WAYNE IS STILL "DRY"

Mildner and Stodden Withdraw Their Application and Thompson's Case Appealed

Wayne has been a "dry" town since the fiscal year began, and now it is even hinted we may have no saloon at all. If we do, the parties who conduct them will be new men for the business in Wayne. Herman Mildner and A. N. Stodden, withdrew their applications and conceded the field to the remonstrators, before the city council made public their decision. The showing made by the objectors was strong in evidence while the applicant's defense seemed to fall short of the requirements. The hearing on the Mildner application took up a good share of three days. The rulings on the evidence occasioned a great deal of friction between the attorneys and most of the time was devoted to arguing the points. The trial proved both exciting and interesting to a crowded court room, and it is doubtful whether Wayne ever had her feelings or sentiment stirred so deep before.

The hearing on the application of Peter Thompson, revealed the fact that Thompson was not the holder of the license under which he conducted a saloon the past year, but that he claimed to be a manager for the Mr. Ramsey who had taken out the license. Acting in this capacity his attorneys contended that he could not be guilty of selling liquor to minors and drunkards, as only the "owner of the license" could be held for such violations according to the wording of the law. The council concluded to grant a license to Mr. Thompson, but Atty. Thomas, on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League will take the matter into the district court for settlement, and we understand it will be heard by Judge Welch, May 25.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Executive Committee hold an Enthusiastic Meeting and Form New Plans

More and better service is to be rendered Wayne by her commercial club the coming year than ever before. The new board of directors for the organization have determined on this. The new board held their first meeting at Craven's gallery Tuesday evening and nearly all were present. W. M. Orr was chosen president, H. S. Ringland, secretary and L. W. Roe, treasurer. The public spirit and earnestness shown in the discussions of the evening promises much for the progress of our city. The monthly dues of each member of the club was placed at twenty-five cents and will be collected regular each month and regular monthly meetings are to be held.

The executive committee decided to assume the expense of observing Memorial Day, and President Orr was empowered to confer with the old soldiers in the matter and appoint any committee necessary.

Several important matters are under consideration by the club and developments will be awaited with interest.

No Wolf Bounty.

The State Auditor has informed County Clerk Reynolds that, in the absence of legislative appropriation for the payment of wolf bounty, no warrants can be drawn for the payment of same, and that this applies to present claims as well as to those that may be presented during the next two years.

Free Samples of "Preventic" and a booklet on Colds will be gladly mailed you, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., simply to prove merit. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cure tablets. ### A JAPANESE FUNERAL

Mrs. Norris Witnesses the Ceremony and Writes an Interesting Discription.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Epler we publish extracts from a letter she received from Mrs. W. F. Norris, and which was read at a recent meeting of the Monday club:

Yokohama, Japan, April 14, 1907. "Yesterday we hear a high class Japanese had committed suicide and they were going to have a great funeral.

We hurried up our tiffin and three of us walked to the little temple on the hill, but Ethel went with another lady in a rickisha. I was sorry she did not walk with us even if she did feel badly, for we had a fine experience.

We were very early and stood at the foot of the steps looking wistfully up wishing we could go up to the temple, but not daring to. Very soon a Japanese came to Mrs. Clark and asked if he might speak to her. She said yes, and then he asked us if we would walk up. We did not wait for a second invitation but followed as close as possible. We found seats at the top of the steps and they took us to next to the front seat and then asked us for our cards.

We were very sorry, we told them, but we did not know it was the custom, but we wrote our names on a piece of paper. When we got to the top of the stairs we saw six Japanese men standing behind a long table which was covered with small wooden boxes and a stone in each box. I was consumed with curiosity to know what the stones were for, so I asked a Japanese, and he said the boxes were to receive the calling cards of the people who attended the funeral and the stones were to hold the cards down so the wind would not blow them away. Could anything be more practical than that? After a time the procession arrived and went into the temple, and then we wanted to go too but of course would not think of doing so unless we were invited. In the meantime they passed hot, strong tea of which we all partook. One little boy got a tea pot of tea and put it right under the seat where he was sitting so that he could help himself liberally. Isn't that just like a small boy at a Sunday school picnic? Also they passed boxes, we were awfully afraid they would not see us, but they did. They proved to be boxes of small sweet biscuits (crackers) and a Japanese prayer on top of each. I burned up the prayer for I could not read it, much to the disgust of the other ladies who saved even the string. That's where my lack of sentiment hampers me.

Well, our good angel evidently did not forget us, or it may have been another one, at any rate, we were invited into the temple. How can I describe the ceremony. We had to take off our shoes and go in our stocking feet, but we had a good position again and kneeled with the rest.

I was told there were fifty guests, some Shinto and some Buddhists. The music was most peculiar, sounded like blowing on reeds, no music to it at all, they kept that going most of the time. Then two of the dead man's friends spoke in Japanese, of course, a little chanting and then they all filed out. We were taken to meet the widow and family by some lady that took an interest in us. They were all dressed in rich white silk kimonos and were quite nice looking. The widow, poor thing, had her hair cut, in token that she would never marry again. They told us this man had lost a great deal of money in speculating in some way, but they had lots of money left. However, the young man was so mortified that he threw himself off a cliff. They are queer people.

The last thing we saw they had taken a rude cage full of little birds into the temple and I suppose let them loose, in token of the man's spirit going upwards, I believe. Another pretty custom was, each friend put three pinches of incense on a small brazier of coals which we carefully did too. Then some of the friends came and thanked us for coming and bowed to the floor, we returned the bow and left the temple, much gratified that we had been fortunate enough to see so much.

Make Your Towns Beautiful

No resolution can be taken by a community says the Lincoln Trade Review, that will be more beneficial individually and collectively than a resolution to get together and make one's town more attractive, more cleanly and more desirable in which to live. This is the time to not only resolve but to act along these lines. There is something in the proposition that if a town is looked after in this way it will draw more people to it, but there is infinitely more in the proposition that work of this kind should be done for the good of the people now living in it. If your town has a population of two thousand you can benefit every one by improving the cleanliness and appearance of the place entire. At best you could not reach nearly so many new people no matter how much you do. No where can work be done that will accomplish so much for little outlay as can be done in our prairie cities. Nebraska towns can be made attractive at a minimum expense, practically with no expense if each individual property owner does his part. Let a city get right on sidewalk construction and half the battle for a pretty town is won. Let there be a system of town cleaning that will clean up filthy and filled up alleys and another long step is taken in the right direction. Neither of these require additional expenditure of money, they simply require something that has to be done to be done right and thoroughly. In no way can a commercial club organization do a more appreciative work than by joining hands with its local government to make their town clean and attractive.

Wise old world; never fails to weigh a braggart on its own scales.

A large new bell was taken out in the country Tuesday for the German Lutheran church seven miles south and one mile west of Wakefield. It weighs 1050 pounds. If the farmers in that neighborhood do not go to church it will not be the fault of the bell. It will ring whenever there is service. Rev. Borneman is pastor of that church.—Wakefield Republican.

Edwin Strong and his Players will play a special engagement of three nights and a matinee at the Opera House commencing Thursday, May 23, when they will present that beautiful drama, in four acts, "Our Teddy," depicting home life in Maine. Mr. Strong has surrounded himself with a company that is second to none now on the road, and much stronger than when they appeared here some time ago, while the plays presented will be entirely new. Mr. Strong and his company have just closed an engagement of seven weeks at the Lyric theatre, Sioux City, and bears the proud distinction of having broken the house record for the largest business ever done in that theatre. Let everybody turn out and give Mr. Strong a royal welcome next Thursday night.

SHOT HIM IN THE LEGS

Marshal Maher, of Carroll, Takes Stringent Means to Make A Capture

The authorities at Carroll were warned by parties near Randolph, Tuesday afternoon, that a suspicious character, who might be the slayer of the Cople family, was headed towards Carroll, and to be on the lookout for him. It seems that the man had been located in an old vacant farm house, east of Randolph, and when this was noised about, those in the neighborhood gathered and a number from town came out in carriages. A well armed crowd surrounded the house, but they soon discovered the supposed culprit had flown. When the word reached Carroll the doughty village marshal, Dan Maher, armed with a shot gun, stationed himself near the Farmers' elevator to watch for his approach. As expected, the fellow came in on a tie pass. When the marshal met him he suggested he would have to place him under arrest but the fellow paid no attention and passed on, and refused to halt on the several demands of the marshal, when the latter raised his gun and let go a charge of shot that caught the fellow in the legs. With the assistance of Luther Evans, the wounded man was helped to the depot, and Dr. Lovig called to dress his wounds. He was then buddled onto the noon train and brot to Wayne, and turned over to Sheriff Mears for identification. He appeared much older than the description of the Cople murderer would indicate, and carried a crippled arm. When captured he complained of being crippled enough, without having a leg disabled. He refused to give his name or tell his business when captured. Since the real slayer of the Coplees was taken near Hooper, the suspicion has been raised from the unfortunate victim of the Carroll marshal's anxiety.

A DOUBLE MURDER.

A Farmer with His Wife Killed in Thurston County.

Thurston county, near the new town of Rosalie, was the scene of a dastardly crime, about midnight on last Sunday, when Wm. Cople and wife were murdered in cold blood by a farm hand in the family, named Higgins, alias Burke. His only excuse being, that he was "bughouse from whiskey." The murderer was captured near Hooper yesterday morning and is now in safe keeping at Omaha.

He confesses the crime and the Fremont Tribune quotes from his explanation as follows:

"I don't know why I did it," Higgins said in his long recital. "I did not like Cople, but had nothing in particular against him. He brot whiskey home Sunday and I got the bottle. I must have gone mad.

"I got up about midnight and took Cople's shot gun from a closet. I called Cople and then went out. He came to the door and I shot him at once. I fired both barrels. Then I reloaded the gun. His wife came out, and I emptied the gun at her. She fell in the doorway. I kept on shooting. I don't know why I shot or how many times. It may have been a dozen times. The children tried to run out and I drove them back. When I was sure the bodies were dead I went in. The children were greatly excited. I can't remember what they said. I know I told them there were burglars outside and that I stayed with them till four o'clock. Then I felt I ought to get away and I went to the barn. I put a bride on a mule and rode six miles down Logan Creek where I turned the mule loose and walked".

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Howard are expected in Wayne by the first of the week from Clarkston, Wash.

FIELD DODDER.

Parasitic Plant Becoming Common in This Country.

The pernicious parasitic plant known as dodder, an illustration of which here appears, is apparently becoming more common in this country, its seed having recently been found in 116 out of 521 samples of commercial red clover seed examined. Its frequent occurrence is no doubt largely due to the use of imported low grade seed.

Dodder seed under question as to identity may be boiled for some time

DODDER GROWING ON RED CLOVER.

In water, when the characteristic slender coiled embryo will emerge from the seed coat, according to the bureau of plant industry.

The seed of clover dodder should be entirely removed from seed by the careful use of a sieve having a mesh not smaller than one-eighth of an inch. Comparatively little first class clover seed will pass such a sieve. A small test of this kind is very helpful in testing for this dodder when present in small quantity.

The Apple Orchard.

A writer thus enumerates the advantages of keeping a flock of sheep in the apple orchard: Sheep if properly fed will keep down the weeds and grass, eat the fallen apples and add very materially to the fertility of the soil. Orchards are continually overrun with insects, which are multiplying on every hand and are more destructive than ever. Among them are the caterpillar, the trypeta, or maggot borer, etc. The spraying pump will subdue many, but one little fellow that bores through the fruit we cannot reach by spraying, the trypeta.

The only way is to destroy the fallen apples containing it as soon as they drop. The apple grower has no better assistant than sheep. To use the sheep to advantage there must be a sufficient number to keep the grass grazed short. A ten acre orchard must have a hundred sheep and smaller in proportion. Put in twice as many as the lot will pasture, with a liberal addition of grain or bran. They crop the weeds and enrich the soil with their droppings. The spraying pump fails to accomplish a part of these, and the machinery costs more than that of the sheep when already owned. A Mr. Woodward states that he has an orchard that has not been plowed for seventeen years, pastured in this way, which is reasonably healthy and makes an annual average growth of full fifteen inches on the limbs. The leaves are dark green, and he ascribes its good appearance and health to his overstocking it with sheep. They are kept from gnawing the bark by wire netting, with meshes one and one-half inches in diameter and three or four feet wide. All the winter made manure is applied at least every second year.—Iowa Homestead.

Apples For Home Use.

The list of apples which might be planted for home use is large and varied, but the principal aim should be to have those which are regular and sure bearers of high quality. They should be selected to give a succession through the summer and fall and by putting into storage come out at the proper time during the winter, thus giving a constant supply which in our dry Colorado climate should hold out for every month in the year. The following varieties have been found successful in this state, and they ripen or come out of storage in about the order named: Yellow Transparent, Astrakhan, Early Harvest, Chenango, Longfield, Maiden Blush, McIntosh, Fameuse, Wealthy, Grimes Golden, Ballflower, Jonathan, Winesap, White Winter Pearmain and Gano.—Denver Field and Farm.

Care of Cold Frames.

Cover cold frames with mats, shutters, blankets or other protectors in cold weather. If the ground inside freezes, leave these covers on for several days until a bright, mild day. Then remove them and give a little airing by raising the upper side of the sash an inch or two with a block or brick. Shut down before evening. If the ground is not frozen, don't let snow or mats remain on the sash.

With the Swelling of the Buds.

By beginning bordeaux spraying on apple trees with the swelling of the buds and following at intervals of about two weeks until about eight applications have been given the trees, attacks of apple scab, leaf blotch and also of sooty mold may be prevented.

Harry Armstrong and Willie Wills were home to spend Sunday. Both have positions in Sioux City.

Mrs. H. Schorer and children returned from North Bend, Tuesday, where they had spent several days visiting.
Mrs. Lime Miller, who has been up to Wayne, spent a couple of days here with friends and left for Denver yesterday.—Norfolk News (Saturday.)
Judge Moses returned Sunday from his winter's sojourn in California. Aside from a recent affliction in the form of boils he has been in good health.
H. C. Henny and family returned the first of the week from Southern California where they have spent most of the winter. Mrs. Henny's sister accompanied them home and will remain here for a time.
S. H. Alexander was an arrival from the west Sunday. He was accompanied by his sister Mrs. Dinsmore, who will visit here for a time with her grandmother, Mrs. E. Martin.

Miss Effie Buffington returned on Saturday from a visiting tour of more than a month. She spent some time with her sister, Mrs. Haggood, at McPherson, Kans., and on her return stopped over at Syracuse and Lincoln, Nebr., with other relatives.

Paul Hagman was up from Tekamah, Monday where he is now located as a merchant tailor. Paul held a place with H. Schorer at this place for some time, and the fact that he is doing a prosperous business at Tekamah, is good news to his Wayne friends.
One of the dray teams belonging to John Short took a spin from the mill Tuesday morning, where the driver had left them unhitched and in the windup ran against a corn crib near the Henricks blacksmith shop, killing one of the horses. The animal was blind and the outcome was rather a pitiful sight.
County Supt. Littell, met with the school board for the new district at Sholes, Monday night. The board was empowered as a building committee and instructed to push the work on the new school house. The site chosen, locates the new building right north of the Sholes church on the hill top, probably as high a point as there is in the county. The new building will have five rooms, including a recitation room, and will likely cost about $1600.

Iva Pendell, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Pendell, who has been telephone operator at Randolph, is quite sick from drowsy! She was taken to Wayne Tuesday, where her mother, who has been on her claim in South Dakota expected to meet her. Miss Priest of this city had word from Iva yesterday that says the bloating has gone down from her left side and the face and that Mrs. Pendell has been notified not to come. The doctors think she will recover. . . . . Bernadine West, aged 2 years, 1 month and 21 days, died at the home of O. D. Whitney near Magnet on Monday evening of acute indigestion. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. West formerly of Wayne, now of Worthington, Minn. Mrs. West has been visiting her sister Mrs. Whitney, the father coming after the child's death. The funeral and burial took place in Wayne Wednesday afternoon. It was a sad ending of the visit and the parents have the sympathy of the community.—Randolph Times.

Do Not Dose the Stomach.

Hyomi is not a cure-all; it is a specific for the cure of catarrhal troubles. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the aromatic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote parts of the nose, throat and lungs, healing all inflammation and killing catarrhal germs wherever present.

So successful has Hyomei been in the cure of catarrh, that E. J. Raymond sells it under a guarantee that it will cost nothing unless it does all that is claimed for it. The complete Hyomei outfit sells for $1.00, making it a most economical method of treatment.

Life is too short for any person to waste time trying to raise chickens without chick feed. You will waste time and money if you buy chick feed that is not the right kind. Some merchants sell chick feed because they can buy it cheap and make a good profit, but such feed will not prove satisfactory to anyone raising chickens. We sell chick feed that we have tested for years and we know it will raise a larger percentage of chickens than any other kind. It costs you no more than other kinds. Why not have the best?

Only One Saloon for Winside

Winside will have but one saloon the coming year, the village board so deciding after a strenuous day of it Tuesday. With a license of $1600 John Dimmel will conduct the only establishment.
Remonstrances were filed against Redmer and Schneider. At the Village Board meeting Tuesday morning it was found that Redmer's petition lacked the lawful number of names and it did not take any "remonstrance" to put him out of business. Schneider had the required number of names all right, but the remonstrance was his down fall and his telephone number for him in the saloon business in Winside. It was charged in the remonstrance that he had been guilty of selling liquor to minors and drunkards. The village dads adjourned from forenoon to afternoon to allow the belligerents to get their evidence together and present at the afternoon session. Several witnesses swore that Schneider had sold liquor to Clarence Tillson, Alex Gabler and Harry Long, all minors, and Schneider put up no defense. That finished him. A license was then granted to John Dimmel, providing he wants it for $1,600. He probably does, and for a year at least Winside will have one saloon.—Winside Tribune.
It always puzzles a woman to hear a man praise his rival.

Editor Green, of the Crichton Liberal, says in the review of court doings for Knox county last week, that: "In the several terms that we have attended the District court in this county we have never heard as uniform commendation for a judge as Judge Welch is receiving."

An investigation of the county treasurer's office in Holt county was demanded by certain designing parties. The report of the expert accountant employed, was made last week and a shortage of 99 cents shown. The investigation covered a period of twelve years and cost the county $1200.00. Even old Holt is going to redeem herself.

Fremont is threatened with the loss of her Normal school, and Lincoln enterprise is reaching after it. The trouble started with a difference between the city council and President Clemmons of the Normal, over a street that the latter asked the City to vacate in order that new buildings for the school might be erected. The council refused to close the street and now President Clemmons is considering a proposition from Lincoln citizens with favor. The capital city has streets to trade for Normal schools.

The new method of making nominations places upon the newspapers a responsibility that they must measure up to with fidelity, or the direct primary will not long be a part of the nominating machinery of any party. A newspaper can only properly take sides as between candidates when there is a distinct line of demarcation such as marked the last contest for governor or senator. It would shortly lose its influence and deservedly so, if it tried to put its own friends into office, if it boosted them in preference to men equally as capable and worthy. Politics cuts but little figure in the real business of newspapers, and so few of them have axes to grind or editors in offices that must be retained that they cannot afford to pose as dictators and distributors of offices, even if they wanted to. They cannot afford to do it, either in a financial sense or considered from the standpoint of their own reputations for fairness. Exception is made of the World-Herald, the chief business of which it is apparent, is to get its editor and owner an office, and in which it has been fairly successful.—Lincoln News.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Held in Welsh Church west of Carroll. An Interesting Session.

Notwithstanding the severe wind and dust storm last Sunday a very large crowd was in attendance at the District Sundry school convention held at the Welsh Presbyterian church west of Carroll. The convention was called to order by the President Rev. E. E. Carter at about 1 o'clock P. M. A short song service was held led by E. J. Davis, after which the Sunday school lesson for the day was taught by R. Closson. A large class of children was seated in the front part of the church and the manner in which Mr. Closson taught the lesson to them was a credit to himself and very instructive to the older ones as well as the children.

Prof. Wilson of the Wayne public schools and Mr. F. H. Jones drove up from Wayne, Mr. Wilson being on the program for an address on "Grading in Sunday Schools". He handled the subject in a very creditable manner, the large congregation were well pleased with his talk, and certainly appreciated his courage in braving the severe dust storm.

Mr. Jones was on the program but was called on for a few remarks and gave a short and very appropriate talk on "Organization in Sunday school work".

Chas. S. Beebe gave a short talk on "Sunday school contests" telling the results of the recent contest held in the Carroll schools.

Some excellent music was furnished during the afternoon session a large choir from each of the Welsh churches rendered several excellent selections, and the duet by Mr. and Mrs. Enos Davis, and another one by Mrs. Newton Morris and Miss Kattie Loid were excellent.

At the business session Rev. Davis of the Welsh Presbyterian church was elected president, Miss Pearl Sewell vice president, and Hugh Edward's Secretary and treasurer. The Welsh congregational church was selected as the place for holding the next convention.

Rev. Vincent Jones of the Congregational church gave a ten minute talk that was full of excellent ideas for all Sunday school teachers and works.

Rev. J. V. Jones was elected as a delegate to the State Sunday School convention to be held at Hastings June 18-20th. The evening session was postponed until one week from next Sunday night, the condition of the weather being such that it was thought best to postpone the meeting.

Every one who attended the convention from a distance was well entertained, and for cordiality and good fellowship a better class of people can not be found than reside in the Welsh neighborhood.

THIS CUT shows the known veins we will open by our cross cut tunnel. We have already cut the first six veins and with our new plant of machinery in operation will soon cut the next one.

THE NEXT VEIN, the Golden Centre shows from the surface much stronger than any other vein that we have yet cut. Ore has been sacked and shipped from the Western extension of this vein that run very high

NOTICE the great depth of half a mile that will be gained by this cross cut tunnel. A shaft mine sunk on a vein from the surface usually cuts one vein while with our tunnel we will open something like Forty or Fifty Veins, so in reality we will have Forty or Fifty Mines all working through one big tunnel and all belonging to the one company. ∴ We also have a great advantage in the drainage of all water through the tunnel without any expense. ∴ We could not be located better for shipping facilities as we have two railroads right at the mouth of the tunnel so that all coal, machinery and supplies are delivered right at the mine.

And throw your skepticism away and look this proposition over fairly and squarely from every point of view and if you are right thinking men you can not help but concede that we could not be more advantageously placed for extensive and economical mining on a large scale. I want to repeat again that we are located in the HEART OF THE LARGEST MINERAL BELT IN THE UNITED STATES

More Men Around Here Have Interested Themselves With Us The Past Week Than Any Week in the History of the Company Why Have They Done So?

Simply because they are thinking men. They are men that have made a success in life by using their best judgment in business deals. They have watched the company since it's inception and they have seen it grow from mere nothing until today it stands as one of the most prosperous tunnel enterprises of the state. They realize that we have already cut six veins just as we told them we would do before we started the tunnel and THEY KNOW that unless they get stock soon the big new power plant will be cutting into larger bodies of ore and a sharp advance in stock will follow. Do You See the Point? ### Normal Notes.

Mid-term examination will be given tomorrow. Some will be excused to take county examinations.

Mrs. Pile will go to Springview the 24th to address the graduating class. Five of the teachers make addresses that week.

Supt. Wilson gave two splendid addresses to the students last week. His subject was "Professional training."

Miss Van Conett was elected as assistant in the Central City High School but will not except as she has a better position in view.

The Revenna school board has elected Miss Helen Willsie of the Scientific class to a position in their school. Two of this class go there.

A kindergarten class will be organized for the summer term. Parents wishing their children to attend should advise the college by June 1. No charges.

Miss Chase will address the graduating class at Battle Creek the 22nd and the class at Decatur the 24th. Henry Raubach is principal at latter place.

A letter from Frances E. Lookbill of the '00 Teachers' advises the college that she remains in the grammar department at Falls City at a salary of $65. She was also elected for a position in Lincoln.

Wendell Neis gets principalship at Hay Springs. He is most deserving and his friends rejoice at his advance. He first entered the Normal eight years ago and has taught four years during the eight. He is a member of this year's Scientific class.

The Bloomfield school board has elected Mabel Bruner of last year's Teachers' class for grammar teacher. She was one of the strongest teachers in the class. Her experience proves her very acceptable for a good position in any school.

More calls have come for graduating addresses than could be filled. So many are for the same week that the teachers cannot get around. These calls come from Chadron to Schuyler. Pres. Pile has accepted but one place for himself and that is at Schuyler the 31st. He is glad to have the faculty fill all dates possible.

The Y. M. C. A. will send a delegate to the Lake Geneva Students' Conference. To raise money to help defray the expenses, they gave an ice cream social last Saturday evening. The weather was not very favorable for such a social but the young men thank all who attended. Rev. Smith addressed the meeting Sunday.

It is very evident that the school will need all outside room that can be secured for the summer term which opens June 17. Perhaps, the gentlemen's dormitories will care for all the young men but the ladies' dormitories can not accommodate all the young ladies. Persons who can spare rooms for students will confer a great favor by advising us before June 10.

The north-west room on the first floor of the old college building was fitted up last week for the Y. M. C. A. young men. All their meetings will be held in this room. They will place their library in the room this week and have a place for general reading for the members. They are doing excellent work.

Many calls for teachers are being received. Positions to be filled cover all grades from primdry to principalships. The salaries are good and prospects are that all experienced teachers of the graduating classes will fare well for the coming year. Much care has been exercised in making selections for the various positions.

The laboratories are busy places this term with the work in zoology, chemistry, physics and botany. Students in all these classes spend from two to ten hours in laboratory work. Both rooms are well equipped for all the work. Several of the advanced students assist with this work. As soon as Jim Pile can get around, he will give his time to assisting.

Contestants have been chosen for the prize contests in orations, debates and recitations to be held Commencement week. There will be eight contestants on each program, some from each of the three graduating classes. Six will contest for the "Alumni Prize." This is for the best thesis on the "Value of Private Normal School Training." Commencement week will be full of good things.

The Alumni Echo is proving far more popular than was expected. A large subscription list has been secured and, no doubt, the paper will continue as a valuable help to school as well as to former students. Last month's issue was a little late in getting into the mail and calls from the subscribers came fast as to reason for not receiving paper. This month's paper will be out on time. Expect to get issue mailed Saturday.

Did You Ever think of the influence of clothes on character? If not, think now.

You know how much better a man feels when he's well dressed; more "fit," better able, efficient, confident. Clothes have been, many times, a help—or a hindrance—to good fortune.

Consider, then, the real damage done by the "mercerized cotton" adulteration in clothing fabrics; it's a distinct lowering of efficiency; it invites, by apparent merit, a tolerance of actual inferiority.

Everybody knows that all-wool is the best; the only reliable, honest fabric for men's clothes. The man who consents to wear the "mercerized cotton" mixture confesses to a lower standard; he's satisfied with less than the best.

We sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes because they're all wool; and there's no doubt about it. Their name is a guaranty of it; such clothes help.

CLUBS AND SOCIETY.

The Fortnightly club ladies gave a dinner Friday evening, to which their husbands received a special invitation. The gathering occurred at the Jas. Bush home, with Mrs. Prudence Surber as hostess. The pleasant home was tastily decorated with paper festoons in club colors hanging from the walls to the chandeliers in each room. The table decorations were very pretty with red and white carnations in profusion. The dinner was served in several courses under the direction of Mrs. Bush who was assisted by the Misses Hyde and Elliott. The repast was enjoyed while a good lot of talk and laughter prevailed. On retiring from the dining room games, literary and song contests afforded interesting amusements to a late hour. It was the first open meeting of the new club and truly a delightful affair.

The ladies of the Minerva club gave their husbands an elegant six o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley. The entertainment was given as a farewell party in honor of Mrs. D. E. Miller, one of their most faithful members, as she leaves Wayne very soon to make her home in Canada. The evening was spent in music, readings and conundrums. Of the original conundrums there were some worthy of mention, as they were so appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. Roe's taking the cake.
