THAT PATRONS MEETING

A Good Attendance and Interesting Papers.

We do not know whether or no many meetings like the one held in the High School building, Friday afternoon, have been held in Wayne, but if they should prove as interesting as that one did they should be more frequent and worthy a still larger attendance. One noticeable feature of the meeting was the few men present. Has it become so that it is impossible to interest the male portion of any community either in education or religion? These are both topics of the utmost importance in every community having to deal both with the moral and financial aspects of life, and it would seem that men would show more interest in them.

The first paper on the program was by Mrs. J. T. Bressler, who presented some very interesting thoughts on "The Food and Clothing of Children." It is too often thought that these subjects do not have any bearing on the education of a child, but her discussion of the topic showed that she had different views, which were also concurred in by the testimony of teachers and others.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips presented a very able paper on "Habits of Children," and showed conclusively that an "involuntary act acquired by repetition" becomes a fixed habit in the course of time, from which it is almost impossible to break away. Even the smallest of children, she argued, should be taught insistently the necessity of picking up its toys and putting them in their proper place, as by so doing they inadvertently acquire the habit of being careful about the home and elsewhere. "A place for everything and everything in its place" was her thought along this line, which together with painstaking effort for the accomplishment of every task set for the child to do were among the essential things presented in her paper.

Dr. Blair had for his theme "Curable Defects of Children" and he devoted most of his time to the disease "Myopia" or near sightedness, although he had prepared a more extensive discussion on other diseases but found that his time was too limited to present them. He proved conclusively that this disease is not necessarily an inherited one, but is acquired and progressive, caused almost invariably by poorly lighted and ill ventilated school rooms and the acquired habit of holding the head or sitting while in the act of studying or reading. Over 40 per cent of all cases are due to these causes. Mrs. C. A. Grothe in discussing this same subject read a very interesting paper, touching upon numerous points not cited by Dr. Blair, showing how dame fashion is responsible in a large degree for defects of this kind in children and young people, especially girls, by the use of hose and skirt supporters, and other articles of apparel, which draw the head and body out of their true position, and by long use cause a derangement of the visual functions and nervous system.

The topic "What Do our Children Read?" was opened by a well written paper by Mrs. C. Chace, and discussed by Mrs. W. C. Wightman and Mrs. Chas. Beebe. These ladies carefully treated this theme from various view points showing the necessity of a careful supervision on the part of the parents and teachers of what kind of a habit the children acquire in their reading hours. They, by their thoughts, well illustrated the thought of the disastrous results, both morally and physically, that too often ensue in too much and too promiscuous reading. Reading of pernicious books and a too much familiarity with the daily press were deplored and the thought advanced that more care should be exercised on the part of those who have the training of the children in leading their mind and thought toward high ideals and purity.

F. L. Neely had for his theme "The New Building" having reference to the handsome new temple of learning now being erected in Wayne. Mr. Neely is a member of the school board and his entire talk showed that he was deeply interested in the building and cause of education. It also showed that he was fully conversant with all the plans, details and purposes of the new structure, and was therefore well versed for its oversight, and to talk about it. He gave some very interesting figures regarding the sanitary and ventilating features of the new building as well as its modes of egress in case of fire. He said that two of the leading architects of Omaha have declared that the new building, when finished, will be the finest in many respects of any in the state.

Mrs. J. M. Pile closed the afternoon's program by an address on the "Schools Abroad." The time was pretty well consumed before she was afforded the opportunity to speak, therefore she was unable to go into details regarding the schools of those countries as she had planned to do, but her address gave evidence of the fact that she had kept her eyes and ears, as well as her faculty of observation, open while she was abroad. She said that the United States, despite all its vaunted self praise along educational lines, stood fourth among the nations in this respect. France is first, Germany second and England third. What she saw regarding the school system of England shows that country is making very rapid progress in the past ten years, and her description of the treatment of defective children was especially interesting. All the largest schools, or towns, have a health officer, and a nurse. Every child is examined and all who show any tendency to disease are segregated, and are sent to schools by themselves. The cost of this comes out of the district in which the child rightfully belongs and not out of the parents. The parents have to educate those who are physically and mentally all right but the defective ones are looked after by the government.

We should have been glad to have gone more into the details of each paper and discussion but space and time forbid, but this will show the scope of the papers and discussions and will make you want to attend the next time a patron's meeting is held.

The nicest kind of a little fellow took up his residence at John Jaskowick's home last Friday. Mother and child are getting along nicely.

C. W. Reed was a heavy loser by the late storm. A shed fell from the weight of snow and he lost 46 head of hogs, or in other words, about $500.00 worth.

The Tribune extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fleer over the safe arrival of a fine little baby girl at their home last Saturday. As there were two boys in the family, this little girl is made doubly welcome.

Scarlet fever claimed the little son of Chas. Mans, who lives about six miles west of Winside, and he was buried yesterday. The funeral was to have been held Tuesday, but on account of the storm it was delayed until yesterday, when he was buried in the Hoskins cemetery.

To The Man Behind the Cow

To the first 100 farmers who pay $1.50 on subscription to the Herald we will send absolutely free for one year Kimball's Dairy Farmer. This is a handsome semi-monthly magazine. "For the Men Who Own the Cows," published at Waterloo, Iowa. It is a live, up-to-date paper containing much interesting and valuable reading along the dairy lines. This offer is good only to the first 100 farmers who respond, so send or bring your $1.50 at once to The Herald, Wayne, Nebraska.

Died at Carroll.

Wednesday morning grandma Morris, mother of John W. Morris, passed to her reward. Death came to her at the home of her son, John W. Morris. The deceased was at the advanced age of eighty-four. She has been suffering for some time with the grippe. The funeral was held at the Morris home this afternoon, and the interment was at the cemetery in the settlement. —Carroll Index.

Very Bad Accident

About three o'clock Tuesday afternoon while Patrick Colman, an aged resident of our little city, was on his way from his home to the business portion of the town, he slipped on the sidewalk near Mr. Davis and fell. He attempted to get up and found that he was unable to do so. Some of the residents of that vicinity seeing that something was the matter of the man went to his assistance and got him home. It was ascertained that his right leg was broken near the hip joint. Drs. Wightman and Williams were called, reduced the fracture but as Mr. Colman is 77 years of age it promises to be a very serious accident for him. The break is a bad one, being so near the hip, and Mr. Colman's advanced age.

Dies in Sioux City.

Christian Soderman was born in Kaemerich Auch Duchy of Mecklenburg Schwerin, November 2nd 1852. He came to America an early age residing in the vicinity of Three Rivers, Michigan. Nineteen years ago he came to Nebraska and engaged in farming in Douglas and Wayne counties for a number of years, residing while here near Carroll. About two years ago he removed to Sioux City, and up to six months ago was employed as watchman at the Sioux City brewery, since which time, up to the fore part of last week, he was tender of the combination bridge, and while engaged in his duties suffered a stroke of apoplexy, from which he did not rally. About six months ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis of his left side and had not been well since. Deceased was 57 years, three months, and 7 days of age, and leaves a wife and three children, two daughters and a son. The body was sent to Wayne for burial, the funeral taking place from the German Lutheran church last Friday, Rev. J. H. Karpenstein officiating.

Easily Scared

There is considerable criticism, and seemingly justly too, against the railway company for their utter indifference about keeping this line of road open. One thing is sure, and that is that you would not find any Iowa road, with such a light snow as that of Sunday, making no effort to keep trains moving, but this road did not even try to turn a wheel. It looks as though from now on even a light frost will tie the road up for two or three days. It is no laughing matter either. This severe cold weather eats up the supply of coal in town at a rapid rate, and while there has been no scarcity as yet in that supply, there has been in other things. Having no freight nearly all of last week, many of the merchants came down to Saturday night with their stocks very much reduced and entirely out of some articles. Competition may not be the life of trade but it certainly makes the railroads hustle to keep their lines open to secure their share of the business.

Madison Won Easily

The Madison High School basketball team had no trouble in disposing of their opponents, the Wayne Normal team. The result of the game was a score of 21 to 0 which was conclusive evidence that the Wayne boys were simply outplayed throughout the entire time. Before the game was called the Wayne boys put on a few practice stunts that were of class and they made some of the followers of the local team believe that we were outclassed but when it came to actual play there was no time in which the Madison goal was dangerously threatened as the throwing of the Wayne team was wild and without judgment. As it was the Madison team did not put up their strongest game and we are inclined to think that had Madison put up a real stiff article of ball the score would have been still larger on the Madison end. However, the game throughout was quite interesting and well worth seeing and the local boys deserve much credit for their play.

The Wayne boys put up an interesting game at times but lacked knowledge of the finer points of the game and time after time left splendid openings for the locals to score and in most cases these openings were taken advantage of.

The first half went quite a while before any scores were chalked up but after that Madison woke up and started things going and when time was called the score sheet indicated a score of 12 to 3 for Madison. In this half Wayne did not score a single goal in play, but made two free throws on fouls.

In the second half Madison again opened play in a lively manner and kept the Wayne boys running and dodging and but once did Wayne show any signs of fast play and that was when they scored the only two goals they made in play during the game. Madison scored 11 points in this half to Wayne's 6.

The Last One

The last entertainment of the lecture course occurs this evening. It promises to be a good one. There should be a large attendance as the indications are that the men who have stood as guarantors for the financial end of the cause are not going to come out even. A good thing should be liberally patronized.

Funeral Services.

The funeral services of S. M. Cutler, the aged resident who was sent to the asylum at Norfolk, and who died there, took place at the Presbyterian church last Saturday forenoon, Rev. Osborne officiating. The remains were detained at Norfolk several days owing to the severe storm. Deceased was born in New York State in 1821. He was married to Miss Mary Hyatt in 1849, and came to Wayne county in 1882. His wife and three children, Herbert, residing in Iowa, Mrs. Helen Sewell, of Wayne, Monroe, living in Oneida county New York, and seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive his death.

Stop Your Meanness.

"Why does not a newspaper print all the news?" is often asked. We will tell you why, and will illustrate the fact by saying that in two instances we were asked by interested parties Wednesday morning not to say anything about items that were what you might term legitimate news. Of course an editor could run rough shod over the feelings of the residents of a community and by rights no one should ask an editor to suppress an item of news, neither is it necessary to go into all the harrowing details of some local happening. If people were half as anxious or ashamed to escape trouble and notoriety before an act was committed as they are after it has been done, and they see the result of their meanness in its true light, there would not be so much devilry going on. But then we guess it is just as well to "pass up" some of the things that transpire as it is to go into details about them.

A Grand Good Time

That is what A. J. Ferguson and wife, and their friends Mr. and Mrs. Mossman, of Chadron, Nebraska, had for several days since the last issue of the Herald. The last named couple came to Wayne last Saturday for the purpose of meeting their life long friends and to celebrate together their wedding anniversaries. These four worthy people grew up together from childhood in the same locality, and when they grew to manhood and womanhood were married in the neighborhood where they had lived together for so many years. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have been married 43 years last Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. Mossman 42 years on the same day. The storeroom of their memories is full to overflowing of the many pleasant and happy hours they have spent together in the past, and the event of the past week is only another to occupy a niche in their memories till the end of life. Strong friendships are one of the good things of life.

The Lincoln Program.

The program mapped out by the committee of citizens and G. A. R. Post for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, one of America's greatest statesmen and Presidents, was partially carried out at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. Long, long years ago, the wise man, in speaking of the tendency of his times to forget the past men and things, said, "A live dog is better than a dead lion," and judging from the attendance Friday evening it would seem that the tendency to honor dead greatness in these times was not any more active than it was in the days of Solomon, the church not being more than one-half filled. All of those placed on the program did not respond with their respective parts nor presence. The principal topic of the evening was by Judge Welch, who had for his theme "Lincoln as a Lawyer," and he, in a very thorough and entertaining manner traced the life of the great emancipator through the various stages of his legal life as a circuit rider, as prosecutor before the supreme courts, in congress and the presidential chair, showing that it was his legal acumen that stood him in good stead in many of the trying hours and scenes of the presidential life.

Attorney Wilbur had for his thought "What made Lincoln great" and very forcibly brought out many things, small in themselves, together with a combination of circumstances, and his ability to see things as they really were, all worked together to create in the man those things that tended to greatness. Mr. Wilbur, in his remarks, showed that he had studied the life of Lincoln to a good purpose and gave an address, although short, that was pleasing and entertaining. There were some other exercises, and the program was a pleasing one taken as a whole.

H. R. 104, by Groves of Lancaster, has been recommended for passage by the judiciary committee. This bill provides a penalty for any saloon keeper who permits treating in his saloon. The bill was amended so that if a saloon keeper is convicted three times for permitting treating he shall lose his license and it is made mandatory upon the excise board to revoke the license.

The membership of the Protestant Evangelical churches of the United States has increased 33 and a fraction of one per cent in the last twelve years, and the number of young men in thirty of the leading theological seminaries of the country preparing themselves for the ministry has decreased 19 per cent in the same period, during which the population of the United States has increased 24 per cent.

In the words of the staff correspondent of the Omaha Bee Nebraska's first democratic legislature has spent thirty days and $50,000 doing nothing for the state. Though it has used up half the time allotted to it by the constitution, the legislature has yet to "know itself" for in the words of Grant Martin in his address before the Young Men's Republican club: "When the legislature knows itself it will not spend two weeks of its legislative time and $15,000 of the people's money in a feeble attempt to stigmatize a co-ordinate branch of the government."

Spend a Few More Cents.

Postal officials in Sioux City, deny that there is now in effect a discrimination in the matter of the trans-Atlantic mails favoring German ships over French, English or Dutch steamers.

Recently an agreement was reached whereby the rate was reduced from 5 cents to 2 cents for each ounce of first class mail matter. But the report was spread abroad that no one could take advantage of the new rate unless specifying that the letters should go by German steamer.

Postal officials say that this is not so, and that the new rate does not apply to German steamers at all, but on the contrary, to the slow moving French, English and Dutch steamers. The ruling as understood is that all letters carrying 5 cents in postage for each ounce will be sent by the speedy German steamers, while letters sent under the new rate and carrying but 2 cents postage will be sent by the slower steamers owned by other countries.

That there is no need to specify on the face of the letter what steamer the letter shall go on is the report. The authorities say that the amount of postage determines the steamer, regardless of instructions of the sender.

Secretary Mellor of the state board of agriculture has received many letters from citizens of the state who give reasons why they believe the legislature ought to appropriate money for more buildings on the state fair grounds.

Already we are beginning to have a forecast of spring fashions for men, present indications showing that the sack coat will be somewhat more shapely than heretofore and comfortably form fitting, with slightly flaring skirts. The shoulders of the coats will be devoid of padding and while the skirts will probably not be nearly as full flaring as those seen in the English models, yet there seems to be a decided tendency in the new coats to do away with that close fitting effect across the hips that was apt to be so tight if the man wearing the coat was at all burdened with avoirdupois. Many of the spring overcoats will be loose and rather long, and while not form fitting will flare considerably at the bottom.

What ever else you are reasonable. It is this power of reasoning which will do much toward making your life a success or a failure, depending upon whether you use or neglect it. If you are reasonable, you are pretty sure to be just, and honest, and industrious, for men of greatest reasoning power have found those polices best. There isn't such a difference between being reasonable and possessing common sense. The difference being mainly in the words. Either will save you trouble, and render assistance; either is worthy of the most careful cultivation and encouragement. There are too many unreasonable people in the world, which is the reason there is too much strife, injustice and kindred ills.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, a single dose of Doan's Reguline is enough. Treatment cures habitual constipation. 25 cents a box. Ask your druggist for them.

The past week the world over has certainly been a very fruitful one in the loss of human life. One daily paper yesterday had items about 5000 being killed in earthquake shocks in Persia, sixty towns being destroyed, 4 killed and 78 hurt by the falling of a hall floor at Valencia Spain, 180 miners being entombed in a mine accident at Newcastle, England, 250 being burned to death in a theater fire in Mexico City, and any number of minor accidents and sudden deaths.

Six young men, students of the Nebraska Normal College went to Hastings Nebraska, Wednesday morning to attend the state Y. M. C. A. meeting. They anticipated a pleasant time which they will not doubt enjoy.

Sheriff Mears had for a star boarder over Sunday a man by the name of Winburn, who had been fined $10 for some trouble at Winside and chose to lay it out in the county jail rather than part with good coin of the realm.

C. F. Whitney who has been at Parker, South Dakota, during the winter, comes to Wayne this week to accept the foremanship in the Herald office. He has a large acquaintance here, is an all around good man, and a first class printer. Patrons of the Herald job department are assured of being well served.

The laying of the corner-stone of the new school house, which was advertised to take place Saturday forenoon, did not occur, for the reason, that it was thought the Masonic Grand Lodge officers who had to come from the west could not get here, the road not being open to Norfolk Friday night. It is not probable now that the event will be undertaken again, this being the second trial.

Cold weather and blizzards seem to have a tendency to make the marriage market more active if anything. Judge Hunter issued a license Friday to William Sigman and Minnie Teich of Winside, Saturday to Wallace C. Schlotfeld of Wayne county and Miss Mary G. Bressler of Pender, and Monday to William Ehlers and Dora Newman, of Winside.

In this issue will be found the bank statements of the First National and the Citizens National Banks. These two institutions make a strong showing, one that is a source of pride not only to themselves but to the town as well, and demonstrates clearly that they are strong financial concerns of our commonwealth. The two banks have a combined deposit of $722,878.45. If you wish to know which has the most read their statements elsewhere in this issue.

The January issue of the "Little Miner," a monthly publication published at Denver, Colorado, and devoted to the interest of mining, contains portraits of the officers and directors of King Solomon mine. Among them we note those of S. R. Theobald, O. A. King, and Theo. Duerig, of Wayne. These are among the strong business men of our thriving little city. The treasurer is W. W. Theobald, also well known here. These men have large faith in the future of King Solomon mine.

It must be exceedingly warm at Hoskins. The Headlight says, "owing to the failure of the ice crop Henry Wetlich shipped in a car load the first of the week with which to fill his ice house." We have not noticed any failure of the ice crop in this part of the county.

Jurgen Jurgensen and Mrs. Alwene Koltzen, of Winside, came to Wayne Tuesday morning and asked of Judge Hunter a license to be united in the bonds of matrimony. The genial Judge not only gave them the license but spoke the words that made them husband and wife.

There was a unique service at the Presbyterian church Sunday. Pastor Osborne's voice was not in the best of trim, so at the morning service they had a sort of a Quaker meeting, every one speaking as the Spirit moved them. At the evening service two laymen, E. P. Wilson and F. H. Jones occupied the time, giving their hearers some excellent thoughts.

Only thirty-six more days until spring. Don't think that because the winter is more than half gone, though, that you can stop shoveling coal into the furnace right away. And more than likely you will have to spend your morning thawing out the water pipe several times before the trees burst forth and bloom. The robins haven't come yet.

The Bloomfield branch got opened up for business Friday noon.

The last number of the lecture course this evening. A good one.

Get your saws filed and buy your sewing machine supplies at the novelty repair shop.

The Wayne county commissioners have been called together in special session today by County Clerk Reynolds.

A most successful program was given in school district 31, which was followed by a box supper. The proceeds go for supplies.

This is No. 1 of volume thirty-four of the Herald. We make our bow to you for another year hoping to do better by you than heretofore.

In order that our country readers may not lose the continued story we give this week's installment and other news in an extra four page form.

The Epworth League will hold a Washington Day social at the Methodist parsonage next Monday evening. A good program is being arranged.

About the coldest morning of the winter Monday. The thermometer showed 11 degrees below zero at eight o'clock, and was about 20 at five.

"A Day in the Union Depot" will be presented at the opera house tomorrow, Friday evening. The cast of characters and purpose of the entertainment was given last week.

A couple from Hoskins, with nearly unpronounceable names, being Herman Bronsgnske and Emma Eutrecht secured a marriage license of Judge Hunter Tuesday afternoon.

There were no services at the Methodist church Sunday evening. The outlook at the morning hour of worship was so discouraging that it was thought best not to have an evening service.

Saturday night and Sunday we had a mild repetition of the storm of last week with the result that the snow drifts were again piled up in every direction and the sidewalks and cuts filled up.

The ladies of the Kindergarten board will hold a sale at the store of Neely & Craven, Saturday, February 20th, for the benefit of the Kindergarten fund. Good chance to buy that Sunday dinner.

W. O. Gamble went to Columbus, Nebraska, Thursday morning, going from there to South Dakota on business, and unless the weather intervenes will also take a trip into Wyoming before returning home.

J. F. Hadacheck is another one of the swine breeders in this vicinity who is putting new blood into his herd this spring. He received a shipment of Berkshire pigs from Kirksville, Missouri, Friday, by express.

There is a piece of sidewalk fronting the vacant lot north of the Baptist church that should be cleaned off by the city or someone. Its present very slippery condition invites a lawsuit against the city for a broken arm or leg.

John Erickson, north of town, was unable to have his sale last week as advertised owing to the severe storm prevailing on the date set, hence the sale has been postponed until the 26th of this month. He has a large amount of stock and other goods to dispose of.

Miss Jennie Weed, of the Presbyterian hospital at Omaha, who had been a nurse at the I. W. Alter home for several weeks, returned to that city this morning, the family being so far convalescent that her services were no longer required. The family has been having quite a siege of sickness.

"An Unfinished Monument to America's Great Heart" will be the subject of the sermon at the Methodist church on Sunday morning. In the evening the pastor will give the second in the series on The Great Lights of Church History. The subject is "Girolamo Savonarola, Knight Errant of the Crown of the 15th Century.

The faculty of the Nebraska Normal College were again doomed to disappointment in their effort to attend the School Folks Club banquet at Norfolk Friday evening. The road was still blocked between Wayne and that city so they were unable to get there. If the banquet is again postponed it will be a three times and out date.

Conductor Frank Henderson, who runs between Bloomfield and Wayne, on the branch line, came near getting lost in the storm last week, while trying to get from his home to the depot to take his run. After losing his way twice, and being unable to get to the depot he managed to get back home almost entirely exhausted.

The Bell telephone company set a force of men at work Friday morning trying to get their Sioux City line in working order. A good many poles are broken down as well as the wires and it has been slow work. They report that the ground is only frozen about a foot in depth. One of the men got a bad fall from the top of a pole Friday forenoon, but as he landed in a snow bank, escaped injury.

Judge Hunter had another marriage Wednesday. After securing the license James O. Conly and Miss Jennie Johnson, of Winside, were so pleased with the Judge's smiling countenance that they could not resist allowing him to tie the knot.

Delbert Carter, who has been an employee, and a very faithful one, severed his connection with this office Friday evening, and Saturday afternoon went to his home at Porca for a few days visit before going to Kansas to take a position with J. A. Lister, former editor of the Herald, who has bought a paper there. Delbert is a steady, reliable young man, one who takes an interest in his work and he leaves the Herald because he has an opportunity to better himself, having a chance to work into a business interest which he thought was better than to continue working for wages even though the salary were the same. Those who have formed the acquaintance of the young man while here will wish him well.

Aunt Diana The Sunshine of the Family

"Oh, Mabel, my poor dear!" Aunt Diana knelt down by her. She had not noticed how helplessly the left arm hung down, and how Mabel would not let her touch it.

"It is all bruised and cut," she said, lifting her forehead and looking heavily with pain. "The doctor must see it presently, when he has finished in the other room; not now. Oh, Alison, where are you going? You shall not disturb them. What does it matter? If only—"

"But here he has just wakened up, and he is so weak and ill," she said, turning to the doctor. "I will not disturb them now, but I will wait until they are better."

"I must finish the examination," he said, rising. "I will not disturb them now, but I will wait until they are better."

"I will not disturb them now, but I will wait until they are better," she said, turning to the doctor. "I will not disturb them now, but I will wait until they are better."

looked so pale and pretty, and the blue eyes had such a pathetic look to them. Alison had parted the soft fringe, and the soft curls lay quite smooth and showed the broad white forehead. A different Mabel lay there, with the poor wounded arm folded on her breast, and all the little fatalities laid aside. As Alison stood looking at her, Missie raised her unimpaired arm with a sudden movement toward Alison, and in another moment the sisters were clasping each other close.

"Oh, my poor dear, my poor dear!" whispered Alison, in the softest, most pleading voice, Missie kissed her hastily, and then she was as though she would push her away, only Alison held her still.

"No, I don't deserve it; please don't be so good to me. I have been altogether unworthy since you came home."

"Never mind all that now, dear," she said, but I must mind it, turning restlessly away and then uttering a low groan. "Oh, this pain, Alison! Shall I ever be able to move again without it? I did not want you to come home; I thought you would be in my way, and that made me cross. I was jealous of you, and I did not want the others to care for you. Roger was never fond of me as he was of you. And I wanted him to be fond of me. And oh! how I would and small it all seems now!" finished poor Missie, reading her past conduct under a new light.

"In the dark hours when one's strength is low, conscience sometimes brings a vivid torch into the recesses of one's being, bringing hidden faults to light."

"Dear Mabel, we will forget all that now," returned Alison, gently; "we will try and love each other more."

"Oh, it is easy for you to love people," retorted Missie, almost pettishly; "every one is so fond of you and you are never cross and disagreeable as I am. Roger makes you his companion, and Rude is less rough when you are in the room, and now papa will love you."

"I wish, dear, what you would do in a desponding tone. 'I have forfeited his love. He will never forgive me now. He told me that he hated death; that he should never be able to think the same of me. He said I should never see Eva again if he could help it. Oh, he was so angry, so unlike himself! I suppose my obstinacy vexed him, for I would not say I was sorry. He took hold of my arm and almost shook me to make me speak, but I think I was like that man who had a dumb spirit.'"

CITY FAILURES ON FARMS. It is asserted Newcomers Expect Too Much From Nature.

"More city men turn farmers at this season than at any other," said a farmer who thus became a city man to a New York reporter.

"There is no denying that the country in summer looks charming to the city dweller. 'The city man passes the cozy farm-houses where the rich grass in the front yards is set off by flower beds of all sorts while in the pastures the rows are either grazing lazily or lying down peacefully, and in the fields the crops appear to be growing without any attention from the farmer. Farming looks mighty easy to the city man, and the enthusiasm he stirs up in his wife and children when he speaks of going to the country is not killed by the real-estate man to whom he appeals for a good, small farm."

"Hundreds of city men move to the country every year, and about ninety-nine out of every one hundred go back at the end of the twelve months minus wiser. The one man who succeeds out of each hundred has a real love for farming, and capital enough to buy or rent the right kind of a farm to experiment on. His wife and children are able to adapt themselves to the hours of farm life, going to bed at dark and getting up with the sun."

"Such a man gets an moderately good living out of farming, although he may not make a fortune out of it. He finds that nature is generous, but she will not be trifled with. She gives up her treasures when properly approached, but tempts undue familiarity from amateurs."

"The principal cause of the city man's failure as a farmer is lack of capital. A man who would not think of trying to support his family and lay up a competence from the proceeds of a business established with a capital of $2,000 will not hesitate to engage in farming on half that or less. There have been cases in which a farmer achieved success on a small capital or no capital, but they are few."

"A farmer must buy seeds, implements and live stock, and have lived long, and he cannot begin to take his living from the soil for at least six months after he starts, and even then only a small part of it. These things cost money, and without it the city farmer will quickly find himself in debt, despondency and despair."

"Even if he had the capital the city man must not think he can be a farmer without some exact knowledge of the occupation. But with a little of both, a good supply of faith and courage, business common sense and love of the soil, a man can safely abandon the city with its long hours of labor, its indifference and greed, for the freedom, healthfulness and sure reward of the farm."

ANTI-JAP BILL FAILS Measure Beaten 45 to 25 in California Legislature.

There is to be no anti-Japanese legislation at this session of the California Legislature. That fact was very emphatically declared by the Assembly Wednesday when, after an all-day debate, Drury's anti-alien bill was beaten by the decisive vote of 45 to 25.

The bill would require forty-five votes to become a law, it was thirteen short of a majority.

The work of the President's big stick and of the Governor's war club was apparent in the way in which the bill originally introduced by the Assembly was dropped away from the bill when the test came. Every Speaker, Senator and Assemblyman looked on the fight against the Drury bill with surprise at the completeness of their victory, as they had not expected the bill would fail by more than three or four votes.

The other bills aimed at the Japanese are to come up, but their fate was foretold by Wednesday's vote, and it looks very much as if the Japanese legislation was a closed question for this session.

San Francisco Governor Gillett after the result of the Assembly was told to him. "It is very gratifying to know that the members of the Assembly took the stand that they did. I know that the President will also feel pleased, inasmuch as he will think that the legislators know that Washington is able to take care of the situation. Legislation of this kind coming at this time will prevent Eastern capital from coming in and taking advantage of the resources of the State. The anti-alien and anti-Japanese legislation has created a furor throughout the East, and it will be gratifying to the people of the East, eastern States to know that the lawmakers of California can be depended upon not only to protect the interests of their own State, but of the United States."

SHOT BY MAYOR'S BROTHER. Tragic Accident at Home of Chief Municipal Officer of Chicago.

George Busse, brother of Mayor Fred A. Busse of Chicago, accidentally discharged a revolver in a room of his flat at the Walton apartments in that city the other evening, and the bullet, speeding with tragic fatality through a window, across an airway, and into another window, killed Mrs. Lucius C. Tuckerman as she stood at a dressing table in the flat opposite.

The victim of the wandering bullet was known in army circles as "one of the beautiful Grand sisters." She lived in Milton, N. Y., and less than a week before came to Chicago with one of her children to visit her parents. Her father, Brig. Gen. A. C. Grand, is on the retired list. He has lived in the Walton apartments for several years.

Mr. Busse, in his own apartment, was explaining to Bertha Lenka, a maid, the use of the revolver when the weapon was discharged. Mr. Busse was absolved from blame by the relatives of Mrs. Tuckerman as they stood about her body.

The Political Terror.

The Minnesota Sheriff's Association meeting in St. Paul voted solidly in favor of putting all sheriffs on a salary basis. In regard to changing the time of election of all county officers from every two years to every four years, there was a division of opinion and no action was taken as to recommending any legislation. The matter was left to the executive committee for action.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet, the Governor of Ohio, the Governors of all Southern States, Gov.-elect Joseph M. Brown of Georgia, Senators Bacon and Clay, the entire Georgia congressional delegation, and prominent Southerners were invited to attend the dinner given by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at which President-elect Taft was the guest of honor and chief speaker.

Former Minister to Spain, Hannis B. Taylor of Alabama, in an article for the North American Review, asserts that the South is going to continue its attitude of isolation and its antagonism to industrial and commercial development. He wants to know if the South is going to go on being the pocket borough of one political party when her industries have become diversified and when the negro question has been practically settled. Editor Vester of the Courier-Journal says that Taylor is a dreamer.

That President Roosevelt had interposed his name and influence to check the progress of anti-Japanese bills in the California Legislature became known when his message to Gov. Gillett appeared. He asked the Governor to take steps to have said legislation held up until he could be heard from, saying that a letter had been forwarded expressing his wishes. The Governor replied that the bills had been held up, and that copies of the same had been mailed to the President. "One of the measures would prevent the ownership of property for more than seven years by aliens. Another expressly names the Japanese in the law regarding non-citizen children in public schools. Still another would prevent an alien from becoming a director in a corporation. In his letter to Gillett the President says that these measures are most unfortunate, as the Japanese government has acted in good faith on the arrangement as to immigration concluded two years ago."

At the banquet of the New York Economic Club, which was attended by many millionaires and socialists, as well as by several labor leaders of national prominence, one of the speakers was Ker Fairbridge, leader of the Labor party in the British House of Commons. He told the company that the only hope of the American workmen was to form an independent political party, and boldly asserted that the labor movement was the logical outcome of industrial evolution. Warren F. Stone, chief of the Locomotive Engineers, said it would be agreed by all that labor creates all wealth, hence it was evident that labor was entitled to a fair share of the wealth it had created.

ONE KIDNEY GOKE. But Cared After Doctors Said There Was No Hope.

Sylvanus O. Verrill, Milford, Me., says: "Five years ago a bad kidney paralyzed me. My kidneys were affected. My back ached. My head ached. My eyes were dim. My ears were ringing. My stomach was bad. My nerves were all out of order. Doctors said my right kidney was practically dead. They said I could never walk again. I read of Don's Kidney Pills, and began using them. One box made me stronger and freer from pain. I kept on using them, and in three months was able to get out on crutches, and the kidneys were getting better. I improved rapidly, and the crutches and the crutches of my friends were soon completely cured."

NO MEDICINE. But a Change of Food Gave Relief. Many persons are learning that drugs are not the thing for rheumatism worn-out nerves, but proper food is required.

There is a certain element in the cereals, wheat, barley, etc., which is grown there by nature for food to brain and nerve tissue. This is the phosphate of potash, of which Grape-Nuts food contains a large proportion.

"I can say that Grape-Nuts food has done much for me as a nerve renewer," writes a Wis. bride. "A few years ago, before my marriage, I was a bookkeeper in a large firm. I became so nervous toward the end of each week that it seemed I must give up my position, which I could not afford to do. "Mother purchased some Grape-Nuts and we found it not only delicious, but I noticed from day to day that I was improving until I finally realized I was not nervous any more. "I have recommended it to friends as a brain and nerve food, never being found its equal. I owe much to Grape-Nuts, as it saved me from a nervous collapse and enabled me to retain my position. Deafness Cannot be Cured unless the cause is first removed. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a tendency to close, and when it is closed, it prevents the air from passing in and out of the middle ear. This causes the eardrum to become thick and hard, and the hearing is lost. It is a common mistake to think that deafness can be cured by medicine. The only way to cure it is to remove the cause of the inflammation. This can be done by using the Eustachian Tube Dilator. It is a small, simple instrument that can be used at home. It is made of silver and is perfectly safe. It is used by inserting it into the ear and gently pulling it out. This causes the air to pass in and out of the middle ear, and the inflammation is removed. The hearing is then restored. It is a simple, effective, and safe method of curing deafness. It is the only method that has been proven to be successful. It is the only method that can be used at home. It is the only method that is made of silver and is perfectly safe. It is the only method that is used by millions of people all over the world. It is the only method that is recommended by the most eminent physicians.  "Political trickleers always give themselves away," said a Congressman. "Their methods remind me of the two men who wanted to sell their corpses for dissection. These two men, miserably clad, called on the dean of a medical college in New York. 'We are both on the verge of starvation, sir,' the spokesman said. 'We are well on in years, and it is clear that we haven't much longer to live. Would you care to purchase our bodies for your dissecting room?' 'The dean hesitated. 'It is an odd proposition,' he murmured. 'But it is occasionally done,' said the spokesman in an eager voice. 'Well, said the dean, we might arrange it. What price do you ask?' 'Over in Philadelphia,' said the spokesman, 'they gave us $40.'—New York Tribune.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.
 Sustained gains in the volume of shipments through the banks and in the larger use of money indicate that further progress is made in commerce. The record of trading defaults again satisfactory. Chicago steam roads furnish exhibits of earnings showing a closer return to former high gross, and the steady decrease in idle cars testifies to returning prosperity for the transportation business. The planning and financing of new projects involving heavy construction are pushed toward early initiation, and the outlook is good for increasing employment of machinery and labor. Unfavorable weather has interfered with outdoor work, and rainfall has kept short of a normal aggregate, but larger amounts are expected, and work will be resumed.

NEW YORK.
 Trade is quiet as usual, but industrial operations are still being normal in most lines. Unemployment in the city is still marked, and there is also present the feeling of disappointment with respect to the failure of some of the big trusts to open to more capacity. Some measures of trade volume showed slight recession in January from December, but the failure record was an encouraging one, and the improvement over the same month a year ago, when business was at a low ebb, is general and marked. Collections are little changed and business is fair as a whole.

Resume of Progress During Year, '08

By Sam. H. Alexander, Secretary of the King Solomon Tunnel and Development Company.

To the Stockholders of the King Solomon Tunnel and Development Company.

GREETING:
As you are well aware at the last annual stockholder's meeting held January 14, 1908, the time and place of holding the annual meeting was changed to Denver, it appearing that the best interest of the company would be served by this change. As no annual report will be due till next August I have thought that a letter at this time reviewing the company's progress during the past year and our present condition, would be read with interest by all.

In our report submitted in January, 1908, brief mention was made of the financial panic existing at that time the effects of which have not entirely disappeared. This panic together with the usual presidential election year conditions has made the past year an unusually unfavorable one for mining as well as for most other lines of business. Many mines have been idle. I know of no other partially financed company that can show the progress during this period that can be shown by the King Solomon Tunnel and Development Company.

VEINS OPENED AND DRIFTING DONE
During the past year the main King Solomon tunnel has been pushed over 700 feet into the property, the heading having now reached beyond the 2,450-foot point, being driven during the latter half 8 feet square. Two veins, numbers 8 and 9, have been opened. Recently there has been a good deal of water in the breast which in our previous experience has always preceded a vein. For 100 feet or more the heading has been passing through material pronounced by geologists and miners as vein or contact matter. Considerable lime is present which is favorable and some gold values in iron and copper appear. Drifting on this big deposit may disclose rich ore and it is also possible that a smelting streak may be opened at the contact. Prospecting has been carried on by means of drifts, upraise, and winze in veins 2, 4, 7 and 9 till the total footage of these will reach over 700 feet making a grand total of over a half mile of underground work. When it is remembered that no vein is entirely filled with pay ore - most ore occurring in shoots or chimneys somewhere in the vein - and the comparatively small footage of work scattered among some half dozen veins is considered, when the almost fabulous sum which may be contained in one small ore shoot is taken into account, together with the fact of scarcity of the precious metals, being the cause of their great value, no surprise is felt that valuable ore shoots have not yet been exposed in all of our veins. Examples are frequent of drifts being run hundreds of feet on individual veins before pay ore is encountered. When the experienced miner finds a true fissure vein in a good district carrying some values he feels satisfied that when sufficient development work has been done his efforts will be rewarded.

EXTENSIVE ORE BODIES AHEAD
We have no doubt as to the values contained in the veins already intersected but all engineers, resident miners and operators are united in the opinion that the formation ahead and not yet penetrated by the tunnel is much more favorable to the deposition of large and extensive ore bodies than that already traversed by the big bore - and we agree with them. The extensive outcroppings ahead of the breast also bear out this theory and no one who has had the privilege of walking over and inspecting them doubts the wisdom of the management in crowding ahead the tunnel, thus placing the enterprise on a broad foundation and establishing a policy which, if followed, should provide ore reserves for years to come and put our mine in the front rank of producers and dividend payers.

RICH ORE IN VEIN NO. 2.
Mention has been made in previous communications of the valuable ore found in vein No. 2. Believing that this vein was liable to develop into a valuable mine of itself we have, with the assistance of our engineer, traced and located its western extension, thus securing for the stockholders an additional 1,500 feet making a total of 3,000 feet on this strong fissure vein. The location hole on this extension was on an ore shoot showing a fine quality of honey-comb white quartz carrying copper, gold and silver.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY
Prospecting work carried on at the surface some 700 or 800 feet south from the portal of the tunnel and a few hundred feet west of the tunnel line has disclosed a fine fissure vein carrying right at grass roots some of the finest gold-copper ore yet opened in the property. The trend of this vein as indicated by the small amount of development work already done should carry it across the tunnel line, if this trend is continued, somewhere in the neighborhood of vein No. 2, where it should make an intersection with the main King Solomon tunnel and Development Company and with its success at heart, has been a source of strength to the King Solomon Company and has furnished moral and financial backing during the late season of money stringency.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS ACTIVE
As in the past the utmost harmony has prevailed among stockholders, officers and directors and no small part of the success of the company is due to the united harmonious work of all interested.

Director O. A. King of Wayne, Nebraska, ably supported by Directors Duerig and Theobald, has been very active and effective in promoting the company's success. Director C. W. Rowe and others have also rendered all the aid within their power.

President Dinsmore has now resided in Colorado for nearly four years coming here to take active charge of the property in the interests of stockholders. A close and careful buyer and with a long memory and eye and head for details he has been invaluable in the position he has held.

The change of the secretary's office to Denver, Colorado, has been justified by results and the wisdom of the move proven. Treasurer Theobald has resided in Denver since the move and rendered very valuable assistance in the office, detail and general work of the company. Considering the strength of the promotion, the efficient management and the vast and valuable properties owned we believe the present cash price of 60 cents per share is low and we recommend an early advance in price.

We predict that the present year will be the best in our history. At no previous time has the company been so well organized for effective work in all its branches. Let us go forward to success.

THE NEXT ANNUAL MEETING.
As the annual meeting of the stockholders comes during the vacation period and as it is the most delightful time of the year in which to visit the mountains and inspect the mines, we are expecting a large attendance. We wish that every stockholder could come and bring his family and friends. Plan to come. It will make you more enthusiastic than ever and you'll go home and make arrangements to increase your holdings. Bring your friends with you. They'll have a good time and become stockholders. We hope to see every reader who can possibly arrange to come.

Every one inspecting the property is impressed by the number of veins opened in the tunnel and by the size and strength of those upon which development work has been done.

WHAT A SUCCESSFUL MINER SAYS:
In conversation with a substantial mining and business man of thirty years residence in Summit county he informed me that he had personal knowledge of shipments being made some years ago from two properties lying on our tunnel line - one running eighty dollars per ton and the other to $300. It is safe to say that after deducting the various excessive expenses connected with mining and marketing the ore, packing it from almost inaccessible heights and the exorbitant smelter charges in vogue at that time there was not much profit in the undertaking. The same ore now mined through our tunnel would show a clear profit of $60 to $70 and $250 to $290 per ton without milling. This gentleman stated to me that when the vein producing the $80 ore was tapped by our tunnel it alone would make one of the biggest mines in the state of Colorado.

The present power plant has proven very efficient ever since its installation and is a source of great satisfaction and a money saver. It is capable of easily driving a number of more drills than are now in operation.

SUBSTANTIAL INVESTORS INTERESTED
In no previous year have we succeeded in interesting a more substantial class of investors than in this and the liberal subscriptions received bear testimony to their faith in the property and management as well as their financial ability. Many substantial and able bankers, farmers and business men are interested with us, they are not only backing the enterprise with their money but also giving liberally of their influence. One of the strongest assurances of the success of the company is the class of stockholders of which it is composed.

The shrewdest and most conservative business men do not hesitate to invest thousands of dollars with us now, whereas they might not have considered the investment of hundreds in the early history of the company.

ROYALTY REVENUES.
Not only will there be profits from the production of ore from our own properties but from tramming charges, royalties and other revenues received from those holding properties contiguous to the line of our tunnel, and it is probable that some income will be derived from this source during the present year.

ORE IN EXCELSION
Development work carried on by Mr. Wiborg of the Excelsior on his property adjoining our holdings has proven the size and continuity of the ore shoots. He has a force of men steadily blocking out ore and we are informed that there is between $100,000 and $200,000 in ore now actually in sight in the mine. We understand he will increase his hydro-electric facilities and not only supply himself but others with cheap power.

During this year the Colorado Central Power Company (a $1,000,000 corporation and one of the largest in the United States, has strung its wires within 100 feet of our plant and is anxious to sell us power. The purchase of the Colorado & Southern railroad by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy promises added shipping facilities to the already very satisfactory service.

OUR POLICY.
The policy of the King Solomon management from the beginning has been conservative but aggressive, the aim being to build up a strong and permanent company of which the stockholders could justly be proud. The work has been pushed at all times as fast as the funds at hand would allow. Every important move is thoroughly discussed by the directors elected by you to represent your interests. They also employ the best engineering advice obtainable.

At times it may seem to some stockholders not on the ground and unfamiliar with the conditions, that slow progress is being made or that something should be done differently but I would respectfully call attention to the fact that the officers and directors are among the largest stockholders the majority of their capital invested in the enterprise - hence from personal and other considerations they desire the company put on a paying basis at the earliest moment consistent with good business. Not only have they every reason to desire this, but those who are most active being on the ground at the seat of operations where conditions are constantly and carefully studied, are peculiarly qualified to intelligently direct the affairs of the company in the interests of the stockholders. The smallest stockholder year rest assured that his interests are identical with the largest and will continue to receive the same protection, care and attention in the future as in the past.

FINANCIAL BACKING.
The Conservative Securities Company, a financial institution, incorporated a year ago last August and officered by men largely interested in the King Solomon Tunnel and Development Company and with its success at heart, has been a source of strength to the King Solomon Company and has furnished moral and financial backing during the late season of money stringency.

Order To Show Cause
In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

In the matter of the application of Nora M. Payne guardian of the persons and estate of Marie Donnell and Gladys Donnell for leave to sell real estate.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified of Nora M. Payne guardian of the persons and estates of Marie Donnell and Gladys Donnell for license to sell the following described real estate to-wit: Lot Sixteen and Lot Seventeen in Block Twelve North addition to the town of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, for the purpose of the maintenance and support of said minors and putting the balance of the proceeds thereof out at interest, or investing the same in some productive stock. And it appearing to the Court that it would be to the best interest of said minors that their interests in said real estate be sold for said purposes.

It is therefore ordered that the next kin of said minors and all persons interested in said estate, appear before me at chambers in the Court House in the city of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 6th day of March, 1909, at 10 o'clock A. M. to show cause if any there be, why license should not be granted to said Nora M. Payne guardian to sell said real estate for the purposes above set forth.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published, at least three successive weeks in the Wayne Herald, a newspaper printed and published in said County of Wayne and that it shall not be necessary to make personal service of this order upon the next of kin or other persons interested in said estate.

Done in open Court at Wayne in said Judicial District this 16th day of January, 1909.
