BUTTER TO GO UP

Dairy Product now at top Price May go to 50 Cents

It is prophesied by merchants that the price will reach 50 cents before Christmas. The most conservative retailers say that they feel confident that butter cannot be bought for less than 40 or 45 cents a pound by the first of the year.

Reports of the American Association of Warehouses, which are sent to the retailers show that there are only 50,377,000 pounds of butter in storage. Last year there were fifteen million more pounds at this time of the year. It is felt that this dearth will force an increased price in the next few weeks.

Merchants say that the scarcity of butter is due to the small amount of the country product. The creameries have been forced to their capacity, and still there is not enough to supply the demand. The high price of labor on the farms and the change of the agriculturalists to more profitable lines, has left a large hole in the amount formerly furnished by the country.

Many substitutes for butter are likely to be offered this year. There is no law against the use of oleomargarine if it is marked, and this is likely to be sold in large quantities. There is a tax of 1 of a cent per pound on uncolored imitations and ten cents per pound on those that are colored to look like butter.

Prepare to Pick Seed Corn.

Within the last three or four years it has become generally understood that the real first-class up-to-date farmer picks his seed corn in the field before husking. Our suggestion is, although it is early yet, that our readers prepare themselves to pick their seed corn. The picking may be done any time before the first of October, or even the 10th. The preparation for this consists in determining just what ears to pick, or rather, what class of ears.

It goes without saying that the ear selected should be mature and sound. The question is whether you are to pick for show ears and good looking ears, whether you shall consider the ear apart from the stalk, or the stalk as well as the ear. While the corn gospel has been a tremendous educational factor, and we can not well have too much of it, we fear that farmers in selecting corn, while not giving too much attention to the ear, have given too little attention to the stalk on which it grows. The location of the ear on the stalk, the length of the shank, even the way the husks cling to the ear, are all important matters to consider. The vitality of the stalk, sturdiness, a general appearance of robustness, are points that deserve careful consideration. In short, in preparing to pick seed corn it is well to study the entire plant as it grows in the field.

In picking for show ears you must of course select show ears, good looking with straight rows, well filled out at butt and tip. In planting these you will no doubt have a good proportion of show ears in the progeny. The general farmer, however, is not going to raise corn for show. He grows it for the greatest number of bushels of sound corn per acre. Therefore, vigor is a matter of more importance to him than whether the rows are straight, whether it is filled out at butt or tip, or even its particular shade or color. Make up your mind before you begin to pick your seed corn just what kind of stalk you want to grow, where you want the ear located on the stalk, and a number of these minor considerations, but which are in our judgment major considerations to the man who is aiming to get the greatest number of bushels of sound corn per acre. Wallace's Farmer.

School Duties

The object of the School Life is to prepare the individual for the greatest usefulness and efficiency in later life. To accomplish this requires a certain amount of time and effort on the part of the pupil. The more time spent and the greater the effort put forth, the better the pupil will be equipped for the duties of life in whatever sphere he may choose to labor. The teacher is often asked by parents if pupils should study at home. There is little expected of pupils in the primary grades that cannot be accomplished in school hours. However, the grammar grade and high school pupil should prepare at least one study at home. Parents should encourage in the pupils the home reading of good books.

During the school year, school becomes the business of the pupil as the selling of goods is the business of the merchant. Regularity and punctuality are essential qualities in business. What business man would succeed if he took three days of vacation out of each week or if he permitted his clerks to come at irregular hours. It is equally true that pupils cannot make the desired advancement or cultivate those cardinal virtues—promptness and regularity—without being present every morning at the proper time.

The new compulsory attendance law, enacted by the last legislature, is clear and strict. It requires pupils between the ages of 7 and 16 inclusive to attend school the whole time school is in session, from beginning to close of term, unless detained by personal sickness or to help support a parent dependent upon their help for a living. For the violation of this act, a penalty of not less than $5 nor more than $25 is assigned. In addition to the compulsory attendance law is the child labor law, making it a penal offense for parent or guardian to permit a child under 16 years of age who has not had the first eight grades of public school work or its equivalent, to be employed during the time school is in session. The maximum fine for each such offense upon the parent is $25 and upon the employer of such child is $50.

The truant officer is sworn to do his duty in enforcing the provisions of these laws. In view of the above, the parent can readily see that it is necessary, in writing excuses, to state the cause of absence that the truant officer may know whether or not these laws have been violated.

Good Game

The Wayne baseball nine were down to Stanton last Thursday afternoon and played a fast game at their fair with the Stanton team, and although they were somewhat crippled, they held the Stantonites down to a shutout until the 8th inning and were finally beaten 3 to 2.

Good Pledges to Take and Keep

On my word of honor, I hereby now declare that as long as I am a resident of this community it will be my constant aim to boost at all times and every time.

I will do what I can for any public work that has the good of the community as its object.

I will submit to and abide by majority rule and will not knock and howl my head off if things are not done my way.

I will take no radical or extreme position on any question before the people, and will have due respect for the opinion of my friends and neighbors when their opinions are opposed to mine.

I will always try to say something good about my town and my people, or I will keep my bazon shut, and "cut it out" like a man.

I realize that if this community is good enough to live in and make my money in, it is the proper place to spend my money in.

Will Not Stand Test

From our view point we do not believe that any city or town has a constitutional right to levy an occupation tax upon its business men for the privilege of doing business in its community. The places of business belong to the individual. He has paid his money for the lots, buildings, and goods, and is paying taxes on the same for the support of the expenses of running the town or city government, as well as those of the county and state, and then to attempt to compel him to do more than that is, we believe, beyond the power of government and should be resisted until passed upon by the United States Supreme court if need be. Towns, cities, states, and the government are getting to be far too extravagant. Expenses should be kept down to a point where reasonable taxation would be sufficient for all needs. Taxation beyond that only adds to the cost of living without any additional advantages. Besides that it seems that the law passed by the last legislature is clearly unconstitutional and it is now being attacked in the courts. There are only sixteen things enumerated on which that kind of a tax can be levied. They are peddlers, auctioneers, brokers, hawkers, commission merchants, showmen, jugglers, inn keepers, liquor dealers, toll bridges, ferries, insurance, telegraph and express interests or business vendors of patents. Illinois had a similar article in its constitution of 1870 and her supreme court has held all other occupations to be excepted. In the case now before the court, the state, in an effort to save a portion of the law, admits that it could not be made to apply to individuals or co-partnership, therefore knocking out the contentions of the towns that they have a right to levy an occupation tax on all forms of business enterprises as well as corporations.

The Difference

President Taft, in his speech on the tariff at Winona, Minnesota, said: "I believe that the interests of the country and the interests of the party required me to sacrifice the accomplishment of certain things in the revision of the tariff which I had hoped for in order to maintain party solidarity, which I believe is more necessary than the reduction of rates in one or two schedules of the tariff." That is just the difference between him and the A. B. Cummins class of statesmen. Cummins is for Cummins, first, last and all the time, no matter whether the party goes to pieces or who suffers.

Too Bad!

The Lincoln Herald, all patent "inwards" and outwards too, for that matter, except part of one page, wails like a weeping baby because Lincoln is dry, and charges all the ills of the universe up to that fact.

Taft's Smile
The Taft smile and the geniality of the man, as he is, traveling through our country on his extended trip, will do more to prove his worth as an executive than anything he could have done. It will also serve to bring together more unitedly all classes of like political faith. The republican platform that Wm. H. Taft stands upon, as expounded in his speeches day by day on this trip, is broad enough and sound enough for any republican to stand upon.

There appears to be no doubt among agricultural experts that Nebraska soil can be made increasingly fertile by proper rotation of crops. Most of them will agree with Mr. Kendall that alfalfa is the key to the situation, for alfalfa increases fertility while yielding profitable crops. That is Nebraska's answer to Mr. Hill. But the proper crop rotation is still hard to arrange by even the most progressive and willing farmers. Mr. Kendall's system is for each field five years of alfalfa, two of corn, one of oats, one of wheat, one of corn, then back to alfalfa. That keeps half the land in alfalfa, a proportion greater than most farmers can use or sell. For these a broader rotation will have to be employed.

At a horse sale held at Fordyce, Cedar county, last week, 25 head of horses and colts were sold at auction for $2,670.50, an average of $107 each.

Coming Events

Chautauquas, lecture courses, churches, colleges and schools are the things that go to make up a larger manhood and better citizenship as well as a nobler womanhood and all the elements that constantly tend toward making humanity better and more as the all-wise Creator designed that it should be. It is therefore the part of wisdom for every community to encourage these things. To do so there must of necessity be some one ready to stand back of them in a financial way, not of necessity to make money out of them, for it rarely happens that lecture courses or chautauquas any more than break even, and frequently do not do that well. But every kind of an enterprise must have some one at its head, hence the men comprising the Wayne lecture course bureau have again taken up the work of supplying our people with a series of entertainments for the winter. The course will open October 21st with the well-known national character and statesman, Champ Clark. He will be followed by the Lucy Lee Concert Company on November 30th. There will be no entertainments during December but in January comes Lincoln McConnell, who so pleased our people last year. Later will be presented Mrs. Brown and her Chicago Boy Choir, and the closing of the series will be Peter McQueen with an illustrated lecture of the African jungles and its big game, where ex-president Roosevelt is at present. We shall have more to say regarding this series later on. In the meantime our people should lay their plans to purchase season tickets when the matter is presented to them and thus encourage and help the gentlemen at the head of the enterprise in their efforts to provide us a feast of good things for our winter's digestion.

Married Tuesday

Miss Elizabeth Dorsett and Earl B. McMullin were united in marriage at the bride's home, on North Main Street, on Tuesday, September 21st, at high noon, Rev. Parker Smith performing the ceremony. There were a number of relatives and a few selected friends present. After the ceremony the company enjoyed an elegant dinner. There were present from out of town Mr. and Mrs. Welly McMullin of Craig, Nebraska, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McMullin, the groom's brother and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sherman of Chicago, an uncle and aunt of the bride. The young people were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. They left early in the afternoon for a wedding trip through the state and will return to Wayne in about ten days. Their many friends join in wishing them joy and prosperity all along the journey of life.

Going Up

Land prices are evidently going steadily upward in this garden spot of Nebraska, as is evidenced by the fact that S. A. Patterson sold his 80 acre farm east of town Thursday to Fred Weible of Plum Creek for $125 per acre. It is the well improved and kept farms that bring these prices.

They Were Married

Jacob Roush, familiarly known as "Jake" to most of the old residents, and who has been a confirmed old bachelor so long that no one supposed he had any matrimonial intentions, and Mrs. Josephine Roush, both of our city, were united in marriage at the home of Sioux City relatives Tuesday evening. They returned home Wednesday evening and a few of their neighbors and friends had gathered to welcome them and had a wedding supper ready for their home coming. Later in the evening a number of the old soldier boys and their wives, to the number of about thirty, marched in and gave them a surprise welcome and congratulations and gave them slight tokens of regard. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social time was enjoyed until a late hour.

SOME FACTS

Bloomfield's Well Is a Big Enterprise

The first strata of coal formation was struck at a depth of 931 feet. There was a six foot vein of this. Passing through this there was then a covering of two or three feet and then another coal vein of seven foot thickness was struck at about 940 feet. Passing through this the drillers came to an unmineralized soft slate rock which continued for about 33 feet. They then came to the sand bed of pure white sand at a depth of 980 feet. The well at the present time is at a depth of 1220 feet and this bed of sand still continues. In other words they already have 240 feet of this sand bed or lake of sand and have not yet reached the end of it.

To create a more perfect understanding of the difficulties encountered in prosecuting this test well we wish to state that there is none of this great distance of 1220 feet that has a particle of self sustaining wall and casing has been driven every foot of the way. For a depth of 610 feet, 12 1/2 inch steel shoe casing has been driven. Inside of this, 9 3/4 inch steel shoe casing has gone down and still inside the latter is already driven 1220 feet of 8 1/2 inch steel shoe casing. The 12 1/2 inch casing weighs 34 lbs. to the foot, the 10 1/2 weighs 24 lbs. to the foot and the 8 1/2 weighs 17 lbs. to the foot making a grand total up to date of 63,908 pounds of casing.

To accomplish this task, made more gigantic on account of not having yet reached a solid and self sustaining formation on which to rest the casing the drillers have one of the very largest deep well outfits anywhere in the United States, and a wonder and source of admiration to those experts and deep well promoters who have already been here and looked over the work.

This well too, in another way, having no solid or stone formations for its entire depth up to date is almost if not quite unparalleled in the history of deep well boring, rendering the task even more difficult and expensive than almost any other ever attempted. In the enterprise are four or five men of moderate means associated with Mr. VanCampen and a friend who have bought the stock and the sole and only backers of an enterprise that might mean millions of money to this entire northwest region. While this little company is pushing this enterprise there are those who stand back and look wise while not turning a finger or offering a helpful hand. It remains for still others like the Norfolk News, as quoted above, to cast odium upon an enterprise its brains are scarcely able to comprehend.

Our new store and new stocks of Fall and Winter Goods are now in complete readiness to care for the greatest Fall and Winter business we have ever had.

In order to meet the requirements of the rapidly increasing patronage bestowed upon our store by the people of this community, we have doubled our store room and also doubled our stock of merchandise, and this season we are more than twice as well prepared as we have been to care for your trade.

The opening of our new store room takes place Friday and Saturday and we will take pleasure in showing you what great improvements have been made for waiting on you.

We cannot fully describe all the advantages you will find in our improved store, but we will mention these few to which we wish to call your special attention:

The new store room has been fitted up in fine shape for the display of Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-wear Goods. The ready-to-wear department has always been an important part of our business and in the new room we are in splendid shape to make it THE most important part. We have in stock by far the most complete lines of Ladies' Suits, Coats, Skirts and Shirt Waists and Misses' and Children's Suits, Coats and Ready-to-wear Dresses we have ever shown.

A fine new stock of Shoes for Ladies' Children and Men has been added and we plan on making the shoe business one of the best features in our store.

The North Side of the new room has been beautifully arranged for the display of Miss Temple's Millinery Stock and Friday and Saturday will be opening days in her department.

The removal of the ready-to-wear goods from the old room has given us much more badly needed space for the display of our greatly increased stock of General Merchandise and Groceries, our purchases in these lines being double those of a year ago.

Altogether we are in splendid shape to care for a great Fall trade and we earnestly request you to come in before you do your Fall buying and see how well prepared we are to wait on you.

An item that we had expected to give our readers last week, but failed to get the particulars, is the fact that F. E. West, now landlord of the Union Hotel in Wayne, has leased a hotel on the main street in Bancroft, Nebraska, and will move there by the first of October. Mr. and Mrs. West have given the public good service as caterers since coming here and are desirable citizens in every respect, and their departure from our midst will be regretted.

Those new hats and fine display of millinery at Miss Temple's, in Ahern's new store next Friday and Saturday will surely please you as to quality and price. Be sure to call and see how fine they are.

If you are going to do anything permanent for the average man, you have got to begin before he is a man. The chance of success lies in working with the boy and not with the man.—Theodore Roosevelt.

The Wisner farmer who had his automobile smashed at Blair by being caught on a railroad crossing between a cut-in-two freight train was paid $2000 in full settlement of damages. His automobile was well sold.

Mrs. Ruth Richards, mother of Mrs. M. K. Rickabaugh, died at the home of her daughter in this city last Thursday morning, aged 84 years. Cause of death was old age. The funeral services were held from the home Friday afternoon, and burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

The college students reception by the Epworth League at the M. E. church Friday evening was very largely attended and proved to be a pleasant social gathering. More of such affairs would make life all the pleasanter for the young people and help in forming friendships for life that would be pleasant.

J. W. Bartlett sold a half section of his land east of town yesterday to a gentleman from Tekamah. F. W. Alter handled the transaction. The price paid was $100 per acre for 240 acres and $90 per acre for the 80. Mr. Bartlett bought the land 28 years ago last spring for $5 per acre. Certainly a good investment.

Six weeks from last Tuesday is election day. So placid, politically, has the state been that the approach of the off-year election is little noted. It is unlikely the temperature will rise much as the climax comes still nearer. Where nominations are made by the voters, leaving private interests little to gain from the result, there is little to stir up excitement, though interest be ever so healthy.

There was something doing at the electric light plant Friday afternoon that was not down on the program. The smoke stack had got considerable lean to it, and city electrician Moler decided that it was best to have it stand straight up, as it should. A block and tackle was rigged up and the guy wires loosened and then some husky men took hold. They were so strong that they pulled the stack so far over that it toppled with a crash its full length to the ground. And then there was a scramble to get enough of it up so as to get light for the evening. About twenty feet was raised so that lights were furnished as usual.

When you spend money on your schools, it is money well invested to buy the best materials, no matter what they cost.

The leading nations of the world seem moved by a common impulse to examine into the conditions affecting children; Sociological and political interests have replaced the psychological, which for awhile gave purpose to the study of childhood. The problem of the hour is that of the child, as a bread-winner; and his relation to the public welfare.—Elmer Ellsworth Brown.

We wish to express our thanks and take this means of doing so to all who helped toward making up part of the deficiency in the baseball fund by their attendance at the business men's ball game Tuesday. We feel that you are entitled to the balance of the entertainment which the rain interfered with and next Tuesday the "battle" will be fought over and we hope, to a decisive finish. All who attended Tuesday's game will receive a ticket free to next Tuesday's game if they call at Hufford's store. Remember the day next Tuesday same hour, same teams, and the same high class baseball.

HE USED TACT.

A Successful Man's Story of the Way He Won Wealth. 'The late Mrs. D. Sankey,' said a Brooklyn clergyman, 'attributed a part of his success to tact...'

'During dinner Mr. Sankey's guest talked agreement of his 120 horsepower racer, his wife's liposuction and his daughter's husband in the car...'

Settled It Themselves. In western China European travelers recently found a simple method of settling disputes. One of them writes: 'While we called the midday halt at Tachade...'

Inscrutable Von Bulow. During Hans von Bulow's leadership of the orchestra at Hanover a tenor of fame was engaged to play a star role in 'Lohengrin'...'

A Narrow Escape

Edgar N. Bayliss, a merchant of Robinsonville, Delaware, wrote: 'About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time...'

Isn't it wonderful? Some of the newspapers have discovered that Dr. F. A. Cook, the alleged pole finder, was once a boy.

Dr. Gibson, of Hartington, in a competitive examination, has won the appointment as First Lieutenant of the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army at Ft. Yellowstone, Wyoming, at a salary of $2,000 and expenses per year.

Hoskins has decided that it has a bad man in its midst and is offering a reward of $200 to get rid of him. It is known that someone cut down a number of cherry trees in the yard of one citizen and it is suspected that the same, or some other individual, set fire to Schroeder's hay.

Not a day passes but that the papers chronicle some fatal automobile accident. One of two things must eventually come to pass, the fatalities must be greatly reduced, or the self-propelled vehicles must be prohibited on the public roads. It is pretty sure to be the former, because this new means of locomotion is in the line of progress. More restrictions on the drivers of machines will have to be made, and more safety appliances provided for both occupants of autos and of the public.

The Norfolk Daily News—best of all daily papers for this territory—is just now giving away thirteen prizes worth a total of $3,130 to young ladies of this region, and some young woman of this community ought to win one of these prizes. An Overland automobile costing $1,350 is the grand prize and it could just as well be won by some young woman in this town or county as by any other. The News gives us telegraph news of the world far ahead of Omaha or Sioux City papers. Last week the News issued an 'extra' which was sent free to every subscriber, thus giving us the news of Harriman's death many hours ahead of any other paper. It also gave us the first flash about the discovery of the north pole, far ahead of any other sources. And these are but striking examples of what it has done for years. The San Francisco earthquake story was another of its scoops. Every day the Norfolk News brings us the South Omaha and Chicago live stock and grain markets earlier than any other paper, as it does columns of Associated Press matter, to say nothing of news from towns in this neighborhood. The News has a leased Associated Press wire running right into its own office, so that it is up to the minute. It's the best daily people of this vicinity can take. The price is only $3 per year.

Stanton has chosen December 4th as the date for its corn contest. Fred Anderson received $152.75 for six hogs on the market at Hartington one day last week.

Frank Y'Deen, a Decatur precinct farmer, presented the Decatur Herald last week with a fully matured ear of yellow corn that measured thirteen inches in length, weighed one and one-half pounds and contained over 900 kernels. He thinks he has lots more just like it.

Testifies After Four Years. Carlisle Center, New York, G. B. Burhans, writes: 'About four years ago I wrote you that I had been entirely cured of kidney trouble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy and after four years I am again pleased to state that I have never had any return of those symptoms, and I am evidently cured to stay cured.' Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you. Felber's Pharmacy.

The expense of running the Stanton postoffice one year is $2,261, and the receipts exceeded the expense, $2,609.45.

Many people delude themselves by saying, 'It will wear away.' When they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy and stop the drain on the vitality. It cures back-ache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and makes every trace of pain, weakness and urinary trouble disappear. Felber's Pharmacy.

The export of corn from this county was twice as large during August this year as for the same month in 1908.

TO introduce fine materials, clean methods, scientific equipment into the making of soda crackers was one triumph— To actually bake into them a subtle goodness, a real individuality, never before known, was another triumph— But to effectually protect them so that the fullest benefit of these fine materials, this careful, cleanly baking, this unique goodness comes to you unaltered, was the crowning triumph that gave the world
