near midnight at the foot of Washington Street. The men had been practicing rowing for two hours in the basin and then endeavored to fix the sails. When engaged in this a squall struck the "dingy" and in the excitement that followed all of the men with the exception of the coxswain being inexperienced, the boat was overturned. MAJORITY DISASTER

Six Bodies Recovered by Use of Jugs

The accident at Lake Manawa the night of the Fourth proves more disastrous than at first supposed. Instead of only one being dead, as at first given out, five more bodies have been recovered from the water and at least one more person is missing who is expected to be recovered at the result of that evening, and the presumption is that his body is still in the lake.

Friday morning when inquiries began to be made for people who had not returned to their homes in Omaha the night before work was commenced diving in the water near the location of the accident in the effort to locate other bodies. In this and other ways five more were brought to the surface. After this jugs of lime were sunk in the water and exploded from the action of the water in the hopes of the concession making to the surface a body might be lifted to the surface in the lake. This was predictive of no results, and from the fact that only one more person is reported missing the death list is thought to be not in excess of seven and possibly not more than six, which is the number of bodies actually recovered.

The following names of people are known to be dead: Lena Rosenblum, Shoshie Hyland, Mary Looney, Mary Sheehan, Elmer Scott.

Do You Go Hunting or Fishing?

VACATION days cannot be spent to a better advantage than at some beautiful lake in Northern Wisconsin enjoying the healthy attraction of outdoor life.

If you have ever inspected a map of Northern Wisconsin, you have undoubtedly observed that hundreds of the most beautiful lakes are adjacent to the

Northwestern Line

At many of these lakes are summer cottages and hotels providing excellent accommodations at reasonable prices. Then again, if a camping party wishes, they may drive a few miles inland and enjoy practically a virgin field. Trout, pike, bass and muskellunge will be found at almost any of the Northern Wisconsin resorts.

For Booklet showing maps of the fishing localities, list of hotels and prices, or any assistance you may desire in finding a desirable location, call on or address,

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by Raymond's drug store.

The wrong way to select harness is the way it is usually done. Price is generally the first consideration. If that is very low the goods seem attractive, regardless of quality. Judge our goods the other way about. Examine into the quality of this harness first. Then it will be seen that it is worth almost any price. Our prices are not high. Value considered they are remarkably low.
