AN OPEN LETTER

Heart to Heart Talk to Democrats of Third District

Bixby, the genial poet-philosopher of the Lincoln Journal has dipped into democratic politics in the Third district. "Bix" in characteristic style has written an open letter to unburden his thoughts.

He writes:

To the Democrats of the Third Congressional district—Dear Democrats: The Columbus Telegram of the 8th inst. contains a signed editorial from the trenchant pen of Edgar Howard in which he declares himself a candidate for congress subject to the decision of the democratic and populist primaries in September. Right above that editorial is the paid announcement of J. P. Latta of Tekamah, who is also a candidate. To be honest, I don't think it is worth while for a democrat to run in that district unless he needs the exercise, but it isn't accounted the part of political wisdom to lie down and let the other fellow run over you because he happens to be the bigger and better man. Party organization must be maintained, and that can only be done by immitation of ambitious ones on the altar.

Take notice, please, that something less than a year ago I suggested the name of Henry Cabot Richmond of Fremont as a friend of the people whom the democrats ought to honor with the nomination for congress. The suggestion was received with some enthusiasm as far north as Boyd county, and that is about as far as you can go without falling into the Niobrara. If Richmond is a candidate I am for him still; if not, I shall feel constrained to throw the weight of my voice and influence in favor of the man from the Platte.

His opponent, Hon. J. P. Latta, has some admirable qualifications for the job, but he won't do. He is a captain of industry whose plutocratic environment puts him out of reach and sympathy with the man who is hollering for something to eat and a chance to make an honest dollar without having to make two for the other fellow. A barrel has its advantages if a man wants to sit in the shade and grow old gracefully, but it handicaps the aspirant for officials favors because under the Australian ballot system and the state-wide primary there can be no assurance that the purchased ones will stay bought, and it means bankruptcy to have to negotiate with the rank and file of an entire congressional district. In any event, if the candidate for high office has plenty of money he is expected to disburse it with rare generosity. If he declines to loosen up, he is charged with being a tightwad and treated accordingly. If he lets go he is denounced as one who is purchasing power that he may use it for the oppression of the people. It might be well for the man who aspires to make laws for the salvation of his country to sell what he has and give it to the poor before entering the political arena. It is too late for Mr. Latta to square himself in that way, so the question is shall the party turn to Judge Howard and appoint him with oil or adorn his person with the jewel of office? Why not? He stands on his record, which is well known throughout the district, and calls particular attention to his loyalty to Mr. Bryan.

Speaking of loyalty to Mr. Bryan, did you read what Frank Day said about the loyalty of the Hennepin county democrats to the same cause? He says the Bryan democrats spent ten thousand dollars trying to beat Johnson out of the delegation and then lost out. Where did they get the money and how did Frank Day know they had that much. Honestly, it looks bad for democrats to quarrel now, of all times, when they ought to be closing up ranks and putting in a stock of dornicks to fire at the other fellows.

Tentively I am for Edgar Howard for the fusion nomination for congress, is there is any fusion. Should Richmond conclude to be a candidate, then back to the first love, until after the primaries. It might clarify the situation if we could hear a word from Pikey Doody of Lost Creek township. For Howard or for Richmond—

I will not now decide;

This J. P. Latta is too rich

For poor folks to abide.

The man for whom I swing my hat,

In party politics,

Must be as thin as Kelsey's cat

And as poor as I am. Bix.

NOT FAR AWAY

Items of Interest from Nearby Localities Boiled Down For Busy Readers

J. P. Latta of Burt county who aspires to the democratic nomination for Congress is a good advertiser anyhow. He is running a want ad in most of the democratic papers of the district.

The horrifying disclosures of Mrs. Guinness' private graveyard at LaPorte, Indiana, will be a serious check on the matrimonial catalogue house way of getting a spouse. Its the safest plan to buy your goods of your home merchant as well as to select your life partner from your own community.

A Winside correspondent to the Sioux City Tribune says: While dressing an ulcerated tooth for a patient, Dr. A. B. Cherry was severely bitten. The doctor had his finger in the patient's mouth when the latter set his teeth on it like a vice. It took quite an effort to break the grip and the finger was badly bruised. Rigor of the muscles of the jaw is responsible for the accident.

For the first time in the history of the town, Winside is "dry" for a period of 24 hours. The Nebraska Anti-Saloon league, through their local representatives, filed objections to the granting of licenses to all three applicants and the saloon men, not being prepared to refute the charges at once, asked for one were granted a continuance until May 25. Until that time the town will be "dry."

The attorney for the "antis" has given notice that he will insist that each applicant must bring every person who signed his application before the town council and have them swear that they are legal resident property holders.—Winside Cor., to Sioux City Tribune.

The Sunday quietude of Hadar, Neb., was marred last Sunday by a score of irate citizens who led Otto Huebner to the public square and administered an old fashioned blue law whipping. Huebner was charged with beating his wife. Neighbors of the Huebners made the charges and an angry crowd gathered and decided to chastise the husband. About twenty of them went to the Huebner home and, giving no heed to his wordy resistance, led him to the public square. There he was stripped to his undershirt and tied to a post. Half a dozen tough switches were worn out on his back. He pleaded for mercy, but not until he got on his knees and took a solemn oath to not beat his wife again did his punishment cease. Nearly the entire town gathered to witness the whipping, which was done in a most informal manner and without interference from the authorities. Mrs. Huebner's face and arms showed plainly the result of the beating she had received.

MAE WOOD IN COURT

SENATOR PLATT'S LOVE LETTERS READ IN DIVORCE TRIAL

Senator Even Objected to Presence of Woman Friend of Bride, Explaining that What Two Women Know is No Longer Secret

Mae C. Wood, the Omaha woman who is suing United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for divorce, alleging that the senator formally entered into a marriage contract with her on Nov. 9, 1901, gave testimony in the suit at New York Monday.

She identified copies of several letters which she said were received by her from Platt. They were mainly of an affectionate nature, but in several there were interesting sentences on other affairs.

In one communication was the phrase: "Your letter has cheered me up so that I am almost reconciled to Odell's election."

A picture of the senator was shown upon the back of which was written, "to my little wife." Telling how this was written, Miss Wood said: "Well, I was sitting in his lap. Part of the time I held his hand and part of the time I held his hand."

Miss Wood said that the senator came to her room in her hotel with two men, and that he formally acknowledged her as his wife before these men.

Senator Platt was not in court Monday.

Miss Wood in her complaint declares that she was married to Senator Platt in New York on Nov. 9, 1901. She named as co-defendant in her suit Mrs. Lillian Janeway, who was married to the senator in 1903.

In his answer to the complaint the senator declares that Miss Wood's allegations that he married her about Nov. 9, 1901, in New York, are absolutely false.

GIRL'S BODY IN A CANAL

Myster Surrounds Death of Princeton Woman

The body of Miss Bertha Vanderbilt, an assistant in the Princeton, N. J., university library, who disappeared mysteriously last week, was found floating in the Raritan canal Monday morning.

Mrs. William Robinson has told the police that on the night Miss Vanderbilt disappeared she saw her in her automobile with another young woman and a man. The man is said to have been a Princeton graduate, who was a suitor of Miss Vanderbilt while in college.

He came to Princeton last Wednesday to attend a baseball game. Although part of the girl's clothing was missing, there appeared to be no signs of foul play. Miss Vanderbilt was last seen on Wednesday afternoon, and it was supposed she was drowned in an attempt to ford a stream, which flows into the canal.

PART OF BLAIN REMOVED

Jacob Ritz, 22 years old, of 1380 1/2 1/2nd avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., has been successfully through an operation at St. Mary's hospital, which cost four copies of brain.

On April 3 he tried to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. The bullet passed through the frontal lobe of the brain and fractured the skull on both sides. A tumor developed in the man's brain shortly after this, and the operation had to pass a tube through a hole in the forehead to drain it.

The man is about well now and has suffered no bad effects apparently through the loss of gray matter. He says that he is glad to be alive and will not try to take his own life again.

TO CONQUER SOLONS

Suffragettes Plan for New Invasion of London

The English suffragettes, encouraged by the success of their campaign in the constituencies where by-elections have been held recently, have organized a great demonstration of the culmination of the year's work for the woman suffrage. It will be held in Hyde Park, London, Sunday, June 24, and the organizers are expecting an attendance of 300,000 women from all parts of the country.

The suffragettes from the provinces will be met at the various railroad stations by delegations from the London organizations, and seven processions, each headed by a military band, will march to the park from different points of the compass.

Twenty speakers, all women, will harangue the assembled masses until at a given time buglers will announce that the resolution to parliament demanding a vote is about to be put. The rest is a foregone conclusion, but a lively few minutes is expected when the decision is announced. Otherwise the Sunday meeting is likely to pass off quietly, but the resolution is not to be pigeonholed. In the words of one of the leaders: "It is to be carried to parliament."

MORSE TO PAY CLAIMS

Corporation Formed in Maine to Take Care of Banker's Debts

That the private object of the organization at Bath, Me., on Saturday of the Morse Securities company, capitalized at $10,000,000, is to enable the taking over of the Morse interests in the National Bank of North America in New York, is the declaration made by friends of Charles W. Morse, until its suspension on January 27 last Mr. Morse was vice president and a director of this bank, now in the hands of Charles A. Hanna, receiver. Through the medium of this new Maine corporation, it is said, Mr. Morse now plans to deposit in the local subtreasury enough cash to pay off the depositors in full. The bank originally owed its depositors about $2,000,000, but as Receiver Hanna has already paid out $650,000 in the initial 25 per cent dividend, and intends to pay out $650,000 more next month, Mr. Morse will have to raise only $1,300,000 to pay off the rest of the claims of the depositors.

As the result of an autopsy made by Dr. Charles West, coroner's physician, it was found that May O'Connor, 8 years old, of New York, had lived for fourteen hours, conscious all the time after both hemispheres of her brain had been pierced by a steel arrow.

The girl had been struck behind the left ear by an arrow made of an umbrella rail and discharged from a box by a boy who was playing wild west at Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn.

Until within a few minutes of her death she talked with her mother and others at her bedside. Surgeons who had dressed her injuries thought that she would make by the arrow had deeply penetrated the skull and had entered the brain.

The autopsy showed that the arrow had pierced the covering of the brain and had made its way through the skull till it touched the frontal bone immediately over the left eye.

AN EARTHQUAKE IS RECORDED

Location of the Disturbance is Not Yet Known

An earthquake that lasted an hour of considerable intensity was recorded on the weather bureau seismograph at Washington, Thursday. The origin, according to the statement of Chief Moore, is approximately 2,200 miles from Washington, but while it is pointed out that Central America or the Pacific ocean west of Central America fall within this distance and might possibly be the location of the disturbance, no definite statement of its location could be made. The quake began at 3:39:52 Friday morning, and the strongest motion, which set in at 3:52, lasted for about ten minutes. The first preliminary tremors, which were very sharply defined, occupied only minutes and forty seconds.

FIGHT RATE ADVANCE

Western Shippers Seek to Check Rate's Rise

Delegates from fifty commercial and shipping associations from the west and middle west met in conference in Chicago Friday to discuss means of preventing eastern railroads from carrying into effect a proposed increase in freight rates. The conference was held under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. It is expected by the promoters of the meeting that the result will be the starting of a movement to further pending national legislation which will make it impossible for the railroads to increase rates without the consent of the interstate commerce commission.

Fred W. Upham, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, gave his reasons why such an increase should not be made at this time. He said: "The territory upon which the increased tax is to be placed, according to report, is the most fertile producing country in the world, and it pays the railroads almost $1,000,000,000 in freight. It is claimed the advance is only 10 per cent, but if our investigation is correct the advance in some instances exceeds 14 per cent."

Mr. Upham said that while the railroads are contemplating increasing their freight rates they are, at the same time, reducing their gross expenses, and he cited numerous instances to support this statement. He said: "Freight rates are very much higher in proportion to the cost of handling the business than passenger rates."

An officer located the girl at the hotel and kept her under close surveillance for nearly two hours before Knudson put in an appearance. The man walked by the sitting room and motioned to the girl to come outside. Before they had time to exchange greetings they were taken into custody.

The girl at first seemed self-posessed, but wept bitterly upon the arrival of her father. Knudson, who came to the city Saturday morning, said he had no intention of running away with the girl, but that she was dissatisfied with her home and came here to get her own good. He had, he said, volunteered to assist in such a situation for her. The girl left home without the knowledge of her parents. She told her father that she was glad he came for her and that she never again would leave home.

OMAHA WOOL RATES LOWEST

Storage Schedules Show Up Best Compared with Others

Rates of storage were announced by the Omaha Wool and Storage company, Wednesday, and comparison with the rates in any other wool market shows that the Omaha rates are the lowest in the United States.

The first proposition was to make a flat rate of 5 cents per pound per month, which is the average rate charged in other warehouses, but some of the eastern markets, which are maintaining a decline as a result of the government's wool heave at Omaha, gave notice of a sliding scale of rates. The matter was taken up at once with the Omaha company and they decided to make the lowest schedule of rates in the United States. The following are the rates announced:

Arrangements were also completed Wednesday for insuring the wool placed in the Omaha warehouses at the exceptionally low rate of 60 cents per 100.

The terms offered by the Omaha company and the inducements extended by the Omaha banks are the most liberal of any in the United States. While the commission houses of Boston have been advertising from 25 to 50 per cent on the value of the wool in cash and charging interest on the settlement is made the Omaha Wool and Storage company, in a letter to the growers of the west, makes the following statement:

"Sworn certificates of weight will be furnished, making same negotiable for loans. Arrangements are being perfected to hold in hand a stock covering 50 per cent of the value of your wool at a rate of 6 per cent per annum and 1 per cent commission."

It has also been announced that the warehouse company will pay the freight on all consignments, if desired, thus saving the grower from advance charges. It is also announced that the wool heave at Omaha is being delivered at the railroad station nearest him and billing the bill of lading to the warehouse company.

PROCLAIMER ROOSEVELT'S CONSERVATION SPEECH

Just as "any right-thinking father" envisions to lay a foundation for the prosperity of the nation, so should the nation envision the future of the next generation, and the keynote of President Roosevelt's address at the opening of the conference on the conservation of natural resources.

If the future is not wisely anticipated, President Roosevelt believes, the country as a whole will suffer greatly. Inasmuch as it is now within the power of the government and of the people to begin a sane and sensible program of conservation, why not do this? The President emphasized these points strongly. He opened his speech with a word of welcome, and then said in part:

This conference on the conservation of natural resources is in effect a meeting of the representatives of all the people of the United States called to consider the weightiest problem now before the nation, and the occasion for the meeting lies in the fact that the natural resources of our country are in danger of exhaustion if we permit the old-fashioned methods of exploiting them to continue.

It is almost impossible for us in this day of our knowledge and use of the resources of the present territory of the United States have increased a hundredfold. The growth of this nation by leaps and bounds has made it necessary to strike and important chapters in the history of the world.

It has been due to the rapid development, and also that it should be the result of the rapid development, of our natural resources.

Nature has supplied us in the United States, and still supplies us with more kinds of resources for the development of our country than has ever been the case at any other time in the history of any other people.

But the world has been so fastidious in its control we have achieved over nature, but we are more, and not less, dependent upon her for the necessities of our daily life than in any other time since the days of primitive man.

The growth of all of our natural resources, which are our national resources as well, is the great material question of our time.

I have asked you to come together now because the enormous consumption of these resources and the threat of imminent exhaustion are now before us. We are now in a position where the question of moral purpose, it is safe to say that the prosperity of our people depends directly upon the conservation of our natural resources. The state and its people are helplessly impoverished and the great purpose of government defeated.

It is equally clear that these resources are the final basis of national power and personality. The conservation of our natural resources are in the course of rapid exhaustion.

Thousands Visit Scene of Slaughter—Officials Will Push Investigation. Edward Darrow, mayor of Laporte, Ind., after a conference with prominent Chicagoans, has declared that the investigation into the Gunness murder mystery would be pushed with greater vigor. "I suspect that more fragments will be discovered. We intend to push this inquiry the way it should be pushed. There should be a more centralized effort to solve this mystery."

Laporte of late has been a morbid haunt. Morgues and mortuaries have been the centers of attraction which converted the city into a show ground, and the murder farm a circuss where the crowd would make a circus manager turn green with envy.

Thousands of curious boys, their souls craving supreme have tramped over the ruins, gazed at the open graves in the Guinness vault and struggled to tear down the floors of the barn where the disarranged skeletons of the credulous victims of Holy Guinness' blood passion and money lust lay.

On the Sunday following the discovery from dawn until darkness an alternating procession of humanity choked the narrow winding thoroughfare which leads from the town to the forested scene. While hucksters, livery men and souvenir vendors raked in the shillings from the gay throng of holiday tourists, teachers and human bone yard peddlers, the agents of the law were continuing the serious business of attempting to solve the mysterious crime.

Two letters written to Mrs. Guinness just before the fatal fire, which reached the Laporte postoffice after the four charred bodies had been removed from the ruins, are now in the hands of the authorities and some clues which may lead to the discovery of co-conspirators in her death-ringing marriage bureau are said to have been found in them.

It is the conviction of Sheriff Smitzer that Mrs. Guinness had some one associated with her in the operation of her marriage bureau. Perhaps it was Ray Lamborne. He is suspected. The probability that it might have been some one else is not, however, being overlooked.

According to a ruling of the supervisor of Stony Creek National forest no sheep will be allowed to graze on the national forests unless they are dipped before July 15.

The total acreage of wheat grown in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, Canada, this year will be about 20 per cent greater than last year, and all indications point to a record yield.

The board of food and drug inspection of the United States Department of Agriculture has issued a ruling requiring the proper labeling of hair heads and medicine for food and poultry.

METHODISTS IN CONFERENCE

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in session at Baltimore. It is an imposing gathering. It convenes once in four years and its sessions cover the month of May. It is the law-making and governing body of an ecclesiastical denomination whose church spires point heavenward in every country on the face of the globe. John Wesley, the founder of the church, declared that the world was his parish and that spirit has animated the church from the days of its missionary zeal, and the amount of money sent to heathen lands every year is marvelous.

The conference is having many important matters to consider. There is always an element in every church denomination which is ready to agitate and to revise. One element is fearful that the church will deteriorate unless the articles of faith are "modern." Others hesitate about departing

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS.

We, the Republicans of the State of Michigan, in convention assembled, hereby renew and reaffirm our allegiance to the time-honored principles of the Republican party and congratulate the people of this State upon the fact that we have during the last twelve years enjoyed a most unexampled prosperity, as the direct result of the liberal and Republican principles and policies to the affairs of government.

We most earnestly and enthusiastically endorse the administration of that great Republican leader, Theodore Roosevelt, who, in the conduct of the affairs of government, knows no Republican, no Democrat, no Jew and no Irish, but who has fearlessly and honestly administered governmental affairs during his administration in the interest of all the people.

We believe the best interests of the people of the nation will be subserved by a continuation of the policies advocated and carried into effect by President Roosevelt and in view of that fact, we hereby unqualifiedly endorse the candidacy of William H. Taft of Ohio for the presidency of the United States and instruct our delegates from the State of Michigan to cast an undivided vote of the whole State in favor of his nomination.

We look with admiration upon the course of our Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, all of whom have most consistently and ably supported the President of the United States in all important reforms which he has advocated, and congratulate the people of this State upon the fact that our delegation in Congress are at this time exercising a greater influence in the legislation of the nation than ever before.

Recognizing the Republican press of Michigan as the most active and potent agent for the dissemination of Republican doctrines and realizing the fact that the Michigan editorial association is a highly important factor in the party machinery of the State and believing that the request of the State central committee is just and reasonable.

Resolved, That the membership of the Republican State central committee be increased by the addition of two members, said members to be nominated by the Michigan Republican Editorial Association and elected by the State convention, and that the two members of the committee hereby provided for shall become members of the State central committee as soon as nominated by the association.

The constitutional convention has completed and presented to the people a revised instrument. It is replete with provisions based on the State's experience, retains all that is not obsolete and that is beneficial in the constitution of 1850, and the demands of the times, conserves the people's interests for the future, and should be adopted.

FRANKLIN'S PARIS HOME RAZED.

Old Structure Had Been in Existence More Than a Century.

A Paris correspondent writes interestingly of some changes that have been made "not far" from the Elysees, where among a number of old-fashioned houses at the corner of two narrow streets, the Rue Matignon and the Rue de Penthièvre, there has stood for more than a century an old farmhouse, which evidently belonged to another period and country, says the Boston Herald.

This house is now demolished, and was the story runs, at one time the residence of Benjamin Franklin, the first American minister to France. The writer says he had the curiosity to go and look at the place and was struck by the contrast it presented to the buildings about it.

It was simply an average-sized New England farm-house in tumbledown condition, with small windows and a thin brick wall on the ground floor, and as for the upper story, it was simply a low garret with three pointed wooden frames on the Rue de Penthièvre. The brick wall did not go beyond the ground floor, and the garretlike superstructure was of common white pine wood, which was rotten with age. The whole was covered by a dilapidated roof.

So characteristic, in fact, of old colonial and pioneer days did it look, it was easy to believe that Franklin not only lived in it, but probably had it built and furnished the design himself. It is not likely any Parisian architect in those days had seen a house like that or could have imagined the design. Little wooden stairs from the street led up to the garret on the outside of the house, and to make the picture complete the yard was closed in by a real old-fashioned New England board fence with a gate hanging lopsided on one rusty hinge, the other hinge having broken off long ago. That such a queer old cottage should be still standing within a few steps of the president's palace was itself a curiosity and shows that in those days the spot was practically in the country where Franklin, who had simple, rustic tastes, liked to reside. How many of the hordes of American tourists, or even residents, have ever known of the existence of this queer New England house in the heart of Paris?

SOCIALISTS NAME DEBS. POINTS PRESIDENT MADE IN RESOURCES SPEECH.

Chosen by the National Convention as Candidate for President.

Eugene V. Debs will once more be the standard bearer of the Socialist party in the national campaign of 1912. With four candidates in the field, he received a big majority on the first ballot, which was taken at 1:20 o'clock Friday morning in Chicago, and then a motion was made to tender the nomination by acclamation.

For the first time in the history of the party there were a number of other names placed before the convention. At one time, in fact, there was a demonstration made in favor of J. J. Carey, of Massachusetts, that made it look as if the old leader might have a fight on his hands.

At 2 o'clock in the morning Benjamin Hanford, the Debs running mate on the ticket four years ago, was nominated for Vice Presidency by acclamation.

May Wood Simons, wife of A. M. Simons, received the votes of twenty delegates for the Vice Presidency. The closest opponent of Hanford was Seymour Steinhart, of Chicago, who received 42 votes. Others voted for Wey-

In his address to the resources convention President Roosevelt made the following points:

The national resources are in danger of destruction because of wasteful methods. If Congress does not appropriate the money to reconstruct the waterways commission I will perpetuate it myself.

The cost of land, of lumber, of oil, of minerals and the riches of the soil have made the conditions of life in this country unparalleled for comfort and convenience.

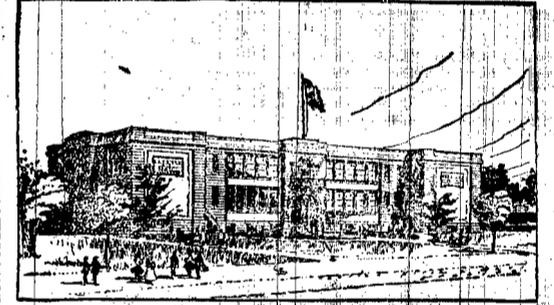

The prosperity of the people depends in large measure on these natural resources. The natural waterways have been injured by neglect and there is less navigation on them now than fifty years ago.

The mines, if used, must necessarily become exhausted, and therefore they must be used wisely.

Irrigation will add enormous acres of the most valuable agricultural land.

J. W. Shinton, of Pennsylvania, with 15 votes, and G. W. Woody, the negro Socialist from California, who was given one vote.

Among the most exciting scenes ever witnessed at a Socialist gathering, and the most exciting speeches ever delivered before a Socialist hall in America, Phil Callery, of Missouri, placed the name of Debs before the delegates as the only standard bearer for the party to consider in the campaign that they expect to be the greatest ever gone through.

It was a speech in which the cheers came long before the name of Debs was mentioned, and when the speaker had taken his seat it was amid the wildest applause and weeping on the part of both many men and women. It was a speech in which Roosevelt was anthematized, Taft ridiculed and William Jennings Bryan held to contempt.

The naming of Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone brought out cheers, and it was in connection with their names and the alleged persecution of them as leaders of the working class that the name of President Roosevelt was held up to the scorn and hatred of the Socialists. The weak stand that Bryan took at the time of the trial of the miners was held in contempt and in light comparison with the attitude of the Nebraskan toward the Filipinos.

Photographs Without Camera.

The first American account of the wonderful new process of relief photography announced by M. Lippmann of Paris has appeared in the Washington Pathfinder. Lippmann is the specialist who invented the system of color photography by means of the interference of light rays. His relief plates require no camera lens or plate holder, but are virtually automatic in reproducing the object or objects to which it is exposed in such a way that you get a different view every time you look at the picture from a different direction, just as the real object would. The plates are formed out of two films of gelatin, which have been stamped in a sort of microscopic honeycomb pattern in such a way as to bring the depressions exactly opposite one another and form a sheet of very tiny holes, each one of which is an eye or camera lens in itself. They are so minute that there are about 25,000 of them to the square inch. Their walls are rendered opaque with a pigment, except at the side toward the object, and the interior surfaces are sensitized. In this way the object is reproduced in a myriad of aspects. The process requires great skill at present, but the inventor hopes to bring it to a commercial basis.

POLITICS and POLITICIANS

Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, retired, will be offered the secretaryship of the navy in case William J. Bryan is elected President, according to a Washington report.

The national conference of negroes at Philadelphia, attended by delegates from thirty-seven States, endorsed Foraker or Knox for President, saying that neither Taft nor Roosevelt could get the negro vote.

Leading Democrats of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland met at Philadelphia and organized the George Gray League, for the purpose of pushing the candidacy of Judge Gray for President.

Many Republicans of St. Paul and Minneapolis have sent letters to Washington urging the appointment of Judge David P. Simpson of Minneapolis, as successor to Judge Lochren on the federal district bench for Minnesota.

The Delaware Republican State convention at Dover decided to send delegates to Chicago not instructed for any candidate, the convention being controlled by Senators De Hart and Richardson and the Friends of De Hart, who there is expected in a myriad of aspects. The process requires great skill at present, but the inventor hopes to bring it to a commercial basis.

If the assertions of the political managers may be credited, the two presidential candidates this year, are as good as chosen by the Republican and Democratic parties, namely, Taft by the former and Bryan by the latter. Up to April 23 the Taft managers had counted 500 delegates to the national convention pledged to their man, and 491 is a majority. This, assuming that not included, in this way the object is reproduced in a myriad of aspects. The process requires great skill at present, but the inventor hopes to bring it to a commercial basis.

The Bryan bureau at Lincoln, Nebraska, claimed that three-fourths of the Democratic delegates were on record for their man.

Tailor-Made Garments Versus Ready-Made

The difference in cost is not so much between a ready-made and a tailor-made garment when you consider the difference in the FIT, WORKMANSHIP and MATERIAL.

Many persons spend more than the difference in the life of a ready-made suit trying to keep it in a PRESENTABLE APPEARANCE. WHY? Because the goods are NOT PROPERLY SHRUNK and the WORKMANSHIP is FAR INFERIOR to a hand-tailored suit.

And another very important matter to be considered is the fit—all ready-made garments are cut from proportionate patterns to fit hunch-backs and a well proportioned man alike.

We cut an individual pattern for every customer from his measurements and there is not one man in twenty who has not some defect of form, either great or small, which we can remedy before the garment is finished.

But six democrats voted for the Williams financial bill in the house of representatives that was advocated by Mr. Bryan in his Commoner.

So far there has been but little said in objection to the proposed bond issue that will be voted on June 2 for the purpose of building a new public school building and an almost unanimous vote in favor of it will show that the people of Wayne are still standing up for education.

It will not be long before the matter of county politics will be up for discussion and while there are but two offices to fill this fall, that of County Attorney and one commissioner, both are important places in the county government. The Herald believes there is a general feeling among republicans that A. R. Davis should be a candidate for County Attorney this fall. The question of his fitness for the place is not raised at all. There is not a young attorney in this end of the state who has made greater progress in his profession than he and there's none in the county more able. He has the confidence of the people, and in addition to ability the matter of confidence for being straight goes a long ways in the strength of a lawyer before the public. The party is united and with Davis for county attorney and a good man for commissioner there's no fear but that we will go republican even than last fall.

Memorial Sunday

Sunday May 24th will be an unusual day at the Methodist church. The Memorial day sermon will be preached before Casey Post G. A. R. by the pastor at 10:45 a. m. The public are requested and advised to be in their seats promptly at 10:45 as a very interesting part of the program will occur at the opening. At 8 o'clock p. m. the Barcalareate sermon before the graduating class of the High school will be given by Rev. Sharpe. A cordial invitation is extended to the public for both these services.

Notice of Bond Election

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of The School District of Wayne, in The County of Wayne, in The State of Nebraska, that upon the written request of at least one-third of the legal voters of said District an election will be held at the Court House in said District, on the 2nd day of June A. D. 1908, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. and closing at 6 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of voting upon the following question, to-wit:

Shall the District Officers of The Independent School District of Wayne, in Wayne County, Nebraska, issue the Bonds of said School District, in the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000), bearing 5 per cent interest, payable annually, on the 1st day of July each year, principal and interest payable at the office of the County Treasurer of Wayne County, Nebraska.

And shall the District Officers of said School District cause to be levied, annually, a tax sufficient for the payment of the interest and principal as it becomes due? Said Bonds to be issued for the following purpose, to-wit: For the building of a new School House in said District.

By order of the District Officers of The School District of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, this 4th day of May 1908.

...Graduation Gifts...

The time is very nearly here when the sweet girl graduate will make her appearance. It has become the custom for graduates to be remembered with a graduation gift, and this is to remind you that this store is prepared to fill your wants in this line.

We have a nice line of gift books suitable for the occasion, but it don't necessarily have to be a book for a graduation present, as a fancy box of fine stationery, a hand painted china dish, a nice picture, or many other articles which can be found here, are equally as suitable for the occasion.

We Are Cool How Are You

It is really harder to keep cool than to keep warm, and it is necessary to enjoy life to know how to do both. Why not let some one help you that has had more than 25 years experience at making people comfortable? It will not cost you a penny to find out how to dress comfortably in hot weather. Come and see us and you will be surprised how easy it is and how little money it takes to make life more pleasant. We can show underwear that feels like silk and will wear better, and only costs you 50 cents. If you do not care to invest that much we can show some that looks like the kind some merchants ask 50c for, we will be well satisfied to sell it to you for 25c and you will never understand why we sell it so cheap. It will be necessary for you to have something to wear over this underwear and we can show you a larger variety of shirts than you have ever seen in this county. Now you don't have to have a fortune to buy shirts here. If you feel like investing only 50c we can accommodate you and $1.00 will buy the best shirt you have ever seen for that price. Better look at them anyhow.

Now about straw hats. We have too many kinds to attempt a description here. Just come in and look for yourself. The price is right and we have what you want. Hosiery by the hundreds and so thin that you will not know you are wearing any. Come and see us and get the kind of clothing that will make you feel comfortable at home or at church at a wedding or visiting your friends. We make people comfortable everywhere and they always look well and feel well, for our prices are comfortable and our styles are the latest.

You will make a mistake if you don't see us before you buy any clothing.

HOUSE WORK

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overtax. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. M. Ellsworth of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do my own work as well as I ever did. I will give every woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, fibroids, tumors, menstrual irregularities, headache, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, nervous prostration, and all other ailments.

Why don't you try it? Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Thompson's Eye Water cures eye ailments.

Oldhome week had come, and the returned sons and grandsons were gathered together. One after another they rose and told with pardonable pride their achievements in the great world, impressing their importance on the stay at home.

"I went away from here twenty years ago, a poor young man, with only one solitary dollar in my pocket. I walked the four miles from my father's farm to the station, and there I begged a ride to Boston on a freight car. Last night I drove into town behind a spirited pair of horses, and my purse was heavy with money. Besides a large check, and Mr. Jameson looked at him with a smile.

"No," said Mr. Jameson, drawing a large fat purse from his pocket when the clamor had subsided, "none of you has guessed right. When I had paid my debts, I only have $100 left in my trunk check (which I retained for financial reasons), exactly 4 cents. I have come back, my friends, to stay. My little job of sawing and splitting will be gratefully received."

"Woman's Home Companion."

"Well, what are you doing there?" asked the lady, addressing a tramp who had just climbed a tree in time to escape a savage bulldog.

"Madam," replied the hob, "it was my intention to ask for a hand-out, but in the interest of humanity, I now request that you give my surplus food you may have on hand to my canine friend down there."

A man summoned at Guilford, England, for non-payment of taxes gave his occupant as "maker of antique furniture."

FIX THE GROCER. Write Made the Suggestion. A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves.

AIKENSIDE

BY MRS. MARY J. HOLMES

He was very pale, and the great sweat drops stood on his forehead and under his white hair, but Maddy wiped them away and listened with a breaking heart while the aged disciple almost forgot her own grief, and she showed her head of the peace, the joy, that shone around his pathway to the light, and of the sweetest arm bearing him so gently over Jordan.

Then he talked of herself, blessing her for all she had done for him, telling her how happy she had made his life since she came home to stay, and how for a time he had acted so with fear lest she should choose to go back and leave him to a stranger.

But his darling stayed with her old grandpa. She'll never be sorry for it, never. I tried you, Maddy, but I'm sorry, Maddy, and you'll forget it when I'm gone, darling Maddy, precious child!" and the trembling hand rested caressingly on her bowed head as grandpa went on to speak of his affairs, his little property which was hers after the mortgage to Mr. Guy was paid.

"I've kept up the interest," he said, "but I could never get him to take any of the principal. I don't know how he is so good to me. Tell me, Maddy, how I thanked you when I was just before the door, tell him how I used to pray for him every day that he might choose the better part. And he'll will 'I'm sure he will, some day. He hasn't been here of late, and though my old eyes are dim, I can see that your step has got slow, and your face whiter by many shades, since he stayed away. Maddy, child, the dead lead no secrets, and I shall soon be dead. Tell me, then, what it is between you two. Does my little love Mr. Guy?"

"Oh, grandpa! grandpa," Maddy moaned, lying her head beside his, and his old hand touched her hair.

It would be a relief to talk with someone of that terrible pain, which grew worse every day; of that intense longing just for one sight of the beloved one; of Guy, still absent from Aikenside, wandering nobody knew where; and so Maddy told the whole story, while the dying man listened to her, and smoothing her silken hair, tried to comfort her.

"The worst is not yet over," he said. "Guy will offer to make you his wife, sacrificing his life for you, and if he does, Maddy, my heart leaped up into her throat and for a moment flew from her answering for the thought of Guy's really offering to make her his wife, to shield her from evil, to enfold her in his tender love, made her giddy with joy. But it could not be; she answered through her tears:

"I shall tell him no." "God bless my Maddy! She will tell him no for Lucy's sake, and God will bring it right at last," the old man whispered. His face grew very faint and tremulous. "She will tell him no," he kept repeating, until, rousing up to greater consciousness, he spoke of Uncle Joseph, and asked what Maddy would do with him; would she send him back to the asylum, or care for him there. "He will be happier here," he said, "but it is asking too much of a young girl like you. He may live for years."

"I do not know, grandpa. I hope I may do right. I think I shall keep Joseph with me, and I'll try to get a shawl, a dressing gown for her, and a thought of living with her youth and possibly middle age with a lunatic.

Little her grandfather's whispered blessing brought comfort with them, and a calm quiet fell upon her as she sat there listening to the words of prayer, and watching now and then her own name and that of Guy's.

"I am drowsy, Maddy. Watch while I sleep. Perhaps I'll never wake again," grandpa said, and clasping Maddy's hands he fell away to sleep, while Maddy kept her watch over him, her hand falling across his forehead, and when he was awakened by a clammy hand pressing on her forehead, and Uncle Joseph's voice, which said: "Wake, my child. There's been a great here while you slumbered, and he pointed to the rigid features of the newly dead.

CHAPTER XX.

Of the days which followed, Maddy had no distinct consciousness. She only knew that other hands than hers cared for the dead, that in the little parlor a faint light shone, and that a glooming woman stood in the doorway, and speaking in hushed voices as they consulted, not her, but Mrs. Noah, who had come at once, and cared for her and hers so kindly. That she lay all day in her own room, where the summer breeze blew softly through the window, bringing the perfume of summer flowers, the sound of a tolling bell, of grinding wheels, the notes of a low, sad hymn, sung in faltering tones, and of many feet coming and going from the door. Then friendly faces looked upon her, asking how she felt, and when crying ominously to each other as she answered.

"Very well; is grandpa getting better?" "Then Mrs. Noah sat with her for a time, fanning her with a palm-leaf fan and brushing the flies away. Then Flora came up with a man who they called "Doctor," and who gave her sundry little pills and powders dissolved in water, after which she went out and left her there with a nurse, who had been crying and whose soft little hands felt so cool on her hot head, and whose kisses on her lips made the tears start, and brought a thought of Guy, making her ask, "If he was at the funeral."

"No," Jessie said; "another wanted to write and tell him, but we don't know where he is."

And this was all Maddy could recall of the days succeeding the death of her last loved one, and her grandfather's stay at home. A long August afternoon, when an Honorable Bill there lay that sticky haze so like the autumn time, hurrying on apace, and when through her open window stole the fragrance of the later summer flowers. Then, as if waking from an ordinary sleep, she woke suddenly to consciousness, and staring about the room, wondered if it were as late as the western sun would indicate, and how she came to sleep so long. For a while she lay thinking, and as she thought, a sad scene came back to her, a night when her father had been enfolded in those of the dead, and that dead her grandfather.

Maddy sank upon the bed, moaning to herself, "My grandpa is dead! I'm a member now. But Uncle Joseph's stay at home? Can he, too, have died without my knowledge?" and she looked around in vain for the minute, not a trace of whom was to be found. His room was a perfect order, as was everything about the house, showing that Flora was still

The House devoted its time to the consideration of miscellaneous business. By agreeing to some Senate amendments the House took the final congressional action on the bill, which was reported by the committee on the floor, and the bill was passed.

The Senate Tuesday passed the post-office appropriation bill, carrying an appropriation of $22,027,597. As the bill provides for a day's extension of the postal service when away from the States, amendments adopted by the Senate provide for extending the mails annually instead of every four years.

SAVE NATURE'S GIFTS IS PLEA OF PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—President Roosevelt today addressed the annual convention of the National Governors' Association, which is in session here.

The President's address was a plea for the conservation of the nation's natural resources. He said that the nation's natural resources were being rapidly depleted, and that it was the duty of the government to take steps to conserve them.

MEXICO'S HARDWOODS

"I was amazed at the almost infinite variety of woods of value to woodworkers that are growing in the forests of tropical Mexico," said a lumber expert who recently made a tour of that part of Mexico, to the New York Sun.

"There are several varieties of mahogany, cedar, oak, rosewood, ebony, dyewoods and endless other hardwoods with Spanish names, but corresponding to our hickory, cherry and other fine American woods that are now extremely scarce and costly.

"Many of these tropical woods are as strong as iron. While the mahogany, cedar, rosewood and dyewood are well known to us through importations from there, the unknown varieties of woods that are just as valuable are quite as plentiful.

"Among these is one called zapote, which grows to a large size. Although the wood of this tree has peculiarly valuable qualities for lumber it is seldom used in that way, the tree being valued merely as the producer of chicle, the sap which forms the basis for most chewing gum.

"The wood of the zapote tree is dark red, and is easily worked until thoroughly seasoned, when only the finest edged tools will have any effect on it, and a sharp pointed nail is driven into it with difficulty. The fiber of the wood is so dense that the wood sinks in water like iron.

"In the prehistoric regions that abound in these Mexican tropics are timbers and door frames that are perfect to-day as when they were first placed in position. The wood takes a magnificent finish, as do nearly all these Mexican hard woods, and would be a rare article for the cabinetmaker.

"There is an odd wood among these forests known as the gran tree, which when tapped yields a black sap, which is sent in large quantities to Germany, where it is used in the making of ink and dye. Another tree yields a sap that is a deep red and Germany also takes largely of it for the manufacture of dyes.

"Besides these that abound in that part of Mexico there are vast areas of pine, a timber that resembles our poplar and different kinds of oak. Much to my surprise, more than 6,000 feet above the sea I found a big sawmill in active operation, with a Yankee from Maine at the head of it.

"And he wasn't bothering with such commonplace logs as mahogany, ebony, cedar, rosewood or such as that, but was cutting away at the white pine and oak, for these are the woods that the native buyers and users of timber demand. As a matter of fact, a Mexican lumber dealer would be willing to sell me a log of yellow pine, log for log."

The mortality in business now shows less than a year ago, but the volume of payments through the banks again furnishes an unfavorable comparison, and the State bank exhibits reflect further depressing of deposits and unemployed funds. The latter conditions appear as a natural result of curtailed commercial operations and are less disturbing than the volume of labor troubles in the coal fields and the purpose to advance railroad freight tariffs.

The situation in the leading industrial branches has become no worse, but the uncertainty as to the trend of costs and the paucity of demands for finished products and the hesitation in making important contracts.

Weather conditions continued adverse to business activity in declining daily dollar and local retail trade was irregular. More favorable reports as to the consumption of coal and iron ore came from the West and buying was more active.

Noted Medical Specialist to Visit Here Three Days at Boyd Hotel

As has been announced in other issues of this paper, Dr. F. Earl Gordon who is consulting physician to the Hot Springs Doctors who have their Nebraska State Institute permanently located at 14th and O streets, Lincoln, will arrive in Wayne next Monday and remain three days and while here will receive patients at the Boyd hotel.

This wonderful Hot Springs System of all home treatment which Dr. Gordon is bringing to Wayne on May 25, 26 and 27 has cured thousands of patients whom other doctors have given up as incurable. This treatment is endorsed by the United States government and by the World's leading financiers and business men, clergymen, newspapers and above all by thousands who were sick and suffering but were made well, happy and strong by the world-famous Hot Springs System of all home treatment.

Below are reprinted extracts from a few of the thousands of testimonials which have been received by the Hot Springs Doctors:

"I feel that I owe my life to the Hot Springs Doctors."—J. W. Lacey, Haylock, Neb.

"The Hot Springs Doctors saved my after many other surgical doctors said I would have to undergo an operation."—Mrs. E. W. Brinley, Arcadia, Neb.

"For ten years I suffered torturous pains in my head, back and side and was treated by over a score of doctors. The Hot Springs Doctors cured me with four month's treatment."—Mrs. Jennie Reome, 3231 T street, Lincoln.

"Was troubled with gall stones for seven years; took two month's treatment of the Hot Springs Doctors and have had no pain or symptom of any troubles since."—Mrs. W. Busch, Hallam, Neb.

"I take pleasure in telling you that you have cured my ulcerated limb after many other doctors had failed. Your treatment cured me in two months."—Mrs. S. N. Sterling, 1444 North Side Ave., Lincoln, Neb.

"Have tried fourteen doctors, local and in Chicago and New York, for the past six years, who told me that they could cure me of epilepsy but they did me no good. In fact I seemed to be getting worse. I took your treatment for three months and feel that I am entirely cured. I have gained seventeen pounds and am able to do hard manual labor."—R. E. Geiger, 210 South 9th street, Lincoln, Neb.

The full testimonials of the people quoted above are on file with thousands of others at the offices of the Hot Springs Doctors. If you are skeptical, write to them and you will be furnished with as many testimonials as you may wish to investigate. The Hot Springs Doctors do not ask you to rely on their word alone but have proofs of their wonderful skill in testimonials from all parts of the country. These doctors do not claim to cure all cases but they absolutely refuse to accept an incurable case for treatment so that when they do accept a case the patient may be assured of a cure for his money.

Remember Dr. Gordon is bringing this wonderful system of all home treatment to Wayne for but three days, May 25, 26 and 27 and while here will receive patients at the Boyd Hotel.

NORMAL COLLEGE

From Alumni Echo.

We regret that it falls to our lot to record the death of one of our good members, Hattie Jeffrey, of '93 Teachers, died at her home in Wayne on April 23. She made many friends as a student and later as a teacher. For a few years she has been clerking, preferring that work to teaching.

Elmer Lundberg, of '94 class, gave the students a fine talk at a union meeting of the Christian association on the first Sunday of the term. The address was full of good thought and everyone enjoyed it very much. He is engaged in law business since quitting the newspaper business last fall.

Mr. Craven has taken some good pictures of the chapel, laboratory, gymnasium, dormitory rooms, etc. A nice picture book will soon be arranged. It will show some of the buildings and interior views. Many inquiries for something of the kind by visitors as well as students have led to this preparation.

A large going has been placed in the hall on the second floor of the new building to be used for calling and dismissing classes. The bell ringer attends to ringing the gong from the bell tower. On windy days, teachers failed to hear the large bell. However, this arrangement secures prompt dismissal of classes.

The new town of Sholes in this county consolidated some adjoining districts and in this way has a good attendance, to the advantage of all concerned. Clara Burson, of '97 Teachers, remains in charge of the Intermediate school. She is a doer of things, and we are real glad to see her continue in Wayne county.

Here are some future land proprietors, Jas. E. Simoin, of '06 Certificate, who has just finished his first year as principal at Hoskins, will go on a South Dakota claim soon. James Steele, of last year's class, goes onto his claim in same state. Wayne county loses two fine young men and good teachers. Success to you.

Sadie Burney, of '07 Certificate class, has been re-elected as primary teacher at Huntington. She is a fine lady, and can be relied upon. Emma Trip, of '07 Scientific, remains there as Intermediate teacher. Emma is my kind of a girl, always in a good humor, but never foolish. Now, girls, be good, or I shall not boast you any more.

N. B. Maack, Wm. Scollen, Frank Gilderleeve, Etta Marsh, of '07 Teachers, are with us. Walkway, Huckleberry, Miss Robertson, Miss Kurtz, Jessie Beecher, Ada Anderson are others who will be here next term. We are very glad to welcome them back and feel sure additional preparation means better positions for future.

Commencement week will begin July 31 and close with August 7. We want to see a big crowd of Alumni folks here all the week, and everybody here for Alumni Day, August 7. We shall have a big day whether all are here or not, but it will be to your advantage to be on hand and enjoy the biggest and best day of your life.

The Wayne preachers have been very kind to school and students all the year. Some one has conducted chapel almost each week and made one short talks. This is real helpful to our young people and is greatly appreciated. Revs. Sharpe, Osborne, Smith and Ringer make, at least, monthly visits and are most welcome.

Eva M. Beauchemin remains in the Wayne city schools, the coming year. She began here the fall after graduating from the Silenitio and has proven herself a thorough teacher whose work is appreciated by board, superintendent and patrons. We hope she may thus continue for many years to come. No leap year inclinations are visible.

Agnes Leahy, of '03 Scientific, provided herself a very able teacher, but preferred other kinds of work. She attended pharmacy school and graduated at the head of a large class, after which she accepted a position in a drug store at Beemer, where she is serving with the same thoroughness displayed as a class member and teacher.

President Pile has quite a list of graduating addresses the next few weeks. He could not accept all invitations as dates conflicted. This week he goes to Craig, Platte Center, Orchard. Next week he speaks at Stuart and Newcastle. On account of school Saturday mornings, it is not so convenient to get away for Friday evening meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bright left Malja Mach 31 and expect to land in Wayne August 1. They are having a great trip on their return and are visiting many places of interest. They left us three years ago and hundreds of friends will welcome them on return. All are greatly pleased that they enter the Normal as teachers in September.

The Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the Catholic Christian association deserve special credit for the good work they are doing for themselves, for the student body, and especially for the new students. The majority of the students attend the Sunday afternoon public meetings while a large number take part in the Sunday morning bible classes.

The Carroll school board has re-elected Jennie Weissenberg, principal of the school, and advanced her salary $10 per month. Not every young woman makes the thorough preparation which enables her to be principal, but here is a woman whose services are sought on account of her reliability,

Edna Retrea, of Wayne, is enjoying a splendid position of responsibility and good pay in Sioux City. She was office stenographer at the school two years ago and gave the best of satisfaction to all. She is accurate in her work and accomplishes a great deal in a day. A good stenographer is a great assistance while the pay is good and the responsibility great.

"Health Coffee" is really the closest coffee imitation ever yet produced. This clever coffee substitute was recently produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is made from pure toasted grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—who might drink it for coffee. No 20 or 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. Sold by Ralph Rundell.

Whooping Cough

"In February our daughter had the whooping cough. Mr. Lane, of Racine, Wis., recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said it gave his customers the best of satisfaction. #### Most Common Cause of Suffering

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that Chamberlain's Pain Balm will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. In many cases the relief from pain, which is at first temporary, has become permanent, while the old people subject to chronic rheumatism, often brought on by dampness or changes in the weather, a permanent cure cannot be expected; the relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. 25 and 50c sizes for sale by Raymond's Drug Store.

Bad Attack of Dysentery Cured

He was told that I kept it in stock and lost no time in obtaining it, and was promptly cured," says M. J. Leach, druggist, of Wolcott, Vt. Sold by Raymond's drug store.

Weak women should read "Book No. 4 For Women." It was written expressly for women who are not well. The Book No. 4 tells of Dr. Shoop's "Night Cure" and just how these soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories can be successfully applied. The book and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Night Cure is sold by Felber's Pharmacy.

There is a Pink Pain Tablet made by Dr. Shoop, that will positively stop any pain, anywhere, in 20 minutes. Druggists everywhere sell them as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets, but they stop other pains as easily as headache. Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets simply coax blood pressure away from pain centers—that is all. Pain comes from blood pressure congestion. Stop that pressure with Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets and pain is instantly gone. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by Felber's Pharmacy.

Tired nerves with that "no ambition" feeling that is commonly felt in spring or early summer, can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. One will absolutely note a changed feeling within 48 hours after beginning to take the Restorative. The bowels get sluggish in the winter time, the circulation often slows up, the
