Supre Court Denies Petition in $29,000,000 Case.

Landis' world's record fine of Sugge Lands: world's record fine of 250,240/600, imposed more than a year ago against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana for rebating, on Monday was forever set aside by the United States Supreme Court. Chief Justice Fuller announced the decision, denying, without comment or explanation, the government's petition for a writ of certification

tioned

The action of the nation's highest tribunal caused wide interest all over the country, as the issues have been followed closely. United States District, Attories Sims of Chicago, who was la active charge of the prosecution, declined to comment, however, stating that whatever further action may be taken would be ordered from the office of Attorney General Bosaparte in Washington.

Briefly, this is what the Suprem

Courf's decision means;

Limits maximum penalty it case which was overtireate to $720,000.

Makes limit of fines in all pending cases sganiss Standard Oil Company less than $3,000,000 in the event it is convicted on all the indictments against it.

County Superintendent Littell announces that it is up to the county board whether the school paper is continued or not. The Tribune readers know what we think of Mr. Littell and that we have no love for him, but it does not necessarily follow that we oppose him in all things. We believe that a paper like the Wayne County Teacher should be a permanent thing and if the county superintendent can not make it pay expenses the county can well afford to pay the deficiency necessary to keep it up. The cause of education, not Littell, will be helped.—Winside Tribune.
