A Man's Job

There was about one fourth as many men in attendance at the interdenominational men's meeting at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon as there should have been. Meetings of this kind but serve to illustrate the fact that the men, as a class, are too willing that the women shall do all that is done along the lines of church work and moral reform, while many men profess to be nominally interested in these things but are too careless, indolent or indifferent to lift a finger toward their advancement, is the main reason why the wheels of the chariot of progress and reform move so slowly. If the professed Christian men of any community, state or nation could be aroused to the need of activity along these lines, as they are along nearly all other, there would be such a steady uplift and advance that the evils that confront society at every turn would be forced to the background. Men should arise in their manhood and stand forth for the good and true things in life and not leave them for their mothers, wives and daughters to do. The address by Dr. Bradt was along practical lines of christian activity.

Will Leave Wayne

Last Sunday morning Rev. Sharpe, pastor of the M. E. church, made an announcement that brought a large degree of regret to members of the church and congregation. It was that, owing to continued ill health, he had reached the conclusion that it was imperative upon him to seek a more congenial climate. For the past seven years or more he has been constantly harassed with rheumatic troubles, which have continued to grow worse, making it almost impossible for him to get about, and being at all times in pain. He has struggled against it and has done his best to fight it off but to no avail, until finally he has found it absolutely necessary to give up the work here and try the climate where it is dryer to see if he can find relief. A meeting of the official members of the church was held on Friday afternoon and the case laid before them as it was, and they, knowing the conditions, voted, although sadly, to let him go. He will remain with the church through the month of March, during which time arrangements will be made for a man to take this place. Rev. Sharpe has endeared himself to the people of his church by his efficient administration of affairs, his devotion to the cause of his Master, his conscientious discharge of all the duties of his pastorate, and the earnestness of the gospel message he has brought to them from Sunday to Sunday, and all are sorry that reasons have arisen to make a change necessary.

Normal Notes

Misses Anna and Jennie Bellows and Miss Van Conett spent Sunday at the home of Miss Patrick in Wakefield.

Last Saturday morning, Rev. Osborne and Dr. Bradt, of Chicago, visited Chapel exercises. Each one made a short talk to the students, which was enjoyed very much.

The social Saturday evening in charge of the Crescent Literary Society was especially enjoyable and a large number of students were present.

The Model School children have chosen their colors which are maroon and white. They have some very pretty pennants on display and are as proud of them as any class of grown students.

The new term has opened up with many new students and a large enrollment of those who spent last term here. The work starts out well and most of the students are well settled in their classes for the term.

Among new students to enroll this week are: Misses Laura Perry of Carroll; Edna Griffen of Elgin; Berntha Hofeldt of Wayne; Lizzie Ehke of Newcastle. Messrs. Freeman Johnson of Wausa, W. D. Jones of Monroe.

Prof. Sauntry made the first Saturday talk of the term last Saturday. His talk was along lines of general improvement and inspired all hearers to do better. Miss Jennie Bellows will occupy the one o'clock period on Saturday of this week.

Receive Them Well

The present State Legislature is not very friendly toward making any appropriations for additional Normal schools in the state, or for improvements on those they already have, but they got so far along with the proposition in relation to the Wayne Normal, Monday, as to appoint a committee of seven to come to Wayne and look over the property and investigate the conditions. This committee will probably come here the latter part of this week, and arrangements should be made to give them a hearty and generous reception, by the Commercial Club, or a committee of citizens, in order that they may be shown what the institution is like and what kind of a community it is located in.

On Deck Again

For some time there has been a controversy between the Food commissioner of Nebraska and the National Biscuit Co. regarding their goods, those sold in sealed packages, the company never claiming that these goods contained any definite amount in weight but were sold at a certain amount per package. The food commissioner insisted that the weight must be given consequently the company withdrew these goods from the state. The new food commissioner under date of February 11th, 1909, says: "In all cases where there is any question as to the meaning of the Nebraska Pure Food Law and upon this same subject the National Pure Food Law is explicit, the Nebraska State Law will be interpreted in accordance with the National Act." This ruling permits the company to come back into the state again and you will find an ad of the goods in this issue of the Herald.

His Rule Ended

How are the mighty fallen! Six months ago the entire nation was in one grand acclaim of Roosevelt and his policies, and today a great sigh of relief goes up from all over the country that his term of office is at an end. And yet the future historian will no doubt write truthfully that Theo. Roosevelt has done more for civic and national righteousness than any president that preceded him. A man of earnest convictions, sturdy honesty, high ideals of national and individual life, a firm belief in what he thought to be right and the ability to advocate his belief in the face of all opposition, he has stood forth as the central figure in opposition of all kinds of graft, and has been the target of all the time serving politicians and those whose schemes he has been able to thwart. Taft may be no less forceful but more tactful and may be able to take no backward step and yet have less of friction. So might it be.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmacists and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrup, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—West's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. H. Hildreth, Sec'y, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory." Dr. J. H. Tait, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent." Dr. J. R. Hansen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

..THEY ARE HERE..

You Should See Them!

The Spring Patterns in Clothes From the House of Kuppenheimer

They all have that label, the KUPPENHEIMER Label, which all wise clothes-buyers have learned to look for. It's one of the little things that mean so much, this KUPPENHEIMER Label. It means style, it means fit, it means quality and workmanship, and durability, and so many other things that, in short, it's the best "clothes insurance" you can have, and it costs you nothing. And more than that, this little label is a guarantee, a broad one, too, backed by us, and backed by KUPPENHEIMER. It's a label all the better dressers are wearing in their clothes.

Knowing your clothes are right is as much a part of your real pleasures as other things. KUPPENHEIMER clothes make that knowledge doubly sure.

For Spring '09 the patterns and models are more attractive than ever before. You owe it to yourself to see them. New shades of green, mode, olive, tan, grey, stone and khaki prevail in color. KUPPENHEIMER has made them all up in the spring line and given them that superior quality which distinguishes them from other clothes.

We are more than anxious to show you these clothes, whether you wish to buy or not. Come in. We will show you clothes that are full of "snap" and "go," clothes that have that easy swing and grace so important in this year's clothes styles, clothes that are made to hold the hang and shape the tailor gave them, you might say. In short, clothes with the KUPPENHEIMER Label.

Snappy young men's novelty cuts, conservative patterns for modest dressers, blues and blacks, and everything.

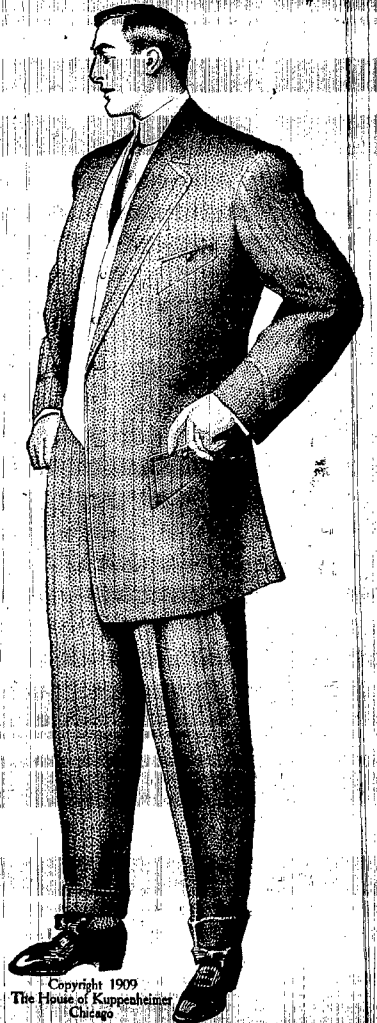

REMEMBER THE LABEL

JOHN H. KATE

When you DO buy, don't be influenced. Talk is cheap, beautiful cuts and pictures are easily had, but these don't go to make up the clothes. Insist on seeing—be shown—and if you want to be absolutely safe, demand the KUPPENHEIMER Label, and insist on getting it. We are exclusive agents

When one is using the eyes for close work, it is wise to change the focus at intervals and gaze off at a distance; if the distance view is of green mountains and fields it will be most restful. If the air in the room can be frequently changed that will rest the eyes also. One should never use the eyes for study or work before breakfast or after the strength has been reduced by disease or nervous strain. A book should be held about eighteen inches from the eyes. The light for work should be steady, and for an entire room diffused rather than spotty.

In order to settle up the Will Hamer estate the judge issued an order some time since permitting the sale of real estate. The sale took place Monday afternoon, the property, which consisted of 160 acres in Garfield precinct, southwest of Carroll, being put up at auction at the court house, and was purchased by Wm. H. Hughes, who resides in that vicinity, for $65.50 per acre, which is considered a very good price for a forced sale, although not quite as much as interested parties thought in might bring.

A Pineapple "Palm"

"One of my handsomest palms," says a writer in Woman's Home Companion for March, "had its prosaic origin as the top of a pineapple. I planted it just to see what would happen, and it has grown in all directions, very much in the shape of a sword palm, and has branched from the root in six places, sending up miniature plants which have every appearance of sturdiness. It is a most attractive addition to my window garden."

Some Rural Route Don'ts.

(By an ex-carrier, who has seen and experienced things on his route when the winter blasts were blowing and now remembers his fellow carriers as they make their daily trips and "dig the pennies out of the box.")

Don't ask your carrier to wait on you while you address a card or letter. Don't ask your carrier why he is late at your box. Don't place pennies in the box for the carriers to pick up with mittens when below zero—or on any other day.

Pay your carrier a reasonable fee for unmailed articles that you ask him to bring out to you.

Don't ask your carrier to carry notes to your neighbors to avoid paying postage.

Don't tie bricks or irons to mailed articles.

Don't ask your carrier to bring other non-mailable articles for simply "I thank you." That doesn't pay feed bills nor repair bills.

Don't ask your carrier to let you ride with him. Don't ask your carrier to come when you wouldn't venture out yourself.

Write your letters and cards before the carrier is due. You have twenty-four hours before he comes again.

Buy a supply of stamps and other postal necessities. They will keep. Stamp everything that is mailable, as you would at the postoffice. Get a good box and put it in a convenient place for the carrier to drive up to.

Do not give your personal checks for a money order when you are out of cash, the department won't accept checks.

Do unto others as you wish them to do unto you. Carriers are not flesh and blood as you all are. Humphrey Democrat.

Ownership of a Letter.

Many persons are under the impression that a letter once mailed is no longer the property of the sender but belongs to the person to whom it is addressed. This is an error. Under the postal regulations of the United States and the rulings of the highest courts in the land, a letter does not belong to the addressee until it is delivered to him.

The writer has a right to reclaim and regain possession of it, provided he can prove to the satisfaction of the postmaster at the office from which it was sent that he was the writer of it.

Even after the letter has arrived at the office which is its destination, and before it has been delivered to the addressee, it may be recalled by the writer by telegraph through the mailing office.

The regulations of the postoffice department require, of course, that utmost care shall be taken by the postmaster at office of mailing to ascertain that the person who desires to withdraw the letter is really the one who is entitled to do so, and the postmaster is responsible for his error if he delivers the letter to an impostor or to an unauthorized person. The vital principle in our political system lies at the bottom of this matter. In this country the state is the servant or agent of the citizen, not his master. It remains merely his agent throughout the transmission of a letter. The state may prescribe regulations under which its servants may carry a message for the citizen, but it cannot shirk its responsibility to him.—Omaha Examiner.

This office is well supplied with horse cuts and will be pleased to fill your orders for either bills or advertising.

To replace the present saloon license system in Nebraska with a state dispensary having local branches throughout the state, and to prohibit the sale of liquor as a private business, is the object of a bill introduced into the house of representatives Tuesday. The bill creates a board consisting of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state, which shall supervise the state dramshops, fix prices and exercise general jurisdiction over the business.

Everyone has a weak spot. Too often it's a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist. Dull aching keeps up day and night. Tells you the kidneys need help. For backache is really kidney-ache. A kidney cure is what you need. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Cure backache and urinary ills. Good proof in the following statement.

Everett, Harbison, farmer, told No. 11, Chribright, Bloomfield, Neb. says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I know that they can be relied upon to bring relief from kidney disorders. I suffered from an extreme lameness across my loins and every move I made was painful. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have felt a great deal better and my back has given me little trouble. HERALD SUPPLEMENT

DAGGING THE ROADS

HOW THEY DO IT IN ILLINOIS

Illinois Highway Commission Has Definite Directions For Using Road Drag as Given Below.

The Illinois Highway Commission in a late Bulletin says:

"The ordinary road can be maintained if dragged at the proper time on an average of twice a month. The dragging will have to be more frequent during the winter and spring than in the summer time, and the drag should be made light, not heavy. Therefore use oak, or other soft wood. Red elm and walnut when thoroughly dried are excellent. Box elder, soft maple or even willow are preferable to oak, hickory or ash. The logs should be seven or eight feet long and from ten to twelve inches in diameter and carefully split down the middle. The heaviest and best slab should be selected for the front.

WHEN TO DRAG

Unless the road is in the right condition the work of dragging will be wasted. One thing to be insisted upon is that the work be done at the proper moment. The right time is when the road is wet. The muddier it is the better the result.

In the summer time and early fall when it is actually raining, for unless the rain is exceptionally heavy and long continued the water will penetrate the dry road bed so fast that the surface will be comparatively dry when the drag is used after the rain has stopped with the result that the road surface will work up in crumbs. The nearer it is possible to spread the mud over the road as a mortar, much in the same way that a mason works mortar with a trowel, the greater the improvement is produced.

A. F. KINKADE

Contractor and Builder

No job too large or too small to claim my attention. Plans and specifications cheerfully furnished. My reference: Those for whom I have done work. Call on or address me at Carroll, Nebraska.

SATISFACTION GIVEN TO ALL

Under no conditions should the road be dragged when it is dry. This merely crumbles up the surface and makes a layer of the loose material which becomes dust and is again turned into a mud which will hold the water on the surface of the road and this is a condition to be prevented. Drag when the road is good and muddy.

HOW TO USE A DRAG

Make a light drag. Drive the team at a walk. Ride on the drag; don't walk. Don't drag a dry road. Drag when the road is muddy. Drag if possible immediately before a freeze.

Begin on one side of the road returning on the opposite side.

Always drag a little earth toward the center of the road, until it is raised ten or twelve inches above the side of the roadway.

Do not attempt to move very much material at one time with a drag. If the drag cuts too much, shorten the hitch.

The amount of earth the drag will carry can be regulated by the driver accordingly as he stands near the cutting end or away from it.

When the roads are first dragged after a very muddy spell, vehicles should drive, if possible, to one side until the road has had a chance to freeze or partially dry out.

The exercise of a very little care on the part of the users of the road will do quite as much as the drag toward securing a smoother road. The law provides a penalty for anyone who wilfully ruts or cuts up dragged roads.

Papa Cannot Always Help.

"You help too, Papa," said the Boy one day when I suggested that he gather up some scattered work at the sound of the whistle. Some way the words tugged at my heart strings. "You help too, Papa." The years had flown. Boyish sports had given way to the serious tasks of youth. The Boy was entering some kind of a contest. He had worked hard to win but he had failed. And then in the midst of his scattered ambitions trying to gather up the fragments of his blasted hope, as once his back had bent at childish tasks, came again the appeal, "You help too, Papa;" and how gladly would parental love travel the vicarious path to comfort and sustain in the hour of trial. "You help too, Papa." More years had passed and the youth had become a man. And into his life a woman came to whom, like men before, he stretched out vain, pleading hands, but that which could not be; but she passed on and left him blindly groping in the dark and, as he groped and strove and fought for breath as in a cataclysm of the world the words came feebly up as though from baby lips, "You help too, Papa," and how the father's heart would bleed in sympathy. "You help too, Papa." Still more years roll and disease creeps in and lays a stalwart form upon a bed of pain. Hope withdraws, earth recedes, color fades, time is passing. The Boy's hold is weakening, he feels afraid, close to the valley; hears the water splashing and out of the darkness and the mystery as he threads his way along the shore of eternity toward the light, the baby prayer goes up again, "You help too, Papa."

A LIVE COAL TRICK.

Teaches Natural Law, Yet Has All the Appearance of Magic.

No one would suppose that it is possible to hold a glowing coal on a piece of linen or cotton without burning the cloth, but that such can be done is easy for any one to prove, and at the same time the experiment teaches an important natural law. Every child knows that the telephone and telegraph wires are made of copper because that metal is a good conductor of heat and electricity, which is only another form of heat. If a poker is heated in the fire you pick up a cloth to hold the outer end, although it has not been in the fire, because experience has taught you that the heat is connected through the metal from the fire to the outer end.

This experiment with the flaming coal is based upon this principle and the additional one that linen and cotton are poor conductors of heat. Take a globe of copper and draw a piece of cloth tightly over it so that there is not a wrinkle at the top. If the linen or cotton is closely woven the trick is all the more certain. Then, holding the cloth tightly in place, you can safely put a glowing coal on top of the cloth, and, while it burns fiercely, the cloth will not even be scorched.

The reason is that the great conductivity of the copper draws the heat of the coal before it can burn the cloth. Do not make this experiment with a good handkerchief first; for if the cloth is not tightly drawn it may burn, but take some worthless piece of linen or muslin, and after you are certain of your experience you can astonish your friends who do not know the secret.—Washington Post.

QUEER DEFINITIONS.

An Early Eighteenth Century Interpreter of Hard Words.

Bailey's Universal Etymological Dictionary, with the subtitle, "An Interpreter of Hard Words," was first published in London in 1721. Most of its definitions are eccentric, and some of them incredibly so. Here are specimens plucked at random:

Man—A creature endowed with reason.

Thunder—A noise known by persons not deaf.

Lightning—A meteor.

A Rainbow—A meteor of divers colors.

Weapon Salve—A sort of ointment which is said to cure a wound by being applied to the sword or other weapon that made the wound.

Balloon—A football; also a great ball with which noblemen and princes use to play.

Cow—A beast well known.

Milk—A food well known.

Pheasant—A fine bird.

Elephant—The biggest, strongest and most intelligent of all four footed beasts.

Medlar—A fruit which is grateful to the stomach, but is not ripe till it be rotten.

Snow—A meteor well known in northern and southern climates, especially beyond the tropics.

Mouth—Part of the body of a living creature.

Eye—An instrument of death.

HELPED THE BOYS.

A Letter That Aroused King Christian of Denmark.

King Christian of Denmark once found in his morning mail a letter which moved him more than did most matters of state. The letter was in a boyish scrawl and read as follows:

Dear King—We are four boys at Flakkebjerg school, and the master whips us daily with a piece of stick, and stands in the harbor. If he doesn't stop there will be a fire.

The name of the teacher being given, the king ordered him to report at once to the minister of justice, while he took the next train for Flakkebjerg and examined the class in the teacher's absence. The children, unweary by the presence of the cruel teacher, told their grievance to the kindly old king, who promised immediate relief, closed the school for the day and ordered that the boys be treated to chocolate and cakes at his expense "to remember him by."

But he did more than that. On returning to Copenhagen he dismissed the cruel teacher without pension, at the same time giving a general warning to all teachers to be chary of corporal punishment. "If boys cannot be trained without cruel beatings," this wise king said, "then there must be something the matter with those who train them. The coming generation must not be made ruffians by ruffianly teachers."

Isle of Wight.

The Isle of Wight inhabitants are not alone in speaking of "going to England" when they leave their own fragment of the kingdom. A patriotic Cornishman also "goes to England" when he crosses the Tamar. Similarly inhabitants of the Balkan peninsula talk of "going to Europe" when they leave their own corner of the continent—in curious contrast with the people of our own island. We regard ourselves as both of land in "Europe," and accordingly it is only "the continent" that we visit. The record in the splendid isolation line is probably held by that minister of the Crimea, in the Clyde, who prayed for a blessing upon "the inhabitants of Great and Little Cumbrae and the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland."—London Graphic.

The Tower of Famine.

The Torre della Fame, or Tower of Famine, was noted for its gruesome history. It once stood in Pisa, Italy, but there are now no traces of it. Count Ugolino della Gherardesca, whom Dante immortalized, was the head of the Guelphs, and because of his tyranny and accredited attempts to place his country in bondage he was antagonized and finally conquered by the chief of the Ghibellines, who imprisoned him, with his two sons and two grandsons, in this tower, the slow method of starvation being employed as the manner of their death. The door of the tower was locked and the keys thrown into the Arno.

The Holy City.

Medina, the holy city, triumphed long ago over all the rivals in various parts of the world which bore the same name, which means, simply, "city." Notable among them were the old capital of Malta and Medina Bionda in Spain. The Arabian city was originally known as Yathrib, but owes its later name, El-Medina (the city) or Madinat Rasul Allah (the city of the apostle of God), to the Koran. To a good Mohammedan there is only one city "with a big C."

Inside and Outside.

The following report was sent by a subordinate inspector to his chief in the telephone service. It concerned a faulty house connection:

"Found wire with no outside outside. Put inside wire outside and outside inside. Need more outside for inside."

Learning.

Wear your learning like a patch in a private pocket; and do not pull it out and display it merely to show that you have one. If you are asked what o'clock it is, tell it, but do not proclaim it hourly or unasked, like the watchman.

The wrongrider is never without a pretext.—Italian Proverb.

Dray-load after dray-load of goods has been received at Ahern's this week and yet Mr. Ahern tells us that the spring shipments are only fairly started. ANGRY AIDS WOULD USE BOMBS

Sympathizers Gather Near Bow Street Court and Make Threats Against Authorities.

Refusing to give security for their future good behavior, the London suffragettes arrested while attempting to reach Parliament to present to him a petition in the interests of the cause, were sentenced to imprisonment. Most of the terms were for one month. Exceptions were made in the cases of Mrs. Estlin Lawrence and Miss Lawless, who having previous convictions against them, were sentenced to two months.

Sympathizers gathered in the streets, and there were frequent clashes with the police, who sought to keep them from the Bow street court. Some of the more bold made wild suggestions of resort to bombs, but the leaders counselled them to confine present tactics. The women made two successive attempts to raid the House of Commons during the night, but both failed.

NATION HAILS FLEET THAT GIRDLES GLOBE

Roosevelt, as Commander in Chief of Navy, Welcomes Admiral Sperry's Squadron.

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS ON SEA.

Nearly Ten Miles of Formidable War Craft Steams Majestically Past the President's Yacht.

With pennants streaming, twenty-eight bands playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" and saluting cannon roaring a tribute to the President, the battle ship fleet of the American navy ended its world cruise at Old Point Comfort, Va., Monday. After standing in review before the President, whose eagle-crested flag of blue was at the main of the cruiser yacht Mayflower, the sixteen white battle ships cast anchor in the fairway of Hampton Roads, from which they started fourteen months ago on their voyage of 45,000 miles.

President Receives Officers.

Foreign naval attaches, parties of government officials and high officers of the army and navy were aboard the fleet which steamed out to greet the homecoming vessels and to see the review by the President at the fall of the horseshoe. The Mayflower came down from Washington with a distinguished party, and cast her anchors in the waters in which she took up a position at the sailing of the fleet. Immediately behind the Mayflower, carrying the President, by a consort of vessels, followed the gunboats with humanity, congressmen, diplomats, "navy" and "army" sweethearts, "navy" and "army" wives. Each party method was the usual "Welcome Home."

GETS 15 CENTS FOR $3,000.

Conductor Tells How Man Awarded $3,000 for Returning Roll of Bills. If you lost a pocketbook containing $3,000 how much would you give to the man who returned it to you? David Kinney, a Kansas City street car conductor, says he received 15 cents for returning one.

Gain Day on Historic Waters.

The boom of the sunrise gun echoing over the mount of picturesque old Fortress Manteau marked the beginning of a gain day on the waters of Hampton Roads, first made famous by the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimack. It required a vivid imagination to look back over a span of forty-odd years to picture the fury of that conflict and compare the combatants with a modern battle ship of the class of the Connecticut. In the battle ship and cruiser squadrons which met past the Mayflower and saluted the President's flag were represented 420,450 tons of water displacement. Every battle ship in commission in the navy had a place in the long line. There were twenty of the heavily belted vessels.

LADY OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Won People's Confidence and Admiration.

For seven years the people of the United States have observed Mrs. Roosevelt and the manner in which she has conducted her share of the White House affairs. The Indianapolis Star says: "The least spectacular of women, modest, retiring, even self-effacing, she has yet proved herself mistress of every occasion available, tactful, at ease with high and low, equal to every social emergency, fulfilling every rightful demand upon her in the most pleasing way, her husband's helpmate in the best sense throughout their social and semi-public life."

With pennants streaming, twenty-eight bands playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" and saluting cannon roaring a tribute to the President, the battle ship fleet of the American navy ended its world cruise at Old Point Comfort, Va., Monday.

FAMOUS RANGERS MAY GO.

Move Made to Disband Unique Dared-Devil Military Force in Texas.

An attempt is to be made in the Texas legislature to abolish the military organization known as the Texas Rangers. This little body of dared-devil peace officers and gun fighters has made bitter enemies in some localities of the State where by force of circumstances the soldiers have had to conduct their operations. In many places where the sheriff failed to do his duty the rangers stepped in and enforced the law without fear or favor.

Home of Thirty Burned.

At 11 p. m. a riot again was turned in from 29th and N streets, where the crowd had gathered. The mob quietly fled to 24th street, where they demolished a Greek candy store at 430 24th street.

DOINGS OF THE LEGISLATURES.

The California Legislature has appropriated $10,000 for the purpose of taking a census of the Japanese in that State. A bill has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature to prohibit the issuance of passes by any transportation company. Unfair discrimination in the sale of milk, cream and butter fat is made unlawful in Representative J. Q. Haugland's bill, introduced in the Minnesota Legislature. Minnesota railroads are forbidden by a bill introduced by Representative J. N. Johnson to issue any stocks or obligations running longer than three years to raise money for the purchase of other roads. C. M. Bendixen's bill abolishing capital punishment and making life imprisonment the first degree was favorably reported by the Minnesota house committee.

BLOODSHED AND RUIN MARK WAR ON GREEKS.

Mobs in South Omaha Burn and Wreck Houses of the Foreigners.

FIGHT THE POLICE IN STREETS.

Legislators Address Meeting That Starts Riot—Two Vicious Attacks Are Made.

Three persons were shot, a score of others injured by heavy missiles, and thirty houses partly destroyed by fire and axes as the result of race riots between hundreds of men of South Omaha, Neb., and the members of the Greek colony there.

There were two mobs concerned in the affair, a second crowd renewing the attack Sunday night after the first had been dispersed by the police in the afternoon. There have been fifteen arrests made and the police are guarding the Greek settlement to prevent a third outbreak.

As a precaution the South Omaha fire and police board issued an order that all persons in the city shall remain closed until further orders.

The attack on the Greeks followed a mass meeting where violence was preached by the speakers among whom were two members of the State Legislature and a former city attorney. The meeting was called after hundreds of men had signed a petition in which the Greeks were charged with serious crimes against life and woman.

The speakers referred to the murder of Parliament Edward Lowery, who was shot and killed on Friday by a man whose name had placed under arrest. The slayer had been arrested while in the room of an American girl.

When the meeting broke up with the intention of meeting again at night a crowd of more than 1,000 men gathered toward the quarters of the Greeks in the neighborhood of 29th and Q streets. They were determined to punish some of the leaders of the Greeks, but when two of the mob, Frank Swiney and Joseph Gamble, both young boys, were injured in the attack on the first house by shots fired from the interior, some began to apply the law.

Two bombs, cast another crowd smashed the front of a saloon and attempted to pluck the interior. A squad of police charged the crowd and prevented the mob from securing the liquor.

A third crowd rushed to 24th and L streets and attacked a confectionery store run by Demos Bros. The big plate glass windows were quickly smashed. The doors kicked in and the stock and show cases destroyed. Mrs. Mary Demos had her eight father-in-law in the store and both narrowly escaped death in the hands of the mob.

The three attacks were made almost simultaneously and the destruction was complete before Chief of Police Brice could get his scattered forces together and stop the depredations. Meanwhile Sheriff Braley was notified and rushed there to South Omaha to aid the police. It took some time to get the force organized and during the interval Greeks were attacked on every hand.

It was thought that the officers were in control but at 9 o'clock the mob had gathered again and it renewed its attack. The first disorder was at 30th and Q streets, where the rioters smashed in the plate glass front of a Greek grocery store.

The proprietor, Dionisios Catapodis, and his family were in the rear of the store and as the mob came out he received a shot in the leg. A squad of officers reached the place in a few minutes and succeeded in getting the wounded man to the police station in an automobile by street car.

At 9 o'clock the fire department was called to 28th and B streets, where a large two-story double frame building was in flames. Thirty Greeks had been quartered in the place, but all are believed to have escaped. The building was chiefly destroyed, however.

The besieged Greeks defended themselves with firearms, with which they apparently were all equipped. They fired a fusillade out of the windows, one shot hitting Charles Estroy in the head. It was this scuffle which undoubtedly enraged the crowd into setting fire to the building.

A moment later the fire department was called to 24th and C streets, where the mob had set fire to a Greek grocery and residence. The rioters bent two of the Greeks into unconsciousness and started down town with the police, succeeded in getting the mob away and took all three of the injured men to 13th street.

A Unique Sentence.

The past week a judge in a neighboring city sentenced two men to stay at home 500 days, at $1 a day, to be paid to their families. He surrounded the sentences with stringent conditions. The convicted men were not to go anywhere except from their home to their place of work and back again. Any violation of these conditions was punishable and the police department was to keep tabs on the men. The men accepted the sentence of the court. That is better than sentencing a man to jail, where he is apt to become a loafer, while his wife and children are in want, or under necessity of turning out and making their living.

It is a Good Thing

The Nebraska Press Association in session at Grand Island last week adopted the following resolutions in relation to the National Corn Exposition:

Whereas, carefully compiled statistics show that the average annual yield of corn per acre in Nebraska is approximately 23 bushels, and if by a more careful selection of seed-corn and the adoption of more improved methods of cultivation, the production per acre be increased only five bushels per acre, it will annually increase the wealth of Nebraska to an amount in excess of $20,000,000, which wealth will be beneficial to all the people of our state, be it

Resolved, that this association approve and endorse the efforts of the National Corn Growers' Association to establish and make permanent an annual corn exposition in the West, national and educational, and be it the sense of this association that its members collectively and individually, give this commendable movement their moral help and support.
