Remember That Next Tuesday Nov. 6 Is Election. Don't Fail To Vote

EDITORIAL

Each republican should vote November 6.

Republican candidates are pledged to reduce freight rates.

Republican candidates are pledged to reduce freight rates.

Farmers cannot afford to remain away from the polls November 6.

A vote for Sheldon, November 6, will be a vote to reduce freight rates.

A vote for a straight republican ticket is a vote to support President Roosevelt.

We can stand up and say, Grand Old Party—it stands good and it is good: Republicanism!

There seems to be a great deal more interest taken in the land business than in politics this fall.

Reduction of freight rates will increase the value of crops and the land on which the crops are raised.

A vote for H. E. Siman for the legislature, November 6, will be a vote for reduced freight rates.

Competition in the coal business doesn't affect the market here, neither does it supply the demand for coal.

A vote for H. E. Siman for the legislature, November 6, will be a vote for Norris Brown for United States senator.

A reduction of six cents a bushel in freight rates on corn would increase the value of the corn crop more than $2 an acre.

It is more profitable to reduce freight rates by voting the republican ticket than to spend election day in the corn fields.

Every voter, especially republican voters, should perform his duty at the polls next Tuesday and exercise the right of franchise.

The old saying is true nevertheless, and it applies at the present time as well as of old: that expediency and democracy go hand in hand. This true!

Republicans get on your voting clothes on next Tuesday and don't miss an opportunity to press every republican voter possible into service and see that every republican votes.

A man who has an opinion of his own is worth many times that of a man who has no opinion at all and can be bought for a trifling. Remember this next Tuesday.

Vote her straight—just as you have done in the past, and don't take to the woods when some of these so-called Bryanism, democracy or any other issue confronts you with their free trade heresy.

There was a time when people believed what the democratic politicians said, but time has changed and it has come to pass that most of them have to dig up some old affidavits to prove what they intend saying, and these affidavits come from their own party!

No democratic booster of candidate Shallenberger has had the temerity to deny that while Shallenberger was in congress, he rode to and from Washington on free transportation. Neither have these same people denied that Shallenberger while accepting and using this transportation, failed to draw from the treasury of the United States the full amount of his mileage allowance. These reformers are about as great hypocrites as the world produces.

Speaking of records in the conduct of offices in Wayne county, we do not call to mind at this time any defaulting republican county clerks where the county was put to an enormous expense in examination of the books and recovery of the amounts defolied. Wayne county republican officials have been free from taint of pollution, can our contemporary truthfully say as much for those of its political faith? Professors of holiness without actual works do not count in favor of individuals and should not in parties.

The bitter flings of a democratic newspaper will surely not be believed by the voters of Wayne county when it is seen a man of as well known worth as A. E. Davis candidate for county attorney. Mr. Davis has been practicing his profession here for several years and has always been looked on as a young man of rare ability and strict integrity, and we do not believe the republican voters of the county can be deluded into betraying such an one in behalf of one who has no sympathy with them or their party in any respect and possesses no qualifications above his republican opponent.

J. A. Williams of Pierce, one of the republican nominees for railroad commissioner is being assailed from democratic sources in a most vituperative manner, and if the evidence of his own neighbors, republicans and democrats alike, is to be believed, very unjustly. These neighbors say that he is a true, straight forward upright man, one eminently fitted from an educational point of view for the place he seeks and one who has performed the duties of county judge in Pierce county, the only office he has ever held, in a very satisfactory and able manner. These neighbors do not hesitate to brand the stories being put afloat for campaign purposes as absolutely false.

H. E. Siman stands for a freight rate bill in Nebraska that will absolutely do away with unjust discriminations between towns in the state or between Nebraska points and those of other states. Does any man know anything about how the democratic candidate for representative stands on this matter? George L. Sheldon will without a doubt elected governor of Nebraska and he stands for a law that equalizes freight rates between communities, while his opponent says present laws are sufficient in the face of decisions of the supreme court of the state to the contrary. If you believe Sheldon is right, and he is, then you will certainly be consistent and vote for members of the legislature who will give us a law adequate for the purpose.

Reformer Bryan will be in Wayne tomorrow, coming on a special train. Conventions like special railroad trains are a pretty expensive proposition and the ordinary man is inclined to wonder who pays the bills. The campaign treasury of the democratic party of Nebraska must have some pretty heavy streams from which to draw its funds, because it will be difficult to make the average man who is aware of the accumulations of William J. Bryan during the past ten years believe that he does his strenuous stunts for the good of the cause—in fact it is a matter easily proven that his speeches during prior campaigns were made at a stipulated price per utterance and there is no reason to believe that this year is any exception to those that have gone before.

The fight the railroads are making on George L. Sheldon, their eagerness in furnishing information on the press record of republican candidates, and the care they exercise in covering up anything pertaining to democrats on this same matter, and the special trains placed at the service of William J. Bryan to tout the state in the interest of democracy, ought to be sufficient to convince every intelligent person as to which party the railroads of the state are aligned with in the present fight. Shallenberger the democratic candidate for governor was forced on the party as its candidate for governor in preference to George W. Berge, because the former was known to ring right for the railroads wherever their interests were at stake and Berge was known to be a man whom they could not influence or use whenever their wishes ran counter to what he believed to be right.

The writer, within the past week, heard George W. Berge, democratic candidate for governor two years ago, declare in a private conversation that the people of Nebraska did exactly right when they fired the fusion gang from the state house, because he said they were as big a lot of hypocrites and political shysters as ever attempted to rule a state. He declared that while they went up and down the state denouncing the railroads and corporations generally, they were in office subservient tools of these same railroads and corporations. He further declared that the pockets of the whole gang were bulging with passes and free transportation, and the interests of the people were betrayed in a shameful manner. It is the same party that comes to you again this fall with specious promises for the future and a record of failure in the past and asks your support to again place them in position to again misgovern the affairs of the state.

The Democrat charges H. E. Siman, County Attorney, with making a toehold of the case of State vs. Win. Livingston. This may be true but it doesn't "listen like it," because if we remember rightly the case was so well conducted to result in a conviction of the defendant and the supreme court set aside the judgment because the evidence did not justify the verdict of the jury. Surely that is not speaking ill of Siman's ability. When it refers to the Soave vs. Wayne County case it again puts its foot in its mouth, because A. A. Welch was County Attorney at the time this trouble began and prepared the lease for the suit and Siman came into office before the suit came to trial and not being as familiar with the case as Welch the latter assisted and without any charge to the county in the lower court and as would be well to ask Soave himself how he views the matter. Soave feels as though he was wronged in many times, it is expressly himself many times. It is pretty difficult for our friends, the enemy, to be fair in political fights and the present is no exception to the rule.

There is hard work being done throughout the country by the democrats in their efforts to defeat Ed. Owen for commissioner, not because he is incompetent or unfit for the place, not because he has not properly looked after and guarded the interests of the tax payers of the county, but because they realize that the election of a democrat to the place puts another cog in their political wheel and adds additional strength to their organization in the county. It matters not to democracy that the official they are seeking to displace is a man tried, true and faithful, their only thought is for the upbuilding of the democratic party in the county and the creation of discord within the ranks of the republican party. If they can succeed in electing a county commissioner and county attorney they are on a fair way to drive the wedge clear home and split the republican party in the county and by so doing assure the filling of the offices in the county by democrats and put their organization in much better shape for successful work in future campaigns. Will you poll democratic chestnuts out of the fire?

Just now the democratic newspapers of the Third congressional district are weeping and wailing over the way the republicans used congressman McCarthy in not re-nominating him for congress. It is the same old democratic dodge. While Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and McKinley were alive there was nothing too mean or abusive for the democratic press to say of these men but as soon as they had passed to the great beyond they at once became saints at whose shrine these ranting hypocrites declared they had always worshipped. So it is in McCarthy's case. When he was a candidate for election as congressman those howling coyotes were at his heels, snapping and howling out their denunciations of the man and seeking by every means they could control to drag him down. Now when the republicans put up another man for the place occupied by McCarthy he at once becomes a martyred saint and his friends are called on to resent the abuse his party has heaped on him. The average democratic newspaper and spell binder is about the most blatant hypocrite the world can produce.

It would seem as though every laboring man and mechanic would, in the light of the history of the past, be falling over themselves in their eagerness to support Guy T. Graves for congress. They ought to be able to remember without any great effort the wonderfully prosperous times they enjoyed the last time a democratic congress controlled the country. It ought to require no great effort to call to mind the wonderful effects of the passage of the Wilson tariff bill and how plenty jobs were right on the heels of the passage of that beneficent act. Common laborers were jobs and mechanics if they had work at all worked at prices ranging from 75 cents to $1.50 per day. Of course the necessities of life sold for considerable less money than today but even the reduced cost of those did not nearly offset the inability to purchase at any price. Yes, every working man and producer ought to be anxious to again usher in the good old democratic times. A vote for Guy T. Graves, the man who is so small calibred as to acknowledge that a railroad pass to him would be a bribe, will be a vote towards repudiating republicanism and in favor of the return of the good old days of Grover.

It is simply a matter when you come to vote next Tuesday whether you believe in and wish a continuance of the policies of Theodore Roosevelt or whether you desire to discredit and discontinue those policies. If the former is your desire the only way to express that desire is to cast your vote for J. F. Boyd for Congress, O. A. Randall for State Senator and H. E. Siman for representative, because Boyd, if elected, will in every way uphold the hands of the President, but if you elect Graves his opponent no opportunity will be allowed to pass where discredit can be put upon those policies and where campaign blunder can be manufactured that will aid in turning the country over to democracy in 1908. It is absolutely necessary to vote for Randall and Siman, because at the approaching session of the Nebraska legislature a United States senator is to be elected and a vote for these two men means a vote for men who will in turn if elected vote for a republican for the United States senate, where as if democrats are elected in this district to the office of senator or representative their votes will be cast for a democrat. Republicans you have a duty to perform that cannot be shirked because of the personality of any candidate. It is politics and not men that are at stake and rests with you to be wise unto your day and generation.

A THOUGHTFUL CAMPAIGN.

Paraphrasing a famous Kansas, a gentleman much interested in politics, ask: "What's the matter with Nebraska?" Lucidly explaining the cause for the inquiry he says: "You can't awaken the voters to the perils that beset the country. They won't listen. They appear absolutely indifferent." They farmers are busy and the farmers make up a large part of the population of Nebraska. They had intended going to their corn fields last Monday to gather the bumper crop but the storm kept them out. With fair weather most of them will reach the fields a week later on, election day will come after they have been interested for a whole week in throwing fifty cent corn into the wagon and hauling it to the crib to await convenience for marketing. Some of them may forget election day. Politicians fear many of them will. They have shown little interest in some matters that cause the heart of the politician to bleed. They haven't attended the rallies and haven't carried flaming torches. The "poorless leader" has not been greeted with the thousands who flocked to hear him in 1896. Some have listened and some have cheered, but the cheering has been a hollow mockery of the outbursts that greeted him ten years ago. On the other hand it is true that the republican workers have found smaller audiences than they care to talk about; have met indifference where their best campaign efforts have been displayed and have found a lack of rousing enthusiasm in the smaller towns that made some of them think they were in Lincoln.

The situation is simple. The people are not relying on campaign workers to do their thinking. They are not worried by pressing financial ills and are not forced to sell their holdings to the coupon clipper from New England. They are not color blind, and they refuse to be hypnotized into believing that everything ahead of them is a danger signal. They see no reason for a change of party administration. All of the voters of the state will not attend the polls on election day. Many of them will, however, and the sentiments they express by their vote will represent the sentiments of a majority of the voters of the state. There is nothing to worry about. The people will rule in Nebraska, and they are insisting on laws that will make that rule more positive and certain. They are not loud in their demands but the insistence is of that unanimous sort that moves things.—State Journal.

In view of the fact that a considerable amount of cigarette smoking is being done by a number of the boys in town the following from a well known educational journal is of interest. An effort will be made by the proper authorities to prevent the distribution of cigarettes or cigarette papers in town.

AN OPEN LETTER

Ripon Produce Co., Ripon, Wis., Oct. 24, 1906
Farmers Cream Association, Wayne, Neb.

Gents:—I have seen an editorial in Chicago Produce about your Association. Would you mind telling me how you operate and where your market is, etc. We are an independent stock company now, but we are now trying to line out a system to make our company a co-operative stock company, to take in farmers and dairymen as stockholders, and we would be glad to learn how it is done so we can make it a success from the start. We have an unlimited sale for our "pasteurized" butter. We are pioneers in the dairy business in our state and have today the largest factory in the state, and we now can see where we can benefit the producer or farmer far more than we ever did before by having him be a part of the company. I have noticed where a good many private creameries have taken advantage of the farmers by throwing their business together which we think very unjust and I can see where we can do just as much good to ourselves as to the producer by co-operation. If you are a co-operative farmers factory company, would like to learn something of your management, and in return if you want to learn anything from us about pasteurization or such like, we will be very glad to assist you. Yours very truly, RIPON PRODUCE CO. Per J. E. Amend, Pres.

GAS WRECKS BLOCK

ENTIRE BLOCK IN RUINS AT COFFEEVILLE, KAN.

Gas is Supposed to Have Escaped from Leak Somewhere in the Block

Owners Carried No Insurance Against Gas Explosions.

Two persons were killed, one missing, four were seriously injured and twenty more were more or less injured in a terrific explosion of natural gas which completely demolished five two-story business blocks at Coffeyville, Kan., at noon Sunday.

The dead are Jesse Ross, a negro; Mrs. J. E. McDaniel.

The missing are a young son of C. J. Clossen, a grocer.

The seriously injured are C. J. Clossen, a grocer; Cotton Ray, a cabman; Mrs. Pearl Keeler, and a 2-year-old son of Mrs. Keeler.

It is reported that the gas escaped from a leaking main somewhere in the block and that after a sufficient quantity had accumulated it became ignited, causing the explosion. The buildings were in a row in East Eighth street and were occupied by a real estate office, three stores and a restaurant. The second floors of all the buildings were occupied by rooming houses.

Neither Ross nor Mrs. McDaniel was killed outright by the explosion, but both were frightfully injured and died shortly afterward at a hospital. Brick and glass struck the negro cabman, and Mrs. McDaniel was crushed by falling debris.

The entire block of five buildings was leveled to the ground, and only broken bricks, scattered lumber and twisted iron remain. The buildings and shacks in them are a total loss, and none of them was insured against gas explosion.

A fire broke out immediately after the explosion, but the flames were quickly extinguished and little damage was done from that source. Several persons were buried in the debris, but Mrs. McDaniel was the only one fatally hurt. The others who were rescued were only slightly injured. One little girl, a daughter of S. D. Frazier, of the Kansas Land company was under the timber and brick for twenty minutes, but was taken out unharmed.

ALASKA WANTS HOME RULE

People Make Campaign for a Legislative Body.

Delegate Thomas Cole, of Fairbanks, Alaska, is on his way to Washington. "The people of Alaska," he said, "are more interested in securing a territorial form of government than in anything else that is before them at present. We don't mean to go into all the ramifications of local self-government, like townships, counties and cities. We simply want what is a natural want of American citizens—to be empowered to legislate for ourselves."

"We are anxious to secure as much government assistance as we can for road construction in Alaska. We want a road from some point on the coast, Valdez, or some other, through the Yukon country. We would like to have the road lay all the interior. If the government will attend to the construction of the main trunk roads Alaskans themselves will attend to the construction of the branches."

"The present provision for schools away from the incorporated limits of towns is meager and unsatisfactory and people in many places have to educate their own children after paying their revenue to the government. We look for more government assistance along this educational line."

"Alaska is sadly neglected in the matter of life saving stations along the dangerous coast. Navigators should be given a great deal more protection."

JAPAN FEELS SORRY

President and Cabinet Move to Avert Trouble

Friday's cabinet meeting lasted two and one-half hours and was attended by all the members except Secretary Shaw and Postmaster General Clegg. The cabinet discussed important matters discussed at the situation growing out of the anti-American sentiment in Japan and the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools of San Francisco. It was stated by a member of the cabinet after the meeting at the general opinion of the members that the Japanese situation was exceedingly grave and would require the most delicate treatment to avoid an open rupture.

It developed that the proceedings initiated in San Francisco to compel the authorities to receive Japanese pupils into the public schools were directed by the department of justice. Japanese restaurant keepers have suffered indignities in San Francisco, as well as Japanese school children, according to reports received by the Japanese ambassador Viscount Aoki from Japanese consular officers in that city.

At least seven or eight reports have been made concerning a boycott inaugurated against Japanese restaurants and in several instances stones have been thrown and windows broken, according to the statements of Japanese officials.

These cases have been brought to the attention of Secretary Root by Viscount Aoki, who says it is with great reluctance he brings to the attention of the central government the demonstrations against Japanese, which are purely local in their nature.

DUAL MURDER IN DAKOTA

Mystery Surrounds a Tragedy Near Bristol

The dead bodies of two farm hands were discovered in the hayloft of a barn a mile northwest of Bristol, S. D., Friday by a Bristol teamster who went there for a load of hay. The teamster brought the bodies to town and an inquest is in progress.

That both men were murdered there is no doubt. Bullet holes in their foreheads and burned flesh indicates they were slain while asleep. Both bodies were badly decomposed and it is almost impossible to establish identification.

In the clothes of one of the victims was found two beer checks marked "Millington hotel bar, St. Joseph, Mo. $1.00" and "The Danforth, St. Joseph, Mo. $1.00."

Both men arrived here two weeks ago to join a threshing crew.

Four persons are still unaccounted for.

At the hospitals two of the injured are in a serious condition, but it is believed all the others will recover.

FARMERS GAIN POINT

Opposition to Their Elevators is Dying Out

The hearing on grain trade conditions before Interstate Commerce Commissioners Clark and Lane at Omaha was resumed Thursday. E. F. Peck, an Omaha grain dealer, told of the methods of arranging prices a year or two ago, during the life of the Nebraska Grain Dealers' association, but said no agreement of that kind now exists. He said he regarded "shovel houses" as unfair competition, and used all means to drive them out of business.

C. G. Crittenden, of the Central Grain company, of Lincoln, Neb., said his company operated elevators on the Burlington line. They received from that road an allowance of 1 1/2 cents a hundred pounds to cover elevator charges, until last summer, when it was discontinued. He knew of no "shovel houses" in his territory.

E. M. Terry, a general manager of Little Sioux City, who operates a "shovel house," said he was formerly discriminated against by the Northwestern railway. For the last two years he had no reason for complaint. The Missouri Valley mills, at Missouri Valley, Ia., he said, refused to buy his grain, giving as a reason that the Updike Grain company, of Omaha, would bid up the price so that they could not buy from farmers. Millers at Marshalltown, Ia., also refused to buy his grain, he said, because he had no elevator and was not a member of the Iowa Grain Dealers' association.

Mr. Terry said he received a letter from President Wells, of the Iowa Grain Dealers' association, some time ago from which he learned that the association fixes prices paid for grain and provides for pooling by its members.

RAILROAD MUST PAY TEN DOLLARS PER HOUR FOR DELAY

"Among other things decided in court at Burwell was one of more than general interest to the stock shippers of this state. The action was brought under the provisions known as "The Stock Speed Bill," introduced by Senator E. D. Gould, of Greeley county, and passed at the last session of the legislature.

At the time of departure of cars from their place of shipment and the arrival of same to their destination there was but little dispute between the parties and the questions involved were the constitutionality of the law. On this point the court held that the $10 per hour was not a penalty, but was liquidated damages that the legislature had a right to determine and that the law of the state is a part of every contract; that the liquidated damages, as fixed by the legislature, was reasonable. There were many other points raised, but the case seemed to turn on the questions stated.

CONVICTS WILL HUSK CORN

Applications Made to Governor of Nebraska for Paroled Men.

Even the convicts from the penitentiary are being taken out to labor in the new county farm. The men who were there so many applications in the governor's office for paroled prisoners and never before was the need for corn huskers so pressing and so hard to fill.

Rollin Rivers, colored, left the penitentiary on parole to husk corn for his employer, Claus Saxe, of Geneva, who wrote a personal letter to Gov. Mickey, begging that his old farm be returned to him.

The state labor bureau is unable to supply the demand for workers in the corn fields. Not a name is now on file in the department and the constant applications of the farmers for help have to be refused. This scarcity has undoubtedly caused the unusual demand for paroled prisoners.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN JAIL

Thomas Coffey Apparently Committed Suicide at Millard

Thursday night a man named Thomas Coffey, recently employed by Contractor Fitzgerald, of the railroad grade, came to the town jail and asked permission to sleep in the jail cell. This was granted and the door was left open so he could leave when he was ready. About 10:30 o'clock he came to the marshal and asked that the door be locked, as "the air at night is not so good, they'll get me." His request was granted.

Friday morning, when the marshal unlocked the door, the body of Coffey was found hanging from the top of one of the cells, to which it was attached by his suspenders. One top of the cell is so low that it is not possible to touch the floor and he had bent his knees to produce strangulation.

Little is known of the man around Millard. Mr. Fitzgerald says he has known him casually for twelve or fifteen years and that he was a well educated man, but had been ruined by drink and drugs. He was about 40 years old.

to select harness is the way it is usually done. Price is generally the first consideration. If that is very low the goods seem attractive, regardless of quality. Judge our goods the other way about. Examine into the quality of this harness first. Then it will be seen that it is worth almost any price. But our prices are not high. Value considered they are remarkably low.

Tuesday himself and wife and deceased's brother, John Ahern, of Carroll departed on the afternoon train for Kaukaoo. Morris P. Ahern was formerly a citizen and business man of Wayne, Neb., a host of friends here who learn with sad hearts of his death.

Sam H. Alexander, of Madison, Wisconsin, secretary for the King Solomon Tunnel and Developing Company arrived in Wayne this morning from Denver. Mr. Alexander spent the past summer at the mines where his untiring effort and genial disposition added greatly to the pleasure of those who were fortunate enough to have visited the King Solomon properties. Sam will be in town several days visiting his many friends here.

The first number of the lecture course was given Tuesday evening the subject being "The Key to the 20th Century," by Dr. Thos. C. Green. The opera house was filled and the speaker took hold of the audience with the first sentence and held them, as if by magic, for over two hours. So skillfully and magnetically did Dr. Green control his listeners that one could have heard a pin fall. If you did not hear the first lecture you missed a rare treat.

Mrs. B. P. Peterson died at Colorado Springs, Sunday October 28. The cause of the death of Mrs. Peterson was consumption. Something over a year ago Mrs. Peterson accompanied by her husband and children left their farm 11 miles west of Wayne hoping the oh huge of climate would be beneficial to the lady's health and for several months she seemed to be gaining very satisfactorily, but it seems as though the benefits were less real than believed by hoping friends. She seemed to mope her husband and several children who have the deepest sympathy of friends and neighbors in their bereavement.

An excursion party of Carroll ladies came down on the afternoon train Wednesday at the invitation of Mrs. Elmer Lundberg to spend the day with her. The visitors brought their "trading stock" and a great deal of merriment was provided through the exchange made. Various games appropriate to fallow on and several exhibitions of magic also afforded entertainment. The ladies returned home on the evening train with the remembrance of a delightful afternoon. These in the party being Mesdames, Ohas. Beebe, Daniel Davis, Joe Jones, Liddle, John Malick, Richard Oleson, Geo. Philcox, W. E. Bellows, D. Merrill, all of Carroll, and Mrs. Frank Owea and Mrs. Bert Brown, now of Wayne but who formerly lived at Carroll. Mrs. E. B. Philcox assisted in entertaining.

So many things are happening of real interest to every citizen, that a daily newspaper is now a necessity. The biggest bargain that has come to our notice is The Daily State Journal, without Sunday, from now until January 1, 1907, for only 60 cents. This is such a small price that it can only be made to introduce the paper into new homes. The publishers claim that this is not a scheme to get you on their books and then keep on sending, but that the paper will be stopped on January 1, 1907. A MAMMOTH TUNNEL PROJECT

King Solomon Company is Conducting an Enterprise That Promises Splendid Results.

A mammoth tunnel project is being engaged by the King Solomon Tunnel and Developing company at Frisco, in Summit county. Sam H. Alexander, of Madison, Wisconsin, secretary of the company, while in Denver this week, discussed the enterprise and cited some very interesting facts concerning it. The company has a holding of fifty-two claims in the Consolidated Ten-mile district, all of which are located on the Ten-mile range in the heart of the sulphide gold belt. The tunnel opens at the foot of the range and will be driven for a distance of two miles, cutting not less than fifty distinct veins, many of which have been opened and prospected to some extent on the surface, and will further serve as a means of prospecting and developing and immense scope of the mineralized territory.

The Tunnel is located in the heart of one of Colorado's most noted mineral areas, Robinson, Kokomo, Leadville, Alma and Brokenridge surrounding the site. It will cut through the center of what is believed to be the mother lode and primary source of the gold found in the famous Brokenridge placers on one side and those of McNulty's gulch on the other, of the Ten-mile range, forming a division of these two other placer sections.

The Tunnel is now in a distance of 1,100 feet, and has penetrated several promising ore bodies, tests of which prove the existence of good virtues. There are streaks have been superficially prospected, but not extensively, as it is the intention of the company to bend every effort towards the completion of the tunnel and the demonstrating the character and extent of the mineral before attempting to mine and ship ore. The Tunnel, if driven the distance contemplated, will gain a depth of from three or four thousand feet, and through it a great amount of work can be done. The property is well equipped for the work, having a Rand air compressor and complete set of drills, and by early spring will install additional machinery. The company has just recently obtained a water and mill right and will have sufficient power for all needs.

The tunnel opens on a huge quartz dyke, heavily mineralized and traced for a great distance on the surface. Up to the present time the tunnel has cut four leads of varying value, test treatments showing values of from $10 to $150. The depth gained at present is 600 feet.

Mining engineers have made thorough examination of this territory, and all agree that it will develop extensive ore bodies when sufficient depth is gained. Brokenridge, Robinson and Kokomo are too well known as producers to require comment in this instance, and the plan upon which the King Solomon project is being conducted will develop the section upon a larger scale and in a more thorough manner than has heretofore been attempted. The success of the enterprise is hardly to be doubted. The company is financially capable of carrying the plans to completion and the management is exerting every effort to maintain a systematic course, realizing the opportunity for a most successful mining venture. The property is adjacent to the South Park railroad and can also reach with comparative ease, the Blue river branch of the D. & B. G., a condition offering exceptional shipping advantages.—Daily Mining Record.

OUR LANGUAGE UNIFORM.

While Great Britain, for instance, has Many Different Languages.

It has been observed that the language spoken in the United States is remarkably uniform. True, there are some dialects, but Great Britain, less in area than any one of half a dozen of our states, contains such very different languages as English, Welsh and the Gaelic of the Scottish highlands, to say nothing of the provincial dialects of Cornwall and Yorkshire and the unique speech of the London cockney, while in this country, with its vast expanse of territory, its settlement by Spanish, French, Dutch and Swedish colonists and its millions of immigrants drawn from nearly every country, large and small, all over the world, there is far greater uniformity of speech than in any other land of equal area and population.

The causes can be readily seen. The public schools have made us a nation of readers, and the press has supplied books and papers without limit. Free associations have done their part toward giving a uniform and fairly good tone to the newspaper language of the day. The telegraph, the telephone and cheap postage have brought distant parts of the country into quick and easy communication, and so have aided in teaching a common language. The railroad has penetrated every corner of the land and made us a nation of travelers. Countless human shuttles thus are thrown daily across the land in every direction, carrying with them the threads of thought and speech and doing their part to make one pattern of the whole. No doubt our maps, which still present so many different and odd names, will in time lose the strangeness and the "foreign air" that are as noticeable now.—H. M. Kingery in St. Nicholas.

The Word "Expire."

"Expire" in its literal sense is breathing out. Inspiration and expiration together constitute respiration. Izank Walton observed that "if the inspiring or expiring organ of any animal be stopped it suddenly dies." The Romans spoke of "breathing out" the breath of life instead of "dying," by way of euphemism, just as they said "Vixit" (he has lived) instead of "he is dead." In all languages the reluctance frankly to say "dead" or "die" appears; hence such words and phrases as "pass away," "decease," "demise," "departed," "defunct," "the late," "no more," "if anything should happen to me."

Perpetuating the Species.

There is a stringent law in Japan that when one champion laurel is cut down another must be planted in its place. The tree is hardy and long lived, attaining to an enormous size. It is covered with a small leaf of a vivid green color. The seed, or berries, grow in clusters, resembling the black currant in size and appearance. And the wood is employed for every purpose, from cabinetmaking to shipbuilding.

A note given by a minor is void. Notes bear interest only when so stated.

Altering a note in any manner by the holder makes it void.

It is not legally necessary to say on a note "for value received."

If a note is lost or stolen it does not release the maker. He must pay it.

If the time of payment of a note is not inserted it is held to be payable on demand.

Notes falling due Sunday or on a legal holiday must be paid on the day previous.

A note obtained by fraud or from a person in a state of intoxication cannot be collected.

An indorser has a right of action against all whose names were previously on a note indorsed by him.

An indorser of a note is exempt from liability if not served with notice of its dishonor within twenty-four hours of its nonpayment.

A Kurdish Tent.

The tents of the Kurds, in which they seek the pasturage of the mountains in summer, vary much in size, though in appearance and shape they conform throughout to one plan. The covering of the tents consists of long, narrow strips of black goat's hair material sewed together lengthways. Along the center of the tent this roofing is supported on three to five poles, according to the size, and stretched out by ropes which, made fast to the edge of the roofing, are pegged securely to the ground. The poles within the tent being of some height, usually eight to ten feet, the edge of the tenting does not nearly reach the ground, but walls are formed of matting of reeds, held together by black goat's hair thread, which is often so arranged as to form patterns on the yellow mats. —Blackwood's Magazine.

Funerary Customs in Greece.

Many funeral customs in Greece are unique. The body of an unmarried girl is always dressed as a bride, the common saying being, "She is married to death." The body of a boy is always dressed as a sailor. Women never accompany funerals to church or to the graves. Processions are always on foot, the priest leading, accompanied by acolytes bearing the cross and lanterns. The body of the deceased is invariably exposed to view, and at the close of the service in the church, which concludes with the words, "Take the last kiss," both friends and strangers press about the body and give this token of farewell.

The West.

We never know what we can do until we are put to the test by some great emergency or tremendous responsibility. When we feel that we are cut off from outside resources and must depend absolutely upon ourselves we can fight with all the force of desperation. —Success Magazine.

A Race of Genealogists.

Some one said of the Welsh in the eighteenth century, "The old woman genealogist." This is still true, the race is truer to type, more retentive of national characteristics.—London Outlook.

WOMAN "Woman" is the name of a new magazine for women. The first number is just issued. Your newsdealer has it. You can get it from him, and it is worth your while getting it. There is nothing startling about this magazine. There should be nothing startling about a decent magazine for women and the home. But this particular magazine is unique among all the so-called publications for women. You might not like it a little bit, and then, again, it might hit your fancy good and hard. If you like fiction—good, wide-awake, snappy stories—both serials and short stories—you will like "Woman." In fact, fiction is the big feature of the magazine. All the other magazines for women are cast on the same model—a little bit of fiction, a few articles, more or less chit chat, some wise advice, a fashion department and a smattering of general miscellany. "WOMAN" doesn't look any more like this conventional model than a yellow dog looks like a race horse. It is built on new lines for a strictly woman's publication. To know what it is like you will have to get a copy of it. It would cost too much to tell you all about it in this advertisement. The price of "WOMAN" is TEN CENTS A COPY, and the magazine is a very big one—192 pages. By the way, two rattling good serial stories begin in this first number and it contains a big lot of other good things. You would do well to ask your dealer for it before his supply is exhausted. Many guests were indulged in during the evening and the ladies were invited into the club by being blindfolded and led into the room selected for this purpose, over the door of which stood the famous black cat. Their introduction to the interior of the room will long be remembered by them as they gazed upon and shook hands with the grim visage before them. The evening concluded with pretty refreshments.

JUDGE GRAVES AND THE PASS

His Record on a Public Question Has Been Exposed.

ANYTHING FOR VOTES. Judge Graves' campaign committee is trying to obtain office for him under false pretenses. Statements which Judge Graves knows are untrue concerning himself, are being circulated in an effort to get him into congress. Not only are his managers attempting to detract public attention from the real issues at stake in this congressional campaign, but efforts are being made to deceive the Third district voters about their candidate. Here is a sample of the false pretense being used: The Stanton Picket is accredited in the circular being distributed by Judge Graves, committee with an article attacking Judge Boyd. The Stanton Picket never printed the article in question. Here are some of the things being printed about Judge Graves: 'A vote for Judge Graves for congress is a vote for a man who never rode on a railroad pass.'—Obscure circular being spread by Judge Graves' central committee. 'Judge Graves is serving his second term on the bench and has never ridden on a pass.'—Obscure circular being spread by Judge Graves' central committee. 'During all these years on the bench every railroad in his district has sent him annual passes over their respective lines, but each was conscientiously REFUSED OR RETURNED to the company sending it.'—Obscure circular being spread by Judge Graves' central committee. 'Every man given is for a consideration and the man who gets it is expected to serve the company that gives it. No gentleman would accept a pass with any other understanding.'—Obscure circular being spread by Judge Graves' central committee. 'Judge Graves assured us that he had not ridden on a pass since he was elected district judge.'—Newman Grove Reporter. 'Judge Graves never rode on a pass himself and has persistently refused passes when they were sent to him.'—Picket Leader. 'The nominee of this convention in himself the right sort of platform touching the free pass evil. He takes the position that there can be no difference between a pass bribe and a money bribe, and HE HAS LIVED TRUE TO THAT POSITION! DURING ALL THE YEARS OF HIS SERVICE AS DISTRICT JUDGE HIS POCKET HAS NEVER BEEN POLLUTED BY A POLITICAL OR OTHER KIND OF FREE RAILROAD PASS.'—Platform of convention which nominated Judge Graves for congress. The circular being distributed broadcast over the district in the interest of Judge Graves, admits that each year since he was elected district judge, a pass has been issued to Judge Graves from the Burlington railroad west of the Missouri river. Judge R. E. Evans, ex-district judge pass today, that he has traveled from Omaha to Lincoln on a pass, and that he went to the Black Hills on a pass? If he is right and a passing bribe, what is it for a man to allow his friends to clothe him in virtues which he has not just for the sake of solid votes and personal advancement? Judge Graves' managers are quoting from the Stanton Picket an article which that paper never printed, for the purpose of deceiving the voters. His pockets, by his own statement, have been "polluted." This district has had enough. Judge Graves has become desperate in his congressional race and is bringing a special train of speakers into the district this week to help appeal for him. Judge Graves' central committee must have plenty of money to be able to pay for special trains. The voters of the Third congressional district must be on their guard against midnight circulars sent out at the last moment before election, designed to make votes for Judge Graves, and too late to be answered by Judge Boyd. The public is cautioned to accept with a grain of salt arguments which are withheld until the eleventh hour and to which, therefore, they can be no time to reply. There is general a leak in this sort of an argument and the very fact that it is kept until such a tardy hour shows that it is not made to hold water. Judge Graves has failed to reply to questions put to him in the campaign, and the hour for replies is now gone by. CONSTRUCTION. The democratic congressional candidate in the Third district says that our government is all wrong and promises to do his utmost to tear it down and build a new one along different lines. And yet his personal organ, the Fremont Herald, prints a column article on its news page showing that there is more work than can be done, that wages are higher than they have been for years and that there is prosperity on every hand. Judge Boyd promises to do his utmost to continue this present prosperity by helping in constructive legislation which has begun and is to be continued by the republican congress and administration. The democratic congressional candidate declares that the "robber tariff" ought to be abolished. It is robbery the people, he declares. And yet for the past ten years, under the protective tariff as adopted under the influence of McKinley and Roosevelt, this country has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity and according to the democratic candidate's own personal newspaper, there has been so much work that, even at the highest wages ever known, men can't be found to work the present crop to allow the pupils to turn out and do the work. But the democratic candidate is all wrong; that present conditions ought to be reversed; that the protection offered to American labor by the tariff system ought to be done away with so that Europe and China could pour their commodities made by 25-cent-a-week labor, into America to compete with the products of American labor at, according to the Fremont Herald, $2.50 per day. Does this country want to destroy present labor and present wages? Do the farmers of this country want to return to the old days when armies of tramps flooded the country, looking for work, and when corn was worth 10 cents a bushel? The present tariff, as Senator Burckett says, is so high that the Canadian steer can't jump over, and so thick that the Mexican steer can't crawl under the protective wall. And it has been conclusively demonstrated by the large supply of crops and the continued high prices for farm products, that the protective tariff does bring prosperity to the farmer. The democratic congressional candidate is pledged by his platform to destroy this prosperity and these high prices, and to do all that he can do to restore the soup house days to this country. The democratic congressional candidate, in his platform, declares that the government ought to immediately seize all trunk lines of railroad and that steps ought to be taken toward the government ownership of all railroads at the earliest possible date. He would revolutionize the entire industrial system of America. Although there are more than a million railway employes, which would build up a party machine that could not be overthrown except by civil war, the Third district democratic candidate would establish that sort of a scheme. Although the fundamental principle of American government is that the individual citizens shall have the right to operate their own business enterprises, the democratic nominee would bring to us a system in vogue among the monarchies of Europe and would thus establish kingdoms for the men who chanced to be once elected to congress or other offices of a national character. Despite even the declaration of Mr. Bryan that the people will never force this issue, the Third district democratic candidate is pledged to do all that he can to overthrow the present system of industry. Judge Boyd stands for construction, not destruction. He stands with Roosevelt and the republican party, for protecting the citizens of the United States fairly and for allowing the citizens to run their own business enterprises, the democratic nominee is pledged to spend his time in congress trying to overthrow and to destroy present industry. Judge Boyd stands pledged to help build up more of prosperity.

WOMAN "Woman" is the name of a new magazine for women. The first number is just issued. Your newsdealer has it. You can get it from him, and it is worth your while getting it. There is nothing startling about this magazine. There should be nothing startling about a decent magazine for women and the home. But this particular magazine is unique among all the so-called publications for women. You might not like it a little bit, and then, again, it might hit your fancy good and hard. If you like fiction—good, wide-awake, snappy stories—both serials and short stories—you will like "Woman." In fact, fiction is the big feature of the magazine. All the other magazines for women are cast on the same model—a little bit of fiction, a few articles, more or less chit chat, some wise advice, a fashion department and a smattering of general miscellany. "WOMAN" doesn't look any more like this conventional model than a yellow dog looks like a race horse. It is built on new lines for a strictly woman's publication. To know what it is like you will have to get a copy of it. It would cost too much to tell you all about it in this advertisement. The price of "WOMAN" is TEN CENTS A COPY, and the magazine is a very big one—192 pages. By the way, two rattling good serial stories begin in this first number and it contains a big lot of other good things. You would do well to ask your dealer for it before his supply is exhausted. GRAVES' PASS RECORD EXPOSED.

VITAL PRINCIPLES AT STAKE.
Now that Judge Graves' "pass" is a bribe" battle has had its edge taken off, this congressional campaign, aside from the penalty the democrats must pay for attempting to deceive the public, must be fought out on the genuine principles which ought to have been its foundation from the beginning.

Judge Graves' managers have sought to becloud the public mind with a lot of thunder about his views on the pass question. They have carefully kept away from the real vital principles which are at stake.

Judge Graves stands pledged by his platform to use all effort to bring about the immediate government ownership of all trunk railroads, and the government ownership of all railroads at the earliest possible date. This is directly and radically against President Roosevelt and it is even against Bryan, who says that the people will never force that issue. In this socialistic doctrine, although Judge Graves thought he was getting into the band wagon when he started out, the democratic congressional nominee stands quite alone, excepting Hearst, today. The conservative people of this country are not ready for such an industrial revolution as Judge Graves is pledged to work for. Yet that is what this district would be paying him for, if he were elected.

Judge Graves stands directly opposed to President Roosevelt on the protective tariff. President Roosevelt's administration has seen unparalleled prosperity in America, under the protective tariff, because labor and the farmer have had plenty to eat, plenty to wear, and plenty of work to do.

Yet Judge Graves' committee has the audacity to say: "If you want to see the president tied, hands and feet, vote for Boyd." Judge Graves' platform is directly opposed to Roosevelt's policies of government. The democratic text book denounces Roosevelt in vicious terms, in order to elect Graves and other democratic candidates. And yet Judge Graves, away out here in Nebraska, would have us forget his platform and believe that he stands ready to work in harmony with Roosevelt and the rest of the republicans.

The next two years will be important because they will be Roosevelt's last. The entire congressional term for which we are to select a representative, will be covered by Roosevelt's administration. The democratic text book says Roosevelt has done nothing. Remember the meat inspection bill, the pure food bill, the railroad rate bill, the stockhold bill, and our increased international prestige in stopping the Japanese-Russian war; and then say whether the republican congress has done anything or not.

In order to help the government carry out the principles which have been begun under Roosevelt; in order to get things for the Third congressional district; in order to make our representative's time count for something, we must send down to Washington a man who is in complete harmony with the administration—a republican from the ground up, and not a man pledged to tear down the administration.

We must elect Judge J. F. Boyd, if we are to make our vote in congress count for anything.

THE FARMERS NAMED BOYD.

Judge Boyd has been judge in the Ninth judicial district of Nebraska for six years. Everybody in the district knows him. The conventions in the five counties of the district, in sending delegates to the congressional convention, were composed of two-thirds farmers, who had known Boyd all of the time since he was made judge.

Instructions in these conventions were all for Boyd. The instructions were determined upon before the delegates were selected. Every delegate from the five counties, who attended the congressional convention, knew that he was being selected to support Judge Boyd.

Judge Boyd's solid support by his judicial district made him the candidate. The farmers controlled the county conventions of his judicial district. The farmers of northern Nebraska demanded his nomination, and they demand his election.

HIGH WAGES.

Wages in northern Nebraska, according to the Fremont Herald, are unusually high. The Herald says that cornhuskers are so scarce that at $2.50 a day and board men can not be secured and that rocesses were taken in country schools last week to help husk the crop. The whole north Nebraska situation is reflected by the Herald when it continues:

"All labor is scarce and wages are higher," said a contractor when spoken to about the situation. The coal dealers find it difficult to get good men to assist them in moving coal from cars to wagons. According to the same authority unskilled labor is paid all the way from $1.50 to $2.50 a day. The man who shovels dirt, beats carpets and does other similar work which requires no intelligence at all, gets $1.50 to $1.75 per day, while the man who is handy with the hammer and saw gets as high as $2.50."

Despite the Herald's enthusiasm over high wages in its news columns, its editor is demanding a change in conditions by asking the Third district to elect a democratic congressman.

Encroachment: The election of a democratic house would be taken by the business world as the sign of a dangerous unrest among the people, and a disposition to undo all the work so patiently done. Uncertainty would follow in the business world, capital will get cautious and production begins to be curtailed.

A QUIBBLE THAT WON'T PASS.

(From the Omaha Bee, Oct. 3.)
Judge Graves has not been accused of riding on passes as district Judge. Moreover, he has stated that he has not done so.—World-Herald.

This is decidedly tame as compared with the effulgent eulogy pronounced by the World-Herald a week or so ago proclaiming the democratic candidate for congress in the Third district to be "a judge whose principles led him to refuse the railroad pass."

It now develops that while conscientious scruples have prevented the great judge from traveling around his district on passes to hold court at the different county seats, they have not prevented him from asking for and accepting passes for his family while holding official position. In a letter published in the Newman Grove Reporter Judge Graves, himself, confesses to one case where he asked for passes over the Minneapolis & Omaha road in the fall of 1901 for his wife and her mother from Pender to Minneapolis and return. Attempting to explain the circumstances, Judge Graves writes that "this is the only road which enters my district," and by inference the only road interested in litigation on which he might have to decide. In a nutshell it transpires that Judge Graves draws the line exceedingly fine—that as judge he is careful not to ride on a pass for fear of the effect it might have on his political future, but has no objections to the railroads on the quiet for free transportation for his wife and her mother, which he would otherwise presumably have to pay for out of his own pocket.

If, as the learned judge says, "there is an impropriety in public officers and especially judicial officers accepting and using passes or free transportation" for themselves, it must be no less an impropriety to ask and accept passes for members of his immediate family. What right has he, then, to pretend to a superior virtue over those who have asked for passes, but made no attempt to cover it up?

Bixby in State Journal, Oct. 12: A few democratic editors in the Third congressional district, who have long posed as paragons of fairness and integrity, are now discounting their own paper by discrediting the worth of a man who stands head and shoulders above them in every attribute of solid manhood. That person is Judge J. F. Boyd, the republican nominee for congress. Some of his traducers know he is a good man, and are making statements concerning him which they know to be untrue in the hope of partisan profit. Others know nothing about him but do not hesitate to echo the cry of the bolder and more mendacious writers of political fiction. Judge Boyd is a man among men everywhere who has the confidence and respect of those who know him. He has never played to the galleries and never pretended to be what he is not. His word is good, his motives worthy, his record clean. Those who traduce him are either bad men at heart or fools; some of them both. A democrat has a perfect right to oppose his election and favor the man of his own political faith, but he can do it without resorting to the falsities and indecencies noted in the democratic newspapers.

that ought to be above such littleness. Stand up for decency.

Proof Convincing.

Up in the Third congressional district the democrats have been making a great handle of the fact that Judge Boyd, the republican nominee, confessed that he had accepted passes and used them in times past, when every one used passes if he could get them. He made a clean breast of it, told the truth in a manly way and took the consequences. On the other hand, Judge Graves, the democratic nominee, claimed never to have used passes at all. He had always been of that sturdy virtue that Caesar demanded in vain of his spouse. So the campaign yawned along up in the Third. The republicans were successfully defending Judge Boyd, on the ground that he was honest, owned up and would not do so any more. That he took passes when every one did and shut them off when the republican party declared against them. But all the while there was an enviable halo of sanctity about the head of the democratic nominee that made the republicans envious and the democrats haughty and impertinent. They said no man was fit for congress who ever rode on a pass or had one about him, nor who had accepted any favors from the high-handed corporations. Their candidate was clean as a whistle and only such could be conscientiously supported. The pressure was so strong that some weak republicans were overcome with sewer gas for the time being, and actually said they would not support Judge Boyd, when such a medal of purity and propriety was running against him. But there is a change in the status up there. Judge Graves has had his day, he has shone with a false glitter, which has been dispelled and now Judge Boyd is looked upon as the real stuff and the democratic nominee is suffering an eclipse. It has been shown that he has had passes and enjoyed them, that he solicited them and was accommodated, and the proof has been so convincing that he has been compelled to admit it. How much better for him had he made the admission as Judge Boyd did, at the start instead of denying at first and later being found out and exposed. But that is the way these democratic reformers always pan out. The man who goes back on the republican nominee and proposes to vote for the democrat because he is more pure and better stuff than the republican is sure to repent sooner or later and usually sooner.—York Times.

Madison Chronicle: No Roosevelt republican should overlook the fact that in order to strengthen the president in the pursuance of the policy of the "square deal" he must vote for men who will work in harmony with him. A democratic congressman or senator can not do this and retain his place in the party.

Allen News: Graves is a nice man, and a bright man, but a nice man and a bright man can vote for and assist in enacting democratic laws, which may give you 2 1/2 cent hogs, 15 cent corn, 10 cent oats, 75 cents per day for labor, cheap clothes, but no money to buy them with.

One of the most enjoyable of events in the form of celebrating Halloween was the party given by their husbands to the ladies of the Monday club last evening. The guests were obliged to search for the meeting place, which was to be known by the "Witch on the broom with black cat sailing over the moon." This was discovered at the office of Dr. H. G. Leisnering where the occasion was made merry, the decorations of pumpkins, pictures, etc., being superb. Many games were indulged in during the evening and the ladies were invited into the club by being blindfolded and led into the room selected for this purpose, over the door of which stood the famous black cat. Their introduction to the interior of the room will long be remembered by them as they gazed upon and shook hands with the grim visage before them. The evening concluded with pretty refreshments.

A MAMMOTH TUNNEL PROJECT

King Solomon Company is Conducting an Enterprise That Promises Splendid Results.

A mammoth tunnel project is being engineered by the King Solomon Tunnel and Development company at Frisco, in Summit county. Sam H. Alexander, of Madison, Wisconsin, secretary of the company, while in Denver this week, discussed the enterprise and cited some very interesting facts concerning it. The company has a holding of fifty-two claims in the Consolidated Ten-mile district, all of which are located on the Ten-mile range in the heart of the sulphide gold belt. The tunnel opens at the foot of the range and will be driven for a distance of two miles, cutting not less than fifty distinct veins, many of which have been

It has been observed that the language spoken in the United States is remarkably uniform. True, there are many dialects, but Great Britain has more than any one of half a dozen of our states, contains such very different languages as English, Welsh and the Gaelic of the Scottish highlands, to say nothing of the provincial dialects of Cornwall and Yorkshire and the unique speech of the London cockney, while in this country, with its vast expanse of territory, its settlement by Spanish, French, Dutch and Swedish Scandinavians and its millions of immigrants drawn from nearly every country, large and small, all over the world, there is far greater uniformity of speech than in any other land of equal area and population.

The paucity can be readily seen. The public schools have made us a nation of readers, and the press has supplied books and papers without limit. Press associations have done their part toward giving a uniform and fairly good

GRAVES' PASS RECORD EXPOSED.

BROKEN AIRCASTLE.

(Bixby in Nebraska State Journal, October 10.)

Judge Graves, they say, would not consent to use a railroad pass in his name, but when his wife and daughter went Way up to Minneapolis.

They did not pay a cent of fare, till tickets came they would not budget. The passes that would take them there and back were asked for by the judge.

Friends said he always pays full fare and never used or had a pass—Another castle in the air. Has tumbled all to hell; alas.

This judge who always paid or walked when wife and daughter wished to go to Minneapolis for railroad fare, he balked.

"You pass or else you stay at home." These were the words he spoke, and then

He wrote to someone down the line; it may have been, he wrote to "Hen," but that is no affair of mine.

He wrote, and what he wrote was this: "My wife and daughter wish to go from here to Minneapolis."

And back, "Can you assist them?"

Responsive to his humble prayer The passes in due season came; The judge still walked or paid his fare.

The women should have done the same.

But they did not, and that is why Although I do the best I can To trust him, still I look at Guy And ask, "Why did you do it, man?"

Freemont Tribune: In other words, Judge Graves' opinion appears to be, a pass is not a bribe if it is given to your wife instead of being given to you. But petticoats and skirts will hardly serve as a good enough shield in this campaign.

Dakota County Herald: If you approve of the splendid work of the first session of the Fifty-ninth congress, vote for Judge J. F. Boyd, republican candidate for congress, and for more of the same kind of legislation in the Sixtieth congress.

Hartington Herald: Judge Graves' experience on assuming a "holier than thou" attitude on the pass question is not without precedent. History is full of such experiences of those who fail to heed the admonition given in the 12th verse of chapter 10, First Corinthians.

Oakland Republican: There is one phase in the congressional situation in this district that every voter should consider. Do you honestly believe President Roosevelt's policies are the best for the nation and that there should be a representative from the Third district who will always stand with him? If you do, Judge Boyd is the man to send to Washington.

Freemont Tribune: If you really propose to stand by Theodore Roosevelt you will vote for the republican candidate for congress. It is the only practical way of showing your practical regard for the president.

Theodore Roosevelt has only served half his term. Every voter in this state who wants him to have a chance to carry out his reforms which he has inaugurated will give his support to the republican ticket. A republican congress is absolutely essential to the president's continued success.

Tijen Citizen: In this neighborhood where Frank Boyd has been known by everybody for the past twenty years, to charge him with any act not worthy an honorable man is almost as bad as assailing the deity. The Citizen does not mean to imply that Judge Boyd is a saint, nor that he is incapable of error. He is just a man, but a very manly man, one who knows a fellow every day in the year, whether the other fellow is in greasy overalls or spotless broadcloth. If he is wrong—and if he couldn't make a blunder sometimes he would be wearing angelic wings instead of running for congress—he is frank to admit the fault and take the consequences. But aside from his personality which has had much to do in raising up hosts of admirers, he is in full accord with President Roosevelt. The next congress will be called upon to assist the president in measures that mean much toward the betterment of the class of people who require protection against the greed of incorporated capitalist.

Frank Boyd's vote and voice are needed at Washington. We all admire Roosevelt and the voters of the Third congressional district can put this feeling into practical form by sending a staunch and reliable republican to vote for Roosevelt's policies.

Bloomfield Monitor: Everyone who knows Judge Boyd knows that in regarding his pass his purpose was not for political effect, but to be in harmony with the party of his district and the convention which nominated him. Everyone knows who knows Judge Boyd that when he goes down to Washington to represent these people that it will be with the determination to stand squarely on every plank in the platform of the convention which nominated him both in letter and spirit and to aid in upholding the policies of the President by his vote and his voice.

Judge Graves stands on a platform strenuously opposed to the policies of the president. Which one is the most trustworthy as your representative in congress? It seems to us the proposition is easy. It seems to us that no good republican who knows Judge Boyd has the slightest excuse to support his opponent. The one representative of every policy of his party, the other everything opposed to it.

Judge Graves and his friends should be up on another issue than the pass proposition. That bubble has been effectively punctured.

Plainview News: In the race for election to congress Judge Boyd will not be compelled to assume a position of defense or apology. The stand taken by him in questions political since he has been active in politics and the ability, integrity and manly qualifications shown by him while occupying the bench in the judicial district have won for him a loyal support that it will be impossible for his opponent to overcome. His opposition to dilatory methods in the administration of justice and his general manner of progressiveness while acting as district judge is excellent evidence of his fitness to represent the big Third district in congress and his election is unquestioned.

Hartington Herald: It is singular that during a political campaign no one will give a man who disagrees with him credit for having any principle.—Pender Republic. "No one" well it certainly is discouraging when it's so near unanimous as that, possibly a man's actions tend to discredit his political sincerity. When a newspaper noisily repudiates a candidate of its own party for what it believes is wrong doing and remains silent as to the opposite candidate whose offense is the same, what conclusion will the mind of every man naturally arrive at?

Wausa Gazette: Republicans should not stay at home on election day thinking there is no great issue at stake. The democrats are working hard to get a majority in both houses at Lincoln the coming session, and a majority there means a democratic United States senator and with the next session of congress a majority of democrats, what power has the president, even though he be republican? There's danger ahead! Wake up, and get out to vote on the next election day, November 6.

Freemont Tribune: As between the republican and democratic candidates for congress in the Third district there should be no hesitancy on the part of the voter in making the choice. The question is one of principle. Even though it were to be admitted that the candidates were of equal worth personally, a theory, however, which recent disclosures have had a tendency to dispute, still the choice would be an easy one. Judge J. F. Boyd stands for the policies and principles of the president, while Judge Graves is in direct opposition thereto. If you want to see the policy of the administration pulled down, a vote for Judge Graves will be a long step toward that end, but if you want to see the good work of the past few years ago on, help to elect Boyd.

Oakdale Sentinel: Judge Boyd is no Lycopodium. When he says he will accept no more free transportation he means it. He did not deny that he had ridden his passes, in order to secure the nomination, and he is not now saying he has done with passes in order to gain votes. The voters may rely upon the word of Judge Boyd. And best of all his election will mean a continuance of the principles which have brought prosperity.

Oakdale Sentinel: Judge J. F. Boyd, from an obscure country lawyer has advanced by his own efforts, unaided by any political pull or corporation influence, to a position among the foremost attorneys of the state. And yet he is not satisfied to remain on this plane, but seeks a higher sphere of usefulness. As congressman he will have further and greater opportunities for growth, and being endowed with a strong physique and a bright intellect will make the most of these opportunities. The benefit will be not wholly to himself, but his constituents, the people of the Third congressional district, will be benefited by having their interests looked after by a man like Judge Boyd. He is every inch an American and not ashamed to acknowledge the humblest citizen as his brother. Here, at his home, all know these things to be true, and we hope to inspire in others this same confidence we have in him.

Oakland Republican: Our factories have been running full blast, our laboring men are all employed at good wages, and our farm lands have almost doubled in value, all of which is the direct result of republican rule, and this condition will continue as long as the republican party continues in power. Think well before you scratch a single name on that ticket, for your straight vote will uphold the principles that guarantee you prosperity more than a divided one. Even in county politics it is the same and this is a year when you should vote the republican ticket from top to bottom. Every candidate deserves your support.

Wausa Free Press: There is one phase in the congressional situation in this district that every voter should consider. Do you honestly believe President Roosevelt's policies are the best for the nation and that there should be a representative from the Third district who will always stand with him? If you do, Judge Boyd is the man to send to Washington.

Lindsay Opinion: The policies upon which President Roosevelt is at work represent the great issues in this campaign. Whether or not the president is to be upheld, and whether or not he is to have the continued help of congress in the performance of his tasks, rests with the voters. In Nebraska we can help by sending to Washington a delegation of republican congressmen and by electing a republican United States senator.

Stanton Pickett: Personally we do not believe that the pass issue is all paramount in this campaign. We believe there are other issues of more vital importance to the American people. But if it were the only issue would either candidate, under the circumstances, have any material edge over the other? Judge Boyd says he has never viewed the pass as a bribe but since the people have come to do view it and the republican convention has declared against it he has returned his pass and pledges himself not to use them again. Judge Graves while viewing the pass as a bribe and not using one in person did accept them for members of his family, but won't do it again. Has the kettle any right to call the pot black?

This circular was first issued Tuesday, October 23, and a second edition is now issued because of demand for it. Judge Graves has not replied to it.

WOMAN "Woman" is the name of a new magazine. The first number is just issued. You can get it from him, and it is worth it. There is nothing startling about it should be nothing startling about a women and the home. But this publication among all the so-called publications you might not like it a little bit, and hit your fancy good and hard. If you like fiction—good, wide-awake, snappy stories—both serials and short stories—you will like "Woman." In fact, fiction is the big feature of the magazine. All the other magazines for women are cast on the same model—a little bit of fiction, a few articles, more or less chit chat, some wise advice, a fashion department and a smattering of general miscellany. "WOMAN" doesn't look any more like this conventional model than a yellow dog looks like a race horse. It is built on new lines for a strictly woman's publication. To know what it is like you will have to get a copy of it. It would cost too much to tell you all about it in this advertisement. The price of "WOMAN" is TEN CENTS A COPY, and the magazine is a very big one—192 pages. By the way, two rattling good serial stories begin in this first number and it contains a big lot of other good things. You would do well to ask your dealer for it before his supply is exhausted. THE FRANK A. MUNSEY COMPANY, New York.

General Customs in Greece. Many funeral customs in Greece are unique. The body of an unmarried girl is always dressed as a bride, the custom saying being, "She is married to death." The body of a boy is always dressed as a sailor. Women never accompany funerals to church or to the graves. Processions are always on foot, the priest leading, accompanied by acolytes bearing the cross and lanterns. The body of the deceased is invariably exposed to view, and at the close of the service in the church, which concludes with the words, "Take the last kiss," both friends and strangers press about the body and give this token of farewell. The Test. We never know what we can do until we are put to the test by some great emergency or tremendous responsibility. When we feel that we are cut off from outside resources and must depend absolutely upon ourselves we can fight with all the force of desperation. Success Magazine. A Race of Genealogists. Some one said of the Welsh in the eighteenth century every old woman was a genealogist. This is still true, for no race is truer to type, more retentive of national characteristics.—London Outlook.

One of the most enjoyable of events in the form of celebrating Hallow'een was the party given by their husbands to the ladies of the Monday club last evening. The guests were obliged to search for the meeting place, which was to be known by the "Witoh on the broom with black cat sailing over the Moon." This was discovered at the office of Dr. H. G. Linsenring where the occasion was made merry, the decorations of pumpkins, pictures, etc., being superb. Many games were indulged in during the evening and the ladies were invited into the club by being blindfolded and led into the room selected for this purpose, over the door of which stood the famous black cat. Their introduction to the interior of the room will long be remembered by them as they gasped upon and shook hands with the grim visage before them. The evening concluded with pretty refreshments.

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough.

REV. JAMES A. LEWIS, Pastor Mitea, Minn., M. E. Church. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold by Raymond's drug store.

Town people eat but one-half what country people do. Why? Because they haven't got it.

Preventives, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventives are toothsome candy tablets. Preventives dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventives are thoroughly safe for children, and as "effortless" for adults. Sold and recommended in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes by Felber's Pharmacy.

When jealousy flies out of the window it generally takes love along for company.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by Raymond's drug store.

If love is blind, how is it that love will always find a way.

If you like coffee but dare not drink it, try Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. It is true that real coffee does disturb the stomach, heart and kidneys. But Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee has not a grain of true coffee in it. Why is it that a man is bald, headed and a woman is not? Because a man has to worry his brain to provide for his family.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Medicine for ourselves and the children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by Raymond's drug store.

A Good Liniment. When you need a good reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for a lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by Raymond's drug store.

Piano Character

Character is as essential in the first-class piano as it is in the first-class man. The difference is in kind and not in degree. In its relation to the Piano, character means tone, the soul of the instrument; the one trait that gives it a distinct individuality. To win lasting approbation a Piano must have this sort of character. If the tone be musical and sympathetic the effect is enduring because it appeals to an aesthetic sense that never tires of beauty in sound, the musical instinct that is implanted in the soul of every human being.
