Niobrara Presbytery Meets

The Niobrara Presbytery, which includes all the Presbyterian churches in Northeast Nebraska, met at Foster last week, closing Thursday afternoon.

At the brotherhood meeting addresses were given by the president, Rev. E. F. Hammond, pastor of the Norfolk church, and by Rev. T. C. Osborne, pastor of the church at Wayne.

The business sessions of presbytery were opened by a sermon on "The Millennium," by Rev. J. M. Caldwell of Coleridge.

Rev. F. E. Thompson of Niobrara was chosen as the new moderator and Rev. H. G. McClusky of Laurel, and Rev. H. Jacobs of the Apple Creek church, were made temporary clerks.

The commissioner to the meeting of general assembly, held in May at Denver, who was Rev. E. F. Hammond of Norfolk, gave an inspiring report covering the important features of that great meeting.

Rev. W. H. Kearns of Beatrice, state superintendent and evangelist; Rev. J. B. Currens of Omaha, state Sunday School missionary; and Rev. M. S. Poulson of Lincoln, the new state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, were all present and gave addresses during the session of presbytery.

On Wednesday evening Rev. J. M. Caldwell addressed the presbytery and the people of Coleridge on "The Local Church as a Political Factor," and Rev. T. C. Osborne of Wayne, spoke on "Our Place in Politics Regarding Temperance," followed by an address on "The Pastor's Relation to Sunday School," by Rev. J. B. Cherry, pastor of the Ponca church.

During the business sessions of presbytery the Inman, Lambert and Bethany churches were authorized to move their church buildings to better locations nearby. Reports were given showing the completion of a new manse by the Atkinson church and that the Ponca church is rebuilding its church at a cost of about $5,000.

An overtime to synod for change of boundaries transferring the work on the Winnebago reservation to Omaha presbytery was voted.

Rev. Samuel Light, having at the request of presbytery become its pastor-evangelist was released from the pastorate of the Stuart church.

Mr. Light has moved to Randolph, and in his new work will have pastoral oversight of vacant churches and of evangelistic work wherever possible in the home mission and vacant churches of presbytery. Rev. T. C. Osborne was made the new chairman of the home mission committee.

Resolutions were adopted approving the plans and reorganization of the Nebraska Anti-Saloon league and pledging support for the passage in this state of the county option bill approved by the league.

The next meeting of presbytery will be an adjourned meeting to be held in connection with synod (the state meeting) at Minden, in October. Next April Niobrara presbytery will probably meet in Norfolk or at Elgin.

Want the Coin

The chief reason why so many of the so called insurgent republicans were opposed to the Payne Tariff measure was because they sought Chautauqua platform notoriety.—Tekamah Journal.

The Anchor Grain Co. sells the best hard and soft coal. Phone 109.

"Supt. A. H. Waterhouse of Fremont has made a careful investigation of the cost of backward pupils. He finds that last year in the Fremont schools 247 pupils failed of promotion, and he figures that the extra cost to the district of repeating the instruction for these pupils amounts to approximately $4,500.00. Mr. Waterhouse believes that public sentiment can be aroused in such a way as to prevent so many failures and consequent expense."—Nebraska Teacher.

AGED CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

"Grandma" Gildersleeve, One of the Old Residents of the County Dies Suddenly and Alone

Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of Man also cometh." The old residents of Wayne and vicinity were inexpressibly shocked last Friday morning to learn that Mrs. Gildersleeve, familiarly known in the community as "Grandma" Gildersleeve, was dead. An additional cause of sorrow was the fact that she had died suddenly and alone. Mrs. Gildersleeve had lived far past the allotted span of three score years and ten but was still spry for one of her age. She owned a little home near the college which she was very much attached to and preferred living by herself, against the protests and wishes of her children and friends. She had been out to her son, William's in the country for a number of weeks previous to her death and it was supposed that she should remain there through the winter. (She got somewhat homesick and was brought to town, and when here she remarked, "It seems so long until spring; now that the weather is good I believe I will go to my own home and stay a few weeks and then it will not seem so long until spring.") So for about a week she had been living alone. It had been the custom of one of her grandsons, who was attending college, to go to the house after school and do the necessary chores for her, bringing in the coal, water and such things, but on the day of her death he had something else that demanded his attention at that time and so went to the house at the noon hour, leaving there about one o'clock, at which time Mrs. Gildersleeve seemed as well and cheerful as ever.

That was the last time that any one saw her alive. Toward evening Miss Mabel Elliott went to the house with some flowers and repeated knockings brought no response, so she concluded that Mrs. Gildersleeve might be taking a nap or had gone to one of the neighbors and went away without making an investigation. About seven o'clock in the evening C. L. Culler met her son, L. C. Gildersleeve, on the street and asked him whether or no his mother was at home and was told that she was. He then told him about Miss Elliott's having been to the house and not getting any reply to her knockings, and he said that he would go and call her up by telephone, they having had a phone put in for that purpose, and always made it a point when she was there to call her up every evening and talk with her for a few minutes and ascertain if she was feeling well and if everything was all right.

Going to the phone he could get no response to repeated calls. Thinking that perhaps his brother William might have been in during the afternoon and taken her home with him he called them up over the phone and found out that they had not been in. He then felt that something must be wrong and went hurriedly to her home. It was about 8:30 when he arrived at the house and when a light had been made he was shocked to find his mother lying on the floor near the bed dead, and life had apparently been extinct for several hours. By a window where she frequently sat, and where she evidently was when the death angel came, there stood a little stand and on it some light work with her thimble, needle and thread, giving evidence that she had been thus employed when she was taken ill, and the indications were that she had either endeavored to reach the telephone at the bed but that heart failure had stricken her so suddenly that there was no time to do either nor no chance to call for assistance even had any been nigh.

Mr. Gildersleeve immediately got in communication with other members of the family, conveying to them the sad intelligence of the death of his mother and loving hands made the necessary preparations for the laying away of all that remained of her who had for so many years been a loving mother, a kind neighbor, and a social companion in all the circles where she had moved.

Her son William was in Texas at the time and was reached by telegraph, arriving home Monday forenoon, the funeral being held at the M. E. church at three o'clock Monday afternoon, being attended by a large concourse of people, friends of the family, who paid the last tribute to the departed one. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick conducted the services and burial was made in Greenwood cemetery.

OBITUARY

Eliza Bell was born in county Arizhgh, Ireland, March 1st, 1830, and died at her home in Wayne, Nebraska, September 24, 1909.

At about the age of twenty she came to America. On October 19, 1854, she was married to Mbeses Gildersleeve at Williamsburg, N. Y. To this union were born seven sons and three daughters of whom five sons and two daughters are now living.

Soon after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Gildersleeve moved from New York and settled near St. Charles, Illinois, where they lived till 1870 when they moved to Ringgold county, Iowa. In 1886 they moved again and settled in Wayne county. Mr. Gildersleeve died in 1892. Since that time Mrs. Gildersleeve has had her home in Wayne but spent part of her time with her children.

At about the age of twelve years she was converted, and she united with the Methodist Episcopal church of which she remained a faithful member to the end of her earthly pilgrimage, making the unusual record of 67 years in the church.

The Methodist Episcopal church record of the Wayne charge shows that Moses and Eliza Gildersleeve placed their membership in this society December 5, 1886. Sister Gildersleeve was alone when she died. It is believed that she had attempted to reach her bed when she fell to the floor and never revived. Though she left no parting word her family has the comforting assurance that she died in the Lord. The funeral was held from the Methodist Episcopal church and was very largely attended. The pastor spoke comforting words to the bereaved friends from the text "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, etc."

Sister Gildersleeve had unwavering confidence in God and in his word. She loved the Church of her choice and was devoted to the welfare of the Redeemer's kingdom as carried on by the church. In early years when Illinois and Iowa were new countries the preachers who traveled large circuits always found a hearty welcome and hospitable entertainment at the Gildersleeve home. In later years it was a great comfort to them to find their children following in their footsteps in these matters. Well did the wise man say of a good woman, "She looketh well to the ways of her household" * * * her children rise up and call her blessed." Truly she rests from her labors, and her works do follow her.

Begins Corn Contests

State Superintendent E. C. Bishop held the first meeting of the Nebraska boys' corn growers association last week. Many contests will be held the fore part of October and after the 20th a contest will be held almost every day until December. Wayne, West Point, Stanton, Wausa and Hartington, will have contests this year, but none of the dates have been definitely set as yet. Prizes are offered by the county commissioners in each instance. The judging is done by experts furnished by the state university school of agriculture. On January 17-22 a state contest will be held at which prizes will be offered by the state fair management and by the corn improvers' association. At the county contests instruction is also offered in domestic science to limited classes of girls. Prize winners in the county contests will be urged to display at the national corn exposition at Omaha in December. It is considered unfortunate by the state superintendent that this exposition comes so early, before all the county exhibitions have been held.

Carelessness

Gaertner & Beetenbauer lost about $50 worth of mattresses Friday afternoon in a careless manner. Earlier in the day the firm had been burning some waste paper and rubbish in one of those wire burners made for that purpose. When one of the small Powers boys delivered the freight he could not very well back up to the rear of the furniture store, so he moved the burner but did not look to see if these was any fire left in the ashes, but unluckily all the mattresses where the burner had stood. The result was that they took fire and five of them were burned before the fire was discovered. The goods were unloaded in the rear of Lewis' harness shop, but fortunately far enough away so that there was not much danger of the building catching even if it had not been seen as soon as it was. It was quite a loss to someone and too bad in any event.

As an index to the prosperity that has struck this part of the state, we might cite the fact that a lumber dealer told us Tuesday morning that he believed that there had been more nails driven in new buildings erected in Wayne county this year than in any other year in the past five. Our farmer friends everywhere throughout the county are either building new houses or good barns, corn-crits and shelter for their stock.

The Nebraska Normal College football team will meet a team from Norfolk on the college athletic grounds next Saturday afternoon, the first game of football for the season.

Among The Churches

Items of Interest Concerning the Churches in Wayne

The Baptist Ladies netted $7 from their candy sale at the Johnson furniture store Saturday.

The Bible Circle began the work for this year Wednesday afternoon, meeting with Mrs. E. B. Young.

The funeral services of "Grandma" Gildersleeve were held at the M. E. church Monday afternoon.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society had another one of its good food sales at Neely & Craven's store Saturday.

The missionary society of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. J. W. Bartlett Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Blair next Friday afternoon.

Rev. Davis will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church next Sunday morning. Prof. Davies will have charge of the musical program in the evening.

Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick and wife came home Monday morning from the M. E. conference at Neligh. He was returned to Wayne charge for another year.

The hour for all the evening services at the various churches, will, beginning with next Sunday, be one-half hour earlier. Young peoples' society meetings at 6:30, preaching at 7:30.

The pastor, Rev. Parker Smith, announced Sunday morning that it was hoped to get the new church ready for dedication in December, but that services would be held in the basement of the new church in about three weeks, as there would be no means of heating the present building when fire was required.

Kuppenheimer Clothes for Fall

WHEN you buy your Fall Suit you want to be certain of one thing. You want to be certain that the suit will look as well on you after you've worn it awhile as it did when you bought it. In order that it will do this it must be all wool and it must be made by hand as much as possible. ALL-WOOL adds greatly to both the wearing quality and the physical appearance of the clothes. The more HAND-WORKMANSHIP in a suit the better it adapts itself to your figure and retains its shape.

Kuppenheimer Clothes

Are all wool and are hand made. In addition to this you will find the styles to have a snap and dash that is considerably out of the ordinary. The shoulders are high, broad and concave, the chests are full and deep, and the models have a distinct individuality that appeals to the stylish dresser who desires clothes that combine both dashiness and refinement.

You will find it to your advantage to insist on these things, and if you want to be certain of them to buy KUPPENHEIMER CLOTHES of us. We are ready to show you a great variety of the newest things in both styles and fabrics.

erecting large double corn cribs and other buildings on his farm north of town.

Our ready prints should have been here yesterday morning, and have never failed to show up on that date.
We have waited until the last hope is gone at noon today and are forced to give our readers six pages all home print. The papers were delivered to the depot at Sioux City at the usual time, but some ignorant

Fred Bohman, of Cherry County, Nebraska, took place on Wednesday, September 29th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Von Seggern, three miles east of Wakefield. Rev. J. H. Karpenstein of Wayne officiating. Quite a good many of the relatives of both parties partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. After visiting among the many relatives around Pender and Wisner, the young couple will go to housekeeping on the farm owned by the groom near Crook-ston, Cherry County, Nebraska.

Unfortunate

It would seem, to say the least, that President Taft has been very unfortunate in some respects on his present tour of the country. The only stop he made in this state was at Omaha, where he was the guest of a secret society whose whole attention appears to be devoted to wine bibbling, gluttony and nonsense, and who were so shallow that even the governor of our great state was not invited to participate with the city of Omaha, and its mayor in extending a welcome to the chief executive of our nation. Journeying westward, Taft is welcomed at Salt Lake City by U. S. Senator Smoot, an elder in the Mormon church and a man who has been condemned by all the moral forces of the nation as unfit to sit in the national halls of legislation. Besides that the President made a speech in the Mormon tabernacle, the visible shrine of a professed religion that is destructive of all the sacredness of home life and whose principles are antagonistic to the government of our country. And the third unfortunate circumstance was that he not only traveled on Sunday but also made two different addresses on that day, excursions and other things being done to draw a crowd. Theo. Roswell, when he was President and made his different tours through the states, always made it a point to remain over Sunday where Saturday night found him, and Taft might well have followed the example of his illustrious predecessor in this respect at least.

What Shall It Profit?

"What shall it profit a community
if it gain the whole world and lose its own boys?" This is a new rendering of a familiar passage of scripture, and is the preface, so to speak of a post card folder sent out by this district Young Men's Christian Association, outlining the work accomplished the past year. It has not seemed to us that the local organization has been doing anything worthy of note, but perhaps it has lent its aid unseen in various directions. A. D. Holloway is the district secretary and D. C. Main and F. H. Jones, of Wayne, are members of the district committee.
From the folder sent out we glean the following regarding the work in the district the past year:
Ten men's meetings, average attendance ..... 57
Four boys' meetings, average
attendance ..... 29
Two open meetings, average attendance ..... 350
Four personal workers' groups,
average attendance ..... 29
Other religious work throughout the year:
Eleven Sunday men's meetings,
average attendance ..... 55
Five Union meetings, average
attendance ..... 106
Thirty boys in Association Bible classes.
Nine young men joined churches
as a result of the year's work.
An institute attended by fourteen men was held in Wakefield by Mr.
A. E. Roberts, of the International Committee.
Three socials were held, average
attendance 36.
One banquet, attended by one hundred men and boys.

These Are the lines of goods that We have made such great Preparations to show you

In our new room which we have fitted up in fine shape for just the display and sale of Ready-to-Wear Goods, we have put in by far the largest stocks of these lines we have ever shown. When you are ready to buy anything ready-made, remember this, that in our new store you are sure to find the largest assortment to choose from. In the sale of ready-to-wear goods we are making a great effort to be the leading store in the county.
Here are lines in which we excel:

Ladies' Tailor-made Suits and Coats

We have always made a specialty of these lines. This year we have doubled our stock of these goods and with a fine, convenient place to show them to you, we are in shape to wait on you much better than ever before. A great number of suits are shown at $18 and $20. There is also a good display at $25 to $35. The New Coats have all the necessary points in style which the latest fashions care for and are priced all from $10 to $22.50.

Ladies' Skirts and Shirt Waists

Our showing of skirts has been doubled. At 5.00 to 8.50, you'll find one hundred skirts to choose from. The Shirt Waist Display consists of a fine showing of new silk waists at 3.50 to 6.00 and several pretty styles in white tailored waists at 1.25 to 1.75 each.

Childrens' Coats, Suits and Dresses

We have made better preparation than ever before for fitting out the girls. The line of new school dresses is particularly good.
Everything to be had in coats is shown in good variety.
Suits for misses from 13 to 18 years of age are shown at 10.00 to 12.00.

Shoes for the Whole Family

In this one particular department we are determined to win your patronage.
We have put in three of the finest lines of shoes ever brought to Wayne. We bought them above all the lines offered for just one reason—they had been sold with the greatest success by stores all over the country for over forty years. We know we are offering you good shoes when they come backed by a reputation like that. Our line of sizes, styles and lasts is very complete. The shoe business is to be one of the important features of our store. Let us show you your next pair of shoes.
Ladies' Shoes, $1.50 to $3.50. Men's Shoes, $2.25 to $4.
Children's Shoes, 75c to $2.25.

Fine Millinery

Miss Temple has her millinery stock on sale in the new room and you are sure to be pleased with the fine stock which she has for you to choose from.

When you are ready to buy any article in Ready-to-Wear Goods, remember that in this store the selling of Ready-to-Wear Goods is the most important feature and that you are sure to find an especially good assortment to choose from.

Ahern's

husking mittens

This fall we have something extra to offer in the mitten line. Never before have we had a mitten that will equal the one we have for you now. It's big, it's long, full cut, liberal seamed, easy fitting, heavy napped, and sells at the same old price. We got them by buying in the early part of last spring and contracting for 800 dozen at one time. We have always made a feature of the mitten business and have always sold the greater part of the mittens used in this vicinity. This year we're better prepared to do it than ever. Come in and look at them.

EAST AND WEST SIDE GAME

IT WAS A DANDY

Fine Day. Fine Crowd and Lots of Fun

Oh, say! Did you see by the sunlight's bright glare, the east and the west, sides in gray battle array? There were doctors and lawyers, and a barber or two; and fat men and lean men; both swift and slow. They swayed and battled full many a score, and it was hard to tell which side would win until the battle was o'er.

It is impossible to go into all the details of this wonderful game. Kemp was put in to pitch for the West Siders, but after the East End batters had knocked the cover off the ball and made eleven scores in the first inning, Rev. Osborne was put in to save the day and succeeded in holding the flushed East Siders within reasonable bounds until the end of the game. Rooney caught for the west side and did good work. The East Side battery was Johnson and Berry. Johnson pitched all the way through the nine innings, but was about all in when the game closed, and in the last half of the ninth inning, with two men out, the West Siders struck a fast gait and gotten men over the plate before the final man was out. If they had only gotten their rally a little sooner they would have won. Berry not only caught good ball, but he was by far the strongest batter on the two teams, and always got a safe hit when at bat, and usually a three-bagger or a home run. He is not swift of foot and usually had someone to run for him after the first base, but he got there just the same. Young Mellor was the fastest man on foot in the lot, but Rooney was not slow by any means. Hansen got into the game in the 7th inning in place of McNeal and showed much speed too. It was a great game and most of the men were neatly tucked out when the game ended. There was a large attendance and in the rattling rally of the West Siders at the close every one nearly went wild. Martin Ringler was umpire. Time of game, two hours. Score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
East Side	11	3	0	2	4	4	2	0	0	26
West Side	0	0	1	3	4	0	1	3	10	22

Poor Game

The poorest game of ball we have seen on the Wayne grounds this year took place Monday afternoon between the Wayne and Hicker teams. Each one of them having won two games with each other in former contests it was supposed that both would do their best. However, the Wayne boys did not seem to get their usual vim into the game and were defeated by a score of 7 to 2. One cause of their defeat was the large number of new men on the team, the line up being as follows: Sabs, Blaine Skeen, Frank Skeen, Morgan, Welch, Sberlahn, Ahefn, Ringer, and Meister. Fish-er-umpire. The score was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Wayne	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1
Hicker	2	0	7	0	0	0	0	0	0	7

If you want good job printing you can get it promptly at the Herald office.

Short Horns at Auction

D. O. Collier, at his farm near Magnet will offer his entire herd of 43 head of richly bred Short Horns at auction. Free lunch and free transportation from Magnet to farms. Write for catalogue. 33w2

Wonderful Escape

Last Friday afternoon while Mrs. V. A. Senter and children were at the home of Mrs. Theo. Duerig, the children, while at play, unhooked a screen window in the upper story of the house with the result that the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Senter fell out of the window to the ground thirteen feet below and not only escaped being killed but also serious injury. No bones were broken but the little fellow was quite badly shaken up and bruised while his mother and the other ladies were frightened nearly out of their wits. All this happened on a Friday and the fall was thirteen feet, an unlucky combination, but with a lucky outcome.

School Will Begin

The school board held a meeting yesterday forenoon at which time contractor Buttke was present, and arrangements were made with him whereby the district is to get possession of the upper story next Monday, October 4th, and the other rooms as fast as they are completed. The ward school building will be utilized until such time as the new rooms are finished. The directors felt that something must be done to get the schools in operation. Although a month has been lost it is proposed to get in the full nine months this year by cutting the vacations a little shorter and running two weeks later into next summer. Get the little folks, and older ones too, ready and send them to school next Monday and Prof. Kemp and his corps of teachers will look after them in good shape. Grades one, two, three and four will meet in the ward building, all other grades and the kindergarten in the new high school building.

Myra Kelley, the most famous writer of East Side stories, gained her knowledge of the slums of New York while teaching in an East Side school. Now that she is married, she no longer teaches, but her supply of humor and charm has by no means given out, as is testified by her latest and funniest story "Games in Gardens" in the October Woman's Home Companion.

NORMAL NOTES

Miss Kingsbury went to Norfolk Saturday evening where she visited Miss Hewins over Sunday.

Miss Carroll went to Randolph Saturday morning. She gave an entertainment there Saturday evening.

Miss Opal Madsen of Norfolk, was a College Hill visitor Saturday. Miss Madsen is a contestant in the Norfolk News contest.

Miss Jean Golder, Teachers' 1908, was a College Hill visitor Saturday. Miss Golder is teaching one of the splendid rural schools in Dixon county.

Hazel Weber enrolled the first of the week. She has taken up the work of the Scientific Course and will be in school for the remainder of the year.

Rev. Smith gave the address at the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday afternoon. Rev. Smith's talk was most thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Supr. Kemp was a welcome visitor on the Hill Monday morning. At that time, arrangements were made for the Manual Training work which will begin as soon as the city schools open.

Attorney Rooney has been assisting Coach Huttemer for several evenings each week. Mr. Rooney's experience as a football player in college makes him well fitted for this work.

Mrs. Pile and her friend, Mrs. Munn, went to Decatur Saturday where Mrs. Pile delivered her lecture "Schools of England and Scotland." They spent several days visiting with Mrs. Keefe at Walthill.

This week closes the school work for the first half of this term and examinations will be held in all the classes. In most classes excellent work has been done and good results are looked for in the examinations.

Next Saturday will occur the first football game of the season on the College grounds. The opposing team will be the Norfolk High School team. This will be a splendid opportunity to see a football game as played under the new rules and we hope a good crowd will turn out for the contest which will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

Business is quite brisk in Judge Britton's court in the closing days of September. Friday he had two law suits and united in marriage a couple from Woodbury county, Iowa. Saturday forenoon he sat in judgment on a law suit and immediately after dinner issued a marriage license to Fred Bohman and Carlisle VonSeigern, both of Wayne county.

Rev. Karpenstein was at Winside Saturday.

Of course you are going to vote for Mrs. Elsie Littell for county superintendent. If not, why not? She is filling the office in fine shape, looking carefully after the interests of the schools, and will continue to do so if elected. Her experience in the present day methods well fits her for the position.

A former county pastor, writing in the Woman's Home Companion says that he quit the ministry because he found that he could not be honest in business matters, honest morally or socially. "Goodness it was time he quit the ministry! What he needs is a genuine conversion, and all like him, whether in the pulpit or out of it."

Although it is a little late the ladies of the public library board desire, through this paper, to thank Mrs. J. M. Pile for her generosity in donating the proceeds of her lecture at the time of the teachers' institute, $20, to the library fund. Absence of those whose duty it was to look after it is the reason why no acknowledgment had been made before.

The Wayne baseball nine were at Bloomfield last Thursday afternoon and played a game of ball with the team at that place and were defeated by a score of 2 to 1. It was a good game throughout and should by rights have gone to the Wayne boys, as the two runs were not earned but were scored on errors.

After the full moon in August the editor of this reliable and much wanted home and fireside companion predicted that there would be no killing frost in this part of the state until after the full moon in September. That occurred last evening and everyone knows how well the prediction was verified. As the season is so well advanced we would not like to say that there will be no hard frosts until the full moon in October, which occurs on the 28th, but we will venture to say that there will be no real freezing weather before that date.

Every woman who buys ready made wearing apparel for herself or her girls will take exceptional pleasure in the new room which has been fitted up for the display of just these goods at Ahern's.

One stock of everything necessary to clothe mother and daughter from head to foot are on sale in the new room. There Shoes, Dresses, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Coats, and Millinery, and all displayed in such convenient manner as to make it very easy to select one's goods in a most satisfactory way. Every mother in the county will surely appreciate this new store with its fine stocks and excellent service.

The Cedar County News wants a young lady to learn typesetting and write letters, check up the time tickets or one thing or the other that she could do better than the editor at a less cost by valuing his time highly whether anyone else does or not. The office angel was coaxed away from us by a good looking young man from Wayne, who persuaded her she needed a course in a business college which he represented.

The meat markets will not open on Sunday after October 1st.

You never looked so well in any cap as you look in a HEDCAP. It has the lines and the "kick." It makes you look a thoroughbred.

KATES

Rejoice and Be Glad

Say, remarked a gentleman to us Wednesday afternoon as he got off the train, do you know that the farmers and other people in this part of the state do not really know what prosperity is? If they could go out over the state south and west of Columbus as I have done and note the difference in the look of the fields for 200 miles south and 200 miles east and west, where there is practically no corn this season, they would begin to more fully realize how much they have been favored. The condition of things in the part of the state mentioned, he continued, must cause many heart-aches, lots of blasted hopes and much financial trouble. Crop failures have never been known in this section and the past two years everyone has been more than usually blessed in basket and store.

Norfolk District

The following is the list of appointments for this district made at the North Nebraska M. E. conference in session at Norfolk last week. Rev. Main is continued as Supt. of Grand Island district, and Rev. Bithel goes back to Fremont for another year.

- D. K. Tindal, district Superintendent.
- Allen, P. M., Dridinger; Bancroft circuit, William Gonnald; Beemer, C. E. Carroll; Belden and Sholes (supply), J. G. Galaway; Bloomfield, H. H. St. Louis; Carroll, R. F. Shackel; Central City, J. J. Kotmer (supply); Coleridge, E. T. Antrim; Creston and Humphrey, C. H. Moore; Dakota City, W. R. Warren; Decatur, J. H. Smith; Dixon, G. M. Pendell (supply); Hartington and Crofton, L. E. von Hagen; Homer circuit, H. A. Chappell; Laurel, H. G. Langley; Lyons, J. M. Leidy; Madison, J. E. Houlgate; Neweastle circuit, S. A. Drais (supply); Norfolk, C. W. Ray; Norfolk circuit, C. M. Taylor (supply); Pender and Thurston, (supply); Pilger, G. L. Goodell; Ponca and Waterbury, A. W. Ahrens; Randolph, J. P. Yost; South Sioux City, J. L. Phillips; Stanton, John P. Poucher; Wakefield, C. E. Council; Wausa, A. E. Fowley; Wayne, J. W. Kirkpatrick; Winside, Amos Fetzer; Wynot and Spring Valley, J. Q. Helm (supply); Wisner, L. V. Slocum; Emerson and Hubbard (supply), W. O. Romick.

Council Proceedings

Minutes of a regular meeting of the city council held on September 27, 1909. The meeting was called to order by the mayor with the following members present: Mayor Lay, Councilmen Kingsbury, Stringer, Neely and Jacobs. Absent, Strahm and Jones. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The following bills were then allowed:
Commercial Lubricating Co., supplies, $ 79 07
Sunderland Roofing and Supply Co., supplies, 5 10
C. B. Havens & Co., coal, 61 34
H. A. Moler, salary, 100 00
Herman Bodenstadt, salary, 50 00
G. W. Griffith, labor, 22 65
H. S. Ringland, freight, 90 35
W. H. Weber, crossing, 13 69
Ray Perdue, crossings, 21 76
G. L. Miner, salary, 75 00
Guy Strickland, labor, 20 50
Request of the Bell Telephone Co. for permission to move part of their line was read and on motion was referred to the street and alley committee. Motion made to adjourn. Motion carried.

HOBBIES DON'T MIX

WIFE AGORED OLD CHINA AND HUSBAND LIKED CATS.

And the Two Likings, in Conjunction with Swedish Cook, Threatened to Break Up Once Happy Home.

"Aunt Eunice," said young Mrs. Billings, putting down her needle and pushing back the pile of scribbling paper in front of her. "Aunt Eunice, why does a woman who loves china want to marry a man who adores cats?"

"Aunt Eunice went on with her plodding knitting and deftly avoided a direct answer.

"Is that a conundrum?" she asked. "I never guessed one in my life. And if it's the theme of a problem novel, I don't, you needn't tell me, because I can't like them."

Mrs. Billings laughed. "No, it isn't a conundrum," she said. "It's a catastrophe—almost, and it looks as if it might resolve itself into a problem novel at any moment. I'm the woman—I love china; Ned's the man—he adores cats; and the result is that three of my best china plates and four of my cherished patterned scissors have been smashed to atoms in the last apartment. You know, Hilma feeds the cats, but Ned is always sure that she never gives them enough and so, as soon as he gets back from recitations, he feeds them again. In the end, of course, and with my best china, and then Hilma comes along on her earnest Swedish flection and does the best. I'm getting discouraged."

Here the library door opened and Mrs. Billings stood on the threshold, a broken plate in his hand, his manner wavering between nonchalance and anticipation.

"Another victim, Nanette," he tried to say cheerfully. "Hilma walked heavily again. Fortunately it's an old one."

But Mrs. Billings had stooped to his side and was examining the fragment.

"Oho!" she should say it was! That's just the fourth," she cried with tragedy. "It's my best, my only piece of red pink plaster. Oh, Ned, how could you take it? There were tears in her voice and in her eyes, too.

"Ned," he said, "I'm awfully sorry, I never take anything but a tin dipper after this, and his air of subdued and sincere melancholy was so genuine that Mrs. Billings smiled in spite of her grievance.

"Very well," she scolded, "but don't ever let me hear you say again that 'The Ring and the Book' is your favorite poem, because it isn't. It's 'Love's Little Pissay.'"—Youth's Companion.

Words of Advice for Fools.

There is a fool born every minute, so we are told, but there is also a great mortality among them. There are fewer active ones alive to-day than there were last week, or than there will be next Monday morning. It seems useless to say much to this kind of people, but we do wish to give a few suggestions in the interest of those who are not fools, but friends and relatives of fools. Unless you are an expert tactician, do not take a boat out on the water, and in no event unless you are able to control all those who are in it. Do not try to see how deep you can dive nor how far you can swim into danger. Do not try to see if your automobile can make 75 miles an hour, as guaranteed by the man from whom you bought it. Do not blow your brains out simply because the girl doesn't like you, or because you can't pay your debts. Let others do the worrying. Philadelphia Inquirer.

Scotch Modesty.

Love of country is so fine a virtue that it seems difficult to carry it to excess. A resident of a small village in the north of Scotland paid a bill near his house to London the other day. He happened to call on a merchant who was unknown to him, but had once made a stay in his hotel, placed in the course of conversation the various kinds of use of an expression that had the other to exclaim: "Surely you come from Glen Muickie?" The expression, however, was denied. Presently, the merchant's expression was heard. "My dear Mr. MacTavish, I feel convinced that you are a Glen Muickie man after all," insisted the merchant.

"Well," returned the other, "I'll no deny it any longer."

"Then why didn't you say so at first?" demanded the Englishman. "Well," said the calm response, "I didn't like to boast of it in London."

What Bothered Him.

A peculiar incident of a matrimonial affection occurred some time ago at Vermont. An aged couple, who through half a century of married life had wrangled with each other, were in all probability soon to be separated. The husband was taken sick, and the wife believed to be near his end. The old wife came to his bedside and after carefully examining and taking stock of his condition, exclaimed: "Why 'daddy' you've been sick, your hands are cold, and your nose is cold."

"Why, 'daddy' you're now to die."

"Well, I guess I know what it's about."

"'Daddy, what's to becom of me if you die?"

"I don't care. What I want to know is, what's to becom of me?"

BOLIVIA'S MINERAL WEALTH.

Bolivia is famous for its silver, but also possesses considerable quantities of gold, which, however, cannot be extracted without great expense. In the seventeenth century an Indian near the town of La Paz found a mass of gold, supposed to have been detached from the neighboring mountains by lightning. Bolivia is, on the whole, in a backward condition, political changes and internal conflicts having hindered the development of its natural wealth.

The Dirty Face Fad.

The latest craze among the ultra-fashionables of London is to have dirty faces. Some few years ago the same young men developed a fancy for rearranging the streets without hats, but the coming of the automobile changed the mode of showing that you are not quite as other men. The idea is to carry just enough dirt to look like fast, long distance riders who have had no time to remove the dust of travel.—Dundee Advertiser.

A Great Character.

A great character, founded on the living rock of principle, is, in fact, not a solitary phenomenon, to be at once perceived, limited and described. It is a disposition of Providence, designed to have not merely an immediate, but a continuous, progressive, never-ending agency. It survives the man who possessed it; it survives his age and perhaps his country, his language.—Edward Everett.

Sugar from Old Rags.

Sugar is now manufactured in Germany from old rags. The rags are treated with sulphuric acid and converted into dextrine. This is then subjected to a new bath of sulphuric acid, which converts it into glucose. The glucose obtained by this process is identical with that of commerce, and may be used in the same way for confections, food, etc.

Relic of Ancient Sculpture.

During excavations conducted near Willendorf, on the Danube, by the pre-historic section of the Austrian Natural History museum, a small figurine, 11 centimeters high, has been discovered in a stratum containing instruments and weapons characteristic of the stone age. The figurine shows traces of having been painted and represents a female figure with remarkable precision of artistic execution.

Industrial Education.

For training the workman the technical school can never supplant the workshop. The system that is likely to give the best results is a combination of part-time apprenticeship and compulsory attendance at technical schools.—London Electrical Review.

A Strong Guaranty.

"Are you sure those eggs are fresh?" asked the woman, eyeing them suspiciously. "Yes, ma'am," replied the grocer, with emphasis. "I guarantee those eggs; if any of them aren't good, I'll make 'em good!"—Lippincott's.

Erratic Going.

"It is easy enough to hitch your wagon to a star," declared the theatrical manager. "Say on," "How to keep from being bounced out of the wagon is the question."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Fox's Suggestion.

"I wish you would give my clerks a talk on salesmanship," said the retail dealer. "Better let 'em watch me selling you a big bill," suggested the traveling man.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Primer of Life.

Only a dreamer asks Time and Tide to wait for him, when he might head them off, sell Time for money and make Tide turn a mill wheel.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Facts as They Were.

Your grandfather used to be my grandfather's hired man." "Yes, and your grandfather died owing him a year's wages. Eh, what?"—Cleveland Leader.

Feminine Finance.

The girl who has the least chance of being trained is the one whose father takes umbrage to himself in not "bothering his womenfolk" with his worldly affairs.—The Queen.

Why Gold Bricks Sell.

"De man that answers a gold brick circular," said Uncle Eben, "makes 'em old mistake. Instead of telling Satan to get behind 'em, he thinks he kin get ahead of Satan."

A Question.

Would it be permissible to refer to the bureau before which the modern society lady dresses herself as a bureau of fine arts?

Morals and Manners.

To have a respect for ourselves guides our morals, and to have a reference for others guides our manners.—Huxley.

A Poor Way to Rise.

It isn't good that anyone succeeds in getting high by selling down his boss.

Restraint Best of All.

Striking manners are bad manners.—Huxley.

Clerical Repartee.

A country minister in the course of his dining out on the evening came to a house where roast chicken was served for dinner. He had previously encountered a series of corned beef dinners, and the chicken looked good. "Well," he remarked, "here's where the chicken enters the ministry!" "Hope it does better there than in lay work," rejoined the host.

White Horse of Kilburn.

The biggest artificial horse in the world is the famous White Horse of Kilburn, near Thirsk, which was formed by a native of Kilburn 60 years ago, who cut away the turf in the correct form and then covered it with limestone—the whole occupying some two acres of the side of the hill. The figure makes a conspicuous landmark for over 20 miles round.

A Light Hint.

"Wouldn't you rather live in these days of electricity than in your father's time, for instance? Think of what primitive times they must have been when people used candles." "She (wearily)—"Oh, I don't know that candles were such primitive things. They knew enough to go out some time."

Gossip.

"I don't like these women who gossip about others, do you?" "I should say not. Now, there's Mrs. Gaudsey. She's always telling me things about her neighbors. And Mrs. Hamerton talks perfectly dreadful about her friends. Thank goodness, I never say anything about nobody!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speech Before a Dressing.

"Hello George," "Hello, Willie, been having a swim?" "Willie—Yes, but I'm only learning, same as you." "Hello George," "Same as me?" "Do you you mean?" "Willie—Why, dad was telling us just yesterday how you had an awful job to keep your head above water!"—Sketch.

True Philosophy.

I have been told of a Spaniard who always put on his spectacles when about to eat cherries, that they might look bigger and more tempting in like manner, I make the most of my enjoyments, and pack away my troubles in as small a compass as I can.—Robert Southey.

Strive to See the Bright Side.

A fatal penalty awaits those who always look on the dark side of everything, who are always predicting evil and gloom, who see only the shortcomings of all of life; they die upon themselves what they see what they look for.—Marden.

Enigmatical Calamity.

Men have often abandoned what was visible for the sake of what they expected, have not got what they had—being unfortunate by an unimagined sort of calamity.—Demetrius Phaleros.

False Pretense.

Mrs. Hyup—"I was so disappointed in Dr. Pullett." Mrs. Hye—"In what respect?" Mrs. Hyup—"I understood he was a great braggart expert, but he was only a dentist!"—Puck.

Skilful Driving.

First Irishman (in London tube)—"Sure an' he's a mighty strange way of traveling." Second Irishman—"Be did, it is a wonder we don't stirrle and burst some wather pipe."—Punch.

Total Depravity.

"I suppose you have a wife and eight children," sneered the heartless man. "Great Scott, no!" answered Plooding Pete. "If I had, don't you s'ppose I'd be home makin' 'em work?"

College of the Future.

"We shall be pleased to have your daughter matriculate at our university." "How about fitting?" "That is one of the optional studies."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Grudging Praise.

"Did the critics say anything favorable about your performance of Hamlet?" "Yes," answered Mr. Storming du Barnes. "They admitted that I had selected a pretty good play."

A Curiosity.

The Pennsylvania engineer who stopped his train to rescue a kitten asleep on the track is no doubt an object of curiosity to automobile motorists.—New York World.

Guessed His Money Was Gone.

"You didn't go through my pockets last night as usual." "No; when I found a long hair on your coat I knew it wouldn't do any good."

A Rule.

As a rule you can form a fairly accurate opinion of what your neighbor thinks of you by what they say of others.—Chicago News.

Baseness Punished.

Whoever of mortals is of base nature, him the gods chastise.—Euripides.

Also Somewhat Rare.

The best treasure among men is a frugal tongue.—Heed.

Cathedral Insured for Large Sum.

St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is insured for $475,000.

BELIEF IN CHARMS

SAID TO BE GENERAL IN BRITISH ISLES.

Words Used to Cure Disease of Work Evil—Curious Reason for Dislike to Giving Names to Strangers.

Two writers in the Occult Review, published in London England, contribute an interesting article on "Survivals of Old Magical Customs in Great Britain." The majority of the cases mentioned by them are connected with a belief in the power of words, which may be either charms, that is words having a magical power of their own when written or spoken, or the power conferred by the possession of names over the people of things they indicate, for in a certain stage of mind culture this name is regarded as actually being part of the owner.

It is said that in North Ireland and Arran many of the natives absolutely refuse to tell their names because the knowledge would enable the inquirer to "call" them, no matter how far he was from them and whenever he cared to do so. Moreover, they also believe that any spell worked on the written name would have the same effect as if worked on the owner. All over Great Britain this instinctive dislike to giving one's name to a stranger exists.

Dislike to the pronunciation of their names is not confined to human beings. Certain Scotch and English fishermen believe that the salmon and pig have a similar objection to being named, but they may be called the "red fish" or the "quicker fellow."

"Now here is the power of words greater than in Ireland, where the chief weapon of the poet was the satire which would blight crops, dry cows or raise ulcers bilious on the face of his object.

Word formulas were generally used to cure disease, a formula used for epilepsy runs: "I conjure thee by the sun and by the moon and by the Holy Gospel of the day delivered by God unto his servants Hubert, Giles, Cornelius and John, that you arise and fall no more." This had to be whispered into the patient's ear just after an attack.

In a Roman Catholic church in Ash-ton-in-Makerfield there is still preserved in a white silk bag a hand which is still held in veneration, and cures are said to have been wrought by it. The hand is said to have been that of one Father Edmund Arrow-smith, who was executed at Lancaster in 1628 for apparently no other offense than that of being true to his faith after his execution one of his friends cut off his hand, which was preserved for many years at Bryn hall in Lancashire and afterward removed to Ashton.

Satire of Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The peculiarities which Dr. Holmes found most amusing were those which he himself shared, says S. M. Crothers in the Atlantic. There is indeed an old prudential maxim to the effect that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. This, in natural saying, takes for granted that we should all enjoy smashing our neighbors' glass if we could insure the safety of our own. Dr. Holmes was of a different disposition. His satire, like his charity, began at home. He was quite proud of the glass houses in which he lived, and at the same time he enjoyed throwing stones. If he broke a window now and then it was a satisfaction to think it was his own. No one valued more highly the intellectual characteristics of Boston, but he also saw the amusing side of the local virtues. "You may have watched the prestidigitateur plunge his hand into spirits of ether, and then tossing a match to it hold it aloft like a blazing torch. The quick evaporation of the ether formed a film of moisture sufficient to protect the hand from the thin flame." So Dr. Holmes' satire played round the New England conference and did not the least harm to it.

Marriage.

Marriage is a divine institution so ably managed by man that although it has been doing business for several thousand years, it is not yet on a dividend-paying basis.

It is the biggest trust on earth, for its capital stock is love, consisting of two-thirds faith, which is preferred and one-third hope, which is common. No goods are sent on trial, and if not approved you must make the best of it. If you are poor, otherwise the matter may be arranged for while avowedly a domestic corporation, and union in its sympathies, marriage is also benevolent in its scope, giving more employment to poor lawyers than all other corporations taken together.

Notwithstanding repeated failures, its bonds are the best security of the kind on the market, and will not sell at a discount; at least, until something better offers.—Life.

He Knows His Business.

Kind-Hearted Maiden (fishing for a stray penny in her purse)—I suppose you poor blind people feel your misfortunes keenly.

Blind Man (mentally)—Yes, indeed. The Lord only knows how I make the pleasure of being able to look into the beautiful faces of the handsome and lovely ladies, who are kind enough to donate.

Kind-Hearted Maiden (fishing out a smiling)—Here, poor fellow, take this. I'm sure you are deserving.—Scraps.

TRIBES HAVE REFRAGATED.

It seems strange that though Heron was the seat of the earliest civilization in Palestine, to-day the inhabitants of the surrounding country are wild and fierce and spend their days roaming about with their flocks, camels and asses, traveling from valley to valley in search of food, pitching their tents, just as their ancestors did 1,000 years ago.

English Sacred Tree.

The ancient Saxons' sacred tree was the ash, and there still exists on Richmond hill, barely ten miles from London, an ash tree which is even now used in folk medicine. Weakly children must be carried three times around the tree and at such a time in the morning that the sun rises during the ceremony.

Legends of Irish Wells.

Many of the Irish wells have most interesting legends connected with them. There is a well in North Ireland the water of which, according to the natives, will not boil, however much it is heated; but unfortunately they will not allow anybody to test the truth of this statement, and it is hardly disconcert to make the attempt.

A Suspicious Silence.

Howard was only 20 months older than the baby. He had somehow come to realize that Elwood, who was creeping, was more likely to be in mischief when quiet. One day he called to his mother with a great deal of anxiety in his little voice. "Mamma, I hear Elwood keeping still."—The Delinquent.

His First Chance.

For 15 minutes the gorgeous young butterfly had been dodging the natural net. "Great caterpillars!" he finally ejaculated; "either that fool dog-catcher has gone crazy from the heat, or a law has been passed requiring me to take out a flying license!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Wrong Idea Lasts Long.

The last thing that men learn about women is how transparent and natural their really are in all the essentials, our delay being due largely to our own want of imagination and not a little to the circumstances that we are brought up to expect frankness, insincerity and mischief.

A Ship's Medicine Chest.

All an old ship captain said he filled all around the world some 15 times and the only medicine he allowed aboard were "castor oil" and "whiplash." If they were sick below the belt castor oil did the work; if above, the whiplash was sure to do the trick. —New York Press.

Embracing the Subject.

"Do you think that young fellow who is visiting your Nell is trying to persuade her to marry him?" "Well, for a glimpse I had of them. Well, ever since I passed the parlor I rather think he is bringing some pressure to bear on the subject."

A Social Mistake.

"Bliggins seems unpopular in his neighborhood." "Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "He was so anxious to make people like him that they concluded he couldn't amount to much and was trying to butt in."

Form Your Own Character.

A sunshiny character is a gift of temperament. At the same time a sour person may become sweet by looking on the bright side and determining to be kind.

Not Particular.

Franco-Celt Walter (to rural customer in restaurant)—Shall I serve you any omelette? Rural Customer—Yes. If you like, kin bring the hull snack in on trays.—Boston Courier.

A Learning Question.

An old Scotswoman was advised by her minister to take snuff to keep herself awake during the sermon. She answered briskly: "Why didn't ye put the snuff in the sermon, mon?"

Where It Goes.

"That man made an immense fortune out of a simple little invention." "Indeed? What did he invent?" "Invent? Nothing, you dub! He was the promoter!"

Uncle Ezra Says.

"When you wander up back to your old home town it's a good deal better to be met with a brass band than with a piece uv manila rope."

Daily Thought.

A man is not little when he finds it difficult to cope with circumstances, but when circumstances overmaster him.—Goethe.

Just Waiting.

Every good-looking young woman intends to go on the stage some time if it becomes necessary for her to do so.

No Excuse for Conceit.

However much a man has done to be proud of, it isn't enough to warrant a swelled head.

Particularly Scandalous.

There are people who believe everything they hear, and a lot they don't.—Exchange.

Justice Not a Common Virtue.

Of all human excellences, justice is the most uncommon.—Pitarch.

RUSSIA'S INLAND WATERWAY

Barges Ten Afloat on the Volga Waiting Their Turn at the Wharves Not an Unfrequent Sight.

Russia's great waterway is the Volga; it has a navigable length of 1,500 miles, some 200 miles further than the distance from St. Louis to the sea by the Mississippi. The Russian winters are so cold that the season of navigation is barely six months long, as against ten to twelve months on the lower Mississippi from St. Louis.

From the head of barge navigation the Volga communicates with St. Petersburg by way of the Schekma river and a series of canals, making a grand water way, connecting the Baltic with the Caspian.

When J. A. Ockerson of the Mississippi river commission was at Rybinsk, at the junction of the Volga with the Schekma last summer he saw barges lying ten abreast in the stream, waiting their turn at the wharves.

A strange thing about the Volga is the fact that the heaviest tonnage is upstream. The trade in petroleum and its products alone runs above 3,000,000 tons annually, there are upward of a thousand boats engaged in it exclusively.

Steel tank barges of 1,000 tons are much used in this oil traffic. St. Petersburg, situated from the Volga by hundreds of miles of river and canal, nevertheless receives from it more than seven hundred thousand tons annually.

At Nijni-Novgorod, on the upper Volga, the boats arriving have unladen capacity as many as 7,000 in the course of a six-months' season. So rapidly has the traffic been growing that the number of vessels engaged in it increased 100 per cent. between 1881 and 1895 and has a further increase of 60 per cent. since. Most of the boats are built in Russia.

The steamers in turn off. The government project, according to which the river has been improved, provides for a depth of eight feet.

Cleopatra and Corsets.

If Cleopatra wore corsets she may rank as a royal champion of them with Catherine de Medici, who is credited with having introduced the busked corset into France from Italy. Mile historians have been less friendly to Joseph II. of Austria tried to discourage the custom by making it part of the costume of a convicted woman of bad character; Napoleon, shaking his hand over the tight lacing of his day, told Dr. Corvisart that he saw in it a sign of frivolous tastes and a promise of coming decadence. The Restoration kings, Louis XVIII. and Charles X., were equally hostile. Formerly, said the latter, France had been full of Venuses, Dianas and Nymphs, but now there were only wasps. The revolution alone temporarily put down the garment that has triumphantly defied kings.

A Lost Art.

Unfortunately, the American tendency to "talk shop" on every occasion, added to the necessity for every one being expert in some special line, making some one thing always predominant in his mind, has gradually penetrated into the drawing-rooms and the clubs, until generalities of conversation become impossible. The situation is such that after one individual delivers himself of his monologue the next man, always awaiting impatiently for a cue, starts upon his and so it goes the rounds. Small wonder, then, as the Atlantic Monthly puts it, the women, with their voracity of interest, are disgusted with the situation.

It is difficult for a woman to listen politely to a dissertation on the stock market fluctuations when she finds herself in masculine society, and while women are generous in giving every man credit for being master of his own particular specialty, they pine for some indication that he will relax for some attention to them. The men and give attention to them, realize the state of affairs, but they are helpless.

Regulating Morals by the Clock.

Isn't it perfectly marvelous how a certain act may be legal until the clock strikes and a crime thereafter? There is piano-playing, for instance, in the city of Washington anybody who pleases may bang on a piano until midnight without interference, but as soon as the clock strikes 12 piano-playing becomes a crime, and the play is liable to be marched off to jail and locked up. To our mind, nine-tenths of all piano banging is criminal, no matter at what time it takes place; yet we fail to understand why banging at 11:59 p. m. is less reprehensible than similar banging at 12:01 a. m. Do we run our morals by the clock?—Savannah News.

New Sort of Valedictory.

"Usually the graduates fire a lot of oratory at this commencement and the committee hands out a similar hanging at the commencement last night."

How was that?

"The valedictorian said he wanted work; and the gentleman presiding gave him a job."—Washington Herald.

Jake Wingert was down from his South Dakota home the fore part of the week shaking hands with friends.

Large crowds attended the opening at Ahern's last Friday and Saturday and they found everything in fine shape.

Carl Exeloben was hauling lumber Monday from Philleo's yard for a large new cattle barn he is erecting on his farm.

Oscar Berkheimer, five miles southwest of Wayne, sold his 80-acre farm one day last week for $125 per acre. It was a good farm well sold.

Have you paid the last half of your taxes yet? The list will be published next week and more cost will be added if not paid before that time.

Mrs. W. H. Norman and children went to Albia, Iowa, Saturday morning, leaving her liege lord to keep bachelor's hall for about a month.

Frank Strahan got third place in a race for three year olds at the Inter-State Fair in Sioux City Thursday with his colt Hixie Medium. The track was very heavy.

N. E. Eells left Saturday morning for a winter's sojourn southward, going first to Kansas and later will likely go to Oregon. Wayne has quite a large number who migrate with the birds each fall.

Are you a patron of the public library? Now that the evenings have grown longer there is more time for reading, and a good book helps to while away the hours.

The Crystal Theater is putting up some fine programs these days. It is a pleasant place to spend an hour any week day evening and the Saturday afternoon might well be enjoyed by more children.

Miss Kelley, who had been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Cunningham, went to Madison Saturday forenoon, and after a visit there will return to her home in Iowa.

The thrifty housewife will no doubt be pleased to learn that the prospect is that brooms will sail still higher in price. Last year broom corn was selling for $40 to $65 per ton. Now it is worth from $180 to $200 per ton.

The Wausa Gazette has entered upon the 12th year of its existence. Bro. Anderson says he has had his ups and downs in the newspaper field but that he is now prospering. The last issue of his paper indicates that fact, there being three full page advertisements and 11 columns of other ads in it.

Wilson Rickabaugh went to Sioux City Tuesday morning. He will remain there this week learning something about the trade of the house he will represent, and then next week takes the road as a traveling representative of a wholesale grocery firm of that city. We believe that Wilson will make good in that line.

The "Sunbonnet Babies" and the "Overall Boys," together with the other attractions for the benefit of the kindergarten fund at the opera house Monday evening drew a large crowd and the whole program proved to be one of interest. The receipts over and above expenses were about $75. That will help swell the fund materially.

Rev. Parker Smith and H. W. Theobald each tucked a lunch box under their arm and with a grip in one hand and a shot-gun in the other boarded the east-bound train Tuesday morning for a hunting trip in western South Dakota. It is hard to tell what they will get, but if they stay long they will no doubt get a little better health and a good degree of tan.

Miss Freda Ellis and Mrs. Harry Fisher spent Tuesday at Sioux City. A fresh shipment of Lowney's Candies—a favorite of everyone—at Raymond's.

Try the Herald office for your auction bills. The largest and best bills for the money.

Take pride in your pickling. Insist on getting "Maltese Cross" Spices at Raymond's.

Before you buy a hard coal burner this season be sure to see Voggt. He has the best stove on the market and at low prices.

Henry Hanson and R. H. Hanson and their better halves went to Inwood, Iowa, Monday afternoon to visit a sister for a week or more.

The section men cleaned out the railroad water tank Monday. From the amount of clay that was in the bottom of it, it looks as though it might be a good plan to clean out the stand-pipe.

Looks good enough to eat. That large stock of candy that Whalen is displaying in his show windows these days. Lots of people seem to be eating it, too, by the way it disappears.

Start your children right by seeing that they attend school from the beginning to the end of the term. You owe them a good education and they can get it if you see that they are in school.

The North Nebraska Methodist conference, as a corporation, elected a new board of officers Saturday at Neligh. D. C. Main, of Wayne, was chosen auditor, and also one of the trustees, for one year.

A. W. Ahrends, who was pastor of the M. E. church at Winside last year, was graduated from the course of study and elected to elder's orders at the annual session of the conference held at Neligh.

Flour is declining some in price, but not near as fast as it went up or as wheat went down. When wheat was $1.15 flour was $1.95 for forty-eight pounds. Now wheat is 85 cents and flour is $1.70.

Mr. J. A. Page, of Omaha, will be in Wayne about October 11, tuning pianos, cleaning and repairing organs. Persons wanting work done of this kind may leave orders with J. W. Johnson at the furniture store.

Perry Theobald has been quite seriously afflicted with some kind of poisoning on his face for a week past. It does not seem to be anything dangerous, but spreads quite rapidly and has not yielded to treatment very readily.

Hunters are getting their guns in shape for the fall shooting. The open season on ducks and snipe began on the 15th inst., and the chicken season will open on the first of October. There is an open season on squirrels, but none on quail.

You don't have to go to war to be patriotic. Improve your locality, uphold your town, enlarge its interests, and lend a hand to progress, and you are a patriot—a lover of your country—as truly as the soldier who shoulders his musket.

A. G. Bohmert assisted in furnishing music for a dance at a large German wedding seven miles south of Norfolk Thursday night. Friday night he and Salsbury played for a dance at Winside, and Saturday night they played for a dance north of town. They furnish good music wherever they go.

Considerable building material is going out from the Chase Bros. lumber yard these September days. H. Taylor is building a large barn; Fred Echtenkamp, north of town a fine residence; I. O. Richardson a large barn; Richard Ritzke a house, and a man by the name of Frederickson, up near Concord, a barn. These show the prosperous condition of some of the tillers of the soil.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beebe, of Carroll, father and mother of our county treasurer, Chas. Beebe, and old time residents of Wayne county, having come here twenty-seven years ago, will move to Lincoln the present week. For the past seventeen years, the family have been residents of Carroll. The reason for making the change lies in the fact that two of their daughters have gone there to take a course in the Wesleyan university and it has been thought best to make the change at least until they have gotten their education. The family will be missed from the county.

A puzzle in the show window at Barrett & Dally's hardware store has been attracting a good deal of attention the past week. The puzzle when complete is in the form of the Keen Kutter Kuttleri company's trade mark and is on a thin piece of board which has been cut into over 100 pieces with a scroll saw. The idea is to fit these pieces together until the trade mark is complete. A prize in Keen Kutter goods from $8 to $10 in value is offered to anyone who can complete the puzzle in one hour's time. A large number have already tried and some have nearly succeeded.

The Union Hotel changes hands this week. A. G. Bohmert, the new landlord, will serve his first meal Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. West have been packing up their goods for a week past and will get away to their new home at Bancroft, Nebraska, this week where they will take charge of a hotel, having entirely new furnishings. The traveling public will find Mr. and Mrs. West good caterers in every respect and the people of the village can always class them as desirable citizens. Their departure is regretted by a large circle of friends.

Well, we have met one good democrat anyway. Hon. B. F. Good of Wahoo, a Judge of that judicial district and a candidate for the State Supreme court bench on the democratic ticket this fall, was a brief caller Friday afternoon. The Judge was calling on a few friends while in Wayne, among them Ted Perry, and was meeting as many of our people as possible and telling them of his candidacy to the position he seeks. He is very strongly recommended by the press of his district, regardless of party. While here he talked nonpartisanship to the republicans and vote her straight to the democrats.

W. G. Jones (Crofton) was in town last week attending the county fair. Mr. Jones made a trial last season of the exterminator invented and manufactured by W. H. Southwick of this city. He had a ten acre field of alfalfa badly infested by gophers. The exterminator was used on this field. It took about an hour to rid the field of the pests. The device is one by which the fumes of sulphur are pumped into the ground and it is found that so thoroughly are the burrows connected, that by pumping the fumes into one hole a large area may be covered. They Didn't Have to Change
During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food.

It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that everyone needs it. The result of last year's experiments at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been adopted by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

The Quaker Oats Company meets all demands in the way it packs Quaker Oats: regular size packages and the large size family package; the latter both with and without china.

"HAVE WE A NAVY?"

Learned to Live

The following by Bixby in the State Journal pictures a character who is not a stranger to any community:

When Ben Hurd married he was in debt one thousand dollars for the farm his uncle sold him. It looked like a large obligation, but, to express it in his own words, "After the wedding, me and the little girl set to pay it up."

One day his faithful wife who had worked and saved to help him accumulate this fortune, sickened and died and her funeral was held in the little village church. It was there, because of his pitiful grief, that the hearts of the people softened toward this man of avarice.

Sadly he returned to his work on the farm where he busied himself the remainder of his life, but his attitude toward society had undergone a complete change.

The planet Mars is nearer the earth at present than it has ever been before, but it is still 35,000,000 miles away.

The state railway commissioners have reported a large number of telephone companies to the attorney general for prosecution, they having failed to comply with the law requiring an annual report.

Down in Kansas City an unsophisticated youth married whom he supposed was a demure country maiden only shortly to find out that she had been married five times before and had neglected to get a divorce from her last husband.

Carroll Index

Harry Hughes will build a fine new $2800 home this fall on his place in the settlement.

Dr. Taxley has decided to again locate permanently in Carroll. He will take up the practice of the late Dr. T. O. Lovig.

The livery barn has again changed hands. Mr. Evans has traded it to R. F. Kitterman, of Nashville, Nebraska, for a half section of land near that place.

George Yaryan this week bought the forty-five acre tract of land west of town from Rollie Ley. Later he sold the south sixteen acres to M. S. Linn.

Robert Pritchard left Monday for Sioux City where he exhibited some of his dogs. He left there Tuesday night for New York where he is to meet his sweetheart of twenty-four years, who arrives from Wales.

Mr. A. A. Williams, of Wayne, and a niece from Randolph visited at the R. A. Thomas home and with the Bayer sisters last Saturday.

Hastings, Nebraska, is to hold its annual Sunset social on October 23. It is really an old age affair.

Regarding the end of the world, the good book tells us: "No man knoweth, not even the angels in heaven," but a certain New England sect was sure that they knew all about it and were going to have the world end last Friday.

The old Missouri is still eating out great hunks of land east of town. The buildings on the Holiday Lake farm will soon have to be moved if it keeps on. The river has eaten its way down to the north end of the lake and the lake itself is nothing but a mud hole anyhow.

Many people delude themselves by saying, "It will wear away" when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy and stop the drain on the vitality.

Carlie Center, New York, G. B. Burhans, writes: "About four years ago I wrote you that I had been entirely cured of kidney trouble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy and after four years I am again pleased to state that I have never had any return of those symptoms, and I am evidently cured to stay cured."

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels and leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's Regulents. They operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

You may disfigure barns and fences and rocks and roads, waste your money on so-called business charts, and all that sort of thing, and vainly imagine you are advertising. But you are not.

Edgar N. Bayliss, a merchant of Robinsonville, Delaware, wrote: "About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time and if I did not have consumption, I was near to it."

Do not be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for chronic coughs, bronchitis, hay fever, asthma and lung trouble, as it stops the cough and heals the lungs. Felber's Pharmacy.

The state supreme court has handed down an opinion sustaining the validity of the Sibley act which provides that express rates be reduced 25 per cent. from the schedules in force January 1, 1907.
