ABOUT SCHOOL SANITATION SOMETHING BADLY NEEDED

Parents, Teachers, and School Officers Should Read This Article

Below we give some extracts from an article by Dr. C. C. Johnson on "School Sanitation." While the language in some places is a little rough, it contains many valuable suggestions which might well be followed out:

"Habits of children are the greatest of all factors in disease, I say children because they are our hope. It is an old but true saying that 'you can not teach old dogs new tricks.' We must look to the children for our salvation in the prevention of disease, and as you teachers as a whole little realize the scope of your power for good or evil, you hold the destiny of this nation in the hollow of your hand.

"This education forms the common mind. Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."

You have the children of this nation for seven years at least, at the most malleable period of their lives, to mould their minds, bodies and souls. Your freckled faced, sore-toed boy of today, may be governor or standing in the halls of congress tomorrow, making better laws or co-operating with others who are endeavoring to uplift the general hygienic conditions or antagonizing them, and his attitude will be a less or greater extent due to his education in early life. It seems that outside influences are stronger than parental. I may be questioned for making that statement but if it is not true something is radically wrong with the parents. You have wonderful influence over your pupils and your ability as a teacher I believe is in direct ratio to that influence. Perhaps this is due to your endeavor to please and to understand them. Children love the beautiful and that may be a factor, but I am of the opinion that it is largely due to the mysteries you unfold to them. Teach your children habits as you do other fundamental principles and they will become automatic to them. Of habits that I would admonish you to inculcate in your pupils is cleanliness in all its splendor, the keynote to the whole field of prophylaxis, clean in mind and clean in body. Do not allow your pupils to eat with soiled hands or faces. If you cannot accomplish this by persuasion do it by edict. Insist on having more than one wash basin in the school room and have them clean. I have seen basins that were not fit for swine to drink from and one could not expect them to tempt the hands of a child not be an incentive to keep them clean. Have plenty of clean towels even if you have to scrap to get them you will make friends in the end. One of the most vicious things in the school room is the usual water pail and dipper. Oh! those filthy germ-laden pails, setting on a back seat or bench receiving dust and poisonous gases and a receptacle for the overflow of saliva, nasal secretions and morsels of food from careless, unclean children. Can you expect cleanliness of children who are not taught to shun such things? Is there any mystery in the spread of an infectious disease in schools? Individual drinking cups and a covered pail with a faucet will cost very little more and solve this question. Think of it. It is worth your while.

We thank our stars for the disappearance of the filthy old slate, rag and pencil. Let us hope they will never be seen again.

The system of district furnished books is to be mentioned only to be condemned. To compel a child to use a book not knowing the condition or the health of the former user is the very antithesis of sanitation. If the books are to be used by others they should be fumigated thoroughly and scientifically. This present lax system must be supplanted by a more sanitary one.

Another evil in many schools is the indiscriminate mixing of clothing, wraps, hats, etc. Every child should have an individual locker and be held accountable for its appearance. Space should be allowed for hat or cap, coat, rubbers or overshoes and an umbrella. In schools where this is impossible at the present time, individual hooks should be assigned each child.

The out closets of most schools is a disgrace to our educational system. Of all the vile, revolting and deplorable places, they are the worst. It is a crime against childhood to compel children to visit such places and what makes it a still greater offense, there is absolutely no excuse for such conditions. Closets in all country schools should be well built and on sanitary lines, and provision made by the district for keeping them clean and disinfected. Teachers should lay aside their false modesty and personally inspect them, and if entreaty and appeal to pupils does not suffice to prevent defacing them I would find the guilty parties even if I had to put them through the 3rd degree and mete out punishment to the guilty ones. In city schools the conditions are in many places worse than in the country. Where city water is to be had the very best plumbing should be used and plenty of space allotted and every provision made for the best sanitation.

The indecent habit of spitting disseminates more tubercular germs than any other unclean habit. This is against the law in many cities and I sincerely hope it will become universal. To be compelled to splot through the expectation on our streets and public places makes one blush for shame that he is a man. Teach your pupils to avoid this habit, and if they must spit to do so in receptacles for that purpose or in the gutter of the street.

Encourage your pupils to use clean handkerchiefs, and to hold them in front of their faces when coughing or sneezing, for it is the forced expiration that particles of moisture sufficient to carry germs are expelled from the lungs or nose.

The question of food is of importance, many school children show evidences of being underfed, not because there is not enough food to be had but due to the method of eating. The school hours have something to do with this in many places. A hurried breakfast again hurried dinner to reach school, with little time allowed for rest after eating and mental strain added, soon tells on the adult and children are much more susceptible to nervous influences than adults. A heavy meal at supper to make up for a missed breakfast and dinner and unless children are of strong constitution these habits will soon lower their vitality and leave them easy victims of disease.

I strongly urge for your consideration a two hours' noon period, beginning school a half hour earlier, and extending a half hour longer at night. This is a departure from the established custom, but many time honored customs are being abandoned.

I would warn you to watch your pupils, you are in a better position to note any physical defect than a physician. Do not allow your children to sit with others when they have a cough or cold. Do not compel a sick child to study. Do not allow a child who has a constant headache to study. Notice the eyes of your pupils, they are the greatest indicators of health and character. Do not delude yourself into thinking that all children have equal capacity for acquiring knowledge.

Do not lose your patience, everything goes in cycles in this world and we all have off days. Why not make allowance for the same in children and especially your girls?

Do not allow children with cold feet or damp clothing to sit in their seats until they are warm and dry, even if it takes half of your school hours to accomplish this. Health is more important than knowledge. Do not allow them to constantly assume a cramped or stopped position. Correct these habits in their beginning, and if unable to do so advise their parents to take them to their family physician for there is something wrong.

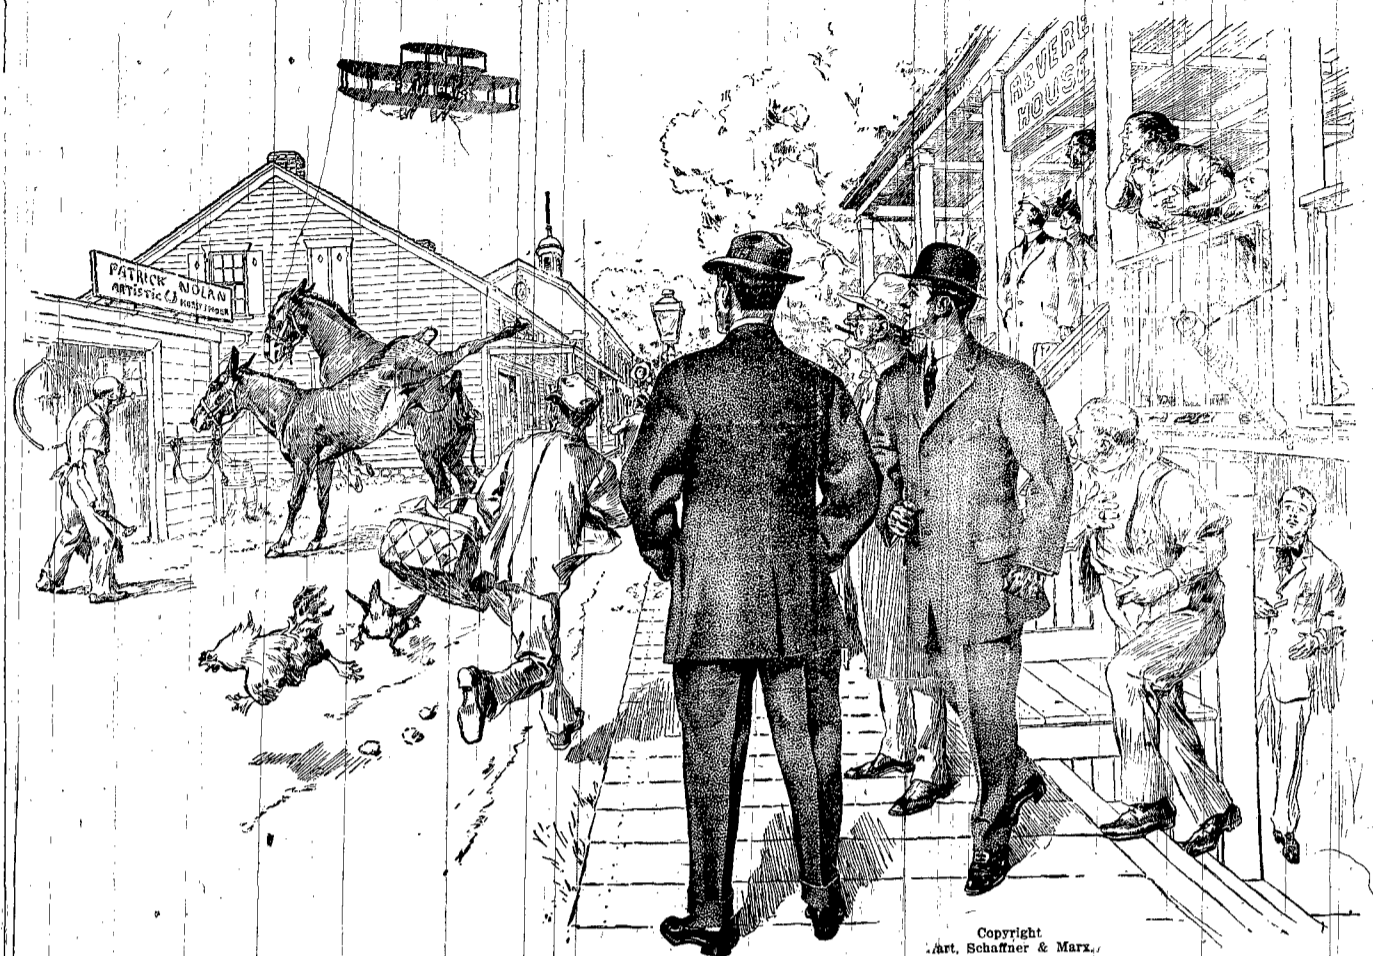

TAKE CENSUS NEXT YEAR Big Job to Count Noses of All the People

One hundred millions of inhabitants! Such is the advance estimate made by the census bureau of the population of the United States in 1910.

To count them and reckon up their manifold activities—giving, as a properly taken census must, a complete picture of the people and their doings—will be an enormous task. There will be 330 supervisors, appointed by the president, to look after as many geographical districts, and in Washington alone at least 3,000 additional clerks will be employed.

To gather and put together the census of 1910 will require the services of an army of nearly 70,000 men and women.

So huge has the population grown that the taking of the census of 1910 would be a job nothing short of appalling were it not for the recent introduction of machinery into the business. It is reckoned that the mere tabulation of the sex, age, nativity and occupations of the people, if made by hand, would consume, for those four items alone, the entire time of one hundred clerks for

THESE are great times we're living in; the mystery of aerial navigation seems to be just on the edge of being solved; a few years more and we'll be traveling through the air with as much unconcern and security as we now ride in a railroad train.

Progress seems to be the dominant idea of the times; new discoveries, new triumphs of science; new wonders all along the line. But when you come to clothes—and we all have to come to clothes, every day, and probably will for a good many years—when you come to clothes you'd better come here and get into a eight years. But most of the work is now done by machines which may almost be said to think.

We sell them; they're all-wool; they're perfectly tailored; they're the very latest discovery in correct style and they fit.

The tabulating machine will handle as many as 415 cards a minute; but the average speed in actual work is about 350. This is an average of 80,000 to 90,000 cards in a working day of seven hours, including stoppages for reading dials, etc.

Thus, for example, a few holes will tell that the individual represented by a card is white, of male sex, forty-five years old, married, a teacher by profession, able to read, write and speak English—with the additional information that he was born in England, that he has been in the United States ten years, that he resides in the Eighth ward, Albany, New York. It will be understood, then, that all the people in the United States in the year 1910 will be represented in the census bureau by ninety-odd millions of cards—one card for each man, woman or child. The biggest job, however is to put together the facts on the cards, so as to take tables of figures, telling how many there are of each age; how many are white, or of mixed blood; how many carpenters, undertakers and trained nurses there are; how many can read and write, and so on, even to the tabulation of these and hundreds of other matters in every township and city.

LIVELY CONVENTION OPENS IN TORONTO, CANADA.

Gompers Submits His Report—Delegates Heavily Applaud Sullen Points of Labor Leader in Discussing Fall Sentences.

That the American Federation of Labor intends to stand by President Samuel Gompers and his officers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, in their fight to evade the fall sentences imposed in the United States court for contempt of court was indicated Monday by the attitude of the delegates in attendance at the twenty-eighth annual convention at Toronto.

The delegates vigorously applauded the salient points in Mr. Gompers' report summarizing the Buck Stove and Range company's injunction case and the contempt proceedings which followed.

Mr. Gompers in his report discussed a wide range of labor issues, and those of Secretary Frank Morrison and Treasurer John B. Lennon, which followed, show that organized labor has made a substantial gain in the last year and that the funds of the federation are at all time with a balance of $155,292 in the treasury.

The credentials committee reported in favor of the faction headed by F. J. McNulty and declined to seat James L. Reid, of the Erie, Pa., Central Labor Union, president of the "assurgents" and other delegates from organizations in Ohio, Iowa, Alabama and Michigan, whose charters have been revoked by the federation.

The sisters, passing buckets of water up the stairs and carrying it on the blaze, sent the burning boys to overcome the little ones at their studies.

Those who attempted to rush out were ordered back and when help arrived from outside the children, part of them still unconscious of the peril were at their books, and the nuns almost dropping from fatigue, held their fire under control.

FOUR LIVES LOST.

Automobile Rushes Into the Chicago River

An automobile containing several persons, believed to have been four, whose identity had not been learned, plunged into the Chicago river Sunday night at Jackson boulevard. The occupants of the automobile were drowned. No bodies have been recovered. A witness reported that the bridge at Jackson boulevard had been opened for a steamer to pass through and that the automobile, which had approached toward the bridge at a rapid rate, struck the abutment, turned over and fell into the river with all its occupants. A moment later he saw a man and woman struggling in the water, the woman clinging to the man. She screamed for help and a bridge tender threw out life preservers as both victims sank.

Dr. Adolph E. Bertling, who had stopped in his automobile at the abutment of the bridge when he heard the alarm for the bridge to open, saw the accident.

"When the bridge opened," said Dr. Bertling, "I saw a boat pass. Just at that moment I looked about and saw a big truck car approaching. I saw a man in the front seat, but could not tell how many occupants were in the car. The driver failed to stop and I called to him to stop. Either he failed to hear me or he could not stop the car for a second later I saw the machine topple over the edge of the abutment. Then I heard screams."

Roy B. Gannon, a real estate dealer who came to Oklahoma City, Okla., from Lexington, Ky., was found murdered on the roof of a ten-story office building Sunday and $500, which he drew from a local bank Saturday, is missing.

Evident disorder in Gannon's office on the fourth floor of the building indicates that he was attacked there and his body dragged to the roof by a rope which was found around his neck.

The body bore a number of cuts and bruises, and some of the dead man's friends declared he was murdered as a result of a jealous quarrel. Gannon was 25 years old and has relatives in Kentucky.

The gift is the largest single contribution of its kind ever made and the beneficiaries include educational and church institutions in this country and one abroad, sixty in all.

Other large beneficiaries include the American Bible society, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the New York public library, the United Charities of New York, Columbia university and Robert College, Constantinople.

Judge Priest is widely known as counsel for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, the United Railways of St. Louis, and other large interests. He was arguing a case for the United States before Judge Muench when John A. Gilliam, an attorney for certain claim holders, challenged the accuracy of one of Judge Priest's statements. Infuriated at the interruption, Judge Priest rushed at Gilliam and struck the latter as he was rising from a chair. The Three-Miles house, a widely known hostelry located at Shillington, Pa., was burned to the ground early Friday. The guests and servants were aroused by the smoke and had difficulty in making their escape. The belief is strong that the fire was of incendiary origin. The loss is $50,000.

ALDRICH AND CUMMINS.

Leaders of Republican Factions Speak in Chicago on Same Night.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, chairman of the National Monetary Commission, told the members of the Commercial Club at a banquet Saturday night in the Congress Hotel in Chicago that a comprehensive, scientific plan for the changing of the American monetary system, both as to note issues and the organization of credit, is to result from the work of the commission.

Senator Aldrich, who was listened to with the closest attention by bankers and business men of Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans and other cities, declared that the commission thus far had prepared no specific plan. The preparation of a plan in the concrete, he pointed out, could come only after a detailed study of the world's banking systems and after minute consideration of the financial needs of this country. That study is now being given. But the Senator, after prefacing his speech by this declaration, went on to point out some of the things which appear plainly to be needed. The whole trend of his address showed that he is a believer in the central bank idea, though he did not say so in set terms.

In his first public utterance since President Taft's anti-injunction speech at Winona, and more recently the public speeches of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, reading the insurgents from the Republican party, Senator Albert B. Cummins, before the Marquette Club in the same city and on the same evening, not only defended his position in the party, but denounced Cannon, Payne, Aldrich et al. as common enemies of the public good and, therefore, not themselves the sort of stuff from which good Republicans are made.

Senator Cummins declared that the time is at hand when it is necessary to inquire into the qualifications of a Republican, but that, while he is willing to accept an arbiter, he is emphatically unwilling to leave it to Speaker Cannon or to Senator Aldrich. "I am anxious," he declared, "to prove my Republicanism and I hasten to name the judge. My judge is the Republican platform of 1908, which declared for those principles for which I cast my vote in the Congress of the United States."

FIGHTS TO REGAIN RICHES.

Relatives Accumulate When Old Man Is Found to Possess Fortune.

Peter Liebach, the miser hermit who when arrested a number of weeks ago was found to be wealthy, has begun his third fight to regain possession of his fortune. Since that time Liebach has been sent to the county poorhouse, then to court, then to a hospital for the insane, then to his hut and finally was returned to the hospital. During this time relatives accumulated until now there are nearly a score of them, all interested in the old man's fight for freedom. Some of them offered him a home, but he prefers his hut. Liebach's second court appearance resulted in his release. He appeared at the trust company with a bushel basket asking for his money. He said he could carry a bushel of it home every day until he had it all. The trust company refused him. He made such a fuss that he was returned to the hospital.

NEW HEAD OF PHILIPPINES.

W. Cameron Forbes Named Governor General of Islands.

W. Cameron Forbes, of Massachusetts, vice governor general of the Philippines, has been named by President Taft as governor general to succeed the present governor general, James Smith, whose resignation has been accepted to take effect Nov. 11, at the expiration of his leave of absence.

The reason for Mr. Smith's resignation lies in his desire to resume the practice of law. Mr. Forbes is a grandson of Ralph Waldo Emerson. He was appointed by President Roosevelt in 1904 a member of the Philippine commission and secretary of commerce and police. This appointment was made upon the recommendation of President Taft, who had high regard for Mr. Forbes' ability. As an official in the Philippines Mr. Forbes showed judgment and tact, and the President is confident that his administration as governor general will be a success.

JOHN M. SMYTH DIES.

Prominent in Mercantile and Political Life of Chicago.

John M. Smyth, one of the pioneer merchants of Chicago, died Thursday after a brief illness from bronchial pneumonia. His death is declared to be one of the tragedies which have followed in the tangled affairs of John R. Walsh, the former banker and a close business and personal associate of the merchant. M. J. Smyth was one of the men who made commercial and political history in the early days of Chicago.

Mr. Smyth lived nearly all his life on the West Side of Chicago, moving from the old homestead on West Adams street, only a few years ago. He was born July 6, 1842, in the steerage of an emigrant vessel, while ten days from the shores of America. His parents, Michael K. Smyth and Bridget McDonnell Smyth, were coming from Ballina, County Mayo. They settled at Quebec, moved to Montreal and in 1848 came to Chicago. At the time of his death the elder Smyth was clerk of the North Town, but not in prosperous circumstances. John, who had been attending school, was obliged to start work to help support the family. His first employment was selling newspapers. Later he was in the composing room, advertising solicitor and circulation manager of different papers which were influential in Chicago in those days.

In 1867 he believed his savings sufficient to start business for himself. With Ulrick Bourke he purchased a small furniture store at what was then 62 West Madison street. For several years it was little more than a modest second-hand establishment. Eventually he bought out his partner and in 1880 moved to the present location of the big store, of which he was the head, 703 to 721 West Madison street. He held the school section lease on the entire block on which his establishment stands, in addition to owning considerable valuable real estate on the West Side. Business prospered steadily at this spot until general merchandise was added to the furniture, a mail order branch established and the store became one of the largest in the city. In April, 1891, it was destroyed by fire, but rebuilt and open for business again in November of that year.

Mr. Smyth married Miss Jane A. Hand June 14, 1871, and they had eight children. He early took up his father's interest in politics. From 1878 to 1882 he was alderman from the old Ninth Ward. For several years he was chairman of the Republican County Central Committee. In 1884 he managed the Blaine campaign in Chicago.

OUST "BIG 4" TREASURER.

Deficit of C. L. Warriner of Cincinnati May Reach $100,000.

C. L. Warriner, until last Monday treasurer of the Cincinnati office of the "Big Four" Railroad passenger department, is accused of being short in his accounts. While the amount is not given, it is believed the shortage may reach $100,000. Warriner made a statement in the office of Albert H. Harris, vice president of the Big Four and general counsel of the New York Central lines, in the Grand Central station in New York. Warriner admitted taking money, and it is said declared stock gambling had been his ruin. For hours the accused treasurer was closely questioned by Mr. Harris.

OFFICER KILLED BY ROBBERS.

Carroll City, Ia., Marshal Victim of One of Two Men He Had Arrested.

Patrick Hutton, city marshal of Carroll, Iowa, was shot and killed by one of two robbers at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning near Giddens. Hutton had followed the robbers from Carroll, where they entered a house. He had captured the men and while covering them with a revolver turned toward his team. Instantly one of the men shot him in the back. A posse of seventy-five men, with shotguns and rifles, formed an hour later and captured the robbers in a cornfield.

BUDGET BILL PASSES COMMONS.

Great Rejoicing Among Liberals of Britain at the Result.

The budget passed the House of Commons in London Thursday night on the third and final reading, backed by a vote of 379 to 149, and representing the whole strength of the party, including the labor members, and there is great rejoicing among the Liberals. The bill was passed formally on its first reading in the House of Lords Friday, the debate on the second reading, which will determine its fate, beginning Nov. 22.

Robbers Torture With Fire.

M. J. Wright, farmer, was tortured and robbed within the city limits of Hamilton, Ohio, by two unidentified men. The men applied blazing sticks to his shoulders and abdomen. When the victim fell unconscious they robbed him of $200 and fled.

White Hottentots Drop Out 2 Die.

While fishing at Frankfort, Ky., Patrick Cushing and James Sullivan were drowned in the Kentucky River. The bottom of their boat dropped out. Two companions managed to swim ashore.

Four Children See Tragedy.

Frank Miller, of New York, shot and killed his father-in-law, John Seagin, in the yard of the latter's house in South Brooklyn, and then shot and probably fatally wounded his wife, Amelia Miller. He was arrested. The four children of the couple witnessed the shooting.

Two Die in Fire in Jail.

Two prisoners in jail at Lonsburg, N. C., were burned to death in the night in a fire that destroyed the building.

LABOR OFFICIALS DEFEATED.

Case of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison Decided by Court of Appeals.

The District Court of Appeals in Washington affirmed the decree of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, awarding President Samuel Gompers, Secretary Frank Morrison and Vice President John Mitchell, of the American Federation of Labor, a writ of habeas corpus and imposing a jail sentence in the Buck's Store and range case. Chief Justice Shepard dissented from the opinion of the court on constitutional grounds. The court held that the fundamental issue was whether the constitutional agencies of government should be obeyed or defied. The mere fact that the defendants were the officers of organized labor in America, said the court, lent importance to the cause and added to the gravity of the situation. But it should not be permitted to influence the result.

"If an organization of citizens, however large," the court held, "may disobey the mandates of the court, the same reasoning would render them subject to individual defiance. Both are subject to the law and neither is above it. If a citizen, though he may honestly believe that his rights have been invaded, may elect when and to what extent he will obey the mandates of the court and the requirements of the law as interpreted by the court, instead of pursuing the orderly course of appeal, not only the courts but government itself would become powerless and society would be reduced to a state of anarchy."

AUTO PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

Two Persons, and Perhaps Four Others, Perish in Chicago.

An automobile containing several persons—said to be four, perhaps six—plunged into the river at the east approach to the Jackson boulevard bridge in Chicago at 10:10 o'clock Sunday night, while the draw was open to admit a passing steamer. The screaming occupants—at least one of them a woman—were whirled southward by the swift current while men on the bridges made frantic attempts at rescue. They sank in a bright flash shown on the water by an electric sign, seventy-five feet south of the Van Buren street bridge. A heavy rain was falling at the time. A score of policemen and the fireboat Illinois reached the scene of the accident with ladders and grappling hooks, after some delay. Attempts to find the bodies of the victims speedily were abandoned owing to the darkness and the swift current, and efforts were turned towards finding the number of the machine for the purpose of discovering the identity of those who were in it.

DECIDES PEARY REACHED POLE.

National Geographic Society Will Consider Other Arctic Trips.

Commander Robert E. Peary was on Wednesday voted a gold medal by the National Geographic Society for having reached the north pole. The board of managers of the society accepted unanimously the report of its subcommittee of scientists who had examined the explorer's records and proofs and found them to be corroborative of his claim that he had reached the pole. The society adopted a resolution that the question of "whether or not any explorer reached the north pole prior to 1909 shall be referred to a subcommittee of experts, with authority to send for papers or make such journeys as may be necessary to inspect original records." This indicates that the society proposes as soon as possible to pass upon the records of Dr. Cook.

Robbers Torture With Fire.

The highest medical authority on foods,

Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D.—F.R.S. of London,

gives the best reasons for eating more Quaker Oats

In an article published in the Youth's Companion of September 23rd, 1909, Dr. Browne, the great medical authority on foods, says, about brain and muscle building—

There is one kind of food that seems to me of marked value as a food to the brain and to the whole body throughout childhood and adolescence (youth), and that is oatmeal.

Oats are the most nutritious of all the cereals, being richer in fats, organic phosphorus and lecithins.

He says oatmeal is gaining ground with the well-to-do of Great Britain. He speaks of it as the mainstay of the Scottish laborer's diet and says it produces a big-boned, well-developed, mentally energetic race.

His experiments prove that good oatmeal such as Quaker Oats not only furnishes the best food for the human being, but eating it strengthens and enlarges the thyroid gland—this gland is intimately connected with the nourishing processes of the body.

In conclusion he says— "It seems probable therefore that the bulk and brawniness of the Northerners (meaning the Scotch) has been in some measure due to the stimulation of the thyroid gland by oatmeal porridge in childhood."

The Scotch eat Quaker Oats because it is the best of all oat-meals.

On Wednesday, November 10, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the German Lutheran church, occurred the wedding of Mr. Frank H. Obst, of Chance, South Dakota, and Miss Marie L. Ed. His children here and a host of friends await anxiously the outcome. Mr. Reynolds now resides at Pullerton.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" never grows old. There runs through it a vein of pathos peculiarly touching and sweet. It speaks the universal language of the heart. It reflects like a prism the innermost phases of the human emotion. It is more than a play. It is a moral classic. It argues for two of the greatest themes that can enthuse the mind: human liberty and immortality of the soul. Notwithstanding its frequent production, it is seldom one sees the play as it is now presented by J. D. Chunn's colossal spectacular company. It is like meeting an old friend after many years. The management doubtless believes in the maxim "What's worth doing is worth doing well." They have brought together in this production all the requisites that go to make up a first class entertainment. J. D. Chunn's Greater Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will exhibit at the Opera House, November 17.

Sahe-Meyer

The wedding of Miss Clara Sahe and Adolph Meyer, brief mention of which was made in our last issue, took place at the German Lutheran church northwest of Wayne, November 3, at two o'clock. Rev. Gutknecht performed the ceremony and Misses Alvina Sahe and Ida Heinrichs were bridesmaids while Paul Meyer and Albert Sahe acted as best men. The bride was handsomely dressed in cream satin and the groom in black. After the ceremony the large number of guests in attendance were served with a bounteous wedding feast, the tables being decorated in a beautiful manner with spruce, bouquets of chrysanthemums, carnations and ferns. The worthy young couple start out across the journey of life with the well wishes of a very large circle of friends. The wedding gifts were numerous.

A Close Call

Tuesday morning Herschel Thomas, the young son of Dr. Thomas, had a close call for a broken arm or leg if nothing more serious. He was riding his shetland pony along the street on a gallop and when at the corner of Miller & Jones' store the pony slipped on the wet cement crossing and stumbled forward so quickly that the boy was thrown over its head to the ground. Not only did the animal throw him off but it fell right over on top of him. It was thought for a few moments that he had sustained serious injuries but aside from a severe shaking up and a bad bruise on one leg where the pommel of the saddle struck him he got off all right. The pony, scrambled to its feet, ran around in a circle and then came back where his young master was and waited for him to mount and then carried him safely home.

High School Notes.

Laura Barnett is a new member of our Sophomore class.

This week Thursday and Friday will be held the first examinations of this term. These examinations will occur once every six weeks and the week following each examination reports will be given to the pupils.

All the grades are now in their respective rooms in the new building and all are glad to be finally settled in their permanent places. Pupils and teachers are all very proud of our beautiful new building and this pride serves as a stimulus to do good work.

Our beautiful new high school building will be formally dedicated on Friday afternoon and evening, November 26, 1909. We are planning to have some music by the schools and a few addresses by prominent school men of Nebraska. The public is cordially invited to come and participate in this dedication.

Telephone calls to pupils or teachers at school ought to be limited to from 8:30 to 9 A. M., 1:15 to 1:30 and 3:45 to 4 P. M. The phone will be answered at other times, too, but people ought to avoid calling outside of the above specified time unless it is something very urgent. It is detrimental to have pupils called from study or recitation to answer phone calls.

The noon intermission has been lengthened from an hour and a quarter to an hour and a half. This will give the pupils and teachers sufficient time to get their dinners and get back to school in good time. In the morning pupils ought to get to school between 8:30 and 9:00 and in the afternoon between 1:15 and 1:30. Everybody ought to cultivate the good habit of having the right time in the home and there will be little trouble to get the pupils to school at the proper time.

The Methodist ladies will hold another one of their food sales at the furniture store of J. W. Johnson next Saturday afternoon. This will be the last sale for some time to come.

The Baptist ladies are hoping that you are planning to patronize their bazaar on the 1st and 2nd of December. It will be a good chance for you to buy Christmas gifts, especially at the doll table. They will have lots of pretty things for your inspection.

The special meetings will begin at the M. E. church Sunday according to former announcements. All christian people are invited to unite with us in our efforts to reach and save the lost. The services will commence promptly at 7:30 o'clock each evening and will be in charge of the pastor. The Sunday morning preaching hour is 10:30 o'clock.

The special meetings at the Presbyterian church will be continued until the middle of next week. There will be an afternoon and evening meeting each day except Saturday. Saturday afternoon the meeting will be omitted but the evening service will be held. On Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. Meyer will speak to men on the subject "How Men Ought to Behave Themselves in Church." A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Judging from the large number of traveling men who make this town they find Wayne one of the best on their routes. This is also shown by the large amount of freight handled. Our merchants are enterprising enough to ask for business and they get it.

Mrs. Evans, mother of Mrs. Gandy, aged seventy-four years, went to Rochester, Minnesota, Wednesday morning, where she will probably undergo an operation. It is not known definitely what the trouble is but she has been a constant and great sufferer for some time. Dr. Leisenring accompanied her and it is his opinion that the disease is cancer, and it will be definitely determined at the hospital unless those in charge feel that an operation will do no good.

John Harrington went to Sioux City Tuesday morning.

Dan Harrington and wife were passengers for Omaha Tuesday morning.

H. C. Henney went to Sioux City Tuesday, thence north to Worthington, Minnesota, and other points, on business.

Hansen Bros. have taken out both government and state license to sell Butterine. The government license costs $6 per year and the state license $10 per year. They received their first shipment Friday. It looks good and retails at twenty cents per pound.

All classes of job work turned out promptly and in a neat manner at the Herald office. C. F. Whitney has charge and you all know him and the kind of workman he is. He is a swift one from away back and you may rest assured of good work. He does not do any other kind.

Talk about your Florida, Texas, or California climates. Nothing like the Nebraska article. It has been so warm here the past week that doors have been kept open, without fires, men were going around in their shirt sleeves, ladies in shirt waist suits, the dandelion blossoms by the roadside and it has been as pleasant as a day in June.

By the council proceedings in another column it will be seen that Mrs. Wightman and Mrs. Crossland, on behalf of a delegation of ladies who were present, presented the council two petitions, one circulated by the Ladies of the Federation and the other by the Bible Circle, asking the council to have the moving picture show discontinued on Sunday evenings, and the city attorney was asked to draft an ordinance covering the same, to be acted upon at some regular meeting.

The barbers of Wayne, Wakefield and Winside have entered into a combine and have put the price of shaves up to 15 cents after November 15. Thus doth prosperity prosper. Cold weather coming on the rest of us poor mortals might combine and let our whiskers grow and starve the other fellows out. Shaving is something that does not have to be done. We suppose the barbers had never thought of that. You will find their notice in this paper.

Young men and women who wish to prepare themselves for positions in banks and business houses will be interested in the circulars now being sent out by the Grand Island Business and Normal College of Grand Island, Nebraska. This school has one thousand students each year and all graduates are placed in good positions—in fact, the student is not required to pay his College expenses until he has graduated and earned the money. Several from this part expect to enter next term.

Archie Lindsey went out in the country Monday morning seven and one-half miles to the home of his son Everett to see that new corn husker he has. It is not of the Deering kind, although it is a dear one, and his grandpa thinks it will be about a dozen years before he will be able to husk much corn. The youngster is about ten days old now.

J. W. Bartlett and wife left Tuesday morning for their winter's sojourn in the west. They went first to Glenwood, Iowa, where they will visit their daughter for a week, then go to Fallon, Nevada, where they will tarry with their son for about ten days and will arrive in California about December 1st. This couple have earned a rest and propose to get it among the flowers on the Pacific coast.

Postmaster McNeal received the cheering intelligence Sunday noon that his daughter Bessie had had a change for the better. All day Saturday and most of that night the death angel seemed to have been hovering very near by her bedside in the hospital at Omaha, and grave fears were entertained that death would come before the daylight hours of Sunday were ushered in, but about midnight there was a sudden change for the better and the young lady has been steadily improving since then, which her friends and those of the family are glad to learn. Mrs. McNeal is still with her.

Farewell Reception

Monday evening before J. W. Bartlett and wife departed Tuesday morning for their winter's sojourn in the west, I. W. Alter called on them and insisted that they go to his home to tea. As they were quite busy making arrangements to get away they tried to find some excuse that he would accept, but failed, and so they finally went. Later in the evening about forty of the older members of the Baptist church marched in on them at the Alter home and gave them a surprise. The invaders took with them well filled lunch baskets and all made merry for several hours. They also presented Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett with a handsome gold headed umbrella as a token of their esteem and well wishes for a safe journey, a winter of enjoyment and a return in the spring.

A. W. Newton, who has purchased the Ed. Ellis restaurant, will at once proceed to make some changes in the business and building. A large kitchen addition is to be built in the rear of the present building and when this is completed the dining room will be moved back to where the kitchen is now, then the front "fraid cat" who stood on the bank and wriggled his big toe in the water nearly froze to death. His advice is to get into your religion all over, and enjoy it, and not stand on the edge and wiggle your big toe in it and freeze to death.

Rev. Weyer says that the reason some people do not get any good out of their religion is because they are a good deal like the small boys and the swimmin' hole. Those who plunged in all over at once, although the water was rather cool, found it warm and invigorating while the "fraid cat" who stood on the bank and wriggled his big toe in the water nearly froze to death. His advice is to get into your religion all over, and enjoy it, and not stand on the edge and wiggle your big toe in it and freeze to death.

November 15 the Monday Club will meet with Mrs. Welch. Mrs. Marsteller and Mrs. Heckert will be the leaders and the topic will be a continuation of last week American poets. Longfellow will be the author. The meeting will open with a roll call by memorized quotations, followed by reading from Evangelines by the members of the Club.

There were about one hundred men attended the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the Woodmen Hall Sunday afternoon. Rev. Weyer talked to them about half an hour on "A Legion of Devils," and said many good things. He argued that if there was no such thing as the devil in the world that there were a whole lot of beings in every community that made tracks very much like those ascribed to his Satanic majesty in the past and cited many cases to back up his assertion. There were some good solos by Herbert Welch and Axel Vennerberg, also other songs and the meeting was helpful.

CALUMET Baking Powder

Received Highest Award
World's Pure Food Exposition
Chicago, November, 1907

What does this mean?

It means that Calumet has set a new Standard in Baking Powder—the standard of the World. Because this award was given to Calumet after thorough tests and experiments, over all other baking powders.

It means that Calumet is the best baking powder in every particular in the world. And this means that Calumet produces the best, most delicious, lightest and purest baking of all baking powders.

Doesn't that mean everything to you?

A Disease and a Remedy
 Last Tuesday evening after the election was over we dropped into a business house in Wayne, and naturally the question under discussion was in regard to the election and the probable results. A gentleman present inquired if the writer had voted that day and on being answered in the affirmative he remarked, "Well, you took more interest in the election than I did. I did not go near the polls." On being told that he ought to have voted he made reply, "What is the use? The ignorant rabble will vote the way they are told to do. Many of them do not know any more than the big black bull that roams to and fro in the pasture." Perhaps we are too simple minded but we have never yet been able to bring ourselves to believe that men can be herded together like cattle and taken to the polls and voted as certain men may dictate regardless of party affiliation, moral issues or what not. But even if it were true the remedy lies in the hands of the better class. As we stated the week before election, it is the duty of every voter to go to the polls and vote at every election, and men who do not have appreciation enough of this boon which is vouchsafed to them under our form of government, and for which others have fought, bled and died, are unfit for citizenship. This man is well along in years, has enjoyed the blessings of this free government for more than half a century, has been honored by his fellow citizens in the past by his votes when a candidate for office, and yet if he has as low an estimate of the right of franchise and the integrity of his fellow men as his remarks on that occasion would indicate, he has not been worthy of the honors bestowed upon him in the past. It is this "I am holier than thou," in the political realm that gives the vicious class a chance to control the politics and policies of any city, state or nation, if it is done, for that class are so afraid of contamination that they will not go near the polls to vote no matter how vital the issues may be. The only place to correct many of the evils abroad in the land is at the ballot box and every christian voter owes it to himself, his city and state to make use of that which has been given him to bring about a better state of affairs than that he may complain of, and if he fails in his duty he should forever hold his peace. No man has a right to expect that some one else will lift burdens from his shoulders without any effort on his part, neither has the better element of any community any right to shirk any of the personal responsibilities and duties laid upon them simply because things may not have gone in the past or may not be going now just as they would have them do.

In marked contrast with the man who gave us the text for this sermonette, is another man of about the same age but who looks at things in a different light. The latter gentleman resides in Illinois but has property interests in this vicinity and comes here two or three times a year to look after his affairs. While here this fall, just before election, he remembered that there was a struggle on between the forces that make for evil and the disregard for law, and those which tend to christian citizenship and the betterment of society, and although he had not completed his business here, he returned to his home town in the distant state to cast his vote on the side of order and the enforcement of law, and then came back here to look after his private affairs.

Which think you is the better citizen of the two? The one would stand idly by and complain because the vicious rule, the other would use all the influence and power vouchsafed him through the ballot box to do what he could to combat the evil tendencies and overcome them. Every voter should have convictions regarding the policies under discussion and then express them at the polls. To do less than this is being that much less than what a good citizen should be.

The Greatest Convention
 This county will have this year will be the County Convention of Sunday Schools to be held in the M. E. church of Carroll, Nebraska, on November 20 and 21, 1909. There is no church problem that the Sunday School cannot solve. There is no civic problem beyond its solution, and you can learn how it is done at the above named meeting. Bring your hard questions for the state workers to answer. Hear them discuss the child, the boy, the man and the relation they bear to the Sunday School, the church and the community.

F. H. JONES,
 County Secretary.

If you need help of any kind, tell as many people as possible. There are more than 40,000 people who subscribe for the Omaha Bee. You can tell them all for one cent per word per day. Write today.

Le Beau, South Dakota, has been in existence fifty years and has never had a death or funeral within its limits, and because a man got killed two miles west of there and it was proposed to bury him in the town limits it raised a big fuss, as there is no cemetery in the town.

Even the best farmer has a good deal to contend with sometimes. The town man has his troubles and envies the farmer. The farmer thinks the town man has a snap—that is some of them do. Here is a trouble that gets one of our good farmers. [His own place he works hard to keep clean, and the yellow raises spinflowers and other noxious weeds the seeds of which make it a perpetual struggle for number one. He can't cultivate the neighbor's farm and he hates to call his attention to his negligence thereby making trouble. So he has his troubles like the rest of us.

Twins at J. Rennick's
 James Rennick was in town Tuesday and reported twins born at his place last week, not twin babies but twin calves, but James seemed to be just as happy as though they were babies.

Every lady he met he would stop and shake hands with her and tell her he had twins at his place and receive her congratulations. Now this is Jim's second offence of this kind as last year this same cow brought him twin calves and he came to town and told her he had twins at his place and had all the men jealous of him and the women showing congratulations upon him. It is time the men of Pilger should register a kick.—Pilger Herald.

Where Have They Gone?
 Wayne and Winslow appear to be having some mysterious disappearances of their own. A week ago last Monday J. H. Bacon, who recently came here and said he had purchased the old steam laundry, and had men at work several days fixing it up, went to Sioux City, as he claimed, to buy a new engine and boiler. He has never returned and nothing has been heard from him nor of him. It seems queer that if he had really invested any money in the enterprise that he would go off and leave it in that manner.

A week ago Monday Orrin Garwood moved from Hoskins to Winslow to take over the Tribune which he had recently purchased. No announcement was made in the paper last week of the change in ownership and Thursday Garwood left town telling no one where he was going and up to yesterday afternoon nothing had been heard of him. In conversation with his father yesterday he told us that he did not know anything about where he was nor why he had gone away in that manner, but thought perhaps Orrin had gone to Huron, South Dakota, near which place he had some land. It is a queer way to do.

Jail Sentence for Assault
 Norfolk, Neb., Nov. 8.—Henry Fenstermacher was sentenced to thirty days in jail by Police Judge Eiseley this afternoon for attempted criminal assault upon 13-year-old Anna Bruning. Fenstermacher, 19 years of age, is a helper at the Northwestern turntable here. He lodges at the Bruning house. The assault is alleged to have occurred Friday, but the little girl withheld her story, fearing if she told her father he would kill her assailant. Today the crime leaked out, however. Evidence of a desperate struggle between the man and the little girl were found in finger nail scratches on his face. He declared he could not recall the incident.

Insane Man Kills Self at Norfolk
 Norfolk, Neb., Nov. 8.—Breaking away from attendants guarding him on a walk with other patients, Martin Barrett, an inmate at the Norfolk insane hospital, from Atkinson, rushed back to the dormitory, broke open a bureau drawer, seized a razor and cut his throat. An attendant followed him and tried to prevent the suicide, but Barrett, a big, powerful man, fought off the guard, and, later, when the attendant attempted to tie the severed veins, Barrett fought him to a standstill again, bleeding to death in the scuffle. The tragedy occurred Saturday, but was suppressed by the hospital authorities until today.

Barrett was walking with patients from ward No. 4, an attendant leading and one following the line. When they passed the door of ward No. 2, the other ward, Barrett left the line and darted in. Why a razor should be left available to a patient was not explained. That Barrett needed extra watching is true, for a week ago he promised a night watch $30,000 for a knife with which to end his life, declaring his mother called him from heaven.

BLOW FOR SALOON MEN
 Nebraska 8 O'Clock Closing Law Upheld by Supreme Court

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 9. The Nebraska supreme court today sustained the validity of the 8 o'clock closing law. The decision was rendered on appeal in the case of Frank Dinuzzo, an Omaha saloon keeper, against the state. The court held that the legislature acted within its power and that no cruel and unusual punishment had been inflicted on the saloon keeper, because the holding of a license carried with it no vested rights.

The law forbids the sale or gift of liquor between the hours of 8 p. m. and 7 a. m.

The opinion was written by Judge W. B. Rose. The law was attacked on allegations that the amendment was not germane to the statute amended; that the regulatory rights of cities were invaded, and that the revocation of a license on conviction of violation of the law was cruel and unusual punishment. In none of these points did the court find a tenable position and the law is upheld in all respects.

NOTED RUPTURE EXPERT
 Seelye, Who Fitted the Czar of Russia, Will Beat the Oxford Hotel, Norfolk.

F. H. Seelye, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will be at the Oxford hotel and will remain in Norfolk this Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20, only. Mr. Seelye says: "The Spermatic Shield Truss as now used and approved by the United States government will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete relief, but closes the opening in ten days on the average case, and costs no more than common trusses." This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery or harmful injections. Mr. Seelye has documentary references from the United States government, Washington, D. C., for your inspection. When You Buy Clothes Our Way you cut out the element of doubt. We've the habit here of using the word "satisfaction" as something more than a mere "talking point." It's an existing reality, and it proves out in the clothes. That means a lot of care and knowledge on our part. We handle only clothes on which we know you cannot fail to get the greatest measure of service. Our garments from carry--back of every thread of material, every stroke of cutting, and every stitch of tailoring--the maker's guarantee--you'll find it in the pocket of every garment.

On top of that we give our guarantee. The clothes must prove right in every way--in every service. And that double guarantee is your absolute protection--not only when the clothes are new, but through long months of wear.

If there's a risk, we take it--if there's a loss, it's ours

THEORIST IN DEEP TROUBLE.

He Cannot Understand Why Things Disappear When They Are Not in Constant Use.

"Did you ever notice," asked the theorist, "how a thing will disappear if you don't use it for awhile? Leave it around your room for awhile and it will vanish."

"Easy enough," said the practical man. "The servant sweeps it into the wastebasket."

"Not at all," said the theorist. "Try the experiment of having two of any thing and use one, and the other will disappear. I mislaid my pocketknife a few weeks ago and bought another. I found my old one that night and carried both in my pocket for awhile, and always using the new one. In the course of time the old one vanished—vanished magically from my pocket."

"You dropped it," said the practical man.

"Why didn't I drop the new one?" asked the theorist. "And why is it always that way? I had a new key made for my office desk, under the impression that there was something wrong with the old one. There wasn't. I carried both of them on a ring. After awhile the old one, which I didn't use, vanished off the key ring."

"At home I use an eyeshade for reading at night. I had two, one light and one heavy. Lately I have been using the heavy one alone, keeping the light one in a drawer. To-day I opened the drawer and found the light one gone. Do you think the maid opened the drawer so as to find some thing to sequester for the waste basket?"

"Hush!" said the practical man. "Tidy it," said the theorist.

BLOSSOMS THAT DO NOT MIX

Florist Tells of a Few Things He Has Learned in His Business of Handling Flowers.

The florist frowned as he took up an order for a table decoration. "That will never do," he muttered. After calling up the customer and suggesting a change, he told his new clerk a few things.

"You must never take an order that calls for a mixture of gladiolus and roses," he said. "A sunlit piece of those two flowers wouldn't last half through the luncheon. They simply wilt one another. I don't know why, but they can't get along together."

"It is true of many flowers. Pansies, for instance, last twice as long as if they are not combined with any other flower, and the same may be said of violets. Jonquils and daffodils, on the other hand, seem to get a new lease of life if you combine considerably green with them. Carnations will go all to pieces if you combine them with roses, although the roses do not seem to be affected."

"It is more striking in combinations of green with flowers. If you try to use an entirely different type of foliage from what the flower is used to, it won't last so long. So I never put feathery foliage with lilies of the valley, for you know the natural foliage is a thick leaf. I never use thick leaves with carnations for their foliage is of the feathery type. It isn't as though the flowers fought, but they seem to grieve at being misunderstood."

Calvin, a Man of the World.

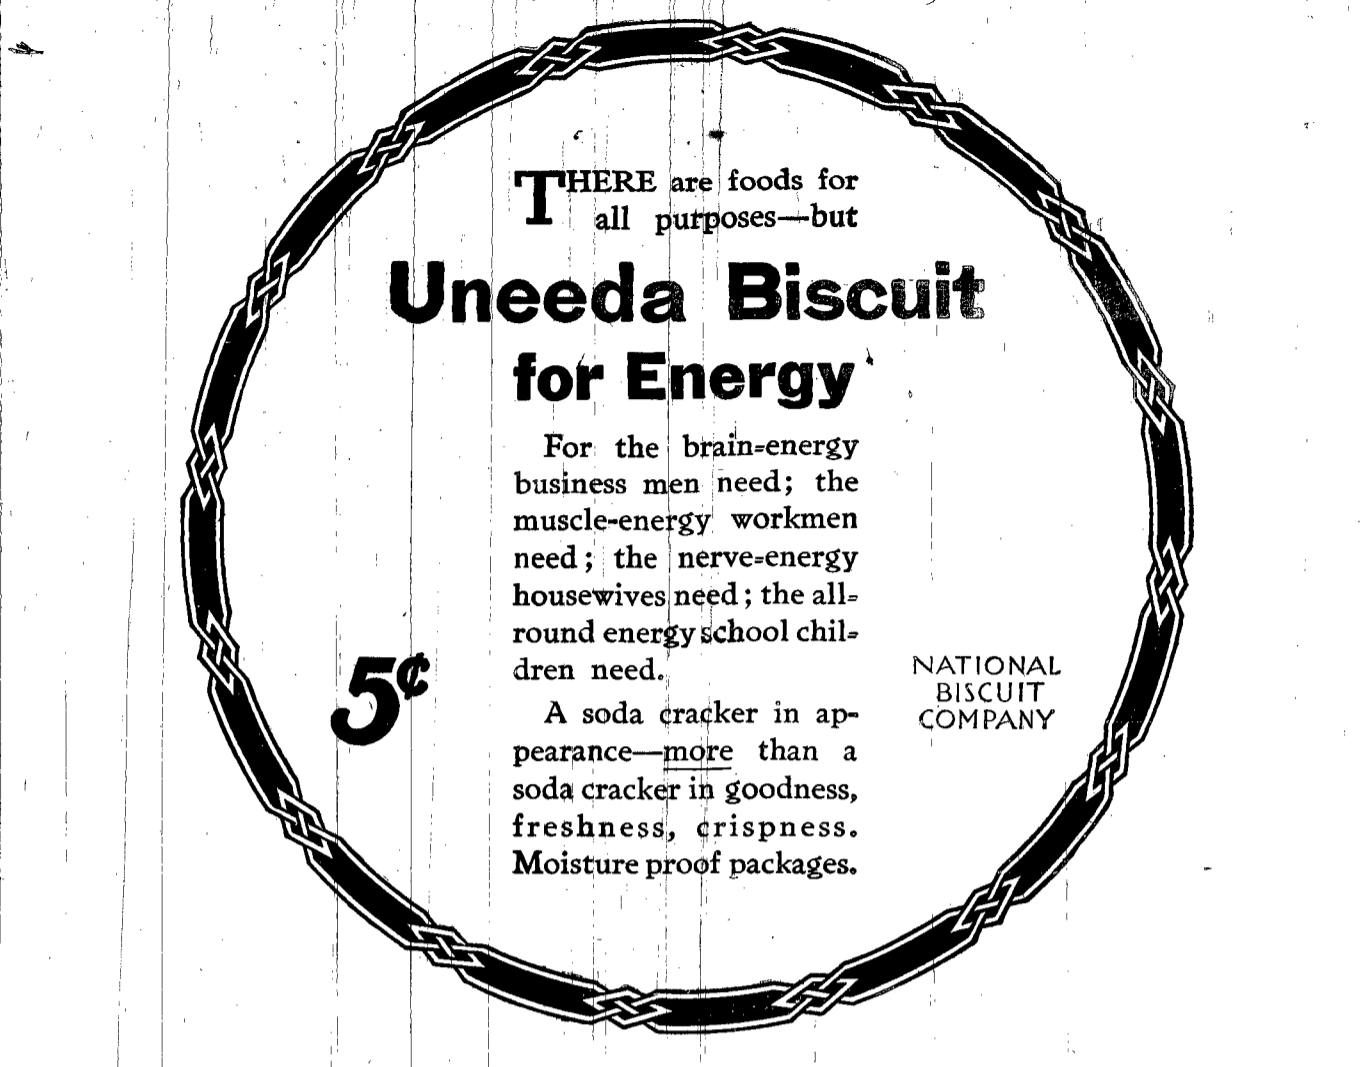

Calvin had many advantages. He was not a scholar merely, he was a man of the world. He had traveled, was familiar with the life of courts, was on terms of intimate friendship with many of the most distinguished persons of his day. He had a commanding intellect, a literary style which was the envy and admiration of the learned. He knew law as well as he did theology. French as well as he did Latin. His grasp of a wide range of subjects and his attention to detail were things to marvel at. Add to these an inexhaustible patience and a builder's tenacity of purpose, a vivid humor, interest and an amazing capacity for work and we begin to understand how it was that this penniless and sickly foreigner, who came to Geneva in the first instance, so utterly unknown and without prestige as to figure in the records merely as "a Frenchman," ended by setting his stamp so ineffably upon the place that it remains there even to our own day.—Century.

Opinions of Others.

I never yet knew any man so bad but some have thought him honest and afforded him love; nor any one so good but some have thought him vile and hated him. Few are so thoroughly wicked as not to be estimable to some; and few are so just as not to seem unequal; Ignorance, envy and partially enter much into the opinions we form of others. Not can a man, in himself, always appear alike to all. In some nature has made a disparity; in some report has blinded judgment, and in others affectation is the cause of disposing us to love or hate.—Owen Felltham.

Hornets Break Up Church Services.

A great revival in progress at the Baptist church in Boston, Ga., was broken up by the swarming of hornets which had built nests back of the pulpit. The services were at high tension, the preacher being engaged in calling sinners to the mourners' bench, when the yellow jackets began to dart out from their nests and sting sinners and sinners alike. Women screamed and many of the men said things that had no churchly sound. Then the congregation broke into a panic and bolted from the church, leaving the hornets in possession.

Another Record-Smashing Stock Show at Hand

Once more the International Live Stock Exposition, which will be held in Chicago from November 27 to December 10, has accomplished the seemingly impossible by again showing a most phenomenal increase in entries. Once more all past records have been demolished and once more we are brought to realize that interest is growing in this, the greatest of live stock shows—this leading exponent of the live stock industry—and this great annual event is becoming more popular from year to year. Even though feeding operations have been exceedingly light during the past year we still find an increased number of entries in the cattle department. The draft horse exhibit will be the greatest ever seen in this or any other country. Horses, whose lineage dates back in the dark ages, will be seen in the ring beside the most splendid specimens of the English and Scottish types, whose equals have never before been brought together in such numbers in the history of the show ring. The number of exhibitors in the sheep department exceeds that of any previous year, and in quality their exhibits will far surpass anything ever seen here in the past, as the entries show them to contain some of the choicest importations made to this country in recent years. In the swine department all the leading types will again be represented and the quality will be superior to that of any show ever seen on this continent. All these and many other new features give promise of making the coming exposition the greatest in the history of this splendid series of events, and no one will be ever so distantly connected with live stock—the right arm of our basic industry, agriculture—can afford to miss this exceptional opportunity for education, entertainment and a pleasure trip in one.

Wayne Mention

Laurel Advocate: Mrs. Roy Lathrop has been at Wayne for some time, her mother, Mrs. Emil Weber, having been very ill. Roy went over Sunday for the day and reported Mrs. Weber's condition slightly improved.

Winds Tribune: Fred Sonnenberg sold his 160 acre farm north of town to Dr. Whightman of Wayne, last week. While the consideration received has not been made known we understand it was well towards the $100 mark. This is a big booster for Wayne county when land sells at such prices. Mr. Sonnenberg has not fully decided what he will do but will probably move to town.

Pierce Call: Frank Dranselka went to Wayne Tuesday to attend the wedding of a relative.

Eugene Ballows, of Wayne, visited Sunday and Monday with his friend, Henry Robb.

Ohio leads all other states with the largest number of war and naval pensions, latest reports of pension agents accredited that state with 92,507 men, women and children who draw government pensions. Pennsylvania is second with 92,066 on the pension roll. These two states furnish about twenty per cent. of the country's pensioners. New York is third with 83,391. Other states ranking high are Illinois, 66,402; Indiana, 57,042, and Massachusetts, 40,098. The entire roll showed a net decrease of 5,493 as compared with the previous year.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Felber Pharmacy.

ONE WEAK SPOT

Most Wayne People Have a Weak Part and Too Often It's the Back

Dull aching keeps up day and night. Tells you the kidneys need help. For backache is really kidney-ache.

A kidney cure is what you need. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Cure backache and urinary ills. Good proof in the following statement.

Everett Harbison, farmer, Creighton, R. F. D.
