Lots of Time.
Lots of time for lots of things, Though it's said that time has wings There is always time to find Ways of being sweet and kind; There is always time to share Smiles and goodness everywhere; Time to send the frowns away, Time a gentle word to say, Time for helpfulness, and time To assist the weak to climb, Time to give a little flower, Time for friendship, any hour. But there is no time to spare For unkindness anywhere.

Thoughts For The Week
MONDAY
Neither place, nor wealth, nor title Lacks the man my friendship owns: His distinction, true and vital, Shines supreme o'er crowns and thrones —J. G. Holland.

TUESDAY
In every garden four things are necessary to be provided for—flowers, fruit and water; and whoever lays out a garden without all these must not pretend to any perfection. Anon

WEDNESDAY
I detect More good than evil in humanity. Love lights more fires than hate extinguishes, And men grow better as the world grows old. —Ellis Wheeler.

THURSDAY
There are dark shadows on the earth, but its lights are stronger for the contrast. Some men, like bats and owls, have better eyes for the darkness than for the light. —Charles Dickens.

FRIDAY
Life is too short for vain regretting, Let dead delight bury its dead. I say, And let us go upon our way, forgetting The joys and sorrows of each yesterday —Ellis Wheeler.

SATURDAY
I realize more and more that love is the one sole necessity of earth and heaven, all else can be dispensed with. —J. G. Whittier.

ANOTHER BAD STORM
Worse Than the One of Two Weeks Ago.

This section of the state, and in fact the entire northwest, was in the grip of the worst storm for many a long day, from Monday afternoon until about midnight Tuesday. While the wind did not develop into so much of a gale as it did two weeks ago it had much more to feed upon in the way of snow, as it had been falling for nearly ten hours before the wind whipped around into the northwest and began to assume the form of a blizzard. At no time during the storm did it get so severely cold, only about four degrees below zero Tuesday morning and about ten below early Wednesday morning after the wind had blown itself out.

For twenty-four hours the air was filled so full of powdery snow that one could scarcely see across the street and huge drifts formed everywhere. It was only with difficulty that those who were compelled to be abroad even for a few minutes could get from one point to another here in town and in the country districts it must have been much worse. Just how bad it was in the country it has been impossible to ascertain as the telephone wires are down in every direction, while the great drifts have prevented but a few farmers getting into town thus far. Not a wheel was turning on the railroad after early Monday evening, and up to Wednesday night no communication could be received from the outside world, as the telegraph lines were so badly crippled that no messages could be sent. It is not probable there was any loss of life as the worst part of the storm began so late Monday evening that every one was safely housed, and was raging so furiously Tuesday morning that no one would venture out. There is a variety of opinions regarding the severity of the storm, some holding that it was the worst ever experienced here while others say they have seen fully as bad ones if not more severe, but all are agreed that they have no desire to pass through many storms of a like character. The east side of Main street was swept as clean of snow as anyone could do it with a broom, but the west side of the street presented an animated scene Wednesday morning when a large force of men began shoveling their way through the drifts from two to six feet deep in order to open up their places of business to the public. The long continued severity of the storm will have to furnish a good excuse for the scarcity of local news this week as it has been impossible for any one to come or go or to get information from any source, even the daily papers being cut off. It is probable that our readers will also have to be satisfied with a half sheet this week as it is not likely there will be any freight trains through before Friday if there is by that time. However, the half sheet will contain all the home news obtainable. We trust that this section may not have any more of this kind of storms this winter.

Good Ones
J. M. Coleman, the man who believes in the Poland China breed of swine, has still further improved his breeding pens the past week, by the infusion of new blood. Monday he received from Sioux City Miss Chief Sunshine, the dam of King Sunshine who took the sweepstake prize at the Inter-state fair in 1907; also dam of Perfect Leader, first in yearling class of fourteen head in 1908, and dam of Miss Medler Jewel, the dam that won second prize. He also received three head of fine animals Tuesday, of the same breed, from Elberon, Iowa.

Barber Crist has been smiling all the week. His family arrived Monday and they have gone to house-keeping in one of Dr. Leisenring's residences.

Star of Bethlehem Now Visible
For the first time in five hundred years, the "Star of Bethlehem" is now visible. It makes its appearance about midnight on the eastern horizon and is exceedingly bright, standing out in bold relief from all other stars. This star is the only star in the heavens which is named or even alluded to by a Christian name, and is supposed to be the star which appeared to the three wise kings from the far east, and which guided them to the stable of Bethlehem where the infant Jesus was born. The star comes within vision once every five hundred years, its last appearance being recorded in the year 1408. It will be visible during a part of 1909 from all parts of the earth.—Ft. Collins (Colo.) Courier.

Why should the U. S. government appropriate money to remove the wreckage of the Maine from Havana harbor? The Island of Cuba does not belong to this nation, nor were we in any way responsible for the placing of the obstruction in the harbor, in fact it was the straw that cost the United States a good many dollars.

Hiram Chase, the Indian candidate for attorney of Thurston county who won in the last election over Waldo E. Whitcomb, has been declared by the supreme court entitled to the office. The court holds the election was fairly conducted and that the plaintiff, Whitcomb, is estopped from questioning the validity of the election because of his advice to the election board and his apparent participation in their act of changing the place of election.

After April 1, Cedar county is to have a full county service of the rural free delivery. The old routes have been changed and new ones added to give every farm in the county convenient daily service. Inspector L. A. Thompson made a favorable report on the project after an investigation during April and May and the order putting his recommendation into effect has just been signed by the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General. There will be twenty-one routes as follows: Belden one, Coleridge two, Fordyce one, Hartington seven, Laurel three, Randolph five, Saint Helena one, Wynot one. Routes from Newcastle, Wausa and Crofton will extend into this county and two of the Randolph routes serve patrons in Wayne and Pierce counties.

Have You Heard Anything?
Lincoln, Feb. 8.—Notwithstanding the action of the legislature the other day in putting a crimp into the hopes of the fans for a law permitting Sunday baseball and notwithstanding the fact that a strong fight will be put up against Sunday baseball all along the line during the coming season, there is much talk of diamond sport for the summer. And strange, too, that this speculation should have first started in the northern part of the state where the frost-laden gales shave like "Grandpa's razor."

"Bill" Wilson spent a few days in Lincoln chatting with Guy Green and other local enthusiasts and then went up to O'Neill, touched the baseball chimes on every known key and the result has been reverberating all along the line from Rosalie to Arapahoe. The consequence is that that town is already wide awake on the question of supporting a good team to take its place in a north Nebraska league to be made up of O'Neill, Norfolk, Wayne, Madison, Neligh and, maybe, West Point. One of the main baseball fans of the latter place is Sam Sonnenschein, who has frequently come all the way to Lincoln to witness a game that gave promise of being somewhat out of the ordinary whether played on Sunday or Friday.

A new classification of winds has just been received by the weather bureau from the department at Washington. Many questions were asked by people of the city as to what kind of a wind it was which visited Nebraska a few days ago, whether it was a tornado, a hurricane, a gale or only a high wind. The classification is as follows. Calm, from 0 to 5 miles an hour; light wind, from 5 to 15 miles; moderate, from 15 to 25 miles; brisk, from 25 to 35; high, from 35 to 50; gale, from 50 to 65 miles; and a hurricane, when the wind reaches a velocity of more than 65 miles an hour.

Why Women Prefer It
When the newsboy comes through the train with the Chicago papers, watch the married couple across the aisle. If the man is a well-regulated husband he will ask his wife which paper she prefers, and then you may lay odds that the one chosen will be THE RECORD-HERALD. There is no mystery about it. The man knows that he will find all the news in THE RECORD-HERALD, to be sure, but the woman knows it is the only paper that also gives adequate attention to the things in which women are specially interested. In every daily issue she can find a bill of fare for the day's three meals, reliable society news, good book reviews, Mme. Qui Vive's pungent comments on beauty questions, bright verses and jokes without vulgarity, a cartoon that anybody can enjoy and a fair share of the news of the day relating to women. Every Monday there is "Martha's Management," a very helpful column of culinary topics. In the Sunday edition a whole section is devoted to women, including Marion Harland's famous page, Mme. Qui Vive's vivacious columns, Jennette Hope's fashions direct from Paris, Dame Cursey's "Novelties in Entertainment" and many special articles of timely interest. Then there is the Sunday Magazine of THE RECORD-HERALD, a real magazine, full of good love stories and beautiful pictures. Do you wonder that women prefer THE RECORD-HERALD?

Same Everywhere

The Iowa editors, at a meeting to be held on the 12th, are going to discuss, among other things, the drift of Iowa people to other states and how to prevent it. Every state in the union could talk on the same subject, and that without any visible effect. The discontented roaming spirit seems to be abroad in Nebraska as well as other states. If man was planted again in the Garden of Eden as was Adam and Eve, he would find some reason to be dissatisfied with it and seek a change, even if it was on some arid plain where he would have to work twice as hard to eke out even an existence. "Man wants but little here below, nor wants that little long," if he has to stay in one place to obtain it.

Should Become a Law.

A bill was introduced in the state senate last week by Senator Ransom that has merit enough in it to cause it to become a law. The bill reads as follows: Any person who wilfully fails, refuses or neglects to provide proper food, clothing and shelter, or in any case of sickness, to care for his wife or minor child, or being able to work and contribute to such support, refuses work or seeks to neglect it, or refuses work when it is offered, or who conducts himself so as to be discharged from the work that is given him, shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and punished by imprisonment in the county jail. The bill further provides that the party accused and found guilty of refusing to provide for his wife and family and refusing work that is offered and is placed in jail may be paroled by a judge of the district court under bond and on condition of his promise to go to work when it is given him. Any justice of the peace in the county is authorized to issue a warrant for the arrest of any person.

The Carroll Index Says That.

John Shannon went to Wayne Tuesday afternoon to visit his parents.
Mesdames John R. Morris, James Baker and O. M. Hurlbert were visitors in Wayne Tuesday afternoon.
Henry Bay was a Wayne visitor on Wednesday afternoon.
John Francis this week sold his quarter southwest of town to H. R. Craven, of Wayne. The consideration paid was $55 per acre.
Mathias Jones met with a serious accident Saturday afternoon about one-thirty. He was attending his duties at J. J. Mellick & Son's, at the time waiting on one of the Morris boys. He found it necessary to go to the basement for something. He went to the elevator shaft and rolled up the door and stepped in without taking a look, thinking that the elevator was on that, the first floor, but it being on the second floor the shaft was open and Matt plunged head first to the bottom, a distance of about ten feet, striking on his left side and head. The Morris boy saw him fall and informed John Mellick. When Matt was picked up he was unconscious and remained so for some time. An examination by the doctor showed that four ribs had been broken on the left side just under the shoulder blade and that the head had received a heavy impact on the back thereof. Since the injury the patient has been doing nicely although he has suffered a great deal of pain. It is hoped by his large circle of friends that his recovery will be rapid.

Why Do You Visit The Sick?

"Visit the sick" is a biblical injunction which has been so much abused, and so blunderingly complied with, that those who are anxious to avoid doing harm should study the subject before visiting any invalid, says Charlotte A. Alkens in the March New Idea Woman's Magazine.
What is my object in going? Is a visit the best way to accomplish the I have in view? What is the effect of my visit likely to be on the sick one? What shall I talk about? What shall I do when I get there? How long should I stay? Can I do him any good? These are all questions that may properly be asked before starting out on one of these often mis-called "missions of mercy." In a great many cases they would be more properly dubbed "missions of curiosity." Through years of experience in hospital work, I have come to believe that few kinds of social or benevolent duties require more tact, delicacy and fine common sense than the visiting of the sick, if good is to result and not harm. I have known of many people who had but the merest speaking acquaintance with invalid who did not hesitate to inflict their presence on him for an hour or two at a time when he was confined in a hospital.
"Please do not ever admit that woman again," a patient said imploringly after such a visitor had gone. "I know who she is, but she is practically a stranger to me. Why should she force herself upon me when I am sick? She is so tiresome!"

VALENTINE DAY

Next Sunday is the Annual Event. Something About its Origin
It might be interesting if we could find out how the good martyred bishop of Rome, St. Valentine, likes to have his name associated with the modern Valentine day with its comic doggerel, often impertinent and insulting. Its lace trimmed hearts, gaudy gilt cupids and turtle doves cooing "thine till death." The uninitiated in psychic phenomena will have to continue guessing.
Nobody seems to be able to explain how the bishop, so eminent for piety and renowned for eloquence, came to be looked upon as the patron saint of lovers. The good bishop suffered martyrdom on February A. D. 270. Previous to his death he was cast in jail, and while there is said to have cured the jailer's daughter of blindness and now by some trick of fate he has been made the patron saint of the little blind god.
St. Francis de Sale celebrated February 14, the day the bishop was martyred, by writing on slips of paper, which he called "valentines," the story of the life and sufferings of the bishop and gave them to the boys in his charge. At present the day is a Christianized form of the classic Lupercalia, the feast of Pan and Juno, which was observed the middle of February, when the names of the maids were put in a box and drawn by the bachelors and the man was required to escort the lady to the merrymakings for the next 12 months, to be her "valentine."
The early English observance of the day followed these lines quite closely. In the old days of quill pens and high postage the valentine was a luxury. It was generally decorated with women in green shawls, men in lavender clothes and gilt cupids bearing the "violets blue" and "I love you" declaration. With the introduction of cheap postage and printed valentines the reign of Cupid began and the valentine mails are larger than any other time of year except Christmas.
An old English tradition was that the first unmarried person one saw on Valentine's morning would be his future mate. In Swift's Tale of the Tub, the lady says "This frosty morning we will take the air about the fields, for I do mean to be somebody's valentine."
The famous Pepys in his "diary" tells of a young English girl who desired a certain swain for a husband, so on Valentine's morn she stayed in her room, with her eyes closed until the favorite suitor came. Pepys also says that in England both married and unmarried people were chosen for valentines, and the one chosen made a present to the chooser. In this way the ladies added to their collections of jewels quite materially.

Take Care Of The Boys

Are you sure you know where your boys are evenings—positively know, or just that they are "in the neighborhood somewhere"?
Every boy is a live wire that, unless properly insulated, will do mischief to himself and others. Even then the wires get crossed, and there are all sorts of complications. Of course your girls are safely indoors under the parental eyes, or properly chaperoned elsewhere; you would not dream of allowing them out after night had fallen; but "the boys can take care of themselves," you say. That is one of the greatest mistakes parents make. Your boys are as tender plants as your girls.
The idea that a daughter is more of a responsibility than a son is a mistake. If anything, the boys are more of a charge, for a girl is put on the defensive from the time she is born; she is made aware of the raging lion on every street-corner seeking to devour her; but the boy, in many cases, is totally unarmed with advice of the right nature and is sent out to do battle with the monster whose habitat is the corner and the loafing place, in city, town and country. Boys are not so quick to recognize wickedness as their sisters, and it soaks into them thoroughly and surely, and sometimes a whole lifetime is insufficient to eradicate the harmful impressions received in childhood. Therefore, the mother's duty is as absolute to her son as to her daughter, and does not end in simply providing him with food and an education, and in sending him to Sunday-school.—The March New Idea Woman's Magazine.

Three of a Kind

The third accident of a similar within the past thirty days happened last Saturday near Winside. The 8 year old son of Henry Meyers, a farmer living near that village, while riding to town with his father, on a load of wheat, fell off the wagon, and the front wheel passed over his body badly crushing his chest. The attending physician says there is no hopes of recovery.

Nothing like having a little fun out of things and at the same time get a little advertising too. Pedestrians were amused Wednesday morning so see a sign sticking out of the top of a six foot snow drift bearing these words: "Keep off the grass. Purchase your supplies at Rundell's."

S. F. Cutler, the aged resident of Wayne, who went insane a few weeks ago and was sent to the asylum at Norfolk, died at that institution Monday afternoon. That five acres of waste land on your place if planted to cottonwood or Norway poplar would in five years be worth $500. What better investment could you make than that.

A few acres of that waste land planted to cottonwoods or Norway poplars would, in five years time, furnish you with all the needed fuel. Why not make a start for the coming spring?

The old residents of this vicinity say that seldom, if ever, has there been a winter with so many sudden and severe changes of weather as the present winter has brought forth. There has certainly been enough of them. It is these sudden fits of the temperature, more than anything else, that leads so many of our people to seek other climes.

"An Unfinished Monument to America's Great Heart" will be the subject of the sermon at the Methodist church on Sunday morning.

In the evening the pastor will give the second in the series on The Great Lights of Church History. The subject is "Girolamo Savonarola, Knight Errant of the Crown of the 15th Century."

Postmaster McNeal had troubles of his own Wednesday morning. When he came down to the office he found that Jack Frost had sealed the front door up so tight that he could not get in and he had to wait until his next door neighbor arrived so he could get in the back way and get the office open.

With this issue the Herald closes volume 33. If we had been a long time at the helm we should indulge in a little retrospection, but as we have not we will simply pass it by by saying that the paper is enjoying a good degree of patronage in all lines and we hope to bring you good tidings of good things for a good many years to come.

The postoffice department has issued a special issue of 2 cent postage stamps commemorating the one hundredth anniversary, on February 12, 1909, of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. These stamps will be placed on sale February 12 and thereafter until the supply is exhausted. No other denomination than two cents will be supplied in the special Lincoln issue.

Do you know that you can write your name on the metal of your farm tools? You can. Just take a little tallow or beeswax, melt it and spread it over the place where you want your name; write your name down through the wax with a big needle or awl and pour a few drops of nitric acid over the letters you have made. Leave a few minutes, then wipe off the wax and your name will be on the iron.—Farm Journal.

The State Board of Agriculture adopted a recommendation at their annual meeting, looking toward the forming of non-political, non-sectarian, home social clubs among the farmers of each school district in the state. We hope our country readers will authorize one of their number to send to W. R. Mellor, secretary, Lincoln, for a plan for the organization of such a society, whose main object is to discuss practical scientific farming propositions at reasonable times.

We are told that a number of young men students have been expelled from the Nebraska Normal College for unbecoming conduct. Too bad that young men will so far forget their manhood.

Judge Welch of Wayne, has invested in Cedar county land, having bought the Petersmeyer land adjoining Magnet on the east at $60 per acre. We would guess he made a good trade.—Randolph Times.

Advertising pays, and you do not have to argue the case with the catalogue houses, the patent medicine concerns, or the enterprising home merchant who has given it a fair trial, and each has a different method.

If you have the blues, feel bad anywhere, and want something to arouse your circulation go and see "The Two Johns" at the Opera House on February 12. Care will leave your soul like a cat going under a barn after a rat.

The rural carriers did not attempt to go out all Tuesday, and only got out about five miles Wednesday. They did not attempt to go even then with a team. Carrier Crossland took it afoot and he says he thinks it will be a week before the roads are opened up.

Photographer Craven took some fine views of the doings of the recent storm near his residence, snow drifts ten or twelve feet high, one of them across the sidewalk with a tunnel through it and showing a man standing full height, just coming out of the tunnel. They would be good mementoes of the storm.

It was after two o'clock Wednesday afternoon before this town got any telegraphic communication with the outside world, and there has been no train up to the time of going to press Thursday noon. It is thought a train may possibly get through by this, Thursday night, but there is nothing definite about it.

On account of the large amount of mail matter which has been received at the dead letter office during the past year, a large portion of which could not be delivered on account of carelessness in writing addresses, the postoffice department is seeking a remedy by sending out a model form of address also a book of instructions for the use of the teacher in the Public Schools. If the instructions are followed and the address written plain it will many times save delay in mail matter reaching its proper destination.

The telephone as a means of communication is no longer a luxury and an absolute necessity. It has done much to relieve the monotony of farm life, and at all hours of the day one can hear the farmers or their wives chatting in a neighborly manner with one another even miles away, and enquiring as to how things are going in their neighborhood. Surely in many respects, if not all, the present modern civilization is far ahead of anything that has preceded it, and gives promise of greater things still to come.

Corner Stone to be Laid.

The corner stone of the Wayne High School Building will be laid on Saturday, February 13th, 1909, at 10:30 o'clock A. M. by the Grand Lodge A. F. & A. M. of Nebraska. Everybody cordially invited to attend the ceremony.

A. J. DAVIS, Master.
J. M. CHERRY, Secretary.

Respected Citizen Passes Away

J. H. Spahr, one of the old residents of Wayne died Sunday morning at one o'clock and was buried from the Methodist church Monday afternoon. Mr. Spahr was born October 25, 1831, in Ohio and came to Wayne 25 years ago. He was held in the highest respect by all who knew him and left an honorable name and reputation as a legacy to his children and neighbors. His wife died four years ago. He leaves five sons and one daughter to mourn his going.

Patrons' Meeting.

The attention of the patrons and friends of the public school is called to the patrons' meeting that will be held in the high school room at 2:45 on the afternoon of Friday, February 12th. Preceding the patrons' meeting patriotic programs will be given in a number of the rooms in the high school building. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested to attend one of the programs as well as to attend the patrons meeting. Following is the program of the patrons meeting:

The Food and Clothing of Children

The New Building—Mrs. F. L. Neely.

Address—Schools Abroad.

Mrs. J. M. Pile.

The formal discussion of each topic will be followed by a general discussion. Come and be prepared to take part in this.

Last But Not Least.

The last entertainment on this season's course in Wayne will be held next Thursday evening, February 18th. It is to be a musical number, the Emphorium Glee Club appearing on that day, being composed of four gentlemen, a soloist, reader, accompanist and violinist. These young men have a large number of testimonials as to their work; two of which we give.

Crete (Neb.) Vidette-Herald—Numerous encores were received, two being double encores. The dash and spirit with which each number was rendered is evidence of excellent training. The program rendered was bright and spicy, showing good selection and management.

Ogallala (Neb.) Republican Argus—These young men have fine voices, well cultivated, which, in addition to their pleasing personality, and varied repertoire, made the concert one of exceeding pleasure to the audience. Ten numbers were embraced in the program, and every number was enthusiastically entered, to which the young gentlemen very gracefully responded. Should they ever appear in Ogallala again they may be sure of a warm welcome.

Cultivate the Civic Spirit.

If there is one thing which every small town needs, it is the cultivation of a broader civic spirit—a spirit which will be animated by something more than self-interest; a spirit which will look upon the affairs of a town as the concern of all its citizens; a civic spirit which believes that the growth of cities can be controlled, that civic progress is subject to direction and development, a civic spirit which can look at things from the standpoint of a community; that will not allow money which should be spent at home to be sent away to support the monopolistic Mail Order houses.

Most every city or town has its Business Men's Organizations, Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade, the mission of all of which are to promote closer business relations, obtain lowest freight rates, encourage and induce manufacturers to locate, and such things as directly relate to the general business welfare of a town or city.

But the civic spirit—the interests and co-operation of the ordinary citizen has not been cultivated, and until it has been, no great progress can be made in a town's welfare—until then no movement can be successful in combating the greatest evil which ever menaced a town or village—the Mail Order monopoly.

Cultivate, therefore, the civic spirit; arouse civic spirit and work harmoniously for your own community's good, and your reward will be a busy, prosperous, flourishing community.

Bridge Burned.

A forty foot bridge was totally destroyed by fire on the main line between Hoskins and Winslow Thursday night, causing the abandonment of freight trains and the hindering of passenger trains for a day or two. It is not known how the fire originated but it was discovered by the engineer of an east bound freight, who saw the burning embers in time to stop his train before it ran into the break where the structure used to be. A freight train ran down from here Friday morning and transferred the passengers, baggage and mail, bringing them to Wayne, where they were taken on the branch line passenger train to Emerson.

Al. Furchner Submits to Operation.

Albert Furchner, well known in Wayne, and a boyhood resident, who pitched the Sioux City base ball club to victory last year, was obliged to undergo an operation at Sioux City Monday for the removal of a growth in his chest. He said that when he was working hard last season he could often feel darting pains through his chest but did not pay much attention to them, but, as he is to pitch in a big league the coming season he wants to be in a condition to show them how it is done. All's many friends here, and the base ball enthusiasts hope that he may fully recover and that the attending physicians think that the big twirler will be out in a couple of weeks sound as ever and in good trim for work.

Are Watchful

An incident illustrating the careful oversight the school board is giving the erection of the new school house, occurred one day last week. One of the workmen, rather than go to the trouble of sawing a brick off every time in a course, thought he could put them in full length, as it only threw the corner a quarter of an inch out of plumb, and it would never be noticed, but in that he was mistaken. He had got ten or twelve courses laid when a member of the board chanced that way and, noting the error, compelled the man to take out his work and lay it over again. Such oversight as that is pretty sure to cause workmen to be very careful about shirking their work and insures that the plans will be faithfully carried out. That is as it should be. The people are putting a lot of good money into the building and have a right to expect that it will be well expended.

An effort is being made to sell the Wayne normal school to the state. It will be an impossibility at this stage of affairs, although northeastern Nebraska is just as much entitled to a free state institution as the southwestern and western part of the state. However, that state debt must first be paid, and taxes reduced about one-third. You can't buy normal schools and do these things. —Pender Times

VOLCANOES.

They Are Not Burning Mountains as We Understand That Term.

"What are volcanoes?" Nine out of every ten persons would immediately have an answer of some sort to the question above, for having not a lively remembrance of having learned in their schoolbooks that "volcano is a burning mountain, from the summit of which are sent out smoke and flames?" This popular fancy has been exploded by scientists, whose work is to expunge popular fancies.

In the first place, volcanoes are not necessarily mountains. In reality they are just the reverse—that is, holes in the earth's crust. Out of these are thrown the materials which, accumulating, form the heaps which we popularly call mountains.

These are, then, the result and not the cause of the action. Neither are they "burning," as we understand the term. There is no combustion nor any action we might reasonably call "burning."

The action need not necessarily take place at the summit, for eruptions are just as frequent at the sides or even at the base. The so-called "smoke" is nothing more or less than the clouds of condensing steam which are formed on every occasion when an eruption occurs.

Lastly, the "flames," so called, are merely the reflection of the mass of molten rock and material inside the crater on the clouds of steam above thus appearing as a glowing light. The friction, too, set up by the motion of the materials causes electricity, and hence the lightning discharges which add to the illuminating effect—Pearson's Magazine.

VOTED WITHOUT BALLOTS.

An Election Day at Charlottesville, Va., in 1804.

At Charlottesville, Va., the seat of Albemarle county, according to Miss Mary Johnston's chronicle of "Lewis and Clark," they were voting for a member of the house of delegates. It was the fourth Wednesday in April. The year was 1804.

"Under the locust trees to the right of the open gate were placed long tables and on them three mighty punch bowls, flanked by drinking cups and guarded by house servants of venerable appearance and stately manners. Here good Federalists refreshed themselves. To the left of the gate, upon the trampled grass beneath a number of trees, appeared other punch bowls and in addition a barrel of whiskey ready branched for all good Democrat-Republicans. The sunny street was filled with horses, vehicles and servants; the broad path between the trees, the turf on either hand and the courthouse steps were crowded with riotous voters. All ranks of society, all ages, occupations and opinions, met in the general weather beneath the trees, where sang every bird of spring."

Within the courthouse the sheriff presided. conspicuous sat the two candidates. There were no ballots, but each voter made known his choice by living voice:

"I vote, sir," cried the colonel, "for Mr. Ludwell Cary, for a gentleman and a patriot, sir, and may the old county never be represented but by such!"

The Money Gern.

The Baltimore Sun comes out with a warning that probably few will heed. It says, "Don't let the money germs bite you," and adds that a man who has taken the trouble to count 'em says that 24,000 bacteria roost comfortably on each one dollar bill after the currency has been circulating freely for a year or so. So if you have $50 in your pocket you are probably carrying around about 6,200,000 germs. "Yet," says the Sun, "there are men brave enough to face this terrible risk just for the sake of having a roll of greenbacks. It simply shows what dangers man will undergo for money. Most of us, however, are not in serious danger."

Garibaldi's Simplicity of Character.

An instance of Garibaldi's modesty and simplicity of character is afforded by the following letter, written to his wife at Caprera the day after the battle of Diagon:

Dear Francesca—Yesterday the Italian volunteers fought the whole day against the Russians, the best soldiers in the world, and we won. The weather here is very cold, and it is snowing. I dare say it will be the same in the Mediterranean. Take care of the cows and see that the calves do not suffer from the cold. Tell Pietro to sow the beans at the Tole and tell the children, Maria and Manlio, that when I passed Marselles I saw some beautiful toys, which on my return I shall get for them.

Ingenious Ponies.

A rather curious habit has been developed by Mexican ponies in connection with the cactus thorns. When these creatures are thirsty it is said that before attempting to put their mouths to the prickly plant they will first of all stand and kick at the cactus with their heels. By this means the thorns are broken and the leathery skin bruised, and so the ponies can drink their fill of the cool juice without injury.—Straud Magazine.

They Were Not Encouraged.

"I don't see why that young man doesn't propose."
 "I think, pa, that the chances of his doing it would be fully as good if you would leave your boxing gloves around where he can see them."—Bentham Magazine.

Of course everybody likes and respects self-made men. It is a great deal better to be made in that way than not to be made at all.—O. W. Holmes.

Here is your democratic economy.

L. Albert, who is not a member of the Nebraska legislature, has been delegated, at a salary of $300, by the House, to outline a bank guaranty bill. It speaks well neither for their economy nor their brains that this legislature has to go outside its membership to get bills drawn up.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,

Abraham Lincoln Said

Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration. Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection as any other rights. Nor is it denied that there is, and probably always will be, a relation between labor and capital producing mutual benefits. The error is in assuming that the whole labor of community exists within that relation. A few men own capital, and that few avoid labor themselves, and with their capital hire or buy another few to labor for them. A large majority belong to neither class—neither work for others nor have others working for them. * * * The prudent penniless beginner in the world works for wages for awhile, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors on his own account another while, and at length hires another new beginner to help him. This is the just and generous and prosperous system, which opens the way to all, gives hope to all, and consequent energy and progress and improvement of condition to all. No men living are more worthy to be trusted, than those who toil up from poverty; none less inclined to take or touch aught which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they already possess, and which if surrendered will surely be used to close the doors of advancement against such as they and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them, till all of liberty be lost. —(From Lincoln's First Message to the Congress.)

Slippery Places

"Sinners stand in slippery places," and so do the "trusts." At least, that is the conclusion from the decision of the United States supreme court in the Continental Wall Paper company case, handed down. The wall paper company sued to collect a bill of $57,000 from one of its customers. The delinquent customer replied that the company could not collect the money because it was a monopoly, and therefore illegal. The wall paper company admitted that it was a monopoly, controlling 98 per cent of the domestic output of wall paper, but it wanted its money just the same. And the court held, five to four, that, being an illegal combination, it could not use the courts to collect its debts. The court, "in accordance with a rule long established in jurisprudence," would not "lend its aid in any way to enforce or to realize the fruits of an agreement which appears to be tainted with illegality," thus seeming to put debts due a "trust" into the same class with gambling debts, which cannot be collected in a suit at law.

HELPFUL KNOWLEDGE

Wayne People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease
 The symptom of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys secrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of headaching. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, diabetes, or Bright's disease. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal. You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Wayne proof:

Mrs. M. L. Goodyear, of Wayne, Nebraska, says, "I was troubled greatly by rheumatism for several years. During a severe attack last spring, I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief. Another member of my family who was afflicted with rheumatism took this remedy and it brought the same prompt benefit. I have no hesitation in saying that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation for kidney disorders."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

From the numerous sale advertisements in our exchanges it would seem as if nearly every one in Nebraska had caught the "bug" of fire insurance. Some of the papers have entire pages full of advertisements. This also is a sign of the times.

Prison Twine in Nebraska.

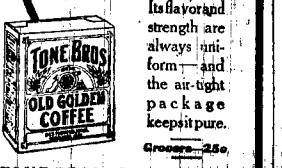

House bill No. 100 proposes to establish a binding twine plant in the penitentiary, appropriating $50,000 for machinery and equipment, and $150,000 for operating fund to do business until profits are large enough to take its place. A similar factory in the Kansas penitentiary has been a great success, and the farmers of Kansas have been able to buy their twine at two or three cents per pound cheaper than their Nebraska neighbors. A similar bill was passed by the legislature four years ago, but was vetoed by Governor Mickey, who was influenced more by the wishes of A. Beecher than by the desires of the balance of the state.

Those Good Old Times

We often hear people talking about hard times and how hard it is to get along. It would come as a revelation to some of these people if they could turn back the wheels of time and see how the early settlers, fifty and sixty years ago, had to contrive and work to get along. In those days no railroads nearer than thirty or forty miles and often still farther; no flour mills or saw mills; no mails or postoffice near; no roads except trails, no bridges, no schools or churches, no newspapers only a great distance. When a settler had to have a little lumber, salt or groceries he had to go from thirty to fifty miles with an ox team and be gone a week or two weeks or longer, often compelled to lay over by freshets or blizzards. What little he raised would find no cash market anywhere as it cost all it was worth to get it to the railroads. The pioneer settler was his own doctor, teacher and preacher and the man who wasn't handy with tools and who could not let a wagon "tife," horse's shoe or a broken leg, make an ox yoke, a sod shanty or a coffin, or keep the fire going without hard coal or furnace, wasn't considered of much account. But the people were happy, hopeful and generous. Style had not invaded their ranks to make them selfish, the money madness had not tainted their blood to make them forget their neighborliness, all they lacked in taste and worldly possessions they made up in enthusiasm, industry and the helpfulness toward one another that was as pure gold compared to the dross that we too often meet now. —Humphrey Democrat.
