

THE WAYNE HERALD.

WAYNE Y. M. C. A.

An Organization Perfected and the Following Constitution and By-Laws Adopted

NAME AND OBJECT.
 Sec. 1.—The name of this Association shall be the Wayne Young Men's Christian Association.

OBJECT.
 Sec. 2.—The object of this Association shall be the development of the physical, mental, moral and spiritual life of the young men and boys of Wayne and its vicinity.

ORGANIZATION.
 Sec. 3.—This Association is a part of the Northeast Nebraska District Young Men's Christian Association, having voting representation in all district conventions. Its work is directly under the supervision of the district committee through the secretary.

MEMBERSHIP.
 Sec. 4.—Membership in this Association shall be of two classes, active and associate. Active members only shall have the right to vote and hold office. Any man or boy of 12 or more years and a member of a Protestant Evangelical church may be an active member. Any man or boy of 12 or more years, who is of good moral character may be an associate member. All applications for membership shall be considered by the cabinet and those favorably acted upon shall become members upon paying to the treasurer the annual membership fee of one dollar.

EXECUTIVE BODY.
 Sec. 5.—The executive body of this Association shall be known as the cabinet and shall consist of the four elected officers and the chairman of the standing committees.

OFFICERS.
 Sec. 6.—The president, vice president, secretary and treasurer shall be elected as provided in article 3, section 1. The chairman of each standing committee shall be chosen by the president. The members of each standing committee shall be selected by the chairman and approved by the cabinet. The cabinet shall also have time to appoint such special committees as may be deemed necessary.

STANDING COMMITTEES.
 Sec. 7.—There shall be the following standing committees: Religious work, educational, athletic, social, popular service, and membership.

MEETINGS.
 Sec. 8.—The Association shall have two regular meetings annually, viz: The first Monday in April and the first Monday in October, and shall meet at any other time upon call of the president. The president shall call a special meeting of the Association upon the written request of five active members. The object of a called meeting shall be stated in the call.

REGULAR MEETINGS.
 Sec. 9.—The cabinet shall hold regular monthly meetings at such times and place as shall be agreed upon by its members and shall also meet upon special call by the president. It shall have administrative charge of the Association work and shall be judge of the conduct and standing of Association members.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS & COMMITTEES.
 Sec. 10.—The president shall be advisory to the Association and shall be ex-officio member of the cabinet and of standing committees.

REGULAR MEETINGS.
 Sec. 11.—Two weeks previous to the regular meeting of the Association in April the cabinet shall appoint a nominating committee of three members who shall recommend to the April meeting the names of members who may be elected officers for the ensuing year. The Association shall then proceed to ballot and those elected shall assume office upon the first day of the following month and shall continue in office for one year or until their successors are elected.

VACANCIES.
 Sec. 12.—In event of any vacancy during the year the cabinet shall appoint a nominating committee of three and a special meeting of the Association shall be called to meet within one week of date of call. At the special meeting the nominating committee shall recommend the names of two who may fill the vacancy. The Association shall ballot and the member elected shall assume office at once.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS & COMMITTEES.
 Sec. 13.—The president shall preside at all business meetings of the Association and cabinet. He shall direct the work of the Association and shall be ex-officio member of all committees.

RECORDS.
 Sec. 14.—The secretary shall keep the records of the Association and cabinet, and shall make reports to the district secretary upon request, and to the semi-annual meetings of the Association.

WINSLIDE LODGES ACTIVE
 A correspondent of the Norfolk Daily News has the following to say about the lodges in Winslide:

Chris Hansen will head the Danish Brotherhood and Louis Thies the Sons of Herman during 1909.

The Royal Highlanders with a membership of over 100 have elected to place their next year's destiny in the hands of Mrs. Nettie Martin as illustrious protector and Mrs. Dr. Cherry as secretary.

The Rebekahs consist of an enthusiastic band of workers and are taking in many candidates. They have a joyful and successful year before them with Mrs. Sarah Archer as noble grand and Mrs. Lena Keiffer as secretary.

'A Good Year'
 West Point—The West Point Creamery has had an extraordinarily successful year. The business has increased to such an extent that it has made it necessary to order 1,000 additional cream cans to supply the patrons, which they did last week. About 95 per cent of the cream produced in Cuming county is manufactured into butter by this concern and shipped to New York City where it commands the highest price. Preparations are being made to double the capital stock of the company in the near future. Patrons are also to be supplied with hand cream testers, thus enabling them to check the accuracy of the factory test.

Refused to Take a Bath
 Refusal to take a bath when he needed it is one of the charges brought against Arnold H. Helms, a wealthy farmer living near Randolph, by his wife Claire, who filed suit for divorce in district court on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Helms says she requested her husband to clean up, but he paid no attention to her and his condition caused her great mental distress. She says she also requested him to try to make their home life refined and cultured, but he also denied her this. She says he permitted his brother to call her names without protesting. Several other charges of cruel treatment are made.

Some Interesting Figures
 According to Bulletin No. 14, issued in December 1908, Wayne county produced 3,372,288 bushels of corn this year; 54,714 bushels of winter wheat; 34,977 bushels spring wheat; 1,113,203 bushels of oats; 52,157 bushels of barley; 4,750 bushels of rye; 4,604 tons of alfalfa; 121,554 tons of tame hay; 31,195 tons of wild hay; 77,520 bushels of potatoes; 14,310 bushels of speltz; 2,438 tons of millet; 55 tons of sorghum cane; 9 tons of sugar beets; 15 tons of kafir corn. On the first of last April the county had within its borders 31,073 head of cattle; 3,541 sheep; 38,821 hogs; 7,683 horses; 282 mules. In 1907 there were 204 farm mortgages filed aggregating $54,040.71, and there were 234 farm mortgages released to the value of $499,886.77; city mortgages filed were 78 to the amount of $46,716.37, and 83 were released amounting to $48,327.67.

Latest Bulletin is in Demand
 The bulletin on crop statistics recently issued by Deputy Labor Commissioner John J. Ryder is in demand. The bulletin comprised an edition of 4,000, practically all of which have been spoken for. The bulletin is full of information as to Nebraska's crop production for 1908, the value of the crops produced and the value of live stock owned being shown by counties.

Is Holding Its Own.
 The most interesting point made public through the report of the work conducted during the summer and fall by the section of lands of the national conservation commission, of which Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota is chairman, is that the inventory of natural resources has demonstrated that the soil of the United States as a whole is not falling off, but rather is in most parts of the country, if not actually gaining, at least holding its own. The report declares, however, that our agricultural lands will soon be required to produce at least twice as much as they do at present in order to meet the nation's demand for food. Such an increase in crop production is possible with proper methods.

Has Competition Now
 Almost from the first settlement of this country, the holly has reigned supreme as a national decoration at the Christmas season. For a few years past there has been a tendency to substitute the Poinsettia, a California flower, in its stead, and this year we find the two extremes of our country, the rock ribbed New England coast with its holly, and the sun-kissed Pacific slope near the Golden Gate with the Poinsettia, striving with about equal honors for the mastery.

Superintendent's Notice
 Teacher's examinations will be given on the third Friday and Saturday following of each month.—A. E. Littell, Superintendent.

FOR TRADE
 All kinds of money for all kinds of grain—Graves & Lamberson.

Why Not Do It?
 It is said that a humane man is kind to his horses. Why should he not be? The horse is one of man's most faithful animals and deserves better care and attention than he too often receives. We notice quite a difference between Wayne and the points in Iowa with which we are acquainted in the treatment of horses at this season of the year. There everybody blankets their teams as soon as they alight from their vehicles, while here but very few animals may be seen with blankets on even in the coldest and most stormy weather. It costs but little to provide blankets for the horses and, this kind of care is more than repaid by the longer continued and better service the horse is thus enabled to give its owner. Better blanket the horse.

Appeal Was Successful.
 Winslide, Dec. 19.—Somewhat discouraged by the small attendance at revival meetings and an apparent lack of interest in them whenever they conflicted with a lodge meeting or a show at the opera house, Rev. A. W. Arendt, pastor of the M. E. church here, inserted a notice in the local paper asking the people to attend services if for no other purpose than contributing to a fund to purchase for himself a pair of black trousers to keep in grace. The result was very pleasing to the pastor. While the notice was inserted as a joke, he ascertained that the people of Winslide perhaps were not much for revival, they were not willing that a leading minister of the gospel should suffer any inconvenience or humiliation from not having a pair of trousers nice enough to wear on any occasion.

THE ANGEL SONG

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men"

This was the song that was sung on the Judean hills many centuries ago. It was a new song then and fell upon waiting ears and hungry hearts longing for a change from the old dynasties of the past, with its ritualistic forms of worship. The speeding years how fast they go. It seems hardly but yesterday since we were thinking and wondering how oddly it would sound to write, 1900, and here eight years have almost passed away and we are today on the eve of another Christmas tide. For weeks now the spirit has been in the air and many tokens have been made and purchased, warming the hearts of the makers or buyers as they have thought of the pleasure to be given some loved friend or relative when they shall receive the gift on the morrow. And when the morrow comes thousands of other hearts will forget themselves for a time and think of other days, scenes, friends or loved ones as they shall look upon the articles received. Some of the gifts maybe are not of much financial value but they have been inspired and selected by a loving heart, and much love and sentiment has been worked into many of them by some kindly hand. The young people especially would do well to look upon mementoes of the morrow with a large degree of affection for they little realize as yet the large amount of self denial it has taken to bring about the state of affairs whereby they are privileged today to enjoy so many of the great blessings of life that has been denied their parents and grandparents. But above all everyone should keep in mind the angel song of long ago and not forget that it is the widening and deepening of the sentiment that has broadened and deepened all human life until now to a greater extent than ever before men and women are coming to be guided and directed in all their acts by the enunciated truths of the Divine Son of Man. Not as much as they should be in all respects but far more than in the ages of the past. We trust that this evening and the morrow may be full of Christmas cheer and happiness to all our army of readers and that the year to come may bring even a large measure of success to them. A Merry Christmas to one and all is the wish of the editor of the Herald to his readers.

House For Rent

Should Come to Wayne

The Hartington and Wynot papers are squabbling over which town's mill makes the best flour. Both are probably doing the best they can but for the real first-class article in flour, as well as anything else, Randolph sets the pace.—Randolph Reporter.

Say, if you fellows really want to know what good flour really is, come down and buy a sack at the Wayne roller mills. It is the best ever.

Are In the Lead.

We have heretofore taken pleasure in mentioning the fact in regard to the ability and stability of the Wayne business men and this week will simply mention the fact that Mines, the Jeweller, is but another apt illustration of the many. During the past month he has received watches both from North and South Dakota for him to put in shape, being sent by former residents who knew his skill, and he also received one from a man in the state of Washington, to whom he sold the time piece 15 years ago, telling him it had been in the shop at Seattle, to no purpose, and asking him to make it good as new, which he did. It is that kind of workmanship that counts.

Favors Farmers Elevators

Allen News: While returning from the city Tuesday we talked with a successful farmer from a town west of here, who gave very strong reasons for the farmers owning and operating their own grain elevators. He spoke of this being done in place he had known, and that it had meant higher prices for their grain and the money kept at home. Where this business is carried on by line elevators all the returns the town derives can be summed up in the salary of one man who operates such an elevator, while with the farmer's elevator all profits went reaped by the company, would then go to the farmer to improve his farm, and in turn make more valuable all property near it. Beside giving the farmer more money to spend with the local merchant.

Will Double Price of Land

Considerable interest has been aroused in Sioux City by the exhibition of a set of plans for the proposed drainage ditch that is to be constructed in the Logan creek valley, extending for a distance of over eighty miles through Nebraska. The plans were exhibited by N. M. Shumway, of Wakefield, Nebraska, who was a guest of Assistant City Engineer Fred Smith. The creek runs a distance of about 165 miles. The new ditch, as provided for by the government survey last summer, will shorten the creek by half and will run through six counties, Dixon, Wayne, Thurston, Cuming, Burt and Dodge. The plan will be to cut off the bend of the creek and straighten it. The ditch will be 13 feet deep, 10 feet wide at the bottom, and 40 feet wide at the top. There will be numerous cutoffs, lateral ditches and dikes. The total will be $177,530 and it will benefit nearly 50,000 acres of farm land. It is expected the improvement will raise the value of land from $40 an acre to double that price. The ditch will pass near the towns of Concord, Wakefield, Bender, Lyons, Oakland and Ushing. The survey was completed this fall and construction will be started early in the spring.

Good Butter

The second pound of butter made at the new butter factory, by grace of its proprietors, came to the Methodist parsonage and was duly sampled by the parson on a slice of the parson's wife's best bread. It was good, butter, A. No. 1. And why should it not be good? Made from fresh cream from Wayne county cows, by a first class butter maker, in the most approved modern machinery, by a firm whose individual names are synonyms for honor and uprightness, it has everything in its favor. We predict for the new enterprise a prosperous career. It is a credit to Wayne. May prosperity attend it.—C. F. S.

In Style Again

Antique, oriental and other kinds of odd jewelry are the order of the day. Earrings, which at first revival consisted of a large pearl or cabochon-cut gem, have now assumed the quaint, old-time pendant form. That part which rests against the lobe of the ear may be the round pearl, while a pear-shaped pendant, always of the same jewel, hangs below. Some of them are only about half an inch long, but the majority of the pendants are at least an inch in length. Women who are fastidious in these small details of dress that count for so much as a whole have different sets, such as coral, aqua marine, tourmaline, beryl, amethyst or jade, so their jewels may reflect the color scheme of their costume or its trimming.

Held a Meeting

The Nebraska Telephone company is making certain alterations in its bookkeeping to conform with the requirements of the state railway commission. The new system will make it possible for the company, it is said, to place at the disposal of the state commission any information it may desire. In connection with the new forms and the new methods of bookkeeping and auditing a "school of instruction" was held in Norfolk by H. A. Henley of Omaha, traveling auditor of the company. Those present were: Manager H. A. West of Wisner, Mgr. C. R. Busch of West Point, Mgr. R. H. Hartford of Wayne, Mgr. Hannab of Sioux City, Dist. Mgr. Spencer of Norfolk, Dist. Mgr. Carter of Norfolk, Mgr. E. J. Murray of Wakefield.

Jenkins Jones

Wednesday, December 23rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will occur the marriage of their eldest daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, to Mr. David T. Jones, of Henderson, Iowa. The ceremony will be performed at high noon, Rev. John W. Merrill of Nebraska City, will officiate. The bride, to be, may be said to be a product of Wayne county, having come here with her parents from Red Oak, Iowa, when she was a small girl. Her education was gained in the public schools and finished at the Wayne Normal. For the past few years she has been a successful teacher in the schools of the county. She is a young lady who is possessed of many graces of both mind and heart. Certainly Mr. Jones is to be congratulated. The groom, to be, is a young man who is well spoken of by those who know him best, and is worthy of the hand of the lady he has chosen.—Carroll Index.

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church

The Christmas exercise of the St. Paul's Lutheran church and Sunday school will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30. The service is entitled "The Christmas Bells," consisting of various exercises by the Sunday school and music by the choir, including vocal and clarinet solos. The appropriate and time honored evergreen tree with its illumination and decoration will be at its usual place. The evergreen the sign of "The perpetual life," the illumination emblematic of "Christ the light of the world." Each child will be remembered by the school. Also the example of the "wise men" will be followed by giving an offering for the Lord's cause.

Vote of Thanks

Has any one moved a vote of thanks to the corps of teachers in our city schools, who have just closed a successful four months term? They have done splendid work, from the methodical, conscientious, pains-taking, progressive Prof. Wilson, at the head, to the youngest primary teacher. The work in the High School, has wonderfully improved. I wonder if it is all to be accounted for by the inspiration of the new building. The Ward School, under the direction of Miss Josephine Graves, contains four rooms that cannot be surpassed by any in the state in the character of the work done and the discipline maintained. These teachers have earned a hearty vote of thanks from us, whose children they have so well cared for. I move it, and on behalf of the city wish them each and all A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.—C. F. S.

Making a Fine Record

Friends of the family will rejoice with Mr. and Mrs. Crossland, of our thriving town, to know that their son William, who is a student in Wesleyan University at Lincoln, is "making good" in more ways than one in his school life. William is a product of Wayne and the Wayne schools, and a graduate therefrom, where he carried off first honors. At the recent oratorical contest in the university William won the coveted honor of representing his school in the state oratorical contest later on. In addition to this honor there was a prize of $25 in cash and $15 in lessons. Besides all this the honor is all the more for him as he was the only Sophomore in the contest, and to win over a big class of seniors made his classmates nearly wild with enthusiasm. If he shall win the inter-college contest and make as much of a success all through life as he has thus far in his school work he will bring no discredit upon himself, his parents, or Wayne.

Christmas Eve at the Churches

Of course everyone is interested in everything that goes on at the Christmas season. The committees in the various churches and Sunday schools have been very busy all this week arranging programs and other details for this evening. All of the churches are profusely and handsomely decorated for the occasion at all of them there will be the old time Christmas tree. Other things may come and go but there does not seem to be anything that quite takes the place of an evergreen tree at Christmas time. Then there will be programs of various kinds all fitted for the evening's hour of jollity and praise, including cantatas and other forms of program. And then there will be the annual treat for the little folks. Any one does not need any urging to attend the Christmas Eve exercises, as the elder people are carried back thereby to other days and there come trooping out from memory's halls other scenes and places to remind them of the golden days gone by, which they did not always appreciate as they should have done, and the younger people are interested because they are taking part in the decorations and programs, and the little ones because they expect that some good fairy is going to give them something as a reminder of the event.

CARROLL CORRESPONDENCE

Mrs. Grace Jones and family are here visiting her folks over Christmas. Mrs. Louis Larsen returned to her home at Pilger last week. Her mother is reported much better. Mr. and Mrs. McKay and son Clifford spent a week at Omaha, from there going on to Red Oak, Ia., for a visit with a sister. A large number of parents and friends attended the program rendered at the school last Friday afternoon. The children had their parts well learned. We were also favored by a solo by Mr. Vennberg of Wayne. The concert given under the auspices of the Lecture Course was well attended and well rendered. Miss Maggie E. Davis was at Wayne Thursday and Friday on business. Mr. J. L. Davis was at Wayne Saturday on business.

The Shortest Day

Monday was the shortest day of all the year, as a matter of fact, but we do not suppose that any one has noticed much difference in the length of days for the past two weeks at least. Unless the old adage: "As the days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen," is verified we shall certainly have a fine winter.

Christmas Eve

To the older men and women of every community this is a sacred time. Their minds wander back to the years gone by since childhood and youth have passed into middle life or old age. They remember how the poets have sung: "Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse," and they remember how for weeks the long looked for time when the stockings should hang in a row in the chimney nook was looked forward to with delightful anticipation, and how, sometimes they used to say: "Hang up the baby's stocking, be sure you don't forget, for the dear little dimpled darling has never seen Christmas yet." In this very practical age in which we live; in a time when more children are wiser than their parents, Christmas Eve and Christmas have lost much, if not nearly all, of the sacred sentiment that in years gone by used to hang about the portals of this day. While gift-giving is perhaps more largely indulged in than in years gone by, and certainly in a more extravagant scale, yet the children and youth are far too often dissatisfied with what they receive simply because there is no longer any belief in a Santa Claus. It is the aim of a certain class of people and writers to take out of the world, everything of a sentimental character and deal only in cold abstruse facts. Such a course of reasoning may serve its purpose in life but it certainly takes out of childhood much of the joy of living. It is better to "hang up the baby's stocking and be sure you don't forget," than it is to tell a child all the actual, material facts of everything about them.

About Advertising.

It is a self evident proposition that the newspapers of a town are its representatives to the outside world. Not only are its reading columns scanned for its items of news but also its advertising columns as an index as to whether or not the town is prosperous and progressive. This being true it is then the duty of every business man to at least carry a small ad in the columns of his home paper, continuously. It is not altogether the size of an advertisement that brings results but keeping persistently at it. Some things, like the running brook, may go on forever without change but the population of any community is constantly increasing and changing, and while the old timers may remember you and patronize you it is the part of wisdom to secure a part of the new trade that is being introduced into the territory tributary to a town. We have talked with several of our merchants the past two weeks who have said that the business of the town, or at least in their line, was not as good for the past two years as it used to be, but in no instance has it been said by those who are persistent advertisers. Too many men look upon advertising as the Indian did the use of feathers. He had heard the whites tell about how much more comfortable a bed of feathers was than the ordinary mode of sleeping employed by the Indians, so he got a feather and put it on a board and then stretched himself out upon it to sleep. When he awoke he was stiff and sore, and with disgust he took the feather and stamped upon it saying, "White man heap much fool." Here is a case in point. Concord, this state, did not have much of a paper because the business men did not give it much in the way of support, so the proprietor decided to shake the dust of the town from off his feet and try a newer field. When the business men realized that the town was to be without a paper they suddenly awoke to the fact that the business of the town had been gradually slipping away from them in the past few years and they had not realized what the trouble was. Patronage that used to come to them had been attracted elsewhere by live merchants who bid for their trade. The result of their awakening has been that they called a public meeting and have taken hold of the matter in such shape that the paper will remain.

If it is wrong to boycott a business firm and try to injure his business, on the part of labor, is it not equally wrong, both morally and legally, for business interests to blacklist labor and prevent men from making an honest living?

Nearly 1,000 Pianos at a Bargain

Nebraska's Meeting Place

That's what people are now calling the city of Lincoln. Nearly all societies of every sort meet sometime during the year at Lincoln, and this gives the State Journal a peculiar interest to state readers, as it devotes more space to such meetings than any two of the other state papers. The recent teachers' association called together nearly 5,000 of the state teachers and every home that has a school child was interested in the reports of their doings. Especially was every member of a school board interested. Soon will come the great agricultural meetings and columns of facts will be added in the Lincoln Journal that affect the earning power of every farmer. That of course the Legislature will be held for three months and surely you will be interested in what it will do in regard to regulating the liquor traffic and guaranteeing bank deposits. The Journal spends more money for and devotes more space to its legislative reports than any other paper. It's a Journal specialty. The Journal is not a city paper, it's a state paper, and its energies are pushed in the direction of dealing with state affairs. Whatever interests you as a taxpayer, interests The Journal and you will find the impartial disinterested facts in its columns.

King Henry had an arm 36 inches long. That is why the English yard is its present length—a little fact which many students have learned and forgotten.

The United States and Germany have arranged for a postal rate on letters between the two countries of 2 cents instead of 5 cents as at present. The 2 cent rate will go into effect January 1st.

Philander Knox, of Pennsylvania, is to be President Taft's Secretary of State. A good selection. If the new president is as wise in all his selections as this one he will have a fine lot of advisers.

The Cedar County News will be raised to $1.50 per year after January first. A paper of any size cannot now be published for a less sum than that and make any money at all for the publisher.

Judge Witten says that the date of opening of Tripp county will be about March 25, 1909, and not the first of March as originally reported. The reason for the delay is that the roughest weather of the season often comes about the first of the month and the later date, while early enough to permit of spring farming operations, is a safer time for the settlers to get out on their land.

Postal authorities are now engaged in an effort to suppress the suggestive and indecent postal card from the mails. They are determined to make an example of persons who send these beastly missives, and if captured they will be rigorously prosecuted. The law is very explicit on this subject. It provides for a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years or both. Dealers in these objectionable cards should also be arrested and brought to justice not tempered with leniency.

You can't estimate the size of the sore on a small boy's finger by the amount of rag he has tied around it.

The government made a profit during the fiscal year, of $10,541,371 on the coinage of silver, nickel and one-cent bronze pieces. This represents the difference between the price paid by the government for the metals and their coinage value.

One of the platform pledges made by the Democratic party during the last campaign was to provide for the physical valuation of corporation property so that the rate making powers could have this valuation as a guide in fixing rates. This pledge is now worrying the successful democrats, because at the same time that pledge was made there was another promising to cut down the expense of the state government and to reduce the taxes to be paid by the farmers. It has been reported to the democrats who will be responsible for what the legislature does that Michigan spent $35,000, finding out the physical value of its railroads and that Wisconsin spent $35,000.

To those who do not care to eat the skins of baked potatoes. Before baking them I suggest my plan of washing very carefully, pouring boiling water over them and leaving for three or four minutes. Then take out and wipe them dry and rub over each potato a piece of brown paper which has been dipped in melted fat. They will bake faster and can be peeled as easily as when boiled. To prevent meat of any kind from soiling your stove or floor by splashing out of pan while frying, sprinkle some flour over contents of frying-pan. It will cease popping immediately, and keep a clean stove and prevent disagreeable odor of burnt fat as well. The January New Idea magazine.

Cedar County News. There may have been times and places where a fifteen thousand dollar stock of goods could be properly announced by a fifteen cent local, but it isn't here now. People are reading the advertisements carefully and live dealers are not complaining of lack of trade.

Cloth peddlers are canvassing the farmers in this county. These people are strangers to us, and while they may be all right, it is always best to be cautious in dealing with unknown parties. The local dealer who is here and here to stay, will be found the most satisfactory in the long run, and what he promises he is here to make good.

When a man gets mad there is only one woman in the world, besides his wife, who knows how mad he can get, and that is the telephone girl.

Eighty per cent of the cases started in the state of Nebraska by the anti-saloon league against violators of the liquor laws have been won, according to a report of the work of the organization made by Mr. Darnall, its secretary.

Threatened on Omaha by the attempt of aggressive Omaha interests to fix the rate question so that Omaha will become the logical milling center of the state and threatened on the other hand by the ban of the secretary of agriculture on bleached flour the Nebraska milling industry promises to be in a fair way to be exceedingly busy from now until spring. The hearing before the state railway commission on the change in rates will be resumed shortly and the millers of the entire country will try to balk the secretary of agriculture by fighting his order in the federal courts.

The Nebraska retail lumber dealers' association has lined up against the movement of the wholesalers to favor an advance in rates on lumber shipped into the state, on the ground that the rates are already high, enough and that by increasing them a burden would be placed on the retailers they would not be able to bear at the prices lumber is sold at the present time. A meeting of the retail association was held Thursday night at Omaha, at which resolutions were passed protesting against the proposed advance in rates, which means forty cents to $1 per 1,000 feet on every shipment from the south.

More than 100,000 people attended the National Corn Exposition which closed in Omaha Saturday evening December 19, the exhibits registered in the senior department numbered 5500 and the junior exhibitors had 2131 entries, making the total 7731 entries. In premiums the exposition paid over $54,000 in gold and merchandise contributed by the friends of the exposition and those interested in agriculture. The grand sweepstakes were won by Indiana and the winners received over $2,800 in premiums on the ten ear sample. These ears were sold to E. E. Faville, editor of Successful Farming, a Des Moines agricultural publication, for $280. The same buyer paid $75 for the champion single ear, which was also grown in Indiana.

If you are going to have an auction sale the Herald would like to print your bills for you.

Walt Mason: In sooth it is a goodly thing this Christmas festival! And may it now, as ever, bring much comfort to you all! At such a time the whole world wide a happy aspect wears; it is a time to cast aside your selfish griefs and cares, and be as cheery as a wren that hops from spray to spray; God rest you, merry gentlemen, let nothing you dismay! Be joyous as a katydid, of gladness be the fount! It is the time to take the lid off your fat bank account, the miser has no place or part in Christmas cheer and mirth; to him who has the open heart belongs the pleasant earth.

Isaac Francis, a Fremont man, has patented an article of his own invention, which, if it fills the bill as well as he thinks it will, is likely to net him a fortune. The article is an improved barrel head, that instead of requiring nails to hold it in place, can be securely fastened by means of a wire clamp.

There are owned in Nebraska 4177 automobiles, according to the records in the office of the secretary of state. These pay to the state a fee of one dollar each per year, which amounts to almost twice the salary paid to Nebraska's governor.

A Bank on Two Legs.
"For more than thirty years the most popular woodsman's bank in Maine was a bank on two legs," says Major Holmes Day, author of "King Spruce." "Until he was over seventy years old Uncle Nate Swan was conductor on the Bangor and Piscataquis railroad, running between the city and Moosehead lake. With him rode the woods and driving crews. When they forgot themselves and made a racket on his train he used to cuff them into submission; and no man ever raised his hand against Uncle Nate. When the men came out of the woods with their pay most of them realized from bitter experience that the city folks would get all their money away from them in a few days. As soon as they would get aboard the train they would begin to strip ten-dollar bills off their rolls and hand the money to Uncle Nate to 'sink' for them, banking it on call. They never forgot, nor did he, and in all the years there was never a dispute between Conductor Swan and any of his depositors. When they came back on his train they were sure of enough money for their fare and their tobacco at the lake outfitting store. They wouldn't have known very well what to do with more."

Her Ideal Villain.
The following anecdote, taken from "My Story," by Hall Caine, is interesting:
Immediately after the production of "The Woman in White," when all England was admiring the arch villainy of Fosco, the author, Wilkie Collins, received a visit from a lady who congratulated him upon his success with somewhat icy cheer and then said: "But, Mr. Collins, the great failure of your book is your villain. Excuse me if I say you really do not know a villain. Your Count Fosco is a very poor one, and when next you want a character of that description I trust that you will not disdain to come to my eye at this moment that would fear collapse anything that I have ever read of in books. Don't think that I am drawing upon my imagination. The man is alive and constantly under my eye. In fact, he is my own husband."
The lady was the wife of Edward Bulwer Lytton.

Fixed Bayonets in London.
The privilege of marching through London with fixed bayonets is enjoyed by but very few regiments, such as the Royal Fusiliers, who trace their origin to Cromwell's trained bands, which in later years produced so famous a captain as John Glyn. After the Royal Fusiliers, or perhaps even before them in point of regimental seniority, come the East Kent "Buffs," now the third of the line, who claim a similar city ancestry, while the Royal marines for some reason or other also enjoy the same fixed bayonet rights in the city. A battalion of the grenadier guards was once impressed to serve as marines, and hence they share the privilege of the men who are "soldiers and sailors too." This also explains why that grenadier battalion has for its tattoo "Rule Britannia"—as a souvenir of the time when its combative existence was of the amphibious kind.—London Standard.

The Mental Jog.
"There is a certain type of person," said the business man, "especially in New York, who seems unable to understand what is said to him—or perhaps the statement or remark is prefaced by some catchword, usually the word 'listen.'"
"For instance, I have a stenographer who simply stares at me in dumb amazement if I say anything to her without first saying 'Now, listen.' If I begin to dictate a letter to her she will not write a word if I forget to give her the mental jog. When I snuff that at her she will scratch like mad. She is not the only one. The telephone girl cannot take a message unless it has that prefix. We talk over the wire with her I must always begin, 'Now, listen,' or else she is hopelessly at sea and seems not to understand a word I say."—New York Press.

Different in Books.
In the books this is the way they say it:
"Outside the wind moaned unceasingly, its voice now that of a child which sobs with itself in the night, now that of a woman who suffers her great pain alone, as women have suffered since life began, as women must suffer till life wears to its weary end. And mingled with the wailing of wind rain fell—fell heavily, intermittently, like tears wrung from souls of strong men."
Outside the books we say:
"It's raining."—Atchison Globe.

The Brakeman's Joke.
"Ran over a cow this morning up above Coffeyville," said the brakeman to a reporter.
"How did it happen?" asked the reporter.
"She was drinking out of a creek under a bridge," shouted the brakeman as he swung on to the last car and went grinning out of town.—Kansas City Times.

Brutal.
"Jimson—Where's your wife? Haven't seen her lately. Weed—Oh, I sent her away on a little vacation. Jimson—So? Where'd she go? Weed—To the Thousand Isles. Jimson—Stay long? Weed—Yes, I told her to take a week to each island.—Judge.

A Saving Grace.
Florence—I can't understand why Ethel married Mr. Gunson. He is old enough to be her father. Lawrence—Yes, but he is rich enough to be her husband.—Exchange.

Under the new constitutional amendment State Treasurer Brian is purchasing bonds of Nebraska school districts at a uniform rate of four and one-half per cent. This increases the earnings of the permanent school funds of the state and floats the district school bonds at a lower rate of interest than ever before, thus saving to the people at both ends of the transaction.

To The Man Behind the Cow.
To the first 100 farmers who pay $1.50 on subscription to the Herald we will send absolutely free for one year Kimball's Dairy Farmer. This is a handsome semi-monthly magazine "For the Men Who Own the Cows," published at Waterloo, Iowa. It is a live, up-to-date paper containing much interesting and valuable reading along the dairy lines. This offer is good only to the first 100 farmers who respond, so send or bring your $1.50 at once to The Herald, Wayne, Nebraska.

Chattel Mortgage Sale
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a chattel mortgage, dated November 17, 1908, and duly filed and recorded in the office of the County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 17th day of November, 1908, at one o'clock P. M., and executed by E. M. Petersen to I. W.
