GOOD TALK BEFORE G. A. R.

John H. Kate Addresses Casey Post.

Treats Conditions in Holmes County, Ohio, During the Civil War—Interesting Throughout.

John H. Kate, of this place, gave an interesting talk before the Casey Post, G. A. R., of this city, on last Saturday evening, having been invited to do so a few days previous by a committee representing the Post. He spoke upon his experiences as a boy among the copperheads of Holmes county, O., during the Civil War. Mr. Kate will give another talk upon the same subject before the Post at some future date, and the Herald hopes to be able to publish his remarks at that time. His address on Saturday evening was of extraordinary interest, and is published at the request of the members of Casey Post. It was as follows:

Commander and Comrades:— I wish to thank you for the distinguished honor conferred on me by inviting me to address the members of Casey Post on my experiences with the disloyal element of Holmes county, Ohio, during the Civil War.

Now boys, I have been requested by your commander not to make this address too long. You all know that when I got wound up it is a hard job to shut me off. It will be wasted time to hiss me or call me down for I am deaf and cannot hear you. We found eggs of uncertainty of the most effective weapon to drive out of our neighborhood the U. S. marshals that came to take us to war. No doubt some of you are equipped with some of these weapons and if you will take a few shots at me you will find them very effective. If you are not supplied with that destructive weapon, and have not given up both arms to save this country, just raise your hands when you have enough and I will shut off.

I was born a soldier. I caught that bravery like the boy caught the itch, by sitting next to it. I do not wear the Grand Army Button because I failed to get an honorable discharge. I was born brave, because ninety miles south of my home Foreaker was born, sixty miles south Gen. Rutherford B. Hayes was born, fifty miles east Gen. John and William T. Sherman were born, eighty miles north Gen. Garfield was born, ninety miles west Gen. Benjamin Harrison was born, thirty miles east Major William McKinley, Jr. was born, and ninety-five miles south, the greatest of them all, Gen. U. S. Grant, was born. I hope time has not erased these names from your memory. Some are born great, and others have greatness thrust on them. I received both. Make a circle of 100 miles from my birthplace and there was more great generals born there to the square inch than any place on earth. I exhibited my bravery at ten years of age by wearing a button during the war. One-half of Holmes county, Ohio, had more good people during the war than any one county in the U. S. The other half had more copperheads than any two counties in the country. I was born and reared with the good people and lived during the war with the copperheads.

About the last speech made during the war by that eloquent speaker Valandigham, was delivered to us copperheads and it fell on welcome ears. It was so hot that the U. S. marshal ran him over into Canada a few days thereafter.

Now boys, I will beg your pardon, but I will have to tell the truth, and our experience with the soldiers proved to our entire satisfaction that they were not gentlemen. They came to see us in a stock car and they did not conduct themselves like gentlemen while they remained. My first experience with them was not pleasant, to say the least. The U. S. government, with that nigger president (as we called him) sent 100 men and a cannon to our little town for the purpose of helping the U. S. marshal to round up all that had been drafted and refused to go to war. We had helped the south a little with our sympathy and had sent them a few horses, and we refused to be drafted into that nigger war, so old Abe sent the men to see how we would like to look into the end of a cannon. I was a boy then ten years old and met the soldiers at the depot and the first one that met me, when he saw that butternut plumed on my coat, slapped me and tore the butternut off, and then applied a government shoe to my anatomy with such force that I can feel it now. They had no respect for ladies, for they tore off every butternut they found and in many cases tore the dresses where they were fastened on. They were not prohibitionists, for as soon as they arrived they made for the saloon, and the door being closed, they broke it open and drank it dry and ate up all the dried herrings in the ranch. They were not honest, for they failed to leave a cent to pay their bills.

We called a special meeting to meet in our large bank barn that night. We had a noble organization called the Knights of the Golden Circle that met there, and the eloquence there displayed laid Demosthenes in the shade. I took a seat in the hay-mow and I often heard the patriotic words of Patrick Henry: "Give the liberty or give me death." A braver lot of men never lived, judging them from their utterances. The next day we were to meet the armed forces of the nigger war, and we prepared for the coming event. We gathered up all the eggs we could find and the old flintlock squirrel rifle was cleaned up and bullets run.

I was lucky in securing a 22-calibre revolver and I was ready to shoot the first man I met wearing the blue. We met on that bloody field of Napoleon ready to clean out Lincoln hirelings. All went well and our Captain Drake, the chief of our noble order, gave the command, "forward, march," but we failed to obey orders. We did not like the looks of that cannon. The hole in the end looked too large for us to defend with rotten eggs and squirrel rifles. For some reason never explained, our courage failed us and we turned our backs to the U. S. government and skeddaddled to the woods. I never was so scared in my life and I ran like a whitehead for home, and when I got in my dear mother's arms I felt safe.

So ended the terrible battle of Napoleon, the only battle in history ever won without a loss to either side. We have been told how the soldiers lived on hard tack and saw belly. I am here to tell you that during the month that the soldiers were with us we never got one order to furnish any hard tack or saw belly for them. But we did get orders for honey, pies, cake, canned fruit, jellies, roast beef well done, roast chickens and turkeys stuffed with oysters. No pork in any style. They may have been Jews. I remember how it broke my heart to see the last turkey, an old gobbler, leave the farm to feed a lot of old Abe Lincoln's hirelings. They ate up everything that was good in our neighborhood before they left, and we had only buckwheat cakes and rye coffee to use for a year. They lived like kings, and being our guests, they proved my previous statement that they were not gentlemen. For when they wanted to see a list of what they wanted and they always got it. It was simply wonderful what effect a cannon would have in a neighborhood of copperheads.

Those were times that tried men's souls. To offer your life to bless humanity is the greatest sacrifice any man can make. It was all Jesus Christ did for us. I spent one night at a neighbor's house whose only son had enlisted to fight for the niggers for three years. About 1 o'clock at night he came home and rapped on the door. The old man got up and took down the squirrel rifle and went to the door and asked "Who is there?" "Your son," was the reply. "You can't come into this house, for I don't want to see any of Lincoln's hirelings," the old man replied. "I want to see my dear old mother," the boy said in sobbing tone. "Damn you, you can't see her." "Good by mother, I'll go back and join the army again." To see an old mother with tears running down her cheeks, pleading with her husband to see her son who had been to war for three years, was the saddest sight I ever saw. He returned that night without seeing his mother and enlisted for three years more and was shot a short time afterwards, and his body lies in some unknown grave. His mother died broken-hearted. In a few days after that I saw a young man and cast his first vote. He had said that he was going to vote for old Abe and his father pleaded with him not to do it. The old man followed him to the voting place and when he saw him cast his vote for that nigger president, Abraham Lincoln, tears came into his eyes and he told his son that he would rather have followed him to the grave.

But boys, time has made everything right, all are now for the same old flag, and any copperhead would shoot the first man that would dare tear it out of heaven. Boys, be cheerful at all times. Cultivate pleasant thoughts. Meet everyone with a smile. You have saved this glorious country, and removed the black spot of slavery from our dear old flag, and we are now all happy and at peace with the whole world. Your work is done. You can let the rising generation take care of all future arrangements. Enjoy the fruits of your victory. If you should meet anyone that is despondent and the clouds of adversity should seem to hide the brightness of the sun, tell him:

This world is not so bad a world as some are inclined to make it. For weal or woe as on we go, depends on how we take it. The sun shines out for all alike, whatever their state or station. The flowers bloom in rich perfume, to bless this fair creation. Then why should you of all things else, bow down in gloom and sorrow. For the clouds that hide the sun today, may pass before tomorrow. God bless you.

WILL GO TO CARROLL.
At a meeting of the Wayne Commercial club on Monday evening it was decided to attend the Carroll carnival in a body on tomorrow afternoon, taking the band with them. An arrangement has been made with the railroad company for a special train which will leave for Carroll at about 2 p. m. and return about 6 o'clock. The Commercial club guarantees the company $50.00 at 40 cents per ticket for round trip. If the weather is good many Wayne people will attend the Carroll celebration.

M. M'VICKER KILLED.
Dies of Injuries Received in a Runaway at Popper.
Matt McVicker, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Leslie precinct, this county, died last Thursday evening from the effects of injuries received in a runaway at Popper on Monday evening of last week. Mr. McVicker has resided for some time on the Richard Russell farm about twelve miles southeast of Wayne, near the county line. The burial took place at North Bend, Neb., on last Saturday.

The following, relative to Mr. McVicker and his tragic death is taken from the Popper Times of August 8.
"Mr. McVicker had come to Popper Monday and had just arrived at the corner of 4th and McCabe streets when a runaway team ran into his vehicle, threw him out and ran over him. In the meantime his own team had also run away. Mr. McVicker was taken to a room at the Palace hotel where Dr. Reichenbach and another local physician examined him, finding that both bones were broken in one of the legs between the knee and ankle. It was later decided to call Dr. Condon of Omaha who assisted in the operation upon the injured man and his intestines were found to be badly injured and nothing could be done for him.

"The deceased was born in Belfast, Ireland, and was sixty years and three months' old at the time of his death. About thirty years ago he was married to Elizabeth Miller at North Bend, with her two sons, Herbert, of Haley, Idaho, and Charles, are left to mourn for a kind and loving husband and father.
"Matthew McVicker was a good citizen and a man who was highly respected wherever known, and the entire country join the Times in extending sympathy to the family in their bereavement."

Quite a number from Wayne went to Winside Sunday to witness the game advertised for that day between the Winside team and South Omaha Stars. The colored gentlemen did not show up, however, and a game was played between a couple of Winside teams.
We take this opportunity to again call the attention of the residents of Wayne to the fact that there are still a few bad patches of weeds yet uncut and that an hour's or two hours' work would greatly improve the appearance of the town in the eyes of visitors at the fair next week.

Some years ago a preacher inaugurated the practice of having the children quote Scriptural texts as they dropped their pennies in the contribution box. On the first Sunday under the new plan a little shaver came and said: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver" and in dropped his penny. "Charity shall cover a multitude of sins" and in dropped the next. "It is more blessed to give than to receive," quoted the third and so on. Just then up walked a little fellow with the unmistakable remnants of molasses candy on his chubby face and as he dropped his cent he bawled out: "A fool and his money are soon parted."—Ex.

A couple of years ago a cranky sort of an old man came into this office and stopped his paper because something in it did not just suit his fancy. We have frequently met him on the street since that time and it is amusing to us to note the look of surprise on the old fellows face that we are still in existence regardless of the fact that he stopped his paper. Some day—and it won't be long either—that old gentleman will turn up his toes. His heart will be still forever. Neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay to the silent city and lay them to rest among the flowers. An obituary will be published in these columns telling what a kind father, a good neighbor and beloved citizen he was—which the recording angel will overlook for charity's sake, and in a very short time he will be forgotten. As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know that the last kind word spoken of him was by the editor of that paper which in life he so spitefully "stopped." Did you ever pause just a moment and think that your editor, whoever it may be, will write your obituary some day?—Vermillion, S. D. Republican

Not in His Line.
A very pretty young woman slipped and fell on the stone steps in front of her father's house, spraining her knee. She insisted doctors, but the knee finally grew so bad that she was persuaded to call in medical advice. She wouldn't have this doctor or that one, but finally said she would consent to having called in a certain spruce-looking young man, carrying a homoeopathic medicine case, who passed the house every day.

The family kept a sharp lookout, and when he came along called him in.

The young lady modestly raked her skirts and showed the disabled member. The young man looked at it and said: "That certainly is quite serious."

"Well," said the young lady, "what shall I do?"

"If I were you," he said, "I would send for a physician."

"But can you not attend to it?" asked the girl.

"Not very well," answered the young man, "I am a piano tuner."

How Dolphina Play.
The waters of the Gulf of California flow with other wealth than pearls. Here are fish of every description. The tunny is abundant, and the gummy Spanish mackerel is everywhere. The dolphina seems monarch of all the Gulf. In the vicinity of the great island of Cortez are encountered by the thousands. One school comprising many hundreds was encountered by the steamer on which the writer was a passenger a short distance from the beautiful bay of Balandillo. They were a jolly little distant when they observed us, but gradually they came closer. Suddenly the dolphina in a dainty, evanescent spirit of frolic, sea dog, fin, turned every one of them and gave chase to the steamer. It was perfectly evident they enjoyed the performance as much as the spectators. For a little while the noise was deafening, as if a thousand notes of the streets had been turned loose. In a gasp you please bath house. These having proved their ability to entertain with the steamer, they as suddenly veered and sped southward.—Sunset Magazine.

A Knotty Question.
"I saw a kid watching a ball game through a knothole to-day and I asked him: 'What are you doing?'"
"I was watching a ball game."

"What are you doing?"

The Old Story.
"Since I have become a socialist I do not see why, because I am smaller and weaker than you, I should continually get out of the way to let you have the middle of the road. That's final."

"(To the Ant)—If you don't like just my foot on you. That's final.—Baltimore American.

"(To a friend)—How much do you weigh, man?"
"I weigh about the same as you."

"(To a woman)—How much do you weigh, man?"
"I weigh about the same as you."

ITS MERIT IS PROVED
RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, and which it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

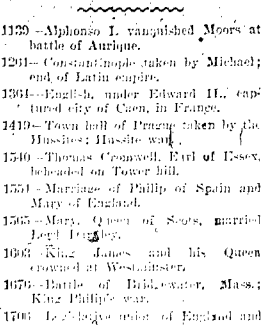

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with female troubles, which caused me severe pain in my back and sides, and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid female tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain, and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy after so many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."

Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 83 Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, or don't know what ails you, let Lydia E. Morgan Sees Prosperity.
On returning from a five-months trip in Europe, J. P. Morgan shocked the New York reporters by treating them affably for the first time in his life and by declaring the snapshotters. He announced that the United States is prosperous and that the present slump in stock prices meant nothing; the law of balance would assert itself. He virtually admitted that the steel trust would reduce itself to a mere dividend on its common stock. Referring to the death of his Wall Street competitor, Russell Sage, he remarked: "I am not surprised to hear of it. We all grow old and must pass away."

Tomatoes and Nitrate.
One hundred pounds to the acre of nitrate of soda applied to the tomato crop when the fruit is beginning to set will largely increase the yield and hasten the time of ripening. Spread the nitrate broadcast or between the rows just before a shower, and then cultivate it into the soil. One quarter of an ounce of food and nitrate in small gardens. Experiments at the New Jersey station have shown that nitrate applied about the middle of June had

FARMS FOR FARMERS

The Disk Cultivator.
Disks as farm tools are growing more popular all the time. They are used at all stages of the farm work, from plowing to final cultivation. A man of long experience says of them:

The main points in favor of the disk are that it will work closer to the ground without covering it, will work corn without injury, that it is too wet to plow up, and, that it leaves the ground always in a fine tilth, can be set to run varying depths, shallow next to the furrow and deeper in the middle of the furrow, which is the proper way when making the last two cultivations. However, the disk will not plow deep in very hard ground or turn the soil in such a way as to kill large weeds, yet if the weeds are taken in hand before they become too large, the disk is satisfactory in this respect.

When corn is cherted it is not preferable to plow over it with the disk. If the disk is run across the rows, it will be very inconvenient, as the gangs are more nearly right and cannot be so easily adapted to the inequality of the ground.

For harrowing under the young corn, cutting the dirt away from it, and for giving the last cultivation, laying by, I consider the disk vastly superior to the shovel, but where land has been severely packed, as by hard rains, nothing, in my opinion, will take the place of a four-shovel cultivator of the twisted pattern, and they should not be less than five inches wide.

Patenting Coop for Poultry.
In the fattening of poultry for market it is always a good plan to confine the birds to quite small quarters in order that the food given them may accomplish the best possible result. The fattening coop should be where it is light and dry and the birds must be kept comfortable at all times. More than all, the coop or coops must be kept clean, else the fowls are likely to become sick and will not in such conditions take on flesh. Where there are a number of fowls to fatten coops are arranged on a wide shelf which forms the bottom, then when it is to be cleaned simply lift it up and set in another place, leaving the shelf free to clean thoroughly. Any box of light material will do for the fattening coop with wire netting to within six inches of the bottom. Across this space a bar may be placed with just enough space between it and the wire netting so that the hen can get her head out to feed. A narrow trough should be kept in front of the coop and be filled with a variety of grain in mixture so that the fowls may help itself when it desires. These coops are very inexpensive, easy

Value of a Butter Cow.
The value of a cow considered as an investment was lately figured out by H. F. Guerler, the Illinois expert. Starting with a poor cow, one that produced 200 pounds of butter a year, he reckons the cost at $50 and the labor at $12.50, while the butter is worth only $25, or less than the market value of the food consumed. The fancy butter cow produces 400 pounds of butter per year, and on the same basis of cost, besides paying for the food and labor. The price of butter in both cases is reckoned at 20 cents. The fancy cow consumed somewhat more food than the other, but the difference was more than offset by the increased amount of skim milk. According to Mr. Guerler, the fancy cow is better worth $400 than the ordinary cow taken as a gift.

Waste Land in Corn Fields.
Most corn growers plant more acres to corn than they harvest. Investigation has shown that there are twenty-five acres and often a much larger area of idle land in every corn field of 100 acres. This idle land results from the failure of seed here and there throughout the field to grow. It is cultivated just the same as if it were properly engaged. The farmer, therefore, wastes labor and loses the use of the land. Where a large percentage of corn is grown the aggregate loss is an important item.

When to Dock Lambs.
The docking of lambs should take place when they are 2 or 3 days old. Of course, it may be done later, but the injury resulting is less at the age mentioned than later. When docking is deferred until the lambs are several weeks old bleeding is usually profuse. In some instances it will cause the death of the lambs unless it is stayed. The flow of blood may be checked by tying a cord tightly around the adhering portion of the tail, and better still by searing the wound with a hot iron.

Method for Testing Eggs.
A simple method for testing eggs, which comes from Germany, is based upon the fact that the air chamber in the flat end of an egg increases with age. If the egg is placed in a solution of common salt it will show an increasing inclination to float with the long axis vertical. By watching this tendency the age of the egg can be determined almost to a day. A fresh egg lies in a horizontal position at the bottom of the vessel; an egg from three to five days old shows an elevation at the flat end, so that its long axis forms an angle of 20 degrees, and an egg a month old floats vertically upon the pointed end.

Farm Notes.
A man makes a mistake when he depends on a scrub bull to head his herd of cows.

If you want to make the strawstack benefit the cow, put some of it under her for bedding.

Federal and Utah state sheep inspection officials have decided to make dipping compulsory in the state in order to eradicate the scab.

A man is quite liable to make a mistake when he attempts to grow three crops of corn in rotation. This is taking a step backward.

There is more clean corn ground this year than usual. The cultivator cannot do its best work when rains are plentiful and abundant.

With the hay loader and the horse hay fork has ought to go into the barn rapidly. When hay is cured it cannot be put away too fast.

It is claimed that although the conditions of food and climate in Japan offers no serious obstacles to sheep raising, there were in 1901 only 2,545 sheep in that country.

SMALLEST DOG IN THE WORLD.
She's a Toy Black and Tan Terrier and Weighs a Pound and a Half.

Probably the smallest adult dog in the world is Pinkie, a toy black and tan terrier owned by Mrs. George H. Stanley, of Newtonville, says the Boston Post.

At the present time Pinkie weighs a pound and a half and it is thought that she has about got her growth, although she is scarcely larger than a kitten.

Pinkie is now the pet of the Stanley household, but much as she is loved for her bright and affectionate ways she has not yet secured quite the same place in the heart of her mistress as that won by Toots, Pinkie's father. Toots recently died at the age of 11, but during his lifetime he was a very distinguished little personage. He was larger than his daughter, weighing three and a half pounds, and had gathered in blue ribbons enough to more than balance him in the scales.

Toots was noted as being the only singing dog in existence. His mistress is a famous vocalist and in some ways she taught Toots to "carry a tune" as well as many people. The little fellow was a specialty favorite and nothing pleased him more than to be given an opportunity to show off his accomplishments. Mrs. Stanley took him everywhere with her and always made new friends. He is probably the only dog ever tolerated within the aristocratic portals of the Waldorf-Astoria, but Toots was so small and so winning that Herr Boldt could not refuse.

Tootsie participated in many charitable affairs. When he was a little more than 2 years old he took the blue ribbon at the Boston bench show and after that it was one procession, after prize winning. But though he was so tiny he proved a good watch dog, twice arousing Mrs. Stanley when burglars were endeavoring to force their way into her apartments.

First Engines Were Funny.
If our modern railway engines had the same power to laugh that they have to scream they might, as you children say, "nearly die" laughing over the way our first railway engines looked. Little, queerly shaped, puny things they were. The "Stourbridge Lion" didn't weigh one-twenty-fifth part of the weight of an engine of today, and it looked as if people might well hesitate about risking their lives behind it. It was first used at Honesdale, in Pennsylvania, and it ran on wooden rails with a thin layer of iron on them. People gathered from near and far from that 5th of August in the year 1820 when the little British lion of iron and steel was to make its first run. The wisecracks shook their heads and prophesied all sorts of probable disasters, and people said that "nothing on earth" could tempt them to ride across the bridge spanning the Lackawanna river on "that thing." But the little lion went safely over the bridge and over the eight or nine miles of track, which was the entire length of this line of railroad.—St. Nicholas.

BABY COVERED WITH SORES

Would Scratch and Tear the Flesh Unless Hands Were Tied—"Would Have Died but for Cuticura."

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My Aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of Soap and a box of the Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any more of any kind since. He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only your most wonderful remedies from your precious child would have died from those terrible sores. Mrs. Elbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1906."

How a Boone, Nebraska Farmer Raised 60 bu. of Wheat per acre

Boone, Nebr., is situated about 40 miles southwest of Norfolk, Nebr.

WEBER BROS.

Wayne, Neb.

"Dear Sirs: In reply to yours of recent date will say: This wheat which I have raised is 'Turkey Red' of good quality. This ground was in early oats a year ago, in order to plow early last fall or summer. THIS IS VERY ESSENTIAL IN RAISING WINTER WHEAT. I plowed the ground three inches deep and harrowed as fast as plowed, also harrowed twice afterward BEFORE SEEDING. You should put in plenty of GOOD CLEAN SEED, in fact all the land will stand, you to be the judge of that. My land was very rich and clean. You cannot grow a big crop of wheat and a big crop of weeds on the same land the same season. Drill in wheat a good depth, from September 1st to 15th. Don't pasture in the winter.

Boone, Nebraska, August 5, 1906.

Yours truly,
CHAS. H. RAYMOND.

We saw statement in Omaha Daily Bee of August 1, '06, that above party had raised 60 bu. winter wheat per acre by weight and measured acres. We wrote, asking particulars as to how to prepare the land before sowing seed. We wish to add that land should be plowed as early as possible in order to SETTLE or PACK THOROUGHLY BEFORE SEEDING. While we do not expect to raise 60 bu. per acre, we can raise 40 bushels per acre in this vicinity.

The Milwaukee Avenue State bank, of Chicago, failed Tuesday with a deficit in its accounts estimated at close to $1,000,000.00.

While the ice trust is absorbing our attention and receiving our abuse these hot days, the coal trust is slowly but surely raising the price of that necessary article so as to be prepared to give us another sweat a little later on.

It is high time the counties yet to hold republican conventions in this congressional district, were getting ready to climb into the Boyd band-wagon. Why walk along with McCarthy when you may just as well ride with the crowd?

Hon. A. A. Welch of Wayne and Hon. J. A. Williams of Pierce are mentioned as successors of Judge Boyd in our neighboring judicial district. The chances are probably in favor of Welch, for no better judge of law may be found in this section than he. Besides, he is a man of honor and of influence with the people.—Randolph Times.

Quite often we read of several cities claiming to be the home of some distinguished hero long since departed this life, but here in Nebraska we have at least three important cities clamoring for recognition and claiming to be the home of William J. Bryan. Of these three, Omaha, Lincoln and Normal, the latter is probably entitled to the honor and should be unmoored in its efforts to publicly welcome its distinguished citizen home.

A well informed man in a recent public address said: "Wayne is the best known town of its size in the state. Why shouldn't it be? For years we have paid the highest wages and obtained the best public school teachers and ministers of the gospel that can be had, two policies, which if long enough carried out will bring any town to the front. Discontented and dissatisfied citizens, if there be any, will do well to ponder these things over before moving elsewhere.

This week closes another eventful and very successful year of the Nebraska Normal college. Eventful because of the unprecedented and unexpected numbers who have in the past year enrolled in this, the leading institution of its kind in the state. Justly proud is Wayne of her schools, and especially of the Nebraska Normal college, and she is trying to show her appreciation of the untiring efforts and lofty ideas of the man who has made the existence of this noble institution possible.

There are two methods by which the country town merchant can get after the catalogue house. One is to urge the local newspaper to refuse the advertisements of foreign concerns and to warn their readers that the life of the local business depends upon the loyal patronage of home industry, and the other is to convince the prospective buyer, by judicious advertising, that he can save money by buying at home. The home concern that can compete with the catalogue house, (and they can all do it) will take pride in placing their prices alongside those of the foreign concern, rather than ask the newspaper to deny the outside house advertising space at better rates than are charged the home merchant. The home man who is an extensive advertiser, who quotes prices and sells at those prices (never the one to complain of the appearance of the outside advertisement. Such ads help rather than hinder his business. It is the other fellow who don't like to have attention called to quality and price, either at home or abroad.

NEW MAIL ORDER EVIL.
Iowa is confronted with a new evil attached to the mail order house. This time it is the banks that are hurt. The bankers of the state have suddenly discovered that the big mail order houses are starting a banking business. They offer to pay the depositor interest on his deposits that are larger than those paid by the local bank and hence the local banker loses money. This new form of mail order is affecting especially the northern part of the state just at this time. The local bankers of Iowa are paying 3 and 4 per cent interest on deposits, mostly 3 per cent. The catalogue house offers to pay 6 per cent interest and further holds out the convenience to the possible patron that by having a deposit with the catalogue bank the patron can pay for his goods with checks on this bank and thus save the added expense of buying a money order. The banks are now taking the matter up with the retail merchants in the hope of doing something to cut off the catalogue bank business.—Omaha Bee.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska:

Section 1. That at the general election for State and Legislative officers to be held on the Tuesday, succeeding the first Monday in November, 1906, the following provision be proposed and submitted to the electors of the State as an amendment to the constitution.

Section 2. There shall be a State Railway Commission, consisting of three members, who shall be first elected at the general election in 1906, whose terms of office, except those chosen at the first election under this provision, shall be six years, and whose compensation shall be fixed by the Legislature.

Of the three commissioners first elected, the one receiving the highest number of votes, shall hold his office for six years, the next highest four years, and the lowest two years. But in the absence of specific legislation, the commission shall exercise the powers and perform the duties enumerated in this provision.

Section 3. That at said election in the year 1906, on the ballot of each elector voting thereat, there shall be printed or written the words: "For Constitution Amendment, with reference to State Railway Commission" And "Against Constitutional Amendment, With Reference to State Railway Commission." And if a majority of all votes cast at said election, shall be for such amendment, the same shall be deemed to be adopted.

I, A. Galusha, secretary of state of the state of Nebraska, do hereby certify that the foregoing proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Nebraska is a true and correct copy of the original enrolled and engrossed bill, as passed by the Twenty-ninth session of the legislature of the State of Nebraska, as appears from said original bill on file in this office, and that said proposed amendment is submitted to the qualified voters of the state of Nebraska for their adoption or rejection at the general election to be held on Tuesday the 6th day of November, A. D. 1906.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the great seal of the state of Nebraska.

Done at Lincoln this 24th day of July, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Six, of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Thirty-second, and of this state the Fortieth.

FISHER-ELLIS.

(Communicated).

Last evening at 8 o'clock occurred the marriage of Elizabeth M. Ellis and O. H. Fisher. Only relatives and immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. The decorations were all in pink and white. Garlands of pink and white draped the room, terminating at the chandeliers with large bows of pink ribbon. The wedding party stood in the bay window. Festoons of pink ribbons, an overhanging bow of many loops and "Russian sconces on either side burning pink candles, made an attractive picture. At exactly 8 o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Queen Mellor, was heard, and the groom descending the stairs, unattended, was met by Rev. Osborne of the Presbyterian church, who officiated at the ceremony. Next came little Dorothy Ellis, in white, bearing the ring in an American beauty rose, then the bride on the arm of her brother, E. P. Ellis, who gave her away. Immediately following congratulations the wedding party were served in the dining room, where many candles, pink shaded, threw a ray of light on the table which held a centerpiece of pink and white, and sweet peas in a cut glass bowl resting on a round mirror. Here also was the bride's cake, trimmed with wide white ribbon. Each guest was served to a piece of this on leaving the dining room, by Miss Mayme Feather. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the refreshments, which were served by Graham, a caterer of Omaha, assisted by the Misses Louise Mitchell, Fay Britton, Janet Perry and Monte Theobald. Punch was dispensed in the parlor from a pink and white decorated table placed in a bower of ferns and pink and white flowers, by Misses Freda Ellis and Mable Clark, both dressed in white. The bride's dress was opera battise, trimmed in baby pink and Valenciennes. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses with shower of daisies. The groom wore conventional black. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jones greeted the guests as they entered, and the receiving lines consisted of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bigelow, Mr. Bert C. Ellis, Mrs. A. H. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Fisher, Miss Alger, Mr. Alger and Mrs. Brenner. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ellis, Omaha; Mr. B. C. Ellis, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bigelow, Grandy Center, Ia.; Mrs. A. F. Brenner, Minneapolis, and Mr. J. D. Alger, David City, Ia.

Both bride and groom have grown up in Wayne and the many beautiful gifts which filled the library showed the popularity and high esteem in which they are both held. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher go at once to housekeeping in the new home. Mr. Fisher has recently built and furnished.

KEENAN-DWAN.

Peter Keenan and Miss Katie Dwan were married at six o'clock a. m. Tuesday, at St. Mary's Catholic church in this city. Rev. Father Haley officiating. Both of the contracting parties are well known here and have scores of friends who wish them happiness and offer congratulations. The couple have gone to housekeeping on the Fred Thompson farm southeast of town.

WORK LIMIT IS VOID.

New York Court Kills Law for Factory Women.

The state law of New York restricting labor by women and children to ten hours a day and sixty hours a week in factory was declared Friday by Justice Olmstead in a decision handed down in the court of special sessions to be "an unwarranted invasion of constitutional rights."

"To labor and employ labor, are inalienable and inalienable rights of our citizens and cannot be taken away in whole or in part unless upon the broad ground of public good, which must be apparent and cannot be predicated upon legislative dictum."

"It may be stated as a well settled legal proposition that the right to liberty and contract for labor is both a liberty and a property right. When, therefore, the legislature enacts a statute such as that under consideration it must be admitted that it has infringed in the enactment the rights which are very clearly accorded by the constitution to the individual citizen."

"The present constitution of the state of New York was adopted in 1846 and became effective Jan. 1, 1848. All of the rights which adult women possessed at that time were conferred by that document. One of these rights is certainly the right to contract for her labor and to work where and when she pleased without reference to the position of the hands upon the dial of the clock."

REVOLT MARCHES ON.

Reverses at Sveaborg and Cronstadt Not Fatal.

Although the mutinies at Sveaborg have been ended and the one at Cronstadt has been practically put down, the outlook is still black. The revolutionists, whose hands were suddenly forced by the premature rising at Sveaborg, apparently are undaunted at these initial reverses and intend to persist in their program of calling a general strike of the Baltic fleet.

One of the leaders of the revolutionists with whom the Associated Press spoke Thursday night boasted that the word had gone forth and that the fire of the revolt would spread to the corners of the empire.

His closing words to the correspondent were: "Now watch Peking, Nijga and Liban." The news of the mutiny on board the cruiser Pamayut Azova off the Estonian coast is fraught with enormous possibilities. The crew of this vessel rose and killed the commander and four officers.

Ambassador Meyer has received a despatch from the American consul at Revel saying that the Pamayut Azova entered that port with the red flag at her masthead. Should this cruiser, under the flag of the mutineers, sail to the northward and appear in the presence of the main squadron in the Gulf of Finland the loyalty of the crews of these vessels would perhaps be put to a stronger test than they could stand. Although the admiralty asserts that the mutiny at Sveaborg did not waver in its allegiance, there is something mysterious about the reports of the actions of the ships which warrants the suspicion that all is not right aboard. Only two ships fired on the mutineers, the others remaining on the horizon as if the admiral were not sure that they could be depended upon.

SEVERE CHINESE OUTBREAK.

The Revolt is Assuming Alarming Proportions.

Advices were received by the Emperor of Japan in Victoria, B. C., Thursday that the rising in Kingki and Cheking provinces is becoming a grave movement, and many believe the rising will assume similar proportions to the Taping rebellion. Hsuehchengshen Cheking, a large walled city, was captured by the rebels, looted and a garrison of 5,000 left to prepare the city to withstand a siege by imperial troops. Several corps of imperial troops have been dispatched. Magistrate Shem, of Hsuehcheng, was put to death, having been tortured in revenge for having summarily beheaded a rebel leader. It was stated which caused the rebels to gather at Hsuehcheng to attack the city. The Roman Catholic and Protestant churches were destroyed and, although the native pastor escaped, six converts were murdered.

Walter McCulla, who was shot in the back at an early hour Sunday morning, while in the home of Barney Pearson at Hastings, died at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home on West Seventh. His wife and four children were with him when he expired.

Barney Pearson was arrested Sunday on a warrant sworn out by County Attorney Olmstead charging him with maliciously shooting with intent to kill the late Walter McCulla. It is stated that Mrs. Barney Pearson thought her husband, on the way to Wyoming and that McCulla and J. Croford were in the Pearson home Saturday morning when a load of shot was fired through the living room window and the entire charge lodged in the back of McCulla. It is alleged that Mrs. Pearson, at 11:45 Sunday afternoon, Rev. A. Lemkau and W. A. Baker went to the county jail to see Pearson. In speaking of the interview that took place in the jail, Mr. Lemkau said:

"I spoke to Pearson, saying: 'I expected to see you again last night. There was no response. I then asked him, 'Did you empty both barrels?' to which he replied that he had shot only one. Then Pearson asked me if I thought he had committed a sin and I told him it wasn't right, but God would forgive him. Pearson showed much emotion; he broke down and wept."

It was a double wedding in more ways than one. The license was issued in Furnas county, but the couple went across the line in Red Willow county to get married. The ceremony was performed. Afterward the county judge informed Degarmo that the marriage was not valid and a second ceremony was solemnized in Furnas county. In a week after the marriage ceremony Degarmo and his wife were captured in a day at the town of Wilsonville. He was detained upon a charge of wife desertion, but evidence has been obtained that he has a wife in Carthage, Ill., and Thursday in county court, in the presence of the girl that he is married to, he confessed that he had a previous wife and had not been divorced. WEIRICH DROWNED IN LAKE.

Omaha Man Sailed with Cramps While Baiting in Manawa.

T. M. Weirich, 39, of North Twenty-second Street, Omaha, was drowned in Lake Manawa Wednesday night. While swimming alone he evidently was stricken with cramps. His body was recovered at 6:45 o'clock Thursday morning 600 yards north of the Karsaul.

Weirich was a drug clerk and worked at the Sherman & McConnell and Peyton pharmacies during his two years' residence in Omaha. Weirich had been in the lake for about 7 o'clock Sunday afternoon and started out with a bathing suit. In an hour he returned and placed his coat, vest and hat in the boat. At 8:30 an empty boat was sighted by parties at the boat club house on the north side of the lake. The boat was brought in and from letters found in the boat it was surmised that Weirich was missing. A search was at once made and an uncle at Omaha notified. The body was dragged from the bottom some distance from the Karsaul.

The wrong way to select harness is the way it is usually done. Price is generally the first consideration. If that is very low the goods seem attractive, regardless of quality. Judge our goods the other way about. Examine into the quality of this harness first. Then it will be seen that it is worth almost any price. But our prices are not high. Value considered they are remarkably low.

Nebraska People Profit by the Great Earthquake and Fire at San Francisco.

Two of the largest San Francisco piano companies were forced by the great catastrophe to forfeit heavy contracts with eastern factories. The Schmolter & Mueller Piano Company, of Omaha, were successful in securing one hundred and twenty of these instruments at a great sacrifice by acting promptly and paying spot cash. They now propose to give the benefit to their customers by disposing of them quickly at a slight advance over cost, as follows:

Handsome new upright pianos of New York and Boston manufacture in Colonial cases of dark Mahogany or French Earl Walnut finish (several your favorite) and none made to sell for less than $300, will be closed out at the remarkable cut price of $175. Do not delay. Call or write at once for catalogues and complete information. Over six hundred pianos in stock. Address The Schmolter & Mueller Piano Co. Established 1859. 1311-13 Farnam St., Omaha.
