ED. JOHNSON WRITES LETTER

TELLS ABOUT HIS TEXAS TRIP

Also Some Impressions of the People and Country.

Pecos City, Texas, Jan. 19, 1910, Editor Herald and friends at Wayne and vicinity:

I believe I promised you I would write a few lines about our trip to the sunny south. We left Wayne the morning of December 6th; there was some snow on the ground; we also found considerable snow at Omaha. We left Omaha the same day over the C. R. I. & P. R. R., and the snow followed us as far south as El Reno, Oklahoma. We missed connections here and had to stay all night. We attended a good musical comedy, "The Time, Place and Girl." Incidentally noticed that when the chorus sang "Dixie" there was a great applause in the audience, and when they sang "Marching Through Georgia," no applause excepting ourselves.

We took the train from El Reno the next morning and arrived at Fort Worth, Texas, the same day. Fort Worth is a city of perhaps 85,000 people, but I tell you they would get run over if they came to Omaha (rather an old back number city it looked to us. We gathered a large box of Mistletoe here, it grows quite profusely on any kind of trees.

We stayed in Fort Worth three days, having some land business to look after here. We arrived at Pecos City (pronounced as spelled Pa-cus) December 11th, our destination for a while at least. Pecos City is in what is called West Texas, about 100 miles south of the New Mexico line and perhaps 200 miles east of El Paso, Texas, and 400 miles west of Fort Worth. The Davis Mountains are about 30 miles southwest of Pecos City; we are about 200 miles from Old Mexico and expect to take a trip in Old Mexico along toward spring, also the Gulf Coast.

The weather here is certainly ideal, the sun shines most of the time; it occasionally freezes some at night, but always warms up in the daytime, we very often see bare-foot children, especially in the Mexican settlement. Pecos City has about 2500 people, most of the inhabitants are from east Texas, and we find them a genial, sociable, warm-hearted class of people very easy-going, and inclined to put off till tomorrow what ought to be done today. There are a few Mexicans (a cross between a Spaniard and an Indian) who live off by themselves in adobe houses, a house made of mud and sticks. There are not more than four or five negroes in the town. This is truly a city of flowing wells, perhaps as many as 200 flowing wells in Pecos; each block is supposed to have a flowing well on it, then they are piped to the houses on that lot and controlled by a faucet, getting the pressure from the well. By the way quite a number of the farmers here water their farms with flowing wells, they claim some of them will water as much as 160 acres of alfalfa.

Not longer ago than three years this country was strictly a "cow country" and the Cow Puncher was master of the situation. A minister told us that at that time it was not safe to let a lamp burn late in your home, for they would ride through the town and shoot it out.

The Christmas here was just like our July 4th, such shooting of fire crackers, roman candles, torpedo and fireworks at night, with paper balloon ascensions and with nice warm weather we could very easily imagine ourselves in the north on the fourth of July. Have actually seen the thermometer register 85 degrees above in the shade since we have been here. Pecos City certainly resembles a semi-tropical city, with its Yucca Palms, Spanish Daggers and salt and cypress cedar trees. The trees of the north are not in evidence at all, yet there are some very fine peaches grown here, the best pears in the world are raised here and it is the home of the Tokay grape. In fact they can raise almost anything here if they would but try. I presume this is the best alfalfa country in the United States, as the season is so long they get from 5 to 8 cuttings per year and each cutting will average a ton to the acre, and baled alfalfa is now bringing from $20 to $21 per ton here in Pecos now. So it is possible to grow 8 tons of alfalfa to the acre and $21 per ton, so you can figure this up at your leisure. This of course is from irrigated land. Land that can be put in crops of this kind under good ditch with perpetual water right can be bought around $50 per acre. Dry land not under the ditch, is selling from $4 to $25 per acre owing to location and depth to water.

Pecos City has been boosting for a new railroad for the last two days. The people here and along the proposed line were required to raise $200 bonus before they could build the road. Whenever they would lag in subscription they would have the band play "Dixie," then the people would give very liberally for a while. I had a notion to offer to pay them a hundred if the band would play "Yankee Doodle," but concluded not to ask it of them. The road is to be built from Pecos City to and through the Davis Mountains up the Toyah Creek, where the best land of the country is, and they finally raised the bonus and the road will likely start building in the next 30 days, this will mean a great deal for Pecos, as it is getting to be quite a wholesale place, being so far to any town of any size. I think there are more new buildings being done now than I have ever seen at Wayne at one time. There are plenty of churches. The Christians are building a $15,000 church now and the Baptist have let the contract for a new $22,000 church to commence at once. They recently voted $20,000 bonds to build onto their school house without a desenting vote. We rather think they are behind the times in their school work and the Texan seems to think that the United States is in Texas. Their school history is the history of Texas and some of the other southern states, and I would like to have some of our boys in blue in the north read what they are teaching the children in the south about the Civil war.

Well, they are improving this land a good deal this winter, and putting it to alfalfa, grapes, trees, etc. Some are watering by flowing wells, some by pumping with centrifugal pumps and some by canals from the creeks and Pecos river, and I certainly believe this country has a very bright future. I come across quite a good many Nebraska people here for the winter and to buy land, and all that I have talked to seem to think it a great place for an investment. There are two excursions from Chicago every two weeks that bring a large number of people here, seeking for land, and I firmly believe this is the best place for investments that I have ever seen. House rents are very high here, for $1,200 I can buy or build lot, water and all that will rent for from $15 to $20 per month. Bank rates are from 10 per cent to 12 per cent per annum.

Well, for fear my letter is getting long, I will close now. "You all come and see us," our larch string is always out. Mrs. Johnson and Izeeta wishes to be remembered to their kind friends in Wayne and wish that they might be here to enjoy this beautiful climate.

ED. A. JOHNSON.
P. S: Whenever we receive our two Wayne papers we feel like we had received a visit from home folks, as we enjoy reading them so much.

THE CLIFF DWELLERS

The High School Auditorium was well filled to an attentive audience Friday evening to listen to Prof. Cumming's lecture on the cliff dwellers of the San Juan Valley in Utah. He prefaced his illustrated part of the lecture by saying that delvers after antiquity did not need to go to the old country to delve amid the ruins of medieval times to find traces of ancient civilization, but that all through the Central Americas, Old Mexico, and running up through Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah were evidences of three distinct civilizations dating back to at least 800 or 1,000 years. First were the cave dwellers, who resided entirely in caves with only the rudest of a mode of living. These were succeeded by the cliff dwellers, who showed marked improvement in their manner of building as well as some traces of art. Still a third were the Pueblos, who to some extent, abandoned the cliffs and made rude structures in the form of settlements. All of these passed out of existence long before the white man discovered the country, and the aboriginal Indian was left in full possession.

The Prof's stereopticon views were very fine and were thrown on the screen in a way to bring out all of their details. These were many and varied. Showing many isolated cliffs of many formations standing out like sentinels hundreds of feet in height, the Meas covered with sage-brush and other growths of cacti and shrubs, indicating a fertile soil if only water could be procured. Other plains with desolation marked on every side. Canyons of many kinds, colors and descriptions, and a large number of natural bridges across these rocky canyons, the same being from 150 to 300 feet across and from 100 to 200 feet from the top of the arch to the bottom of the canyon below, and the thickness of the earth above the arch to the level ground above varying from ten feet to 150. On being asked as to how these bridges were formed he said by the action of the water running down the canyon and cutting out cave like formations, and then gradually cutting through a soft spot in the rocks until an opening was made and then the rushing waters year after year through the centuries wearing away the rocks and earth to their present depth. The thickness of the earth above the arch depending upon the height at which the opening was first made.

The views of the homes of the cliff dwellers showed considerable skill in a crude form of architecture the buildings being built of stone, laid in clay and cemented on the outside, many of them with this same substance. Some of them were two story in height, and many are still in a very good state of preservation.

He also showed a large number of views of the weaving and pottery work of those ancient days, these being found in the ruins, and showed that these ancient people had no little skill in the handling of clay and the materials with which they worked, even if they had no machinery to aid them. The lecture was interesting throughout.

High School Notes.

Mortality consists primarily in the performance of our duties to our fellow men; religion is the performance of our duties to God.

Horace Mann. All who attended the lecture by Prof. Cummings Friday evening were very much pleased. It was a master lecture and the stereopticon views were the best we ever saw. The 6th grade English class reported the lecture excellently in class on Monday.

Since the weather has moderated the attendance in the kindergarten has grown to thirty-six, which is double the number in attendance for some time.

With all the high school girls taking Domestic Science, Miss Bressler now has about 110 in this work. Something being accomplished too. Come and see.

The physical culture work for the upper grades will be begun next week. Rev. Osborne has been appointed director of this work. The lower grades are already taking the physical culture work under the direction of their respective teachers.

Many of our pupils and teachers saw two good games of basket ball in the College gymnasium last Wednesday evening. First game: College second team 11; Wayne High School 3. Second game: College first team 36; Homer Tigers 14. Considering that our boys had had very little practice at all in goal throwing and showed up creditably.

Preliminaries for the selection of high school students to represent us in the Nebraska High School Debating League and the North Nebraska High School Declamatory Association will be held in the high school assembly room on Friday evening February 4th. The price of admission will be only 10c, proceeds to be used to defray expenses of those appointed to represent our high school. Attend and lend your encouragement. Boost for the Wayne High School.

Why does Great Britain buy its oatmeal of us?

Certainly it seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to speak of exporting oatmeal to Scotland and yet, every year the Quaker Oats Company sends hundreds of thousands of cases of Quaker Oats to Great Britain and Europe.

The reason is simple; while the English and Scotch have for centuries eaten oatmeal in quantities and with a regularity that has made them the most rugged physically and active mentally of all people, the American has been eating oatmeal and trying all the time to improve the methods of manufacture so that he might get that desirable foreign trade.

How well he has succeeded would be seen at a glance at the export reports on Quaker Oats. This brand is recognized as without a rival in cleanliness and delicious flavor.

Alderson-Plauger

Mr. James Alderson and Miss Pearl Plauger were united in marriage Monday January 17, at Wayne. Both bride and groom are well known in this locality as they have lived the greater part of their life in this vicinity and are loved and respected by all who know them. The progress also their many friends wish them a happy and prosperous journey through life. Belden Progress.

Cattle Drown Near Pilger

Pilger, Neb., Jan. 22. As John Kratky, a young employe of the Schauble farm, was driving forty head of cattle across the lake the ice broke letting the entire herd into about eight feet of water. Otto Schauble, who saw the episode, hurried at once to the scene. And by heroic efforts succeeded in saving a small portion. The remainder taking a watery grave. The loss is estimated at several hundred dollars.

Teachers Hurt

Wisner, Neb., Jan. 11. Incoming from the high school building at noon, Miss Tennant, principal of the high school, slipped and broke her left arm just above the wrist. Last week one evening while the teachers of the schools were coasting on sleds having on a bunch of teachers upset, putting Miss Baldwin to the bad she had to go to her home at Fremont, giving a black eye to Miss Gazzelle and a skinned face and black eye to Prof. S. M. Moss.

Are You Planning

to attend? What? Why the Farmers Institute of course. It is to be held in Wayne on February 7th and 8th, both afternoons and evenings. We gave the subjects that would be under discussion the first day, last week. Those for the second day are: Breeding and feeding dairy cattle; What women's institutes are doing; Conserving and increasing the fertility of the soil; Something that is worth while; Animals, and other subjects. These are all topics of interest and our farmer friends should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear them discussed. The full program will be given next week.

Horses Trample Master

Pierre, Neb., Jan. 25. Herman Draeger, a farmer living on the Ernest Fisher farm, ten miles north-east of this place, was injured seriously Sunday noon by being trampled by a team of heavy horses. He was in the barn harnessing the team when he in some manner stumbled and fell under the animals' feet. The injured man remembers nothing after his fall, but was found later by members of the family under the horses in an unconscious condition. He was carried to the house and a physician called, who found Mr. Draeger to be suffering from four broken ribs on the right side and internal injuries that it is feared may prove fatal.

School Merger Defeated

LINCOLN, Jan. 25. After an all day session the committee appointed to pass upon the proposition to merge the Bellevue and Hastings Presbyterian colleges, settled the matter by a compromise. Bellevue college was made an independent school with the approval of the church and Hastings college was made the synodical college. This arrangement is to take effect at the close of the present school year.

The effect of this agreement on the part of the committee will be to give to the Hastings college all of financial aid of the Presbyterian church, which is now divided between the two schools. The arrangement is a compromise between those who desired a merger of the schools and those who desired the present arrangement to stand and those who insisted that Hastings college should be made the synodical school at once.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BUY LUMBER NOW

First—The roads are good. They won't be good when the winter thaw comes. You'll have trouble then in getting your lumber. Get it now.

Second—This is the best time to get ready to build. You should order your lumber now and engage your carpenter. The latter will all be busy when spring opens up.

Third—There is sure to be an advance of from $1 to $3 per thousand feet on lumber a little later. We're having to tighten up our force you know. This is the best time to get your lumber. We have never secured you in a hurry of this kind.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BUY FROM HAFER

First—The C. Hafer Lumber Company is the best equipped concern of its kind in the world for selling, direct to the consumer, both retail work, builders' hardware, paint and other materials. You can find here everything that you need in putting up a building of any kind. This is not a mail order commission house, but a genuine, splendidly equipped lumber business.

Second—Our location in the growing West and our own private trackage facilities insure the quickest service you can get anywhere.

Third—We are among the best lumber dealers in the business. We have our own timber, sawmills, factories and yards. So we can give you the highest quality of materials at prices that give you a great advantage over all others.

GET YOUR LOCAL FIGURES—THEN GET OURS

If you intend to build a house, barn, shed, or anything else, have your carpenter figure out what you need, giving all specifications, and completely as possible. Then get your local dealer's figures. So we do not want to see his bid. All we ask is that you make an honest comparison and we know that if you do that we will receive your order.

If possible, come to Council Bluffs. That will enable you to look over our great stock and you can see everything you buy as it is loaded into your car.

Your trip to Council Bluffs will cost you nothing if you buy a carload or more, and provided you live not more than 150 miles from this city. We want you to see that you are getting the best, and we'll make the trip to your advantage in the quality and price of what you buy and in paying your expenses. We will also pay the freight on a carload shipment to your nearest railway station, and guarantee safe delivery. We ask for no money in advance.

If you come to South Omaha, remember that we have a branch office there. The manager will be glad to see you and he will run over to Council Bluffs with you if you want to learn just what we can do for you here. As to our financial responsibility, ask the banks or commercial agencies. Our business experience covers many years of square dealing, as everyone who has purchased from us will testify.

We are now preparing a handsome catalogue showing the lumber, mill-work, builders' hardware, paints, roofing and other materials that we sell. It will be ready in about 20 days and we would like to send it to you.

The finest body of ore ever opened in the King Solomon was encountered last week in the East drift of the last vein. The vein is nine feet thick and well mineralized. A good body of high grade steel grained galena was opened on the hang wall and is growing stronger with every shot. Quite a number of samples were sent to Denver for assay and they all hold up well around the hundred dollar mark—some of it running $114. While the King Solomon have ore in other veins that will assay higher than this, yet this vein we understand is far ahead of anything else in their entire workings on account of this last vein being more evenly mineralized and much larger quantities of it and the vein has been cut at the enormous depth of 2000 feet.

A fact which is quite significant relative to the importance of this vein was demonstrated when some samples were left at the Brown Palace Hotel and inspected by a representative of the United States Smelting Trust who said it was the finest piece of steel grained galena he had ever seen and the next morning came around to find out if the property was for sale. It is needless to say that he got a quick answer in the negative.

Other mining men who have inspected it say that it bids fair to be one of the greatest bonanzas ever opened in Summit county. Of course it will take some drifting to determine that but they are going after it as fast as the machine drills will do the work.

Any one wishing to see some fine specimens will do well to call at O. A. King's office where he has some as large as a man's head and carrying the gold, silver and lead in such pure quantities that you can whittle it with a knife.

Old Postmaster Resigns

Thomas Hunter, for thirty-two years postmaster at Wakefield, will relinquish his office February 5. He is not a candidate for reappointment as he feels he has served the government about long enough for a man 78 years old. Mr. Hunter is one of the pioneers of Nebraska. He was a member of the state constitutional convention and published the first paper in Wayne county, the Wayne County Review. The post-office inspectors of this part of the country all bear witness that during his entire service as postmaster, Mr. Hunter has proven to be one of the best in the state.

The district court of Stanton county meets in March.

Randolph young men have formed an athletic club and reading room.

The cigar factory at Hartington has incorporated, with $10,000 capital.

Edwin Macrill, rural mail carrier, No. 4, of Hartington fell on a sidewalk and dislocated his hip. The injury will probably cause him to be absent from duty some two or three months.

Emerson wants a new principal for the city schools. The former superintendent has not proved the sort of a teacher wanted, and the school is now running without a superintendent.

I. R. Sutherland of Stanton, says that the thermometer registered 32 degrees below zero in the much praised Alamosa country Colorado, this winter. He is glad to get back to mild Nebraska.

That is just like the horrid men. Everything is laid to the women. E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, says that the present era of high prices for food stuffs is due to women's extravagance.

The editor of the Pierce County Leader will celebrate the 6th anniversary of his advent into that town by moving his office and printing plant into a brick block he has purchased there. That is a sign of genuine prosperity.

The Stanton Register (democratic) says: "A square toed Bryan democrat has no quarrel with the progressive republicans. They are fighting for the enacting into laws of the same principles that we are and the plain truth, the voters do not discriminate when in the booth."

W. J. Miskell, cashier of the Dixon Bank at Ponca, has resigned, and will go to Washington or Oregon on account of his wife's health. He has been there 15 years. M. A. Martin has resigned his position in the same bank and will re-engage in the lumber business at St. Anthony, Nebraska.

The Emerson Enterprise, speaking of the Lee murder there says: "While the sentiment of the community is somewhat divided as to whether Gerlach was justified in shooting Lee, the people are all disgusted at the actions of Coroner Sawyer and Marshal Linafelter in allowing Gerlach to escape." We should think that they would be disgusted. Such officials are a disgrace to any community, and it is enough to bring the blush of shame to any voter when he thinks about having cast a vote for such men.

The present movement against Senator Burkett in this state is no new thing. Those who are fighting him now, and trying to blind the eyes of the people, are largely of the same element who fought him to the bitter end five years ago. A good many of them are simply disgruntled because Mr. Burkett has not been able to give them some fat job they have wanted. Chronic office seekers, some of them utterly unworthy or fit for any position in the public service. They should get the beam out of their own eyes before they seek to remove the mote from some one else's eyes, and if they were to do that they might possibly discover that the other fellow was not so bad after all. Some of that Lincoln crowd want to play politics all the time and not a very clean game at that.

STENSLAND AND HERING HAPPY

Opposition to Action by Parole Board Not as Strong as Formerly.

Paul O. Stensland and Henry W. Hering, convicted wreckers of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank in Chicago, were voted a parole by the State board of pardons at Joliet the other day, and they were informed that they would come from the penitentiary into the big outdoors.

The previous day convicts Nos. 2 and 3, they are to take up the broken of life as they left it nearly three and one-half years ago.

The decision of the Parole Board was announced by A. A. Snavely, agent for Chairman Charles G. Eckhart, who came after the conclusion of the open hearing held by the board on some time and after lawyers and others had presented arguments for and against the paroles.

The session began at 10:30 a. m. If the parole board had not taken up the matter at 2 o'clock the board would have adjourned.

Stensland, broken in health, was in the prison hospital, sick, but happier than he had been since the iron bars clanged behind him on Sept. 26, 1906.

Hering, impatient, hopeful of the future, awaited his release in a white washed cell which has been his home since August, 1905. There was no happiness on either side of the towered walls of the prison that Hering, Stensland, the ill to talk, could only explain when word was brought to him in the mysterious prison manner that he was to be free.

Managers Allow Time Limit to Expire Without Answering Demands.

Committees representing the employees on the various systems gave the managers notice of the demands Dec. 20, allowing the customary thirty days to elapse before asking for an answer.

The refusal of the roads, it was said, does not necessarily mean that there will be a strike.

Practically all of the managers agreed to meet with committees from their respective roads and discuss the demands, and series of conferences will begin as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. The demands involve approximately 150,000 men, about one-half of whom are members of the two labor organizations.
