Glad to Get Rid of It

About ten months ago, Miss Milliken, a Wayne county school teacher, while doing some cleaning about the floor of her home, ran a needle into the upper part of her hand, just below the wrist joint, a portion of it breaking off in the flesh. In a short time it had worked down into the palm and began to hurt her and she came to Dr. Leisenring with it. He examined it on the X-Ray machine, and located the piece well embedded in the palm, so deep in that he did not think it best to cut the hand open to get it out. He told her it was about an inch in length but she insisted that it was not half that long. He told her that as long as there was nothing dangerous about it she had better let it remain until it had worked out nearer the surface. She came to the doctor several times when it shifted from one place to another in her hand but it was not until last Saturday that the doctor deemed best to try to get the piece of metal out. By that time it had worked from the palm through in between the bones and lay on the back of the hand directly under the tendons. An incision was made, and, after some little effort, the piece of needle was pulled out and proved to be fully an inch in length.

MEMORIAL DAY

This Day Fittingly Observed in Wayne

The Weather Was Ideal and the Attendance Very Large.

Decoration Day 1910 in Wayne was ushered in early by a few volleys of heavenly artillery, giving promise at the opening of not being a very auspicious day, but by the time the sun was well above the horizon the clouds dispersed and soon the sun came forth with all its brightness and from that time until it disappeared behind the western hills, the day was all that could be desired from the standpoint of the weather. Flags and bunting began to be in evidence at the residences and on the business streets at an early hour, and all day long old glory swung its graceful folds to the sky as it was wafted by the breeze.

At two o'clock in the afternoon, the old soldiers, preceded by the Commercial Club Band, the Normal School cadets, thirty-two flower girls dressed in white, marched to the opera house, where there was a large audience in waiting, hundreds not being able to gain admittance. The program at the opera house consisted of music by the band, two excellent selections by a double male quartet, prayer by Rev. Ringer, some announcements by A. R. Davis, who presided, and then followed the address by Rev. Corkey, of the Presbyterian church, the general verdict being that it was the best address of its kind ever delivered in Wayne. The speaker was evidently at his best, and in a forcible yet plain way, eloquent withal, he set before his hearers many things for their thoughtful consideration. He not only praised the veterans of the civil war for their patriotism, devotion and self sacrifice, but the Spanish Americans as well and called to the minds of the younger generation and those who are just beginning to reach manhood's estate, that there were battles yet to be fought, not with the bayonet and sword, but the ballot and the influence of a higher and better citizenship, if this beloved country of ours is to reach and maintain its ideal position among the nations of the earth. Some of the evils to be overcome, the speaker argued, such as graft, bootleggers, white slave traffic, and kindred ills, could not be met in the open like the enemies of our government in the 60's, for they were like the maggots in the flesh, but they must be met and overcome in the same spirit of self sacrifice, patriotism and devotion as in the days of long ago. The address was certainly a masterpiece, was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were privileged to listen to it, and reflected credit upon the speaker.

At the close of the address, the procession was again formed and marched to Greenwood cemetery, where was assembled the largest number of people ever on the grounds on a similar occasion. A floral tribute was placed on each soldier's grave by the flower girls, the G. A. R. ritualistic program for the day was followed out, the N. N. C. cadets fired a salute above the grave of W. O. Gamble, the last comrade to be buried in the cemetery the roll call of the dead was read by adjutant Elson and then the exercises were over. Many graves in the cemetery besides the soldier dead were covered over with banks of flowers. The names of the old soldiers buried in Greenwood cemetery are:

Well Watered

Who sold the water? That is a question June Conger would like to have answered. The other day when he took a load of the base ball boys to Stanton he filled the tank of his engine with fifteen gallons of gasoline, supposing that would be plenty to carry him the round trip. On the return his machine did not work well and he thought the gasoline had played out, so purchased some at one of the towns between here and there. On examining the machine the next morning after he got home he found three gallons of pure water in the tank. At that rate someone sold gasoline that was nearly one-fifth water. No wonder the stuff would not explode in good shape.

A Satisfactory Cleaner

How would you like to do all of the housework in half the time and with half the effort? You can do it, and in a way that is much better and more generally satisfactory. An easy way that gets right down and takes off the dirt better than the ordinary and old-fashioned cleanser. Old Dutch Cleanser is the modern cleanser. Use it and see. It cleans quickly, scrubs thoroughly, scours and polishes brightly. Use it in all your cleaning for woodwork, all kinds of floors and painted walls, cutlery and glassware, pots, pans and kettles, in the bathroom and throughout the house. Contains neither caustics, acids, alkali nor grit and its uses are unlimited.

Everybody Pleased

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and her Sunday School class of workers scored a great success in their patriotic program at the opera house Monday evening. The program was a success from every point of view and was most thoroughly enjoyed by the audience that filled nearly every seat in the main auditorium, and there were some in the galleries. The parts were all well taken and rendered. "The Veteran's Dream," an entirely original production, consisting of a tabulated play, seven-teen tableaux, was especially fine, as was also the camp fire war songs and the tableau "The North and South in War. (Just after the battle, mother)," all of which was very realistic and carried the minds of all the old soldier boys present back to the terrible scenes of the war in which they played such a prominent part. Mrs. Lutgen and her coworkers deserve credit for the splendid entertainment. The proceeds were $35.

That Second Ball Game

The Stanton baseball nine came over here last Tuesday afternoon and again defeated the Wayne boys by a score of 4 to 2. There were a great many errors on both sides but the visiting team had to work hard for the scores they got. Neither side scored until the seventh inning, when Wayne got two and Stanton one. In the eighth inning the visitors got three scores, while Wayne could not find the ball for a safe hit, and neither side scored in the ninth. The features of the game were Sals' excellent pitching in the third inning, when with only one man out and the bases all full he pitched such ball that the visitors could not score; Welch's catch of a long drive to right field in the 5th, and Berner's home run for the visitors in the eighth. Von Seggern, the Wayne third baseman, got badly hurt in the first half of the eighth inning in attempting to put a runner out at third, falling in such a way as to seriously hurt his right arm. It was at first thought to be broken or dislocated but fortunately this did not prove to be the case. The score stood as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Wayne.....	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	2	0
Stanton.....	0	0	0	0	0	1	3	0	4

Died in Kansas

O. S. Gamble and W. B. Gamble, south of town, received a message Sunday conveying to them the sad news of the death of their father, S. P. Gamble, at Colony, Kansas, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. His wife died near Wayne about four years ago, and was buried in Greenwood cemetery, and it was the purpose of the sons to bring the body of their father here for burial by the side of their mother. William went to Kansas on the first train after the sad news was received and the understanding was that O. S. should go ahead and make all the arrangements for the funeral to be held here Wednesday afternoon. He had the arrangements all made except digging the grave when he received a dispatch from his brother Tuesday morning saying "Will bury father here. Explain when I come back." O. S. did not know any further reasons why a change in the plans was made than the telegram announced, but thinks that the condition of the body must have prevented shipment. S. P. Gamble was a brother of W. O., and the oldest member of the family and died just six days after his brother here in Wayne. The elder Gamble will be kindly remembered by many of our people, he having made his home in this vicinity and with his sons a number of years.

How to Save Money!
Every man who is obliged to work for his living should make a point to lay up a little money for a "rainy day."
Accumulated money is always ready to use when needed. Scrape together your pennies, deposit it in a savings bank, and then proceed to deposit it (even a sum, small though it be, once a month, or once a week, according to circumstances). With such an account you can feel a desire to enlarge his deposit. It gives him lessons in frugality and economy; weans him from habits of extravagance; and is the very best guard in the world against the temptation of dissipation and vice.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
"I guarantee to give you relief."
"Guaranteed to give you relief."
Of John Sloan, the brilliant chemist a story was told the other night at the Franklin Inn in Philadelphia.
Sloan used to take long walks with Stuart, said an essayist, when he lived here. He has an original and so fresh mind.
"Nature is often beautiful," he said one evening, as we walked in the park. "But tonight how hideous she is."
"How so, dear Sloan?" I objected.
"Look at the stars. Surely they're very bright tonight."
"Sloan looked up, then frowned and took his hand."
"Oh, yes," he said, "not bad, not bad, but there's far too many of them."
Water thrown on the ice of the Arctic regions will crack it, just as boiling water will crack a piece of glass, because the ice is so much colder than water.

IT WEARS YOU OUT.
Kidneys Trouble Lower the Vitality of the Entire Body.
Don't wait for serious illness; begin using Dodd's Kidney Pills when you first feel backache or notice urinary disorders.
David P. Corey, 23 W. Washington St., Ionia, Mich., says:
"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills for six months. I could only get around with cane or crutches. The backache grew gradually worse until I was compelled to take a long rest in bed. I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and gradually improved until well."

The Australian Stock Whip.
The stock whip in the skillful hands of the Australian is not only an article of the greatest utility, but also a formidable weapon. Owing to its great length the lash varies from twelve to thirty feet, and the shortness of the butt, which measures only eighteen inches, it is an extremely difficult and awkward thing to wield, and the beginner is apt to hurt himself if he does not exercise care when practicing. A well-trained stockman, however, can hit a cent every time at ten paces distance and with the dreaded lash in his hand, cracking his pistol shots, can keep a mob of wild animals in check. It is used with full force, it will cut through skin and flesh like a knife, says the "Wide World Magazine," but unless a beast shows distinct vice the stockman uses it more for the purpose of intimidating than of causing pain. It can also be used as a bolas, a Patagonian form of lasso, and an allent cut catch and hold a beast by causing the lash to curl around its legs.

Lesson from the Past.
"Socrates," asked Plato, "to spring an old one on you, how do you reconcile the doctrine of preordination with the doctrine that man is a free moral agent?"
"I need not bother our heads about that," answered Socrates. "One of these days some 7-year-old prodigy will come along and tell us all about it."
"For even the old Greek philosopher had a prodigy like us, we were going to have some fearful smart boys in America in the twentieth century."

HARD ON CHILDREN.
"What teacher has coffee habit." "Best is best, and best will ever live." When a person feels this way about Postum they are glad to give testimony for the benefit of others.
A school teacher down in Miss says: "I had been a coffee drinker since my childhood, and the last few years it had injured me seriously."
"One cup of coffee taken at breakfast would cause me to become so nervous that I could scarcely go through with the day's duties, and this nervousness was often accompanied by deep depression of spirits and heart palpitation."
"I am a teacher by profession, and when under the influence of coffee had to struggle against crossness when in the school room."
"When talking this over with my physician, he suggested that I try Postum. So I purchased a package and made it carefully according to directions. I found it excellent of flavor, and nourishing."
"In a short time I noticed very gratifying effects. My nervousness disappeared. I was not irritated by my pupils, life seemed full of sunshine, and my heart troubled me no longer."
"I attribute my change in health and spirits to Postum alone."
"Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pkgs. 'There's a Reason.'"
"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

THE QUICKENING

BY FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1906, by Francis Lynde

CHAPTER VI.

One purple and russet afternoon, when all the silent forest world was steeped in the peace of early autumn, Thomas Jefferson was fishing luxuriously in the most distant of the upper pools. There were three fat perch gill-strung on a forked wither under the overhanging bank, and a fourth was being to the bait, when the peaceful stillness was rudely yawned by a crashing in the undergrowth, and a flash of a hooded heron unknown to Paradise, bounded into the little pond to stand glaring at the fisherman, his teeth bared and his black hairs bristling.

"Oh, please! Don't hurt my dog!" said a rather weak little voice out of the reeds.
"You come round here and call him off of me."
"It is not wishing to hurt you, or anybody," said the voice. "Down, Hector!"

The Great Dane passed from suspicion to indignation, and threatening his twitchings to mighty and frivolous gambolings, and Thomas Jefferson set out to give him room. A girl was trying to make the dog behave. So he had a chance to look her over before the battle for sovereignty should begin.
There was a little shock of disquieting surprise to go with the first glance. Somehow he had been expecting something very different; something on the order of the Queen of Sheba—done small, of course—as that personage was pictured in the family Bible. He caught his breath as he saw her, and possibly with a slight gasp and snarl.

Instead, she was only a pale, tired lady in a brief-torn frock; a girl whose bones showed brazenly at every angle, and whose only claim to a second glance lay in her thick mop of reddish-brown hair, and a pair of great, shining eyes two sizes too large for the thin face. A double conclusion came and sat in Thomas Jefferson's mind: she was rather to be contemptuously pitied than feared; and as for looks—well, she was not to be thought of in the same day with the black-eyed man beyond the creek. The whole scene recalled to the small one-eyed Thomas Jefferson's stare with a level gaze out of the over-sized eyes.

"Was it that you were afraid of Hector?" she asked.
"Huh!" said Thomas Jefferson, and the scorn was not far from her corner way of speaking, and partly for the foolishness of the question. "Huh! I reckon you don't know who I am. I'd have killed your dog if he'd jumped on me, maybe."
"You are Thomas Gordon. Your mother took care of me and prayed for me when I was sick. Hector is an—ah—extremely good dog. He would jump at you."
"The dog's name's for him he didn't bragged Thomas Jefferson, with a very credible imitation of his father's grin. "Then he sat down on the bank of the stream and busied himself with his fishing-tackle as if he considered the incident closed.

"Why is it that you are trying to do?" asked Ardea, when the silence had extended to the third worm tippling on the hook and promptly abstracted therefrom by a wily sucker lying at the bottom of the pool.
"I was fishing some before you and your dog came along and scared all the fish away," he said, solemnly, then, turning suddenly on her, "Why don't you go ahead and say it? Is it 'cause you're afraid?"
"I don't know what you mean."
"I know what you're going to say; you are going to tell me this is your brother's kind and run me out of the creek, ain't it? Well, I'm your brother."

"You are such a funny boy," she remarked, and there was something in her way of saying it that made Thomas Jefferson feel little and infantile and inferior, though he was sure there must be an immense age difference in the favor of her. "I'm a man, and you're a girl, aren't you?"
"Ain't ain't no fun, I'm your brother," she sobbed, with an angry snarl of her frowns. "I—I want to go home!"
"Well, I reckon there ain't anybody holding you," said Thomas Jefferson, brutally. He was intent on fixing the sixth worm on the hook in such fashion as permanently to discourage the little fish, and was busy with the matter of self-possession with graceful facility. It was going to be notably easy to bully her—another point of difference between her and Nani Bryerson.
"I know there ain't nobody holding me—but I can't find the way," she said, and she looked at him for help.
"You want me to show you?" he asked, putting all the untrustworthiness he could muster into the query.
"You might tell me, I should think I've walked and walked."
"I reckon I'd better take you; you might get lost again," he said, with a gleam of triumph. Then he continued all the time he could for the method of disposal of his fishing-tackle. It would be good for her to learn that she must wait on his motions.

"She waited patiently, sitting on the ground with one leg around the neck of the Great Dane; and when Thomas Jefferson stole a glance at her to see how she was taking it, she looked so tired and thin and weary as if he almost let the better part of him (the upper hand). That made him sure that she was a girl, and he nearly recovered his string of fish from the stream and said: "Well, come on, if you're comin'."
He told himself, hypocritically, that it was only to show her what hard-ship she would have to face if she should try to do anything but dragged her such a way round over the hills and through the worst briar patches and across and across the creek, doubling and circling until the easy mtle was spun out into three uncommonly difficult ones. But at bottom the motive was purely wicked. In all the range of surely creature there is none so innately and barbarously cruel as the human boy-child; and this was the first time Thomas Jefferson had ever had a helplessly pliable subject to his will.

The better part of the more determined he became to break her down; but at the very last, when she stumbled and fell in an old leaf bed and cried for sheer weariness, he relented enough to say: "I reckon you'll know better than to go projectin' round meridians between cause and effect the cause being the capital of confiding investors in the North, and the effect the dissipation of the same in various and sundry development schemes in the new iron field.

To Paradise, in the course of his goings to and fro, came this paragon of obscure men, the first of his kind. A glorious group of the possibilities at a glance: abundant iron of good quality; an accessible vein of coal second only to Pochontas for coaling; land cheap, water free; and a perfectable subject for development, and, finally, simple-hearted Caleb Gordon.

Farley had no capital, but he had that which counts far more in the promoter's field; namely, the ability to rouse where others had sown. His plan, outlined to Caleb by a sweeping glance of a moment, was simplicity itself. Caleb should contribute the raw material—land, water, and the ore quarry—and it should also be his part to secure a lease of the coal land, from Major Dabney. In the meantime, Farley, would and stake to the capital, and the two, forming a company and selling stock to provide the development capital.

A company was organized, the charter was obtained, and the golden stream began to flow into the treasury; time it and again in the railway channels of development. Thomas Jefferson stood aghast when an army of workmen swept down on Paradise and began to change the very face of nature. But that was only the beginning.

For a time Chilawasseo Coal and Iron figured prominently in the market quotations, both present and prospective, were personally conducted by the scene of activities by enthusiastic Vice-President Farley. But when these had served their purpose a thing happened. One fine morning it was whispered on "Change that Chilawasseo Iron would not be taken at such a price." That word had been rejected by the Southern Association of Iron Smelters.
Following a crash which was never very clearly understood by the simple-hearted sabbler-iron-master, though it was merely a repetition of a lesson well known by the earlier investors in the Southern coal and iron basins, Caleb set to work the making of iron, not the financing of top-heavy corporations. So, when he was told that the company had failed, and that he and Farley had been appointed receivers, he took it as a financial matter, of course, somewhat beyond his ken, and went about his daily task of business, with a mind undisturbed as if it would have been distraught had he known something of the subterranean mechanism by which the failure and the receivership had been brought to pass.

TAILOR, IN ONE NEIGHBORHOOD.

One Small Trader Whose Business Has Not Been Absorbed.
One small business that has not yet been swallowed up by the big ones is that of the small tailor who makes clothes for men and women and cleans, repairs and presses them.
There are hundreds of such tailors scattered in residence districts all over the city employing one, two or three hands, the New York Sun says, and there are plenty of such shops that yield their proprietors a good living profit and maybe something more. Here is a business in which politeness and a desire to please play their proper part, for the proprietor comes in personal contact with the customer, and if politeness with the shop adds good work and businesslike promptness in completing jobs at the time specified it may in almost any neighborhood build up a substantial trade with regular customers and with a steadily increasing clientele.
Many such shops call for clothes and make deliveries; few keep a boy, for there might not be constant employment for him, and in these small shops everybody keeps constantly at work; they have to do that to work out a profit. The boss himself on occasions, will carry things home, and do it willingly and cheerfully. Still for the most part customers requiring cleaning, repairing and pressing done take their own things to the shop and take them away when done, and in this carrying to and fro the customers show various peculiarities of their ways that may be governed more or less by where they live.

If a man lives in a tenement house he may throw his clothes over his arm and walk with them to the tailor; if he lives in an apartment house with an elevator and that sort of thing he would be more likely to do them up in a bundle. And when you get these clothes at night on your way home, if you live in a tenement house you take them back on your arm; if in a better one you take them smoothly; or if you live in an apartment house you have them done up because you want them so or because you know that other people in the house wouldn't fancy seeing a tenant walking through the hall to the elevator carrying a lot of old clothes. The tailor will ask you whether you want them done up or not, and if you do he will do them up gladly and not consider you proud or snippy for wanting them so. The neighborhood tailor knows about things and he is a man of business.

So as to most of the things that find their way to the tailor, for the arm or in a bundle, but the modern young man has discovered another way which is not without its merits and advantages. He puts his clothes to be repaired in a suitcase and when he goes down town in the morning he just leaves the suitcase at the tailor's and then when he comes home at night he stops at the tailor's on the way to his home. The tailor says his things in the suitcase again, so the young man carries them home.

A Disconcerting Theory.
"Why do these critics say such disagreeable things?" asked the unhappy author, just before he was asked to write an article for the "New York Sun" on "The Tailor and His Business."
"You mustn't blame them," answered the manager. "Probably they want to avoid being overlooked in the struggle for attention."
"But can't they attract attention by saying pleasant things?"
"Not so much. When I was roughing it I learned that the man who pulls a gun on you is remembered twice as long as the one who offers you a cigar."—Washington Star.

SONGS IN THE NIGHT.
By Rev. James Mudge, D. D.
"But none saith, where is God my Maker, who giveth songs in the night?"—Job 35:10.
The night of grief and pain comes to all. Soon or late, more or less, we must all be brought to the gates of death. What shall we do with it? Defeat, devastation, peace, triumph—which will we have? The Almighty is fully able to make his children victorious over all their trials, turning them into means of grace for which hearty thanks can most fitly be given. It is possible not merely to bear them with patience and resignation, but to rejoice greatly at the glorious results therein wrought.

We may raise to God, in the night of affliction, a song of trust. We may say, "Though He slay me, yet I will trust in Him." "Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall there be any fruit in the vine, yet I will rejoice in the Lord; I will joy in the God of my salvation." The song of trust necessarily becomes also a song of joy and hope, and peace and contentment. We find that our burden is our boon, that what breaks our trust in the creature enables us to lay hold on the Creator, and that this is a most blessed exchange. It is only in the dark Valley that we thoroughly learn to sing with the Psalmist, "I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me." It is only when it is black around us that the eternal stars shine out. "Darkness shows us worlds of light we never see by day, and never could see."

Do we sometimes, in a moment of fervor, temptation or anguish, feel like saying, "Lord, take away pain!" If so, brief reflection shows us the folly of it. For, as Browning says, "Put pain from out the world, what room were left for thanks to God, for love to man?" Pain is the greatest of God's teachers. By it we learn sympathy with others. Without it we should be hard and cold and selfish, self-contained, self-confident. Unspeaking precious lessons of brotherhood and helpfulness come from our pains and our prostrations, our faults and our failures. What a mercy is physical pain which warns us that something is out of order in the body and needs attention, thus preventing our sudden dissolution. Nor is it otherwise with pain mental, which calls a halt in our proud career of self-sufficiency; throws its back on our fellows, equips us for service, puts us into the way of communion with God, companionship with Jesus. It has wonderful compensations. "The deepest griefs have holiest ministries."

HYMNS AND THEIR AUTHORS
JUST FOR TO-DAY.
By Ernest R. Witherspoon.

The author of this hymn is a descendant of the Great William Wilberforce, the philanthropist, and a son of Samuel Wilberforce, the bishop of Oxford and later of Winchester. He was born in 1840 and became a member of Wilberforce in 1878 and later, bishop of Newcastles. This is his only hymn which has attained popularity and this has been of recent growth. It was written for a morning prayer at private devotion.
Lord, for to-morrow and its needs I do not pray; Keep me, my God, from stain of sin Just 'till to-day. Help me to labor earnestly And duly pray; Let me be blest in word and deed, Father, to-day. Let me no wrong or idle word Unthinking say; Set thou a seal upon my lips Through all to-day. Let me be true to Lord, be grave, In every season gay; Let me be faithful to thy grace, Dear Lord, to-day. And if, to-day, this life of mine Should ebb away, Give me the joy of sacrament divine, Father, to-day. So for to-morrow and its needs I do not pray; Still keep me, guide me, love me, Lord, Through each to-day.

SENTENCE SERMONS.
Harder work may be heaven's wage. The hard face usually has a weak spine.
No man can rise above criticism who fears censure.
He never loved at all who feared to love too much.
Many doctrines are only ecclesiastical political fences.
Many think that faith is believing all they wish were so.
The envy of the good is evidence of poverty in that respect.
No path can be worthy for me that is not straight for other feet.
No church ever died as long as it had a work to do and did it.
If you take every man you meet for a guide you will go to the goal of none.
It is so much easier to plan to mend the universe than it is to be patient with your own children.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.
Don't forget that fanaticism is a germ of zeal and falsehood.
Don't lose hope of your brother lest you lose faith in your Father.
Don't forget that he has ceased to live who does not lend for more life.
Don't forget that the punning tongue throws many a one back in the race.
Don't imagine that arguing over the tools is the same as building a house.
Don't mistake the faith that is anxious to kill for the faith that is ready to die.
Don't become deluded by the feeling that you are raising yourself by despising others.
Don't imagine that the suffering of the saints under the sermon augments their grace.
Don't overlook the fact that to know yourself may prevent some lies if it does not reveal all truth.
Don't forget that a fool seeking wisdom is better than a wise man satisfied with what he has.
Don't fail to observe that a neighbor's reputation is often improved by giving the imagination a rest.

Religion of Presidents.
The Episcopalian presidents were Washington, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce and Arthur. The Congregationalists were both John Adams and John Quincy Adams. Jefferson and Johnson did not belong to any church. The Presbyterians were Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Lincoln, Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison. The Reformed Dutch were Roosevelt and Van Buren. Fillmore and Taft were Unitarians and Garfield belonged to the Disciples. The Methodists were Grant, Hayes and McKimley.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble. My doctor advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Mrs. F. M. L. King, 803 First St., Milwaukee, Wis."

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write for her advice. She has granted thousands to health and her advice is free.

A Surprising Lion.
The man-catching lions did not always get their own way. Five Sikh carpenters made a staking eight feet high and on this they fixed their sleeping tent. Each night they ascended by means of a ladder, which they drew up after them. They were warned that it was not light enough, but were content to believe that God was all powerful. One night they left the edge of the ladder projecting beyond the end of the staking. A hungry man eater on the prowl observed this act, thinking he could not find a meal more conveniently elsewhere, determined to try how a carpenter tasted. Calculating his spring, he leaped lightly onto the projecting ladder, which, unfortunately for him, instantly tipped up and toppled over, both falling heavily to the ground. The lion bellowed; so did all the men, making for the nearest trees. From "In the Grip of the Nyktia," by Colonel J. H. P. Patterson.

Proportional Insurance.

By falling from a cart a Chinaman who carried a large insurance, says Tit-Bits, was quite seriously injured. There was some doubt even of his ever getting better.

At length one of his friends wrote to the insurance company on his behalf:

"Dear Sirs, Hong Wang Lee half dead, like half money."

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of Chicago trade says:

"The smallest comparative gain of this year appears in the bank clearings, and high trading defaults continue to affect credits. These features in part may be attributed to special causes of a temporary nature, there being no clear evidence of a reaction in business aside from that due to the unseasonable weather, which has hindered operations to some extent recently.

"A more favorable distribution is seen in an increasing distribution of necessities and crude materials, indicating that the purchasing power has not diminished, although the discount rate remains discouraging to extended enterprise.

"Railroad plans indicate that improvements through the coming financial year will be extensive and the successful flotation of bonds under negotiation will provide for much investment in extensions, trackage, power and rolling stock.

"The wholesale markets for general merchandise were strengthened by a satisfactory attendance of visiting merchants, and the buying compared favorably with this time last year in dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, furniture, men's furnishings and food products.

"Bank clearings, $273,298,740, exceed those of the corresponding week in 1905 by 0.6 per cent and compare with $27,430,132 in 1908.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 21, as against 36 last week, 24 in 1905 and 28 in 1908. Those with liabilities over $5,000 numbered 8, as against 15 last week, 10 in '05 and 7 in 1908."

Dairy Profits Depend on Quality.
Profits in dairying do not depend so much on the number of cows kept, but upon the kind. This fact is being realized more and more as the dairy industry increases. One way to increase the acreage of a farm is to increase the fertility of the soil of the farm. Similarly one way to increase a dairy herd is to increase the cows producing power.

Raising Ducks.
The idea that a duck must have a pond or stream to swim in is all a notion. Many of them are raised with perfect success, with no more water than a trough 4 feet long, 1 foot wide and 4 feet deep, and kept filled with water from a well or tank. It is a good plan to have an inclosure to contain them during the laying season, but about 9 o'clock each day, if that way the eggs are where they can be found and not scattered over the range.

The Value of the Separator.
The value of the cream separator is based on the amount it saves out of the loss of the cream that is common under the old primitive methods. Usually there is a loss of from 25 to 60 per cent of the cream. The cream separator saves this loss, and, comparing that under the average price of butter that the cream separator will save the farmer $10 or more a cow per year, so we see that if the farmer milks five or six cows he saves enough in one year to buy a cream separator above the old methods.

Effect of Soy Beans on Butter.
At the Massachusetts Experiment Station they have carried out a number of tests in feeding soy beans to dairy cows. They found that "Soy bean meal did not modify the chemical character of the butter fat, neither did it have any effect upon the separation of the fat from the milk serum, the time of ripening of the cream, nor the thoroughness of the churning. Expert tasters, however, could not detect any particular flavor in the butter as a result of feeding the meal. The meal imparted a noticeable softness to the body of the butter, but not sufficiently so as to injure its commercial value, except during the warm months. The softness of the body of the butter was probably due to the oil contained in the soybean meal and not to the bean protein."

NEW YORK.

Trade reports, except in the Northwest, are of the North Pacific coast, are of little gain in activity, and, indeed, in some lines, such as textile manufacturing, quiet or further curtailment is all the subject of discussion. Some lines of industry, it is true, are still active, prominent in these being the building trades, with hardware and other kindred lines. There is still evidence, however, that anticipations as to spring trade were keyed too high. Collections are little, if any, better than last.

Business failures for the week ending with May 19 were 225, as against 216 last week, 219 in the like week of 1905, 284 in 1908, 165 in 1907, and 170 in 1906. Business failures in Canada for the week numbered nineteen, which compares with twenty-four for last week and twenty-five in the corresponding week of last year.—Bradstreet's Report.

FARM AND GARDEN

punched in it will answer the purpose. This will raise the bottles from the bottom of the pail, thus allowing a free circulation of water and preventing bumping of the bottles. Punch a hole through the cap of one of the bottles and insert a thermometer. The ordinary floating type of thermometer is likely to be inaccurate, so if possible a good thermometer with the scale etched on the glass should be used.

Set the bottles of milk in the pail and fill the pail with water nearly to the level of the milk. Put the pail on the stove or over a gas flame and heat it until the thermometer in the milk shows not less than 150 degrees or more than 155 degrees F. The bottles should then be removed from the water and allowed to stand for twenty to thirty minutes. The temperature will fall slowly, but may be held more uniformly by covering the bottles with a towel. The punctured cap should be replaced with a new one or the bottle should be covered with an inverted cap. After the milk has been held as directed it should be cooled. To avoid danger of breaking the bottle the water should be warm at first. Replace the warm water slowly with a cold water. After cooling, milk should in all cases be held at the lowest available temperature.

Man and the Rat.
The dominion of man over the beasts of the field does not yet include the rodents, says McClure's Magazine. Aurochs, cave-bear and mammoth we put down with stone-headed arrows. We have wiped out the buffalo; the lion and the elephant will soon be gone. But still the rabbits of Australia cost the colonies millions a year; traps, ferrets and poison still fail to make head against the rats, mice and gophers of the United States. While our animal enemies have become smaller in size, they have grown more numerous. It is as if nature, after trying vainly to chastise her insurgent son with a catapult, had gone after him with a shotgun.

The fact is that, of all warm-blooded creatures, there are just two that are really dominant, successful, increasing in numbers and range, and able to maintain themselves anywhere in the world against all rivals. These two are man and the rat. The genus homo and the genus mus go everywhere and eat everything. They are the two creatures that dwell in houses and travel in ships. Each drives the other rivals to the wall; but neither, except locally and for brief periods, has ever come near to exterminating the other. Civilized man has fought the common rat for 200 years, and the battle is still drawn.

The "90 Joints and Elbows."
You may easily joint concrete tile to make perfect joints in the following manner: Take the tile that is to join the main drain and with a cold chisel cut the end so that it will fit over the side of the drain tile.

This is easily done by lightly cutting some with a chisel; now place this onto the main tile at the point it is to be placed, and with a pencil mark around the outside of the same. Then with a chisel, says Farm World, lightly cut into the main tile along this mark about half way.

When entirely through in four or five places on this mark and lightly tapped with a hammer on the inside of the main tile, the piece thus cut will break out of the main evenly; the edges may be smoothed and the tile inserted in the same, previously dragging the edges with cement mortar, and then by wiping the joint with cement mortar outside same, you can make the joint perfectly tight.

Elbow joints are made in the same manner except that ends of three tiles are cut and joined together to make a segment of the circle, and with the joints sealed with cement mortar a perfect joint may be used.

The tile should be made and allowed to harden for at least thirty to sixty days before placing it in the ground. At a period of two days they may be exposed to the weather without injury, and when thirty days old may be taken to the point where they are to be laid, and no amount of "freezing" will injure them in the least, which cannot be said of the ordinary clay tile.

Henthouse and Woodshed.

One man who keeps a small flock of chickens has a unique arrangement in the form of a combination poultry-house and woodshed. The building is something like 20 feet long by about 30 feet wide. It is made of dressed pine boards on a foundation of natural stone laid in cement. In one end is a room for wood and kindling, and in the other end a place for the chickens. A loose board partition separates the two rooms, with a small opening in the wall near the bottom large enough for the chickens to go from one room to the other. This opening is fitted with a small sliding door to be closed at night in the wood room.

Such a combination house as this for a small flock of chickens and for keeping fire wood and kindling and in the shelter is a good building to be located comparatively near the dwelling. The extra space in the wood room with the loose partition affords plenty of air for the fowls without having the doors and windows open on cold nights. Nest boxes are in both the poultry room and the wood room. During the day the hens can find exercise in the wood room, and the high nest boxes are convenient both for the hens and the poultry-man. The wood room serves both as a place for storing food and as a scratching shed for the poultry, and when closed at night in piling the wood the hens will not soil it, and they will derive much benefit in scratching in the chips and sawdust.

When the incubating season opens and the laying hens can be out most of the time the nests in the wood room are used for setting hens, with all openings closed to exclude laying stock and other intruders.

Alfalfa Meal for Cows.
Alfalfa meal as a feeding stuff is having the consideration of the experiment stations. It is only within the past few years that alfalfa hay, to any extent, has been ground into meal, as a partial substitute for grain for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. Countrymen, however, say that fowls do not take to alfalfa hay or meal as readily as they do to clover, and many, especially the large concerns, have cut alfalfa and gone back to clover.

Alfalfa can be purchased on the market just as it is ground into a meal, but more often it is mixed with molasses, corn chop, wheat screenings, chaff, weed seeds or other waste products.

It is claimed for alfalfa meal that it is fed with less waste than hay, and possesses a higher percentage of protein than ordinary hay—about 15 per cent, as compared with about 6 per cent in timothy hay. But a pound of alfalfa hay does not contain any more nutriment when ground into meal than it did before, and for home consumption it is doubtful if the advantages are enough to pay for the grinding.

Home Pasteurization of Milk.
Milk is most conveniently pasteurized in the bottles in which it is delivered. To do this use a small pail with a perforated false bottom. An inverted pie tin with a few holes

Baby's Scalp All Crusted Over.

"Our little daughter, when three months old, began to break out on the head and we had the best doctors to treat her, but they did not do her any good. They said she had eczema. Her scalp was a solid scale all over. The burning and itching was so severe that she could not rest, day or night. We had about given up all hopes when we read of the Cuticura Remedies. We at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and followed directions carefully. After the first dose of the Cuticura Resolvent, we used the Cuticura Soap freely and applied the Cuticura Ointment. Then she began to improve rapidly and in two weeks the scale came off her head and new hair began to grow. In a very short time she was well. She is now sixteen years of age and a picture of health. We used the Cuticura Remedies about five weeks, regularly, and then we could not tell she had been affected by the disease. We used no other treatments after we found out that the Cuticura Remedies would do her. J. Fish and Ella M. Fish, Mt. Vernon, Ky., Oct. 12, 1909."

A Seattle man, backed by New York bankers, has secured all rights to the International system in Alaska and will construct a 100-mile railroad on this plan within a year. Then branches will be laid to various gold fields.

Machinists on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway were granted an increase of 3 cents an hour at a conference at Parsons, Kan. Similar increase had been granted on the Kansas City Southern, the International and Great Northern, the Texas and Pacific, the Houston and Texas Central and the Galveston, Houston and San Antonio railways.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headache, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid rising in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. TO BECOME A CITIZEN

Clerk of Courts Gives Brief Directions for Naturalization

In view of the constitutional amendment which is to be voted upon at the coming election the following instructions is published by request of Clerk of Courts. Should the amendment become a law a man can vote but five years after having taken out his first papers unless he takes out his second papers and becomes a full-fledged citizen.

INTENTIONS OR FIRST PAPERS

First papers may be taken out any time after your arrival in the United States, providing you are eighteen (18) years old or over, but you must reside five (5) years in the United States, and you must be over twenty-one years of age before you can apply for your second papers. But if you lived in the United States before you were eighteen years old, that time counts just the same as it does after. For instance, had you arrived in this country at the age of sixteen you would wait two years of until you became eighteen and then apply for your first papers and then having received them you would only have to wait three years before petitioning for your second papers. Your first papers must be two years old before you can make application for your second papers.

You do not need any witnesses in taking out your first papers. No person can be naturalized without taking out first papers, even though he came to this country before the age of eighteen years.

PETITIONS FOR FINAL PAPERS

After you have lived five years in the United States and your first papers are two years old, you must go to the office of the District Clerk of the county in which you live, bringing your first paper with you, together with two witnesses (both of whom are citizens of the United States and who will make oath that they have known you to be a resident of the United States continuously for five years and over and a resident of the state for at least one year, and that you are a man of good moral character and would make a good citizen) and apply for your second papers.

You will then give the Clerk your name, place of residence, occupation, place and date of birth, name of country you came from, the names of the ports you sailed from and arrived at, the name of the vessel you came on, and, if married, the name, place of birth, and place of residence of your wife, together with the names, date and place of birth and present place of residence of each and all of your children.

You will then be asked if you believe in organized Government and whether you are a member of any society that is opposed to same, whether you are a polygamist or believe in the practice of polygamy, and whether you are attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and whether you intend to reside permanently in this country.

FINAL HEARING

After you have made the petition you must then wait ninety days before you can get your final papers. The Clerk will mail you a notice stating the time set for final hearing of your petition before the Court.

On the date set you must appear and be sure and bring the same two witnesses who testified to your petition and should they refuse to come you may order the Clerk to subpoena and compel them to do so.

If the witnesses are naturalized citizens, they must bring their final papers with them to show the Judge.

The Judge will ask you many questions about the Constitution and laws of the United States and to assist you in answering them a list of questions has been prepared and will appear next week. You should study these carefully and it will be easy for you to answer the questions asked you.

You must again post yourself on the questions asked you by the Clerk when you filed your petition: your age, date of birth, etc., also of your wife and children, date of leaving old country and landing in this country, that you are not an Anarchist (an Anarchist being a person who does not believe in Government) that you are not a Polygamist (a Polygamist being a person who believes in having more wives than one.)

NOTE THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY

If you arrived in this country since September 16, 1906, (the date the new law took effect), aside from all the foregoing requirements, you must be able to speak the English language and to write your full name before you can ask for your second papers. This applies to all persons who have taken out first papers since September 27, 1906, and if you arrived in this country since that date you must write to the Immigration office at the port at which you landed in this country and get a Certificate of Landing, and you must give this to the Clerk along with your first papers when you ask for your second papers.

The naturalization of a father naturalizes the wife and children under twenty-one years of age.

FEES FOR NATURALIZATION PAPERS:

$1.00 for your Intention or first paper and $4.00 when you file your petition.

Fraternal teams are to have an opportunity to drill at the State Fair on Tuesday, the 6th of September, for which several good prizes are offered by the management.

High School Notes.

Our high school baseball team went to Wakefield last Thursday afternoon and were defeated 16 to 5.

Since most of the surrounding schools are now closed we have a great many teachers coming in to visit our schools of late.

In the absence of Miss Wood on Monday morning, Miss Moran had charge of the seventh grade.

Too many kinders in the kindergarten. We found it necessary to divide them into two sections one section for the morning sessions and the other for the afternoon session.

During the past few days Miss Wallace has not been able to teach all the time, because of the illness of her mother, and Mrs. Kemp has been taking her place.

As Wayne is on the four-year accredited list of schools at the state university the following, adopted by the committee on accredited schools may be of interest to some: Instructors in four-year accredited schools are expected to have four years of training beyond a four-year high school course including preparation to give instruction or its equivalent. For the present the committee will consider two years of successful experience as a high school instructor equivalent to one year of higher training.

One of the pleasantest social events of the season was the party given last Friday evening by the Juniors of the High School in honor of the Seniors. In response to the invitations the guests assembled at the home of Miss Vivian McNeal, where, after indulging in a guessing game in which Alfred Lewis won first honors, all were invited to the dining room which had been elaborately decorated for the occasion. Here the first course of the banquet was served by the Misses Mollie Piepenstock and Goldie Chase; whereupon the guests were asked to follow their leader who conducted them to the home of Miss Clara Heckert. Here from a table resplendent with class colors, candelabra, and cut flowers the substantial course was served by the Misses Marguerite Heckert and Nova Orr, Alma Craven and Margie Kohl. The time was enlivened by several musical selections furnished by Hayes Main. At the conclusion of this course the prophecy for the senior class was read by Miss Minnie Miller, and all repaired to the home of Miss Freda Ellis, there to be refreshed with delicious frappe served by the Misses Dorothy Ellis, Frances Kate and Izetta Johnson. Here they were entertained with a flower game and several selections of music. Then all were conducted to the home of Mr. Herbert Welch where ice cream and cake completed the banquet. Miss Graves delighted the company with a humorous reading, and Herbert Welch rendered a pleasing solo, after which all present joined in singing old familiar songs. Before departing the guests extended a vote of thanks to the Juniors for a most delightful evening.

Con. McCarthy, of Cleveland township, has declared himself a candidate at the primaries for representative from Cuming county, on the democratic ticket.

Wayne has an embryo park well under way which in a few years will afford a fine place for outdoor gatherings. The trees are making a good growth and the ground is kept in fine shape. If towns would only have foresight enough to provide parks when they begin to grow themselves, by the time they had attained the size of Wayne, they would have a park that would be the pride of all generations through the years to come, but most of them do not do this.

A Genuine Surprise

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brooks announce the marriage of their daughter, Mabel Ruth Brooks, to Mr. George R. Noakes, the event taking place Tuesday evening, May 31, 1910, at the home of the bride's parents. The affair was a quiet one, not many ever suspecting that George ever had any matrimonial intentions. The newly married couple went to Iowa Wednesday morning, taking the train at Wakefield, where they will spend a week or ten days, and they will be "at home" to their friends in Wayne after July 1, 1910. George has been employed for several months at the Dah Harrington clothing store and will continue in his position on his return. They are a worthy young couple and will receive congratulations of many friends as soon as an opportunity is afforded.

Delightful Party

The Acme Club gave their annual party at the pleasant home of Mrs. Mines, to which the husbands were invited guests. An elegant four-course dinner was served by Paul Mines, Wynn Duerig, Harold Blair and John Bressler. The boys demonstrated their ability in this line to the satisfaction of those present. Dining and painted place cards marked each guest's place at table. Mrs. Blair, in behalf of the Club, presented Mrs. Bartlett, who is to leave Wayne to make her home in California, with a beautiful souvenir spoon. The ladies very much regret parting with this member as she has been identified with the Club and its interests for many years.

A guessing contest, at which Mrs. Orr won the honors, a bouquet of dark red carnations, and charades closed an evening long to be remembered. Much credit is due the committee, Mesdames Mines, Duerig, Williams, Crawford and Bartlett, for this most delightful party.

Petitions in the line of municipal reform are being circulated in West Point and are meeting with strong support. It is proposed to regulate the hours of closing of the pool rooms of the town and also to prohibit the moving picture theaters from giving their performances on Sundays. The matter will be presented to the city council at the next meeting for action.

We are told that Clasen & Nelson Bros. offer to erect a large concrete horse watering tank, with overflow arrangements and donate it to the city free of charge if the council will designate some place where they would like to have it located. If this be true, the offer should be accepted and the tank located in some central place. The farmers would find it a great convenience during the summer months.

METHODIST

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society received about $48 for the supper they served Memorial day. The expense was about $15, leaving $30 to be divided between the society and the G. A. R. Post - half and half.

The Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Roe Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, for the election of officers. The husbands are invited to come at 8 o'clock and all enjoy a social evening together.

Children's Day will be observed next Sunday at the M. E. church with a program given by the Sunday School at the morning preaching hour, 10:30. At the conclusion of the program the pastor will baptize such children as are presented by their parents for baptism; whether they have previously arranged with the pastor to do so makes no difference. The offering for our Children's Day Fund will also be taken.

CHIEF OF STAFF OF HOT SPRINGS DOCTORS ON ANNUAL TOUR

At Boyd Hotel June 11

He Will Make No Charge for Consultation or Examination

The Chief of Staff of the Hot Springs Doctors is making his annual tour of the state, visiting the towns and cities, calling on their patients who are desirous of the great treatment that cures all chronic and nervous diseases of men and women. The phenomenal success of the Hot Springs treatment is due to the fact that it removes from the patient's system the cause of disease.

The highest standard of quality is the only standard in the medicines used by the Hot Springs Doctors. These expensive medicines are especially prepared for each case, they are from the world's best laboratory, guaranteed by the pure food laws, eliminating all possibility of anyone taking into their system any poisonous drugs. A cure is sure and permanent as a result of taking the world famous Hot Springs home treatment.

Chronic and nervous diseases like rheumatism, asthma, bronchitis, goiter, diseases of the heart, blood and lung diseases, catarrh, gall stones, epilepsy, kidney, stomach and bladder troubles, and female diseases must yield to the treatment as given by those noted Specialists. In their Lincoln offices are thousands of letters from people who have been restored to health, in many instances these people could not have been cured were it not for the Hot Springs treatment.

The treatment that has cured these people and restored thousands of others to health is available to the people in this section. For it is this wonderful system of treatment that the Chief of Staff of the Hot Springs Doctors brings to us on June 11.

As the Specialist will be here only one day, it is respectfully requested that people do not call out of idle curiosity. He will be busy with patients who really need his services and it would be an imposition to take up his time idly. It is also important to announce that married women who wish to consult with the Chief of Staff must be accompanied by their husbands, and minors by their parents. If you are suffering with any chronic or nervous disease and desire to be restored to health, vigor and happiness don't fail to call on this noted Specialist.

The permanent offices of the Hot Springs Doctors are located at 14th and O Streets, Lincoln, Nebraska.

The case of Gustav Schwede vs. commissioners of Wayne county, the plaintiff seeking to restrain the commissioners from establishing a certain highway on the line between Wayne and Pierce counties occupied the attention of Judge Welch and several lawyers yesterday. The testimony was all introduced but no decision reached.

The figures in our item last week regarding the assessment in Wayne do not appear to have been correct. The books show the actual value last year to have been $694,060 and this year $654,955, or $39,105 less than in 1909, while the assessed valuation last year was $138,812 and this year $130,991, or $7,821 less.

We had thought that Wayne was free from so much of the petty meanness and deviltry that we read about in other towns, but an act that was performed the first of the week was about as contemptible as could be pulled off anywhere. J. E. Harmon's little girl purchased three yards of handsome ribbon to tie around the bouquet she placed on her mother's grave on Decoration Day and Tuesday morning when she went to the cemetery to get it she found that someone had stolen it from the grave. The act ought to scorch the memory of the person who did the despicable deed forever.

NORMAL NOTES

Mr. Ray Chase was a pleasant caller at the College on his way home from his school in Stanton county.

The Commencement Program is now being arranged ready for the printer. It promises to be a most entertaining program all through.

Many of the students spent the week end at their homes. Having no school on Monday made the vacation longer than it otherwise would have been.

Miss Nannie Cassell, of Winside, spent a few hours on the Hill visiting friends Tuesday. Miss Cassell just closed a term of school in Knox county near Creighton.

Prof. Power spent a couple of days in Lincoln this week. His sister Julia had charge of his work during his absence. Miss Power will be assistant principal at Dakota City next year.

A company of cadets under the direction of James Pile assisted in the Decoration Day exercises. The sword used by Mr. Pile was the one used by his grandfather while a major of an Ohio Regiment in the Civil War.

The summer term will open June 20 and continue for eight weeks. Owing to the fact that all must have eight weeks of normal training before they can hold a second grade certificate, this affords a splendid opportunity for those expecting to teach. In a number of counties, a third grade certificate is not recognized.

Young Men, Do You Care?

If you don't, take anything in the way of clothes that happens to be offered you.

But if you want smart clothes, clothes that radiate style, clothes that are dominated by the same spirit and life that makes and keeps you young, resolve now to wear

Kuppenheimer Clothes

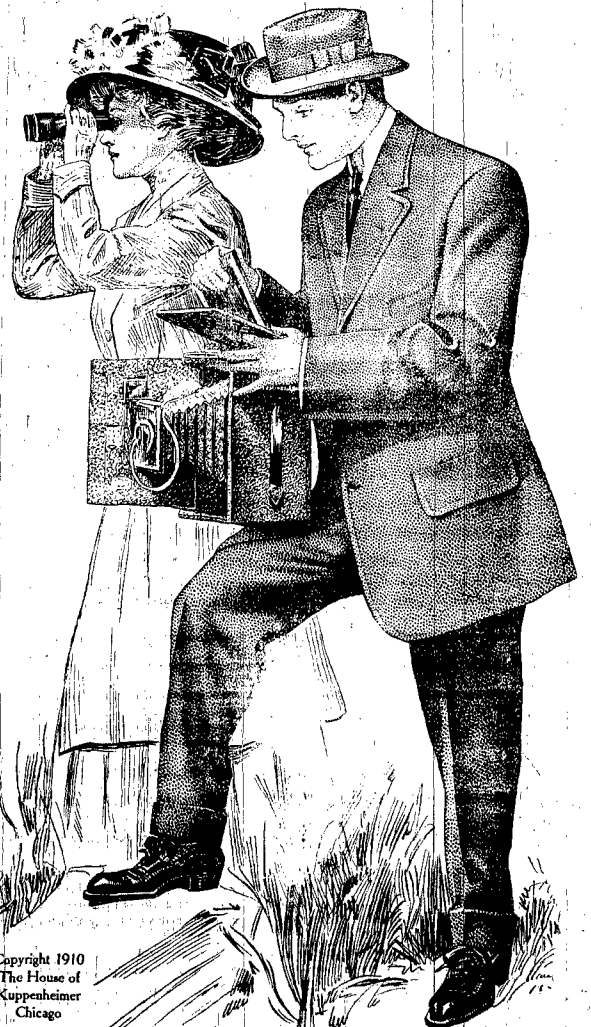

They fit? Yes. Good patterns? Yes. Well made and economical? Yes. These are qualities common to many makers' goods. Kuppenheimer clothes are more.

They fit your ideas and tastes; harmonize with the life you live and want to live. They are made to be as much a part of you as your features, your manners, your speech.

They represent the new idea in clothes making. Neither extreme nor conservative; neither fancy nor plain; but clothes with a personality, individuality, just like you.

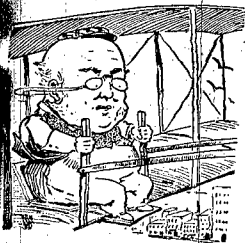

These clothes are not made simply for you to wear. They are intended for you to live in. They become you, do you justice, are worthy of you.

No other clothes can take their place—if you care.

There was a great scarcity of flowers for Decoration Day this year. There being no wild or home flowers, owing to the killing frosts, the demand upon the florists was far in excess of what they could fill. J. E. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paulson regret their departure from our city, but are glad of their success.
There was a wreck of a couple of car loads of cattle at this place Monday afternoon and it looked for a few minutes as though beef might be selling for a penny a pound. The accident was brought about by two train crews switching at the same time on one track and a miscalculation of each other's speed and a two slack attention to signals. Two stock cars were smashed into kindling wood and the cattle scattered in two directions but fortunately only two were so badly hurt that they had to be killed.

The farmers are a good deal discouraged over the outlook for a corn crop this year. Some have replanted a second time and still the ground keeps so cold that much of the seed does not germinate and a large proportion of that which does sprout does not seem to have any vitality; rats in the ground even after it has sprouted.

O. A. King, accompanied by a party of fourteen men, went to Denver Wednesday morning, then up to the Frisco mining district to take a look at King Solomon mine. All of the fourteen went out with a view of investing in the mine if the outlook was what O. A. represented it to be, and there is no doubt of that.

The case of Moritz Esche vs. Charles Endres and United States Fidelity Company et al, which was occupying the attention of Judge Welch and a jury when we went to press last week, was not really ended until Friday afternoon, as it was after the jurors had had their dinner that they brought in a verdict for the defendant. Who are the republicans going to put up as their candidate for Representative? If there are any Wayne county men who want the office it is time they were beginning to speak up. Do not be at all bashful. If there is no one in Wayne county that wants the office, Stanton county has several men who, like Parkis, are willing. But really, if there are any candidates seeking this office, it is high time that they were getting into the lime light so that their qualifications may be weighed in the balance of public opinion and the best one selected.

$10,000 TO CURTIS

AVIATOR FLIES FROM ALBANY TO NEW YORK CITY

American Travels at Rate of 54.01 Miles an Hour, surpassing All Sixed Record Made by an Aero Plane in Long Distance Flight.

Glenn H. Curtiss flew from Albany to New York city in an aeroplane Sunday winning the $10,000 prize offered by the New York World. He covered the distance of 137 miles in two hours and thirty-seven minutes, and averaged a speed of 54.01 miles an hour, surpassing any record ever made by an aeroplane in long distance flight, and in its entirety his feat perhaps eclipses anything man has attempted in a heavy-lift air machine.

The start was made from Albany at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning under weather conditions as near perfect as the most cautious aviator could demand. One hour and twenty-three minutes later he made his first stopping place near Poughkeepsie, where there was an hour's intermission. Resuming his flight at 9:26 o'clock, he sped southward and landed within the boundary of Manhattan island at 10:25 o'clock. Only 100 yards north of the point where the craft settled stretched Spuyten Duyvil creek, separating Manhattan island from the main land. Had he failed to cross this his flight would have been vain, but as he swept over it the prize was his.

Paulhan's flight from London to Manchester—186 miles—exceeded the Curtiss feat of Sunday in distance, but not in speed and danger. The Frenchman's average was 43.3 miles an hour and below him lay English meadows. Curtiss followed the winding course of the historic Hudson, with hilly, hilly, wooded slopes and treacherous, palisades. He pouncing high over the great bridge at Poughkeepsie, dipped at times within fifty feet of the river's broad surface, and beckoned like a falcon at the turn. Only once did his craft show signs of rebellion.

COOK IS IN SCOTLAND.
Mystery as to His Whereabouts Now Said to Be Solved.

The mystery of the whereabouts of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, has been solved. He is in Scotland, preparing for his trip to Etah, whence he plans to bring back the records of his discovery of the north pole and his instruments, which are cached there. He also intends to bring back the two Eskimos who accompanied him on his trip to the north pole. Dr. Cook's intended point where he shall have returned his records and instruments, will be Copenhagen. There he will present his completed proofs to the scientific body before which he appeared when he first returned from the north.

Tornado Strikes the Town of Pierce City, Mo.
A tornado, which formed northwest of Pierce City, Mo., at 6 o'clock Friday night, struck the western edge of town a few minutes later, destroying ten dwellings and several barns, and swept southwest out of sight. No one was killed.

Cyclone claims saved the families of Edward Crow, William Tate, John Stoyok and James Abernethy. In each instance the tornado swept the houses from above the cellars where men, women and children were huddled together.

Meager reports of destruction to farm property have been received. Telephonic and telegraphic communication in all directions was interrupted for five hours.

CARRIED FROM MOORINGS.
Submarine Drifted Away After Divers Had Worked for Hours.

The French submarine Pluviose, with her crew of 27 dead, is a vagrant in the underwaters of the English channel. For hours Friday divers had struggled to prepare the way for the raising of the 450-ton weight, when the wounded war craft, under the pressure of the swift lower current, shook herself free from her mud moorings and drifted away. Late Friday afternoon she had not been again located.

PATTEN SECOND BEST.

"Squeezed" by the Bears in Chicago Wheat Pit.
The private settlement of Theodore Waterman's "squeeze" in May wheat, the unloading of 8,000,000 bushels of September wheat by James A. and George H. Patten and the announcement of their withdrawal from the brokerage firm of which they have been members for a generation and at least temporarily from business, caused a net decline in prices on the Chicago board of trade Thursday ranging from 1/4 to 1/2 cent in more than 5 cents in May.

Altogether the day in wheat was one destined to take rank with other momentous details of the history of the Chicago board of trade. Traders are assured that Theodore H. Waterman, the Albany miller, the leading long in May, has carried his deal through to a successful conclusion and forced the leading short interests to settle with him at his own price, generally believed to have been profit $1.14. Any efforts to gauge his profits, however, is futile. James A. Patten's losses are put at anywhere between $40,000 and $1,200,000.

OKLAHOMA TOWN HIT BY FIRE.
Partially All the Business Portion of Wister Is Destroyed.

Mrs. Shallenberger was born in Wisconsin and Gov. Shallenberger was born in Illinois. The two met while the governor was clerking in a bank in the Polk county town and soon after their marriage they removed to Alma in 1888. Here they have had their home ever since, the governor being engaged in banking and stock raising.

SAVES MONEY IN THE NAVY.

Reorganization Said to Have Been Accomplished by Secretary Meyer.
Virtual reorganization of the navy has been accomplished by Secretary Meyer in the year in which he has held the portfolio of the Navy Department, a Washington correspondent asserts. He has brought about a saving of money in different directions, it is said, and many of the changes are the result, direct or indirect, of suggestions offered at his request by officers in all parts of the naval service.

Economy in the use of coal has been brought about by systematic firing, economy of steam, replacing defective joints and journals and stopping leaky valves. On the Montana a saving of fifteen tons of coal daily is due to systematic firing. With reference to the battle ship Georgia improved evaporators have reduced the cost of making fresh water 10 per cent.

Secretary Meyer's reorganization plans include systematic overhaulings of the vessels at the shipyards after each cruise. Also a saving of thousands of dollars in repair work has been effected by having repair shops on shipboard. The establishment of a school of marine engineering at Annapolis is another means whereby Secretary Meyer hopes to train for special work engineer officers who give promise of being of special value in any part of his reorganization plan.

Palatine Luncheon.
During a recent visit to the city of Palatine, Ill., the president of the American Chemical Society, Dr. J. C. Yoder, of New York, after a flight of 400 miles in the balloon Viking, from Quincy, Ill., tumbled to earth from a considerable height at Centre, Ky., Wednesday. On Tuesday morning while at an altitude of 20,000 feet, they encountered a severe snowstorm and were partially numbed with cold. They gradually lost power to control the machine and finally, fearing unconsciousness, they pulled the gas bag and came to earth with terrific speed, landing like a stone and slipping about by a manhole. They were confined to bed at a farmhouse in Kentucky, but will recover.

Hot Springs, Ark., will never become an ideal health or pleasure resort unless the United States can exercise complete administrative jurisdiction over the entire region now covered by the city of Hot Springs. Its contiguous territory and the government reservation, according to a report to Secretary Ballinger by Clement S. Ucker, chief clerk of the Interior Department, who recently investigated the conditions at Hot Springs, Ark., added that steps in the direction of such reform must originate with the State of Arkansas. The divided responsibility, he contended, resulting from the national government controlling the reservation and the municipal government administering the affairs of the city, gives rise to an administrative situation redounding to the disadvantage of the visitor and patient.

Time was when it took nearly six years to build a battleship in the yards in the United States; but the construction of the Connecticut at the government yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., which has steadily accelerated, The Mississippi, whose trials took place recently in October, 1907, took forty-four months to construct. The New Hampshire, December, 1907, was built in thirty-six months; the North Carolina (cruiser), January, 1908, in thirty-six months; Michigan (battleship), 1909, in thirty-four and one-half months; the Delaware (battleship), October, 1909, in twenty-seven months.

Eighty-two mail clerks were injured last year by engines bumping into trains standing at railroad stations, according to the report of T. J. Masten, chairman of the claims committee, submitted at the session of the annual convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association of America, held in Kansas City. He said the greatest number of accidents was due to collisions of trains, 143 clerks having been hurt in collisions last year. Two hundred different kinds of accidents were mentioned in the report.

In a new book prepared by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson entitled "Habit Forming Agents" various widely advertised soothing syrups, medicated salt drinks, cough, cathartic and consumption remedies, tobacco cures, are also alluded as dangerous to health because of the opium, cocaine or other habit forming bases they contain. He finds that the amount of opium consumed in this country, exclusive of smoking, has increased in forty years, and that the use of opium is increasing at an alarming rate.

That the United States will receive a million immigrants during the fiscal year ending June 30 is the prediction of the officials. During April 133,276 arrived, making a total of 801,225 thus far this year. The last million immigrant year was in 1902. Figures received at the Immigration Bureau show that 2,346 Chinese entered Canada from July 1, 1906, to Dec. 31, 1909, the revenue from which on account of the head tax was $2,346,000.

Uncle Sam has proved such a success with the cook book that Senator Shelly (Calumet), of Illinois, is in favor of going one further and establishing a bureau of domestic science so that Uncle Sam may show the American women how to keep house properly. Senator Calumet proposes that the government appropriate $50,000 to maintain the bureau and run it in connection with the department of agriculture.

It would be unlawful for the Post-office Department to print the name or address of a business firm on stamped envelopes after June 20, 1911, if a bill introduced by Representative Tull, of Ohio, and reported favorably from the House Committee on Post-offices and Post Roads is passed. The bill would discontinue the present practice of the department in doing a general business in printing return addresses on stamped envelopes.

The census bureau has secured extra space for carrying out its work with the enumerator's schedules from all over the country. It now utilizes a total floor space of 150,000 square feet and employs a force of 3,000 clerks, who, with 300 tabulating machines, will be employed night and day.

One vote was lacking to make the necessary two-thirds in the House for the adoption of the Henry resolution to fix the date of presidential inaugurations on the last Thursday in April.

THE GENTLE ZEPHYR DID IT—MADE AMERICA GREAT

PROF. WILLIS L. MOORE, chief of the weather bureau, believes that the state of the wind is a factor in our daily health, knowledge of which should no more be neglected than whether we ate mushrooms or toast for dinner, or whether we blow out the gas at night or turn off the cock. "If we are to accept Prof. Moore's declaration of independence, all hypotheses or theories as to the cause of American supremacy must be cast aside and thrown to the winds—to the east wind, preferably. Probably to the east wind, because that is the opposite of the west wind, and Washington's weather-wonder-worker announces that it is to the west wind that Americans owe to-day what they proudly possess. It is because the west wind carries no disease, is highly electrified, bears ozone, has a "downward component," and in all respects is as virtuous and life-giving as its opposite, the east wind, is pernicious and life-destroying, that we are to-day a great nation and commercial leader.

"It is well known to meteorologists that easterly winds either hug the earth or have an upward component of motion," he says. "They therefore gather the humidity, dust, disease, and other bacteria, and, as a rule, they are harmful and harmful. All of these conditions make them fog winds, under which animal life is enervated and rendered susceptible to the germs which the winds themselves carry and disseminate. The converse is true of the westward winds. They come from above, with a downward component of motion that bears a direct relation to the velocity. They come from the regions where the air is dry, pure, and highly electrified, and where ozone exists in comparatively large quantities. The cool, pure air of the north-west wind is, therefore, an invigorating air."

Doctors after health and restored vigor need only to pursue the west wind. The more constantly they are bathed in its ozone, electricity, and "downward component," the more speedy and complete will be their cure. In hospitals and sick rooms, when anxious friends are in agonies of suspense as to whether the patient will survive, or be pushed across the dividing line into other regions, doctors will be quite non-essential. All one needs is a weather vane. If the wind blows from the west, all is well. The sick one will recover. But if the wind is from the east, abandon hope. Of course, if the letters on the weather vane be misplaced, accurate forecasts are impossible.

Summer visitors to the Atlantic coast would indignantly deny Prof. Moore's statement of the east wind as foul and humid, while the hotel proprietors would be willing to make affidavit to the contrary. Science is not to be sneered at, though, and it must be here defined that a vacation on our Eastern coast—sailing, bathing, and lying in the sun in the face of the east wind—is an ail to health and happiness. Henceforth "easterly winds" seems doomed to lose its friends; its winds are "foul." Japan, where east and southeast winds prevail for more than six months in the year, cannot be a progressive nation; the Moore theory forbids it. The Romans, who lived in Italy, which on the wind charts is dotted with arrows pointing in every direction, could not have been a great race of world conquerors; they had not sufficient west wind.

The climate of California has long been famed as one of the ideal spots of the world for human existence. Yet part of the secret of its delightful weather lies in the western winds, which coming from the vast expanses of the Pacific Ocean, are moist, not dry, and warm, not cool. On the other hand, the regions west of the Rocky Mountains and coast ranges, are for the most part arid and uninhabitable by man, except as artificial means are introduced by which he can raise enough for his subsistence. Yet the prevailing winds in the States of Arizona, New Mexico, parts of Idaho, and Utah are west winds. Further East are the prairie States, extending even beyond the Mississippi. That this entire section, now the home of millions of people, and producing food for millions more, does not form an American Sahara, is due to the influence of the Gulf of Mexico, in the opinion of the meteorologists. At the very moment of Prof. Moore's announcement, their works on his shelves united in declaring that the mountains of Mexico shunt the rain-bearing winds of the gulf to the North, watering the corn-fields and grass plains of the West.

The opinion of most meteorologists seems to be that winds usually blow to the land from the ocean, carrying moisture. Their temperature is according to that of the water over which they pass. If transverse mountains are encountered, the wind is forced upward, losing heat as it rises, and thereby causing the condensation of its water vapor. If the mountains are very high, as the Rockies, when the wind reaches the summit of the range it will have lost all its moisture, and is much colder, having given up its energy.

Rushing down on the opposite side, it gains heat, through compression, without doing work, it is claimed, and therefore sweeps the lands beyond as a dry, warm wind, such as is found on every desert. In fact, it is declared that it is the mountains which make the deserts, drawing from the winds as they do all their life-sustaining moisture. Consequently, the character of the wind from any point of the compass seems mainly to be governed by the nature of the earth's surface over which it has passed or is passing. Further influences are the sun, as at the equator and the poles, where certain definite processes go on continually. Another influence which diverts the trade winds from their absolute north and south path is the rotation of the earth.

It is this variability in the climatic elements and differences of geographical situation which give to the countries of the earth their various climates. Thus is explained the fact that New England, with its easterly winds, and England, with its southwest wind—practically the prevailing wind of the entire season round—resemble one another in climate.

Such as one may enjoy gazing at the setting sun, descending within its shrine of glory, while the gentle twilight wind, which often comes from the west in this section fans one's face, there is little to be heard among other men of science in support of Prof. Moore's declaration.—Washington Post.

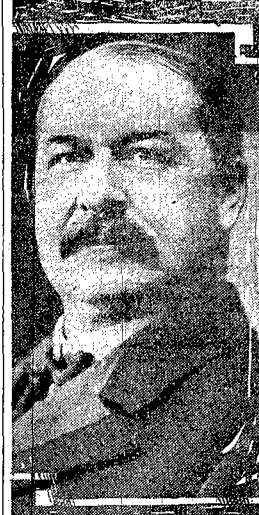

BAPTIST MINISTER GOES TO GO INTO BUSINESS.

Rev. Donald D. MacLaurin has resigned as pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Chicago and leaves the pulpit to embark on a business career.

The withdrawal of Dr. MacLaurin from the ministry is the result of his espousal of the cause of Prof. George Burbanck Foster of the University of Chicago before the Baptist ministers' conference of Chicago during the proceedings that resulted in the expulsion of the university lecturer from that body because of Unitarian utterances and writings.

Severe criticism of the action of the conference and the ministers who were responsible for it was voiced by Dr. MacLaurin, who declared that they were guilty of a "betrayal of the fundamental principles of the Baptist denomination." The retiring pastor said his defense of Prof. Foster was merely in the name of justice and that he would have defended any other member of the conference in the same way. "There is an impression throughout the country," said Dr. MacLaurin, "that because I defended Prof. Foster I share his religious views. This I wish to deny emphatically."

Dr. MacLaurin has been a Baptist minister thirty-six years, including the nine years he preached while working for his degree at Colgate University. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary society. He has been preaching in Chicago nearly three years, having come from New York city, and has been one of the city's most able and widely known ministers.

BEAR TEARS KEEPER.

With his body badly torn and mangled by teeth and claws and his left arm almost torn from its socket, Richard Spicer, a keeper at the Bronx Park Zoo, New York, was unconscious when rescued from the bear pit after a desperate struggle with an angry bear. He was removed to a hospital in a critical condition. Elwyn Sanborn, a photographer, escaped from the pit with minor hurts after a hard fight with the animal. Patcha, a huge brown Russian bear, who had always been considered mild-tempered, became angry when Spicer attempted to make her sit up with her cubs and pose for a photograph. First dealing him a terrible blow with her paw, she next seized him by the arm and dragged him into the den, clawing and mauling him. Sanborn grabbed an iron bar and rushed to the rescue of Spicer, who by that time had been rendered unconscious. Patcha turned on him, but the photographer managed to fight her off. His screams and the cries of a hundred spectators brought other attendants, who rescued the imperiled men.

LAND GRABBER TRICKS

Frauds by Which the Government Is Swindled Out of Thousands of Acres.

OBSTACLES TO SETTLEMENT.

Cattlemen Put Up Fences That Practically Inclose Large Tracts of Public Domain.

There are thousands of easy-money men in the west to-day who are operating skin games as hackneyed in that section as is juggling the shells and pea in Indiana. William Atherton Du Puy says in the Indianapolis Star. The object of their operations is to get from Uncle Sam land to which they are not entitled. The same old games have been worked for generations.

Government lands are not highly prized in the sections where they are plentiful. The government is such an indefinite proprietor that no man has felt called upon to see that fraud is not perpetrated. To obtain illegal title to land has been classed with such jocular lapses of conscience as a horse trade or surreptitiously purloining watermelons. The government, through its agents, is thoroughly familiar with these methods, and it is to prevent them that much legislation is now pending.

There is yet an empire to be saved from unfair appropriation. The government to-day owns land, exclusive of Alaska, greater in extent than all that region east of the Alleghenies upon which dwell 30,000,000 people. There is enough of it to make twelve states like New York, two like Texas or fifty like Massachusetts. There are 80,000,000 acres of it designated as coal land and 30,000,000 acres that may be irrigated. There is enough water power on it to turn the spindles of the nation, present and future. It occupies the position with relation to the public that was held by the lands of Kansas a generation ago. The ingenious methods of its wrongful appropriation are many and interesting.

Great stockmen have much influence in the state and county government in the west. The states have the authority to lease public land granted them by the national government for such purposes as the maintenance of schools and institutions. Through the influence of certain wealthy men of the ranches long strips of land are leased or sold. These strips are in such forms as to compare with the frame of a picture. That portion that would go to make up the picture itself is still government land. The stockmen have a method, and obviously, to purchase on the land they have bought or leased. But in so doing they inclose in their pastures vast amounts of government land, which, according to law, it is unlawful to fence. This land is practically withdrawn from other settlement, for the homesteader locating there would be cut off from the world by the fences and harassed beyond endurance by the cattleman and his cowboys.

Another method of avoiding the letter of the law in fencing government land is to inclose it almost but not quite. The fence around a field may lack but a foot of inclosing it and a stout post may stand on either side of this gap. No horse or cow could crowd through it. Yet the land is not inclosed by the fence.

The five stock companies also make many filings on land through their herders and cowboys, who take up homesteads of 160 acres each. The homesteader is supposed to reside upon the land to make proof for the purpose of obtaining title. Where the cowpunchers are on a big ranch and moving back and forth, they can, by building a small shack on 160 acres, make such pretenses as to residence as to render it difficult to cancel the pending entry. In this way the companies are able to get title to large tracts, or at least control them for many years.

There are several transcontinental railroad lines to which Congress has given the alternate or odd sections of land for from twenty to forty miles on each side of their tracks. This was given as an inducement to the railroads to build into the desolate country in early times, but the result of it has been the loss of title to the government of land that is worth many times the cost of building the railroad. The odd and even sections are so laid out that the railroad companies' grants are as the black space on a checker board, the intervening red spaces being government land. Cattle companies purchase the odd sections from the railroads and run their fences to inclose vast areas, the fence crossing from one odd section to another at the points where these barely touch, as do the diagonal squares on the checker board. In this way the fences, strictly speaking, are on the land purchased from the railroads, but an equal amount of government land is likewise inclosed in the pastures. The Supreme Court has held that this does not violate the law. Yet it is practically impossible for the general public to get at even sections, and the cattlemen are getting as much benefit from them as though they were actually owned by them.

A REAL BALL PLAYER.

"Put 'er right over the plate now, cully!"

Concurs Her Age, Indicted.

Because she refused recently to give her age to the census taker, Miss Sarah E. Peck, born of the normal department of Uncle Cobler, at Lincoln, Neb., was indicted by the grand jury in the United States District Court here.

Industrial Accidents Problem.

A committee appointed by the National Association of Manufacturers has gathered statistics from 25,000 employers and from 250 branches of the department of United Collieries at Lincoln, Neb., who indicated an annual disablement of 500,000 workmen and a cash loss of $250,000,000 to manufacturers on account of industrial accidents, most of which are preventable. President Kirby of the association says that the question of safety appliances and accident indemnity are receiving more attention from employers than any other in the field of industry.

Revolution Oak Destroyed.

A recent storm caused the destruction of the historic Shinarump oak at Durby, Pa., which had grown to immense size during the 400 years it has stood. Under its spreading branches Washington and many of his regiment's army of 16,000 Continental soldiers are said to have rested one hot Sunday in August, 1777, while they waited on their way to meet the British at Chadds Ford. Several years ago philanthropic women of the town had the hollow part of the tree filled in with cement for the purpose of saving it.

BIBLES IN 450 TONGUES

INTEREST IN THE SCRIPTURES.

Ninety Million Copies Printed in Various Languages and at Prices to Suit Every Purse.

There is a "door" in a 4th avenue building in New York City which has all the hallmarks of shipping department doors in general—battered side posts, polished iron chutes, boxes on the sidewalk marked with names that seem to have been taken haphazardly from a gazetteer, the New York Sun and this particular door. This is the "door of a million bibles." Out of this door each year 1,000,000 bibles pass to be distributed through the world.

The rumor that a conditional gift of $500,000 from Mrs. Risold Sage was the action of the bible society in raising a similar amount is confirmed. Already large sums have been received from the various agencies, about the amount to be added to the fund which is being raised. It takes approximately $500,000 to pay the expenses of the society each year and the $1,000,000 that the officials expect to receive through Mrs. Sage's gift will be considered in the light of a nest egg, something to depend on in financial straits and slacking up of contributions.

It was Sir Walter Scott who in his "The Heart of Midlothry" asked a friend to find a door to him and bearing the inscription as to the book desired, said, "There is only one." As to this only one, there is, according to the statistics of the American Bible Society, no evidence that the interest of the human family has lapsed into indifference. A record of approximately

TRAMPS' TRIP Around the World

HARRY A. FRANK, has followed in the footsteps of Wyckoff, the sociologist of Princeton University, and the late Josiah Flint in leading the life of a tramp. Unlike Wyckoff, he did not undertake this for the study of mankind, and unlike Flint he was not a tramp because it felt in his blood the call of the road. Mr. Frank's experience was a compromise between those of Wyckoff and Flint. He did not make sociological studies while traveling, and he did answer the call of the blood to be free. But he began life as a laborer and earned his way through High School and the University of Michigan by selling papers and waiting on table during his school days, and in the summer vacations he worked on Western railroads as a section hand or in the harvest fields of the Northwest. He got his idea of a trip around the world while he was teaching French in the Central High School of Detroit. When he was 22 he started his tramp around the world, working his way from city to city. He left Detroit and worked his way to Glasgow, London, and other cities. He was a sailor from Marseilles to Egypt, and he spent his time in the East, working at pounding beans. He was employed by Cairo, in Egypt, street clean up at Colombo, street car inspector at Madras, and laborer at Yokohama. Now he is doing literary work with his own experiences as a basis from which to draw.

90,000,000 volumes in eighty years speak eloquently to the contrary. In the classroom of the society are cases filled with duplicate copies of original books and manuscripts. The fact that the building is not fireproof is the reason why the interesting collection owned by the society is at present housed at the Lenox library. This collection contains editions of the bible in more than 150 languages and dialects. Of English versions and revisions there are approximately 3,000 volumes exclusive of the manuscripts. These are in the following languages: "The Holy Bible," Oxford, 1716, in which a printer's mistake has been immortalized, as in the "Reeches bible." There is a facsimile of the bible printed on white satin which was presented to the empress dowager of China in 1894 by 10,000 Christian women. There is a copy of the bible done in the Mongolian dialect by Schiescherowsky, a cripple, who also terms of the agreement then entered into no other revision was to be published until after fourteen years, so it was not until the summer of 1901 that the American standard edition of the revised edition was given out.

Translations in 450 Tongues.

Altogether, through the efforts of the society, translations of the bible have been made into about 450 languages and dialects.

At the present time the Bible Society is printing the bible in three of the languages of Africa which have never been used for writing. It is also printing bibles in five of the languages of the Philippines and slowly completing the printed list of thirty languages used in the islands of the south Pacific.

A great many of the books intended for distribution in the far east are printed in places other than New York. For example, there is a fine printing establishment at Yokohama under the auspices of the Bible Society which employs Japanese workmen under contract. From this place distribution is made to the Philippines and to Korea. The society also prints in Shanghai and Chentu and at Bangkok in Siam, and at Beirut in Syria similar work is done, some of it on presses belonging to the Presbyterian American Bible Society co-operates.

Many of the copyists, particularly those in the northwest, speak at least twenty different languages and continually requests are coming from them and from outside people begging that the bible may be translated into some dialect or language spoken in far-off points, the very names of which are unknown to the majority of New Yorkers. In the agency which distributes the scriptures from the city of San Francisco in California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington are Spanish-speaking Mexicans, Portuguese, one-half of all the Chinese in the United States, Japanese, Koreans, Hindus, Malays, Hawaiians and Filipinos.

BIRD CHAT.

Birds shun pestilent places and all places infected with plagues. The hens of America lay 850,000,000 eggs annually.

The wildest animal is the ostrich, which can do a mile a minute.

A pigeon has been known to fly a thousand miles in two days, six hours and seventeen minutes.

Game cocks and ducks sometimes take to catching mice, which they devour greedily.

It is always better to throw a bouquet than a picket.

We all throw a little more cold water than is necessary.

Every mother is "easy," and her children soon find it out.

An old man becomes "stove up," to same as an old horse.

No one admires a preacher, or a man, who is easily fooled.

The suckers are rapidly crowding the able people of the earth.

The friends who flatter us are the ones we really understand us.

Get whizz but how a busy man hates the idle people who bother him!

The trouble with the hen that lays the golden egg is that she is not very busy.

When a woman says of a man, "He ain't no angel," it's a sign she thinks she is.

A man occasionally makes what he thinks is a concession, which afterwards turns out sixty or seventy bushels to the acre.

What Everybody Ought to Know
That Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to tone, strengthen and regulate the action of the kidneys and bladder. Felber's Pharmacy.

Sorely Needed
Thousands of children will be released from school with nothing to do for three months, particularly in the towns. These young people can't stand idleness. They have energy but it must be let off normally or blow up. What to arrange for the vacation occupation worries every parent. It occurs to us that a vacation director is no less important than the regular instructors. Employ a person able to oversee landscape work, gardening, etc., combining technical botanical knowledge and turn children of ten years and up to their charge. Individuals would readily pay the children for lawn and garden work. Vacant lots, usually weed patches, could be given over to their use and profit. Picnic excursions could be interspersed and the summer vacation be made a happy time, not a dull one, for childhood.

Hartington has been all wrought up the past week over the arrest of its baseball club for playing ball on Sunday. Better cut it out, as it serves no good purpose anyway.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold on a guarantee that if you are not satisfied after using two-thirds of a bottle according to directions, your money will be refunded. It is up to you to try. Sold by all dealers.

The people of the anti-Patterson crusade nonpolitical and republicans and democrats alike have united for the overthrow of the governor who pardoned the man who killed his political rival.

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is not only prompt and effectual, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all dealers.

Cecil R. Boughn, editor of the Walthill Times, has announced himself as a candidate for float representative from the legislative district composed of Thurston, Dakota and Cuming counties. He declares himself unequivocally for county option.

If you are not satisfied after using according to directions two-thirds of a bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, you can have your money back. The tablets cleanse and invigorate the stomach, improve the digestion, regulate the bowels. Give them a trial and get well. Sold by all dealers.

The Walthill commercial club will try to secure the services of a government engineer to supervise the construction of a mile of road in the vicinity of that town which will be used as an object lesson. The government furnishes the road expert and the commercial club will finance the deal.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea, or bowel complaints has received such genuine approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Hoskins has got so bad that they will not allow a man to pray in that town. At least the Headlight says: "Our town marshal tackled a very hard proposition the other day, when he took old man Wantoch to court for a little city jail. For saying his prayers too loud. A man has no right to pray in Hoskins and it is time everyone found it out. It was a very heroic act on the part of our marshal."

Glad to Recommend Them
Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." In a yellow package, Felber's Pharmacy.

The town marshal of Laurel has given notice that he will enforce the state law regarding the speed of automobiles in that town. The law provides among other things that no person shall operate a motor vehicle in the close built up portion of any city, town or village at a greater rate than one mile in six minutes or elsewhere in a city, town or village at a greater rate than one mile in four minutes, and provides a penalty for violation thereof.

What a Summer Cold May Do
A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season. Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Honey and Tar promptly. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the mucus from the system. Felber's Pharmacy.

Good Advice
Henry Watterson, the veteran editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, in an address Saturday evening to the New York Press Club, said many good things. Among them we note:

The newspaper is not a commodity to be sold over the counter like dry goods and groceries. It should be as it were, a keeper of the public conscience, its rating professional, like the ministry and the law, not commercial, like the department store and the bucket shop. Its workers should be gentlemen, not wasters and scavengers.

I know that it is the fashion to call such sentiments old-fashy, just as it is the custom to call old men courtly and slovenly. Self-respect can never grow obsolete, and self-respect is the bedrock of the public respect.

"Whenever any one of you finds himself in a position of authority, let him carry these few precepts in his mind and in his heart; to print nothing of a man which he would not say to his face; to print nothing of a man in malice; to look well and think twice before consigning a subject to the ruin of print; to respect the old and defend the weak; and, lastly, at work and at play, daytime and nighttime, to be good to the girls and square with the boys."

Searched into Sound Health
Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy head-ache and action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I resorted to Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Felber's Pharmacy.

Foley's Kidney Remedy may be given to children with admirable results. It does away with bad wetting, and is also recommended for use after measles and scarlet fever. Felber's Pharmacy.

The craze for automobiles in the middle west is beginning to demand the serious attention of financiers as to the effects on banking and affecting a stringency in the money market. At first, though, such an assertion may appear to be ridiculous, but the figures involved are startling. Estimates on motor cars to be manufactured this year place the number at 140,000 and their value at about $210,000,000. Estimates on the number of automobiles already in use involve about $800,000, and estimates on the expense of the maintenance, operation and incidental expenses average about $800 a year on each car, or an aggregate of $752,000,000 a year for the $40,000 cars. The grand total for the purchase of new motor cars this year and for the maintenance of these cars and those already in use, therefore, is figured at $962,000,000.

The Conservation of Nature's Resources

Applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Budlong, Washington, D. C., realized his condition, and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late." Felber's Pharmacy.
