BOY FATALLY SHOT

Accidental Discharge of Gun Kills Young Henry Nisson

NO ONE BLAMABLE FOR IT

Charge of Shot Takes Effect in His Leg and Could not Recover From the Shock

A most distressing accident which resulted fatally happened at the Carl Carlson home nine miles northwest of town on the afternoon of Thanksgiving. The victim of the accident was Henry Nissen, the fourteen year old step-son of Mr. Carlson, who was shot in the left leg just above the knee and the shock resulting from the wound was so great that the boy died some hours later. The circumstances of the tragic event as we are able to learn it are about as follows: A couple of the older brothers had been out hunting in the morning and Henry, boy like, was very much interested in examining the guns. When they came back one of them went up on the porch of the house where the boy was and he was carrying his gun under his arm with the barrel pointed to the ground. Henry came up in front of him and said: "Let me have that gun," the brother replied, "no" but the young fellow took hold of the barrel and pulled it toward him. The hammer caught in the brother's coat sleeve and was pulled back far enough to discharge the gun, emptying the load of shot at close range into Henry's leg just above the knee shattering about six inches of the bone and tearing the flesh in an awful manner. The boy was rendered unconscious from the wound and he was brought to Wayne with all possible haste and taken to Dr. Naffziger's hospital. A surgeon from Sioux City was telephoned for, to come on the evening train but the boy died before the surgeon could have arrived here. From the time of the accident until he died the boy was delirious and as soon as he was gotten in the hospital his heart action commenced failing and despite all that could be done for him he died shortly after four o'clock. The body was embalmed and taken back home to await the arrival of relatives from Canada before the funeral should be held. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Lutheran Church here and was largely attended. Henry Nisson, step-son of Earl Carlson was born at Minden, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, February 5, 1894 and was 13 years, 9 months and 24 days old. The family are prostrated over the sad affair but under the circumstances no one can feel blamable for the accident.

A CENTRAL SCHOOL

Three Districts Consolidated—Public School at Sholes

SCHOOL COMMENCES MONDAY

First Experiment of the Central School System to be Tried in This Locality

Sholes is to make an experiment of the central school system that in several communities has been put into practice with good results. Three school districts No. 30, 67 and 76 comprising sixteen sections are within the boundaries of the new central school district. This new district voted $5000 bonds and erected a fine modern four room school building in Sholes. The new building is very much on the same plan of the school building at Winside except that it is of frame instead of brick. There is ninety-five or a hundred pupils within the new district and the farthest distance any of them will be from the school is two and a half miles so that there will be no demand for free transportation, a feature that is of considerable cost in most cases where the central school is operated. The school board pays good wages and as a result has a good corps of teachers, Prof. Ben F. Robinson will be superintendent of the schools and next Monday, the school will commence under the new system. A good course of study has been arranged and the work well graded so there is every reason to believe the experiment will be a success. This is the first trial of the central school in north Nebraska and school men will watch its progress with a great deal of interest.

Masquerade Ball
One of the most pleasant events of the season was the Masquerade ball given at the Opera House Thanksgiving night by the Wayne Commercial Club Band.

Thursday afternoon the boys gave an open air concert just as a reminder of the big doings. And in the evening it seemed as though nearly everybody was there, either as spectators or as dancers dressed in some elaborate or grotesque costume to conceal their identity.

The Ladies prize for the best costume was awarded to Mrs. John Sherbahn and Howard Whalen was awarded the men's prize.

There was over two hundred spectators at the ball and the band netted about $75.00 from the affair. A great deal of credit is due those who had charge of the ball for the enjoyable time everyone had and the revenue it added to the band's treasury.

If you want quick results, try the Herald's want column.

Election Contest in Pierce

Last week the democratic leaders of Pierce county held a secret meeting and after much arguing and talking it was decided to contest the election of E. D. Pulcifer of Plainview, who was elected to the office of county assessor on the republican ticket by one vote. Ever since the official count on this office the democrats have been very guarded in their conversation on the situation when asked if there was any chance of being a contest on this office they have been very emphatic in their denial that there would be any. A democratic office holder, however gave the snap away the other day and the republicans immediately made out papers asking for a recount on the ballots in the office of county clerk and county commissioner. The democrats in their petition say that votes in Foster, Dry Creek and South Branch precinct were cast for Pulcifer that should have been cast for the democratic contestant, G. F. Lieaman of Hadar. The republicans in their petition allege that in all the precincts the judges of election counted all straight populist votes for the democratic county ticket when the candidates only filed under the democratic county organization. This makes two contests that have been started during the past six years and they have all been started by democrats.

HORSE THIEVES BUSY

Stolen Teams Recovered—Thieves so Far Escape Capture

CHASE IN SEVERAL COUNTIES

Team, Wagon and Harness Stolen Saturday Night East of St. James, Cedar County

There has been considerable activity the past week in the several counties where horse thieves have been operating, to make a concerted effort to capture some of the thieves and while there has been no results as yet there is a probability that it will not be long before some of them are rounded up. The latest job was pulled off east of St. James a small town along the Missouri river in Cedar county last Saturday night, when a team, wagon and harness were stolen from a farmer. It was a team of bay horses, six years old weighing about a thousand pounds each and a lumber wagon and light harness. At last reports no trace of the outfit had been found though the authorities have a suspicion as to who done the job. The Norfolk News has the following in regard to horse stealing in other localities:

Word was received in Norfolk on Saturday evening that Geo. Losey and his posse of men who had been trailing horse thieves since Thanksgiving morning had captured the team, harness and buggy but that the thieves had escaped. The horses and harness were stolen from Carl Praeuner and the buggy from Conrad Volk, both farmers living near Battle Creek, during Wednesday night.

The horses were found five or six miles west of Petersburg in the edge of Boone county in a plum thicket along a stream. They had been abandoned when the thieves found that the pursuit was becoming hot, and the men had taken to their heels. There were two of the men who took the team and Mr. Losey secured an accurate description of them, so that all hope of taking the men is not yet gone. Mr. Losey believes he knows where the thieves live and their place is being watched for their return. He is also convinced that the parties who took the Wayne team are the same ones who stole the Battle Creek outfit, as he found the trail of that team in his search for the one from Madison county. It is believed the Wayne county team is now somewhere in the sand hills of Greeley or Wheeler county.

Losey and his posse met with cordial assistance all along the route of their search for horse thieves. The sheriffs of both Greeley and Wheeler counties joined in the search. By Saturday morning he had fifty men scouring the country in western Boone, Garfield and Wheeler counties, and it is probable that if the thieves had been found Madison county would not have been put to the trouble of trying them, as he doubts if he would ever have reached here with them.

During the early part of the chase Mr. Losey made his headquarters at

MONEY IS NOT BEING HORDED

Stock Purchased in Large Amounts

It has been charged that the people of the United States are engaged in hoarding their money. As a matter of fact, the country at large is doing a lot of quite buying. The same idea has prevailed through the country at the same time and for the same reasons. That is, everyone who has read and thought has been aware that low prices in all classes of stocks would not endure a great while. Few people have cared to do much shouting along this line for the simple and sufficient reason that human selfishness, seeing an opportunity, desires to exercise a monopoly on it. Just how many million dollars are going into all classes of stocks is a matter that cannot be correctly computed, but that a tremendous amount of buying is going on in that quite unobtrusive way where everyone wants to get ahead of everybody else cannot be questioned. Even the conservative Eastern financial papers have seen the opportunity and have advised the outright purchase of the better class of securities. The same conditions is to be noticed in the mining stocks. The transfers of certificates are becoming heavier, but nobody cares to say much about it to his neighbor. How long this very quiet return of optimism will endure is a problem. It cannot keep up very much longer because the fever of enthusiasm is always contagious or infectious, whichever term may suit, and a strong upward trend in all the markets has got to be the ultimate result. If we look back to the reconstruction period between 1893 and 1898, we find that factories were running more on contemplated business than on actual orders. For the last eight years business men have been accustomed so much on doing business on a definite basis that no pretense is being made of saying that orders are coming in where, in reality they do not exist. Figuring these facts with care, we can readily see that the country is not attempting to put on a false front.

WAS A CLOSE CALL

William Schulz, Near Hoskins, Narrowly Escapes Death

STRUCK BY A RUNAWAY TEAM

Buggy is Smashed Into Kindling Wood but Mr. Schulz Fortunately Escapes Injury

William Schulz a prominent farmer living five miles east of Hoskins had a very close call from death Wednesday at Norfolk where with his wife and baby daughter he had gone to attend "exchange day." Schulz was driving up the main street of Norfolk to get his family and start home when a runaway team hitched to an ice-wagon swung into the street and started in his direction. Schulz, with his buggy top up did not see the heavy team and wagon bearing down on him although a hundred people on the crowded street had time to mark the impending accident. The team struck the light top buggy squarely. It was overturned and crashed into pieces. All four horses were thrown and entangled in the mix-up. Schulz was thrown beneath the mixture of wagon and horses. Men sprang to his rescue and the top of the buggy was torn in two in order to drag him out from the mess. And instead of being dead or terribly mangled Schulz came out of the accident with scarcely a scratch. It was some minutes before the horses could be gotten to their feet. The animals also escaped injury. Schulz's light buggy was entirely demolished.

HORSE THIEVES BUSY

Bartlett, later moving to Chambers, from which places he directed the hunt. The people along the line were very much interested in capturing the fellows who took the Battle Creek team, believing them to be professionals. The chase also uncovered the fact that there is quite a bunch of criminals and tough characters in the sand hills and the law-abiding people are very anxious to have them driven out of that section. Mr. Losey came in contact with two men that he had taken to the penitentiary from this county while he was sheriff, and there seemed to be others of the same ilk.

Officers and members of the North Nebraska Live Stock Protective association are greatly elated over the success of capturing the team and buggy, as this was the first theft made from a member of the association. But they regret exceedingly that the thieves were not captured, as they realize that this was the most essential part of the transaction. With the situation as it is, however, having an accurate description of the men, they do not figure that the incident is closed by any means and will not be until the thieves are behind the bars, which they have every confidence will be accomplished.—Norfolk News.

The Chicago Board of Health says if you will walk from three to ten miles before breakfast these nice cool mornings you will never have lung trouble. They don't prescribe however what to take for that tired feeling it might give you.

Mr. Bryan eloquently justifies the use of the donkey as the democratic emblem. He points out that in all lands the donkey faithfully serves the common people. And how ironical it is that the common people of all lands make a practice of beating the donkey.—Kansas City Star.

The depredations of horse thieves in this section of the state is becoming so frequent that there is becoming a feeling of genuine alarm and the fact that the thieves generally manage to escape will tend to make them bolder in their operations. What a spreading opportunity for some officer to make a name for himself by capturing the gang.

The President's message to the Sixtieth congress contains practically what has been forecasted by his addresses the past few months and the document contains nothing that can be construed as a change in his policy in relation to the enforcement of existing laws and the enactment of new ones regulating corporations engaged in interstate business. Considerable stress is laid on the necessity for remedial financial legislation but the president omits making recommendations for any specific other than something that will provide a more elastic currency system. Much of the message is a repetition of his recommendations in former messages and deals with many questions that will be problems for future rather than present consideration. The message as a whole will be well received by the people and just about what they have come to expect from a Chief Executive who does things.
