WILL.

I will start anew this morning with a higher, firmer creed.
I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed.
I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear.
I will waste no moment whining and my heart shall know no fear.
I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise.
I will search for hidden beauties that elude the gambler's gaze.
I will try to find contentment in the path that I must tread.
I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.
I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown.
I will not deny his merit, but I'll strive to prove my own.
I will try to see the bonny spread before me, rain or shine.
I will cease to preach my duty and be more concerned with mine.
—S. E. Klier, in The Chancellor.

Tales Tensely Told About the Town and People

Wisner Chronicle:
V. L. Dimmit is learning to drive a new Buick touring car which he recently bought in Wayne.

Newcastle Times:
Alta Smith and Irene Hoy have gone to Wayne where they will take an eight weeks course in the normal school.

Magnet Mail:
Carl Jones, Martin Olson, Mary Williams and Freda Furness went down to Wayne Monday to attend the state normal.

Dakota City Eagle:
Editor W. S. Goldie, of Wayne, is having a summer cottage erected at Crystal Beach. When country editors get to the "summer cottage" stage it's time to call a halt.

Belden Progress:
A. F. Strain has purchased the meat market and took possession Tuesday morning. Mr. Rippon, we understand, will go to Wayne as soon as Mr. Strain can hire a meat cutter.

O'Neill Frontier:
Miss Mary Ryan returned from her last Saturday evening where she had been attending the district convention of the Degree of Honor as a delegate from the O'Neill lodge.

Hartington News:
Miss Mollie Timcom left Monday for Wayne where she will attend the summer session of the normal school, taking a course in instrumental music in addition to the regular course.

Osmond Republican:
Miss Myrtle LeMonnier left on Monday to attend the Normal at Wayne.

Wynot Tribune:
Edward Hesse arrived at home Saturday from Wayne where he has been attending school during the past season. Franz Radke also came home for a visit, when he will return to his school studies.

Pierce Call:
Mrs. Elsie Littell, of Wayne, visited over Sunday in Pierce with Mrs. J. E. Francis. Mrs. Littell was appointed county superintendent of Wayne county by the commissioners two weeks ago and is very busy attending to the duties of that office.

Laurel Advocate:
Mrs. Emil Weber returned to her home at Wayne Monday. Mrs. Roy Lathrop and Miss Blanche Meeker accompanied her as far as Wakefield.

Miss Bess Thompson, of Belden, visited Miss Grace Alderson Monday on her way back to the Wayne Normal from which she graduates in August.

Stanton Register:
Dora Hollstein left for Wayne Saturday where she will take a course in the normal.

Lola Robinson went to Wayne Monday where she will take a course in the Nebraska Normal college during the summer.

Mrs. Elmore and daughter Bessie went to Wayne Sunday where they will take a summer course of study in Wayne's splendid educational institution.

Lyons Sun:
Recognizing the benefits in an advertising way and also for a summer diversion for the people, the Wayne commercial club has taken upon itself the burden and responsibility of financing a ball team for that city.

The Wayne Commercial Club has taken a political step in the right direction and proposes to take the initiative in an effort to secure proper political recognition in politics for this section of the state. Commensurate with the population and taxes paid this section will be greatly benefited if a square deal is inaugurated in Nebraska politics.

Pierce Leader:
F. W. Surrubuck, principal of the schools at Bennington, was a guest of his friend, J. F. Rohn, from Friday until Tuesday. They attended the Wayne college at the same time.

Miss Emma Schwerin, who will be remembered as having taught in the schools of Pierce at one time, has been elected to teach in the city schools of Wayne.

Mrs. Sarah Watson, of Wayne, and Mrs. Anna White, of Scribner, arrived here Tuesday for a visit at the C. A. Watson home, southeast of Pierce. The former lady is mother of Mr. Watson, while the latter is an old friend.

Judge Welch telephoned over from Wayne this morning that the term of District Court, which was to have been held here on June 21, had been again postponed. The equity cases will come up for hearing on July 2 and the jury cases will start on July 6.

Carroll Index:
Miss Gwendie Jones went to Wayne Tuesday and enrolled as a student in the Wayne Normal.

Ground Your Fence Wire

This year, as in all the years that are past, a very considerable number of cattle will be killed along the fences and in fence corners during severe thunder storms, all of which might be avoided by a very trifling expense and a little trouble. When lightning strikes a wire fence it runs around the fence until it finds a place at which it can be conducted to the ground, for example, a broken wire. All that is needed, therefore, to protect cattle along a wire fence in fenced pastures is to provide a way for the electricity to reach the ground.

This can be done most conveniently by taking a No. 9 wire and stapling it up and down a post over each wire in the fence, or in the case of woven wire, at intervals, and then seeing that the end goes down into the ground to moist earth. As to how close together these wires should be, there is a difference of opinion. Some recommend stapling a wire to every other post. We do not think that this is necessary. We should say that every ten rods would be sufficient.

Of course this will not protect cattle in the middle of the field from being struck by lightning; but it will make the fence the safest place in the field. All this can be done when repairing fences, and we do not know of any much better way that the farmer can employ his time on a wet day than in simply grounding his fences as far as possible all over the farm, and especially around pastures.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Angels on Earth

All of the angels of the universe are not in heaven. If one looks about him, he can find hundreds of people who are always doing someone a kind deed; who are always doing something to make mankind better. We feel sorry for the poor, dejected individual who always looks for the worst motive for everything that is done; who imagines that every hand is raised against him; waiting to soak him in the jaw. We prefer to think that mankind is as a rule good. When a man thinks that he is not getting his due, and feels sorry for himself, he is a miserable specimen.—St. Paul Republican.

District Court Fees

According to the law passed by the recent session of the Nebraska legislature a new schedule of fees is now in effect in the office of the clerk of courts.

In ordinary cases plaintiff must pay a fee of $6.50 when he files his petition. (Docketing, $2.50; indexing, 50 cents; filing petition, $2.50; summons, $1.)

In an appeal from lower court party appealing must pay $4 when he files transcript ($2.50 for docketing, 50 cents for indexing, 50 cents for filing transcript and 50 cents for filing from lower court.) If petition is filed with appeal an additional fee of $2.50 is required. If petition is not filed with transcript, but is filed later the fee of $2.50 is required when it is filed.

Fee for filing answer, cross petition, demurrer, motion, affidavit, amended pleading, etc., $2.50. For filing transcript from lower court, or from other district court $1.00.

Spending and Saving

Fremont Tribune: The man who scrupulously saves his money never acquires the reputation of being a good fellow. Indeed he becomes a byword and a jest, very likely. He is criticised for being miserly. People wonder why he continues to pile up ducats and scrape and sacrifice when he has a plenty. He can't take it with him, when he quits, they say for there are no pockets in shrouds. Why doesn't he spend it and enjoy himself? Well, because he would find no pleasure in spending. His satisfaction comes in seeing the pile grow. Just as other people's pleasure comes in seeing theirs go. The saver cannot be measured with the same rule as the spender. It is joy to him to save and he has a right to do it. Carried to extreme it becomes imprudent and unwise, but it is no more reprehensible than profligate spending. The fellow who "burns money" has no edge over the fellow who hoards it, but he doesn't get half the criticism. The only moral to this is that there is a happy medium and you are fortunate if you are sane enough to find it.

A Radical Departure

There never was a time in the history of the world when good stories and articles could command such large prices as they do today. It is an expensive thing to publish a high class magazine nowadays, filled with the best products of the most famous authors and artists. Yet together with its many attractive features the Chicago Record-Herald furnishes its readers with its Sunday Magazine section that compares favorably with the best weeklies and monthlies, and has some merits peculiar to itself. The most famous writers and illustrators contribute to it. Some of the choicest novels of the year are published serially in its columns before they see the light in book form. The best new humorist since Mr. Dooley began writing is a regular contributor to its column alone. To furnish such a magazine with every copy of a Sunday newspaper is an amazing venture, yet the experiment has proved a complete success and is now firmly established.

People go on day by day, working, playing, singing. They make a success of life, nominally speaking. They accumulate somewhat of this world's goods; carve out somewhat of a career; achieve somewhat of a name. They live decently, yes, honorably and earn the esteem of their fellow men. People go on day by day, working, playing, singing. They make something of a success of life and society approves. But society does not know that some of these have aching hearts in spite of their success and that there are times when they would gladly exchange all they have and all that they hope to be for one hour of happiness.

Why is it that nearly everybody who attends church likes to sit in the end of the seat and hold onto it like grim death, and every person who gets a berth in that pew must stumble over them? We confess that we do that sort of thing. It is to get out quickly in case of fire. We sinners are quite strongly reminded of the fire, flames and brimstone that is pursuing us, and we can't tell exactly when it is going to come. We want to be in a position to make a quick get-away.

The right of a body of men to leave the service of their employer even though such action may involve a tremendous loss of property, has never been questioned, but there is no law—human or divine—that gives them the additional right of preventing others from taking up the work which they have willfully abandoned. The sooner the unions and their leaders recognize the fact that they are not above the law, the sooner will the great "labor question" approach a satisfactory settlement.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen—The saddest are these:
"It might have been!"

Be In Style.

The cow is in the pasture, and the sheep in the pie. The sheep beneath the shade at noon-time dose. Unless you kill the sandbars by the middle of July. There'll be no corn crop where the blessed stuff grows. So mount the cultivator, to the waiting field repair. To ride one when you work is all the style. A pleasant occupation in the balmy summer air. When every day is weed day for a while.

Base Ball! Base Ball!

On next Friday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a game of ball on the home grounds between the Wayne Invincibles and the Wakefield Club. The latter club has already played a number of good games this season, and have made a record that will put the Wayne boys on their mettle. Attend the game and see the fastest one of the season.

A Substitute for Fire-Crackers and Lock-jaw

In "Our Fourth at Rubicon," Woman's Home Companion for July gives the actual Fourth of July experience of a town that has abolished by cannons and fire-crackers. The substitute works, and works finely and will work in any other town that really wants to do away with powder-pocked faces and mutilated fingers.

Worse North and East

While Sunday evening's wind and rain storm was quite severe here, it seems to have been much worse to the north and east. At Laurel a number of windmills were blown down through the country and numerous trees were broken down and uprooted. About an inch and a half of water fell, while a few miles north the rainfall was a great deal heavier. At Randolph and vicinity much damage was done to buildings and trees. An old implement warehouse was badly wrecked, the amphitheater at the ball park was demolished and barns blown belonging to F. W. Emery, Jacob Volkert, Ed Casteel, C. Hardy and probably others. Crops have not been injured, as no hail came with the wind. The wind played havoc with shade trees and half ripe cherries were blown freely from the trees.

The Bible Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. B. E. Elliot next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. The lesson will be led by Mrs. Mines. As it is election of officers a large attendance is desired.

Church Contract Let

Monday evening our Baptist friends let the contract for their new church building to S. D. Relyea, of Wayne, the gentleman who drew their plans. The edifice, when completed, will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. Of this sum Mr. Relyea is to get nearly $11,000, but his bid did not include the excavating, heating, plumbing, lighting, art glass, nor the brick for the building. The society does its own excavating and also furnishes the brick, saving thereby a neat little sum to the society. The building is to be 60x63 feet and will be a credit to the society and the town, and will make the Baptist congregation a beautiful place of worship for many years to come. Everything is to be of the best and Mr. Relyea will put honest work into its construction. Pastor Smith and his corps of faithful co-laborers have been, and are putting lots of hard labor and thought into this edifice and are to be congratulated on the outcome.

Second Ball Game.

Tuesday afternoon eight ball tossers and batters from Carroll, with their manager came down to try issues with Wayne's wielders of the stick and sphere. Our players lent the Carroll aggregation Art Ahern to make up their nine. The Wayne boys found the Carroll pitcher for any number of hits and three scores in the first inning and two scores in the second inning. After that no scores were made until the game was called in the first half of the 6th inning on account of the threatening appearance of what promised to be a very bad storm, the score standing at that time 5 to 0 in favor of Wayne. The Carroll boys have not had much practice this year, and the game became more interesting as it progressed, both sides warming up to the work and playing better and faster ball. At no time in the game did Carroll get a man farther than the first base except in their half of the 6th inning when they had a man on first and third but the last man up struck out, being the third to do likewise. From the way the Wayne boys are settling down to their work it looks as though they have the making of a good team, but they need solidifying. As it is now each one plays largely on his own individuality, but the team should act together as a machine, each player being a part of the whole but fitting into his place in perfect order. The receipts were $38.10.

Bean Disease

Everyone who has grown beans for home use or for sale has observed unsightly sunken spots or cankers on the pods, stems and leaves. These spots are caused by a parasitic fungus which lives in the tissues of the plant and from it draws its food. The plant, as a result, is stunted in its growth and the pods are often rendered unfit for use or sale. During the summer of 1908 this disease was very prevalent in Nebraska, due in part at least to the unusually wet season, a climatic factor which is very favorable to the development of this disease. Anthracnose is the most destructive bean disease in Nebraska and this circular has been prepared to enable our people to control this disease. A bulletin treating of this disease and its cure can be obtained by writing the state botanist at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Has Filed His Answer

Former State Superintendent McBrien has filed in district court his answer to the damage suit of Victor H. DeBolt. The latter sued for $6,725, alleging that McBrien has asserted to the county superintendent of Wayne county that DeBolt was a booze fighter and poker player and an unfit person to teach school. DeBolt alleged that he had been employed as principal of the schools at Winside and that McBrien had made a ruling which prevented the authorities of Wayne county from granting him a certificate. It was asserted that the state superintendent had also said that he would not issue to DeBolt a state certificate unless mandated to do so and that he had warned the schools which are authorized to issue state certificates not to grant one to plaintiff. In his answer McBrien states that when he gave the information to the superintendent of Wayne county he did so for the sole purpose of complying with his duties and obligations as state superintendent. He had no malice nor ill will and sought merely to subservise the best interests of education in general and the schools of Winside in particular. He denies that the school authorities of Winside had entered into a contract with plaintiff for the reason that the latter could not legally qualify to fill such position.

Mrs. Frank Powers and children came home Wednesday from their visit with her parents at Pierce. Showers are most too numerous.

Wayne County School Notes

Mrs. Elsie Littell has just issued the June number of the Wayne County Teacher, her official paper, from which we glean the following items in relation to the schools of the county, and some things that should be done:
There have been 30 applications in Wayne county for free high school tuition, the bulk of these going to Wayne and Carroll.

No person who has not had at least eight weeks normal training or taught one year can secure a second grade certificate.
Many boards are asking for experienced teachers and I am afraid the supply will not be sufficient for the demand. If your teacher was a good one and gave satisfaction, better make arrangements to keep her next year.
This office issued during the last month over 150 certificates of award to pupils who had attended school a whole year without being either absent or tardy. Also some 15 diplomas of honor. These are given for three years of perfect attendance and punctuality. The surprising thing about it is that by far the most of these were issued to country boys and girls.

HOSKINS NEWS

Rev. Gruber was a Sioux City passenger Monday.
Mrs. F. Strate, Sr., was quite ill a few days of last week.
Mr. Geo. Netherholt is putting in a cement walk this week.
Glen Green went to Allen Monday to visit his sister, Mrs. Heck.
Mrs. Roy Gleason is visiting her father, Mr. F. Schreiber, Sr.
Miss Lena Schroeder was a Norfolk passenger Sunday evening.
The many friends of Edgar Guirk will be glad to hear of his convalescence.
Sam Nelson came down from Norfolk Tuesday to help repair telephones.
Miss Mabel Schroeder spent a few days of last week in Norfolk visiting relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Ziemer drove to Wayne Thursday to visit relatives and friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zutz and children spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zutz.
We are glad to report that Mrs. John Huebner is slowly recovering from an attack of rheumatism.
Miss Dora Rublow left Thursday to enter the Independent telephone exchange at Norfolk as operator.

Miss Margaret Schenel arrived Monday from Danville, Ill., where she attends high school, to spend the summer vacation with her parents.
Luther Swanson met with quite a serious accident last week. While unloading a load of lumber, one of the heavy timbers fell on his foot and crushed it.
Miss Frances Leslie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leslie, of Hoskins, was married on June 12 to Mr. Mont. Shinn, of Sioux City, a conductor on the Bloomfield branch. They will be at home in Bloomfield after June 23.
A heavy electrical storm unloaded itself on Hoskins and vicinity Wednesday noon. The fine residence of Aug. Deck was struck by lightning and the whole upper story demolished. Damage was also done one of the lower rooms. The loss is covered by insurance.
The fine $800.00 barn of Mr. Fenske, 2 1/2 miles east of Hoskins, and just completed a few days ago, was also struck by lightning and burned to the ground. No insurance.
Madison county may not have any mean men but it certainly has one mighty small one. A man down there, worth 75,000, spent half a day trying to get the board of equalization to lower his assessment, and all he would have gained by it would have been 75 cents, if they had listened to him.

Reports from the state indicate that the crops are flourishing. Wheat throughout the central section is fully up to the normal. It is fully headed out, and the heads are large and well filled for this stage of growth. Corn which has been held back on account of the wet cool spring, is now well rooted and is expected by farmers to make a phenomenal growth during the rest of the month. Considering the trouble farmers have had getting onto their ground to cultivate, the corn is not weedy. Little of it has been drowned out, except in the very low ground. Hay and pastures are in splendid condition.

Louisville Courier: A good newspaper will make mistakes just as men and women make them, but no good newspaper will knowingly do anything that will be injurious to the town in which it is published. Nor will any good newspaper deviate from the truth, if he knows it, even if what it sometimes says does sting a little.

$13,000 in One Short Week.

Gold dredging in Summit county continues to astonish the world—the mining world, says the Summit County (Colorado) Journal, previous issues of which have made mention of the fact that Summit County contains some of the richest placer ground in the world, and actual figures given to prove the claim.
Some of the heretofore recorded "clean ups" at the dredges have been so rich that the public can scarcely comprehend what it means to dig out and wash gravel that yields over $1200 per day in clean, pure, shining gold, by means of one single endless bucket line dredge and a dozen men, yet it is being done every day on the Mekka placer, in French gulch, one mile east of Breckenridge.
Phenomenal as such results seem, we now have the pleasure of noting a clean-up that far eclipses anything ever recorded in the whole United States.
On last Tuesday, June 14, 1909, the Reeling dredge, operated by the French Gulch Gold Mining company, on the Mekka placer, as the proceeds of a seven days' run, from the morning of June 7th to the night of June 13th, cleaned up and expressed to the United States mint at Denver $13,000 worth of coarse placer gold.
At this dredge clean-up is made and the riffles and sleeves washed once a week.
Cold fact, and the statement can be verified at the mint in Denver.
During the deal of last winter, the Reeling dredge, operating on Jackson placer, just above the Mekka, in the same gulch, cleaned up $40,000 from a block of ground 100 by 200 feet.
Of course this rich placer gold washed down from the hills in ages past and so we find lode mining in the mountains surrounding the placer grounds. It is in the same county that the King Solomon Tunnel and Development company is mining in which so many of our citizens are interested. This searching for the original hiding place of this placer gold is very fascinating and each true fissure vein that is cut or found makes the miner feel that he has been richly rewarded for his work.

New Switch Board

Extensive improvements are being made in the Wayne Telephone Exchange. The office roof has been raised and pleasant frescoed rooms made ready for a new switch board on the second floor.
The Exchange is deserving of credit for its selection of switch board which is of the Erickson make and up to date in every respect. Its positive ring off drops and night bell circuit will give uniform service while its self restoring drops and double ringing keys will allow more speedy operation. It has a capacity of eight hundred subscribers, city and farm, with a transfer system making it possible to enlarge the board indefinitely.
A new long distance booth will be established down stairs in the main office. In addition to these improvements the Exchange will do considerable rewiring with copper making a cleaner talking circuit over the city.

SHOLES NEWS

(From our Regular Correspondent)
Mrs. Williams was a Wayne visitor Friday.
Jas. McDonald was a passenger to Wayne, Monday.
Mr. Carlson was up to Bloomfield Friday on business.
Mr. and Mrs. Closson, of Carroll, spent Sunday with Mrs. Clarke.
Mr. Geo. Thieman returned from Huron, South Dakota last Friday.
Mr. H. W. Burnham shipped a car of hogs to Sioux City Monday.
Mr. Swan Nelson went to Randolph Saturday to take in the show.
Mrs. Gudgel returned from Omaha Monday, where she has been visiting relatives.
Mrs. Kennedy, of Randolph, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritson a few days last week.

NORMAL NOTES

The Summer Term is a record breaker as to attendance. Every department is well filled.
The Manual Training Department is very popular. So many teachers are taking advantage of the courses offered.
Rev. Thos. Bithel, M. E. pastor of Fremont, and who was M. E. pastor of Wayne for several years, was a welcome visitor this week.
Miss Susie McGee, who has been such a faithful student for several years, brought her sister and two cousins with her this week.
Arthur Anderson, Scientific 1008, brought with him eight students. Loyal students like him are numerous and we certainly appreciate them.
Mr. E. C. Garrett, the American Book Company's general representative, spent a part of Monday on College Hill, dining with the president and his mother.
In a few days the program for Commencement week will be ready for the printers. The plan as prepared by our late president will be carried out in full.

The young men who went as delegates to the Y. M. C. A. convention returned home Monday. They report a pleasant visit as well as a most profitable time.
Many of the teachers have taken advantage of the course offered in domestic science. Not only are the ladies enrolling in this class, but some of the gentlemen as well.
Mr. Irving S. Cutter, Ginn & Co.'s representative, spent a day on the Hill this week. Mr. Cutter has been for years one of the staunch friends of our late president and was indeed a most welcome visitor.
Miss Carroll, of the Department of Eloquence, will give a program in the near future. This entertainment will be given in the Chapel and all will have an opportunity to hear her.
The Y. W. C. A. gave a most excellent entertainment last Saturday evening. They realized a handsome sum, which will be used to defray the expenses of several delegates to the annual conference at Cascade, Colorado.
A number of new students enrolled Monday. Several are here making up work preparatory to entering the State University. By doing this they are enabled to enter without being conditioned. This is certainly a wise thing to do.
The work of the summer term is highly satisfactory. In every department is perfect harmony which must be gratifying to the president. We doubt if a finer looking student body could be found anywhere than we have here. Each student is doing the very best possible.
A number now in attendance will be here the coming year. From the present outlook next year will be a record breaker. This year has been one so crowded with sorrow, owing to the death of Mr. Pile, that the hard word put upon his successor has been the means of keeping him from becoming morose. Hard work, after all, is a panacea for many things. The skillful manner in which Mr. Fred Pile has taken up the work laid aside by his honored father tends to show that boys early in life be given responsibility in order to make useful men of them. Fred was prepared most thoroughly for this work and with the years of constant companionship of his father, he was enabled to step into his place and carry out the policy laid down by him in a manner none other could have done. In another year, the school passes to the control of the State. Whoever is selected to be the executive head will find a perfect machine in fine running order.

Nebraska to be Free From Debt

The prediction made by State Treasurer Brian a year ago, that Nebraska would wipe out her last dollar of indebtedness by July 1, 1909, will become a fact on the first of next month. The state debt now amounts to only about $30,000 and there is sufficient funds available, at this time to take up all of the outstanding warrants.

Drowned Near Bloomfield

A fatal accident resulting in the death of Charles Bourn, a young farmer living about fifteen miles northwest of Bloomfield, occurred Saturday evening in the Missouri river at a point about twelve miles north of Bourn's home. It appears that young Bourn and three companions were fishing in the back waters of the Missouri when, through some mishap, the boat, crewed, and young Bourn was drowned before his companions could rescue him. The body was found later a short distance from where the accident occurred. Bourn was 20 years of age and unmarried.

Woman's Home Companion for July

Woman's Home Companion for July is a summer fiction number. There are eight stories in this issue by Cyrus Townsend Brady, Marie Van Vorst, Alice Brown, Mary Johnston, Yvonne and Albert White, Vance, Annie Hamilton Bennett, Anne Warner, and Editha Holden. Most of these are love stories of the kind the world and his wife like to read at this time of year. One of the most charming of them, however, is a tale of a poor little helpless thing, in which a wee baby proves itself the strongest member of the family. The story strikes an answering chord in the experience of many a young suffering parent.

Want to be strong?

Eat more Quaker Oats. Eat it for breakfast every day. This advice is coming from all sides as a result of recent experiments on foods to determine which are the best for strength and endurance. It has been proved that eaters of Quaker Oats and such cereals are far superior in strength and endurance to those who rely upon the usual diet of heavy, greasy foods.
When all is said and done on the cereal food question, the fact remains that for economy and for results in health and strength, Quaker Oats stands first of all. It is the most popular food in the world among the foods sold in packages.
Put up in two sizes, the regular package and the large family size which is more convenient for those who do not live in town.

Howard Whalen is erecting a new brick oven at his new location, a larger and better one in order to meet the demands of his trade.

H. C. Sweet, who had been in Oklahoma and other places for about three weeks, taking a little recreation trip, came home Saturday.

J. P. Sherbahn is having difficulty in obtaining as many men as he wants to run his brick works this season. The wages are $2 per day.

W. O. Gamble, who had been at Scotts Bluff for some time, came home Saturday forenoon. He says that section of the state is developing very fast.

J. F. Sherbahn began burning his first kiln of brick this year, Saturday afternoon. The wet weather delayed his work as the brick would not dry after they were made.

The old high school building has been razed to the ground and a good portion of it has been hauled away. Work on leveling off the grounds will soon be in order.

There was quite a severe storm of wind Sunday evening. A large tree was blown down at the Ted Perry home and also at D. A. Jones', while many limbs were blown off the trees about town.

The battle between the farmers and the weeds in the corn fields the past week has been a decided victory on the side of the farmers. Nearly every day was sunny with a cool atmosphere and the farmer have made good use of their time, killing weeds by the thousands, as most of the land was in good condition.

C. N. Craven came home Wednesday morning from his western outing trip which he thoroughly enjoyed. He purchased some real estate near Ashton, Idaho.

Grothe & Marsteller shipped 108 tubs of butter from their factory Tuesday. This was nearly 14,000 pounds and was the product of only one day over a week's run.

Mrs. William Riley, of Wakefield, came Wednesday morning for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McClure. She is the landlady of the Commercial Hotel at her home town.

Next week will see the completion of all the brick work on Wayne's handsome new high school building, including the big chimneys, but it will be some time yet before the building is completed.

Mrs. D. C. Main and daughters are enjoying a visit with her parents at Vinton, Iowa. There is nothing like going home to father and mother once in a while even though we have homes of our own.

The Wayne Sunday School workers who attended the state convention last week, came home much enthused over the meeting and their minds stored with new ideas and plans for making their work more effective.

The Catholic priests of this section of the state will go into the annual retreat in Omaha the next two weeks, part of the members of the priesthood going this week, the others the week afterwards. Father Kearns went down Monday morning.

Rev. Bithel, who a number of years ago was pastor of the M. E. church in Wayne, and later presiding elder of this district, now at Fremont, who is taking his summer vacation, was the guest of Wayne friends over Sunday.

Mrs. C. O. Fisher was a passenger for Denver, Colorado, Wednesday forenoon. She expects to be absent until September and will spend most of the time at Eaton, in that state, where she has a sister residing. Miss Lulu has gone to Lincoln, Nebraska, to spend the vacation.

A. J. Ferguson will put about $2,000 into new buildings on his farm south of town this season. These will be a house and barn, both of good size and well finished. He and J. M. Cherry were out Tuesday morning and set the stakes where the buildings are to be erected.

During the first fifteen days of June the Wayne Butter Company paid to the farmers in this vicinity $2,100 for cream. That is one benefit of a home industry as this money was all handled by home men, and whatever profit accrued to either farmer or owner all went into the pockets of our home people.

Join the crowd and celebrate on July 3rd at the farm home of W. S. Brown four miles south of town. There will be addresses by Rev. Ahrends, of Winside, and Miss Charlotte White, of Wayne, an old fashioned picnic dinner and a general all around good time. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this celebration and make themselves at home. The day will be pleasantly spent.

Mrs. A. G. Gregson, of Aberdeen, South Dakota, and her daughter Lettie, are guests of her brother, A. E. Woodruff, arriving Tuesday forenoon. They are on their way to the Alaska-Yukon Exposition, Seattle, Washington, and will visit a brother of Mr. Gregson in that state, and also a sister of Mrs. Gregson in Southwestern Oregon, before their return home. Mr. Gregson will arrive here the latter part of the week and proceed with them on their way. This is their first visit to Nebraska.

Taken up—June 4, at my place of residence, four miles east of Wayne, a white face heifer calf, four or five months old. Owner can have same by paying costs.

1906 FRANK SEDERSTROM.

Mike Malone, who is under arrest for the murder of two men near Kodak, South Dakota, the latter part of May, worked in Wayne all last summer at Stringer's blacksmith shop. His picture appeared in last Sunday's Sioux City Journal.

J. T. Bressler arrived home from his western trip Monday evening, having enjoyed it. As previously noted, he invested in some land out in Idaho and reports that section of our country as developing very rapidly.

Grant Mallory, foreman at the Democrat office, was called to Canton, S. D., last Thursday by the serious illness of his mother, who died shortly after Mr. Mallory arrived there. He returned to Wayne Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitney and Miss Winifred Fleetwood visited in Omaha this week with Mrs. Whitney's sister and husband, Stanford Vose. Mr. Vose is an officer in the signal corps of the regular army and is at present stationed at Fort Omaha.

O. A. King came in from the west Monday afternoon, having been out to the King Solomon mine with a party of seven men who went with a view of investing. None of them were from this immediate vicinity. The mine outlook continues to be very encouraging.

A veterinary surgeon from Tekamah came to Wayne Tuesday and got so exhilarated by our bracing climate, or some other cause, he became intoxicated and fell into the hands of Constable Soyles. The breaking of a bottle of alcohol when John took charge of him nearly broke his heart.

The cream stations have posted notices calling attention to that part of the new dairy law, which says that patrons, those selling cream, must own their cream cans, and owners of cans are forbidden to loan them to anyone. This compels all who sell cream to buy cans and use them themselves. No more borrowing cans from the creameries and neighbors. A penalty of a fine is attached to the fracture of the law.

W. P. Rooney, who comes here from Omaha, has purchased the Geo. Wilbur library and office fixtures and will engage in the practice of law in Wayne. He is a well appearing gentleman, has had some practice and is well versed in the law as it is taught in the schools of our state. He has only recently been admitted to the bar but any one wishing to consult him will find him at the office rooms where attorney Wilbur held forth, and will be well served.

A. P. Gossard and J. H. Chapman, the former being the manager of the Creamery association and the latter the butter-maker at the Wayne Butter factory, went to Norfolk Wednesday morning to take an examination before the state dairy commissioner. Under the new law there has to be an actual examination, forty-two questions to answer, and every butter-maker and tester of cream in the state has to take this examination before they will be given a license to carry on their business. There were a large number of creamery men from the branch line took the train here.

Miss Ethel Downing, of Westgate, Iowa, arrived Wednesday evening for a brief visit with her friend, Mrs. Lois Seeber.

John Liveringhouse has taken several hundred dollars of his hard earned cash and invested it in a Buick automobile, and proposes to get through the world hereafter in a quicker and easier manner than heretofore.

Next meeting of the Wayne Improvement and Child Study Club will be held next week at three o'clock on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Theo. Duerig. The hour of study will be devoted to Domestic Science.

Judge Britton performed his first marriage ceremony Wednesday, and did it as nicely as any one could do. Archie Stephens and Miss Ada Roberts, who live up Carroll way, were the first couple to ask the genial Judge to tie their nuptial knot.

Mrs. Ebert, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gamble, went to Missouri Valley, Iowa, this morning to visit a brother and from there will join her husband at Scotts Bluff, where they will make their home.

Judge Hunter has, if anything, a little more than held his own the past week. Tuesday and Wednesday he was a little better than for several days before and there has not been much change in his condition up to the time of going to press today.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the races at Tekamah, Nebraska, to be held July 13th to 16th inclusive. The purses are liberal and there are several classes of racing events. People who enjoy that kind of sport will no doubt find this a good place to go.

Monday was the longest day of the year, there being fifteen hours and seven minutes of daylight. The enthusiastic gardener, the lawn mower, or tennis fiend, or the man who dislikes to burn any kind of illuminating fluid, certainly had hours of daylight enough for all purposes.

J. L. Davis, the birth Registrar, reports the following thus far in the month of June. On the 4th, a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams; the 9th, a daughter at the farm home of Wm. G. Kitchmark, and on the 13th, a son to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Perdue.

The creamery association held a meeting Saturday and elected Henry Lessman president in place of R. Skiles, who has moved to town, and elected E. T. Rennick to succeed Lessman on the board of directors. The association is in a prosperous condition.

If the owners of cement walks in the residence portion would cut a groove in the sod about two inches back from the walk and remove all the dirt and grass they would find it would materially improve the appearance and the ladies would call them blessed on rainy days and dewy mornings as there would be nothing close to the edge of the walks to drabble their skirts.

The A. O. O. P., Wayne Harbor 183, met in regular session at the home of Oliver Gamble. The evening was spent in playing and out-of-door games, everyone in attendance having a most enjoyable time. After playing games until quite late, Laddie Gamble and Daughter Bell served a bountiful lunch at which time the members all took part and did ample justice and enjoyed immensely.

There are some people in our town who are very good to the newspaper man from the news standpoint and whenever anything happens in their immediate neighborhood they give us the news. We appreciate this very much and wish to encourage it, if your friends or relatives come to visit you telephone or drop us a short note, we will be more than glad to print it and we know you wish to hear all the news all the time.

Those of our readers who are interested in Business Education should send at once to the Grand Island Business and Normal College of Grand Island, Nebraska, for free circulars. This school is one of the largest and most successful in the United States and is just now making a special offer to young people of limited means. Students are not required to pay any fees until they have time to graduate and secure positions. We understand a number from this county will attend.

It is now Judge Britton. The board of supervisors at its session Monday appointed James Britton as county Judge in place of Judge Hunter resigned. There is no doubt of the fitness of James for the position, and he has been for many years a resident of the town and county. His appointment is but another apt illustration of the fact that in these times party affiliations do not bind as closely as they used to do, as Mr. Britton has never posed as a republican and it was a republican board that gave him the appointment.

The picnic season is now upon us with the usual accompaniments—fleas, mosquitos, grass chiggers and gnats. But there are bushes of fun in a day's outing, anyhow.

Thirty-one graduates from the eighth grade in Wayne county this year. William Williams, of District 63, ranked first and Ida Davis, of Winside, second.—Winside Tribune.

Everyone we have talked with regarding the Blondin show last Thursday night say that they got badly stung by attending. The only good thing about the show was the music and that evidently is their drawing card as they certainly have a fine band.

If there is a chance to boom business, boom it. Don't put on a long face and look as though you had a stomach-ache. Hold up your head, smile and look for better things. Hide your little hammer, and try to speak well of others, no matter how small you know yourself to be.

The Winside Tribune evidently thinks that there should be a change in the sheriff's office. It says: "Over in Dixon county it was decided to do the same as we are going to do in Wayne county. Let their sheriff serve for life, and when he dies, abolish the office." What's the matter with Mears? The voters say he is all right, and that settles it.

The editor of the Winside Tribune seems to think that some very small men will be candidates for county office in Wayne county this year. The mayor says: "The primaries come this year on August 17. It will also be sneak day in Wayne county; that is, several candidates will sneak on the ballot by grade of receiving a score of votes written in on the primary ballot.

The attendance at the district meeting of the Rebekah Lodges held at Laurel last week was the largest in the history of the association. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Allen of Wakefield; Vice-president, Mrs. Carter, of Winside; Secretary, Mrs. Harrison, of Wakefield; Treasurer, Mrs. Shulteis, of Wayne; Warden, Miss Gertrude Grosvenor, of Laurel.

The Northwest Iowa Veteran Association is going to hold a three days reunion at Sioux City July 15th, 16th and 17th. J. S. Lathrop is the commanding officer and he has invited the old soldiers of northeast Nebraska to reunite with them and has also appointed J. W. Bartlett, of Wayne, one of his aides. We suppose it will now be Col. Bartlett.

ROMORS ARE DENIED

NO TRUTH IN STORIES OF E. H. HARRIMAN'S DEATH.

"Fake" Reports Convincing Enough to Bring About Sharp Declines in the Wall Street Exchange—Union Pacific Drops Four Points.

Rumors that E. H. Harriman was critically ill in Vienna, a report that at times was exaggerated to the extent of saying that he was dead, all met with prompt denial by his associates at the Union Pacific offices Monday afternoon.

But notwithstanding the reports coupled with a sharp bear raid, caused a decided break in the New York stock market, and the decline in the so-called Harriman stocks had not been checked when trading closed.

Union Pacific dropped 4 points, recovered only a quarter, leaving a net loss of 3 3/4 for the day. Southern Pacific showed a net loss of 2 1/2, Reading, 4 1/2, and Amalgamated Copper, 1 1/2. Losses as high as 12 points from the high water mark from a few days ago were recorded.

One of Mr. Harriman's closest associates said Monday afternoon that he had been convinced any report purporting to indicate that Mr. Harriman was seriously ill was utterly false.

"We have received several cables from Mr. Harriman today," he said. "One of these was addressed to a member of his family, and gave no hint of any change in Mr. Harriman's condition."

Robert S. Lovett, vice president and general counsel of the Union Pacific Railroad company, made this statement:

"I have no doubt that the rumors are false. I had a cablegram from Mr. Harriman this morning upon a matter of business. I have been called upon most every day since Mr. Harriman failed to deny false reports about his health. I am tired of it, and shall pay no further attention to them."

A dispatch from Vienna says: "There is no truth whatever in the reports which seem to have been current in many parts of the world that E. H. Harriman is seriously ill. Mr. Harriman's health on the whole is considered satisfactory. Certainly there have been no serious complications of any kind since he arrived here. He has been driving daily and has shown a lively interest in all Viennese social events. On Saturday Mr. Harriman was among the guests of the emperor at the Neue Handl's akademie, and on Sunday afternoon he witnessed the trotting races and took a drive through the principal streets."

FOR BLACK HAND CRIMES.

Two More Arrests Made by Federal Sleuths.

Giuseppe Bolbo, who was arrested Sunday at Meadville, Pa., was the member of the black hand society who wrote the threatening letters which were afterwards sent to different cities to be mailed, according to Post-office Inspector Hosford, who returned to Cincinnati Sunday night after taking part in the raids in Pittsburg on Saturday evening. A large number of letters and papers, which it is expected will throw much additional light on the operation of the black hand, were found in Bolbo's room. Orazio Rumolo, known by several other names, who was arrested in Pittsburg on Saturday evening, is believed to be the originator and chief conspirator in the recent black hand activities in Ohio and adjacent states.

BODY FOUND IN BOX CAR.

Man's Skull Crushed and He is Believed to Have Been Murdered.

The body of an unidentified man, about 40 years old, who doubtless had been murdered and robbed, was found in a box car at Akron, O., Monday. The man's skull had been crushed in and his pockets cut open and rifled. Death probably occurred several days ago.

The car was received from Hammond, Ind., last Thursday and was not opened until Monday. There was a slip of paper in his pockets addressed to "J. M. O'Leary," which read:

Take Fairfield elevated to LaGrange, Ga. Get off at Ogden avenue. The note is believed to have referred to a Chicago address. The man was 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighed 170 pounds. He wore a black suit of good material.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Men Unable to Reach Verdict in Calhoun Case.

Terminating in a disagreement of the jury with ten men determined on acquittal and two steadfastly resolved upon conviction, the trial of President Patrick Calhoun, of the United States, ended at noon Sunday at San Francisco. Five months and a week had transpired since the wealthy street car magnate, a descendant of Patrick Henry, made his first appearance in court to answer the charge of offering a bribe of $1,000 to a supervisor to obtain a privilege for his corporation. Not until each juror had pronounced as hopeless the prospect of a verdict was the order for their liberation made by Judge Lawlor, the prosecution and defense giving assent to the discharge. The trial ended quietly and without demonstration. The court room was well filled, but the sudden climax did not permit of an attendance gathered from far and near.

The defendant and his attorneys as well as the chief of the prosecution refrained from comment upon the disagreement when it was recorded and quickly departed from the court room. But five ballots were taken, three of these shortly after the jury retired. Upon the first vote the jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. Two of the four joined the majority upon the second ballot, and one of the remaining two announced his determination to remain out a month if necessary.

"I am ready to try this case again and I will go ahead tomorrow, if necessary," said Mr. Henry an hour after the adjournment.

Mr. Calhoun said: "Of course I am disappointed at the failure of the jury to acquit me of the unjust charges against me. I should have liked my vindication by the jury to have been absolute."

JURY'S STRANGE VERDICT.

One Handed In in Denatio Case at Fonda, N. Y.

Frank DeNatio, a wealthy Italian saloon keeper on trial at Fonda, N. Y., for the murder of William E. McLachlan, of Cranee Hollow, was Saturday acquitted by a jury, which handed in one of the most remarkable verdicts ever recorded in a homicide case.

"While in our own minds and opinion we, as men, regard the defendant as guilty, yet after considering our oaths as jurors and carefully considering the evidence as placed before us, we cannot find sufficient evidence to convict, and therefore render a verdict of not guilty."

McLachlan, the murdered man, was an eccentric farmer, who lived alone and had frequently befriended Denatio by lending him money. For the purpose of stealing unrecorded evidences of indebtedness Denatio sent five Italians to McLachlan's home with instructions to kill him.

Two of the actual participants in the crime have already been convicted and another was killed by a fellow countryman a few days after the crime.

BANK TELLER ENDS LIFE.

Cleveland Man Kills Himself in Cellar of Institution.

John Barth, of Cleveland, O., 25 years of age, receiving teller of the Cleveland Trust company and a well known yachtsman, committed suicide in the cellar of the bank shortly after 3 o'clock p. m. Saturday. Melancholia because of long continued ill health is given as the cause of the act. The bank officials declare that Barth's accounts are in perfect shape and that there is no shortage or other irregularity.

Barth had been connected with the bank for eight years, having entered its service as a clearance clerk.

VICTIM OF MURDER.

Police Make Growsome Discovery in New York.

Elizabeth Sigel, daughter of Paul Sigel, of New York, and granddaughter of the illustrious Franz Sigel, the German warrior, who served with the army during the civil war, is, according to all indications, the victim of one of the most bloody murders in the history of New York. If she is not the victim the police are confronted with a remarkable series of coincidental facts.

Taken from a trunk in a room of a Chink in a cheap suzy restaurant in the Tenderloin, the body is in a state of decomposition, which makes its identification difficult, and has been removed to the morgue, while detectives are collecting the threads of a tangled story involving the girl and her associations with Chinese. An envelope addressed to the girl found in the room where the body lay, a locket bearing her initials, her disappearance on June 10 and a note found in the room signed Elsie, all seem to indicate that Sigel's daughter was murdered.

The body was partly stripped of its clothing, tied with ropes, wrapped in a faded blue blanket and crammed into a dilapidated old trunk, where it lay for a week at least before the odor crept through the building, arousing the suspicions of the proprietor of the restaurant below, who summoned the police and instituted an investigation.

Mr. Sigel had not identified the body at a late hour Friday night, nor had Mrs. Sigel, although the mother, when told that her daughter evidently had been murdered by a Chink, became hysterical. She identified the jewelry found in the room, however, as that worn by her daughter.

Mrs. Sigel's condition was such that it was impossible to interview her and when the story was told to her with as much tenderness as possible she cried, "My God!" and fainted.

Sun Long, proprietor of the restaurant, who also disappeared shortly after the discovery of the murder, adding further to the mystery. The case has many unusual features, notable among which is the fact that a Chinaman has been known to call at the Sigel home, presumably with the sanction of the parents. Elizabeth Sigel was 20 years old and was greatly interested in work among Chinese.

SECRECY IS NOT LIKED.

Packers Want Publicity at Inspection Hearing.

Corroboration of many of the charges against the government's meat inspection system at East St. Louis, Ill., was given by Julius Bischoff, an inspector, who testified Thursday and resumed the stand when the government inquiry was continued Friday. According to J. F. Harms, who caused the inquiry, Bischoff substantiated his co-worker's assertions and was prepared to reveal similar irregularities which he had observed on his own account.

The secrecy with which the inquiry is being conducted has caused considerable comment about the stock yards. Officials of packing companies had expressed a hope that the fullest publicity be brought into play, and Friday several of them said that they feared lest the present hearing fail to allay public distrust of the inspection system.

IN FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

Oklahoma Officers Engage in Battle with Bandits.

In a battle between officers and three train robbers, who held up St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern freight train No. 168 near Frank, Okla., early Friday, Constable John Kirk was killed.

The object of the robbers was to get the money of the train crew, who had just received their pay envelopes. The trainmen resisted the robbers and the sound of firing soon brought Constable John Kirk and Deputy Constable Wicks to the scene. The robbers and officers, armed with pistols, engaged in a battle and Kirk was shot through the head and was instantly killed. Paul Williams, one of the robbers, was shot through the breast and captured.

Almost Killed; Bartkeeper is Sued.

Mrs. Earl Kramer has filed suit against George Volkner, a former saloonkeeper of Volkmere, Ind., and the American Surety company, who were on Volkner's bond, for $2,000 damages, alleging that the defendant sold her husband liquor on which he became intoxicated and staggering into a passing train was nearly killed. The accident happened a year ago.

Convicted Banker's Term Ends.

MRS HOWARD GOULD.

Something About What She Thinks She Needs for Dresses.

For some time the marital troubles of Howard Gould and his wife, Katharine Clemons Gould, have been more or less in the public prints, and of late her suit for increased allowance pending the conclusion of the suit for divorce has occupied much newspaper space. Mr. Gould accused his wife of drunkenness, of being a spendthrift and of being too familiar with various men. Mrs. Gould has been a sharp-tongued, defiant and complacent witness in her own behalf, but has frankly explained how she spent a large amount of money and why she must have at least $120,000 to live as a woman should in her station.

She testified that while living in "Castle Gould" she had to have morning, afternoon and evening gowns, with shoes and stockings to match, tea gowns, coaching and shopping gowns, hats, shoes, stockings and purses to match. Yachting costumes were distinctive from the others and had to have their expensive accessories, the witness said.

At "Castle Gould" Mrs. Gould testified she was accustomed to change her gowns sometimes five and six times a day. She had to dress at least three times a day at Palm Beach, and more than that during her various trips about Europe.

In answer to questions regarding the cost of her various dresses, etc., Mrs. Gould gave the following estimates: "Dinner gowns, $500 to $800; morning gowns, $100 to $150; day gowns (worn shopping, etc.), $500; tea gowns, $300 to $400; reception gowns, $500. These gowns she never wore more than once if it could be avoided, for

LAND FOR SETTLERS.

President Issues Proclamation Regarding Western Reservations.

President Taft has issued a proclamation providing for the opening up to settlement and entry of about 440,000 acres of land in the Flathead, Mont., 200,000 in the Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and between 50,000 and 100,000 in the Spokane, Wash., reservations. Registration, which will commence on July 15 and close on Aug. 5, must be executed and sworn to at either Kallispell or Missoula, Mont., for the Flathead land; at Spokane for the Spokane land, and at Coeur d'Alene for the lands in the Coeur d'Alene reservation. Applications for reservation must be delivered through the mails only to the superintendent of the opening at Coeur d'Alene, which will be the point of drawing for all three reservations. The drawing will begin at 10 o'clock on Aug. 3 and will continue until completed. The time for making entries has been fixed at April 10, 1910, for all reservations. Regulations regarding the openings of the lands will be available about June 1.

LABORATOR GENEROSITY.

Among the qualities developed on the steep Labrador coast, writes Doctor Grenfell in the Boston Transcript, one is largely conspicuous. That is the way in which every one seems interested in you and your affairs, and seems anxious to further your interests, often going to great trouble for the behoof of a complete stranger. A striking instance of their generosity is recorded as coming under the doctor's notice.

"I was stranded last week, in the evening about fifteen miles from home. Owing to the crowd in hospital and my colleagues being away south, it was, imperatively that I should get home that night.

"No dogs were obtainable, so I sought the help of a poor fisherman, the only man available. His right arm and leg had been 'scrambled' with a 'touch of the paralytic' when he was a boy. With an imbecile sister, a mother and a brother dependent on him, and only his crippled hands, he has lived in an uninterrupted state of poverty.

"His shack, crowded already, had an aged and still poorer stranger occupying the best part of the best space, whom he begged me to examine while he was unattended.

"This I did, but when clear of the house I reassured him against increasing his disabilities and burdens. He replied:

"He is scrambled a bit just now. His dogs were 'staid' little better than he was himself. One has to 'put it' that way because they share equally with him, living in the same hut. But his standard of diet was not ours. He was so delighted at carrying his even at that hour of night, I ventured to offer a trifling remuneration. He answered it was 'not his fashion,' and for a while after spoke only to his dogs.

"When we reached the hospital, I begged him to let me feel his dogs and give them a bed for the night. 'I go to take this parcel to St. George,' he replied, 'so I won't stay. Give you thanks.'

"Why, these eight miles. What is the parcel, anyhow?"

"It's a bit of mutton for Skipper Alfred, what's the matter. Good-by, doctor. It'll be home again by breakfast."

AN OLD JEWISH CEMETERY.

Burial Plot of Hebrews of Revolutionary Days in New Bowers. Situated in New Bowers, near Chat-ham square, in the midst of the city's rush and roar, a tiny plot of grass and a dozen tumbling stones mark the remains of the ancient Hebrew cemetery—the oldest Jewish burial plot in America.

In its desolation and decay, says the New York News, it is still significant in its testimony of the early advent and toleration of the Jews in New Amsterdam and New York.

The history of the little Jewish plot is intertwined with the history of the revolutionary days, as is also the early story of the little synagogue, known in former days as the Spanish and Portuguese congregation, that once it. When the British occupied the city, the congregation resolutely refused to acknowledge allegiance to Great Britain. In those days the venerable Gershom Mondes Betras was the loved rabbi of the synagogue and for many years its growth flourished under his charge. During the period of British occupancy the synagogue was closed, and many left the city rather than continue under British rule.

Two and a half centuries ago, when

Peter Stuyvesant governed the little town of New Amsterdam and its surrounding territory, a body of Jews petitioned him for a burial ground. Once before they had asked for a burial spot for their dead, but Stuyvesant, disaffected toward the race, haughtily refused.

Their second request, on July 16, 1656, was more favorably received, and a cemetery was founded on the east side of the city, between the city and what is now Chatham square, then nearly a mile north of the newly chartered little town of New Amsterdam.

Many long and busy years have come and gone since the lonely burying plot was founded for the Hebrew dead of the little town on the bay. Sad little forgotten graves, their way along the despoiled Bowers road, and the bones of the departed, who had been buried in the plot, were seen in the early days of the city's history.

Passing time and the progress of the city have changed the scene, and the plot is now a tiny spot in the heart of the city, where the busy throng of the city's life is always an eager market.

A reward of $3,000 a pound is recently offered by the Queensland planters, writes a Brisbane correspondent, for beetles of the species sugar cane grub. Hundreds of boys and boys have now taken up beetle hunting as a profession. One boy earns $6 a week throughout the winter season, and boys make about $2 a week.—London Daily Mail.

The ferocity of the tiger can be seen from the fact that according to a recent writer he is made responsible for 37 per cent of the human beings killed by the wild animals of Hindustan. The writer adds that once a tiger has tasted human flesh he is satisfied with nothing else, and that in southern India one of these man-eating tigers has devoured 200 human beings.—London Globe.

Asked to write a report of a lecture on "Phases of Human Life—Youth, Maturity and Old Age," a young English girl produced: "In youth we look forward to the wicked things we will do when we grow up—this is the state of mind. In maturity we do the wicked things of which we thought in youth. In old age we are sorry for the wicked things we did in manhood—this is the time of our dotage."

A Toronto (N. Y.) firm has completed a sample order of 3,000 packages of compressed haversack rations for the use of the United States army. The rations are packed in a waterproof box 2 1/2 inches long, 2 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 inches thick. The articles contained are: Salt, 16 ounces; pepper, .02 ounce; sugar, 2 1/2 ounces; and coffee, 1 1/2 ounces, sufficient for one soldier for a day. The coffee is compressed under twelve tons pressure and is reduced one-third in bulk. The salt is prepared under five tons pressure and the pepper is placed in a capsule inserted in a wooden holder. Each article is wrapped in waterproof paper and the whole is placed in a water-tight box.

From Maurice Baring's "Russian Essays" comes this bit of conversation: "I then lay down on my back. Another Cossack from the other side of the cabin called out at the top of his voice to the man who was over me: 'Who is that man?' 'He is a foreigner.' 'Is he traveling with goods?' 'No, he is just traveling, nothing more.' Then, looking down at me, from his bunk, the Cossack who was above me said: 'Thou art quite bald, little father. Is it illness that did it, or nature?' 'Nature,' I answered. 'Shouldst try an ointment,' said he. 'I have tried many ointments,' I said, 'including onions, tar and paraffin, none of which were of any avail. There is nothing to be done.' 'No,' said the Cossack, 'there is nothing to be done. It is God's business.'"

Some may be surprised to learn that the first lifeboat, especially of the style of those adopted at the present time, is still in existence at Redcar, in Yorkshire. This boat was placed at Redcar in the year 1802 to be used as a boat "for saving life in storms or other dangers to ships" coming into or near the mouth of the Tees. It was built by a shipwright of the neighboring port of Sunderland from plans of his own invention, and Parliament considered his work so meritorious and advantageous that it voted him a sum of £1,200 as a reward for his time, trouble and ingenuity. This fine old boat did excellent service for over seventy years, and then, owing to the introduction of newer types and better boats, it was placed upon the "retired list," and transferred to the shed where it now is.—Windsor Magazine.

VALVES BLOWING OFF.

The train went cityward, and in the smoking car was the usual number of men sitting in a fog of smoke. The bubble of conversation mingled with the rattling of newspapers, the insistent thrum and rattle of the train and the occasional tooting of the engine. There were men of all kinds and conditions, and now and again single voices became audible above the general hubbub.

"Yes," said one of these voices, "I voted for Theodore Roosevelt. I don't know if I wouldn't vote for him again. Able fellow in some ways, but he's a diplomat. I tell you no diplomat. Haven't any sense either. Look at the way he goes on with Congress! Why, he's got a son at home—he's going to college next fall—and if he didn't have more sense than that Theodore Roosevelt!"

"The voice lost itself in the general hubbub."

"That's Pierpont Morgan!" There was a sharp consciousness about this voice that brought it into temporary prominence. "Pierpont Morgan! Think he's the great man. Think he knows it all. Great art critic. Great financier. Great politician. Well, he doesn't know me. I've got him sized up. Yes, sir, I've got that J. Pierpont Morgan all tagged and labeled."

"Not a word!" This from another voice somewhere in the fog of tobacco smoke. "I tell my wife that she can believe what she reads in the newspapers if she wants to. That's her lookout. But they can't fool me. I know how they run newspapers. You can get anything you want to in a newspaper if you've got the price. Why, those fellows in Wall Street—"

"Chinese in thin piping voice penetrated from some distance down the car. "Talk about Chinese civilization! Chinese civilization! Did you ever see a Chinaman good for anything but to run a laundry? Has to work all night long at that. I knew one Chinaman who—"

The train rolled into the terminal station and the men fled out of the smoking car like the gold morning air.

"How they ever get on your nerves?" said a young man to an older one.

"Our loud-mouthed fellow citizens—the man with the son who is able than Roosevelt, the insignificant little skate who tags Morgan, tagged and labeled; the man who knows so much about the management of newspapers; the fellow who judges the entire Chinese nation from one Chinaman."

"No," said the older man. "I regard them as secret valves for the rest of us. They are all inclined to jump at conclusions on insufficient evidence. It's the same with our loud-mouthed fellow citizens as you call them. They are inclined to average citizen to use a common sense and moderation."

"Quite so."

"Quite so, madam."

"And some smaller sub-assembly."

"Quite so!"

"Oh, and ink. Have you good black ink?"

"Quite so!"

Presently my parcels were put up, and I counted out the pay for the trunk, arithmetic was applied to the billings and six dollars and fifty cents, of this unaccustomed currency, and I said:

"Thank you, madam, with your money."

"Thank you, madam," came the shopkeeper's response, and it was only by a faint light that I perceived that he was reminded of his paternalistic disposition.

The Masterpiece.

Alma, the artist, did not achieve fame at a single bound. He had a few hits to many downs before he was finally recognized as a painter of ability. In his student days one of his unsuccessful pictures was returned to him by the committee of the Brussels exhibition of 1855. "The subject was a woman on fire," says the Associated States Magazine.

"Instead of a tirade against the stupidity of favoritism of the committee," the artist asked his fellow students into his studio and invited them to "jump through the canvas." He led the way by leading head first through the oily names.

A second unsuccessful effort was a large sized square picture that came back again and again to its creator's easel, until at last he revenged himself upon it in a novel way by cutting the picture out of its frame and giving it to an old woman to use as a table cover.

There was some one at least to appreciate his excellence. The next time the artist saw the old woman she said to him that it was "much better than any common oleich things." They were talking "the water through," she said, "that that one of yours is a black one, with plenty of paint."

"Not well named."

"Do you call young Feather-cholly?" His first name is Feather-cholly.

"Yes, but that's so inappropriate. It doesn't seem enough to get in out of the rain."—Philadelphia Press.

PRESIDENT PENNA IS DEAD.

News of Brazilian Ruler's Demise Received in Washington.

President Penna of Brazil died at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning, according to a dispatch received at the State Department in Washington, D. C., from the American Ambassador at Rio de Janeiro.

Alfonso Penna was born in Santa Barbara, in the Brazilian State of Minas Geraes, May 30, 1847. He was graduated in 1865 from the Caracas College, where many of the prominent men of Brazil received their education. He graduated from the law school of Sao Paulo in 1871. He affiliated himself with the Liberal party of Brazil and was elected to the provincial legislature in 1874, serving two years, and twice re-elected to fill the same office. His great talent and service in behalf of his party attracted the attention of leading politicians of his own party, and he was chosen as representative from the province of Minas to the National Assembly, where he remained until the fall of the empire in 1889. He was a member of the Assembly that passed the law freeing all slaves over 60 years of age, which was a prelude to the law of 1888 abolishing slavery. He became President of Brazil in November, 1906, and his term would have expired in 1910.

HE FALLS 3,500 FEET AND LIVES.

Nebraskan Tries New Aeroplane from Balloon—No Bones Broken.

In an effort to solve the problem of aerial navigation in an aeroplane of his own make, C. Sorenson, the village blacksmith of Berwyn, Neb., fell 3,500 feet Monday afternoon and lives to tell of his frightful experience. While the steel braces of the aeroplane were broken and twisted, Sorenson did not have a single bone broken. Half an hour after the accident he was making plans for a new aeroplane. Though his aeroplane did not work, it broke the force of his fall that he was only stunned. Sorenson's machine is different from all others in that the start is made from a balloon. Sorenson attached his new-fangled air navigator to an ordinary gas balloon and ascended to a height estimated at 3,500 feet. Then he cut loose from the balloon, hoping to make a gradual descent. In the fall the machine turned over many times. Sorenson landed in a sitting posture and this saved his life.

TWELVE IN BLACK HAND NET.

Raid in Cincinnati Held Important in Ohio Crusade.

In a spectacular raid made by post-office inspectors and city detectives a patrol wagon full of Italians was rounded up in Cincinnati Thursday night and taken before Federal Commissioner Loveland. The party arrested comprised an even dozen men, and two of that number, Vincenzo Arrico, fruit dealer, and Frank Spadaro, a loopkeeper, were held on warrants charging them with conspiracy in connection with an alleged attempt to extort money from John Amlon of Columbus, Ohio, by Black Hand methods. Inspector Olanoff, who led the raid which resulted in the arrests, said that proof had been obtained that Spadaro and three weeks ago was the local president of the Society of the Italian, since succeeded by Salvatore Lina. In the raid a large amount of literature was captured, which the inspectors declare has an important bearing on the cases of the Black Hand suspects recently arrested at Marion, Columbus and other Ohio points.

TOWNS RAZED BY TORNADO.

Two Missouri Villages Are Hit—Two Persons Killed by Storm.

Passengers arriving at Joplin, Mo., Wednesday night on a Frisco train reported the towns of Purdy and Mott were wrecked and the surrounding country devastated by a tornado. At least two were killed, they say. A cyclone, which began west of Monett at 8 o'clock, killed Andrew McDermick, a farmer, injured seriously his son, Noel, and hurt six other children. The McDermick farmhouse was demolished, farm buildings razed, and live stock killed. Telephone and telegraph wires are down, and it is thought that much damage was wrought in the southern part of the county.

NEW GATES STOP FLOOD AT SOO.

Lock Pumped Out to Determine Damage Done Recently.

The new gates on the lock of the Canadian ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie, replacing those which were wrecked recently by the steamer Perry G. Walker were hauled in place the other night and the next day the great thousand-foot lock was pumped out so that the amount of the damage done by the cataract that rushed through it after the accident might be determined. The steamer Crescent City which was carried through the lock by the swirling water after the Perry G. Walker had ripped out the lower gates, was raised and left for the lower lakes with temporary patches on her damaged bow.

MATSON AUTO VICTOR; 232 MILES IN 4:31:21

Crowd of 35,000 Cheers Victory Over Field of Fifteen for Indiana Trophy.

DEFY THE CURVES OF DEATH

Robertson Second and Monsen Third in Auto Battle—Troops Keep Course Clear.

Event ..... Indiana Trophy race.
The winner ..... Joe Matson.
Car ..... Chalmers-Detroit, 25.6 H. P.
Distance ..... 232.74 miles.
Time ..... 4 hrs. 31 min. 21 sec.
Average speed ..... 51 1/2 miles an hour.
Number of starters ..... 16.
Fastest lap ..... Burman, 23:41.
Length of circuit ..... 23.57 miles.
Number of laps ..... 10.

Amid plaudits from shrieking thousands, Joe Matson, a Western speed annihilator, on Friday won the Indiana Trophy stock chassis race, the first event in the West's big two-day automobile meet. He drove his 25.6 horse power Chalmers-Detroit car over 232.74 miles on the Crown Point-Lowell course in 4:31:21, or at an average speed of 51 1/2 miles an hour. He was sixth and last to start and third to cross the tape. The redoubtable George Robertson, winner of the Vanderbilt cup race last fall, was second in the Locomobile, covering the ground in 4:39:03. In third place ran A. Monsen, in a Marion car, his time being 4:42:03. Terrific bursts of speed were made at times over the best portions of the roadway, Burman in a Buick making one lap around the 23.27-mile course in 23:41, near enough to be a mile a minute to call it such. The best mile was at the speed of 71 miles an hour.

The six cars which finished the race were, in the order of the conclusion, as follows, with the names of the drivers and the time made:

- Hrs. M. S.
1. Chalmers-Detroit, Matson, 4 31 21
  2. Locomobile, Robertson, 4 39 03
  3. Marion, Monsen, 4 42 03
  4. Locomobile, Florida, 4 42 03
  5. Stoddard-Dayton, Wiseman, 4 51 16
  6. Moon, Wells, 4 57 27

Not a racer was spilled and not a car turned turtle. The pilots went around the curves discreetly instead of precipitately. They had been cautioned by their managers against being foolishly reckless and they took no more chances than needed at trencher's spots.

The first ambitious effort of the Chicago Automobile Club to present a Western automobile "classic," which might compare with the Eastern Vanderbilt cup races was a success from the automobile racing point of view. Perfect weather, a course which is pronounced excellent by racing authorities, and entirely sincere enthusiasm on the part of the intense persons who drove the cars combined to make the opener a hit with the lovers of rapid transit who saw the races.

Estimates vary as to the attendance at Friday's race, as the onlookers were scattered over the 23.27 miles of the course, but the highest figures place the attendance at about 35,000. Troops stationed along the route kept the course clear.

"Man Kills Wife with a Gun."

"I have just killed my wife; God help me!" was the cry with which William Westerville, a contractor of Teaneck, N. J., rushed into the home of a neighbor. Mrs. Westerville was found dead with a gunshot wound in her neck. Westerville declared the shooting was accidental.

Maloney said he killed one man with an ax and the other with a club, and the conditions of the skulls of the murdered men bear out this statement.

TRY TO ASSASSINATE A MAYOR.

Attempt to Burn House of Executive in Iowa in Ohio Is Made.

What is believed to have been an attempt to assassinate Mayor William R. Niven and burn his residence in Bellefontaine, Ohio, was made the other day when a burning bottle filled with kerosene was thrown through the large plate-glass window of his house. Curtains, carpets and all furniture in the room were set on fire, but the department quickly extinguished them. The mayor was away from home at the time. Mayor Niven

More than 10,000 skilled workmen members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers who are employed by the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, will quit work on the night of June 30, at which time the "open shop" order of the company becomes effective. Many unskilled workmen also will be affected. The decision to take this action followed a special convention held

EXPORT DECREASE $200,000,000.

Exports in 1909 Fall Below Those of Three Previous Years.

The report issued by the Bureau of Economic Warfare in Washington, D. C., says that the new report that the exports of the United States in the first six months of 1909 will fall materially below those of 1908 and 1907, and slightly below those of 1906. From statistics compiled by the bureau the total value of exports in 1908 was $1,825,000,000; in 1907, $1,810,000,000; and in 1906, $1,718,000,000. The bureau estimates that the decrease in exports for the full fiscal year 1909 will be nearly $200,000,000 below the average of 1908 and 1907 and perhaps $50,000,000 below those of 1906. The cause of this marked decline in the export trade of the United States are ascribed as "practically those which have produced similar conditions in other parts of the world—a reduction in the general demand for merchandise and a material reduction in the prices of certain of the more important articles exported."

Robbery was the motive for the crime.

The prisoner will be taken to Fort Pierre and placed in the county jail. Maloney registered at the hotel at Sioux City, May 28, as Mike McCann of Kansas City. He was in the employ of Toney and Goodwin, who were running a breaking outfit. The bodies of two men, J. Goodwin of Rock Valley, Iowa, and W. D. Toney of Sioux City, were found Saturday in a well on the McNally ranch, two miles north of Kadoka. Toney and Goodwin were running a breaking outfit on the McNally ranch. They were known to have had about $900 in cash when they arrived, May 19. Ten days later Maloney came to town and said he had bought his employers out and taken them to Phillip the night before. He disposed of several of the horse and later left town with the rest of the breaking outfit. When the bodies were found Saturday the city marshal started in pursuit of Maloney and arrested him at Cottonwood.

FIRE ROUTS VETERANS.

Burning of Auditorium Forces Them to Other Quarters.

A cigar or cigarette carelessly tossed away is supposed to have caused a fire that destroyed the auditorium of the Monumental Building in Newark, Ohio, in which the Ohio Grand Army veterans had been holding their annual encampment. The veterans the next day met in churches and schoolhouses.

Pittsburg. It occasioned little surprise as at a previous meeting, held by the advisory board, resolutions were adopted strongly recommending that the union resist the company's order.

In the Pittsburg district a majority of the mills of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, which is a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, are nonunion. The combined plants in which a strike order will be effective total 153 mills capacity in the tin trade and fifty-one mills in the sheet steel trade. By States the mills are grouped as follows: Pennsylvania—Greer and Shenago plants, New Castle (tin), 50 mills; Sharon (tin), 20 mills; Connessville (tin), 6 mills; Ohio—Martins Ferry (tin), 23 mills; Bridgeport (sheet), 23 mills; Cambridge (sheet), 11 mills; Piqua and Struthers (sheet), 16 mills; West Virginia—Wheeling (tin), 16 mills; Indiana—Elwood, Aderson and Gas City (tin), 43 mills; Muncie (sheet), 7 mills.

Taft Asks 2 Per Cent. Tax on Corporations

WOULD INVITE AID OF STATES.

Congress Advised to Seek Constitutional Amendment Allowing Assessment on Income.

Recommending legislation looking to the placing of a 2 per cent tax on the net income of corporations and also the adoption of an amendment to the constitution providing for the imposition of an income tax without an apportionment among the several states, President Taft Wednesday sent to Congress a message embodying his views on the subject. This action followed a protracted special meeting of the cabinet.

In his message the president speaks of the apparent inability of Congress to agree to an inheritance tax, and as regards an income tax, he refers to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Pollock vs. the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, in which the court held the tax to be unconstitutional unless apportioned according to population. "It is," says the president, "undoubtedly a power which the government ought to have. It might be indispensable to the nation's life in great crises."

The amendment, therefore, he declares, is the only proper course. Such an amendment to the constitution, he contended, was preferable to the one proposed of reviving a law judicially declared to be unconstitutional. The amendment which he proposes should be made to the tariff bill provides for the imposition upon all corporations and joint stock companies for profit, except national banks (otherwise taxed), savings banks and building and loan associations, of an excise tax of 2 per cent on the net income of the corporations. "This is estimated by him, will bring an annual revenue of $25,000,000. This is a tax on privilege and not on property," he says, "and is within the federal power without apportionment according to population."

The president points out that another merit to the tax on corporations is the federal supervision, which will give to the government, the stockholders and the public knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains and profits of every corporation in the country. The adoption of the tax, he says, will make a long step toward the supervisory control of corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power.

The Bloomfield Monitor must be prospering. It has just installed a new Cottrell newspaper press and a Jones-Gordon job press.

The Cedar County Institute will convene in Hartington, at the High School Building, Monday morning, August 23, promptly at 8 o'clock and continue in session five days.

The Blade at Coleridge is to have a new office building. It will be a particularly neat piece of architecture. The construction will be of pressed brick and cement brick.

Wausa, which prides itself on being the hoggiest locality in the state reports the 15 month old product of one of its German farmers as tipping the scales at 990 pounds and bringing $68.31 on the market.

N. E. Ross, near Laurel, claims to have cut, with a span of three-year-old mules and a five foot mower, eight acres of alfalfa, yielding five tons per acre, from three o'clock in the afternoon until a few minutes before sundown. That's going some in the haying line.

P. E. Taylor, of Lyons, will accept his appointment to the consular service in the Maritus Islands, having been granted sixty days in which to arrange and complete business plans which he now has in hand. This place carries with it a salary of $2000 per year and he is also given a mileage of five cents per mile to pay his traveling expenses in reaching the post. It is one of the best posts to which new appointees are sent.

The Tekamah races are scheduled for the third week in July. They will have four days run this year, with big prizes and a large number of entries.

Dr. Biller, of Wynot, recently purchased in Ohio an imported Short Horn cow for $540, a two year old heifer for $600 and a yearling for $200. He has also arranged to buy a famous prize winning herd headed that defeated the $2,600 "Sultan of Anoka."

W. F. Smith and L. Brandenburg, of Tekamah, have filed articles of incorporation of the Nebraska Tile Drain Co. Their main building will be 160x60 feet, a dryer with the latest heating and ventilating devices. Their machine room for moulding, crushing, mixing and conveying of the clay will occupy 40x80 feet. The plant will start with four kilns 28 feet in diameter. All buildings will be of brick with fire proof roofs.

J. W. Stageman, of Randolph, is in luck for last week he drew No. 38 in the land drawing of government irrigated tracts in Idaho, near Shoshone. This drawing was under the Carey Act and can be done by power of attorney. Frank Sweetser took Jared's power of attorney and the good luck followed. If the Randolph man wants to sell, he could probably make $800 or $1000 and never turn his hand over. It is probable he may go to Idaho and take a look at the land.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Wayne Reader Knows Too Well

When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action; Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. Wayne people testify to this.

D. S. McVicker, of Wayne, Nebr., says: "A member of my family was troubled by backache for a long time. That the complaint was caused by disordered kidneys was plainly shown by the irregular passages of the secretions from these organs. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally used and they brought great relief. It is a pleasure to endorse this excellent remedy."

"EVERYBODY'S"

Everybody remembers the spectacular visit of the Kaiser to his Majesty, "Abdul the Damned," as Mr. Gladstone once called the Sultan. But it has remained for E. Alexander Powell, recently an American consul in Turkey, to show just what the emperor's little game really was, and what came of it: In "The Fight for the Highway of Nations," July Everybody's, Mr. Powell very entertainingly describes how William of Germany, with an eye to the future, secured a concession that made him ruler of 18,600 square miles of Turkish territory. This is an empire in itself, and it has much to do with the European feeling that war between England and Germany is inevitable.

Men Past Fifty in Danger

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." A CYCLONE OF FLAME

Fires in Bamboo Forests Are the Fiercest Known.

SWEEP ON A MILE A MINUTE.

Like the Roar, the Roll and the Rattle of a Great Battle is the Noise of the Exploding Stalks That Sometimes Shoot High Into the Air.

When the forests are afire, when the smoke makes dusk at noon and reddens the harvest moon a thousand miles away, there is the measure of a conflagration. When the prairies burn, as they used to before farms had crept in upon the endless miles of grass, there was a fire which ran like mad and left behind it a blackened trail of death. If one could combine the speed of the prairie fire with the tumult of the blazing forest, that would be a fire indeed.

Such a combination is effected when the bamboo groves catch fire. The bamboo is but a grass, a grass with the height of a tree, swaying stems reaching 100, even 150, feet in air.

In Cambodia, where the bamboo grows along the rivers covering the space of forests, it is no unusual thing for fires to break out and sweep all before them for many miles. If the summer has been dry the bamboo turns sear and inflammable as any grass.

All that is needed is a spark; then ruin runs red. It is not necessary to rely upon the carelessness of the woodsman to start the blaze. The bamboo can kindle itself.

Let two swaying stalks of dry bamboo be set in motion by the breeze, let one rub across the other long enough, and the friction will set the spark, and the long dry forest will feed the flame.

It is known that many fires of the bamboo forests thus originate. Perhaps it was from observing such a sight that primitive man learned the Prometheus secret. That theory has been advanced.

As soon as a flame in the bamboos has crept to the level of the tossing tips it spreads like wildfire. The wind carries a sheet of flame along the grove at tremendous speed. Some observers say that such fires have been seen to move forward at the rate of more than a mile a minute. Seen from below, it looks as if the sky had burst into an instant flash of flame.

From such a burst of fire there could be no escape. Fortunately it passes high overhead at the tops of the bamboos. It serves as a warning to the traveler who may be making his way along some one of the water courses by which the forest is intersected. The bamboo itself is almost an obstacle to travel of any sort. It is well known impossible to force a way through it except by the slow and toilsome labor of heaving out a path.

The fire in the great trunks moves more slowly, and if warring be taken it may be possible to sink one's bolt and throw up wet herbage and clay against the bank of the stream to provide shelter until the furnace blast has blown by. Such a fire in the bamboo has not only the speed of the prairie fire on its sweep overhead, but it has the same volume of fuel as is found in any forest fire. It combines the two types.

Bamboo forest fires have another quality which is all their own. They bang and rattle with thunderous crashes as if of artillery fire, without cessation. The stalks of these tree bamboos are frequently more than a foot in diameter. Near the ground the joints are close together; in the younger growth the nodes may be several feet apart. But, long or short as they may be, each joint of the sun dried bamboo is in a tightly sealed chamber filled with air. The partitions between the cavities are singularly tough; the outside rind of the stalks is almost pure flint.

When the blast of the flame sweeps onward the air in the stalks upon which it is driven is suddenly heated to a very high temperature. The residue of moisture which may be in the stems is immediately transformed into steam and at once subjected to superheating, thus becoming a violent explosive. As the hot breath of the flame becomes hotter these joints burst with loud cannon discharges.

Sometimes the force of the explosion near the roots is so great as to shoot the stalk like a javelin high into the air, where it flashes into torchlike flame and is carried by the wind to spread wider disaster. The bursting of the smaller joints is like the roll and rattle of rifles and machine guns. The effect is that of a battle hotly contested. Washington Post.

An Aquatic Outfitter.

One day a ship was lying at anchor at Boca Grande when the crew observed a dolphin chasing a flying fish, both coming directly toward the ship. On nearing the vessel the diver rose in the air and passed over the boat just about the foremast. As it did so the dolphin went under the ship and, coming up on the other side, sprang from the water and caught the flying fish on the fly just as it was curving gracefully down in its descent to the water. Missing Opportunities.

"I have no patience with a man who makes the same mistake twice," said Armes, rather severely, in speaking of an unfortunat friend. "Neither have I," agreed his wife, "when there are so many other mistakes to make."—Youth's Companion.
