SPLENDID PROGRESS

Good Results from School Consolidation at Sholes

EXPERIMENT IS A SUCCESS

From an Address of Prof. Robinson of Sholes School Before N. E. Nebraska Association at Norfolk

Did you ask me what has been the characterizing feature of the past few decades, I should answer, progress. Progress along not only one line, but along almost every line. Had your father, or mine, been told when a boy that the things which were then considered 'indispensable,' would before he reached his three score and ten years, become entirely unnecessary, he would have had some scruples concerning the veracity of such a statement. Had one told him instead of plowing his ground with a walking plow, sowing his grain by hand, reaping it with a sickle and pounding it out with a flail: that his son would turn over the soil with a steam plow, follow this with a broadcast seeder, sit in the shade of an umbrella while he drove his team to the self-binder and act only as an overseer while the steam thrasher and its crew delivered the harvest to granaries, your father or mine would have been impressed somewhat as are you and I impressed by the fairy stories which we tell to our pupils. Had the mother been told, instead of setting the milk aside, waiting for cream to rise, churning it with an old-fashioned churn and carrying the butter to market in a clothes basket; that her daughter would at once separate the milk from the cream; sit in a rocker while the goat in a tread-mill turned the churn, and then with her filly to rubber tired buggy deliver the product to the village store, her incredulity would equal that of her husband. Yes, this is a day of progress; but the end is not yet. I am told of a machine which holds the milk, milks the cow, and at the same time, should she attempt to kick, picks up the stool and whacks her over the head very much as you or I would do it.

The man, who a short time ago, wrote to his friend on important business and waited a week for a reply, now steps to the telephone and talks the matter over. Instead of congregating in the village post office and discussing the contents of a weekly newspaper, you and I, while waiting for our breakfast, read of incidents that occurred only the day before, ten thousand miles away. The knight, of half a century ago, won the fair lady, as they tramped across the meadow, sat by the open fire place, or rode from the spelling school in an ox-cart. Now the feat is accomplished by the seaside rattle, an evening at the theatre, or the moonlight ride in the automobile, and I suspect that, even now, some of you young fellows are contemplating a trip among the stars. So, I might call your attention to the 'improvement in science, art literature,' all bearing out the statement that this is, indeed, a day of wonderful progress.

But the progress of an age depends upon the education of its people. So then, let us look for a few minutes at the progress along educational lines. [None will question the statement that there has been much improvement in the methods of teaching since the time of Ichabod Crane. When the only intellectual qualification required was a knowledge of the three R's, that is, "reading," "writin'" and "rithmetick," (with, of course, the ability to pronounce a list of long words as a sort of side issue.) When muscle counted for more than brain; when the teacher's success was estimated, not so much by the quality of instruction given as by the amount of whipping done.

It is plainly evident that the present facilities for the education of the child are far superior to those of any other time. The log school house with its bare floor, its clap-board roof and its straight back seats, is now an object of curiosity. The little sod structures, that once adorned our western prairies, are fast falling to decay. In their place has come the modern frame building, with its hard wood floor, its spacious walls and its convenient furniture. As a rule, the grounds are fenced, kept free from weeds and, in many instances, well decorated. A teacher is employed at a salary of $45 per month, new books added occasionally and other supplies provided as needed. The school is composed of from ten to twenty of the smaller children for the greater part of the year, with several of the older ones for a few months during the winter. A literary society is organized, an entertainment given on certain occasions, there is apparently no idleness, and so, while the farmer is plowing his ground, feeding his hogs and marketing his cattle, he is led to believe that educational matters in his particular district are progressing very nicely. But a visitor is impressed by the fact that there is much irregularity of attendance. A boy who is present today fails to appear tomorrow. In investigating he finds the most trivial excuses. It may be the boy is losing interest. The visitor notices also that many who are present are unemployed or sit staring at their books with a listless expression. A recitation is called and several of them stalk hurriedly to the long bench on the platform or hasten to line themselves up with their backs against the wall. After a few minutes spent in answering random questions they are told to take the next lesson and then file back to their seats. This of course, causes some disturbance; but before they are all nicely located the same thing is repeated, and often to the extent of twenty times during the day. In as much as the school is composed of a half dozen grades and pupils of all ages, the younger ones are necessarily neglected while the teacher turns her attention to the older ones. The older ones are in turn neglected while she turns her attention to the younger ones. When neglected these pupils entertain themselves by pinching the boy next to them, tying some girl's apron string to the seat, or shooting paper wads at the chalk marks on the wall. These things continue and at the close of the year the boy or girl is not much ahead of where he started, so far as practical knowledge is concerned. Even with our improved conditions there is still something wrong. The country boy and girl are not getting that to which they are entitled, namely, equal educational advantages with the most favored child in the city school. What is to be done? Let us consolidate. Let us take those districts in which such conditions exist, erect a large central building, employ the best teachers money can obtain and give the child in the rural sections the advantage of a high school training. It can be done. It has been done in twenty-one states of the Union, including our great state of Nebraska. No one will dare venture an opinion that under favorable circumstances, consolidation is impossible. Conceding then, that it is altogether possible, let us see whether it pays. What are we working for? Better educational advantages for the country people, in other words, to hasten the coming of the "better day." Will consolidation do it? Undoubtedly it will. It will create a new sentiment in the whole community. People who have been indifferent to anything, pertaining to education will, if you permit me a slang expression, "begin to sit up and take notice." Those large boys who have not been in school for years will begin to come in. Parents that can't afford to pay the expense of their boy or girl at the city high school, will welcome the opportunity which enables them to carry on their education at only a fraction of the cost. I know that personal references are often tiresome so I shall not burden you with them. But, in the consolidated district with which it is my pleasure to be connected, I find that in the three old districts there was an attendance of about thirty-five pupils. The enrollment in one of them reached twenty-eight, but this was of course, for only a short time during the winter. Now we have an enrollment of seventy-eight and find that with but few exceptions the older ones are remaining in school. The fact that he is associating with those of his own age, that he is meeting with the competition which calls for the best there is in him, that the old methods which failed to reach him have been done away with, cause the boy to take a more favorable view of school life. Men have said to me: "Last year I had to drive my boy to school, now I can't keep him at home." Get that big, tall, awkward country boy into school and you have some good material to work on. My observation has led me to conclude that the average country boy is made of the right kind of stuff. He knows what work is and is not afraid to take hold of it. His evenings are spent at home with his parents and not with the questionable society of the

DROWNED IN TANK

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Livinghouse

CHILD WAS 17 MONTHS OLD

While Playing at the Watering Trough She Falls in and is Drowned

Vera May the little seventeen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Livinghouse who lives two miles south of town was drowned in a water trough Tuesday and the parents are distracted over the tragic death of their little one.

As to just how the accident happened no one will ever know. The father saw the child at the watering trough early in the forenoon and told her she must not play there and she started for the house. It is supposed she returned and climbed up on the edge and fell in. The trough was about two feet in depth and there was not over a foot and a half of water in it. The mother missing the little one sometime later went out to hunt her and found her in the trough. Dr. Williams was immediately summoned but he said the child was dead before she was taken out of the water. There were three children in the family and this was one of twin girls. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church conducted by Rev. Sharpe. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

streets. Many boys in the town, in the city, are unemployed from four o'clock in the afternoon until nine the next morning. Idleness is the devil's workshop; and while the father is busy at his office, maybe, and while the mother is at the Shakespear club or the whist party; the boy is contracting habits of dishonesty, sin and vice. Now, I haven't said that all mothers attend the whist parties, nor that all boys in our towns contract bad habits; but, I say that some of them do, and I know what I'm talking about. Now I hold that with the consolidated school, the country child will have the same advantage as the city child, with no outside attractions, such as cheap shows, the pool hall and the public dance, to keep his time and attention from his books.

During the past there has been a cry, a complaint that people are leaving the country and crowding into the cities. They think farm life a drudgery and long for an opportunity to educate their children and to enjoy some of the so called pleasures in life. To keep the young people satisfied on the farm, is yet a serious problem. I believe, I know that the consolidated school will help to solve it. But, you say there are many obstacles in the way of consolidation. Yes that is true. And the one obstacle that presents itself most forcibly to the farmer is the transportation idea. He wonders how he is to get his children to and from the school. Well that is worth considering. Read Mr. Kern's great book, "Among Country Schools," and see how this is accomplished in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, and some of the adjoining states. At our school in Wayne county we have a barn which affords room for twenty-six horses. Each family furnishes its own conveyance. Some of the children come from a distance of three and a half miles; but are not often absent and seldom tardy. None have yet complained that their children suffered with the cold. Knowing that they have a distance to go they are dressed for the ride. Parents have told me that they would rather have their children ride three miles in a covered vehicle, and then come into a clean, well ventilated and well heated building, than to have them walk a mile or a mile and a half thru mud or snow and then with wet shoes and stockings, stand shivering over the stove in a cold building. Teacher, have you gone into your school room some cold morning, started a fire in the old stove which smoked whenever the wind happened to be in a wrong direction; have you shoveled the snow from the windows on the north side of the building, and then moved the seats near the stove that the little ones might not freeze while they pondered over their thumb worn books; well, I have done these things and again I know what I'm talking about. Now don't you county superintendents go away from here and say that I said such condition exist everywhere; for I never said that. But I say that such conditions do exist, that they have existed, and that

RURAL MAIL ROUTES HAVE RAPID GROWTH

Remarkable Progress Made in Decade in Establishment of Service in Country Districts.

37,728 CARRIERS ON THE LIST.

Appropriation Has Grown to 23 Million Dollars, and the Ultimate Limit Cannot Be Estimated.

Washington correspondent: "The close of the year 1907 served to call to mind several of the radical changes this country has witnessed in the preceding decade..."

"Beginning with a modest initial appropriation of $40,000, of which only about $15,000 was expended, this now far-reaching postal scheme started its existence with eighty-three carriers. In seven years the cost of the service jumped to $12,000,000, with 25,500 carriers..."

"No such stupendous figures as these were contemplated by those who at the outset favored rural service, as the proposition at the time met with considerable opposition in some quarters..."

"The country is increasing in population, however, so rapidly that new service is destined to keep pace therewith. The cost of new service for last year was approximately $873,000, and these figures, as against the total cost of the old service, will give the public and the student of postal affairs an idea of the probable future yearly expenditure for this item."

"There are fifteen States in the Union in which there are in operation over 1,000 rural free delivery postal routes. The three States containing the largest number of routes are: Illinois, the 'barnier rural free State,' with 2,771 routes; Ohio, being a close second with 2,043; and Iowa third with 2,114. The other principal States with their respective number of routes are as follows: Indiana, 2,112; Pennsylvania, 2,058; Missouri, 1,943; Michigan, 1,831; New York, 1,769; Kansas, 1,628; Texas, 1,605; Tennessee, 1,544; Wisconsin, 1,541; Minnesota, 1,512; Georgia, 1,460; and North Carolina, 1,179."

"The fact that over 3,000 postoffices have been discontinued and their territories are being served by rural free delivery tells a story in itself of the modifications of the system and what it means to the millions of rural residents from Maine to California who are daily placed in touch with the outside world."

"As a result of the establishment of rural delivery and the necessity for the maintenance of good roads to insure its continuance great activity has been displayed in various parts of the country looking toward the improvement of road conditions."

"Taken all in all, the establishment of the service as an entirety may be said to be one of the accomplishments of the times in which we live, and as great as have been the results already attained they may be considered small to what will accrue in the next generation."

A Charity Expert's Opinion. Editor Devine of the Charities, organ of the leading charity organization of New York, says that while it may be debatable whether under present conditions public meetings in the interest of the unemployed are advisable, he is convinced that the suppression of them by the police is "contrary to sound public policy." In his opinion the old-time town hall should be re-established in a form adapted to modern urban conditions. It is right to hold public meetings and discuss freely any real or imaginary grievances, he thinks there is no subject for which the right should be asserted more vigorously than that of the unemployed. It is his belief that "under the apprehension of anarchy we have come to entrust our police departments with a degree of arbitrary power in the matter of breaking up assemblies of citizens, which is greater than it should be, and we have strangely indifferent to the manner in which they are exercising it."

Would Isolate All Anarchists. The suggestion that the advocates of anarchy be sent to some island where they could try out their theories of freedom and an government is offered by the Rev. Dr. P. S. McArthur of the Calvary Baptist church, New York, in his latest sermon. He expresses the belief that a brief experience in the actual practice of these theories would make anarchists of the Berkman and Goldman type glad enough to return to civilization which they now denounce and try to destroy, while the rest of the world would be glad to get rid of the element which would follow their theories on this lovely island. Dr. McArthur does not hesitate to connect the inventives and activities of the better class of Socialists with the throwing of the bomb in Union Square.

May Be Oldest of Temples. At Bisya, Central Babylonia, excavators have unearthed what is believed to be the oldest known temple. The first inscription on the surface was on a brick stamped with the name of Dungi, which goes back to 2750 B. C. Below this were bricks inscribed to the reign of Sargon, the first Semitic king of Babylon, in 3800 B. C. Older bricks were found near the corner shape used in 4000 B. C.

Washington Gossip

If one desires to know about all that has been learned of the relation of milk to public health, it can be found in the report on the subject which Surgeon-General Wyman has lately made to the Secretary of the Treasury. In passing, it may be remarked that it seems strange for a health officer to be a subordinate of the chief financial officer of the government, and have to make reports to him. The surgeon-general's investigation was under the direction of the President, who wished to direct attention to the need of protecting the milk supply of the cities from contamination, and to the importance of so treating the milk, given to young children that their lives might not be put in danger. The report, of course, recommends pasteurization, that is, raising the milk to a temperature of one hundred and forty degrees, and keeping it there for twenty minutes. This kills the common disease germs without injuring the milk. Tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria are communicated by milk, to say nothing of the innumerable bowel troubles. Seventy-two cases of diphtheria were traced last year to a dairy where a milk-cow was washed by a person attending a diphtheria patient. He did not attend to give the disease to others, nor does any milk-producer deliberately give the proper precautions against contaminated milk. He usually sins through ignorance, but the time is rapidly passing when such ignorance can be excused.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued a special report made in connection with the preparation of a uniform system of accounting for all interstate railroads. It shows how the railroads have been interwoven into vast systems of stock control, and makes possible a uniform balance sheet. For the first time it gives official statistics of the amount of stock in the hands of the general public. Out of about $18,000,000,000 of outstanding railroad securities, $5,500,000,000 is held by the corporations, leaving in the hands of the public $7,800,000,000 of funded debt and $4,700,000,000 of stocks.

In order to make room on the flag for the forty-sixth star, which must slide there on the Fourth of July, the new flag will be entirely rearranged. There will be six rows, four containing eight stars each and two containing seven. This leaves two vacant spaces for future occupation. A change in the flag involves an expense of many thousands of dollars. The army will need about thirty-five hundred new flags, and the Treasury Department will have to supply about four hundred and fifty for federal buildings throughout the United States.

An Indian fight took place on the floor of the United States Senate the other day. Of course neither Indian lost his scalp. Senator Curtis of Kansas and Owen of Oklahoma, both of whom had Indian ancestors, disagreed over the propriety of designating Mr. Owen as a "ward of the government." The necessity of treating the Indians as national wards is disappearing rapidly, and the controversy between Chokee and Kaw on the floor of the Senate is a picturesque reminder of what it taking place.

The President in a letter to the Attorney General has directed proceedings by injunction to compel certain railroads of the South, where Jim Crow cars are operated, to furnish equal accommodations to white and colored passengers, as ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission. He refers particularly to the case of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, which has not complied with the order.

The Signal Office of the War Department has received ten bids for the construction of a dirigible balloon, the bids running from $5,000 to $33,000. The specifications cover the construction of a balloon to carry a combined weight of 350 pounds and at least 100 pounds of ballast, and to have a speed of twenty miles per hour in still air.

The United States Patent Office reports that in the last year there has been an increase of 100 per cent in the number of applications for aeronautical patents, the majority of ideas dealing with a combination of the aeroplane and the dirigible balloon.

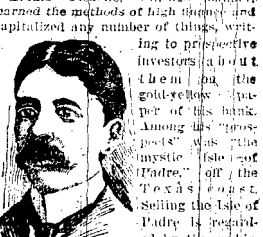

The Marine Hospital Service, in ordering the yellow fever quarantine against Cuba, has excepted the Havana district, this exception being made upon the assurance of Governor Magoon that Havana is now a clean city.

Archibald Tisdelle, Chicago banker, earned the methods of high theory and capitalized any number of things, writing to prospective investors about it. Then he got the gold-yellow paper of his bank. Among his "prospects" was this "mystic" (sic) of "Padre," off the Texas coast. Selling the Isle of Padre is required by the sophisticated Tisdelle to a banker Tisdelle, pretty much as selling the Masonic Temple to the countryman who ranges into Chicago. The reef is 70 miles long by three miles wide. It is extremely rich in high quality phosphate. When Tisdelle's bank failed for $41,000 he said he bought the island to satisfy the demands of a beautiful real estate developer of the gentler sex. He claims a $2,000 interest in the island. The formal charges against Tisdelle is that of forming deposits after he knew his little bank was insolvent.

More than any other man in charge of the making of appointments and to him the postmaster general is much of the time in the service. The position is a time has been filled by distinguished men. It has been a position of great honor and responsibility. The incumbent is a man of high character and ability. He is a man of high character and ability. He is a man of high character and ability.

Ed T. Rustin, a teacher who was president of the new school board at Shawtown, Iowa. He is the only bachelor that ever has held the office in the sixty years of the board's existence.

Baddy beaten in his debt with the money kings, F. Augustus Heinze will desert Wall street and return to the West. He has been a man of high character and ability. He is a man of high character and ability. He is a man of high character and ability.

Western cities all about and will attempt to rebuild the great fortune which has melted away in a few short months since he tried to show New York financiers the way to play the money game. Mr. Heinze started copper fifteen years ago on his graduation from Columbia College as a mining engineer. Making his headquarters in Butte, he piled up millions, making the Amalgamated and Standard and crowding in a bitter conflict extending over years. His enemies accuse his downfall after he reached New York, as he did not know so much about finance as he did about copper. He says, however, he will return when he makes another fortune and try them another whirl.

The investigation of the great Lake frauds in the West has involved many public men from southern down to now it involves an army officer—Major H. M. Chittenden, of the Corps of Engineers. The major has charge of the engineering work in the Seattle district. The Attorney General's office charges him with defrauding the government in the matter of public land locations. Mr. Chittenden's brother and five other men and their wives are also accused. It is charged that Major Chittenden is his brother fraudulently obtained land of 640 acres of valuable land in Skagit County valued at $1,000, the entry being made by the men involved. Major Chittenden is a West Point graduate and has a good record and the charges against him are not believed in the army.

Miss Ida Lewis, keeper of the Rock lighthouse in Newport, R. I., is preparing to take a brief vacation, her first in fifty years. It is said that she never in fifty years has been in bed for more than a few days. She is a woman of high character and ability. She is a woman of high character and ability. She is a woman of high character and ability.

The trustees of the University of Wyoming have removed President F. M. Tisdelle on charges of maladministration, insubordination and untruthfulness. Tisdelle charged the trustees with hurling the university by political machination. He is a nephew of United States Senator Clark.

The board of managers of Swarthmore college has declined to accept land and coal property bequeathed to the institution by the late Anna T. Jones of Philadelphia, on condition that all participation in intercollegiate athletic sports and games cease.

The trustees of Carleton college have decided to take a year for the selection of a new president. In the meantime the college affairs will be administered by a faculty committee with the dean as chairman.

Because prohibition has stopped the revenue formerly received by Mobile, Ala. schools from the sale of liquor, the school board has made sweeping reductions in the salaries of the teachers of the city. The kindergarten, music and manual training departments are eliminated from the school work. The assistant superintendent is abolished. A tuition fee of $16 annually is made to the high school.

The House by a vote of 257 to 5, passed the bill for the restoration of the motto, "In God We Trust," in gold letters, Representative Moore said that the President had assured him that he would not oppose this course if the House so willed.

WELCOME ARCH AT UNION STATION DENVER

When the delegates to the Democratic national convention alight from the train at the Union station in Denver, they will be greeted by a handsome arch, erected at a cost of $25,000. Thousands of tourists and delegates to national conventions have passed through this arch and have marveled at its beauty and monumental proportions.

The arch was begun early in 1906, and is 175 feet high, 175 feet wide and 175 feet deep. It is made of granite and is supported by four massive pillars. It is a masterpiece of architecture and is a fitting monument to the city of Denver.

ship of the Fortnightly Club carried out a successful surprise on one of their number, Mrs. W. D. Buchanan on Monday afternoon. A jolly time was had and the afternoon wound up with a tempting spread in the way of basket supper which the ladies brought with them. Mrs. Buchanan was presented with a souvenir spoon. She leaves today for Chicago where she visits for a short time before going on to Ada, Ohio, the home of her parents.

A young sixteen year old Wayne girl who is stopping with relative in the country in a fit despondency took a dose of strychnine with suicidal intent one day this week. A physician was hastily summoned and was in time to save the girl's life. The parents naturally feel very badly over it and while the first thought is to give names and full details of the affair it may be a charitable thing sometimes not to give full publicity. So far as is known there was no reason whatever for the act and still there are those who are inclined to ascribe a motive entirely wrong and unjust.

The Acme and U. D. club ladies of Wayne were tendered a reception by the membership of the Fortnightly club at the Jas. Bush home, Friday afternoon, April 17. In harmony with the Easter season the spacious rooms of the home were tastefully decorated. Aside from the club colors of turquoise and gold, hanging from the walls and ceiling in paper festoons, Easter lilies and joughills were numerous about the house. A fine dinner was served on a "Flower and Plant Ball" provided considerable entertainment. The refreshments were excellent and served in a very tasty way, while each guest was presented with a joughill flower.

Otto Voget Jr., is preparing to give a concert in the opera house on May 7th. Mr. Voget will go to New York about the middle of May to investigate a proposition that has been made to him by a large piano manufacturing company to take a position as general manager traveling in the United States, Canada, Germany and France. If he accepts this position the concert he will give Wayne will be something in the nature of a farewell concert. Mr. Voget's splendid musical talent is well known to Wayne people and the concert will be directed by him and participated in by several of his pupils. A variety of musical instruments will be used

An amateur automobilist was asked why he called his touring car a run-about. "Why," he said, "it runs about ten miles out of town before it breaks down, then I run about the country to get a team to haul it home, and run about a hundred dollars in debt to get the run-about repaired. What is becoming one of the leading revenue producers at this locality is the cream business which is now bringing to farmers in this vicinity over $700 a week in cash. The average of seventy cans of cream a week which is now being shipped will be increased as soon as the cattle get on grass. The prospects are that Wayne's public park will show a wonderful improvement this year. With city water at hand to keep the trees and shrubbery growing all the time and a man at work in the park a good part of the time it will not be long before the city park will be the pride of the city. The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson of Omaha has been very sick with diphtheria at the home of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gamble and the family have been quarantined. The bazaar and supper given Tuesday at the opera house by the ladies of the Catholic church was well attended and the bazaar and supper netted about $100. There were many beautiful and useful articles on sale at the bazaar. In the evening a dance was given which was well attended by the young people. With all the inconveniences the "Merry Widow" hats are causing as reported by the daily papers it is a relief to know that the ladies of Wayne if they wear the "Merry Widows" at all, chose the medium sizes. A few good old fashioned windy days ought to make the 38-inch "Merry Widows" an unpopular piece of headgear. J. L. Davis, local registrar, says all the signs indicate we are going to have war. He makes these predictions from the fact that the birth record reports he gets are nearly all for boys. For instance the last six birth reports made to him are for boys. The following homes have been gladdened with new sons: Archie Likes, John Nellon, John Coleman, Frank Larson, Wm. Wright and Bernard Grome.

Howard Whalen won out in the contest for the election of delegate from the Ben. Hur lodge to the national gathering at Crawfordsville, Indiana, on May 19th. There were four candidates for the place from this district which represents about twenty-five lodges and there are but three delegates from the state. Mr. Whalen's success is largely due to the Wayne Ben Hur lodge, and shows that the local lodge is composed of hustlers.

Saturday April 25th will be the opening day at our Ice Cream parlor. In presenting our souvenir and compliments to our customers on this the opening of the Ice Cream season of 1908, we wish to thank them for the liberal patronage already afforded us. Our aim is to have a Cream for our customers. To make a first Ice Cream requires skill and many years experience. Combined with the very best machinery and pure materials. The liberal patronage which we are now enjoying, demonstrates to us that the trade appreciates the use of strictly pure cream, fruits and flavors.—H. Whalen.

The Degree of Honor work team consisting of eighteen ladies and captioned by one lone man, E. M. Peterson went to Emerson Tuesday afternoon and initiated fourteen candidates into the order at that place. The ladies are greatly pleased with the royal entertainment given them by the Emerson ladies. An elegant six o'clock supper was served. Everybody had a good time except Captain Peterson, who had to carry the eighteen grips and be general utility man for the team. Peterson however is greatly pleased that he got back home without being kidnapped.

The Effect on the Nerves of Gambling.

How can a man do his daily work quietly, which represents perhaps only the earning of a few shillings, when his anxious and nervous self is wondering how a horse he has never seen, ridden by a jockey he has only heard of, in a race he has only read about, is faring as to money? ostensibly his, which he cannot afford to lose because he has not perhaps got it if he should have to pay? Is such an existence likely to add to the race value of our stock of feeling patriotism?—Fry's Magazine.

CHICAGO.

Easter Trade in Personal Needs Rose to Satisfactory Proportions and Retail Sales Generally Made a Seasonable Recovery.
Higher temperature stimulating the demand in leading lines. Favorable weather conditions at interior points induced a wider absorption of light weight apparel, and there is increase in the receipt of retailers requiring immediate shipment.

Later buyers have found the reduction of stocks better than was expected and many now find it difficult to obtain all the goods required. Visiting merchants from the principal states and report their local conditions as being better than they were a few weeks ago. A large number of orders and numerous new towns springing up under the influence of railroad construction through promising territory.

Forwarding by the wholesale houses continues exceptionally large in dry goods, foodstuffs, housewares and hardware, and there is also increasing activity in vehicles, counting and sporting goods. Mail orders from mail men make an important feature in clothing, woolens, footwear and furniture for fall deliveries, and this outlook affords some encouragement with the outlook for the coming year.

Physicians disclose some decline in the first-hand tonnage, foreign orders being smaller, but there is returning strength in the markets for hides and wool, and wool displays increasing consumption.

Merchandise collections in the West and Southwest make a good showing, banks reports steadily grow and further ease appears in the discount rate for accommodation. Financial conditions do not indicate that liquidation has run its course, but commercial defaults include none of notable significance, and the volume of business through the banks again is seen to compare favorably with that of a year ago.

Operations in the prominent manufacturing centers present no material change in production. More interest is noted in real estate and construction. Shipments of lumber have gained and more hands hold work in the yards and at planing mills. Furniture and plate mill outputs remain much less than normal, but additional contracts for rate and structural steel about the period of assured activity.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 27, against 23 last week and 17 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 numbered 16, against 10 last week and 6 a year ago.

NEW YORK.

Easter trade at retail, though affected by unfavorable weather, is on the whole fair. Collections show slight improvement at a few centers and filling in orders by jobbers are a trifle better, but reports from leading industries are no more favorable, rather more weakness is noted in iron and steel, and fall trade in leading lines is still disappointing backward. The dullness in building lines, expenditures for the first quarter being 40 percent below 1907—affects all the lines of materials and export and import trade are declining, indicating the first decrease in foreign trade from the preceding fiscal year noted for five years past.

The number of idle hands is as large as for some time past, wage reductions curtail buying power and the number of failures continues far ahead of a year ago. Unemployment in pig iron is very high and in steel it has been made to attract even the small business going. Finished iron and steel are likewise quiet and rail orders are only fair. Prices are exceptionally dull, and fabricators, of structural material, particularly in the Chicago district, have made some low quotations on business recently looked, although there is no evidence that the shapes have brought lower than list prices.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 11th number 211, against 258 last week, 107 in the first week of 1907, 417 in 1906, 192 in 1905 and 199 in 1904. Canadian failures for the week ending April 10th number 29, against 28 last week and 18 in this week a year ago.—Breadstreet's Commercial Review.

FARM AND GARDEN

There is no better time for setting trees than late in fall.

Success on the farm depends upon having everything done systematically and at the proper time.

One a week is not enough to salt the sheep. Have it where they can get what they want every day.

For the year 1907 the poultry products of the country exceeded in value the whole of the hay crop.

Land plaster is not a fertilizer, but will liberate potash, and shows a marked benefit on clay and sandy land to clover.

It is the March hatched chicks that make the November layers, which are the most profitable members of the whole flock.

Sheep and young stock should never be yarded together. The young stock will be pretty sure to chase the sheep, and that means trouble every time.

Never drive a sheep deep into the snow. If you do, make up your mind that loss will follow. It simply takes the tick out of a sheep to wade in deep snow.

The best method to cure sore backs on horses is to dissolve one-half ounce of blue vitriol in a pint of water and dab the injured parts with it four or five times a day.

Alfalfa has shown this season that it will stand all kinds of reverses and still make a big crop. Those who were lucky enough to have a few acres of it are preparing to sow more next spring.

Anyone who buys an incubator thinking all that is necessary is to load it, light the lamp and let it do the rest, "all by its lonesome," should take a few lessons in common sense from a sitting hen.

It is a question in some parts of the country which would be the most profitable thing to do, to keep dogs or sheep. This dog nuisance is an old one and it is a wonder that more States do not come to the rescue of the sheepmen that already have.

Cultivation is intended to destroy weeds, prevent the ground from drying out, and to admit the air to the soil, so as to keep the plant food soluble. Cultivation does not add any water to the soil, but prevents that already there from getting away.

Uncle Sam's unappropriated and unreserved acres for the American homesteaders amount to approximately 792 million acres. Such is the report. Not all of this is available, nevertheless there are still millions of acres that can be very profitably put to the plow.

Hay scattered about on the ground for sheep is largely lost to them. They will tread it down and waste it. Put it into good racks. Give only what they will eat up clean. Other stock does not like to eat hay that sheep have holed over.

Providing young stock gets plenty of good nutritious food, they can stand a good deal of exposure and gain in constitution. It must not be thought, however, that animals can gain in constitution where they are made to suffer hardships.

A writer in a dairy paper in pleading for better treatment for the hired man puts it in this way, "Therefore, dairymen, put the club away, scold less, brace up, boost up the hired man. He is just as sensitive as your cow."

It is quite likely that there are some hired men that don't know whether the above is a compliment or not.

Of different food products for farm animals a chemical analysis shows dry alfalfa hay to be just about equal pound for pound to bran. In a ton of the former there are 220 pounds of protein, 792 pounds of carbohydrates and 24 pounds of fat. In the same weight of bran there are 244 pounds of protein, 772 pounds of carbohydrates and 60 pounds of fat. These figures explain why alfalfa is such a boon to those sections of the country where it can be successfully grown. Red clover hay is an excellent substitute for alfalfa, a ton containing 128 pounds of protein, 716 pounds of carbohydrates and 24 pounds of fat.

The plague of the "White Nun." From present indications it appears that the dreaded "white nun" butterfly, which in previous years caused such injury to plum forests in Bohemia, is likely this year to reappear in even greater numbers. The Ministry of Agriculture has, therefore, appointed a commission of experts to consider how best to stop the ravages of this destructive pest. Beginning in the forests of Saxony and Bohemia, the "white nun" has gradually spread over Moravia and Silesia, and even down to Lower Austria as well. As the forest lands in Austria cover some 24,000,000 acres, more than two-thirds of which are pine woods, the necessity for stopping this work of destruction is very urgent.

Dairy Notes.
Home dairy butter making for private city trade is the most profitable way to dispose of the dairy product. It imposes more work upon the dairymen and his family, but gives an independence unknown to the market milk producer.

Speakers at the Eastern dairy conventions and farmers' institutes are advising farmers to raise more grain. They say that the days of low-priced feeding grains have gone by, never to

BORAX, NATURE'S DISINFECTANT, CLEANSER AND PURIFIER.

Everybody realizes the necessity of some method of purification of sinks, drains and toilets in which may lurk the germ of a dreaded disease. Health is a question of cleanliness and prevention.

Most people are familiar with the use of disinfectants in their ordinary sense—all of which are unpleasantly associated with disagreeable odors, on which are depended to kill the contagion (which disinfectants must of necessity be of a more or less dangerous character) and must be used for this purpose and for no other, and in consequence kept from children and careless handling.

There is, however, within the reach of all our readers a simple, safe and economical article that will not only answer for every disinfecting purpose, but can also be used for a multitude of domestic cleansing and purifying purposes—Borax.

Borax is a pure, white harmless powder coming direct from Nature's laboratory; in fact Borax has often been called "Nature's (Cleanser and Disinfectant)."

Two tablespoonsful of Borax in a half-pint of water poured down the drain-clogged pipes of a sink, or dashed through a disease-laden drain, cleanses and purifies it, leaving it clean and sweet.

Bed clothing and clothes used in a sick room can be made hygienically clean and snowy-white. If washed in a hot solution of Borax water.

Kitchen and eating utensils, used during illness will be kept from all possibility of contagion if Borax is used when washing them. Pure as snow and harmless as salt and because it can be used for almost every domestic and medical purpose, Borax must be considered the one great household necessity.

Holding His Job.
Michael Callahan, a section boss for the Southern railroad, has been kicked out of his job. One warm afternoon while walking along the railroad tracks he found a section hand placidly sleeping beside the rails. Callahan looked disgusted, at the delinquent for a full minute and then remarked:

"Sleep on, ye lazy spalpeen, sleep on, for as long as you sleep you've got a job, but when you wake up you ain't got none."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Didn't Know Jerry.
Tomlinson Peeler (venturing to offer a suggestion)—"Entered, Into Rest would be a suitable motto, perhaps, to all that thank space."

Garfield Tea, the herb medicine, insures a healthy action of liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. Take it for constipation and sick headache. Write Garfield Tea Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., for free samples.

THE CALL OF THE SOIL.
Days of Rottened Stress Make Farm Hands Look Back.

A staff contributor of a Southern newspaper has taken up the question of the return to the farm of many who had forsaken it for the glitter of the city. He says: "It is a well-known fact that the history of this government shows that those men who have been most successful in life and who have left their impress upon its people and its institutions as statesmen, soldiers, financiers, have as a rule, been those whose youth was spent on the farm, and it is to such as these that there comes with overwhelming power THE CALL OF THE SOIL. More especially does it come with redoubled persuasiveness, greater power and sweeter pleading to the men of affairs when the clouds of financial unrest begin to darken the sky; when the cry of panic comes to people to lose their wits and act like stampeded cattle when with reason or without reason there arises before him the specter of ruin, gaining in his face and waving its gaunt arms in threatening postulation.

The habitable state into which some men were brought by the recent financial flurry, which happily is now passed, suggests these reflections. Some were ruined and a very few became insane because of their losses. Two or three lost their own lives.

It is when such times come that the statesman, the great financier, and the man of affairs becomes tired of the struggle. He lays down his pen, turns from his desk and listens to THE CALL OF THE SOIL.

There are hundreds of cases throughout the United States of those who have money in the banks and are looking for investment in lands. No investment is better or safer. Take for instance, the lands in Western Canada that can be bought at from $10 to $15 per acre which yield a revenue equal to and often greater than their original cost. These lands make a certain investment. During the past two months large investments in these lands have been made, some intending to use the lands for farming purposes of their own, others to re-sell to farmer friends. The agents of the government of Canada located at different points throughout the United States have in their possession particulars of districts in which there are free homestead grants of 100 acres, each accessible to railroads, markets, schools, churches, etc. These are valuable lands. These agents will be pleased to give information to any desirous of acquiring and will tell all about the railway rates, etc.

—S. C. N. U. — No. 17—1908.

The General Demand of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value, a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

SKIN SORE EIGHT YEARS.
Spent $300 on Doctors and Remedies, but Got No Relief—Cuticura Cures in a Week.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affliction. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies and several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success, but this is today the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I went to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fitz Herchel, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 21 and April 6, 1904."

Worse than Cold Storage Eggs.
The bank cashiers had been considering the application of the titled spendthrift for a large loan.

"So," they finally announced, "on the strength of a mere rumor that you are engaged to a plutocrat's daughter, we have decided that we cannot advance more than 5 cents on every $100.00 of his reputed wealth."—Chicago Tribune.

Tenative.

"Eyes, yes," he seems to be considering whether to be devoted to you or not."
