What Might Be

If all who hate would love us. An all our loves were true. The stars that swing in heaven Would brighten in the blue. If cruel words were kisses. And every scowl a smile. A better world than this is Would hardly be worth while. If purses would unlighten. The load we bear would lighten Above the grave of greed. If those who whine would whistle. And those who languish laugh. The rose would rout the thistle. The grain outrun the chaff. If hearts were only Jolly. If grieving were forgot. If tears and melancholy Were things that now are not-- Then love would travel to Duty. And all the world would see A bride and lover of beauty. A dream within a dream.

HAPPILY WEDDED

The Marriage of Miss Lela Tucker and Craig Hamilton Coffin a Very Joyous Event

"Blessed" be the bride the sun shines upon" is an old adage, and the only reason Miss Lela Tucker did not receive that kind of a blessing, along with many others, at her wedding was because it took place in the evening. It was certainly an auspicious evening so far as the weather was concerned, when Miss Lela Tucker and Mr. Craig Hamilton Coffin stood together at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker, and pledged their troth together as husband and wife.

The company was large, about 150 guests being present, and it was the universal testimony of those who have witnessed many ceremonies of that kind, that they never saw a company that seemed to be in such good humor as the one assembled in the spacious rooms at the Tucker home on that evening. Old age and youth mingled in joyous groups, and all rejoiced with the bride and groom over the bright prospects upon which their bark set sail upon the sea of life. The ring ceremony was used and Rev. Alexander Corkey, of the First Presbyterian church, asked the questions and pronounced the words that united the couple until "death do us part." A few minutes after eight o'clock the strains of a harp began to send forth the wedding march and the wedding party appeared on the stairs leading to the drawing room. At the head of the party were little Dorothy Felber, niece of the bride, and Master Roy Holbrook, nephew of the groom, bearing dainty baskets of roses. Then followed the maid of honor, Miss Jessie Tucker, sister of the bride. Next came the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her to the groom, who waited at the east end of the drawing room, supported by his best man, Mr. Ben Pettingell, of Boise, Idaho.

The drawing rooms, halls and library were decorated with pink roses, amilax and asparagus ferns, draped and festooned in pleasing effects, and the same color scheme, pink and green, was carried out in the dining room with sweet peas and ferns. The bride was exquisitely dressed in a beautiful white Chantilly lace gown, garnished with pearls, her only ornament being a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom, and she carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley and wore a bridal veil. The maid of honor wore a pink chiffon, draped in spangled net and she carried sweet peas. After the ceremony was performed there followed congratulations, which were generous and hearty, accompanied by the best of wishes for the bride's and groom's happiness. Then followed a very dainty two course supper in the dining room.

The groom, C. H. Coffin, is engaged in the banking business at Boise, Idaho, and is said to be a man of sterling worth, by those who know him best, and well worthy of the love of her whom he has won for a help-mate. The bride is one of Wayne's most popular young ladies, having grown to womanhood here, and although she has spent a great deal of her time away of late years, it is a matter of much regret that her future home is to be in another city.

Among those present from abroad were Mrs. Frank R. Coffin, mother of the groom, from Boise, Idaho; Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Holbrook, sister and brother of the groom, with their three little sons, from Ft. Riley, Kansas; Ben Pettingell of Boise, Idaho; Mrs. E. K. Morrison and daughter Ella, of Lincoln, Nebraska; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Haskell, of Wakefield, Nebraska, and Miss Hammel, of Sioux City, Iowa.

In keeping with everything else, the gifts were numerous, beautiful and expensive, consisting of cut glass, hand painted china, silver ware, both solid and gold lined, in a variety of articles, all bearing evidence of the thought and esteem that prompted the giving. The newly wedded couple took the train here Sunday for Chicago and will spend some little time in the east before going to their western home.

OPERA HOUSE NOTATIONS

An Association Formed to give a Weekly Entertainment.

A project of great interest to local theater goers and amusement lovers has just been consummated between Manager Britton of the opera house and the Kennedy Stock Company, by which this company will play Wayne on Tuesday night of each week in a different bill, starting May 10th.

Everyone who enjoys a thoroughly high class performance and appreciates clean up-to-date entertainment, whether regular theatre-goers or not, should make it a point to attend the initial night, opera house, May 10. Prices are 25, 35 and 50 cents.

"When We Were Twenty-One" will be the opening attraction. There is no prettier play on the stage than this delightful little comedy, and the various parts give all members of the company good opportunities to prove their ability. This, you may recall, is the play that first brought stellar recognition to Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, when it was originally produced, and they used it for many seasons in London, New York and on the road. The following week will be the screaming farce, "The Hero."

It is hoped that this company will meet with the success they deserve and play to a capacity business on all their visits. Prices 25c, 35c, 50c. Every Tuesday night.

The company is under the direction of Donald Kennedy, who will take the leading parts. He is well fitted for this position by virtue of a long and varied experience in many different companies, Chicago, Cincinnati, Denver, Omaha, Tampa, Joplin, St. Joe. Mr. Kennedy has been quite a local stock favorite.

Mr. Frank Hetterick, who joins from the East; Charles Withers, from the Lyric at Lincoln; Miss Mona Lee, from the Hillman Company; Mr. Graydon Fox, from the Grew Players; Mr. Billy Martin, and Miss Bernice Beverly complete this remarkably strong organization.

Positively nothing but the best, cleanest and most entertaining plays will be presented. Later, if the attendance warrants the payment of heavy royalties such pieces as the "Christian," "The Little Minister," "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "David Harum," will be given. All, however will be the highest type, mostly society comedies and farces.

There can be no question but what this company is by far the best on the road, both in plays and players. They carry ten exceptionally clever people, complete scenic and electric effects, and will produce such high grade plays as "The Little Minister," "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "The Christian," "David Harum," etc.

Miss Edna Sevier, who has just completed a long starring engagement in "The Arizona Earl" will play the leading woman parts. Young, attractive, experienced, with a great deal of ability and many stunning clothes she is certain to become a great favorite.

Manager Britton of the local opera house has completed arrangements by which the Kennedy Stock Company will be seen in Wayne every Tuesday night for twelve consecutive weeks starting May 10th, presenting each week a different play. Mr. Kennedy has formed this company purposely to play circuit of towns weekly. They are Takamah, Bloomfield, Nuligh, Norfolk and Sioux City.

Nothing but the very best plays will be presented, the members of the company are all extraordinarily clever. They carry all their own scenery, properties and all effects complete for each bill. Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott's greatest success, "When We Were Twenty-One" has been chosen for the opening bill, and a splendid production is assured. The following week will see them in one of the funniest farces ever written, "The Hero."

Mr. Donald Kennedy, who heads the company, is a young actor of wide experience, especially in stock work. Several years ago he was with the Woodward forces at the Barwood Theater in Omaha; The Armin Players in St. Joseph; The Curtis Stock in Denver; The Wolfe Stock in Joplin; Peruchi-Gypzane in Tampa and Jacksonville, Florida, etc. Last fall he appeared with Holden Brothers at Lyceum Theater, Cincinnati, Ohio; and has just completed some special posing in motion picture dramas with the Selig Polyscope Company of Chicago.

The others of the company are way above the average and include such capable players as Frank Hetterick, Graydon Fox, Billy Martin, Bernice Beverly, Mona Lee and Charley Withers.

By extreme good luck, it has been possible to obtain the services of Mr. George Fitch, who is without exaggeration, one of the most capable and popular stock juvenile men in America. He has played with the largest and best stocks in existence, among them being the famous Alcazar stock of San Francisco, where he succeeded Albert Morrison as juvenile man when Mr. Morrison came as leading man to Woodward. Mr. Fitch will be seen in his old part, that of Imp in "When We Were Twenty-One," which many actors consider the best juvenile ever written.

Mr. George Fitch who is one of the best juvenile stock men in this country, will be seen in many of the parts he has successfully played in the past with such companies as the Alcazar of San Francisco.

Miss Gwendoline Pates, the ingenue, is a very charming little lady of splendid personality, appearance and talent. Next winter will find her on the Orpheum and eastern vaudeville circuits for which contracts have already been signed.

The management soon hope to present Miss Edith Spencer in some of the strong roles which she is so well equipped to play. Miss Spencer is at present in LaCrosse, Wis., with the Grew stock and expects to join Mr. Kennedy in the course of a few weeks.

As quickly as her engagement with the William Grew Company terminates Miss Edith Spencer will be seen with this company in a number of strong parts. Miss Spencer needs no introduction to patrons of amusement in this territory. For versatility, power and intelligence she has but few equals in the entire profession.

Miss Gwendoline Pates, who plays the ingenue roles, is an exceedingly attractive young lady of great personal charm. You will some day hear of her among the top notchers of her profession. In fact she has already signed contracts for her appearance this winter over the orpheum and eastern vaudeville circuits.

Here is a recipe for a desert which does not need freezing and is about as good as sherbet. Soak two tablespoons of gelatine in cold water, then beat with a can of shredded pineapple and half a cup of sugar. Let it cool, and when it begins to set beat in the white of two cups cream, the whites of three eggs and a tablespoon lemon juice, chill and serve in sherbet glasses.

The talented and charming leading woman, Miss Edna Sevier, has just closed a long starring tour in her own company playing the Star and Hatfield circuit of city time. This winter she will be featured in stock in San Diego, California. Having worked in the same company in Joplin with Mr. Kennedy, he will be able to secure her for a short engagement before she leaves for the coast. She has a magnificent wardrobe and her Paris gowns and hats will delight the eyes of the ladies as her ability and appearance will please the male folks.

A Big Job

The Stanton Register maps out the following line of work for the next session of the Nebraska legislature. First of all, each member must live up to his pledge, and vote for United States senator. A bank guarantee law that is constitutional is to be passed. A non-partisan judge and superintendent act passed so that the judiciary and schools will be taken out of politics. A county option law is to be enacted so that all people affected by the saloons should have a right to vote on that question. A constitutional convention should be called and the initiative and referendum amendment submitted. The cities should all be given the right to adopt the commission plan if they wish it.

Change At Bank

A change of considerable interest to Carroll people, has occurred this week in the management of the First National Bank of our city. Mr. Arthur L. Tucker, who has been Cashier and manager for the past six years, finds that a number of larger business interests require his personal attention and he is compelled, and to his great regret, to lay aside the management of the bank. So far as the public is concerned, in the operation of the bank, the change will scarcely be felt. Daniel Davis, who has been identified with the bank for many years as Assistant Cashier, has been promoted to the position of Vice President and will continue the business along the lines heretofore followed. Mr. E. A. R. Gurney, of Fremont, who was for a number of years president and was succeeded by Mr. D. C. Main, has been again elected to the Presidency. Elmer Lundquist, who is very well acquainted with Carroll people, having served as assistant cashier of the old Farmers State Bank, will return to Carroll and become Cashier.

New Automatic Telegraph

This system is regarded by scientific men as the most brilliant achievement in the evolution of telegraphy since Morse's time, representing the conquest of a new basic principle in telegraphy that presages for that industry a world wide revolution with its 2000 words a minute service and rates of one cent, half-cent and quarter of a cent, regardless of time or distance.

By the Teletop system a message is transmitted with equal facility over either a telegraph or telephone wire. Its rates are the lowest and its service the most rapid in the world.

Civic organizations and boards of trade throughout the state, have been in touch with the officials of the Teletop for several months and have assured the Company of their readiness to co-operate with it in any way it can suggest as most likely to facilitate the extension of its lines to Nebraska. The company is making arrangements to enter Nebraska and cover most of the state, Wayne being one of the towns to be reached by the new system.

Mr. Gurney said this morning, "I am quite well acquainted with the banks of Nebraska, intimately so with many of them, and I am sure there is not a stronger, cleaner, or better managed bank in the entire state, or anywhere else for that matter, than the First National Bank of Carroll."—Carroll Index.

NOVELS, LONG AND SHORT.

English Plan for Shorter Stories—Length of Some Old Ones.

A plan to shorten novels to an average length of about 50,000 words and to sell them to the general public mainly through the large department houses for 50 cents apiece, is being put forward again both in this country and Great Britain.

The idea is bound to fail, as far as the length of novels is concerned, says the New York World. An arbitrary measure of 50,000 words or of any other number cannot be fixed for what should be a work of art. Novels differ as widely in their scale, and nearly all that have lasted for many years are long.

"Don Quixote" has about 600,000 words. Tom Jones about 500,000. "Vanity Fair," estimated by many to be the longest novel in the English language, about 300,000, and all the other important Thackeray novels, except "Henry Esmond," are nearly as long. With a few exceptions the Dickens novels contain about 400,000 words apiece. Not the Thackeray nor Dickens was at all a historical novelist, and when they undertook work of this kind they ran out quickly.

George Eliot needed at least 300,000 words to tell a story. George Sand used nearly a half million in her masterpiece, "Consuelo"; Bunin spent a quarter of a million on "The Three Musketeers" and three-quarters of a million more on its two sequels, "Twenty Years After" and "The Vicomte de Bragelonne." Les Misérables stretches out to 650,000 words; Topsy tells the fall of "Anna Karenina" in 1,000,000 words; and "War and Peace," the longest novel in the world, exceeds a million words.

It is the only instance of a novel of the very first rank in the English language which is but 25,000 words. However, there are only four or five others in it and the average of the rest is not more than 100,000 words. The efforts to shorten them will probably be for the moment, and it is likely that they will be regarded with the same characters they are now regarded to add them forward.

A BIT OF TREACHERY.

Carl Hagenbeck, the most eminent owner, exhibitor and trainer of wild animals in the world, has had many adventures in his half century of experience. Some of them are described in a recent book, entitled "Elephants and Men." On more than one occasion an outgoing elephant has not only stepped on the feet of the men, but has stepped on the head of one of them. About that time he purchased a menagerie at Trieste, which included among other beasts a female elephant, which stood about eight feet high. It seemed to be a thoroughly good-tempered animal, its only fault being that it occasionally had the sulks—"a not uncommon characteristic," comments Mr. Hagenbeck, "in all feminine creatures."

He soon made friends with the elephant, which he named Lissy, and he never passed its stall without giving it a handful of food. He was, therefore, he believed, justified in thinking he had quite won its heart, and as it never showed any sign of violence, it did not occur to Mr. Hagenbeck that it might be dealing with a grossly deceitful creature.

"The elephant was learning a trick in which it had to swing its keeper into the air with its trunk, and then slowly set him upon the ground again. The word of command which was given to the beast when it had to perform this simple exhibition was: 'Lissy, appear!'"

"One day," to continue in Mr. Hagenbeck's own words, "I found Lissy alone in her stable, the keeper being absent. It must have been a devil that made me feel a desire to be raised or high by her, after the manner of her keeper. I stroked and fed her, and then, taking hold of her trunk, called out the word of command: 'Lissy, appear!'"

"Then followed one of the most vile treacherous acts of which I have ever heard. Lissy began to obey the order, but I soon felt she was bent on mischief, for the embrace of her trunk was unpleasantly vigorous, and I soared high into the air.

"But I was not quietly deposited once more upon my feet.

"Instead of this, Lissy dashed me violently against the wooden barrier in front of her stall, and I went flying over into the menagerie.

"I am most senseless upon the ground until the keeper, Philippe, appeared to help me home. He picked me up and carried me to my quarters. Fortunately no bones were broken, but I was terribly battered and bruised, and for weeks could only hobble about with great pain."

Retraction with a Sting.

Senator Murphy, at a dinner in Washington, said of a certain retraction:

"It was a retraction without value. It recalls the Nola Chucky scandal. 'Dean Washington, in the heat of a revival, shouted from the pulpit of the Nola Chucky chapel: 'I see before me ten chicken thieves, including' that thar Calhoun Clay. 'Calhoun Clay at once rose and left the church. He was very angry. He brought several powerful influences to bear and the deacon promised to apologize.

"So, at the following revival, the old man said:

"I desire to retract my last night's remark, namely—I see before me ten chicken thieves, including Calhoun Clay. 'What I should have said, dear brethren and sisters, was—I see before me nine chicken thieves, not including Calhoun Clay.'"

THE QUICKENING

BY FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1906, by Francis Lynde

STORY of vast scope and power, beginning with the weird experience of a struggling soul among the working classes of the moonshiners and the old aristocracy of the reconstructed South—this is the locale of the wonderful serial now presented.

"The Quickenings" is truly a remarkable literary production. Its main motive is in touch and sympathy with those complex questions of sectional prejudices and new industrial progress which are interesting every thinker in the country.

It will be a life-like experience to the reader to trace the career of Thomas Jefferson Gordon, the hero, from a humble beginning through the grades of mental development to a point where all the sentient elements of his nature are called upon to meet a climax such as tries the souls of great men.

It will be a pleasing revelation to study the destiny of the peerless Ardea, the heroine of this sterling romance, whose love is the guiding star of "The Young Captain of Industry."

There are scenes of strife, plotting and peril that are more than interesting—they are thrilling in their details and educational as demonstrating the power and fervor of men fighting for principle and right.

Not many recent stories have even approximated the intense interest, the inherent merit of theme and purpose shown in "The Quickenings."

CHAPTER I.

The revival in Paradise Valley, South Carolina, was in the middle of its second week, and the night-to-night crowd of worshippers was white as the lily.

It was a grand square, weathered, three-sided wooden canopy at the head of the valley, built upon land donated to the denomination in times long past by an impatient but generous Major Dalney, stood a little way back from the pole in a grove of young pine, its half-past six of the same evening, 83,000 of the congregation had begun to assemble.

Those who came farthest were first on the ground; and by the time 12-year-old Thomas Jefferson, spitting bubbles of dusty smoke, had reached the church-square with the key, the great crowd of worshippers, the chattering of their feet on the wooden benches, and the people gathering in little neighborhood knots to discuss gravely the one topic uppermost in all minds—the present snuffing of grass in the Paradise Valley and the region roundabout.

"Dye reckon the Elder'll make it this time with his brother-in-law," asked a tall, flat-chested mountaineer from the Pine Knob uplands.

"Samantha Parkins, she allows that Caleb has done a singular thing, but I don't know what it is. Parkins Knobber, 'but I ain't got that far. Caleb's a sight like the lion he makes in that old furnace of his—honest and even-grained, and just as good for plow-points and the like as it is for saw-logs. But he'll come, hit, and ye sayn't change him."

"That's about right," said a third. "It looks to me like Caleb done set his stakes where he's got to run the furrow. He's been a dozen years and more with such a snuffered woman as Martha, and he's got to get out of the man up to the party gate, I allow the ain't no preacher goin' to do it."

"Well, now, maybe that's the reason," drawled Japheth Pettigrew, the only unmarried man in the small circle of listeners, but he was promptly put down by the first speaker.

"Hold on, thar, Japheth Pettigrew! I allow thar ain't no dyed-in-the-wool hawss-trader like you goin' to stand up and say anything against Marthy Gordon while 'tis a-livin'! I'm recollectin' right how the time when she got up that night for more 'n a week with my Marthy."

Thomas Jefferson had opened the church-house doors and windows and was out among the unbentched terms looking for Scrap Penney, who had been one of a score to go forward for prayer the night before. As it happened that he overheard the flat-chested mountaineer's tribute to his mother. It warmed him generously; but there was a leivish scowl for Japheth Pettigrew. What had the horse-trader been saying to make it needful for Bill Lynde to speak up as he mother's defender? Thomas Jefferson recorded a black mark against Pettigrew's name, and went on to search for Scrap.

"What you hiding for?" he demanded, when the newly-made convert was discovered skulking in the dusky shadow of the pines beyond the farthest outlying wagon.

"I ain't hidin'," was the half-defiant answer.

"Come on out where the folks are," urged Thomas Jefferson. "Sim Clay-trell and the other fellows are allowin' you to speak up as mother's defender."

"No; but you're sort of 'shamed, and that's about the same thing, I reckon. Come on out; I'll go 'long with you."

Then spoke the new-born love in the heart of the big, rough, country boy, and he can't understand how you can hold out, Tom-Jeff. I've cove thoo' pray the Lord; but I jest natchally got to have stars for my crown. You say you'll go 'long with me, Tom-Jeff; say it ag'in, and mean it."

It was admitted on all sides that Brother Crafts was a powerful preacher. Other men had wrestled mightily in Zoar, but none to such heart-shaking purpose. When he expatiated on the ineffable glories of Heaven and the joy of the redeemed, which was not too often, the reflection of the celestial effulgences could be seen rising like sunshine on the sea of faces spreading away from the shore of the pulpit steps. When he spoke of hell and the torments of the damned, which was with thrilling descriptive, even a hardened scoffer as Japheth Pettiwas death him that the others on the bench and out into the aisle with the mourners who were crowding the space in front of the pulpit platform. At this time he heard his mother's low murmur of "I thank Thee, O God!" and saw the young man smile on his father's face. Then he felt on his knees on the rough-hewn floor, with the tall countenance called William Lynde, of from the choir who was sobbing softly in her handkerchief.

It was his young life after that. The first week of great nature's own providing, a white step into the temple, housing it—a clear pool in the crowd, the June forest leading down to it, and the blue arch of the flawless June sky for some respite.

All that day there to see and hear and bear witness, as a matter of course, and there were not wanting farm-wagon loads from the great valley and from the Pine Knob highlands. Major Dalney was among the onlookers, sitting his clean-limbed, black-and-white, and twisting his hair white with the sun, and they stood like strange and fierce-looking horses. Also, in the outer ranks of skepticism, Major Dalney's foreman and horse-trainer, Japheth Pettigrew, found a place.

On the opposite bank of the stream were the few negroes dwelling in the Paradise Valley. One of them, a fact—had once owned him as a slave, but mingling freely with them were the laborers, white and black, from the Gordon iron-furnace.

Thomas Jefferson brought up members from that solemn rite administered under the June sky, with the many-pointing forest spires to lift the soul to heights unattainable. The wind the singing of the choir, mingled and made especially sweet by the lack of bounding walls and roof. Another was the sight of his father's head, with the grim smile and the steadfast eyes, bravely tolerated by the Thomas Jefferson was some down into the water. A drink and this might easily become the most lasting of all—the memory of how his mother clasped him in her arms as he came up out of the water, and how she and he were and sobbed over him as if her heart would break.

DIAMONDS AND PROSPERITY.

Phenomenon of Rising Prices for an Impreciable Product.

Among the most important of the world's diamond mines are those of the Premier Diamond Company in the Pretoria district of the Transvaal. A comparison of the sales of that company is not a bad guide to the world's prosperity. In 1906 the diamonds sold realized $1,277,759. In 1907 there was a drop of nearly 17 per cent in the sales to $1,064,595. There was some recovery in the following year, but in the year ended Oct. 30, 1909, the sales had risen to $1,412,928. No doubt we were the buyers of a good many of these ornaments, the Wall Street Journal says, but there seems to have been a fairly world-wide demand.

The figures show how instantly the luxury market felt the crisis and also how little disposed we are to save, even with so recent a lesson in mind. The figures before us give not the slightest indication of any desire to curb extravagance. The diamond producers are selling us more of their preposterously useless product than they were in the boom year 1906. The diamond is the actor's strongbox, the bookmaker's savings bank. It is a channel for investment as well as adornment, as most people acquainted with the scumy side of life are well aware. A good deal of value can be stored in a very small compass and a taste which is intellectually not essentially higher than the Zulu head-bangle or the Papuan nosering has some sort of excuse.

It will be remembered that in 1907 we saw some important failures in Maiden Lane; but even these arose not from insolvency so much as from inability to realize stock for which the market had suddenly become very contracted. The market for diamonds is one of the reasons for the economist's price is sustained in defiance of all the reasoning of the economist. People who bought diamonds ten years ago, having the counsel of the ten years, are demoralizing profit on their investment. Add apparently nothing produced could have a market position more unsound. The diamonds offered for sale are not only competing with the rest of the current year's output, but with all the diamonds that have ever been found. They are imperishable, and strictly speaking there is no consumption.

It is impossible to estimate how long an apparently impossible condition can last. It is rendered doubly absurd from the fact that the output of the mines is strictly limited by agreement between the diamond companies, while the quantity of diamond clay in sight seems limitless. All these considerations and more would make a conservative man feel that if the diamond itself were imperishable its value might crumble away in a night. Apparently our people do not think so, for there is no indication so far that 1910 will see any reduction in the demand.

EGGS AS OMENS.

Curious Divination Custom Among Hill Tribes in Farthest India.

The egg enters in a peculiar way into the lives of the people of the Khasi hills, in Assam, Farther India. No event of any importance in the life of a Khasi takes place without divination by egg-breaking. The number of eggs broken for omens is only limited by the resources of the owner. Groups of Khasis may be seen arguing and wrangling for hours, and accompanying their ejaculations by joyously banging an egg on the ground, until in time they are standing in a disgusting mess of egg shells, yolks and the blood-red saliva caused by bet-chewing. When the success or failure of some prospective event is in question, the custom is to drop an egg on a peculiarly shaped board, and then, from the configuration of the splashed yolk, and the position of the bits of shell, draw an augury concerning what is likely to happen. When it is desired to discover the cause of some sickness or misfortune, the man addresses the egg after this fashion: "Oh, egg, I am only a man, and ignorant, and I can do nothing. You can communicate with spirits, and between them and us have intercourse. Now, say, who has done this—who has caused this man to fall sick? If the spirit is in about. So I told myself then that if I were to make any further investments I would do so in the States where I know what I am doing.

But afterward Leopold came to Wash again and they became interested in some mining ventures in Colorado.

Walsh made and lost a couple of fortunes before good luck finally struck and made him one of the biggest big boys in the mining world. His first $100,000 was made in Leadville, Colo., in the days when that town was rich and riotous and the bad men abounded. The height of mining romance was exemplified in his chance discovery of the Camp Bird mine in the San Juan basin for which he afterward received an offer of $35,000,000 and which yielded him more than a million a year for a long time.

His social success at Newport and Washington was accomplished partly by his wife, who was Miss Carrie Read, and by his daughter Evelyn, who was married not to her husband Edward McLean, son of John D. McLean, proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

They were responsible for the latest and wonderful entertainment given at his three houses in Connecticut, Denver and Washington. The entertainees themselves were furnished with the hospitality and richness of the royal palaces of Europe. And the the house, let the signs be on the left, if out of the house, on the right." Then he splits on the egg, and taking some clay in his hands, smears it over, so that the outside of the shell may be quite unmistakable when it is smashed. Apology is made to the egg by the man saying, "I don't spit on you to insult you, but to clean you and give you a color," and then it is hurled upon the board.

Thomas R. Walsh.

A Typical Successful Irishman, Who Made Millions Here.

"The best thing about Tom Walsh is that he never forgot he was an Irishman," is the way a townsman once referred to the tact and graciousness of Thomas R. Walsh, whose spectacular career as a millionaire mine owner closed with his death in Washington. From a millwright fresh from Tipperary County with only $50 in his pocket, he won so many millions from his mines in the West that he was consulted in business matters by King Leopold, the recently deceased king of Belgium who was known as "the royal rake." The promoter's personality is shown in the story he once lost, finally, dispensed therein was on a truly royal scale, commensurate with the enormous fortune—estimated at $50,000,000—which Mr. Walsh had accumulated.

Perhaps his greatest social achievement was that which began when Walsh's social career in 1899, when he was appointed commissioner for Colorado to the Paris Exposition. He chartered a boat on the Seine, spent over a million in decorating it and then proceeded to give entertainments to the rich and gay Parisians. They accepted him at once and it was these series of entertainments that led to the introduction of the family to the King of Belgium.

After a period of this sort of pleasure, Walsh was glad to get back to his mining and farming—he was a farmer, too, and knew about all there was to be known about irrigation. It was for this knowledge that he was appointed a member of the American Academy for the Advancement of the Sciences, the Washington Academy of Science and the National Geographical Society. He was a good at dinner speaker and an enthusiastic clubman, having membership in the best clubs of Denver, Washington and New York. During his residence in Washington, where he moved after making his fortune, Walsh helped to beautify the capital city as a member of the Board of Trade and he was also a member of other civic organizations in the various cities where he lived.

Littlest Father.

The work a man came to clean up was telling how she left her boy to take care of the baby. The boy was two and one-half years old. The lady was six months.

"That's the youngest little father I ever heard of," said the flat dweller who was cleaning up for "do you look them in?"

"Yes," said the cleaning woman, "Poor little fellow," said the flat dweller. "Locked in to burn in case of fire! Some day when you are cleaning up for me I want to go over and see that little father, who ought to be in the cradle himself, taking care of the six-months-old baby. I want to just sit there and look on awhile. Poor little fellow!"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Trapped.

The perpetually clever man listened solemnly to the tramp's hard-luck story.

"That's the same old yarn you told me last week," he said, winking at his companion.

"Maybe it is," admitted the weary one as he started on. "I'd forgotten having met you. I was in the penitentiary last week."—Success Magazine.

J. W. Souders, who was called home from Keith county four weeks ago, where he is building a house for W. L. Fisher, on account of his little girl being seriously sick with the whooping cough, has returned there to finish up his job.

The Omaha papers one day last week recorded the marriage of Miss Jean Charde, of that city, to John S. Mercer, of Morrill, Nebraska. The bride will be remembered by some of our people, the family having been residents of Wayne years ago. The newly wedded couple will reside at Morrill.

Art Savidge (Elwin Strong), who appeared at the opera house Tuesday evening in "A Race for a Widow," drew an almost "standing room" audience, every seat being taken on the lower floor and most of the gallery. Being a Wayne boy, he always gets a large patronage here. The show pleased the people too.

A Jolly Time

One of the jolliest events of the season was "The Workers" May Party last Monday evening. Invitations were sent out by the ladies inviting twenty-four young ladies to be the May baskets for the twenty-four boys of the class, the baskets to be filled at four local greenhouses with specimens stated on the invitations. The young folks met at the M. E. church and then started for "Good's Greenhouse," where specimens of the Palm and Date family were to be served. This proved to be at Rev. Kirkpatrick's where they were entertained by being given an account of the pastor's first sermon and music. After presenting him a May basket containing fruit, flowers and a birthday gift, they received their refreshments, consisting of hand shakes and a dish of dates written on slips of paper.

The next Greenhouse visited, was the Eagle's Nest where specimens of the Cocombs, Cowslip, Wild Flax, Bean and Vine families were to be served. This was at the Lutgen home where Mrs. Gossard served pressed chicken sandwiches, pickles and coffee. After music and games the last Greenhouse, at Mr. Ed. Johnson's, was visited, where two courses were served. Specimens of Water Cress and Poplar families and Specimens of Pole, Cowslip and Pine families.

The former was served in an artistically arranged spring surrounded by ferns and palms it consisted of water and toothpicks. The second was given them as they left and was an ice cream cone. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson presented each member of the party a beautiful cut flower as a souvenir of the occasion. The baskets having been filled at these local Greenhouses, they were delivered at appropriate hours by the members of the class by 10:30 o'clock.

Among The Churches

Items of Interest Concerning the Churches in Wayne

BAPTIST
The Baptist church will observe "Mothers' Day" next Sunday. There will be special music, fitting the occasion, and the pastor will preach on the "American Woman." The men will wear a white carnation.

METHODIST
A week from next Sunday, at the M. E. church, the entire morning service will be given over to baptism and reception of members.
Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick's class at the M. E. Sunday school has the honor of being banner class for attendance, having 100 per cent during the month of April.
Rev. Fetzer, pastor of the Winside M. E. church, will occupy the pulpit of the Wayne M. E. church next Sunday morning. Rev. Kirkpatrick being absent.

Rev. Kirkpatrick will be absent from the city all of next Sunday holding quarterly meeting services in some of the towns up the branch for the District Superintendent.

You will enjoy the services at the M. E. church next Sunday evening if you attend them and listen to the music to be given under the direction of Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, by the Epworth League, it being anniversary day for that organization.

PRESBYTERIAN

Miss Wallace leads the Young People's prayer meeting at 7:00 p. m. At the evening service at 8 o'clock the pastor will preach on the fourth commandment.

The Sunday school meets at 11:45 a. m. There are classes for everybody desiring to study the Bible lesson.

The Brotherhood class for Bible study meets in the lecture room immediately after the morning service. A. R. Davis is the leader.
Next Sunday is to be observed as "Mother's Day" at the Presbyterian church. The white flower or white ribbon will be worn in honor of the mothers, to whom all owe so much. The subject of the sermon will be "A mother's heart." The usual illustrated talk to children will be given before the sermon. The topic is "Traps to catch mice and men."

The installation services at the Presbyterian church last week were very much appreciated by the membership and the sermons by Rev. J. S. Corkey, of Winterset, Iowa, were especially enjoyed. On Thursday evening Rev. Parker Smith, of the Wayne Baptist church, also spoke, welcoming Rev. Alexander Corkey to the church circles in Wayne, and setting forth the things for which the churches of Wayne stand.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood of Wayne have been enjoying some special treats recently. In connection with the installation services of the new pastor, Rev. Alexander Corkey, a Brotherhood supper was held in the lecture room of the church last Thursday evening. Over forty men sat down to a sumptuous supper, served by the ladies of the Westminster Guild. After the supper the toastmaster, W. H. Morris, introduced Rev. J. S. Corkey, of Winterset, Iowa, who delightfully entertained the men with his humor and stirred them with his earnest appeal for the men to assist in the great moral upheaval which is stirring the modern world. Other speakers were A. R. Davis, Prof. Kemp, Rev. Pearson, and Rev. Alexander Corkey. In connection with the Sunday school the Brotherhood has a meeting every Sunday at noon in the church lecture room. A business meeting of the Brotherhood will be held in the church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock for the election of officers and the transaction of other business. The present officers are: president, W. H. Morris; vice president, Dr. Leisnering; secretary, Prof. Kemp.

And, as they sang, there came floating back to us across the years the words of another song we used to sing when a barefooted lad: "Who shall sing if not the children, why to them were voices given, bird-like voices strong and clear, why unless the songs of heaven, they begin to practice here." And when they came to the chorus of their song: "I'm coming, I'm coming, my head am bending low, I hear the angel voices calling old black Joe," the wish thought came to us that each one of the singers might have their hearts and ears so attuned that they could hear the angel voices all about them calling them to the good things in life. Household Goods

Auction. On Saturday, May 14, at 10 o'clock, on the vacant lots of R. J. & Fortner's meat market, will dispose of all of my household goods at auction.

EMIL WEBER.

Miss Julia Moody is numbered among the sick ones this week.

George Sherbahn and wife are celebrating this morning over the birth of a daughter that came to gladden their home last night.

Archie Lindsay and wife went to inside Saturday to spend a couple days of more with their son and family, helping them celebrate a wedding and a birthday anniversary.

Mrs. E. P. Phillo and children parted this morning for St. Anthony, Idaho, to join her husband, having decided to locate there and engage in the telephone business.

The contributors to the May Human Life include Alfred Henry Lew-Vance Thompson, George Russell, Homer Croy, Anne Hathaway, Edna Herron, Mildred Chambliss and a host of others.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will cure the sour stomach, relieve the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. E. Cunningham went to Rochester, Minnesota, Tuesday to be with her daughter, Mrs. Hudson, who was going to the hospital there, from her home in Montana, for an operation.

A woman who wears a petticoat and ravelings hanging here and there and who runs her shoes out at the heels will never make a neat housekeeper. This is a pointer for men who are sneaking around for a wife," says the South Omaha Democrat.

An exchange says, "There is more joy in a printing office over one sinner that pays in advance and abuses the editor on every possible occasion than there is over ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing its praises without contributing a cent to keep it out of the poorhouse."

The Blair Democrat says that a hen is worth as much as a hog used to be. A hog brings as much as a good horse used to cost. Two good teams of mules cost as much as an eighty acre farm did twenty years ago, and two good farms now cost as much as the President's salary for a year.

The largest and most enthusiastic crowd of shoppers ever gathered in a store in Wayne were at Ahern's last Saturday. The opening of the premium display drew hundreds of people and after looking at that fine collection of furniture, silverware, china, pictures and rugs, every piece of which one can get by saving stamps, you could not help but be enthusiastic about collecting the S & H Green Trading Stamps.

THE HERALD OFFICE

Is the best place to get Job Work

Bread is the oldest known form of artificially prepared food. The testimony of the bible proves that the methods of bread making in ancient Egypt were not essentially dissimilar from those in use today. Loaves of bread were found in ovens in Pompeii which were just the same as those made in modern Italy. Nevertheless the people of the twentieth century enjoy better bread than ever has been known before because of the advancement in the art of grinding the grain, in preparing and handling the flour and in the actual making and cooking of the bread in America the greater portion of the bread eaten is prepared in the household. In Europe the most of the bread is purchased from the baker. The wheat imports three-fourths of the wheat it uses, yet bread is to be bought from the English bakeries for less than half of what it sells for in the United States. This, perhaps, is sufficient proof of the greater economy of the European method of supplying the demand for bread.

Soliloquizing on the recent offer of two traveling salesmen to sell him an automobile and type setting machine on time, the editor of the Coleridge Blade wisely remarks: "The man who goes into debt bets his judgment against his creditor's that he can make more out of money than the current rate of interest. If the debtor makes the best guess, he wins. Otherwise he loses. And there are many more ships that go out and don't come back than the world ever hears of. The long talks are always of the ships that come back laden with myrrh and frankincense. A man who is able, active, creative and ingenious can spread himself out advantageously through encumbered investments. The man who isn't so sure of himself in these respects will get more solid comfort out of life by remaining conservative. Debt keeps hundreds of men poor where one reaches easy street by means of it."

Things Are Funny

Things are funny in a business way, sometimes. For instance: There is not a firm in town but what would sell to a man from Sioux City, or elsewhere, all the goods he wanted to buy and could pay for, and yet, if a paper were to sell some of its space, which is its stock in trade as much as a merchant's dry goods is his, to a Sioux City firm every last business man in town would say the editor was knocking against the town, while at the same time two-thirds of them might not be expending $5 a year in order to help the paper establish a paying business and be a help to the community. This week, as well as a good many others since we have been in Wayne, we have refused to sell a Sioux City firm a good large space in our columns, because we believe that people should trade at home, and we do not wish to do anything to encourage them to go elsewhere.

High School Notes.

Examinations this week Thursday and Friday. In six weeks will be held the final examinations for the year.

Miss Schwerin, our sixth grade teacher, was unable to teach Monday morning and Mrs. Kemp taught in her place.

Miss Wood, our seventh grade teacher, being absent Monday morning, Ruth Fortner, a Senior and prospective teacher, had charge of this grade.

The girls of the sixth grade gave a party for the boys of their grade and Miss Schwerin last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mines. This was in return for the sleighing party the boys gave the girls last winter.

There were ghosts and fairies, fat men and lean men, crowned heads and colored folks, clowns and others at the Senior-Junior Masque Party last Saturday evening. This party was given by Mrs. Phillips, Miss Graves and Mrs. Littell at the home of the latter and all enjoyed a most happy evening.

No one subject received more attention at the recent meeting of the Department of Superintendence at Indianapolis than that of the new attitude towards health. The newspapers and the magazines, medical writers and civic associations, school boards and teachers all seem to be united in a determined war against tuberculosis and other preventable diseases.

Our High School Agriculture class (all of the 9th grade) recently tested a sack-full of corn for Mr. Geo. Phillo. The following shows the results:

Of the 87 ears 42 tested 100 per cent.
22 83 1/2 "
12 66 2/3 "
4 50 "
2 33 1/2 "
5 16 2/3 "

Average test of 87 ears 83 1/2 per cent, nearly.

We are confident that this test is as nearly accurate as can be made. Anyone wishing corn tested may bring it to us. Corn is returned.

Free Land Grants

Yes, a few more elegant Free Land Grants can still be had in Mexico, where many Americans are now locating. You do not even have to go to Mexico, but are required to have five acres of fruit trees planted within five years. For information printed in English regarding Mexican homesteads, address The Jantha Plantation Company, Block 630, Pittsburgh, Pa. You can have your trees planted and your land worked on shares, so as to bring you a thousand dollars a year. The health conditions are perfect and the climate grand. It is never hot, never cold.

The next legislature will be called upon to reappropriate the state into congressional, representative and senatorial districts. This section of the state is entitled to nearly twice her present representation in the state legislature, and she should see that her members elected to the legislature should favor a just apportionment free from partisan bias.—Pender Times.

A Special Offer

The big daily papers find it necessary and profitable to keep increasing their subscription list, and one of the fastest growers is the Lincoln State Journal. This splendid state daily has just opened up another big subscription campaign, offering the paper to January 1, 1911, for only $2; with Sunday $2.50. This special rate will bring the business. The Journal has a way of its own—putting out a lot of expensive methods of getting subscribers and making the low rate to its readers direct. The people of the state as never before are looking to The Journal for the real doings in the state. It is building up its business through reliability and enterprise, especially in covering the state news. Another good thing about The Journal is its policy of stopping every paper when the time is up. If you don't pay for it you don't get it, and when you do pay for it you are only paying for your own paper, not helping to pay for the one sent some deadbeat. You will like the clean-cut methods of The Journal people.

NORMAL NOTES

Supt. E. A. Murphy, of Knox county, was a welcome visitor on the Hill Tuesday.

The new term opened the 25th of last month with an enrollment equal to that of a year ago.

Mrs. Pile has taken Mrs. Bright's work until Miss Beechler comes, which will be the middle of the term.

The play given by the Elocution Department was most entertaining. Miss Carroll is a most efficient instructor.

Mrs. Helen Pile-Newton left for her home in Rochester, New York, Thursday. Fred and Jim Pile accompanied her as far as Sioux City.

Prof. John Power, who came from the University to take the place vacated by Prof. Bright, is very popular with the students.

Our garden is having a rather strenuous time for an existence but, despite all set backs, we expect to be able to report a good crop later on.

New students are enrolling this week, the second week of the term. Among the number are Mary Davis, Madison; Hulda and Edla Pearson, Wausa; Esther Bengtson, Wausa; Connie Andrew, Bloomfield.

Prof. Conn, who was elected president of the school when it is taken over by the state, took supper at the College Saturday. Prof. Conn was one of the most intimate friends of the founder of this school and his election as president pleases us all.

Mr. E. W. Closson is suffering with an injured foot as the result of stepping on a nail one day last week.

James Stephens and the Misses Clark drove to Wayne Sunday for a visit with the latter's sister.

Miss Nova Neal, who entered College a week ago, returned Saturday.

Rev. Gahrall, of Randolph, will conduct preaching services in the high school room next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Everyone cordially requested to attend.

Last Friday afternoon a jolly party of young people, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, enjoyed a picnic party in the grove just a mile from town. The time was spent in disposing of a sumptuous dinner and in participating in baseball and other athletic games.

Mr. A. D. Holloway, of Wakefield, was in Sholes last Sunday and spoke to a congregation. His subject in the morning was "Prayer" and in the evening, "Christ, The Guide."

Mr. Holloway is a young man of wonderful ability and any Y. M. C. A. should be proud to have him in its service.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is daily coming to light. No such grand remedy for liver and bowel troubles was ever known before. Thousands bless them for curing constipation, sick headache, biliousness, jaundice and indigestion. Sold by all dealers.

That the summer term will be large is assured. Daily letters are coming in for reservations of rooms in the dormitories. Several new instructors will be added to the faculty. Mr. Reese Solomon, of Norfolk, will have charge of the vocal music, which is assurance that that department will be strong. Prof. Huntelmer will be here in charge of the Manual Training.

Young Men

Here is Your Opportunity

for getting distinctive, individual, different clothes; your opportunity for wearing just as stylish and exclusive clothes as are to be had anywhere. They're right here, ready for you to put on. They're Kuppenheimer made.

Think twice before getting any other make. It's easy to buy clothes that are inferior because there are so many clothes inferior to these in style, fit, quality, value.

The House of Kuppenheimer specializes in clothes for Young Men. They go straight to the weavers and get Young Men's patterns. Then they put the Young Men's spirit, taste and style into them. They're Young Men's clothes from start to finish.

You don't see everyone wearing clothes like these. Other stores can't get them. We're exclusive representatives for this make. Let us show you the difference.

test April day ever known in this locality, nearly one hundred in the shade and a hot wind all day, and on the second of May it snowed. What other freakish weather there may be, no one can tell.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Feather received invitations to attend the wedding of Miss Georgia May Ter-williger, a former Wayne resident, which took place at Parsons, Kansas, last Saturday. The Ter-williger family lived neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Feather in Wayne for twelve or fifteen years, and the family are very kindly remembered by a large circle of friends here.

A. S. Chellberg is another one of the young men trying to rise in his chosen profession, who has become tired of the domineering tactics of the unions in Chicago and has come west to get a start in a smaller town.
He is a friend of C. Clasen and arrived in Wayne last Friday with the intention of making this his home.
He is a plumber, understands all kind of work in that line, and will engage in business here in that line.

Robert Gemmill, who is farming near Carroll, was a caller Saturday morning for a few moments. Speaking of the drought, he said that he did not think that oats in his locality had been injured very much as yet, and that the wind had not done much damage either as the corn stalks had kept the soil in such shape that it could not blow very much. He said, however, that grass was suffering very materially and the outlook for a hay crop was rather alim.

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children.
It contains no opium or other narcotics and can be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed.
Sold by all dealers.

O. A. King kicked off Sioux City dust Wednesday afternoon.

Wood Jones looked after some business at Wakefield Wednesday afternoon.

A gentleman by the name of Wood, from Omaha, has taken a position in the Democrat office.

Wayne resident, is now in a hospital at Omaha, learning to be a nurse.

The Workers gave Rev. Kirkpatrick a May basket Monday evening that contained several pleasant surprises.

Frank Strahan shipped seven car loads of cattle out of Wayne Saturday and D. A. Jones four cars to Chicago.

Sunday night and Monday forenoon, although not one-half as much as was needed.

The Bible Study Circle gave Mrs.
Ella Wilbur a farewell reception
Wednesday afternoon, ere her departure for Hood River, Oregon.

George Tharp and other relatives were called here yesterday by the serious condition of L. R. Tharp, who appeared to be very close to death's door.

A district Sunday School convention was held at Winside last Sunday. Revs. Kirkpatrick and Corkey, of Wayne, were on the program for addresses.

Francis Jones, who has been attending college in Massachusetts for a year past, is home for a vacation of some length, to the pleasure of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Jones.

C. A. Kimball, of Wakefield, has been in Wayne for a week past, and is still here, selling stock in the United Wireless Telegraph Co. The invention is certainly one of the most wonderful of the many now in use.

The democrats from this part of the state did not seem to be falling over themselves in their anxiety to get to the banquet at Emerson Monday afternoon and evening. There were only a few attended from here.

That Sioux City firm which sent out dispatches to the papers here last week, and all over this part of the state, with the hope of getting a free puff, failed here, and some other places, but we see quite a number of the editorial brethren were suckers enough to bite on the flimsy bait.

"Closed to Invoice" was the sign that appeared on C. R. Witter's store door Thursday morning, and Saturday morning the stove and all the balance of the fixtures were carried out and carted away. A queer way to invoice. He has simply quit business, disposing of the balance of his stock to other firms in town.

The newspapers of the North Platte Country should make a stand for a restricting of the state in legislative districts the coming year.
We have more than half the population and only about one-third of the representation of the South Platte Country. Nothing but concerted action will bring about the desired results. Osmond Republican.

A change was made in one of our lumber firms last Thursday, F. G.
Philleo & Co. selling an interest in their business to William Von Seggern. The firm name will be the Philleo & Von Seggern Lumber Co.
The new firm may form a corporation, but in any event will enlarge the capacity of the yards and seek to do a much more extensive business than heretofore.

Nine out of ten automobile accidents are caused by too rapid driving. Those who handle those machines ought to learn after a little that reckless speeding is sure to bring disaster. What is the use of going through the country, anyway, at a rate of thirty or forty miles an hour, unless it be in special cases, and even then care should be taken in turning out of a straight line as it is the quick, short curves that cause the machines to turn turtle.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church will Business—President, Mrs. Hunter.

Lesson—"The Student," Mrs.
Graves.

Leaflets—"On the work of Today in Home and School for Negro Children."
Negro Song—Mrs. Main.

Next Sunday, the second one in May, is what is termed "Mother's Day." Every person attending divine service on that day is requested to wear either a white flower, or a bow of white ribbon, in honor of motherhood. This day is coming to be observed more and more each year. And why not? There is nothing nobler and truer in all the world than devoted motherhood, and it is only right and proper that some public recognition of the great work she does for the world should be made. Let there be lots of white flowers seen in Wayne on that day.

Last week the X-Ray Incubator company sold to a man at Akron, Iowa, thirty-five incubators and thirty-five brooders. The gentleman has been in the hotel business at that town and finds it does not pay, so, as he owns the building, he has decided to put in a room on each one of the rooms, thirty-five of them, cover the floor with cut straw and place an incubator and brooder in each room and engage in the raising of broilers for market. Chicks that weigh a pound and a half bring $1.00 at the leading hotels and on the railway dining cars, and as the gentleman has steam heat in the house he expects to raise poultry the year round.

MAY STOP BIG FIGHT

CALIFORNIA CHURCH MEN BE-GIN STATEWIDE CRUSADE.

Ministerial Bodies in Many Cities in Open Move Against Holding of Jeffries-Johnson Battle July 4—Prize Ring Denounced from the Pulpits.

Opposition to the Jeffries-Johnson fight following the death of Tommy McClary, the San Francisco pugilist killed in a fight with Owen Moran at San Francisco early Saturday morning, took form Sunday in a state-wide movement of clergymen to prevent the holding of the championship fight July 4. Prize fighting was denounced from scores of pulpits and in many cases a definite campaign was begun.

A meeting of the San Francisco church federation will be held and committees will be appointed to carry on the fight against the fight. The pastors of all the churches have been notified and it is likely that among the clergymen and the church federation shall take the lead in the movement.

Owen Moran, who is out on bail awaiting his arraignment for manslaughter, Sunday sent $100 to his mother in California to say miss over the head of his body.

The little fighter whose wife and children in London are still stricken with grief at the tragic incident of the contest is insistent in his denial that he admitted the match was a sham.

Some men in San Francisco do not believe the agitation against the Jeffries-Johnson fight will interfere with the plans of the promoters. Sam Jeffries and Jeffries repeated Sunday that he anticipates little trouble, and that camp there Johnson made light of any possible opposition.

STORMS IN KANSAS.

Many Sections Over State Report Violent Winds and Hail.

Severe rain and wind storms, reaching a point to tornado proportions in some points, were reported from Iowa, western and central Kansas and western Missouri Sunday night. What was reported as a small tornado swept through Phillips, Kan., Sunday night, and a telegraph and telephone line were cut off the east bound California train of the Santa Fe on arrival at Phillips, Kan. Telegraph poles were blown down and broke the string of the cars.

At 10 o'clock midnight a violent rain and hail storm struck Kansas. The county of the Kansas city area will be struck by it, and although no great damage is expected.

Cannibals Murder and Eat Two Missionaries.

The barkentine Mary E. Winkelman, which arrived at Mukitoe, Wash., Friday, from the Friendly and Tonga islands, in the South seas, brings details of the murder and eating by cannibals on Savage Island, near the Tongas, of Rev. Horatio Hopkins, and his assistant, Rev. Hector Laurie McPherson, missionaries of the Presbyterian mission, on February 5, as already called.

While the barkentine lay at Tanga Tabu, Tonga island, a cargo load of mission natives from Savage island arrived at Pua, bringing news of the butchering.

The natives said that Hopkins and McPherson were teaching in the mission building, which stands on the beach in the little harbor of Savage island, when 200 of the unconverted savages, howling war cries and brandishing clubs and spears, descended upon their quarters and took everyone prisoner. The missionaries had about twenty converts in training and only nine of them escaped.

Both missionaries were bound with thongs and were left lying on the beach in the tropical sun for several hours. While the savages took the native captives inland.

The cannibals on returning to the beach carried the missionaries on a litter to a crater of the extinct volcano Vanuaue in the center of the island.

There for two nights and days they were kept in a corroboree, and at times they were fed and revivified with such food as they stole along the shore. While most of the cannibals were asleep an opportunity came to the captive natives to escape. Their going was hastened by the sight of two canoes coming down the coast of the island. The clergyman had already been eaten.

STUDENTS' BODY FOUND.

Remains of Linden C. L. d'Alva, the student of the Princeton theological seminary who had been missing since last Sunday morning, was found Friday in the Marlton canal, near Princeton, N. J.

Although the face was so disfigured that identification was impossible, a handkerchief found in the coat pocket bore the laundry mark "453 P" which a Trenton laundry declares indicated that it belonged to d'Alva.

d'Alva disappeared from his room in Hodge hall at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The night watchman there being the last to see him.

It seems certain that d'Alva committed suicide and that he was mentally deranged from overstudy.

The student's family in Colombia, Cayon, was notified by cable.

DIES IN POPPE'S ARMS.

Mr. Pifer Had Struck Under Three Pivots.

A typical figure of the vatican passed Friday with the death of Mr. Guglielmo Piferi, of Rome, who had been the pastor of a parish priest, of the apostolic palace since the time of Pope IX. The aged ecclesiastic died in the arms of the pope, who had given the bedside upon learning that the end was near. The monsignor had served for 125 years under three popes. The post of sacrista has existed for six centuries and is always conferred upon an Augustinian.

Three Burned to Death. Three persons were burned to death and several injured in a fire at Cornwall, Ont., Friday. The Rossmore hotel and a number of stores were destroyed, and the Colquhoun block considerably damaged. Loss, $250,000.

Accused Bank Robber. Thomas Bailey, said by the Chicago police to be one of the three safe blowers who robbed the National bank of Chasworth, Ill., of $9,000 on February 15, was arrested in Chicago on Friday.

Cuban Leader Dead. Martin Moray Delgado, secretary of agriculture in the recently organized Cuban cabinet, and former president of the senate, died Thursday night at Santiago de las Vegas. He had been in ill health for several months.

Ridder Heads Publishers. The American Newspaper Publishers' association at its annual meeting in New York Friday elected Herman Ridder, president of the New York Staats Zeitung, president. All other officers were re-elected.

Found Guilty of Robbery. James Edwards and John H. Wilson were found guilty Friday of robbing the Citizens' National bank of Glenwood Springs, Colo., last September.

Cotton Firm Falls. Steel, Miller & Co., a spot cotton firm, with headquarters at Corinth, Miss., and branches at Columbus and other towns throughout east Mississippi, went into bankruptcy Friday.

Genie and Money Gone. Diamonds, jewelry and money to the value of $6,000 were stolen in Reno, Nev., from the apartments of Miss Ray Packer, formerly a New York actress.

Big Elevator Sale. The Favey Grain company, of Minneapolis, Minn., has sold its twenty-one elevators on the main line and Lincoln branch of the Union Pacific railroad to the Shellenberger Mill and Elevator Co., of Salina, Kan.

Triple Chicago Tragedy. Harry Dahl, a carpenter, despondent because of ill health, killed himself and his two young sons in Chicago Friday by turning on the gas.

Cotton Planted in Rhodesia. The British Cotton Growing association have accepted the offer of the directors of the British South Africa company, which will make possible the growing of cotton on a large scale in Rhodesia.

England's Navy on Parade. The great naval cruise in the North Sea now drawing to a close, is perhaps the greatest demonstration of England's naval power ever made. There are over a hundred ships engaged.

Roosevelt and Belgian Ruler Exchange Greetings.

Former President Roosevelt met King Albert, of Belgium, Thursday and they exchanged cordial greetings, later driving from the Brussels exposition to London palace, and spending an hour in the gardens.

The Belgian people gave Col. And Mrs. Roosevelt and their children a warm welcome on their arrival at Brussels from Paris at noon Thursday. After luncheon at the American embassy and a reception for the American colony Col. Roosevelt visited the exposition and his appearance there was marked by a double demonstration for himself and the king. His passage down the Grand Avenue facade, where there was a liberal display of American flags, was accompanied by continued hurrahs.

The Salle des Peles, where the former president spoke, was packed to the doors and several thousand persons were unable to gain admission. While Col. Roosevelt waited in the reception room in the rear of the stage the young king arrived by the side entrance. He was accompanied by a single aide. No introductions were necessary as they had met in America when the king was a crown prince. After a warm handshake they talked for several minutes in low tones, the king's tall figure towering head and shoulders above the American. He told Mr. Roosevelt how glad he was to welcome him to Belgium.

King Albert then, with a profound bow, retired and entered the hall, taking his place on a gilded red cushioned chair, immediately below the front of the stage. The crowd applauded lustily as the king entered, but the outbreak was mild compared with the roar which greeted Mr. Roosevelt a moment later.

Mr. Whart, president of the exposition attempted to introduce the colonel, but for some minutes he could not be heard above the din. He paid in a fatherly tribute to Mr. Roosevelt the king several times joining in the applause. When he returned to the former president's part in calling the second Hague peace conference and when he denominated him as "America's most representative citizen" the audience cheered heartily.

Kobe Harbor Badly Shaken.

Terrific Explosion on Dynamite Lighter in Japan.

Shaking Kobe, Japan, with the force of an earthquake and having damage suggestive of a typhoon, a terrific explosion took place on a dynamite lighter in the harbor there on April 7. Not only was immense damage sustained ashore, but more than fifteen thousand buildings were damaged, two persons killed and 82 injured. The Blue funnel like Myrmydon and some other vessels narrowly escaped.

Several steamers were quickly moved when the dynamite laden lighter was soon on fire. The Myrmydon was stopped just as the lighter blew up with a terrific detonation. The steamer vibrating heavily and the hatch being forced off.

The explosion ignited 120 tons of dynamite and three other lighters, holding fifty tons more, were struck by the upheaval without exploding. A huge column of water and debris was thrown up and a number of people watching from the shore were thrown down, as were also officers on several steamers in the harbor.

Seriously a house in Kobe escaped some damage and many buildings along the Bund, notably the oriental hotel, the German consulate, steamship and business offices were severely injured. There were but two men on the lighter. Both were killed.

Roosevelt to Brussels. Mr. Roosevelt's visit in Paris, during which he was showered with honors, terminated Thursday when, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit, he took a morning train for Brussels. The family was given an enthusiastic sendoff at the railway station.

Volunteers Check Fire. Fire at Albany, Mo., Thursday destroyed four stores on one side of the public square. A bucket brigade with difficulty prevented the destruction of the entire business district.

Fire in Oakland, Cal. A score of wooden buildings in the oriental quarter of Oakland, Cal., were destroyed by fire Thursday. Several persons were injured while fighting the fire, but none seriously.

Wabash Train Derailed. A Wabash passenger train from Chicago, was derailed near Sauratown, Ill., Thursday, two cars turning over. Only a porter on the café cars was seriously injured.

Buckshot Prosecutor. Attorney General Wickersham has retained the services of Henry S. Robbins of Chicago, as special counsel in connection with the prosecution of the buckshoters.

Whitney's Runner Wins. The Ely plate of 200 sovereigns for 2-year-olds, distance five furlongs of the Roux course, at Newmarket, Eng., was won Thursday by H. P. Whitney's Artless. There were four starters.

Prix Jason Event. The prix Jason of $600, distance one mile and seven and a half furlongs, at Autren, France, Thursday, was won by Mason Carves' Eldar.

Five men were killed April 23 by an explosion on the Southern Pacific freight steamer, El Alba, which was plied up in distress off the mouth of the Mississippi Wednesday. This announcement was made when the steamer reached New Orleans Thursday.

The stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio, in a special session at Richmond, Va., Thursday, authorized an increase of capital stock to $100,000,000.

BANK REVIEW OF FORTY YEARS

Financial Progress as Shown in Monetary Commission Charts.

The progress of American and foreign banking during the last 40 years is shown in a set of charts prepared by the national monetary commission. The subjects are arranged in logical order, beginning with the progress in the number of national banks, state banks, and trust companies. They then deal with changes in relative capital of each class of banks and in the circulation of the national banks; changes in the circulation of national banks in their relation to the supply and price of Government bonds; the relation of the treasury balance to deposits of public money in the banks; the movements of the bank circulation in reserve cities and other cities; and the comparative stocks of gold in lending banks.

The first chart shows the progress in the number of national banks from about 1,659 in 1867, through the gradual rise to about 3,800 in the summer of 1893. Then the failures heralded the depression of the late '90s. It shows the failures and liquidations following the panic of that year, until the number the summer of 1899 falls below 3,000. Then copies began upward, which began in the summer of 1900, apparently as the result of returning business activity, but was sharply accentuated by the act of March 16, 1900, which first permitted the creation of national banks with a capital between $25,000 and $50,000. This upward movement continues practically unbroken until a total of nearly 6,700 banks is attained in the summer of 1908, after which the movement is slightly relaxed as the result of the panic of 1907.

Progress of state banks is shown by another chart. In 1867 these institutions had capital and surplus funds of $100,000,000. In 1909 these funds were $720,000,000, compared with $1,800,000,000 for national banks.

The Sporting World logo and title.

The Bel, 2:02 1/2, the Canadian pacer expected to make a new record of 2:00 or better this year.

The Washington State fair early closing events consist of a $5,000 stakes, two $3,000 and one $2,000.

One hundred and fifty requests from China have been received for permission to attend the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

D. C. Palmer, of Berlin, Wis., has purchased the fast butting mare Bessie Brown, 2:12 1/2. She will hereafter be used in the breeders ranks.

It is reported that Puderewski, 2:05 1/2, March 2, 05 1/2, and Sterling McKinley, 2:06 1/2, will spend the coming season in the stable of the same trainer.

Having just discovered that July 1, 1910, the date fixed for opening the new White Sox ball plant, falls on Friday, President Comiskey is trying, with the help of President Johnson of the American League, to regulate a slight change in his plans, so as to duck the unlucky day of the dedication ceremonies.

Harvard is to have a million-dollar gymnasium, the biggest and most perfectly equipped building of its kind. The plans call for an artificial ice rink, a huge swimming pool, two smaller plunges, one hundred feet, a nine-hole running track, shooting galleries, bowling alleys and other paraphernalia.

At a meeting of the Buffalo Road Drivers' Association it was decided not to hold a grand circuit meeting at Buffalo this summer. The decision was reached because of the financial failure of last year's meeting, which, owing to the anti-betting laws of this State, was held on the Fort Erie, Ont., track.

New York for Quiet Fourth. Mayor Gaynor, of New York, directed his fire commissioners to enforce an order recently issued prohibiting the sale of fireworks or fireworks of any kind between June 10 and July 10.

PENSIONS FOR WIDOWS OF PRESIDENTS

The bill providing an annual pension of $5,000 each to the widows of former Presidents Benjamin Harrison and Grover Cleveland has been reported favorably to the Senate. Mrs. Harrison, the dead President's second wife, whom he married after his term of office had expired, naturally never belonged to the people in the same sense as the wife who came as the daughter of the bride. Nevertheless, Mrs. Harrison is the widow of the man who as President was distinguished in chief of the army and navy, and is entitled to the same honor though she never presided as mistress of the White House.

Of twenty-six men elected to the highest office in this land, only two were unmarried at the time of their election and Grover Cleveland overcame his bachelor condition soon after entering upon his executive duties. He thus left James Buchanan in undisputed possession of the title "The Bachelor President".

Twenty-one were sustained during the always trying presidential campaigns by the sympathy of their wives, but Mrs. Andrew Jackson, borne down as her husband always believed by the storm of calamity which swept over her at the time, died before inaugural day.

Like Jefferson, Van Buren and Arthur, Jackson entered the White House a widower. Mrs. William H. Harrison, wife of the hero of Tippecanoe, had this in common with Mrs. Jackson—she shared with her husband the pride which any man elected to the presidency must feel, but never presided in the mansion devoted to the chief executive. She was too ill to undertake the journey to Washington at the time of General Harrison's inauguration. He died just one month after taking the oath of office, and in sorrow she waited in the old home at North Bend, Ohio, for the coming back of his body.

Zachary Taylor, Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield and William McKinley also died during their terms of office, leaving widows with whom the nation mourned. The wives of two Presidents, Benjamin Harrison and John Tyler, died and were buried from the White House. In both instances the husbands married again. Tyler during his term, Harrison after it had expired.

Young Mrs. Tyler, like Mrs. Cleveland, came to Washington as the bride of a President, but only eight months of his administration remained, and she was never as popular as Mrs. Cleveland. Tyler, Harrison and Theodore Roosevelt make three Presidents who twice entered into the bonds of matrimony.

Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Benjamin Harrison married widows. The staid stories which inspired Mrs. Jackson's health grew out of the fact that in her youth she had married Captain Robards. After he had deserted her she was divorced, but political opponents found there was some flaw in the proceedings, and after forty years of happy married life the political opponents of Old Hickory used her first marriage as grounds for attack in the presidential campaign. This is the nearest to anything approaching a scandal in the lives of the Presidents, all of whom have been exemplary husbands.

In most instances the widows of Presidents have lived very quietly after the death of their husbands. Dolly Madison furnished an exception to the general rule. After Madison's death in 1836 she took up her abode in Washington and lived there like a dowager queen until she died in 1849. During this time her receptions on the Fourth of July and New Year's day were as largely attended as those at the White House.

London's "Cost of Living". A special agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who was sent to study the "cost of living" problem in England, reports considerable differences between prices in that country and in the majority of cities here. Figures taken from three laboring districts of London show that food and lodgings for a man, wife and two children come at a minimum of $5.34 per week. He compares this with the average of the working classes $7.23 to $9.76. The reports says further that Russian dollars get from $15 to $20 a week, are the best paid workmen in London. The best paid carpenters get only $10.33, letter carriers $8.50 and in the engineering trades the maximum of wages is a little over $10. Labor unions and charitable societies reported that in the past five years workmen ready to work had not been able to get employment more than 65 to 75 per cent of the time.

New Rabies Cure. Dr. James S. Cummings, of the Pasteur Institute of the University of Michigan has announced the discovery of a new and more effective treatment for hydrophobia. Dr. Cummings claims that his method shortens the time of cure treatment one week and is much safer than the present method.

Postoffices in the World. Total is 271,000, of which the United States has 63,663.

According to figures published in the Archives Postales of Paris, there are at present 27,000 post offices in the world, spread over ninety-seven States, which cover an area of 30,000,000 square miles. The United States possesses the greatest number of post offices 63,663; Germany comes second with 49,838 offices, and the United Kingdom third, with 23,738 offices. Russia has 18,000, France 13,000 and Italy and Austria each 9,500 offices.

The average daily postal business of the world amounts to 110,000,000 mail pieces of all sorts, representing on the estimated value of the contents of registered letters a sum of $68,000,000.

The number of the world's postal officials is 1,394,247, of which Germany furnishes the strongest contingent, 374,251 persons. There are 767,898 mail boxes in the world.

Not an Euthanasia. President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard has denied published reports that he favored the deliberate killing of persons afflicted with incurable ailments. He does say, however, that if by the use of nature's anodynes a patient can be relieved of pain and life is shortened, it is not wrong.

PEACE TEMPLE DEDICATED.

President Taft and Cabinet Attend Ceremonies in Washington.

The beautiful new home of the International Bureau of the American Republics in Washington, called by Mr. Carnegie a temple of peace, was the other day formally dedicated to the presence of a distinguished company. The international character of the dedication was proved by the presence of President Taft, the Secretary of State, the Mexican Ambassador, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Hardin, Director John Barrett of the Bureau of American Republics, members of the diplomatic corps, of the Supreme Court and the cabinet as well as Senators and Representatives and high army and naval officers.

The ceremonies were initiated by an invocation by Cardinal Gibbons, who was followed by Secretary Knox, who delivered the formal opening address. Senator Root delivered an address, which was responded to by Senator Don Francisco Leon de la Cerna, the Mexican ambassador. Mr. Carnegie delivered a characteristic address. There were readings of cable messages from the presidents of the Latin American republics, congratulating Mr. Carnegie and the bureau of American republics upon the completion of the great work and then President Taft spoke at length.

Just preceding the benediction by Bishop Hardin, which concluded the afternoon exercises, occurred a unique feature of the program when President Taft and Mr. Carnegie jointly planted a "peace tree" in the patio, or courtyard. The new home of the bureau cost $1,000,000, of which Mr. Carnegie contributed $550,000 and the twenty-one American republics the remainder.

SCHOOL ROD UP TO HIGH COURT.

Supreme Justices Take Case of Teacher Who Flogged Boy.

In the "line of the history" to be given the moral support of the Supreme Court of the United States? That is a question it will be called upon to decide between now and vacation days. The court gives its approval to this method of discipline. Annie Kelley, an Illinois teacher, will escape from a school squabble with no greater punishment than having been declared a bankrupt. If the court puts its foot down on corporal punishment she probably will have to go to jail for flogging a pupil.

In 1906 Miss Kelley was teaching in the primary department of the public schools of Tolpico, Champaign County, Ill. According to a brief Miss Kelley has just filed in the Supreme Court, Michael Burke, 11 years old, was not as good as he could be. In the presence of the school on Dec. 6, 1906, so Miss Kelley tells the court, he committed a breach of proper decorum by using vulgar and profane language at and toward your petitioner and jerking her upon the floor and striking and kicking her. After the principal had ordered her to chastise Michael, she flogged him with a pointer. When the Burkes brought a suit for damages against her, alleging trespass and other things the State courts returned a judgment against Miss Kelley.

After the judgment Miss Kelley was declared a bankrupt. On the ground that the national bankrupt law does not give a person from payment of a debt incurred through the committing of "blatant and malicious injuries to the person or property of another," Miss Kelley was arrested under an Illinois statute for failure to satisfy the judgment. She went into the federal courts for her discharge. The district court of the United States for the Eastern District of Illinois found that the debt was not incurred through willful and malicious injuries. The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the judgment. Miss Kelley now has asked the Supreme Court to review her case.

BJORNSTEN IS DEAD.

Famous Novelist Dies in Paris from Paralytic Stroke.

Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the famous Norwegian novelist, playwright, poet and publicist, died at the Hotel Wagner in Paris in the other night in the 78th year of his age. His wife, whom he married fifty-two years ago, was with him at the end. Bjornson suffered a stroke of paralysis last June, and was brought to Paris in November for electro-therapeutic treatment. It was reported lately that he was growing better. The change came unexpectedly.

Bjornstjerne Bjornson was born near the town of Molde, Norway, December 8, 1816. Poet, novelist, dramatist, lecturer, a student of peace, two heraldic titles, dominated in a character—the peace pact which he drew from his father, country parson, and the fighting spirit, which came to him from his more remote ancestors, the old Norse sword-rovers. He was known as the Prophet-Poet of Norway. Toward him the people looked for guidance, and with his courage he fought in the cause of truth and justice.

At the age of 20 he entered the University of Christiania, and while there began writing in a serious vein. After two years as writer and editor he became the director of the Bergen Theater. This was in 1857. The next few years were devoted to travel and residence in Denmark, Germany and Italy, and then Bjornson went back to Norway for ten years. He began the series of plays which conquered the Danish, Swedish and German theaters. As Bjornson grew older he went into politics as a reformer.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of Chicago trade says: While an excellent exhibit appears in both aggregate payments through the banks and trading defaults, the business situation presents some irregularity, mainly due to weather uncertainties and labor disputes. The major of costs also suggests more serious thoughts as to future undertakings. Further weakening in prices of raw supplies affects some interests and large consumers apparently want more favorable buying terms. Continued low temperatures have adversely affected leading retail lines and outdoor activity, but transportation has not had little hindrance and freight movements have remained exceptionally heavy in factory outputs, general merchandise, farm needs, lumber, hides and grain.

Weather conditions and the upward trend in prices of raw supplies continue to be the causes of irregularity in the volume of trade in many lines. The demand for raw materials is being held up by the weather. The demand for raw materials is being held up by the weather. The demand for raw materials is being held up by the weather.

ENORMOUS STORM LOSSES IN STATES OF THE MIDDLE WEST

Illinois—Greatest damage was caused by the blizzard that covered the entire State. Early vegetables on the truck gardens in the northern districts and berry patches, where buds had reached an advanced stage, are reported as total losses. Damage, $6,000,000.

Iowa—Storms in Iowa have continued with greater or less vigor for nearly a week, but the frigid atmosphere and snows of the last two days have done the greatest damage. Not only fruits and vegetables, but even the oat crop is threatened. Entire damage, $10,000,000.

Indiana—Apple orchards and truck gardens that supply Chicago were the greatest sufferers. The damage, which was confined to the northern and central districts, amounts to $2,000,000.

Michigan—Fruit held almost entirely gone for the season. All that remains, according to expert growers, is the grape crop, which has been damaged to a great extent. Damage, $4,000,000.

Wisconsin—it is estimated that 50 per cent of the fruit crop and all of the early vegetable and grain crops intended for the Chicago market, have been killed. Damage, $2,000,000.

Kansas—Snow and low temperatures have killed the buds and, in many instances, even the leaves on the trees. The corn crop, however, is safe. Damage, $1,000,000.

Kentucky—All the fruits and vegetables, as well as budding plants and flowers, have been damaged by the cold weather and blizzards of snow, largely because of the fact that they had reached an abnormally early development. Loss, $1,500,000.

Missouri—Clouds and favorable conditions saved much of the fruit. Friday night, but the clear weather and continued cold of last night completed the damage. Estimated losses, $2,000,000.

Ohio—Early fruit, particularly watermelon and other vines, have been killed by the snows and freezing weather. Grain has not been hurt. Loss, $500,000.

LOSS IS $50,000,000 FROM WINTRY BLAST

Snow and Cold Affect Wide Section, with Truck Gardens, Orchards and Farms Devastated.

CROPS RUINED IN MIDDLE WEST

Sudden Blizzard with Below Freezing Temperatures Leaves Destruction in Its Wake.

BOTH GRAIN AND FRUITS SUFFER

Continuance of Rain and Cold, with Gradual Change, Regarded as Only Salvation.

Continuance of Rain and Cold, with Gradual Change, Regarded as Only Salvation.

Prematurely budding crops of the middle West have been swept away in the most disastrous and far-reaching storm experienced in a generation.

The disturbance has wrought more than $50,000,000 damage to fruits and vegetables and has started an upward spurt in the price of fresh foodstuffs that probably will be felt during the entire season.

The Michigan fruit belt—the backbone of the fruit district—is described as almost wholly wiped out for the season, while the freezing temperatures in Illinois and Iowa not only has killed buds, flowers and fruits, but threatens to ruin oats.

In and about Chicago truck gardeners have seen all hopes of early vegetables blasted in a single night. Vegetables and flowers that had promised huge profits and low prices because of the early spring have been damaged beyond hope.

All that can be done is to replant, where this is possible, making the season several weeks behind rather than early. But in the end it will be the housekeeper who will feel the effect of the storm.

The expected early vegetables and low prices, promised because of the lamb-like March, have given place to promises of such high prices for green foodstuffs as have not obtained in years.

The story of the storm is told best in the weather bureau reports that show a freezing temperature in practically all of the points that have been touched by the storm. There are some of the recent which, it was believed, by his Chicago friends, was least Kansas City, 25 above zero; Indianapolis, 23 above zero; St. Louis, 20 above zero; Cincinnati, 18 above zero; Louisville, 15 above zero; Memphis, 12 above zero; New Orleans, 10 above zero; and Milwaukee, 8 above zero.

In the central and southern districts of Illinois the temperature fell to the lowest point in the history of the city, 23 below zero, at the time of the storm.

Paradoxically enough, the only mitigation in the bad news was in the fact that the rain and low temperature—albeit as Governor expressed with the dawn of 1911. The arrangement agreed upon will enable him to clean up pretty thoroughly the tasks begun by him as Governor.

HUGHES TO SUPREME COURT

New York Governor Notices Taft of Acceptance of Position.

Governor Charles Evans Hughes of New York put aside his opportunity for making from $100,000 to $750,000 a year in the private practice of his profession as the weather bureau reports that show a freezing temperature in practically all of the points that have been touched by the storm.

Paradoxically enough, the only mitigation in the bad news was in the fact that the rain and low temperature—albeit as Governor expressed with the dawn of 1911. The arrangement agreed upon will enable him to clean up pretty thoroughly the tasks begun by him as Governor.

TAR EXPLODES; SIX ARE KILLED.

Boiling Liquid Almost Wipes Out Family Ferryman.

Following an explosion of tar, the home of Jerry Miner at Ponca Landing, Neb., was destroyed by fire and his wife and five of his children were burned to a crisp.

Even if the fruit crop of the Middle West were not destroyed, prices might not be seriously affected, for reports from other fruit sections indicate bumper crops. It seems certain, however, that the loss on apple, plum, cherry and peach orchards will be so serious as to make prices for those fruits higher this summer.

Grains are reported to have suffered severely everywhere, the loss of oats being particularly heavy. In some sections the entire oat crop will have to be reseeded. Wherever the first joint was out of the ground the frost killed the growing grain.

MAY SPEND A BILLION.

Vast Outlay Contemplated by American Railroads.

According to a New York correspondent, there will be expended this year by the railroads of the United States more than $500,000,000 for new equipment, betterments, steel rails, etc. Furthermore, if traffic conditions warrant, $500,000,000 more will be spent for extensions; so that it is likely that the total amount expended by the railroads will reach $1,000,000,000. On the basis of orders placed in March, there will be expended during the current year the following amounts:

For 230,000 steel cars, $255,000,000; for locomotives, on a basis of $20,000 per engine, $109,400,000; for new equipment, betterments, steel rails, etc., $417,040,000. This estimate does not include expenditures for steel rails, improved terminals, straightening and improving roadbed, etc., or even for passenger cars.

So pressed with work are the steel mills of the United States that rails are now being imported into this country from England. The bulk of the steel company's business is derived from the railroads. In March the railroads placed orders for 2,400 steel cars and 156 locomotives. In addition, the roads began the building of 200 engines in their own shops. This shop work has resulted in orders to the steel companies for 100,000 tons of structural steel.

For new railway terminals, bridges and the like contracts were placed in March for about 12,000 tons of steel, the bulk of which will be taken by the railroads. Orders were placed last week for an additional 35,000 tons of structural steel.

Ten Years to 'Dry Up' New York. The Gov. Glenn, of North Carolina, who after many years led the Anti-Slavery League to complete victory in that State, said in his New York address that he would tackle the problem of New York State. He said that if the legislature were to pass a bill to dry up the State, it would take ten years to make it effective in New York City. He also urged the league to concentrate on making sentiment and to dry up the State of the South, before attempting to dry up the State.

Gov. Glenn has just returned from a tour of the West and New England, where he had made a thorough study of the workings of prohibition, which he has previously said that in Maine the people own $14 per capita, while in New York the average is $20. He said that the Maine prohibitionists were almost entirely correct in their view, while in New York the average is $20. He said that the Maine prohibitionists were almost entirely correct in their view, while in New York the average is $20.

Speaking at a banquet at Orange, N. J., Gov. Fort of that State declared that unless a compulsory arbitration law is established at once, to settle the differences between coal and the working man, this country would be a military force in need of a greater necessity for the creation of such a body, and that whether it be wealth or the working man who fails to agree with the decision, it will be forced to be enforced by military force if needs be. Gov. Fort also advocated the State ownership of all watersheds and predicted that in forty years the individual would be receiving water at $10 per 1,000,000 gallons.

An increase in the pay of all section laborers and foremen employed by the Iowa Central, was made.

Beginning July 1, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road will have through passenger service in operation between Chicago and Seattle.

The Northern Pacific Railroad in continuing a line from Pingree to Witten, N. D., has let the contract for grading and the commencement of operations just west of Pingree.

Canadian Pacific commercial telegraph operators are demanding a raise in the scale of wages from $80 to $110 per month as a maximum, with corresponding increases for less experienced men.

If the railroad workers will have better pay still pending an open question where the additional money will come from. Evidently, the railroad companies are in no mind to take it out of their earnings, for the New York, New Haven and Hartford road filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission schedules of increased passenger rates. It is understood that these are the direct result of an increase in wages recently granted by President Mellor to avoid a strike.

Western railroads are said to be preparing to increase both passenger and freight rates.

Following the lead of the Pennsylvania Railroad, it is understood that the Philadelphia and Reading announced a 6 per cent wage increase for employees, effective less than $300 a month. The increase is said to affect 37,000 employees.

It has been reported on good authority that the Delaware and Hudson Company has agreed to a 8 per cent increase in the wages of its conductors and trainmen, and would reach a working agreement along the lines of that of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

It was announced from the office of the Lehigh Valley Railroad that it had chosen an agreement with its firemen covering one year, giving the men a ten-hour day in place of a twelve-hour day. A similar agreement had previously been made with conductors and engineers on that line.

Every demand of the brotherhood of trainmen, conductors and yardmen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad was made, and an agreement entered into by the general office at New Haven. A liberal increase in pay and the shortening of hours are allowed, practically every employe of the system being affected by the increase.

These farms are selling; buy while you can get them; do not wait until all are picked up by a man who knows a bargain. The shrewd buyers take these bargains while they are to be had. This is only a partial list. Snaps in western land at Grant, Sidney, Venango, Julesburg, and other points. Waiting to see what the other fellow will do loses many good bargains.

Items Relating to People, Events, and Different Things. Belden high school will have three graduates this year. Nebraska had $624,593.73 in its state treasury May 1. A farmer's grain company has been started at Wynot. The Madison Chronicle has bought a Junior Linotype machine. The Wausa baseball club has been organized for the season of 1910. Attorney Kingsbury, of Ponca, is talking of locating at Wakefield. Dr. Lansing will return to Wakefield again and resume practice. The Northeast Nebraska Sons of Herman will picnic at Emerson in June. Editors Nevin of Laurel and Eckert of Winside are each sporting automobiles. A chicken with four perfectly formed legs and feet is a curiosity at Tekamah. Miss Nettie Nelson has been appointed superintendent of schools in Burt county. Randolph will put in four and a half miles of new cement sidewalk the coming summer. The superintendent of schools at Hartington will get $1200 salary next year, a raise of $75. Osmond will vote May 31st on the proposition of bonding to the extent of $10,000 for water works. There will be seven graduates from the Winside high school this year—six girls and one boy. The Wausa Gazette says many a good boy is spoiled by his father or mother because they think he is an angel. The Crofton Progress thinks that without saloons that town could not support schools beyond the eighth grade. Sioux City gets a new railroad nearly every week, on paper, and that is the only way she does get them at all. The voters at Tekamah will vote on the proposition of $20,000 bond issue to build an addition to the high school building. Elsie Robertson, near Laurel, has a record of perfect attendance at school for an entire year and has received a certificate to that effect. Rev. Gehret has resigned as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Wakefield and will go elsewhere as soon as he gets a call to suit him. The Randolph Enterprise says: "About all experience seems to teach some people is the fool notion that they can do it again without getting hurt."

Crystal Lake, the northeast Nebraska summer resort, is already commencing to take on life and show signs of a busy season, several new cottages being in course of construction. Rev. John Wesley Beard, pastor of the Randolph Presbyterian church graduates from the Omaha Theological Seminary on May 4. As soon as possible he moves to Randolph for his permanent residence. Battle Creek proposes to get rid of its habitual boozers by sending them to the state jag cure establishment. If they are not cured it is figured that the town will be better off without them for a while. Charles T. Jeffery, who for sixteen years was a partner with his father, the late Thomas B. Jeffery, in the firm of Thomas B. Jeffery & Company, now assumes complete control of the manufacture and sale of Rambler automobiles. "The trouble with the girl that powders is that she soon forgets she is in the retail business and branches out into the wholesale—and some fellow gets caught with the goods all scattered around his mouth," says a Missouri editor who has been up against the retail girl.

The Hartington Herald says: "The Methodists of Hartington are very resourceful. They have given pound parties, ice cream socials, banquets, quilting bees, have pasted ballots, published cook books and done many other things in order to raise funds to carry on the work of the church, but their very latest stunt eclipses all the rest, to wit, a potato planting bee." They have already planted several acres and will plant more, the women and all participating in the planting, and also in the cultivating, and digging, if there are any to dig.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Wayne Homes. Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery at least or at work. If women only knew the cause, that Backache pains come from sick kidneys. "I would save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Many residents of this vicinity endorse them. Mrs. C. T. Barto, Wakefield, Nebraska, says: "I believe that Doan's Kidney Pills are an effective kidney remedy. For about two years I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble, some of which were very severe. I sometimes seemed as if it would break in two. My kidneys were also weak and the secretions from these organs passed too frequently. I tried several remedies, but received only temporary relief. With Doan's Kidney Pills it was different. They not only stopped the pain in my back, but also corrected the difficulty with the kidney secretions. I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my present good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The brainstormer of the Pender Republic says: "What the country needs is not a change of political parties but a revival of real manhood, a stimulation of conscience and determination to root out all graft and corruption whether it be found among democrats or republicans, whether it be in Denver, Pittsburgh or our own town or county."

Notice to Non-Resident Defendant. To WALTER M. STEADMAN. You are hereby notified that on the 20th day of December, 1909, Grace Steadman filed her petition against you in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, the object and prayer of which is to obtain a divorce from you on the grounds that you have willfully deserted and abandoned plaintiff without good cause for more than two years last past, and that plaintiff has the sole custody and control of the minor child of plaintiff and defendant, Margaret Ruth Steadman. You are required to answer said petition on or before Monday the 6th day of June, 1910. GRACE STEADMAN, Plaintiff. By A. B. DAVIS, her Attorney. Apr 28 1910
