Governed Too Much

I love the sun and the gentle breeze, and the brook that winds through the pleasant vale; and I love the birds and I love the trees, and I'm always glad when I'm out of jail. We are governed now by so many laws that liberty's dead and we've heard its knell, and the wise man carries a set of saws, to cut his way from the prison cell. The grocer wails in a dungeon deep, for he sold an egg that was out of date; the baker's fetters won't let him sleep, a loaf of his bread was under weight. The butcher beats at his prison door; they'll cut off his head when the night is o'er, for he sold a steak that was mostly bone. The milkman's there in the prison yard, and the jailers flog him and make him jump. It seems to me that his fate is hard, though he did draw milk from the old home pump. A sickly weed, that was lank and thin, embellished my lot at the edge of town, and the peelers nabbed me and ran me in because I neglected to cut it down. I dropped a can as I crossed the park, and that is a crime that's against the law; so they shut me up in a dungeon dark, with its rusty chains and its moldy straw. I love the brook and the bubbling breeze, and I'm rather mashed on the howling gale; and I'm fond of robins and bumble bees, and I'm always glad when I'm out of jail. —Walt Mason.

Have Faith

"Faith without works is dead" but, nevertheless, faith is a mighty and potent force in the world. Faith that serves merely to rescue men from hell is a sham and a fraud, but a faith that takes hold upon life and energizes itself in noble thoughts and deeds is a strong and insistent force without which we could ill afford to live. Faith underlies and undergirds the world. It is the basis of commerce, the foundation of the home, the bulwark of society, the animating spirit of education, the inspiration of art and the soul of religion. "By faith" have men wrought many wondrous things; "by faith" Columbus crossed the sea; "by faith" the martyr's song arose above the crackle of the flames and "by faith" timorous mortals have passed into the "valley of the shadow" with calm and tranquil mind. A faith that seeks a selfish end is counterfeit, true faith shows the world by generous acts and deeds. The catalogue of what faith has wrought is long and bright and without faith this world would be a charnal house of slaughtered hope.

Remember Your Townspeople

By patronizing home merchants we are always rewarded by having good enterprising merchants at home. Patronize them and they will benefit you in more ways than one. You are rewarded by seeing your influence building up and maintaining your own town; patronize home merchants, home industry and home enterprises of all kinds in preference to those of any place. Spend your money at home, with people who have an interest in your town. By doing this the town is kept up, property is made more valuable, conveniences are enlarged and opportunities for financial improvements opened.

Better Be Careful

An epidemic of meningitis is prevalent at Stromsburg, Nebraska. It has spread into the surrounding country and up to date there has been 300 cases. Every church in the city is closed and there have been no public meetings in a month. Their chautauqua and races and carnival were abandoned. No person who can absolutely avoid it comes to town or goes to a store or to visit a neighbor and many of the farmers in the country are losing their crops because their families have the disease and no one will help them with their harvest. The dead are buried at night and the large number of small new made graves in the cemetery are mute reminders that a pestilence is abroad in the land. The financial loss to the city and country will aggregate many thousands of dollars. Two-thirds of all who have had the disease and recovered will be life cripples.

A Query

About three months ago a woman styling herself Ensign Hoover was through here soliciting funds for the Salvation Army. When confronted with the statement that a man had been coming here regularly on that work for some years, she stated that he would not come any more as she had been appointed to take his place. She was given money—except in a few instances and merrily went her way. Last Thursday a second woman appeared. On being interrogated regarding the man she too claimed to be his regularly appointed successor, producing credentials to prove her statement and explaining at length that Ensign Hoover was off her beat. This woman was also given money and went on her way rejoicing. On Tuesday a man appeared. Now the question arises, how many of these Salvation Army solicitors are supposed to cover the same territory, and how often are they supposed to come? You see we'd just like to know, so as to have our purse strings untied.—Laurel Advocate.

Our people had the same kind of an experience.

Superintendent's Notice

Teacher's examinations will be given the third Friday and Saturday following of each month.—Mrs. Elsie Littell, Superintendent.

Cut to One Dollar

The Lincoln Daily State Journal wants a few thousand new trial subscribers and has cut its price from now to Jan. 1, 1910, to only $1, or daily and Sunday both, $1.25. This is a specially low price for such a newspaper and will result in a big business. The Journal stops when the time is out so that people need not be afraid to take one of these special offers. It's not a trick to get you started. The Journal has greatly enlarged and improved each year and has been having a wonderful growth in its readers. Being the paper of our state capital it is especially the paper for Nebraskans to read, and it has an especially clean lot of readers because the paper itself is clean, having cut out all liquor and objectionable medical advertising. The Journal is thoroughly independent, and has been making a determined fight to have our representatives at Washington do something to lower the cost of living. If you want to read not only all of the news of the world, but a practical, helpful newspaper, working in the interests of the masses of Nebraskans, try the Lincoln Journal until Jan. 1, 1910, at this price.

$1,000 For an Ear of Corn

To the farmer exhibiting the best ear of corn, W. K. Kellogg, the breakfast food manufacturer, offers a $1,000 gold and silver trophy cup, which is one of Tiffany's masterpieces—to win it means an honor to the grower, his state and county. Men who win such prizes become known in every grain market; every factory where cereals are used as raw material; in the State and United States Department of Agriculture, as well as in foreign lands.

This sounds like a broad statement but L. B. Clore who won the Indiana corn trophy last year was offered a position for three years by the Russian government, before he had been home with his trophy three months.

Mr. Kellogg is making food of corn and his factories consume thousands of bushels daily. Of course he wants the best corn he can buy and one way he has of learning where to buy corn, is by offering a trophy. The farmer who wins attracts attention to his community as one in which good corn is produced. The corn to compete for the trophy may be entered in any of the classes at the National Corn Exposition. The judges at the show in Omaha will decide and the grower of the best single ear gets the trophy.

A SHORTAGE OF CARS

CHAIRMAN KNAPP COMMENTS ON CROP MOVEMENT.

Heavier Business Than Has Ever Been Known During a Single Season Is Now Unlikely—Railroads in Better Shape Than in 1907.

A heavier business than has ever been known in a single year is looked for by Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the American railroads during the present fiscal year.

The serious situation anticipated, not only by Judge Knapp but by other officials of the commission and by operating railroad men generally, is that there may be a shortage of cars. The crop prospects are considered so bright that the likelihood is the railroads and other transportation companies may be beyond their capacity to handle the freight that will be offered to them.

Already, according to figures submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroads in considerable number have recovered from the low business pressure of a year and a half ago, and they are handling almost as much traffic as they handled by the rush months of 1907, which was the banner year in American railroading.

In the view of Chairman Knapp, the carriers are now in better position to carry the freight offered than they were in 1907, and he said that it would not surprise him if that year's record was broken this year.

The railroads learned a good lesson in 1907," said Chairman Knapp. "Then they were absolutely unable to handle promptly the traffic that was offered to them. Since that time they have added materially to their equipment, have improved their railroads in every respect and have increased their facilities. I do not doubt that this year will be a red letter period for them and for the country.

Generally it is expected, however, that a shortage of cars will result this fall from the increased business of the carriers, and some embarrassment to shippers may be looked for as a consequence.

PETITIONS PRESIDENT TAFT.

Anti-Imperialists Oppose New Course with Regard to Porto Rico.

Depreciating the transfer of Porto Rican affairs to the Insular Commission of the war department from the department of the interior and opposing the idea of a new colonial department at Washington, a letter has been sent to President Taft by the executive committee of the anti-imperialist league which was made public Monday night. The letter, which is signed by President Moorfield Storey and Secretary Irving Winslow, of the league, says with reference to the Porto Rican matter:

"The action taken must inevitably tend to create discouragement and discontent, and to suggest indefinite postponement of the hopes of the islanders." The letter expresses the hope "that the administration will not give any encouragement to the past proposal which has been from time to time made, but that the affairs of the Philippines and other dependencies shall hereafter be confined to a new colonial department to be created, thus crystallizing and tending to give permanency to their attention."

VICTIMS LIKELY TO RECOVER.

Persons Injured in Rio Grande Smashing Have Passed Danger Point.

Hope is now entertained for the recovery of all of those who were injured in the Denver and Rio Grande wreck at Husted, Colo., Saturday morning. Hospital authorities say that with the possible exception of H. K. Whitsett, of Jericho, Mo., and Emil Kauper, of Chicago, all of the hurt have passed the danger point and that recovery is only a matter of days.

Coroner David F. Law began an inquest into the cause of the disaster Monday. W. C. Martin, of Denver, assistant general manager of the road, also began an official investigation of the cause of the accident.

More Land for Settlers.

Approximately 163,000 acres of non-irrigable land located in the vicinity of Newcastle, Wyo., were Monday designated by the secretary of the interior for settlement under the homestead act.

A rumor to the effect that Porfirio Diaz, the son of President Diaz, of Mexico, had been assassinated is pronounced as absurd. The rumor originated in El Paso.

THIRTY LISTED AS DEAD.

Fatalities May Be Increased in Japan Quake.

Reports received Monday concerning the earthquake in central Japan Saturday show that there were a number of fatalities and that great damage was done to property. The dead at present is said to be thirty, though it is feared that the fatalities will be greatly increased in the outlying districts when heard from. The number of persons injured is 82. Thus far 382 buildings, including many temples, are reported to have been destroyed and more than 1,000 others badly damaged.

The shock occurred at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and affected a wide area in the Shiga and Gifu prefectures.

The town of Oaku, in Hida river broke and the surrounding country was inundated. The people of the district fled to high ground and remained in the open all night.

Shocks were felt throughout Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The mountain Tsubaki, a short distance west of Gifu, emitted smoke in the early stages of the earthquake and then collapsed with a thunderous roar. The formation of the mountain was completely changed.

Slight damage was done at Nagoya to the southward of Gifu and neighboring villages.

PELLAGRA A FOOD DISEASE.

Ninety Per Cent of Cases Traced to Eating Moldy Corn.

Dr. C. H. Lavinder, of the United States public health and marine hospital service, of Washington, called to the state hospital at Bartonville, Ill., by Superintendent George A. Zeller and Dr. Egan, of the Illinois state hospital, confirmed the diagnosis of Superintendent Zeller and Dr. Egan in the alleged pellagra disease, having examined forty cases.

Pellagra is a food disease, 90 per cent of the cases known having been traced to the use of moldy corn, and in view of this fact Dr. Zeller issued an order forbidding the use of corn meal at the hospital until arrangements are made for thoroughly drying all corn meal and corn products used at the hospital. Pellagra affects the skin and often is confused with sunburn or boiling. A patient with pellagra reminds one of his having been parboiled.

BEATEN BY PIRATE CREW.

Honduras Sailors Then Cast Adrift in a Salt Pond.

A special from Port Cortez, Spanish Honduras, says Capt. Zelaya and two sailors of the Honduran gunboat Tutumbula arrived there several days ago and related a sensational story of their capture off the coast of Honduras by the crew of a schooner believed to be smuggling goods into Honduras from Jamaica.

Capt. Zelaya says the Tutumbula overhauled the schooner and that he and the two sailors went aboard, directing the Tutumbula to follow them. They declare the machinery on the Tutumbula broke down and that, taking advantage of the situation the crew of the schooner gave them a severe beating and cast them adrift in a small rowboat. They assert the schooner was flying a British flag.

Woman Found in Desert.

G. A. R. MEN END SESSION.

Atlantic City Chosen as the Next Meeting Place.

The forty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic ended at Salt Lake City, Utah, Friday night with a fireworks display on Emery street.

The final day was devoted to the selection of a meeting place in 1910 and the election of officers by the parent association and allied and auxiliary societies.

By the close vote of 307 to 293 Atlantic City was chosen over St. Louis as the place for the next encampment after a spirited fight.

Atlantic City was placed in nomination by Adm. Gen. Burrows, of New Jersey, and St. Louis was named by former Commander in Chief Charles Burton, of Missouri. First one city was in the lead and then the other.

With New York to be heard the vote stood 253 to 293 in favor of St. Louis.

When New York was called the commander of that department announced the vote as 53 for Atlantic City and 1 for St. Louis. This gave the sea coast city a lead that could not be overcome. The vote showed the east arrayed against the middle west, with the far west and south more or less divided.

The other contest was for chaplain, Rev. Daniel Ryan, of Columbia, Ind., won the honor from Rev. Thomas Harwood, of New Mexico, by a vote of 320 to 233.

After the final details of the convention were disposed of Commander in Chief Van Sant and his fellow officers, elective and appointive were installed.

The Women's Relief Corps elected Mrs. Fannie W. D. Harden, of Denver, senior vice president, and Mrs. Jennie L. Jones, of Salt Lake, junior vice president.

PRISONER KILLED BY KEEPER.

Shot Down by Man Who Had Come to Rescue of His Comrades.

After a murderous attack on two keepers in the county jail at Newark, N. J., Friday, Angelo Caprio, awaiting trial on a charge of murder, was shot and instantly killed by a third keeper, who came to the rescue of his comrades.

Caprio had been making a disturbance in his cell and Keepers Matthew Smith and John Bryant started to remove him to another part of the prison. When they opened the cell door Caprio attacked them with a long piece of stiff wire that had been used as a chair brace and which he had sharpened until it had a point like a stiletto. Bryant was stabbed several times in the neck and body. Caprio then turned on Smith and stabbed him in the hand. When John Corby, another keeper, rushed up the Italian turned viciously on him, but the keeper, backing away drew his revolver and shot Caprio to death.

WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION.

Political Refuge League to Aid Accused Revolutionists.

The Political Refuge and Defense league, with headquarters in Chicago, is preparing to assist Jose Itangol and Thomas Sarabia, arrested in San Antonio on a charge of seeking to incite a revolution in Mexico, and Friday instructed its general counsel, Attorney Charles H. Soelke, to proceed to Texas and combat extradition for the prisoners.

The league has already interested itself in the defense of Antonio Araujo and others, who were arrested some months ago on a similar charge, and has appealed the cases to the federal circuit court.

WILL TRY TO BREAK WILL.

Kansas City Saloonkeeper Left $117,000 to Charities.

A suit to break the will of Charles Schattner, a wealthy saloonkeeper and politician, who died a few months ago at Kansas City, Mo., leaving $117,000 to local charities and about $25,000 to negro employees, has been filed by Eugene Schattner, a brother. The estate was valued at $200,000.

Welch to Fight Nelson.

Freddie Welch, the English pugilist, has arranged for a forty-five round glove contest with Battling Nelson, which is to be fought in the United States in September. The battle will be for the world's lightweight championship.

Death from Bubonic Plague.

Jose Mendez, who contracted bubonic plague from eating or handling infected ground squirrels, died at a hospital in San Francisco Thursday. This is the first case of bubonic plague in the state for more than a year.

No Corpses Found at Sea.

An official investigation just concluded discredits the story recently published that corpses supposed to be from the missing British steamer Waratah had been seen floating at sea off the Fish and Beabe rivers.

COMMERCIAL FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The developments continue entirely favorable to increasing activity throughout the industries. The important basis is the strength derived from the rise in new demands for factory outputs and wider disposition to enter into commitments for future needs. Iron and steel production in this district now compares favorably with the best previous records. Construction plans denote considerable accumulation for railroads, manufacturers and mercantile houses.

The government crop report was as important a factor as expected, and its effect has created great encouragement throughout the productive and distributive branches. High absorption of breadstuffs and provisions is a notable feature, but live stock markets are yet without adequate supplies for packing.

Transportation returns show further recovery in freight handling by both rail and lake. Money is slightly dearer and in strong request at the advance, rates for choice commercial paper being now quoted at 4 1/2 to 5 per cent. Sales of local securities are double the volume at this time last year.

Dealings reflect much improvement in the cash markets for leading grains and flour, the buying being influenced by earlier values and necessary replenishment after a long period of very conservative absorption. The total movements of grain at this port 11,997,547 bushels, compares with 9,259,187 bushels last week and 9,823,295 bushels a year ago. Compared with 1908, increases appear in receipts 15.4 per cent and in shipments 9.3 per cent.

Bank clearings, $253,606,195, exceed those of the corresponding week in 1908 by 21.7 per cent and compare with $224,174,169 in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 29, against 22 last week, 16 in 1908 and 22 in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 7, against 6 last week, 3 in 1908 and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Improvement is more manifest in general trade and industry this week but there is still present the feeling of conservatism hitherto noted, which makes for small and frequent, rather than heavy individual sales. Developments have been largely favorable chief among these the increased arrivals of buyers in most markets, a greater disposition to take hold for fall and spring delivery, a very favorable government crop report, the continuation of the marked strength in security markets, the growing firmness of the time money market.

The railroad situation is improving and idle cars are disappearing on the western lines as the winter wheat movement enlarges. Industries are active, iron and steel leading, with railroads reported buying freely of rails, cars and locomotives.

Collections show a little improvement, but as yet do not reflect the influence of new crop marketing, possibly because of the farmers being busy engaged. Building is active and trades catering to this line note rather more doing.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with August 12 were 219, against 134 last week, 249 in the like week of 1908, 116 in 1907, 343 in 1906 and 147 in 1905.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN BY HARVEST FOR 1909

Three Bumper Crops Gathered at Once, Government Report Reveals.

ERA OF PROSPERITY SURE.

High Prices for Grain Will Bring Farmers Huge Sum, Aiding Trade in General.

More grain than ever before grew to maturity in a single year in the United States already has been harvested or is rapidly approaching maturity, according to the government official crop report for August.

Never, but once, has there been more wheat, never before has there been so much corn or so much oats. And never before, have three bumper crops come together in the same year.

Never in history has such a huge task confronted the railroads as the moving of this stupendous harvest to market, and never have the railroads been so prepared for their work. Along the lines of the principal roads in the great grain producing States stand miles and miles of empty box cars, ready for the loading, while thousands of engines, new or overhauled during the period of depression just drawing to a close, stand, with steam up, ready to rush them to Chicago, Minneapolis and other terminal cities, where the almost empty elevators yawn for the golden grain, and boats and cars are ready to carry the surplus to other and less-favored nations which must look to bountiful America for a large portion of their food supply.

Figures Given on Crops.

The year's record crops of grain as shown in the government report are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Indicated yield, Previous record. Rows for Wheat, Corn, and Oats.

To add joy to the farmer, prices are high and bid fair to remain so. Usually the farmer gets high prices only in years of scarcity, while in many instances, prices in bounteous years have been so low as to make it unprofitable to market the crops. On not a few occasions in the last twenty years have wheat and corn been used for fuel. Last year was a lean year, but in spite of this wheat prices are now above last year's level, while corn and oats values are high enough to make their marketing profitable.

Era of Prosperity Sure.

These figures show that the farmer will have an enormous amount of money to spend this winter. His prosperity will be reflected in manufacturing lines, because the pianos, automobiles and other luxuries the farmer will now find himself able to buy will have to be made in factories. The railroads will receive a double profit, because they will not only have to move the crops to market, but the said pianos and automobiles from the cities to the farmers. Consequently the great crop outlook makes it appear that the country is in for an era of prosperity such as it never saw before.

The government figures, especially on winter wheat, were a surprise even to the most optimistic. Thrashing returns indicate an average yield for the country of 15.5 bushels to the acre, or a total of 432,000,000 bushels, which is a month ago only 397,000,000 was looked for. Last year's yield of winter wheat was 437,000,000 bushels. It is in the great States of the Northwest, however, that prosperity is most beneficial.

PULPIT AND PREACHER

The semi-centennial of Presbyterianism in Colorado was recently celebrated. Fifty years ago this church began its work in that State by holding meetings in stores and tents among the mountains, and this year the General Assembly was held in Denver in one of the best-equipped churches of the denomination.

Rev. G. L. Merrill, a Minneapolis minister, has composed something of a sensation by appearing on the principal streets armed with a camera and taking snapshots of the stylishly dressed women who passed and then using the plates to throw the pictures on the screen in his church to illustrate his sermon on immodest dress.

The State Department at Washington is seeking international co-operation for the suppression of the traffic in opium as well as of cocaine and other habit-forming drugs.

Work of Congress

Provision was made for the administration of the new tariff law by the adoption by the Senate Saturday of numerous amendments to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, which was passed. In addition to the salaries for judges and other officials and employees of the new United States Court of Customs Appeals the Senate appropriated $100,000 to aid the State Department in making treaties, $25,000 for the President's traveling expenses, $100,000 to pay the expenses of the advisory board which will assist the President in carrying out the duties imposed upon him by the maximum and minimum provision and $100,000 to defray the expenses of a bureau which will enforce the collection of the new corporation tax. The Senate voted to reduce the salaries of the judges of the new Customs Court to the amount received by judges of United States Circuit Courts. Salaries of the government attorneys who will try customs cases also were reduced. The House adopted the conference report on the tariff bill, 195 to 183, twenty Republicans voting adversely. A motion to recommit the bill to conference was lost by a narrow margin.

Several Senators insisted that the conference report be read in full Monday to avoid undue haste, and the Senate dragged through a seven-hour session. Senator Daniel opened the debate on the report, charging that the Democratic members of the Finance Committee had been dealt with unfairly in that they had not been permitted to vote in committee on the adoption of the report. He claimed that an agreement entered into for that purpose with Mr. Aldrich had been violated. Intentional violation was asserted by Mr. Aldrich, who could not agree with Mr. Daniel as to what had occurred between them. Senator Bristol said the bill did not keep party pledges and he would not vote for it.

The conference report on the Philippine tariff bill was agreed to by the House. The measure is supplementary to the Payne tariff bill and is intended to provide enough additional revenue to make up the amount which will be lost to the Philippine government by the enactment of the provision for free trade between the United States and the Philippines. A bill granting a franchise for the construction of a dam across the Savannah River was passed. The remainder of the session was taken up with a discussion of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill as amended by the Senate. One of the amendments provided for carriages for the Vice President and the speaker, and all of them were disagreed to.

When the Senate met Tuesday it was at once apparent that opposition to the conference report on the tariff bill had collapsed, and an agreement was soon reached to vote on the measure at 2 o'clock Thursday. The Western Senators agreed to vote on the bill at that time under the understanding that a concurrent resolution would be passed correcting the hide and leather schedule. The change will make manufactured leather dutiable at 10, instead of 15 per cent. Senator Culberson said he would seek to have cotton bagging included in the concurrent resolution. Mr. Aldrich in reply to Mr. Newlands said that the conference provision giving the President power to secure information on the maximum and minimum clause would be found more effective than the Senate clause. Senator Clapp attacked the conference report and Senator McCumber supported it. After being in session seven minutes the House took recess until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

In answer to Mr. Clark (Missouri), Mr. Dabzell (Pennsylvania) said the adjournment was moved in order that the members might take action on the conference report on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, and that the tariff bill would not be brought in. When the House reconvened there was a very slim attendance, and the report was not ready, so the House adjourned.

TIGHT LACING KILLS GIRL.

The progressive Senators occupied most of the time in the Senate Wednesday, a night session being necessary to allow them to express their views on all tariff bills. There was a very small attendance. Interest centered on the vote to be taken at 9 o'clock Thursday. Mr. Beveridge attacked the wording of the maximum and minimum clause and Mr. Hale defended it. Mr. Aldrich reported a concurrent resolution which is expected to remedy the leather schedule to meet the views of the range Senators. The House passed the urgent deficiency bill as reported by the conferees. It carries $1,000,000, or an increase of $668,000. The provisions for automobiles for the speaker and the Vice President and the customs court were retained despite bitter opposition. The bill makes no provision for salaries of the judges of the court.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

Mrs. J. F. Levy, of Chicago, was thrown over an embankment from the back of a burro in Colorado and badly bruised.

John Galvin, vice mayor of Cincinnati, Ohio, took the oath as mayor, succeeding the late Colonel Leopold Merckel.

Mrs. Maria Rook, an American, 42 years old, fell dead on the Red Star line steamer Kronland as the vessel was leaving Antwerp for New York.

In attempting to save his 10-year-old son from being run down by a train, George Gast was killed at Dayton, Ky., the boy being probably fatally injured.

Little Bison, a Sioux Indian chief, has returned from Nicaragua and announced that a band of his followers from the Dakotas will go to that republic and live.

Willie Barrett, 13 years old, with only one leg, rescued two youths from drowning in the Ohio River at Cincinnati, and is being urged for a Carnegie hero medal.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

With Congress adjourned the Capitol was deserted the next day and only the echoes were heard of the long-drawn-out tariff debate. Already most of the Senators and Representatives were on the way to their homes, while in the morning the outgoing trains had aboard many of those who stayed behind, only long enough to close up their affairs. Both the Senate and House chambers looked as if a cyclone had struck them. Scattered over the desks and on the floor were tariff schedules, statistics, bills, resolutions, and what not, all useful a day or two before, but now appropriate matter for the waste heap. An army of workmen was on hand early to remove the rubbish, take up the carpets, overhaul the drafters and desks and to otherwise make ready for the regular session beginning next December.

The extraordinary session of Congress which completed a few days ago its revision of the tariff law, cost the American people, it has been estimated by some of the statisticians around the Capitol, about $300,000. Many different items enter into this grand total, the chief of which is mileage. The House's expense on this account aggregates $154,000, and that of the Senate $140,000. Extra pay allowed to employees on both sides of the Capitol amounted, it is estimated, to about $150,000. Special employees engaged in compiling information for Congress and the committees, relative to the tariff, were paid good salaries. The government printing office has not yet supplied a statement concerning the cost of printing of the tariff bill, reports and hearings, but it is known that this item will be large.

A tariff has been evolved from the struggle between the White House and the conference room, which will, perhaps, be final. It embodies the ideas of the President for free hides and free oil at a 15 per cent rate over lumber. The Senate rates on gloves and the Senate rates on lower grades of hosiery, as well as reductions on boots, shoes and other manufactures of leather, and on certain classes of cotton goods.

Night work has been begun on the addition to the executive offices at the White House. Three shifts are working and there will be 60 rest before the addition is completed. In the old tennis court a workman found a tennis ball buried in the clay at a depth of four or five inches. He pocketed it as a souvenir, saying as he did so: "I'll bet Theodore himself drove that one into the ground."

The Utah Fuel Company, a subsidiary corporation of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, agrees to pay the Government $74,000, reconveys 800 acres of land under dispute and forfeits $14,000 paid to the Government when the patents were issued on the land. This settlement is the result of an equity suit brought by Attorney General Wickersham. The suit will be discontinued.

SAYS THAW IS INSANE; BACK TO MATTEAWAN

Justice Mills Rules Against the Slayer, but in Strongest Decision Yet Made.

CALLS HIM A CHRONIC LUNATIC

Thaw, His Mother and His Sister All in a Collapsed Condition on Hearing News.

Harry K. Thaw was Thursday adjudged insane by Justice Mills in a decision handed down in the Supreme Court at White Plains, N. Y., and ordered to be sent back to the Matteawan State Asylum for the Criminal Insane immediately.

The order of Justice Mills was turned over to the Westchester County authorities by the Clerk of the Supreme Court and Thaw himself, in the jail at White Plains, was informed of the decision. Arrangements were made to take him back to Matteawan Friday.

Decides Thaw is Insane. Justice Mills' decision was the strongest against Thaw that has been handed down by any Judge since the two trials of the prisoner. His decision can be summed up as follows:

That the insanity that Harry K. Thaw was afflicted with in June, 1906, the date of the shooting of Stanford White, was a chronic, delusional insanity generally known as paranoia.

That Harry K. Thaw has not recovered from this insanity.

That the release of Harry K. Thaw now would be a danger to the public peace and safety.

Justice Mills in his decision finds that Thaw is now insane and unable to properly care for himself. The decision contained 2,000 words and thoroughly covered the insanity hearing that had been held before Justice Mills. Thaw awaited the decision in his cell in the jail at White Plains. He was plainly nervous and paced up and down almost unnerved. Arrangements had been made to let him know the decision as soon as it was made public by the clerk of the court. When he learned his fate, Thaw stopped in his nervous walk up and down the cell and stood still. He did not seem to comprehend what had been told him. Then, when he realized that he must go back to Matteawan, he staggered backward and fell upon the cell cot. He covered his face with his hands and for a time could not be aroused.

Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, the prisoner's mother, and his sister, the former Countess of Yarmouth, were almost overcome at the news. Alice Thaw tried to comfort her mother, but the aged woman, who has battled so long and so untiringly for her son, showed plainly that the decision was a terrible blow to her and she is near a collapse.

FIND COAL FRAUDS IN ALASKA.

Ballinger to Begin Prosecution in Seattle Shortly. Investigations that have been under way for some time—which have been laid before Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and Commissioner Fred Denney of the General Land Office—will unquestionably prove one of the greatest scandals in connection with land fraud investigations ever brought to light by the General Land Office.

It is known that in the valuable coal fields of Alaska many thousands acres of land have been fraudulently filed upon and attempts made to force the department, through financial, political and even social pressure, to patent these lands. Secretary Ballinger and Commissioner Denney have evidence showing unlawful combination of nearly 500 coal entries in Alaska. Commissioner Denney, while in Denver recently, it is understood, said these entries would be canceled. To that end hearings will shortly begin, and the General Land Office has assigned its best coal engineers and lawyers to Seattle to aid in the coming trial.

Several railroad corporations owned in New York, Boston and Philadelphia are making indirect efforts to delay these land hearings, hoping that the next Congress will pass legislation to permit of greater consolidation of coal entries or else pass a curative act legalizing the entries about to be attacked.

House Passes Bill Prohibiting Sale or Shipping of Liquor. In almost a frenzy the House members of the Alabama Legislature on Friday made a violent assault on the sale of intoxicants of all kinds, passing the Fuller bill, beyond question the most drastic ever offered in the South. No place of selling any sort of goods may be called a saloon. Officers may raid any place under suspicion and destroy goods found. The presence of an internal revenue license, whether liquor is found or not, is prima facie evidence of guilt and the proprietor may be arrested.

COM. VAN SANT. H. N. Round, of Rock Island, Ill. The army nurses, composed of survivors of the nurses who labored during the Civil War, elected as president Mrs. Mary T. Lacy, Salt Lake City, and as guard Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman, Illinois.

The encampment ended at night with a fireworks display on Ensign peak. By the close vote of 307 to 293 Atlantic City was chosen over St. Louis as the place for the next encampment, after a spirited fight.

The annual parade, the feature event of the encampment, gave Salt Lake City a martial aspect Wednesday. The Fifth Infantry, U. S. A., from Fort Douglas, took the lead. It was followed by the Utah National Guard and the carriages of the commander-in-chief and distinguished guests. Illinois led the States. Then came Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the rest. The veterans marched down a street 132 feet in width past cheering thousands of spectators. At one point 1,800 school children in red, white and blue robes and caps formed a human fan. The flag joined the parade and followed the veterans to the starting place, where they passed in review before Henry M. Nevius, commander-in-chief.

STREET CAR MEN AGREE TO TERMS IN CHICAGO

Presidents of Two Traction Companies Make Offer Which Union Leaders Call Good.

GAIN OF $1,000,000 IN WAGES

That Much Additional Pay for Employees in Three and a Half Years of Contract.

The wage dispute between Chicago's 10,659 street car employees and the surface traction companies, which a week before resulted in a vote to strike, was practically settled in a big joint conference of traction officials and union leaders Friday night, apparently to the satisfaction of everybody concerned.

John M. Raneh and Thomas E. Mitten offered a wage scale to the men which representatives of the union said they would recommend to their respective organizations for acceptance. It was in the nature of a compromise agreement, applying to the employees of the Railways, City, Calumet and South Chicago and Consolidated companies.

Traction representatives, in company with Walter L. Fisher, representing the city, who was credited with the piloting of the negotiations, estimated in round figures that the offer represents an aggregate additional expenditure in wages of $1,000,000 during the next three and a half years—the term of the proposed contract.

Terms of Proposed Contract.

The contract will run three and a half years, dating from Aug. 1, 1909, and to all old men who have served one year at 27 cents per hour—the old maximum scale—it will grant an immediate increase to 28 cents for the first year of the contract, 29 cents for the second year, and 30 cents for the last eighteen months.

To men who have been in the service less than one year the rate of pay proposed is the same as at present (23 cents for six months, 25 cents for six months, and 27 cents for one year) until they have served a year at 27 cents, when they will begin the climb which the old employees will start as soon as the contract is completed.

New men will progress at the maximum more slowly than at the present. The first six months of employment they will receive 23 cents; the second six months, 24 cents; the second year, 25 cents; the third year, 26 cents, and the last six months, 27 cents.

SHOOTS JUROR; KILLS SELF.

Stranger Wounds Hotel Man Who Helped in Sentencing Him.

Daniel A. Fenton was shot and fatally injured on West Main street in Middletown, N. Y., at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Fenton, who conducted the Hotel Elberton, left his hotel about 2 o'clock. He was followed by a stranger, who tapped him on the shoulder and made a remark. Fenton looked at the stranger, turned and fled. The stranger fired a revolver from his pocket, but missed the fleeing man. He then took up the pursuit and fired two more shots. Fenton fell to the sidewalk and the stranger, after looking at Fenton closely, fired a bullet through his own brain. The stranger did not regain consciousness. On the way to the hospital Fenton said: "It was McSorley. I sat upon a jury that sent him to prison for a long term." Fenton has conducted hotels in San Francisco and Chicago.

Needs Correction

We read a great deal about kleptomaniacs, and argue a good deal about people who have a tendency to take things that do not belong to them as being born with that trait in them and they cannot help it. Nine times out of ten at least it will be found that the habit is an acquired one, beginning back at a very early period in the child's life when it could have been entirely eradicated with a little care on the part of the parents. A great many parents have a peculiar way of looking at such things on the part of their children, and think it real smart or cute. A few days ago while in one of the stores, we saw a girl eight or nine years old standing around, and when the proprietor went into the back room, and she thought no one was looking, she stepped up to the counter, picked up a package of candy he had done up for a customer and coolly walked out as if she had done no wrong. When the proprietor came out his attention was called to it and he merely laughed. The girl should have been followed and made to give up what she had taken, not because of its value but on account of the lesson it would have been to her, not to meddle with other people's belongings.

Primary Election

The total number of votes cast in the county Tuesday shows only a fair degree of interest in the primary election, there being 650 votes cast in the entire county. Here in town the vote was fair. The republicans nominated G. S. Mears for Sheriff, Mrs. Elsie Littell for County Superintendent, R. A. McEachen for county commissioner, James Britton for County Judge, Guy Strickland county surveyor, Alfred Boblander county clerk, J. W. Bartlett assessor for Wayne. The democrats nominated Dan Maher for sheriff, Miss Charlotte White received the nomination for county Supt. of Schools, J. F. Stanton for county commissioner, Charles Reynolds for County Clerk, James Britton for County Judge, Bartels for treasurer. Some of the republicans evidently did not vote where they intended to as James Baker was nominated as County Judge to fill vacancy. Sedgwick, Fawcett and Barnes got the largest number of votes in this county as candidates for State Supreme Court Judges on the republican ticket.

Heat Does Damage

In the part of the state south of the Platte river grain dealers say that great damage has already resulted to the growing corn crop by the continued heat of the last two weeks. In the worst affected districts it is not really on account of lack of moisture in the soil, but the damage is being done by the sun's rays and the wind, the corn being shriveled up to such an extent during the day that the moisture does not travel up from the roots at night fast enough to counteract the heat of the day. In the vicinity of Lincoln and south of there it is said that each day of this warm weather is losing the farmers five per cent. of their crop as compared with last year's yield. North of the Platte river and as far west as Howard county, there has been no serious damage as yet, but west of Howard to the Colorado line the land is fairly burning. So far as we have been able to learn there has been no damage to the growing crop as yet, and it would not seem that there would be, as we have had timely, though not excessive rains all the season, usually one good shower each week, and while the leaves may curl some during the middle of the day it does not look as though damage should result therefrom, as we are having very heavy dews every night.

Omaha Shows a Surplus

The annual report of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road will show a surplus over all expenses of about $250,000. This is an increase over 1908 of $320,437. The total operating revenue of the road was $13,524,649, of which freight traffic contributed about $8,000,000, and passenger about $4,000,000. The balance of the earnings came from incidental resources. The operating expenses of the company were $8,831,228. As the above figures are from the official reports it would seem that the road ought to be able to pay its section men and other employees more of a living wage.

THIS AND THAT

Selfishness and greed have more to do with fixing the prices on the necessities of life than has the tariff.

An exchange asks the question, "Will women marry young?" It is safe to say that most of them will if they get a good chance.

With free hides we ought to have a decrease in the price of shoes but it is a safe thing to say that we will not get it if the manufacturers can help it.

The candidates who had to hustle for the nomination before the primary election will now have to work harder than ever to defeat their opponents on the other ticket, thus making double the expense and amount of work to be done.

Human nature is much the same from one generation to another. It used to be that right meant right but in these times wealth, in the minds of many, seems to make right instead of brute force. It is the same thought expressed in a different form. The utilization of power used without any regard for the rights or feelings of others.

The planet Mars is drawing the nearest to the earth on which we live that it has been in fifty years. It can be seen at its best from twelve to two o'clock at night. That must be the reason so many of our young men are staying out late at night. They have gotten to be star gazers.

The Sioux City Tribune can dish up more mere editorial bosh in its efforts to create sectional prejudice and class hatred than any paper that comes to our exchange table. The east and the west, the north and the south, are each dependent upon the other, and the industries of one part are as essential to the whole as are those of any other portion.

Parents need to exercise extreme caution in regard to what children eat these hot summer days. We read in exchanges nearly every day of death of small children caused by eating too freely of green corn, unripe apples and other articles of food which produce sudden illness. A ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips, who has been at Fremont, Nebraska, for a couple of months, came home Saturday. She says that the account in the Norfolk News of Monday regarding her nearly meeting with an accident was greatly exaggerated. She was not frightened at all but says that she did slip on the wet platform but thinks she could have righted herself without assistance.

You have read of the "babbling" brook that runs on forever and never says anything. That is about the street fair who held forth on the street Friday night and Saturday. He had one ceaseless flow of words, and his methods to dispose of what he had for sale were as smooth as his words. The first one or two purchasers would get the goods and their money back and the rest of the crowd, who fell over themselves to buy, got the ha, ha.

Miss Jennie Mines, a sister of G. J. Mines, and Miss L. Uhlinger, both of Philadelphia, Penn., stopped here Sunday for a visit while on their way for a tour of the west.

J. M. Ross has a fine orchard well laden with fruit this year. He has about a dozen varieties and all kinds are bearing well, the trees bending nearly to the ground with their burdens.

Mrs. Henry Herrell, of Wayne, who is in a hospital at Sioux City, submitted to an operation for appendicitis Monday and is making good progress toward complete recovery.

There is far too much loose paper scattered along the business streets and in the gutters to improve the appearance of the town. A little more care on the part of each one would remedy this.

J. L. Davis and wife left Monday morning for a trip to the Dakotas, going first to Springfield, South Dakota, where Mrs. Davis will visit a sister, and from there J. L. will swing around the circle to various places.

A gentleman by the name of Kimberly, a friend and co-worker of Rev. E. B. Young, occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday morning and told about the work the American Sunday School Union is doing.

The manager of the Bloomfield base ball nine came near dying from sun-stroke Sunday afternoon while playing in a game at his home town. It was only by hard work on the part of the physicians that his life was saved.

The thermometer at Mines' jewelry store indicated 100 degrees in the shade at about 1:15 Monday afternoon. When he heard that, R. Philcox said: "Me for home and the shady porch." Lots of others felt the same way.

That ditching machine employed on the sewer system is attracting a good deal of attention. It certainly does the work neatly and well, cutting a ditch nearly two feet wide and to the depth required as it moves steadily forward.

A primary election law is all right in theory and no doubt would be all right in practice if it could be made more simple and left without alteration until the voters got used to it. Amending and changing any law by every legislature destroys its usefulness. It is safe to say that the voters were never more disgusted over the working of any law than they were over the primary Tuesday as it is now in use. A great many votes were thrown out, they not complying with the law.

Good Game

Wednesday afternoon there was played on the home grounds the best game of ball of the season. The home team met Correctionville, Iowa, and for seven innings neither team got a score, although the visitors had a man on third base several times but good work on the part of the home team kept them from scoring. The home teams found the Correctionville pitcher right along from the first but could not get a safe hit, or a man even to first, until the 7th inning when they got three men over the home plate. In the 8th inning the visitors got one score. Sabs struck out 11 men and passed three and pitched a fine game and was given good support, while the Correctionville man did not pass anyone, but struck out only three men. The score stood as follows at the last half of the 9th inning which was not played.

Wayne	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

The attendance was not what it ought to have been. If you are interested in having a team of baseball here show it by your presence, and do not stay outside the fence either, but pay your money and help keep things going. The same teams will play on the home diamond this afternoon. Game called at 3:30.

How to Kill the Weeds
 (Chicago Post.)

Government bulletins have made farmers familiar for some time with the fact that their fields might be sprayed with a solution which would kill the weeds and spare the grain. This information, however, has not reached the suburban commuter who wakes up to find his green lawn turned to a field of the cloth of gold. In the ensuing battle, according to a writer in the Irrigation Age, the resident of suburbia can, with the help of a cheap spraying machine, save himself much backache in vanquishing his intruders.

A mixture of water and sulphate of iron, in the proportions of one gallon of water to two pounds of iron, will do the business, it is said. The principle is simple enough. Practically all the weeds have broad, rough leaves, which hold the poison, while the smooth, slim blades of grass do not. Sometimes the grass will blacken slightly, but this passes off with subsequent growth and mowing, while the weeds are hopelessly done for. Says the writer:

There are, of course, some weeds that cannot be affected without injury to the grain or grass, but the most prevalent of the 'vagrant' weeds, such as false flax, wormseed mustard, tumbling mustard, common wild mustard, shepherd's purse, peppergrass, ball mustard, cockle, chick weed, dandelion, Canada thistle, blind weed, plantain, rough pig weed, kinghead, Red River weed, rag weed and cocklebur, can all be controlled, and in nearly every case entirely eradicated, by careful and systematic spraying.

This should not be taken as a lazy man's device, but a good, rough way of cleaning out a bad patch without hurting the grass. Once cleared-out, let the peaceful clover hold the ground thus gained.

Rev. Fr. Rabe, of Bloomfield, Nebraska, and Rev. G. V. Nussbaum, of Emerson, will assist Rev. J. H. Karpenstein at his Mission-fest services next Sunday forenoon and afternoon. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold
 A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success. Felber Pharmacy."

that way, scummed and then into one of its hands went into the pan of hot water, scalding the hand and wrist quite severely.
 The Wayne base ball nine went to Dixon, Nebraska, Saturday afternoon to play the Newcastle ball swatters for a purse of $60, and were defeated by a score of 6 to 1. The day was a very hot one, which seemed to have a depressing effect upon the Wayneites, they not seeming to have their usual amount of ginger in the game. The Newcastle team are hard batters, however, having defeated Ponca, the day before 8 to 0.
 The Adams Evangelistic Company that had been holding a series of protracted meetings in the opera house in Wayne for a couple of weeks, with a view of establishing a church of the Christian denomination here, gave up the effort Friday evening and went back to Wakefield, and will not try it again for the present at least. The weather was too extremely hot all the time they were here to create any enthusiasm in the work.

Iowa, having driven across the country in an automobile that day. They came for a visit with his sister, Mrs. A. N. Matheny, and his brother, Robt. Mellor, and their families. The roads are fine now for automobile, but the heat in the middle of the day was not so pleasant.

Badly Injured
 The fifteen year old son of Herman Echtenkemp, living north of town on route 4, met with a bad accident Tuesday afternoon. He was assisting in stacking grain and in some manner was thrown under the wheels of a heavily loaded wagon by the restless team he was driving, and the wheels passed directly across his chest just below his neck, injuring him seriously. It is hard to tell what the result will be, so says Dr. Whitman, the attending physician, as a continual internal hemorrhage indicates internal injuries of a serious nature at least.

Every farmer ought to provide some shade for the cattle in the pastures. Either a grove or sheds which they can get underneath from the hot rays of the midsummer sun in the middle of the day. A Rare Case

During the past week Dr. Williams successfully removed a tape worm over thirty feet in length from little Gordie White, aged only three years. The doctor says that the child's eating uncooked pork was the cause of her having the tape worm. Worms as long or longer have frequently been taken from grown people but such growths in young children are rarely known.

The natural colored linen is of a most up-to-date cut, showing the bolero, and the long waist. Ecru all-over embroidery is used for the bolero, and tucked net for the yoke. The way the long black silk tie is brought in, with its braided ends, is effective.

A Smile from a Stranger. Most of us owe debts of gratitude to strangers whose kindly smiles have soothed into our aching hearts, and has given us courage when we were disheartened.

It is a great thing to go through life with a smiling face. It costs little, but who can ever estimate its value?

Think how the pleasure of life would be increased if we met smiling faces everywhere—faces which radiate hope, sunshine and cheer! What a joy it would be to travel in a gallery of living pictures radiating hope and courage!

Who can estimate what beautiful smiling faces mean to the wretched and the downcast—those whose life burdens are crushing them? Many of us carry precious memories of smiling faces which we glimpsed but once, but whose sweet, uplifting expression will remain with us forever.—Success Magazine.

BAD DREAMS

Caused by Coffee. "I have been a coffee drinker, more or less, ever since I can remember, until a few months ago I became more and more nervous and irritable, and finally I could not sleep at night, for I was horribly disturbed by dreams of all sorts and a species of distressing nightmares.

Finally, after hearing the experience of numbers of friends who had quit coffee and were drinking Postum, and learning of the great benefits they had derived, I concluded coffee must be the cause of my trouble, so I got some Postum and had it made, strictly according to directions.

"I was astonished at the flavor and taste. It entirely took the place of coffee, and to my very great satisfaction, I began to sleep peacefully and sweetly. My nerves improved, and I wish I could wave every man, woman and child from the unwholesome drug—ordinary coffee.

"People really do not appreciate or realize what a powerful drug it is and what terrible effect it has on the human system. It they did, hardly a pound of it would be sold. I would never think of going back to coffee again. I would almost as soon think of putting my hand in a fire after I had once been burned.

"A young lady friend of ours had stomach trouble for a long time, and would not get well as long as she used coffee. She finally quit coffee and began the use of Postum and is now perfectly well. Yours for health."

What Gold Cannot Buy

By MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "A Crooked Path," "Maid, Wife or Widow," "By Woman's Wit," "Boston's Bargain," "A Life Interest," "Mona's Choice," "A Woman's Heart."

CHAPTER VII. Richard Saville was not a favorite with his mother, though he had never given her the least trouble. He was a tall, slight young man, but there was no dignity in his height, for it was neutralized by a stoop conveying the impression that he had not strength enough to hold himself upright. His manners were cold, though gentle, and he gave a general impression of languid circulation and extreme correctness. He had inherited something of the Saville indifference to everything save his own peculiar tastes or fancies, and a good deal of his uncle Everson's obtuseness as regarded personal distinction. His keen-sighted mother soon perceived that his first-born would never fulfill her ambitious aspirations, and this contributed to her strong preference for her younger son, on whose career she had built her hopes, though his choice of a profession had greatly annoyed her. Hugh had inherited all the plebeian energy which made his maternal grandfather a wealthy and useful member of the community, and he cared little for any personal distinction not earned by himself. Nature intended him for a radical, and the accidents of birth and early association gave him certain aristocratic leanings, which made him a tolerably round-minded man.

He and his brother were excellent friends, in spite of the low estimate each had of the other's tastes. The arrival of Richard was, on the whole, an agreeable change in the routine of life at Ingfield. He soon discovered that Hope Desmond was a sympathetic listener; he therefore confided to her the great scheme he had conceived of compiling a book to contain all the English phrases and proverbs that were distinctly derived from the Anglo-Saxon, and he soon grew sufficiently familiar to ask if Miss Desmond would be so good as to assist him in his work, whenever his mother could spare her.

"I will do so with pleasure, Mr. Saville," she returned, in her frank, fearless way. "But you must ask your mother's permission, and before me, she is a person not to be trifled with." "I know that," he said, hastily, "and I will do so on the first opportunity." Which he did, in a nervous, hesitating way.

"Who cares for Saxon phrases?" replied Mrs. Saville, contemptuously. "Miss Desmond would be more usefully employed making flannel petticoats for my poor old woman. However, if she chooses to bestow some of her spare half-hours on your investigation of such a dust-heap, I am sure she has my consent."

Hope Desmond's time was pretty well occupied, for she had come to be secretary as well as companion to her active employer; still, she gave Richard and Saville what parings of time she could, and, if occasionally bored, was not a little amused at the profound importance she attached to his work.

But Richard Saville's presence entailed other changes. Captain Lumley found it suited him to ride over very often to luncheon, and sometimes to dinner, staying the night, almost without a distinct invitation from the hostess, who seemed to think two young fledglings beneath her notice. Young Lumley did his best to attract Hope's notice, and flattered himself that she smiled upon him.

"So you have really managed to survive—how long—five weeks under my aunt's jurisdiction?" he said, having discovered Hope with a book in her hand in one of the shady nooks of the garden one day after luncheon.

"I have, and without any difficulty," she returned, making room for him on the seat beside her, as she greeted him with a kindly smile. He readily accepted the place, thinking he had already made an impression. "Mrs. Saville has been very nice and pleasant. If she were not I would not stay."

"Pleasant! Come, that's a little too much. She is an uncommonly bright woman, I know, but it's in the flash-of-lightning style, and lightning sometimes kills, you know."

"Well, she hasn't killed me."

"No, I fancy you take a great deal of killing. Perhaps that's because you are so killing yourself."

"Oh, Captain Lumley! that is a style of compliment you might offer to a barmaid. It is not worthy of a gallant—what are you—husar!" said Hope, laughing good-humoredly.

"You have taken a leaf out of Mrs. Saville's book," cried Lumley, while he thought, "What teeth she has—regular pearls!" "If you are as hard on me as she is," he continued, aloud, "I shall not be able to live here."

The difference between a snare and a curb, "and, considering her gifts, I am not surprised that Mrs. Saville would have liked her for a daughter-in-law. How much, according to her estimate, her son appears to have thrown away!"

Miss Dacre naturally fell into Hope Desmond's care. "How charming the conservatory looks!" she said. "Shall we walk round it?" Hope assented, not aware of the curiosity she excited in the future Baroness Castleton. That Mrs. Saville should institute a conservatory was one source of astonishment; that any one so chosen should survive nearly two months and present a cheerful, self-possessed, composed aspect was another. "And how nice she looks in that pretty soft black grenadine and lace! How snowy white her throat and hands are! I suppose she is in mourning. Girls never want to be companions unless all their people die. Poor Gling! I think I would rather be a housemaid; at least one might flirt with the footman; but a companion—"

"I don't think I ever met you here before," she said, aloud. "No; I am not quite two months with Mrs. Saville."

"Poor Mrs. Saville! she is looking so ill. They say she is rather a terrific woman. I always found her very nice."

"She is a strong woman, but there is a certain grandeur in her character."

"Yes, and I fancy one must be pretty strong to get on with her," said Miss Dacre, and she gave a knowing little nod to her companion. "Then she is so awfully put out about Hugh. You came after he had gone."

Hope bent her head as an affirmative. "He was charming, quite charming—so different from Richard—though I like Richard, too; but Hugh had a sort of rough good breeding, if you can understand such a thing; he was so generous and bright and natural. I knew both the brothers since I was quite a child, so I can sympathize with Mrs. Saville. To think of his having married some designing woman abroad, twice his age, I believe! Isn't it horrible!"

"Horrible," echoed Hope. "I trust she is conscious of all he has sacrificed for her."

"Not she," returned Miss Dacre with decision. "These sort of people haven't an idea what family and position, and all that, mean. Do you think Mrs. Saville would mind if I plucked some of these lovely waxen blossoms?"

"I am sure she would not; but you know her much better than I do. Wait a moment; I will get you the scissors." (To be continued.)

WHAT THE BIRDS SAY.

They All Utter Words if You Can Only Hear Them. Perhaps, in that happy time of year when over the mountainside and amid Robert of Lincoln is telling his name, not everybody understood his remarks until William Cullen Bryant listened and reported them: "Bobolink! Bobolink! Spink, spank, spink!"

Everybody understands them now, of course; indeed, it seems that Bobolink's call is scarcely less familiar in its interpretation than that of the other feathered Robert who proclaims himself so plainly by his name, "Bob White! Bob White!" or that of the little quack husband who so persistently announces his shy drab wife in a long-drawn, anxious "Phoe-be-be!"

Not every bird, however, speaks so clearly. Many a sweet spring call suggests words, but never, to duller ears, quite differs them until some one with the fairy gift of so many old legends—the gift of understanding the speech of bird and beast—comes to interpret them. Sometimes it is a poet, less often a scientist, occasionally a child. Such an interpreter is Miss Isabel Goodhue, whose lips can catch and render bird-calls like a bird, and whose quick ears lose no hidden message.

The red-eyed vireo, for instance, she always hears encouraging his lady-love to join in his music.

"Deary!" he coaxes melodiously. "Deary! Sing it! Try it! Please do! You know it, deary!"

The gas-vented goldfinch, flitting fellow, tells little Mrs. Finch his opinion of her charms over and over: "Sweet, sweet, sweet! Sweet as you can be! You're a chip, chip, chip! Sweet, sweet!"

In Maryland there is a dash of dainty impudence in the dattery of the yellowthroats: "Little white! Little white! Little white! You're sweet!"

Down in Florida the gorgeous cardinal seems to think that somebody needs comforting—perhaps a homeseek traveler, perhaps their mates less splendidly attired. From the thick foliage speeds a flash of scarlet and a sweet cry: "Dear girl, dear girl, dear girl! Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!"

Love-talk among the birds—who but the birds taught other lovers to bill and coo?—is natural enough; yet there are birds who do not talk of love. Some are more interested in the professions. "Law! Law!" croaks the black-robed crow, with harsh insistence. "Law! Law! Oshaw! More law!"

The song-sparrow, a pert little rogue which one might suppose too frivolous for plety, cries excitedly between whisks of his saucy tail: "See, see! I think, I think, I think I see the preacher!"

WISDOM AND INNOCENCE.

Some women have singularly airy ideas about banking accounts. There are, even among the young, who do not know how to write a check. This failure to comprehend business is essentially old-fashioned. The typical man of old prided himself on not allowing his wife any knowledge of affairs, so that, when he died she was confronted with a sea of complications which she did not know how to navigate, or else two unfortunate trustees were tacked on to the helpless ship in the guise of pilots and told to steer it into the port of safety.

Yet the situation, if absurd, was illogical, for you can not reasonably insist on the innocence of the dove and the wisdom of a serpent. Women should be allowed some knowledge of family business, or they should not be blamed when things go wrong.

Hygienic Dress. On the subject of hygienic attire for women, there has always been a great deal of honest nonsense talked and much mispent trouble taken for the reason that a great number of people have the type of mind that irresistibly associates the ugly with the healthy and the nauseous with the wholesome. Just as they think medicine cannot be efficacious unless it is thick and black and nasty, so they think women cannot breathe and prosper unless they look like a bale of hay with the middle hoop cut, and in pursuance of this conviction they refuse many of the alleviations of life, among which sugar-coated pills and well-made corsets should take high rank.

When looking at the portraits of the Spanish school of which Velasquez is master, one is constantly struck by the way the women seem to be confined in some barbaric instrument of torture, so flat are their chests and so narrow and tiny the uncomfortable-looking drawn-down waist. Surely no material less rigid than wood could be trusted to produce this invariable effect in women of all ages and degrees. Now turn from these women of medieval days to a modern picture-gallery, and observe the freedom, the individuality, the graceful ease which, for the most part, the woman of today permits herself, and is permitted.

The big crin hats, turned up at the side and trimmed with feathers, promise to be the ultra-smart millinery style for the summer, both in the black and the pure white.

Ideal summer hats are made of linen or shantung silk to match the gowns with which they will be worn. The favorite shapes are those which have fairly high crowns and wide, shady brims, lined underneath with some contrasting tint and draped with a soft silk scarf, patterned with Paisley colorings.

More of what are known as "made hats" are being worn this season than for several years past. These are not confined to the dressy type, but round hats of the street and tailor made variety are fashioned of straw braid, sewed on a wire frame. While they are much heavier than the woven straws worn at present, they are more apt to keep their shape.

The round crowned, drooping brimmed mushroom hat of the babies grown to more imposing size is one of the most popular shapes for the girls from 6 to 10 and varies in width and angle of brim and in trimming. Many of the play hats in this shape have only a ribbon band and fluttering ends for trimming, but others are more elaborately trimmed.

Health and Beauty Hints. Deep breathing has much to do with having a good figure. If the chest is flat and contracted, as must be if the lungs are not filled, a woman cannot make a good appearance.

The temperature of a heated bedroom on a hot summer night can be cooled if sheets are wrung out of water and hung between two windows. The evaporation will cause the temperature to fall several degrees.

Headache caused by fatigue or eyestrain can often be quickly cured if a wet cloth is lightly sprinkled with spirits of menthol and bound around the head. Lie down in a dark room and inhale the fumes. It brings relief almost instantly.

To make cucumber cold cream take juice of pressed cucumbers, one-half pint; deodorized alcohol, one and one-half ounces; sweet almond oil, three and one-half ounces; shaping cream, one dram; and bleached almonds, one and three-quarter drams.

Scented milk for the skin is recommended by those who study beauty scientifically. The milk must be boiled and then a few drops of violet water added. The fluid must be rubbed into face, neck and arms thoroughly and permitted to dry. Then the rubbing must be renewed. To steam the face with hot milk makes it soft and white as an infant's.

Complexion Soap. One of the best cleansers for the skin and excellent for pimples and blackheads is green soap. This has been long recognized as a healing agency and is less well known than it should be. Occasionally women complain that the soap makes them worse. The reason is that they use it too vigorously. Delicate, sensitive skin should never have green soap put on it full strength. It should be diluted with hot water and not used every day. Experiment until the soap lather does not make the skin feel drawn.

Ring Information. "Rings should be chosen with discretion," says a woman who has made a study of the subject. "Few women, for instance, can wear a large solitaire diamond ring, which requires as a background the whitest of dimpled hands. The antique, old Venetian and marquise rings look best on thin hands with long fingers, the sunken places below the enlarged knuckles requiring to be filled out with rings of a stowy type."

Unusual are some of the French chevrons which show the Roman stripe effect. A tablet has lately been placed in St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, England, in memory of an old nurse, thirty-nine years in the service of the Wigram household.

A savings-bank account, with an opening deposit of 1 mark, is presented by the municipality to every baby

WOMAN WHO HAS LEARNED TO WALK GRACEFULLY FINDS A REACTION ON HER NERVOUS SYSTEM.

A new calmness and self-control show in her manner and face, and even more in her voice, for those delicate muscles which we call the vocal chords vibrate in harmony with the movement of the individual. The round crowned, drooping brimmed mushroom hat of the babies grown to more imposing size is one of the most popular shapes for the girls from 6 to 10 and varies in width and angle of brim and in trimming. Many of the play hats in this shape have only a ribbon band and fluttering ends for trimming, but others are more elaborately trimmed.

Health and Beauty Hints. Deep breathing has much to do with having a good figure. If the chest is flat and contracted, as must be if the lungs are not filled, a woman cannot make a good appearance.

The temperature of a heated bedroom on a hot summer night can be cooled if sheets are wrung out of water and hung between two windows. The evaporation will cause the temperature to fall several degrees.

Headache caused by fatigue or eyestrain can often be quickly cured if a wet cloth is lightly sprinkled with spirits of menthol and bound around the head. Lie down in a dark room and inhale the fumes. It brings relief almost instantly.

To make cucumber cold cream take juice of pressed cucumbers, one-half pint; deodorized alcohol, one and one-half ounces; sweet almond oil, three and one-half ounces; shaping cream, one dram; and bleached almonds, one and three-quarter drams.

Scented milk for the skin is recommended by those who study beauty scientifically. The milk must be boiled and then a few drops of violet water added. The fluid must be rubbed into face, neck and arms thoroughly and permitted to dry. Then the rubbing must be renewed. To steam the face with hot milk makes it soft and white as an infant's.

Complexion Soap. One of the best cleansers for the skin and excellent for pimples and blackheads is green soap. This has been long recognized as a healing agency and is less well known than it should be. Occasionally women complain that the soap makes them worse. The reason is that they use it too vigorously. Delicate, sensitive skin should never have green soap put on it full strength. It should be diluted with hot water and not used every day. Experiment until the soap lather does not make the skin feel drawn.

Ring Information. "Rings should be chosen with discretion," says a woman who has made a study of the subject. "Few women, for instance, can wear a large solitaire diamond ring, which requires as a background the whitest of dimpled hands. The antique, old Venetian and marquise rings look best on thin hands with long fingers, the sunken places below the enlarged knuckles requiring to be filled out with rings of a stowy type."

Buried Treasure in Morocco.
In Morocco it is customary for a man to bury most of his riches in a place known only to himself. This custom is practiced by all Moors, for they cannot trust them directly it was known where the money was.
At the death of the head of a family in Morocco, digging operations commence at once, but seldom is the money discovered. There must be many fortunes buried away in odd corners of the country. An instance came under the writer's notice at one of the coast towns. During the demolition of a house a considerable sum of money was found built into the wall.

DISCOURAGED WOMEN.

A Word of Hope for Despairing Ones.
Kidney trouble makes weak, weary, worn women. Backache, hip pains, dizziness, headaches, nervousness, languor, urinary troubles, make women suffer and feel that nothing is being done for them. Allowing the kidneys are the cause. Cure them. Mrs. Irene Tudor, 118 N. Clagg St., Bellefontaine, Ohio, says: "I thought my trouble incurable, as I suffered so long with kidney complaint. I had sharp agonizing pains and terrible urinary trouble. I was tired and depressed and nothing seemed to help me. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief and soon effected a complete cure."

A Well-Known Type of Oratory.
At a luncheon in Boston, Leonard O'Reilly, who is perhaps the most powerful orator among the American anti-fracas, was complimented on her eloquence.

"It is my splendid subject," said Miss O'Reilly, modestly. "That makes me seem to speak well. My subject affords me many telling things to say, and I talk them simply. That is all."
"I try to avoid," she resumed, "the sort of oratory that marks the average political campaign. That is frightful. One night on the East Side I saw a workman I knew longing in the doorway of a public hall, and from inside came a continuous and earnest belting."
"Do you know who's speaking?" I asked my friend. "Or haven't you been in?"
"Oh, yes, I've been in," said he. "A semiblack is speaking."
"What about?" I inquired.
"My friend sighed and shook his head.
"He didn't say," he answered.

The Adventurous Felina.
"Hello, is this the electric-light company? Do you take cats down?—yes, cats. She is on a pole, and crying just terribly. She must have been up there a week, for she's just as thin!—What?—Oh, this is Fifty-ninth avenue. A big cat is lurking at her, too, and she's what street? Why, I don't know; I don't live on this street, do I?—Oh, yes, of course!—Bristol street, the drugist says. Oh, why you?—You are so good! And a man just said she is playing with the transformer and might short-circuit herself, or something. Well, thank you very much. I am so glad. Good-by!"—Success Magazine.

HOUSEHOLD

Corn Fritters.
Take twelve small ears of corn, free them from all silk, cut the grains down the center, and scrape all the corn and milk off the cob; add two tablespoons of flour, two eggs well beaten, pepper and salt to taste, and mix the whole well together. Put a tablespoon of this mixture at a time in a frying pan with hot lard or butter; when brown, turn them and serve them hot. If the corn is large it will require three eggs; if very milky, a little extra flour. It should be thicker than pancake batter; a hot fire will cook them in five minutes. They are excellent for breakfast, and may be mixed the night before. If wanted for dessert put in sugar instead of salt and pepper, and serve with your favorite sauce.

Preserved Green Grapes.
Steam and wash the green grapes, put them in a porcelain-lined kettle and pour boiling water over them. Leave this on for only a minute to loosen the skins, then drain. To each quart of grapes add a cup of water, return to the fire and boil until tender. Strain the fruit and measure the pulp, and add to it two-thirds as much sugar as there is pulp. Put into the preserving kettle and boil gently for about fifteen minutes more, taking care that the sugar and fruit do not scorch. Skim frequently while boiling. Pour into glass jars while seal.

Creamed Celery.
Wash and scrape one bunch of celery, cut in half-inch pieces, and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and reduce the water to one cup. Melt four level tablespoons of butter, and three level tablespoons of flour, three-fourths level teaspoon of salt and one-eighth level teaspoon of pepper. Stir until blended and add gradually the cup of water in which the celery was cooked and one cup of hot milk. Stir until thick and smooth; strain over the celery, heat thoroughly and serve.

Diced Liver.
One pound of calf's or lamb's liver, one-half pound of bacon; cover with water and simmer very gently for two hours, or until thoroughly tender. Drain and cut in small cubes, return these to the fire and cook for ten minutes, seasoning with salt and pepper and tossing frequently, that they may brown lightly and evenly. Serve on strips of hot buttered toast, moistened with the liquor in which the meat was cooked. Chille or Worcester-shire sauce should be offered with this savory supper dish.

Cream Cheese.
Allow a pinch of salt and a tea spoonful of unflavored rennet to every quart of milk, and when you have a solid curd turn into a bag and let it drip. It may have to hang for a day before the whey ceases to drip from it, but when this stage is reached take the curd out, chop it fine, put into a cheese box or in tin foil. Change bag at end of twelve hours should the curd take that length of time to drip.

Tomato Salad.
Peel and slice rather thick three to six stalks of celery, chop fine, add a small onion and an eighth of a onion pepper. Sprinkle these over the sliced tomatoes and add French dressing.

Cough Fritters.
Peel and slice in halves peaches not overripe. Soak with sugar, then roll in regular fritter batter, powdered macarons or fine stale cake crumbs. Fry in deep fat and drain and roll in powdered sugar.

Short Suggestions.
Keep your young onions, radishes and lettuce in ice-cold water before serving.
Bright sunshine will remove scorch which has been made by using an over-heated iron.
Milk that is a trifle "blinky" can be used for cooking purposes if a little soda is added to sweeten it.
Put cherries in tin vessels and cover with water, keeping them in a cool place until a convenient time to cook them.
Cut the black marks from string beans. They are not earth "rust" marks, but the effect of destroying bugs eating the vegetables.
Hot water assists in paring small potatoes or peaches. Pour water over them, let stand for a few minutes and the skins can be rubbed off.
It is said that a teaspoonful of salt and one of pulverized soap added to every two cupfuls of starch will give a fine glaze to the starched clothes.
Biting placed in pans of water, set about for little chickens to drink will cure the gapes. Red pepper or pepper seeds can be put into the water for the same purpose.
The most convenient and cheapest of all disinfectants to use in the cellar is quicklime. It may be placed in dishes, in bins or cupboards, or scattered loose in dark, damp corners.
Save all the tissue paper, whether torn or not. It is useful for cleaning mirrors, plate glass and table glassware. Spoons can be cleaned with dry tissue paper that has been dipped in whitening.
In selecting a pure linen tablecloth, if you are no judge of linen, moisten the goods with the tongue, and if a damp spot appears on the opposite side you may rest assured the linen is good. If not, the moisture would be long in penetrating the weave.
Rhubarb is sometimes stewed with raisins or with prunes. One housewife's favorite way of making this dish is to add to a quart of stewed and sweetened rhubarb half a pound of stewed but unswweetened prunes. Boil a moment or two and cool. Serve cold.

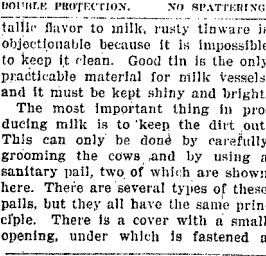

AGRICULTURAL

Sanitary Milk Pails.
Much the larger proportion of milk is carried in wide-topped, uncovered pails from the cow to the strainer, a distance of 25 to 100 feet, across a cowyard, under a hay loft, or past a manure pile, thus exposing a large surface of warm milk, which absorbs all kinds of undesirable odors and collects dirt and dust.

Galvanized iron is something used for milk pails, but it is not best, for the rough surfaces afford hiding places for bacteria. Wooden vessels should not be used for holding milk, for it is almost impossible to keep them clean. Besides imparting a metallic flavor to milk, rusty tinware is objectionable because it is impossible to keep it clean. Good tin is the only practicable material for milk vessels, and it must be kept shiny and bright.

The most important thing in producing milk is to keep the dirt out. This can only be done by carefully grooming the cows and by using a sanitary pail, two of which are shown here. There are several types of these pails, but they all have the same principle. There is a cover with a small opening, under which is fastened a

SUBSTITUTE FOR GATE.

There are places where a common everyday gate is an utter nuisance and where a turnstile or some other gate substitute or contrivance is particularly convenient and welcome. With the arrangement herewith illustrated the gateway is always closed to animals, but men may pass through it without difficulty. The accompanying drawing will give a clear idea of the plan. The sketch is made to represent a very small gate, but to answer all purposes the wing panels and gate perhaps should be half a rod in length.

cheese-cloth strainer. The one with the spout strains the milk as it enters the pail, and also as it is poured out.

Farm and Home.

This is a Stock Food.
Stock of all kinds greatly polish the plants of the Russian thistle, which has fairly jumped out of the ground since the rains, and our Eastern plagues are rampant with it. Why not make hay of it? So palatable is the hay to cattle that they leave green pasture and break through fences to devour this obnoxious and outlawed weed if it is cut and stacked before the red-dish tinge comes on to the plant, which occurs about the middle of July. Many of our Colorado people have used Russian thistle for forage for several years, and some of them say that it is as good as alfalfa. In a recent analysis the Russian thistle analyzed as follows: Protein, 17.95; ether extract, 2.61; ash, 21.98; crude fiber, 20.14, and carbo-hydrates, 36.32. All over Eastern Colorado there is a lamentable shortage of protein feed-stuff. Corn, corn stalks, straw, millet, Kaffir and prairie hay are all long on starch matter, but short on protein. In the thistle we have a crop that grows on the arid reaches which will not only yield a large amount of forage, but a very palatable one at that, and a crop that is rich in the two elements in which others are deficient.—Field and Farm.

Saw Rate Freight an Egg.
After an investigation covering two weeks, William Krohbach of Dauby, Pa., has learned the reason he has been receiving only two or three eggs a day from his flock of sixty hens, and incidentally found out something about the inventive capacity of rats.
One morning he heard a noise in his chicken house, and quietly making his way there, he saw two big rats in the act of making away with a newly-laid egg. One of the rodents was lying flat on its back with the egg tightly clutched in its four paws, while the other rat was dragging it along by the tail. Krohbach was so impressed by the sight that he watched the rodents for three minutes, during which time they carried the egg for twenty yards along the fence until they came to a hole in the ground, into which they took the egg. One of the rats became tired while carrying the egg and changed places with its fellow.

Ventilating Stables.
Horses and cows are in the stable at night for rest. When the weather is warm the atmosphere in close confinement becomes very warm and oppressive, so much so that the animals become very uncomfortable, and hence fall to get proper rest. The horse that does not get proper rest is not in a good condition for heavy work the following day, and the cow that does not sleep in a cool, restful place in hot weather will not give a full flow of milk. The temperature of the work-lag or producing animal must be kept normal to give best results. If there are no windows in your stables, cut out a number now and let light and fresh air come for the health and comfort of the animals. There is nothing like plenty of good fresh air in living and sleeping rooms, whether the rooms be for the occupancy of man or of farm animals. This holds good for both winter and summer.

Grain Ration for Swine.
It is much the best economy to furnish swine a grain ration when they are of pasture, as it results in better gains and a better product. One man estimates that it takes from one-half to one-third less corn on alfalfa pasture than on a straight grain ration to make a hog ready for market. Many let the hogs run on alfalfa until about five or six months old, by which time they reach a weight of 75 to 125 pounds, feeding just a little grain; then they feed heavily for about two months and sell the hogs at eight months old weighing 200 to 220 pounds. One farmer who raises about a thousand hogs a year and who in one year sold $11,200 worth, makes a practice of growing his hogs on alfalfa pasture until about eight months old, feeding one ear of corn per head daily. He then feeds heavily on corn for a month or two and sells at an average weight of 200 to 225 pounds. Another man feeds all the corn and stop the pigs will clean up, all the while grazing them on alfalfa pasture, and sells at six to eight months old at weights of 250 to 300 pounds. Another, who raises about a thousand head a year, feeds all the corn the pigs will eat, beginning shortly after weaning and continuing until the hogs are sold at ten to eleven months old, averaging 275 pounds.

Another farmer, from weaning time (two months old) until eight months old, feeds the pigs nothing but dry corn on alfalfa pasture, averaging about one-half gallon of corn (3 1/2 pounds) a day per head. At the end of eight months he sells at an average weight of 250 pounds.—Cornell's Swine in America.

Spraying Experiments.
Experiments with fungicides upon potatoes have been carried on at the Vermont Experiment Station for eighteen years. Experiments made recently were designed particularly to determine the relative gain from spraying potatoes with bordeaux mixture and paris green, comparing the results from two, three and four applications. Two applications of bordeaux mixture made in August proved less efficient in checking the flea beetle and early blight than where other applications were made, particularly the spraying made in early July. The increase in marketable tubers for the sprayed over the unsprayed lots varies from 52 to 172 per cent.

Kerosene Emulsion.
Here is a recipe for kerosene emulsion: Hard soap, half pound; boiling water, 1 gallon; coal oil, 2 gallons. Dissolve the soap in the water, pour in the coal oil and churn or beat together briskly with a paddle for at least ten minutes. Dilute from ten to twenty-five times before applying. Use it strong for scale insects. Kerosene emulsion destroys insects which suck, such as plant lice, red spiders, etc. It will also kill cabbage worms, caterpillars, and all insects with soft bodies.

Bordeaux Mixture.
The Bordeaux mixture is the proper remedy to use for all fungous troubles, viz., mildew and rust of beans; potato and tomato rot and leaf-blight; melon and cucumber diseases; celery leaf-blight and rust, etc. The half-strength mixture (two pounds copper sulphate, two pounds quicklime, fifty gallons of water) is strong enough to use in the vegetable garden, except for potatoes.

Utilizing Farm Waste.
Dr. Wiley, the chemist of the Department of Agriculture is making some interesting experiments at Washington in turning farm waste into wood alcohol, to be used as fuel and for manufacturing purposes. His experiments so far have been confined to corn and potatoes, but fodder is to be tried.

IN AGONY WITH ECZEMA.
Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Bleeding, Torturing Humors—Hair All Fell Out—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering—in Despair—Cured by Cuticura.

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered by whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the Blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. Mrs. Wm. Huff, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Making History.
When Kinglake was writing his history of the Crimean war he received letters from all sorts of people concerned in the war. One day a letter with a deep black border came from two people in the colonies, husband and wife, describing their grief. Their only child had been killed in the Crimea. They wanted to have his name mentioned in the "History of the Crimean War." Kinglake was touched and replied by post that he would do his best if they would send him the necessary particulars. Again a letter, also black bordered, full of thanks, but with the following conclusion: "We have no particulars whatever to give you. He was killed on the spot, like many others, but anything you may kindly invent will be welcome. We leave it entirely to your imagination."—London Chronicle.

Curious Mourning Custom.
A curious mourning custom obtains among Central Australians, who, although representing perhaps the lowest and most degraded type of human beings, have managed to evolve a most complex system of rites and ceremonies, which govern almost every action of their lives. When a husband dies the widow paints herself all over with white pigment, and for the space of a year must not exhibit herself to a male member of the tribe on pain of death. For the rest of her life, unless she marries again, which is sometimes allowed, she must not speak, but communicates with the other women by means of a sign language, consisting of movements of the hands and fingers, which has been developed by these savages to a marvelous extent, and by which their limited stock of ideas can be fully expressed.—Dundee Advertiser.

Intellect Ruled by Superstition.
A man more absolutely governed by pure reason than Lord Macaulay could not well be found, but in his diary he refers to an after-dinner talk about the feeling which Johnson had of thinking one's self bound to touch a particular rail or post and to tread in the middle of a paving stone, and he adds: "I certainly have this very strongly."

The library of John Brown, M. P., fills three small rooms. As a boy he sacrificed himself to collect books.

Autos Might Be Cheaper.
A suit that has been brought against three members of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers. The defendants are the Locomobile Company of America, the George N. Pierce Company of Buffalo, and the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing Company of Syracuse. They are accused by the Flint Automobile Company of Flint, Mich., of compelling the latter to go out of business by threatening suits against its customers for alleged infringement of a patent. This action is brought under the Sherman anti-trust law, and it is charged that the auto companies formed an association in 1903 including 70 per cent of the persons or firms in the automobile trade to raise and maintain artificially the price of gasoline automobiles, and to regulate and restrict artificially the output of such automobiles and the trade and commerce therein. The Flint company declares that it was not infringing on any patent, and that the threats against it were made solely to drive it out of business. The outcome of the case is being watched with great interest. Leslie's Weekly asserts, and it is said that if the alleged combination is broken up the prices of automobiles will be reduced.

The Snobs Rebuked.
Mrs. William Ellis Corey was describing, at a luncheon at the Plaza, the Park school where, with the help of Isadora Duncan and Jean de Reszke, she trains little children for the stage. "I think such work," said Mrs. Corey, "is better than a life of mere social frivolity. American society, you know, even the best of it, is so apt to be snobbish. So often, after listening to the twaddle at a tea or a reception, I feel like getting up to go with old Omar Fitzgerald's remark.
"Fitzgerald, the translator of the Rubayyat, called one night at a house where a very snobbish conversation was going on. He sat an hour in an uncomfortable silence. He wanted to talk about poetry and music, plays and pictures, but instead he had to listen to snobbish boasting about what the duke had said, and the baron had answered, and how gracious the princess had been. Finally he rose to go. He shook hands with his hostess, and then he turned to the assembled guests and said sadly, shaking his head:
"I once knew a lord, too; but he's dead."
"seemed Most Fitting."

Adventure with the Kohinoor.
The Lawrence brothers, Henry and John, who occupied important posts in the government of India, and who were men of resource and integrity, had at one time the custody of one of the most famous diamonds in the world, the "The Lawrence's of the Punjab." F. P. Gibbon gives the story as evidence of the simplicity of the brothers in affairs; which, by many, would be considered matters of the highest importance.
Among the state jewels of the Sikh court was the famous "Mountain of Light," which, after passing from the Mogul to the Persian court, and thence to the Afghan, from whom it was wrested by Ranjit Singh, was now to be presented to Queen Victoria.

The diamond was placed in charge of Sir Henry Lawrence, who, deeming his brother the stronger and more practical guardian, entrusted it to John, who pocketed the little box and straightway forgot it.
Some weeks later came an official letter from Lord Dalhousie, ordering that the diamond be sent at once to her Majesty. The president received the message during a meeting of the board, and John advised him to send it off promptly.
"Why, you've got it!" said the senior member.

John's clear intellect took in the full horror of the situation, and he feared he was a ruined man, for the gem had never been seen by him since the day it had been given into his keeping. Crimes without number had been committed for jewels not a quarter its value, and who would believe his story that he had forgotten its existence and flung it aside, in the pocket of an old waistcoat? Of what avail to rely upon his known integrity? His story might be officially believed, but he knew that men would shake their heads and regard him as a snob.
Yet without a sign of perturbation, he casually replied:
"Oh, yes, of course! I forgot all about it," and calmly proceeded to discuss the business before the meeting with all his usual alertness and without a sign of preoccupation. But one can guess how he longed for the end, how he hurried in search of his servant, who chanced to remember taking a small box from his master's discarded clothes. He explained where he had put the worthless box containing the bit of glass, and the Kohinoor was safe.

Starts a New Campaign

The deputy food commissioner is opening up a campaign for pure drugs along new lines, having to deal this time not with adulterations or the use of harmful drugs but with the question of whether druggists make their tinctures and solutions as strong as they should be. The following letter has been addressed to each of the inspectors: "You will please gather samples and submit to this department from the following list of drugs. In gathering these samples send at least the amount stated opposite each drug, as it will be necessary to have at least this much to make a proper analysis:

- Tincture of iodine..... 2 ounces
- Lime water..... 2 ounces
- Aqua ammonia..... 2 ounces
- Bay rum..... 4 ounces
- Witch hazel..... 4 ounces
- Essence of peppermint..... 4 ounces
- Tincture of beladonna..... 3 ounces
- Tincture of cinchona..... 3 ounces
- Tincture of arnica..... 4 ounces

"Take three samples at each time of the above quantities."

Commissioner Mains has found some instances in which druggists have failed to make lime water of the strength required by the pharmacopoeia. Lime water costs so little to make and its use is so nearly restricted to delicate children or infants that Commissioner Mains is decidedly inclined to prosecute any druggist so small or cheap that he would sell lime water under standard.

State Board Fixes Levy

The State Board of Equalization has fixed the state levy for general fund purposes at 4 1/2 mills. The university levy being fixed by law at 1 mill, the total levy for state university this year will be 5 1/2 mills. Last year the total levy was 6 mills.

The board made no levy for the creation of a redemption fund, which for some years has been 1 mill, but increased the general fund levy one-fourth of a mill.

The grand assessment roll has not yet been made up, therefore, it is impossible to give exactly the sum that will be raised by this levy. The assessment will be however, approximately $399,000,000. The levy fixed by the board will raise $1,795,500, which with the one mill for the state university will be $2,194,500 to be paid this year by the tax payers. Last year under the 6 1/2 levy for all state purposes, the taxes paid amounted to $2,448,346. This means a decrease of $253,846 in taxes for the year owing to the cut in the levy.

The price of Nebraska farm land is becoming more valuable every year. Not long ago $100 per acre land was unheard of in Nebraska. Today it is a common occurrence for land in eastern Nebraska to sell for $150 per acre, and even higher. Many think that the day is not far distant when desirable farm land will find easy sale at $200 an acre. The man who owns a good eastern Nebraska farm can well afford to feel comfortable.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success. Felber Pharmacy."

Give Hogs Plenty of Room

Reports gathered from the various meat packing centers of this country show tuberculosis of hogs to be on the increase and causing heavier loss to raiser and packer alike than any other disease.

Statistics show that a year ago there were over 56,000,000 hogs in this country and their value at that time was over $339,000,000. Federal inspection at the abattoirs of the country show 2 per cent of the hogs slaughtered to be affected with tuberculosis. Reports from Europe show a far more widespread infection that runs as high as 5.5 to 7.5 per cent.

The small amount of money required to start in the hog-raising business and the quick returns on the amount invested make it an attractive field for operations. Hogs will make greater gains on less feed than almost any other live stock and at the same time utilize profitably waste food products of every variety if properly prepared. As tuberculosis of hogs is chiefly contracted through feeding, the significance of the latter feature is obvious.

Hogs from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas are remarkably free from tuberculosis, due to the methods of caring for them, or rather the lack of care. They are not restricted to feed lots, where disease is commonly found, but roam over large areas to shift for themselves. No prolonged feeding is practiced in narrow limits, but from birth to maturity they are pastured on alfalfa, oats, corn, rape and peanuts. Hogs raised in the forest regions of Hungary are likewise rarely affected with tuberculosis. In striking contrast are the hogs slaughtered at three cities in one of the leading dairy states where there are a large number of co-operative creameries, and the raw skimmed milk is fed.

Buyers for packing houses are learning from bitter experience to avoid sections of certain states and two firms will not buy hogs from one state known to be badly infected.

In investigation carried on by the Bureau of Animal Industry in a certain section of the middle west consisted of tagging hogs hauled to market in wagons. Of 3,420 animals tagged it was learned that all of the affected stock came from less than 5 per cent of the farms.

It is known beyond doubt that the majority of tuberculosis hogs are produced by the following causes:

1. Feeding raw milk and sime from creameries.
2. Feeding hand-separated milk from tuberculous cows.
3. Feeding behind tuberculous cattle.

4. Feeding tuberculous carcasses.
5. Feeding slaughter house offal.

Sooner or later the packer will buy subject to post-mortem examination, as some are now doing with certain classes of female cattle. Then the hog raiser who persists in fattening with tuberculous material will be made to feel the cost of his indifference or lack of knowledge. Today the buyer makes his purchases with the knowledge that a proportion of his animals will be condemned and the price fixed accordingly, with the result that the careful breeder suffers with the careless one. This is not equitable. But when the packer buys subject to post-mortem results the painstaking and intelligent raiser will receive more than he does now and the ignorant or indifferent breeder will get less, which is more nearly a fair deal for all concerned.
