SHORT HORN CATTLE SALE

Quite Largely Attended and Good Prices Realized

The H. R. Ryan sale of Short Horn cattle at the Thompson feed yard Saturday afternoon was very well attended, and, considering the condition of the stock, very good prices were realized. Most of the cows were in quite poor flesh owing to poor pasturage and calves by their sides, so that they did not present as good an appearance as they otherwise would have done. Still Mr. Ryan was very well pleased over the outcome of the sale realizing within about $32 of what he expected to get. He said that it was the advertising in the local papers that brought the results, as only one buyer saw any of the bills that were posted and he was from Norfolk. Mr. Ryan says he will come here again in January at which time he will have a finer lot to dispose of. Below will be found the name of the buyer, the kind of animal purchased and the price paid. Most of the cows had calves by their sides and they were included in the sale:

Don't Kill the Birds

Protect them if we are not to be visited by a plague of insects. One robin has been found to devour 175 caterpillars in a day. One quail has been known to eat a hundred potato bugs in a short time. Another quail had two spoonfuls of chintz bugs in its craw. A mother sparrow, says an observer, fed seventeen grasshoppers and two spiders to its fledglings in sixty-seven minutes. Poisoning blackbirds in Nebraska cost millions of dollars not many years ago. The birds were so numerous that it was thought they were damaging crops and thousands of them and other birds were poisoned. When the birds had gone the grasshoppers came and destroyed all-vegetation in large sections of the country. A man does not have to be good at figures to come to the conclusion that birds are pretty good things to have about the place and to protect.

Badly Beaten

The Norfolk high school football eleven put it all over the Nebraska College boys in the game at this place Saturday afternoon, winning the game by a score of 36 to 0. Norfolk made four touchdowns in the first half and three in the second half. They only kicked one goal after a touchdown. Wayne's team was the heavier of the two but lacked the experience that comes with much practice.

MUCH USEFUL INFORMATION

SOME SCHOOL LAW FACTS

Good Reading For Teachers, Officers, and Patrons of the Schools

The following catechism, copied largely from one issued by Supt. Frank Perdue, of Madison county, is intended for the information of teachers, school officers and patrons:

1. Upon whom does the law place the responsibility of sending children to school?

Upon parents or other persons having legal or actual control of the children.

2. What is the penalty attached to the violation of this law?

A fine not to exceed $25.

3. Whose duty is it to enforce the law?

It is the duty of the county superintendent in all districts other than city districts, and the county superintendent is under oath to do his duty.

4. Whose duty is it to inform the county superintendent that children are not attending as required by law?

Any superintendent, principal, or member of the board of education, who shall know of the violation of this act.

5. What are the ages of children who are compelled to attend school? Children not less than seven nor more than fifteen.

7. How long must such children attend school?

Two-thirds of the entire time that school shall be in session in the district in which such children reside, and in no case for less than twelve weeks.

These additional explanations are made to clear away doubts as to the requirements of the law:

In a district having three months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend the entire time.

In districts having four months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than sixty days.

In districts having four months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than sixty-seven days.

In districts having six months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than eighty days.

In districts having seven months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than ninety-four days.

In districts having eight months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than one hundred days.

In districts having nine months school, children from seven to fifteen must attend not less than one hundred and twenty days.

Attendance at school means to be present five days in a week and four weeks in a month.

It is not only the right, but the duty of the teacher, to inquire into cause of absence on the part of a pupil of compulsory age, and a teacher has no right to excuse such pupils for non-attendance or insufficient or trivial grounds.

The laws of Nebraska guarantees to each child the right to attend school. This opportunity to obtain an education belongs to the child. He has the same right to it that the farmer has to his farm, the banker to his bank, or the merchant to his goods.

No man has a right to private ownership of property except those rights guaranteed by the laws and customs of the society in which he lives. The same law that guarantees to the farmer a right to his farm, and to the banker a right to his money, and to the merchant a right to his goods, guarantees to the children of Nebraska the right to go to school.

By what right can a father demand obedience of his child, while the father is breaking the law of the land by taking from that child what the law says is his? By what logic can a teacher, a superintendent, a school officer or county superintendent ask the little child to obey the rules of the school, while he is violating the law of the state by not protecting the rights of that little child?

ED. SELLERS—Feed Mill

What Makes Land Values?

J. W. Bartlett sold half a section of his land east of town yesterday to a gentleman from Tekamah. The price paid was $100 per acre for 240 acres and $90 per acre for the 80. Mr. Bartlett bought the land twenty-eight years ago last spring for $5 per acre. Certainly a good investment.

The above from the Wayne Herald is published not because it is an unusual occurrence in Nebraska. There are many such cases every day. But has any one heard of a half section of land near Wynot selling for $100 per acre. The land here is just as good as around Wayne, and the crop reports of the past five years would prove that our land has no doubt produced a larger and better crop per acre than that adjoining Wayne. Then why cannot our land sell for equally as good prices. Well, let's see. Wayne is a city of educational facilities. She has always had the best of schools and has just completed a modern high school building. Through the enterprise and liberality of her citizens she is now the possessor of a fine state normal. It is a modern up-to-date little city, and has been made such by her school facilities and other enterprises fostered and encouraged by the citizens of that community.

Wynot has no school facilities. There is not a high school within fourteen miles of here. This country has been farmed and occupied twice as long as the country about Wayne. Yet there are no inducements for men to come in here with families to educate. They prefer to go where there are modern schools. And this is undoubtedly one reason why there is such a difference between the price of land here and around Wayne.—Wynot Tribune.

Grain Burned

George Wert, who lives southwest of Wayne a few miles, had the misfortune to lose four large stacks of winter wheat by fire Friday afternoon, set by a steam thrasher. It was only by hard work that the steam threshing outfit was got out of the flames. It was a severe loss to both Mr. Wert and the owner of the threshing machine, as he has volunteered to stand one-half the loss. Every threshing machine engine should be provided with a spark arrester in its smoke stack, thereby lessening the danger. E. T. Renwick had one-third interest in the grain.

Before you buy a hard coal burner this season be sure to see Vogel. He has the best stove on the market and at low prices.

Freemasons of the world are now taking the preliminary steps toward getting an expression of opinion as to the feasibility of the order rebuilding the temple of Solomon at Jerusalem.

It is surprising what a lot of putty men the voters of this country send to Congress if the newspapers can be relied upon for authority. According to these truthful chronicles all Senator Aldrich has to do is to croak his finger and every other man in the House and Senate bows the cringing knee. The trouble is that more than one-half of all that is written about Aldrich and the tariff is simply written for effect and not because the writers really believe what they are writing.

George Roe met with a painful accident Saturday. He was driving the corn binder when the team became frightened and started to run away. In his efforts to stop them his left foot was run over by one of the wheels of the machine, smashing the foot badly.

Wednesday morning, October 6th, at eleven o'clock, at the Baptist church, Miss Mary A. Wynne and Mr. Robert Pritchard will be united in the bonds of matrimony. Mr. Pritchard is well and favorably known in Wayne county and has a large circle of close friends who will wish him well in the new life he is about to enter. Miss Wynne is a stranger here, having arrived from Wales the first of the week. She is a lady of fine appearance and manner and no doubt will soon enjoy a large circle of close friends.

SCHOOLS BEGAN LAST MONDAY

The new high school building is not entirely completed but arrangements were made between the contractor and the board of directors whereby permission was given to make use of nearly all of the upper story, and by using the old ward school building for four of the grades, work was taken up in the various departments Monday morning. Of course things are not nearly so nice as they will be when the entire structure is finished, but the season was getting so far advanced that the teachers and pupils were all glad to get to work once more. The most crowded room thus far is the kindergarten, not because it has the largest enrollment, but because they have only a small room, not near large enough for their needs. Supt. Kemp and his good corps of assistants, have taken up the work in fine spirit and the plans are now well laid out for thorough and rapid advancement along all lines. The attendance at the opening was 429 and some have been enrolled since. The high school has an enrollment of 83 with Supt. Kemp, Mrs. M. A. Phillips principal, and Miss Graves and Mrs. Oberman as instructors. Miss Edith Stocking has first grade and 42 pupils. Mamie Wallace is second grade teacher and an enrollment of 45. The third grade is presided over by Monte Theobald and there are 34 enrolled. Emma Hughes has charge of the fourth grade and has 34 pupils. Eva Beauchemin teaches the fifth grade pupils and has 41 of them. Alice K. Schumaker presides over the kindergarten tots and has forty or more of them in her charge. Miss Lewis is her assistant. The sixth grade pupils are under the supervision of Emma Schwerin and she is kept busy with 36 of them. Lulu E. Wood has an enrollment of 44 in the seventh grade and is looking carefully after their interests. In the eighth grade room Luella Potts presides and has 30 pupils with bright minds to instruct.

A petition was filed by Edna McCabe against William McCabe asking that alimony be granted her. The petition states that the defendant is possessed of 960 acres of fine farming land in Wayne county, valued at $100,000 and that he has large real estate interests in Iowa and other states valued at another $100,000. It alleges that Mrs. McCabe is compelled to support herself by clerking in a hat store in this city. The petition asks for suitable alimony.—Lincoln Star.

Some day the wise men who build election laws will stumble onto the fact that the place to advertise is in the newspapers. In that glorious time, the law will be changed so that when an election is held, the people will be informed of it officially through the papers and not by posters nailed up with carpet tacks on the telephone poles and barbed wire fences. In that enlightened good time coming, sample ballots will be printed in the country papers instead of being run on red and green paper in lots of thousands never to be seen by the voter and finally landing in the barber shops, where, cut up nicely into squares, they make very good shaving paper. Some day the dawn of civilization will come to the makers of election laws.—Stanton Pickett.

Feeding Farm Hands.
Every farmer's wife knows what tremendous appetites farm hands usually have; but while they eat well they work well, too.
Here's a good suggestion about feeding farm hands. Give them plenty of Quaker Oats. A big dish of Quaker Oats porridge with sugar and cream or milk is the greatest breakfast in the world for a man who needs vigor and strength for a long day's work. The man that eats Quaker Oats plentifully and often is the man who does good work without excessive fatigue. There is a sustaining quality in Quaker Oats not found in other foods, and for economy it is at the head of the list. Besides the regular size packages Quaker Oats is packed in large size family packages, with and without china.

Grant Mallory, foreman of the Democrat office, went to Canton, South Dakota, Saturday morning on business.

Phil Kohl has purchased the J. L. Davis residence and it will be occupied by Van Bradford as soon as Davis vacates the same.

Terry's Uncle Tom's Cabin show gave a performance here last Wednesday night to a big and well-satisfied audience. The specialties, band and orchestra music was of a high order of excellence. Casey Vindicator.

E. C. Tweed has had his residence north of E. B. Young's on Nebraska street, raised up from the ground several feet and is putting a good cement block foundation under it and making other improvements. It will be a desirable place of residence when he gets through with it.

A. B. Clark was a Sioux City visitor Wednesday.

S. A. Dagen went to Omaha Wednesday morning.

C. A. Mayfield is the new editor of the Stanton Picket.

A good second hand organ for sale cheap at Hufford's Book Store.

Miss Rosa Piepenstock was a passenger for Omaha, Saturday morning.

Mrs. S. Taylor went to Omaha Wednesday morning to visit her children.

Mrs. Adair, mother of Mrs. C. L. Culler, came this morning from Dakota City, to visit the family.

Messrs. Salsbury, Bohnert and Buroker furnished music for a dance at Wakefield on last Thursday evening.

Mayor Ley and F. A. Berry went to Crystal Lake Saturday morning, on a little hunting and fishing expedition.

J. L. Davis has bought the property now occupied by Fred Benshoof and will move there as soon as Fred gets a new location. Mr. Davis proposes to build an addition to the house, paint the buildings, put in cement walks and make other improvements.

Clara Foy, of Randolph, has been granted a state teacher's certificate for life.

Keep in mind the date of the Baptist Ladies Bazaar, December 1st and 2nd, at the time of the corn show.

It cost two young men near Stanton $10 each and costs for the fun of smashing about thirty window lights out of a school house.

Wm. House returned Tuesday evening from Missouri Valley, Iowa, where he went last Friday to attend the funeral of a brother.

Mrs. Frederick Koplin, of Pilger, fell from a buggy Thursday and sustained a fracture of the left arm and shoulder. She is eighty years old.

Carl Mildner, who has been a member of the Savidge show troupe for the past two seasons, is again in Wayne and will remain here this winter.

Arthur and Walter Savidge are in Chicago organizing a theatre company with which they expect to open the winter season at Wayne in about three weeks.

G. P. Hitchcock and wife are getting moved in their new house this week. They will enjoy it.

Mrs. Meeker, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. V. A. Senter, returned to her home at Imperial, Nebraska, this morning.

S. A. Harvey, whose home is in Chicago, a nephew of Jake Roush, visited here Tuesday. Jake accompanied him as far as Sioux City Wednesday.

Mrs. A. N. Matheny went to Omaha this morning, where she will remain all winter, doing light house-keeping for her son, Wm. McCabe, who is attending school there.

Watch for special on Gold Fish, Saturday, October 16th. Two Gold Fish, Globe, moss and instruction sheet all for 10c. This offer is a wonder.

J. R. RUNDLELL.

John I. Sletten, who is teaching country school in East Bow district, Cedar county, is getting $65 per month the fall term, the largest amount of any rural teacher in that county.

The corn show is coming the 1st and 2nd of December, so is the Baptist Ladies Bazaar on the same date. That will be the time to get your Christmas presents without having to make them.

Randolph is to have a new fire house 25x60 feet, one story, to cost $1949.23 complete, and work is already under way. The town puts $500 into it and will have a council room 12x18 in the new building.

William Marquadt sold his 200 acre farm northwest of Norfolk last week. Nothing strange about that but the transfer was the first time it has changed hands since its patent was issued by the government.

Fresh buttered pop-corn at Rundell's every day. My corn is not popped and afterwards buttered, as is the usual way, but is cooked and popped in the butter which produces that palatable flavor. It is the kind you will like and buy again.

Harry Grosvenor, near Laurel, says that this has been one of the best years for alfalfa he ever saw. He has ten acres from which he gets four cuttings, the last one not quite as heavy as the other three but of better quality.

Harry Fisher went to Winside this morning to see about new buildings on his farm. He says they have so much of a crop down there that they don't know what to do with it, and want a new barn, double corn cribs, and a hog barn.

Terry's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which exhibited here Tuesday evening was the biggest and best of its kind seen in Reedsburg for a long time. The attendance was good and words of favorable comment were frequently heard. Free Press, Reedsburg, Wisconsin.

Dr. Lutgen's skill as a surgeon seems to be heard of for some distance from Wayne, as he has had patients from abroad this past week. One was Miss Lilly Peterson, of Wakefield and the other Chas. Harkey, of Fairfax, South Dakota, and both were successfully treated.

W. J. Gilmore and wife have sold their property near the Nebraska Normal school to a gentleman from Bloomfield, and left Wednesday morning for California to make their home. They will locate at Redding, in Shasta county. A number of friends were at the depot Wednesday morning to see them depart and wish them God speed on their way. Mr. Gilmore's health was the cause of their leaving Wayne.

One of the greatest distributors of blankets in the world is the Jno. V. Farwell Company of Chicago. They buy the entire output of many blanket mills and sell them to merchants throughout the United States. In August of each year their two hundred salesmen with trunks packed with sample blankets, start on their yearly selling trips. For two months these men show their samples, (which are picked blankets you may be sure), to merchants all over the country. When these men finish their trip the blankets are slightly soiled from handling and instead of being placed in stock, they are sold at a good discount to the department stores in Chicago, and there is a great rivalry among department store buyers to get these great bargains. Having traveled for this house five years myself I am fortunate enough to get some of these sample blankets each year. This year's supply is now here and I am prepared to sell you blankets at just about wholesale cost. We sell fine all wool 11-4 wool blankets at $4.50 and $5.00 which will cost you $6 to $6.50 elsewhere. Cotton blankets may be had at just as good a discount. In addition to the saving in price you get the pick of thousands of blankets, for samples are always best. On many of the blankets the soil is so slight as to be barely noticeable. There are 500 pair for you to choose from.

Editor Goldie, of the Democrat, is skylarking, or has been this week, among the wilds of Colorado.

Some of the neighbors of C. E. Lanphear, of the Pleasant Valley stock farm, in Cedar county, paid three years ago when he paid $32 for a pig of the Duroc Jersey breed, that he was crazy. The animal has already raised seventy-three pigs for him, never having a smaller litter than twelve.

County clerk Reynolds has handled sixty-one deeds, twenty-seven mortgages, forty-two releases, 167 chattel mortgages and ninety-one other instruments of various kinds from July 1st to October 1st, the fees on which amounted to $286.45. The fees in B. F. Feather's office for the same time were $217.02, and Judge Britton had $155.30 in fees for the quarter according to their reports to the county commissioners in session Monday and Tuesday.

Got Badly Beaten

A fair sized crowd saw the home team get the worst drubbing of the season on the base ball diamond Wednesday afternoon. The Omaha league team was altogether too fast a bunch for the Wayne boys, as it was supposed they would be, but the home boys have put up a number of better games this season than they played Wednesday. The score ended like this:

Omaha	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
	1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2

Badly Injured

Last Monday afternoon Emil Baier, five or six miles southeast of Wayne, aged about sixteen years, was very seriously injured in a runaway accident. The team tried to run away with him and in his attempt to hold the animals he was kicked in the back of the head by one of the horses and sustained nearly fatal injuries. The gash cut in his head was only about two inches long but the force of the blow seems to have crushed the skull, as he bled profusely at both ears. Dr. Leisenring was called and dressed the wound, and the boy seems to be steadily improving but it was a close call.

Wit of Great Surgeon

Of Abernethy's wit numerous tales are told. A lady consulted him about a nervous ailment and described her symptoms at wearisome length. He referred her to his "book," but she persisted in her efforts to get further information from him. "May I eat oysters, doctors? May I take supper?" Her questions rapidly followed one another. "I'll tell you what, madam; you may eat anything but the poker and the bellows, for the one is too hard to digest and the other full of wind."

It was the same Abernethy of whom a rather indolent but wealthy patient asked to cure for gout. "I've upon sixpence a day and earn it," was the answer.

Origin of Sounding "Taps"

"It is not generally known," says John H. Kent, a retired army officer, "that the custom of sounding taps over a soldier's grave originated with the late Capt. John C. Tidball, U. S. A."

"On the retirement from the peninsula in August, 1862, Horse Battery A, Second Artillery, was serving with the rear guard, and on reaching Yorktown one of the cannoners died and was buried there. Not wishing to stir up the enemy by firing three rounds from the battery guns, as was customary, Capt. Tidball substituted the sounding of taps, lights out, which, impressive ceremony, has since been observed at all military funerals at the close of the services."—Washington Letter, in Chicago Examiner.

The Right Time

The season of year when music is most enjoyed in the home is from now until spring. The evenings are longer and you need entertainment after your day's work.

The most entertaining instrument after a hard day's work is an EDISON PHONOGRAPH with a good collection of four-minute records.

We have the phonographs in all the sizes and styles, and the complete list of records. Come in and let us entertain you for awhile with an EDISON PHONOGRAPH.

We have just received this week a FULL LINE OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS—violins, mandolins, guitars, accordians and everything else in that line.

ELOQUENCE OF PRESS AGENT.

He Rahecks History for Comparisons to Do Justice to Place He Is Booming.

The eloquent press agent has thus described a new restaurant:

"Millionaires dreaming of the sybaritic luxury of Babylonian days and of the wonder-workings of Haroun al Raschid through the might of a staggering outlay of money, are rapidly transforming a famous old place.

"And was there ever a place of such Neronic allurements designed to meet the languorous requirements of my lady of fashion! Would she smoke? That will be provided for. A luxurious smoking room for her to now, French half-dressers, and maids imported from Paris. She may be repurposed, repowdered, and redressed. Furthermore, she may enjoy a Turkish bath, be gowned by maids as expert as her own at home, and with her culture rearranged may take her jewels from the safe and after a Lucullan repast be ready for the opera.

"Solomon in all his glory, or Sardanapalus the magnificent, but feebly realized the splendors, etc., etc.

Consternation in Drawing Room.

In "Stories of a Famous London Drawing Room," in the August McClure's, William B. Riding says:

"The company always included many delightful women, and I remember the consternation caused among them one day by Burnham, the scout. He explained that he attributed his success as a scout to the acuteness of his sense of smell; it was like a bloodhound's. There's no one here to-day," he affirmed, "who at any time anywhere in the future I could not recognize in the dark." Yes, I could tell you, and you, and you, nodding at an alighting group in modish apparel, by the way you smell."

"For an awful moment the conversation flagged."

Had to Get Running Start.

Commercial travelers find most of the natural curiosities along the line of travel. This is a story told by one after a trip through southern Canada. "Being impatient to get out of a sleepy little town, I ascertained the time of the outgoing train and hurried down to the station. After a while an object slowly emerged from the distance and stunk up alongside. I boarded the solitary coach, and after a tedious wait the engine began to gasp feebly; the old coach creaked a little, but the train did not move. I was about to get-say to see what was the matter, when the forward door of the coach was suddenly flung open and a head popped in. Hey, you, said the engineer, leaping at me, 'climb out till I get a start, will you!'"

ENJOYED HIS LAST MOMENTS.

Ecceitric Frenchman, Having Made Up His Mind to End His Life, Did Things in Style.

Says the Paris correspondent of the St. James Budget: "Weary of life at the ripe age of 70, M. Auguste Jabois, of independent means, residing in the Rue Porcieux, put an end to his existence with no little ceremony. Before retiring at night he spent nearly an hour discussing his favorite dishes with his housekeeper, and finally drew up a sumptuous menu for next day's lunch. It was to be a great treat for him, he informed us, and he must have everything of the best. He had purchased masses of flowers, and these were to be placed in all the rooms.

"The good woman grew seriously alarmed, as in her opinion these preparations could only mean that her master intended to get married, and that her rule was at an end. Her suspicions appeared to be confirmed when M. Jabois came down next day in his dress suit, with all his decorations. He took a cab and drove off to fetch the bride, thought the unhappy housekeeper.

"But to her amazement her master returned alone. He sat down to his meal with a hearty appetite, and then after giving orders that he was not to be disturbed, he retired to his study. There he was found dead, some hours later, having been suffocated by gas.

THE FIRST STANDING ARMY.

Historians Agree That It Was Made Necessary by Building of the Chinese Wall.

To describe the war-like use of the wall properly, a military historian is needed, who can set forth accurately and technically all the strategy involved and the weapons employed, in the general reader.

The very conception of a chain of thousands of strong blockhouses, linked by a rampart, and stretching over more than a thousand miles, he tokens a mind that can conceive great measures. Vast resources were needed to execute the plan and to defend the wall when once erected. A wall would need an army of workmen to erect it, an army of soldiers to defend it. The trowel might be laid aside in a few months, the sword must be ever ready. A mere wall without men behind it can not delay an invader for a day. The wall of China involved a standing army, and historians say it numbered 3,000,000 men.

There are signs in the brickwork that the towers were designed and finished first before any wall was erected. The order was not, therefore, wall first and then towers on it; but towers, and then a curtain between them. In China and in South Africa there was a time when it was found wise to erect rows of blockhouses near enough together to command the intervening space in case of fire, and numerous enough to attract a militia. The line of Chinese defenses apparently began in the same way; only, as they had no missiles that could be thrown far and swiftly, a solid line of wall became needful at an early stage. We can imagine that each garrison would be charged to build a section of wall on to meet the builders from the next forts and thus the mere wall would not be idly spent in mere watching.—W. E. Gell, in Harper's Weekly.

The Success Of a Grocer

Is largely due to the character of goods he offers for sale. The standard of quality ten years ago was far below the standard of today. High qualities have been brought about, first, by pure food regulation; second, by a steady growing demand for goods of superior grades.

Few people, acquainted with my Fairy Soda Crackers, now open their purse strings for the common thick cracker. The people demanded something better, and the result is a wholesome wafer cracker, salted just enough to suit the taste and sold at a popular price. Call and get a free sample of Fairy Sodas. It is quality that counts, that is why Fairy Sodas have gained popular favor.

WINS OR LOSES A PATIENT.

Little God of Love is Responsible for Variations in the Income of a Dentist.

Cupid has more to do with making the dentist's income an uncertain and variable quantity than any other single influence. A dentist who from the childhood of Gladys Vanderbilt yearly received fat fees for keeping her teeth in order remarked recently with regret at the loss of this source of revenue after she became Countess Szechenyi.

"A dentist never knows," he added, "when marriage is going to rob him of one of his most profitable patients. I am proud that it has been my experience that persons who have come to me to have their work done always come back again if their teeth need attention—until Cupid comes in to upset my calculations.

"Whenever I hear of one of my patients planning a wedding I know that I am going to lose a patient or win a new one. The bride and bridegroom almost invariably go to the same dentist. From my standpoint it's a case of lose one or win both."

The element of uncertainty that such a condition provides makes the poor dentist uneasy at times about the size of future incomes.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

DOG THAT TOLLS FOG BELL.

On the shores of Alaska, on a small rocky island, is a little light station, connected with which is a fog bell. During the continuance of dense fogs, which frequently prevail, the bell is used to warn vessels of the danger of approaching too near the island and coast.

The lightkeeper has a large and very intelligent shepherd dog that answers to the name of Don Carlos. This dog has been trained to toll the fog bell when the weather is very heavy. So well trained is Don Carlos that, when the fog comes rolling in, he rushes, unbidden by the keeper, to the bell and begins to tug at the rope and toll the alarm.

"I do not see how I could get along without Don Carlos," the keeper declares. "I am all alone and have no other assistant; but I can always rely implicitly on my dog. He knows his duty and faithfully performs it, whether told to do so or not."

A Way Out.

A broker and banker, who was a member of the Russian relief committee that had in charge the transportation of food to Russia from Philadelphia a few years ago during a famine, likes to tell of an amusing experience he had while substituting for the relief fund. In speaking of the food, he said: "I tell it because it shows the speed with which some people think I called on a man who was always a generous contributor to charity. He was out of sorts when I saw him and after I explained my intention he said: 'You fellows are always begging for something.' I was taken aback for a few seconds and when I recovered myself I asked: 'What would you do if the wolf were at your door?' He stared at me in a terrified manner for a second and then blurted out: 'Why, you fool, I would eat the wolf.' I noticed when I was passing out the door he was still watching me sharply. I have never started on a relief committee since then."

Great Soldier's Quick Thought.

Once during the Iron Duke's campaign in the Pyrenees, it happened that Gen. Pleton's dispositions for receiving the assault of Marshal Soult displeased him. The danger threatened from in front, and the difficulty lay in delaying the attack until Wellington could effect the change he wished. He was, as usual, equal to the occasion. Waving his hat in the air, he galloped to the front of a regiment as it moved forward a charge. The whole of Pleton's line cheered loudly, and as the road closed away, Wellington was heard to remark, half to himself: "Soult is a cautious commander, and still not attack in force without ascertaining the meaning of these cheers. That will save time for the Sixth division to come up, and we shall beat him." This was exactly what happened, and Soult sustained a bloody repulse when he might have won an easy victory.

SOLDIER-SAILOR MONUMENT

WHY NOT ONE IN WAYNE?

The Time Seems Propitious For the Erection of a Monument to the Veterans of the Civil War.

For several months past there has been some little talk about the erection of a suitable monument in Wayne to commemorate the valor of those who offered their services, and many of them their lives, during the civil war in defense of country and the flag. Lately the soldier boys themselves have become more interested in the project, realizing, no doubt, that if they are to have a hand in this laudable enterprise, it must be done quickly as Father Time is thinning their ranks very rapidly each recurring year. It is thought that a very suitable and appropriate monument could be secured for $2500, and to raise this amount or more in a county as well to do as is Wayne should not be a hard task. It is not proposed to make this a local affair but the monument, if erected, is to be a tribute to the soldiers and sailors, living or dead, within the entire county. Perhaps there did not many go directly from Wayne county to the war, but since its organization there have been many soldiers residing in the county, are still living here or are buried in the cemeteries of the county. The ladies of the Wayne Improvement Society have offered to co-operate in any way possible for the securing of this desirable end of a long talked project.

In many places where the workers have been unable to secure the required amount for the erection of a suitable monument the county has stepped in and made an appropriation out of the public funds of a few hundred dollars for this cause and it might be that such a thing could be done here if desired. It would seem that just now was the best time to get to work on the enterprise and push it vigorously to the end. Let some of the old soldiers, long time residents, or any other old resident, take the matter in hand and see what can be done. Now is the time to act.

One Short Month

Only one month until the fall election. Of course you are calculating to vote for all the candidates on the republican ticket for the county officers. If not, why not? They are all good ones. There is Beebe for treasurer, who has no opposition, also Britton for judge in the same boat. Mrs. Littell for county superintendent is filling the office in good shape and will continue to do so if elected. Grant Mears for sheriff, every one knows him and all are acquainted with his efficiency in the office. Alfred Bohlander for county clerk, a new man but none the less worthy and capable, and R. A. McCasheen for commissioner. No better choice could be made than him. In the hands of these officials all the affairs of the county will be carefully looked after and the interests of the county diligently attended to.

Terrible Accident

One of those distressingly shocking accidents that are all too numerous in the handling of firearms occurred in Leslie precinct, this county, last Sunday. Shortly after noon Richard Sneath, the youngest son of Robert Sneath, and about 18 years of age, took his shot gun and went over to one of the neighbors about eighty rods away expecting to go hunting with several other boys about his own age. While standing in the yard talking, with the butt of the gun resting on the ground, he in some manner, probably with one of his feet, discharged the automatic shot gun. He was evidently standing with his head bent slightly over and looking on the ground, as the entire load of shot struck him in the head just above the eyes, literally tearing the entire top of his head off. There were a number of witnesses to the accident, including the man on whose premises it happened, but there was nothing that could be done. The news was broken as kindly as possible to the parents of the boy and he was taken to the home which he had left only a short time before in good health and spirits. It was a terrible blow to the family and relatives. The deceased was a nephew of J. T. Bressler of this city and he went down in the afternoon as soon as he learned of the accident. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

Why Not in Wayne?

Wakefield has prized out for several years a plan of prize giving to citizens who will take an interest in keeping clean and beautifying their residence and business property. Not only is an interest created and a pride taken in securing the prizes, but Wakefield is becoming a cleaner more sanitary and more desirable place of residence each year. The prizes have just been awarded for this year and were divided under the following headings:

Best kept street on both sides one block in length, most improvement on residence property valued at $1500, on property up to $3000, on property over $3000, neatest backyard of business house, best kept alley one block in length, best kept church lawn, best kept residence property up to $1500, up to $3000, over $3000, best display of roses and shrubbery, most attractive window or porch box, best display of flowers, best vegetable garden, best kept lawn by boy and girl under seventeen.

Why would it not be a good idea for the Improvement Club of Wayne to arrange during the coming winter prizes for similar undertakings in Wayne. We have the reputation of having a nice clean town, but by awarding a few prizes there may yet be room for some improvement. We have mentioned this matter once or twice before and earnestly believe it is a good move for any town, in this way encourage their citizens and property owners to keep their places up in good repairs and in orderly condition. The prize for the cleanest kept alley might be placed at a good figure.

The Woodmen Picnic

About a thousand people attended the Modern Woodmen picnic in Winside last Saturday afternoon. The day was a "dandy" and there was no excuse to stay away. On the arrival of the afternoon train from the west, 150 members of the order, led by the Hancock band, marched around town. Jack Dunn led the goat, or rather the goat led him. State Deputy Keister, of Lincoln, and Rev. McClenahan, of Madison, delivered able and eloquent speeches in the park to a fair sized crowd.

In the matched fat man's race between C. W. Anderson of Hoskins, and Chas. McKee, the latter won. This was all that Hoskins did not get, for they won the ball game, tug of war and Fred Zeimer the free-for-all foot race. In the basket ball games, Winside lost both games, the Stanton boys and the Emerson girls winning easily. In the evening a bunch of over fifty candidates rode the goat, the Wayne team doing the work. That a great time was had, several of the candidates will testify to.—Winside Tribune.

Report of Charles S. Beebe, county treasurer, showing amount of fees received by him for the quarter ending September 30, 1909, amounted to the sum of $3.75, was on motion duly approved.

Whereupon Board adjourned to November 18th, 1909.

CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

A Large Increase

There is now $75,000,000 in the state banks of Nebraska, which breaks all previous records. Last February was considered the high water mark, but it has been now surpassed by $2,000,000.

Six hundred and sixty-one private and savings banks are at present doing business under state charters, and the deposits average about $112,000 to each institution. Under the date of August 31 there were 219,229 depositors in all of the state banks. Since the report of last May there has been an increase of fourteen banks and an increase of $1,236,964.70 in loans and discounts, and an increase of $2,275,434.62 in deposits. This is a big gain in deposits in three months, when it is considered that several banks have consolidated or consolidated with nationals.

Compared with the report of last year, it is found that the number of banks has increased 36, loans and discounts are $7,416,718.83 larger, and an increase of $9,077,414.56 is shown in deposits. The report shows a very satisfactory condition of the banks under state supervision. The average reserve in available funds is unusually large, while the bills payable and rediscounts have been materially reduced.

Poor Little Waifs

Editor Harris, of the Coleridge Blade, in speaking of foundlings, drops this pretty little bit of sentiment for his readers:

"Poor little waifs! Dropped from who knows where, into this rough and harsh old world which at once brands the ignominy of the parents upon their helpless and innocent heads and turns them, adrift from the poor house with a blight which years of helpful and righteous living will never be equal to fully erase.

Never to know a home. Never to be crowned peacefully to sleep in mother's tender arms; never to be romped and tossed by the strong arms of a good Dad; never to kneel with mother and learn the little evening prayers; no 'big brother' and no 'big sister'; no toys, no dog. A bit of humanity with no powers to resist, scuffed out to sink—for it will barely swim—and nobody cares. And such tragedy in a new born life sent pure innocence, innocence, always innocence paying guilt's penalty.

Frank Russell and family, of Meadow Grove, Nebraska, former residents of this county residing southeast of Wayne, stopped off here Monday for a brief visit with friends while on their way to Gettysburg, South Dakota, to visit Mrs. Russell's parents.

Our Real Leisure Class.

Does any one think longingly of our hurried and driven rich as the "leisure class"? Far from it are they, Dashing hither and yon from dawn to dawn every day in the year, at the call of emulation, none has less leisure than they. To see the real leisure classes of America visit Central park. There, on the benches and on the grass, you will see them—nurses, sitting perfectly idle for hours while baby sleeps in his crib or, frolics on the grass; grandma or grandpa keeping idle guard over the third, or even the fourth generation, and a miscellaneous collection of bums, stretched out wherever they can be most comfortable and eating not a whit that the world moves so long as they do not have to. They understand the real thing in leisure.—New York Press.

Strength of Early Impressions.

Crown people have in general a very inadequate idea of the susceptibility of little children. As a little tree is easily warped from its true shape, so is the heart and the mind of a little child.

Said Froebel: "If I pierce the young leaf of the shoot of a plant with the finest needle, the prick forms a knot which grows with the leaf, becomes harder and harder, and prevents it from obtaining its perfectly complete form. Something similar takes place after wounds which touch the tender germ of the human soul. It would have been far different with humanity if every individual in it had been protected at that tender age."

Decaying Newspaper Files.

Newspaper files are giving librarians no little anxiety. For the last two decades or so the daily journals have all been printed on wood-pulp paper, which is not of durable quality. In course of time the files become as brittle as dry, thin pine shavings. It is suggested by some students and librarians that the greater journals, at least, print a few copies "run off" on paper of the old-fashioned, everlasting sort, not only to insure the permanency of their own files, and supplying other copies to the libraries of their home cities.

Crowding the Scenery.

The late Elmer MacCarthy Lane, the novelist, used to tell a story to illustrate the conviction she cherished that a superfluous detail in a story is a blemish and a disappointment.

"Up in Gloucester one summer," said Mrs. Lane, "I remember the eternal amateur sit on the beach and produced a picture which included sea, sky, rocks, boats, wagons and people for a great artist to criticize. The latter looked at it a minute and then said quickly: 'Why didn't you put in the city of Chicago?'

"I think most of us in our work to-day," Mrs. Lane concluded, "try to put in the city of Chicago."

Short Horns at Auction

D. O. Collier, at his farm near Magnet will offer his entire herd of 43 head of richly bred Short Horns at auction. A number of choice young bulls, but mostly cows and heifers, bred to the Scotch bull Young Cumberland, by the famous prize winner Cumberland 118578. Sale held Thursday, Oct. 13, at 1 P. M. Free lunch and free transportation from Magnet to farms. Write for catalogue. 33w2

DELINQUENT TAX LIST 1909

Treasurer's Office, Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, October 1st, 1909.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the revenue laws of the State of Nebraska, I, the treasurer of Wayne county, will on Monday, November 1, 1909, between the hours of nine o'clock a. m., and four o'clock p. m., at the office of the county treasurer in the county court house in Wayne, in said county, offer a public sale, and sell the following described real estate, or so much of each tract of land or town lot as shall be necessary, for the amount due thereon for the taxes of 1908, as herein stated, together with all expenses for advertising, costs and fees that by law have, or may have accrued at time of payment. I will adjourn the sale from day to day until all of the said real estate has been offered.

Winning Compliment.

"No," said she, after a moment's deliberation. "I can never—no, never—be your wife. But I'll tell you what I will do. Just to show you that there is no hard feeling on my part, I will be present when you marry some other girl and bombard you with my shoes for luck."

"Ah, here was an opportunity. Quick as a flash the young man responded: 'Please don't. If you must throw old shoes, borrow them.'"

"And why not use my own?"

"Because they are so small we could never detect them from the room."

Plattery won. The beautiful girl decided then and there that the young man was altogether too clever for any other girl, so she reversed her decision and the cards are out.

Torturing eczema spreads its burning area every day. Doan's Ointment quickly stops its spreading, instantly relieves the itching, cures it permanently. At any drug store.

Maori Chivalry.

A Maori's idea of a woman is expressed in the phrase "she who dreams," which means that her thoughts are on a higher plane than his.

He allows her absolute freedom of speech and manner, for he is sure that if there is anything to be said or done a woman's refinement and sincerity will exceed his own.

Doan's Regulates cure constipation tone the stomach, stimulate the liver, promote digestion and appetite and easy passages of the bowels. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents a box.

Most Attractive.

Old Maid—Humph, so heaven has seven women to every man, and hell the reverse? I won't patronize you.

St. Peter (imploringly)—Yes, but you couldn't stand it down there, they use profanity, incorrect English, and—

Mr. F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefitted by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. Felber Pharmacy.

A Gentle Suggestion.

"I'm a consumer," said the man who between his coughs was talking at the top of his voice in the owl car, "and there is no doubt that I am always getting the worst of things."

"Well," replied the advocate of local option, "there are men who seem averse to paying their good money for any other kind of an article."

Foley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation in the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Felber Pharmacy.

And the Judge Dreamed On.

While trying an old woman on a charge of stealing faggots a judge who had acquired the habit of thinking aloud unconsciously exclaimed: "Why one faggot is as like another faggot as one egg is like another egg."

The counsel defending the case heard the observation and repeated it to the jury, whereupon the judge cried: "Stop! It is an intervention of Providence. This was the very thought that passed through my mind. Gentlemen (addressing the jury), accept the prisoner."—London News.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. Felber Pharmacy.

Chattel Mortgages, Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, and other blanks for sale at this office or printed on short notice.

C. R. Kluger, the Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." Felber Pharmacy.

A Cool Confession.

"I suppose," answered Miss Cayenne, "I'd follow the example of most of my friends who assume literary superiority. For the library I'd select volumes whose titles would make a good impression and keep the current novels and magazines out of sight."

Both Boys Saved

Louis Boone, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of a severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. Felber Pharmacy.

Why Did You?

"Why do women marry?" inquires the Baltimore American. "Usually because men ask them. Give us a hard one," says the New York Herald. "All right! Why do men ask them?"

—Washington Herald.

But why call this still harder when you can answer it yourself?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Wary Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Wayne proof.

Mrs. J. C. Hanson, of Wayne, Nebraska, says: "The principal symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a frequent passage of the kidney secretions. I was also subject to headaches and I felt generally miserable. Nothing gave me relief until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. This preparation cured me entirely and I have had practically no trouble since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

All Off.

The Duchess—Have you seen papa? The Duke—Yes. It's all off.

The Duchess—You don't mean to say that he refused to give his consent? The Duke—Oh, no. He said he'd give his consent—but not another cent.—Stray Stories.

Reputed Tomb of Menelaus.

The excavation of the Menelaus, the reputed tomb of Menelaus and Helen, has brought to light some interesting Mycenaean relics, among them traces of frescoes, fragments of pottery, bronze and lead votive offerings, beads, double-headed axes, terra cotta objects, and the like. The Menelaus itself was probably built about 5 B. C.; in other words, 600 years later than the traditional period of Menelaus.
