

THE WAYNE HERALD.

All the News and a Square Deal for All

Consolidated with The Wayne Republican

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1910

Volume 35, No. 24

THE CHAUTAUQUA CLOSES

IT WAS AN EMINENT SUCCESS

Not a Poor Number on the Entire Eight Days' Program

No event in the history of Wayne has ever been more of a success than the Chautauqua that closed Monday evening. It was a success in every sense of the term, financially, socially, as to entertainment and instruction. It was well managed, Rev. Wm. Burns, under the direction of the Redpath Bureau, showed himself to be well adapted for the work in hand. Good order was maintained, the exercises always began promptly on time and there was not a single disappointment on account of the non-arrival of those on the program. The Redpath Bureau certainly provided a host of good things for the Wayne Chautauqua and these were so well received that every session was very largely attended, 1200 to 1500 being present at every evening program. The people were not only given music to charm the senses and please the hearing, but various lectures to entertain and instruct. Seed thoughts dropped here and there during the eight days ought to produce results in better living in the days to come and serve as a memory picture to look back upon with pleasure. The local committee all worked hard for the success attained and come out of the week not only well pleased with the entertainments afforded the public, but with enough money to clean them with the world and leave a little surplus. The people showed their appreciation of the splendid program given them by subscribing for 700 season tickets for 1911 which insures an equally good entertainment for next year as the one just passed through.

In what we have to say following there is no thought of disparagement of the forenoon work each day of the chautauqua. This was entirely free to all who cared to attend and Miss Lennan and Mrs. Brigham gave to their hearers any number of things that are beneficial and helpful, but we were not privileged to listen to any of them so can only speak specifically of the things we saw or heard. Of the opening days we had something to say last week so pass them by.

Neil Bunnell and her company certainly captured the hearts of the audience Tuesday afternoon and evening. Miss Bunnell, as a singer, has a clear, full voice, with a charming tone, and knows how to sing the songs that find a receptive chord in the hearts of her hearers. Two of the charming things about her singing, to our mind, are that she has a perfect pronunciation so one can understand the words, and then the songs are of the kind that one can feel as well as hear. We do not understand the violin and piano as well as we might, but Miss Cedargreen certainly knew how to get sweet tones out of her violin and could handle the bow as only an artist may do, while Miss Kevilo at the piano was an excellent accompanist and had the touch that showed skill and understanding of the instrument which she played.

Thursday evening, Dr. Frederick E. Hopkins held forth in one of his popular lectures, talking on "The Golden Fleece." This lecture is based on an old Grecian legend, and one is liable to lose much of the point the speaker tries to make unless they keep in mind the three things which the speaker in the legend found out. The speaker certainly has a wonderful memory, as running all through the lecture are quotations from orators, statesmen and poets, all timely interwoven with the thought constantly in mind, the lesson the speaker is trying to impart. For the lecture is not simply a play upon words merely to entertain but has a lesson running through it like a golden thread. The three important thoughts of the lecture are: lesson he would have his hearers learn are "Do not be afraid of competition; see things as they are; and have sincerity." Hopkins is an optimist of the most cheerful kind, and in closing paid a beautiful tribute to the times and the country in which we live.

Friday afternoon Schildkret's Hungarian orchestra opened the program and gave the people just a foretaste of what they might expect in the way of a feast at the evening hour. They were followed by a lecture by Geo. L. McNutt who was supposed to speak on "What I Would Do if I Were a Woman." While he said a large number of good things, it seemed to us that he was like a good many preachers who take texts and never refer to them and whose subject matter in their discourses do not seem to have any bearing at all on the question supposed to be under discussion. Only once, so far as we could see, did the speaker make any reference as to what he would do if he were a woman, and it is very probable that he would not do that. There are many things that men think women ought to do, and that women themselves believe they should do, that they do not do, but we do not believe that any man knows what he would do if he were a woman and most of us do not do what we think we ought to do, as it is.

Friday evening the program was opened by Madame Reno with "Mirch, Mystery and Magic" and she certainly has the happy faculty of doing some very wonderful and mysterious things. Some of them are explainable, at least to ones own satisfaction, as they can figure out how they might be done, but many of the acts she performs are entirely beyond the grasp of the mind that does not know how they are done. She certainly gives an entertainment that is pleasing, if not instructive. She was followed by Schildkret's Hungarian Orchestra, who for over an hour certainly gave the audience which filled the tent to overflowing something fine in the musical entertainment line. The leader is entirely at home on the piccolo, flute or violin and gave some fine exhibitions of his skill, while the three violinists, the cymbal player, the clarinet, violinist and bass viol players are evidently all artists on their own particular instruments and know how to get out of them some of the best music it is able to produce. This entertainment is a success.

Saturday afternoon and evening Miss Wathena Brown and her boy choir were the musical attraction. They were not entirely new to Wayne people, having been one of the numbers on the lecture course last winter. In the evening their Irish, German and baseball sketches were good. The afternoon lecture was by Lewis Edwin York. His message was "The Glory of Young Men." He has a natural gift of oratory, understands human nature, has good delivery, and believes that life is worth living and has a cheering word of inspiration well told to encourage and help young men. He delighted his audience with his thought and expression.

Saturday evening came Senator Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee. It was the first time that a Wayne audience had ever had the privilege of listening to this matchless orator. He spoke, as he said, in a lighter vein, and for nearly two hours held his vast audience spellbound by his flights of oratory. As the weaver at his loom draws in and out the bright colored threads until the pattern in all its beauty stands forth, so Robert Taylor wove in and out in his tapestry of thought the laughter of children, the babbling of brooks, the song of birds, the music of the violin and the myriad charms of nature holding them up in matchless array until all were charmed and uplifted. The fiddle, the rifle, the axe and the Bible he asserted were the four great instruments in the hands of the sturdy pioneers on our country that directed them to acts of heroism, led them in the clearing of the forests, and gave them in sustaining force in the time of trouble. You could listen for a week and then not have enough. Senator Taylor's chief mission on earth is to make mankind happy. How well he is succeeding thousands upon thousands can testify.

On Sunday morning a union gospel service was held in the tabernacle and Rev. Wm. V. Burns, the platform manager of the Chautauqua, delivered a most excellent sermon from these words: "Jesus Christ, [the same yesterday, today and forever]." He called attention to the fact that the Savior of mankind was the same in every essential particular as He was while here upon earth and that He has power to save and keep now the same as at any time in bygone ages. The sermon was a helpful one and eminently fitting for the day and hour. In the afternoon the Weatherwax Brothers Quartette gave a short introductory song recital which caught the attention of the large audience at once and gave them a foretaste of what they might expect at the evening hour. Then followed Dr. Elijah P. Brown in a sermon lecture on the "Exceeding Great and Precious Promises of the Bible" which was both instructive, edifying and profitable. His illustrations were apt and applicable and the truths brought home to the Christians ought to help them to have a stronger hold upon the eternal things in life.

Dr. Brown was followed by Smith Damon with a lecture, "The Potter and His Clay." The talk was very practical and the lessons drawn from the work in hand served to bring it home more forcibly to the minds of the people than it otherwise could have been done, for as he worked upon the clay and made various kinds of vessels with the clay he made the application of God's word upon it, going way back to the early history of the human race, showing that pottery was one of the very earliest of all arts and that God often used it in the early years, to call home to the minds of His people the condition of their lives. He brought special attention to bear upon the thought that as the potter has power upon the clay in his hands to fashion and mould it into various forms and various uses, so the great Master Potter, God, has power over humanity, individually and in nations, to do with them as He chooses and what seemeth to Him best. The lecture was fine.

Sunday evening the Weatherwax Brothers occupied the platform for three-quarters of an hour in a recital, songs and selections on their silver trumpets, all of which were of a very high order, showing them to be proficient with their instruments as well as their voices which are well trained, blend together nicely and gives them the power to entertain and please in a high degree. They were followed by Governor J. Frank Hanly of Indiana, who for two hours drove home to the hearts and consciences of his large audiences some great truths of the irrepressible conflict, now being waged in our country on the American Saloon by the home and the church. It was an address abounding in oratory, clear logic, sound reasoning, facts and figures, all driven home with all the earnestness of a man who firmly believes in what he is talking about. The fight is on, the time for action is now, and the question will never be settled until it is settled right. It was a masterly address on a timely subject and no doubt will bring forth fruit in the thought of the younger generation and the voters at the polls.

Monday was the closing day and the interest kept up until the end. In the afternoon the Cleveland Ladies' Orchestra was the musical part of the program, as also in the evening. The organization is composed of two gentlemen and six ladies with a large variety of instruments on which they have the skill and ability to produce some most excellent music therefore the audience enjoyed this part of the program very much. In the afternoon Thomas Brooks Fletcher occupied the platform and delivered a forceful address on "The Martyrdom of Fools." In the evening Albert Armstrong gave an illustrated lecture on "Lorna Doon." It was what might be termed a conversational lecture, but was still delivered and received close attention. The illustrations were thrown on a screen and were all plain and of a high order of merit. To be sure the scenes were laid far back in English history which to the mind of some detracted from their interest.

Nearly A Tragedy

Friday afternoon there was considerable excitement created over some runaways that came near having a fatal termination. The rumpus all started over Lennox's team taking a little spin from 1st Street north on Logan street to the alley, then east to the alley between Logan and Main streets, then south to First street and west on this street, where Dean Hanson's team was standing, attached to a double box lumber wagon in the middle of the street with no one hold of the lines or near them. Although they are a quiet team, they were startled and started to run, running west on Logan street and then turning north. Mrs. R. Perrin, who was driving a gentle team from the Hiscox livery barn, with her guests, Mrs. White, of South Dakota, Mrs. Tucker, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, aged eighty years, and her daughter, Mrs. Wolcott, of the same city, who had been driving about the city for some time seeing the residence portion, had just turned north on Logan street from First street when the Hanson team started to run and as they saw that it was turning north on Logan street Mrs. Perrin turned to one side of the street and attempted to get out of the way, but the runaway team followed her and just before the alley was reached collided with the rear end of the buggy containing the ladies and partly upset it. The women clung to the buggy and clear from it by its toppling still further over. In the fall the three guests escaped with only slight bruises, but Mrs. Perrin was seriously but not fatally injured. She was taken to her home and a physician summoned who, after careful examination, said no bones were broken. The lady was badly bruised and the shock to her nervous system was great and for a few days she was in a very serious condition. After the collision, Hanson's team ran diagonally across the vacant lots west of the business portion and were stopped by the loud cries of the men who had been attracted by the runaway just before they collided with a span of horses attached to a buggy hitched in front of the Wamberg meat market. No damage was done to this outfit. The Hiscox livery team became frightened when the buggy was struck by the Hanson team and ran east on the alley between First and Second streets, across Main street, where they were stopped. Between the effects of the collision and being dragged over a block on its side, the buggy was pretty well demolished but the team was uninjured. It was very fortunate that none of the ladies became entangled in the buggy when it was upset, for if they had they would no doubt have been dragged to death or at least seriously injured.

An Appeal and a Social

The head camp of Royal Neighbors, having made an appeal to the local chapter for help on behalf of the M. W. A. Sanitarium at Colorado Springs, which has been inaugurated on the fight against tuberculosis, Golden Rod Camp No. 207, R. N. A. has decided to give a social for the benefit of the Sanitarium on their hall on the 2nd of August. An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion. Fruit, punch and wafers, popcorn and candy will be served from booths decorated in the royal colors. Everybody invited. Remember the cause, the place and date, August 2, 1910.

NEIGHBOR SCHROER
NEIGHBOR CROCKETT
NEIGHBOR LAMBERSON
NEIGHBOR JAMES
NEIGHBOR BARNETT
R. N. A. Committee

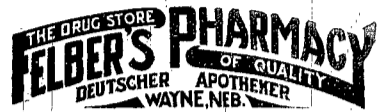

Weber Bros. Wayne Roller Mills, pay two cents above market price for wheat.

FEET SORE?

A little of our Foot Powder sifted in your shoes in the morning will keep you comfortable all day. Our reduces inflammation resulting from excessive perspiration and prevents chafing. It cools, soothes and heals. No need of your having feet that smart and burn.

FOOT POWDER

Clearing Up Odds and Ends

We have left from our sale just closed a great many short lengths which we will close out on the remnant table. You will find in this lot nearly all the different kinds of materials in practical lengths. You will find every piece in this assortment.

Priced Very Low

Broken Lines in Waists

Nearly every size and nearly every kind is represented in this lot of odds and ends in waists which you will find on sale at this store. Tailored waists, sheer waists with dutch collar or dutch neck, representing values up to $1.75, and your choice is

89c

New Goods

By Saturday we hope to have in stock a first shipment of Fall Fabrics. You can begin choosing the things that your early sewing will demand. Fabrics suitable for school dresses will be especially well represented. Come early.

Everything in our grocery department is fresh and pure. Give this department a fair trial and you will soon recognize the high standard we maintain,

Orr & Morris Co

PHONE 247, WAYNE
Your Produce Will Buy More Here

Auction Sale

There will be an Auction Sale on Saturday, July 30, at 3 p. m. on vacant lot west of Roe & Fortner's meat market, of household goods, spring wagon, a Columbus buggy, base burner and other things too numerous to mention. Six months time will be given on all sums of $10 or over.

John L. Soules, Auctioneer.

MRS. W. M. WRIGHT

STATE BANK OF WAYNE

HENRY LEV, President. O. A. CHASE, Vice President. R. W. LEV, Cashier

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY $200,000

Will do a general banking business. Interest paid on time deposits

KODAK

Adds
Enjoyment to every Sport
or Recreation

Picture Making

The Kodak Way is Easy and Simple. No dark-room for any part of the work. We carry a complete stock of Kodaks and Supplies.

JONES' BOOK STORE

Mid-Summer Clearance Sale

20 Per Cent. Discount on Ladies' Waists
20 Per Cent. Discount on Muslin Underwear
20 Per Cent. Discount on Oxfords

Now is the time to buy your summer goods. You will save $$$ at our store.

We have added the American Beauty line of Corsets. Try them. They are the best.

EAT OUR GROCERIES
JEFFRIES SHOE COMPANY

The New Firm in

FURNITURE

CARPETS

UNDERTAKING

Orlando Adams

(Successor to Johnson & Brown)

Licensed Embalmer

Funeral Director

Phones: Store 1 | 2. Residence 110

Mr. W. M. Fleetwood will remain with the New Firm

First National Bank

OLDEST BANK IN WAYNE COUNTY

Frank E. STRAHAN, Pres. JOHN T. BRESSLER, Vice Pres., H. F. WILSON
Cashier, H. S. RINGLAND, Ass't Cashier.

Capital and Surplus $100,000

DIRECTORS: Frank E. Strahan, H. S. Ringland, George Bogart, R. E. K. Mellor, John T. Bressler, H. F. Wilson.

THE QUICKENING

FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1906, by Francis Lynde

Wife—Why did that woman's club disband?
Shame—The majority adopted a resolution limiting the time of each member for speaking on any topic to two hours.

EPIDEMIC OF ITCH IN WELSH VILLAGE

In Howlais, South Wales, about fifteen years ago, families were stricken wholesale by a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it's the most terrible disease of its kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitoes were attacking you at the same time. I know a dozen families that were so affected.

The doctors did their best, but their remedies were of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a druggist who was noted far and wide for his remarkable cures. People came to him from all parts of the country for treatment, but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the effect was wonderful and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen years. Thomas Hugh, 1850 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 29, 1909.

Tit for Tat.

Being of a literary turn and having plenty of leisure, both Mr. and Mrs. Gluppins contributed special articles occasionally to two different newspapers in the town where they resided. One day Mr. Gluppins picked up a manuscript his wife had just finished, and proceeded to look it over.

"That's very good, Bertha," he said, after completing his inspection, "but I see you use the phrase, 'well-known fact.' I wouldn't do that."

"Why not?" she asked.

"Well, if a thing is well-known, why mention it? It's a thing that everybody knows. His wife said nothing in rejoinder at the time, but a few days later, while reading one of his articles in print, she found something to criticize.

"Horace," she said, "I am surprised to see you using the phrase, 'self-evident.'"

"What's the matter with that?"

"Why, if a thing is self-evident, what is the use of calling attention to it?"

Horace looked at her sharply over his glasses, but made no verbal response.—Youth's Companion.

Immense Saving Possible.

A preliminary bulletin on the cost of maintaining a tuberculosis sanatorium, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis announces that the average cost per patient per day in thirty semi-charitable sanatoria scattered in all parts of the United States is $1,689. These institutions represent an annual expenditure of over $1,300,000 and over 815,000 days of treatment given each year. The bulletin, which is part of an extensive study of the National Association is making for the bureau of information, points out that this country could save annually at least $150,000,000 if the indigent consumptives were properly segregated.

How He Kept the Law.

"I noticed," said the friend-who-could-be-trusted, after a trip through the factory where preserves are made, "that a white powder is first put in the cans, and that the preserves are then put in the white powder."
"Yes," explained the proprietor to the friend-who-could-be-trusted, "that white powder is a preservative. You see we are compelled to put the preservative in a preservative because an affidavit requirement of the government makes it unlawful for us to put a preservative in the preserves."

Caught Too Quick.

"I pleaded guilty," said the defendant, "to stealing the melons," said the prisoner, "but I want mercy or do court."
"On what grounds?" asked the judge.
"On these grounds," replied the prisoner, "I stole the melons, but do sherriff didn't give me a chance to eat 'em!"—Atlanta Constitution.

For Breakfast Post Toasties with cream or milk
The smile that follows will last all day—
"The Memory Lingers"
Sold by Grocers.
Page 10c and 15c
Graham Flour Co., Ltd.
New York, N. Y.

CHAPTER XV.—(Continued.)

It was Ludlow, hammering furiously for allience on the shell of the big crane ladle, who acted as spokesman when the uproar was quelled. "You're all right, Tom Gordon, you and me and that son-of-a-bitch pig-plum" (twice) dinner and supper. If you two was the company—"

"We are the company. While Mr. Farley is away, we're the bosses; what we say goes." Ludlow went on. "That's a little better. But we've got a kick or two comin'. Is this half-pay job to be in order on the company's store?"

"I said cash," said Tom, briefly. "Good enough. But I s'pose we'd have to spend it at the company's store, just the same, 'r get 'd?"

"No!"—emphatically. "I'm not even sure that we should reopen the store. We shall not reopen it unless you can walk it, if you do want it, we'll make it strictly cooperative, dividing the profits with every employe according to his purchases."

"Well, that's white, anyway," commented one of the coke burners. "It's a mighty cool day in July when old man Farley'd talk as straight as that."

"Ludlow turned to Ludlow, 'what's this half-pay to be figured on—the reg'lar scale?"

"Of course." "And what security do we have that 'other half' 'll be paid, some time?"

"Ludlow turned to the miners. "What d'ye say, boys? Fish or cut bait? Hands up!"

There was a good showing of hands among the white miners and the coke burners, but the negro foundrymen did not vote. Patty, the mulatto foreman who was Higley's second, explained the reason.

"You ain't said unthin' 'bout de foundry, Boss Tom. W-w-w-we-all boys been makin' short t-i-time, and m-m-makin' pig-aint gwine give we-all nothin' 'fer de." Patty had a painful look on his face, and the strain of the public occasion showed in his eyes.

"We are going to run the foundry, too, Patty, and on full time. There will be work for all of you on the terms I have named."

"Call Higley closed his eyes and put his face in his hands. For weeks before the shut-down the foundry had been run on short time, because there was no market for its miscellaneous output. Surely Tom must be losing his mind!"

"The negro foundrymen were talking his word for it, as the miners had. "Pup-pup-put up yo' hands, boys!" said Patty, and again the eyes had it. Tom looked vastly relieved.

"Well, that was a short horse soon hurried," said, bruskiy. The power goes on to-morrow mornin', and well-blow 'in as soon as the furnace is retined. Ludlow, you come to the office at 5 o'clock and I'll list the shifts with you. Patty, you report to the foreman show up at lat-plant 6. I want to talk over some new work with you. Anybody else got anything to say? If not, we'll adjourn."

Caleb followed his son out and across the yard to the old log homestead which served as the superintendent's office and laboratory. When the door was shut he dropped heavily into a chair.

"Son," he said, brokenly, "you're—you're crazy—plum crazy. Don't you see you can't do the first one of these things you've been proposin'?"

Tom was already busy at the desk, emptying the pigeonholes one after another and rapidly scanning their contents.

"If I believed that, I'd be taking to the hills, and you'd call timber. But don't you worry, pappy, we're going to do them—all of them."

"But, Buddy, you can't sell a foundry product! We may be able to make pig cheaper than some others, but when it comes to the foundry floor, South Tredegar can choke us off in less'n a week."

"Wait," said Tom, still rummaging. "There is one thing we can make—and sell."

"I like tolerable well to know what it is," said the hopeless rejoinder.

"You ought to know better than any one else. It's cast-iron pipe—water pipe. Where are the plans of that invention of yours that Farley wouldn't let you install?"

Caleb found the blue-prints, and his hands were trembling. The invention of a pit machine process for molding and casting water- and gas-pipe at a cost that would put all other makers of the commodity out of the field, had been wrought out and perfected in Tom's one-ewe lamb, and he had nursed it by hand through a long preparatory period.

Tom took the blue-prints and spread them on the desk, absorbing the details as they appeared. And his eyes pointed them out. He saw clearly that the invention would revolutionize pipe-making. The accepted method was to cast each piece separately in a floor flask made in two parts, rammed by hand with the sand, and again for the second time with a rammer. It cost there was any market for pipe now.

"There is a market," said Tom, happily. "I got a pointer on that before I left Boston. Did I tell you I had a little talk with Mr. Clarkin the day I came away?"

Your chance. Cast-iron water-pipe is like bread, or sugar, or butcher's meat. It's a necessity, in good-times or bad. If that machine is practical, you can make pipe for less than half the present cost. Then we talked ways and means. Money is tighter than a shut flap—East as well as everywhere else. But men with money to invest will still bet on a sure thing. Mr. Clarkin advised me to try our own backs first. Failing with them, he authorized me to call on him. Now you know where I'm digging my sand."

"The old iron-master sat back in his chair with his hands locked over one knee, once more taking the measure of the new creation calling itself Tom Gordon and purporting to be his son.

"Say, Buddy," he said at length, "are there any more like you out yonder in the big road?—young fellows that can walk right out of school and tell the old folks how to run things?"

"Tom" (he said) "is a very healthy boy. Plenty of 'em, pappy; plenty of 'em! The old world is moving right along; it would be a pity if it didn't, don't you think? But about this pipe business: I want you to make over these patents to me."

"You've got to know that while I've got will for yours, Tom, everything I do will be for yours, but I can't take the father; but his voice betrayed the depth of that trust. Was the new Tom beginning so soon to grasp and reach out avidly for the fruit of the old tree?"

"I don't mean to know that while I mean it that way," said Tom, smiling a little. "But here is the way it sizes up. There is money in this pipe-making; some money now and big money later on. Farley has refused to go into it unless you make it a company proposition, as president and a controlling stockholder you can't very well go into it unless you make it a company proposition, as president and a controlling stockholder you can't very well go into it now without making it some sort of a company proposition. But you can control the patents to me, and I can put my correspondence Consolidated to make pipe for me."

"That would certainly be givin' Colonel Dubbley a dose of his own medicine; but I don't like it, Tom. It looks as if we were taking advantage of him."

"No. I'd make the proposition to him, personally, if he were here, and the boss; and he'd be a fool if he didn't just jump at it," said Tom, earnestly. "But there is more to it than that. If we make a go of this, and don't protect ourselves, the other horns will come back and put the whole thing in their pockets. I won't go in on any such terms. When they do come back, I'm going to have money to fight them with, and this is our one little ghost of a chance. I'll get Judge Bates and get out a patent for me, and make a legal transfer of these patents to me."

The experience of the summer world of business, into a panic-time competition which was in grim reality the struggle for survival, seemed to be little to choose between stamping the being trampled. By early autumn the iron industries of the country were gasping, and the stacks of pig in the Chiawasseo yards, kept down a little during the winter, and spread until they were a sea. As long as money could be had, the iron was bonded as fast as it was made, and the proceeds were turned into wages to make more. But when money was no longer obtainable from the banks, the pipe venture was the only hope.

With the entire venture force at the Chiawasseo making pipe, Tom had gone into the market with his low-priced product. But the commercial side of the struggle was not to him, and he found himself matched against men who knew buying and selling as he knew smelting and casting. They put on him, easily at first, with increasing difficulty as he learned the new trade, but always with certainty. It was Norton, the correspondence man, who formed now into a sales agent, who gave him his first hint of the inwardness.

"We're too straight, Mr. Gordon; that's at the bottom of it," he said to Tom, at a day's end, when he had the Marlboro road. "It takes more than make money. Four times out of five, we have to sell to a municipal committee, and the other time we have to monkey with the purchasing agent of a corporation. Both the case it takes more than a dollar money besides the difference in price."

Tom was in town that day for the purpose of taking a train to Louisville, where he was to meet the officials of an Indiana city council, despite the hard frost that lay on the ground. He was to meet the month's pay-roll at the bank. The contract was a large one, and his bid, which he was confident was lower than any competitor could make, was to be the one to win. He had a margin of profit. Before he took the train he went to the bank, and when he reached the Kentucky metropolis, his first care was to assure the "wheelbarrow" member of the municipal purchasing board that the work could be done on a modern business basis.

Notwithstanding, he lost the contract. Other people were growing desperate, and it appeared that his bid was not great enough. One member of the committee stood by him and gave him the facts. A check had been passed, and it was a bigger check than Tom could draw without trenching on the bank at Chicago. Late in the afternoon he met the month's pay-roll at the bank.

"You sent a boy to call," said the local one. "And now it's all over! I don't mind telling you that you sent the boy to the wrong mill at that. Dubbley's a big fellow, and he's a good one."

"I'd like to do him up," said Tom, vindictively.

"Well, that might be the deal," said Tom, but he didn't take the hint; he was not buying vengeance. But on the way home he grew bitter with every step. He could not see how he had been so easily outwitted. He had a great deal of money, and he was a good one. He had a great deal of money, and he was a good one. He had a great deal of money, and he was a good one.

"The homing train, rushing through the night, was full of passengers. Tom was one of the few who were not sleeping. He was looking out of the window, and he was thinking of the man who had beaten him. He was thinking of the man who had beaten him. He was thinking of the man who had beaten him.

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"Well, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'"

"No, I did. I told him the conditions and asked him advice. Among other things, he spoke of the fine bit of yours, and he said at once, 'There is a market for this pipe now.'" the air which needed no herald to proclaim it. Though it still varied half an hour of quitting time, the big plant was silent and deserted. Tom walked out to the porch and found his father on the Woodlawn porch.

"You needn't say it, son," was his low greeting, when Tom had sunk himself into a chair. "It was in the South Tredegar papers this mornin'."

"What was in the papers?"

"About our losin' the Indiana contract, and how it was a real hold the business for us, though there were plenty of black looks and a 'storm brewin' when we missed the pay-day yesterday."

"Missed the pay-day? Why, I left money in bank for it when I went to Louisville."

"Yes, I know you did. When Dubbley didn't come out with the payroll yesterday evening I telephoned him. He said Vint Farley, as treasurer of the company, had made a draft on him and taken it all."

"And the men?"

"The miners went out at 10 o'clock this mornin'. The blacks would have stood by us, but Ludlow's men drove 'em out—made 'em quit. We're done, Buddy."

"Tom dashed his hat on the floor and the Gordon eyes, slow to fire and fierce to scorch, had not when once it was aflame, made for a moment a yelling maniac of him. In the midst of it he turned, and the tempest of impatience set itself in a gasp of dismay. His mother was standing in the doorway, thin frail, with the sorrow in her eyes that was a constant thing since an early night of chawin' three years ago."

"As he looked he saw the growing pallor in her face, the growing speechless horror in her gaze. Then she put out her hands as one groping in darkness and fell before he could reach her. She was a stout, sturdy woman who carried Martha Gordon to the room and the husband to follow helplessly behind. Also, it was Tom, tender and loving now as a woman, who sat upon the edge of the bed, clapping the bloodless hands and striving as he could to revive her."

"It's all right, mother, don't be for sure, this time," he said, and he was not. But Tom saw the pale lips move and bent low to catch their whisperings. What he heard was only the echo of the despairing cry of the broken heart: "Would God I had died for thee, O Abalom, my son!"

(To be continued.)

THE LION'S ROAR.

Just why the lion should be called the king of beasts few have ever stopped to inquire. His habits, says A. Radoloff Dugmore, writing in Everybody's Magazine, are not kingly. He is a shameless scavenger. He may be a cannibal. There is a story of a contest between a lion and a lonesome dog, which ended in the lion killing and then devouring his mate. In days before the advent of modern high-power arms the lion may have stood as a symbol of fearlessness and daring, but time has changed all that. He is now neither so fierce nor yet so formidable as he is painted. The chase of the lion is becoming less and less dangerous. "Not a lion has done its duty," said Mr. Roosevelt, emerging from the East African jungles.

Besides, opinion of any brute's nature seems to depend largely on the experience of the observer. If the hunter chanced to have a close call with a lion, he assumes the lion to be far more fierce than the lion for his own part. The lion, on the other hand, had had a brush with an elephant and nearly lost his life; therefore he considers the elephant to be the most dangerous of all animals. Personally, I'd rather face a herd of lions in the open than a herd of buffalo bent on mischief.

But once in the lion country, you learn the real reason why he is termed the king of beasts. He looks it. Besides, there is the terror he casts over all the brute creation about him. And as for terror, there is one feature of life in East Africa that the traveler never forgets—the lion's roaring.

To me, no other sound in nature is more awe-inspiring, more appalling, especially if heard at really close range, or among hills, where the echo resounds in its rolling double bass.

Contrary to the common idea, lions do not confine their thunderous calls to the night only; frequently in the open daylight one may be startled by a sudden outburst. They are a noisy lot, too. At night I have heard a band keep up the dire chorus for hours at a time, a blood-curdling concert that brings to mind every tale, fanciful or true, of their daring. It seems, still rapacity and might. It seems, still rapacity and might. It seems, still rapacity and might.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

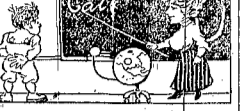

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

The "safe and sane" idea took well at first and Washington determined to stick by the modern form of celebration this year. Therefore the celebration last Monday began with the reading of the Declaration of Independence in front of the city buildings. Then, at 7 o'clock, the hour set, but as luck would have it, the same hour the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals crossed bats. The Washington Post and the Washington Times have offices opposite the city building. A crowd of about 1,000 people had gathered for the ceremonies. At the newspaper offices the megaphone man had been connected by wire with the baseball park.

WASHINGTON had a "safe and sane" celebration of the national birthday. In years gone by the national capital has been noted for the noisiest Fourth of July celebration of any city in the union. Last year they adopted the "safe and sane" idea. Day fireworks had a parade in the morning with speechmaking on the plaza fronting the city buildings. In the afternoon a motor parade and, at night, an illumination of the Monument grounds and more fireworks.

DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL

Odd Answers to Teachers' Questions

WASHINGTON.—One of the principal schools has been telling her friends of some amusing incidents of the final examinations before the close of the school year.

Among the questions she gave to the children in the third grade was: "Name the five races of man." Imagine her surprise when one of the children answered: "Automobile races, horse races, airship races, foot races and bicycle races."

Another question was: "Name some of the organs of men." To this one child replied: "Mouth organ, hand organ, pipe organ."

The spinal cord was defined as a string running from the back of the head to the bottom of the heels. "Ears," said one, "are just as important as good clothes and should be taken care of just as well. Don't let bugs crawl into your ears, but if one should get in there syringe your ear with soap suds and afterwards drop some molasses into it."

"Poison," wrote another, "should be declared at once and not allowed to run on as it is dangerous. Don't treat poison rough—it is liable to run into blood poison. If anyone should take poison it is a good idea to keep it as high up out of reach as possible."

"You ought to keep poison in a little room under lock and key in a little bottle and the cork in so it can't be got out and hide the key and have skeleton in the bottle and not let no body go in there."

"A good any date for poison," said one, "is to take a teaspoonful of soap suds every ten minutes to make you vomit till the doctor comes." (It is awful to think of the doctor's being delayed several hours.)

A class of six-grade pupils were asked to write a short biographical sketch of Longfellow. One member of the class proudly submitted the following:

"H. W. Longfellow was a grand man. He wrote both poems and poetry. He graduated at Bowdoin and after wards taught the same school where he graduated. He didn't like teaching and decided to learn some other trade so his school furnished him money to go to Europe and learn to be a poet. He wrote many beautiful poems for children. He wrote 'Billy, the Black Smith.'"

The following brief but pithy composition was handed in by a youngster who had been asked to write on his favorite holiday:

"I like the Fourth of July best 'cause it's the day America was discovered."

A hasty look into a dictionary is presumed to have conveyed to the mind of one embryo child that "charity" means "almshouse" instead of "alms." "Ambush" was defined as a kind of bush and "habitation" was judged to refer to one's habitation. It was also defined that a "pair-finch" wears feathers "same as any other bird."

Rural Free Delivery Is Growing Fast

Time of opening and reading missives not properly directed is a part of the work of the mailing section. It includes a private postoffice through which every letter received or sent relative to rural delivery must pass.

Every one of the half-million and more letters sent from this department is copied for record by a mechanical system which saves the labor of a hundred copying clerks even where the hand copying press or the carbon method has been employed. A force of only seventeen clerks is assigned in this section, yet in addition to handling and copying mail they keep a daily record of all the outlay for postage expenses of the department and print and examine the hundreds of letters daily received which must be returned to the postoffice where they should have been directed.

Applications for new routes or petitions for carriers, decisions of the department, the payments and receipts, is told by the postoffice newspaper.

The esprit de corps of the rural free delivery is best shown by the last annual report. During the year it states that out of the 41,000 in the service the total dismissals for cause were only 165, less than the total number of deaths.

The reasons for the dismissals were principally incompetence and failure to obey instructions. No dismissals whatever for stealing from the mails or other dishonesty were on the records.

Baseball and the Declaration Mixed

Promptly at ten o'clock a baldheaded man in a frock coat arose on the flag draped stand in front of the city building cleared his throat and began:

"When the course of human ev—"
Across the way the megaphone man interrupted with:

"Milan is at the bat—Ball one!"
—"vents it becomes necessary," continued the baldheaded reader.

"Foul—Strike one," roared the megaphone.

The masculine portion of the listeners became restive. Their attention turned in the direction of the megaphone man and their backs toward the baldheaded patriot.

"For one people to dissolve the point—"
"He hits to left—For two bases—Lelivelt at the bat—"

By this time 794 male members of the Independence day audience had dashed madly across to Newspaper Row. Of the original audience of the "safe and sane" celebration, 134 women, 22 children, a salubriously intoxicated cab driver and the police guard remained.

RIBBON SALE

All colors and widths, ribbons that sell as high as 40 cents per yard, go at this sale Friday and Saturday

10c Yard

J. G. MILLER

Little Locals

Dr. S. A. Lutgen, Physician and Surgeon.

Oil Meal at the Wayne Flour and Feed Mill.

Whalen makes and sells the best ice cream.

The Kundell grocery is making sewerage connections this week.

L. W. Alger left for his ranch last evening, where he goes to make hay.

The Anchor Grain Co. sells the best hard and soft coal. Phone 109.

F. P. Strahan has his string of racing horses at Red Oak, Iowa, this week.

New and second hand bicycles for sale. Inquire at the Wayne Novelty store.

Forest Hughes and Willis Fleetwood were at Wakefield yesterday afternoon.

P. A. Berry is at Ponca today attending the preliminary examination of Wm. Pledge.

Geo. Banks of Watertown, South Dakota, visited Wayne relatives over Tuesday night.

Bargains in all departments. Summer goods below cost.

S. R. THEOBALD & Co. J. M. Ross went to Winnebago Wednesday morning, accompanied by his daughter, to visit a son for a few days.

J. T. Leahy has added some fine new show cases and other fixtures to his drug store, making it look better than ever before.

Thos. Mines, of Norfolk, succeeds to this. He is the member of the republican state central committee from this district.

Remember the "Kitchen Shower" in the new basement of the M. E. church Thursday evening, August 4. Ice cream and cake ten cents.

We understand that the preliminary examination of Hofreiter, charged with murdering his wife, will take place next Tuesday.

While there is a considerable falling off in the amount of money taxed this year, compared with last year, Wayne county shows an increase of $8,233.

It will be seen by ordinance No. 138, published in this issue, that the tax levy in Wayne, for all purposes next year, will be eighteen and one-half mills on the dollar.

In the state republican convention at Lincoln Tuesday, Wayne county's nine votes were all cast for Norris Brown as chairman and for county option but were all cast against direct legislation.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Weaver and Mrs. Geo. Whippertman, of Wakefield, were Wayne visitors yesterday. Mr. Weaver was here for treatment of rheumatism at Dr. Thomas Sanitarium.

A. Anson went to Sioux City Wednesday morning. From there to Ottumwa, Iowa, and will visit elsewhere in that state and Nebraska, winding up with the state fair at Lincoln, before coming home.

Miss Lulu Durling left for her home in Plainview, Thursday evening after a visit at the home of I. W. Alger. Miss Eva accompanied her as far as Norfolk where she met a schoolmate, Miss Ethel Ballard, of Fort Morgan, Colorado, who will make her an extended visit.

A young man by the name of Steele, living south of town, had a lively mix-up and runaway Monday evening near the John Livinghouse farm. The team became frightened at some automobiles, turned to one side quickly, partly upsetting the buggy, throwing Mrs. Steele out, and the young ladies jumped out. The team plunged through a woven wire fence, smashed up the buggy but no one was hurt.

On Tuesday morning at 6:30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vail, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Miss Florence Vail, to Mr. Wm. Carlson, of Iowa. Only the family and a few friends were present to witness the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Smith of the Baptist church. A very nice breakfast was served to the guests after which the young couple left on the morning train for Rock Rapids, where Mr. Carlson will establish himself in business.

Alice L. Woodford, a Brown trotting mare owned by McClelland Miller, of Wayne, made some fast time on the track at Sioux City Tuesday, where she is being trained. She trotted a mile in 2:13 flat, the fastest mile ever trotted at Woodland Park on a try out. The mare is staked throughout the country in some good events in the 2:16 and 2:21 trots. She makes her first start at Peoria, Illinois, August 18. Then she goes to Galesburg, Joliet, Hamline, Sioux City, Sedalia, Mo.; Dallas, Texas; Fort Worth, Texas; and Phoenix, Arizona, where she will be wintered. The purses in the races for which she will contend are from $1,000 to $5,000.

Rye Graham at the Wayne Flour and Feed Mill.

All kinds of threshers' supplies at Voget's hardware.

Good second hand Estey organ for sale cheap. See Jonsson & Brown. 20 per cent. off on all slippers and oxfords right now.

S. R. THEOBALD & Co. Those new electric arc lamps with their ornamental iron poles on the court house lawn are certainly all right.

The northeast Nebraska tennis tournament will be held at Wakefield, Nebraska, about the middle of August.

Whalen conducts the most sanitary ice cream parlor in town. Every dish and glass is scalded in hot water before being used.

J. G. Miller sold a car load of peaches—368 crates from Friday morning to Tuesday afternoon, at 80 and 85 cents per crate.

Mrs. J. O. Woolson, of Magnat, a former Wayne resident, passed through here on her way to Sioux City to enter a hospital there.

The desk in our office has been graced for three days past with some fine gladiolus blossoms from Rev. Karpenstein's garden. Thanks.

Some remarkable BARGAINS are being offered in summer goods at the July clearing sale.

S. R. THEOBALD & Co. Ed. Johnson has our thanks for a large bunch of Tokay grapes and a sample of peaches raised in the Pecos, Texas, country, where he has land interests. The fruit is certainly fine.

Regular meeting R. N. A. Tuesday evening, August 2. Candidates to be adopted and other business makes it necessary to open meeting promptly at 7:30. Come early and be ready to open doors to all visitors at an early hour.

Detective Davenport and Albert Eichtenamp were over from Ponca Tuesday. A charge of murder was filed against Wm. Pledge Saturday afternoon and the preliminary examination will begin at Ponca one o'clock this afternoon.

Thomas Fielding has sold his interest in the tailor shop to his partner, Henry Schroer, and the family will leave Wayne. They do not know where they will locate yet. It may be Alliance, where they own property, or elsewhere.

J. G. Mines moved his safe out of his old jewelry store Tuesday afternoon to the hardware store of Craven & Welch where he will occupy one corner and a front window with his bench until his new store is completed. The old building will be moved back to the end of the lot and is on its way now.

"The Workers," assisted by their Sunday School teacher, Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, and several young ladies, will serve a three course supper in the basement of the M. E. church Friday evening of this week, to a number of invited guests, in honor of nine members of the class who will leave town and college at the close of the present term.

The Sons of Herman of the district of Northeast Nebraska, including lodges at Emerson, Wayne, Blodgett, Pender, Hartington and Dakota City, held their annual picnic Wednesday at Emerson at which A. C. Lutz, of Sioux City, editor of the Courier, a German newspaper, delivered the principal address. Mr. Lutz is grand president of the Sons of Herman in Iowa, and seventeen years ago inaugurated the order in northeastern Nebraska in which district it now has 3,000 members. Dakota City Record.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold a "Kitchen Shower" in the basement of the church on Thursday evening, August 4, at 8:00 o'clock. Ice cream and cake will be served and a charge of ten cents made. Everyone is invited and urged to bring some article that would be useful in the kitchen or dining room of the new building such as dishes of all kinds, stove furniture, kitchen or dining room furniture, chairs, rocking chairs, rugs, and in fact any article that can be used either in the dining room or the kitchen.

At the county republican convention last Saturday the following were selected as committeemen from the various precincts in the county for the present year:

- Wayne, 1st Ward..... C. Chase
- Wayne, 2nd Ward..... Geo. Lamberson
- Wayne, 3rd Ward..... Bert Brown
- Sherman..... T. A. Jackson
- Chapin..... W. W. Prince
- Hunter..... O. S. Gamble
- Hancock..... S. H. Rew
- Strahan..... Aug. Wittler
- Plum Creek..... C. J. Exelbren
- Windsor..... E. S. Tracy
- Hoskins..... Aug. Zeimer
- Brenns..... Perry Beneshoff
- Wibur..... T. Bruckman
- Logan..... Frank Crane
- Garfield..... W. R. Porter
- Deer Creek..... L. Bredemeyer
- Leslie..... Amos Long

New car load of flour and feed at Roe & Fortner's mill.

"The Only," the best hog waterer on the market at Voget's hardware.

Ice cream Sundae and Sodas at Whalen's up-to-date ice cream parlor.

Some changes and improvements have been made in Dr. Green's dental office to his betterment.

The Holy Communion will be administered at the St. Pauls Lutheran church next Sunday morning.

A large assortment of Remnants at one-half price. S. R. THEOBALD & Co.

The J. A. Wintersteen family have been enjoying a visit with his sister from Griswold, Iowa, the past week.

The baseball team have two games away from home this week. One game is at Randolph and one at Carroll.

The Ware-Robbins company, of Wakefield, of which Dan Harrington of this place was secretary, has been duly dissolved.

Large hair switches from combings, 82 each. Smaller ones for less. Write Mrs. ERICK CHAPMAN, no.26th W. Winside, Nebraska

Ralph Rundell received two large refrigerators Saturday and is now better equipped than ever before for keeping butter, fruits and vegetables in better conditions.

Rev. Lloyd Cunningham, of Marion, Kansas, who is visiting his parents in Wayne, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit at Wakefield last Sunday. That is the way the ministers usually take their vacations.

Mrs. C. S. Vose, of Omaha, who had been a very welcome guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. P. Whitney, returned to Omaha Friday afternoon, leaving the latter place Monday for her home at Valdez, Alaska.

Richard Closson, of Sholes, and W. P. Rooney, of Wayne, were respectively chairman and secretary of the county republican convention held at the court house last Saturday afternoon.

In the Hartington races last week F. E. Strahan, of Wayne, took second money in the 2:30 trot with Alie Medium, and in the 2:15 pace and 2:12 trot mixed, he got third place with "The Medium."

The thrifty mothers are providing their men folks with shirts for some time to come, from the bargain counter at the Racket, values up to $1 are found at 35c each, all sizes. S. R. THEOBALD & Co.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Davys City, Iowa, News, edited by Grant Mallory, who worked on the Nebraska Democrat in Wayne nearly a year. The paper shows a healthy condition for a fourteen-week product and has a good advertising patronage.

Mrs. Joe Harris returned Tuesday from Wayne where she has been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Gardner, for the past week. Mr. Harris was there Sunday and Tuesday. Mrs. Gardner has been very sick for some time, but is much better at present. Emerson Enterprise.

Are you helping to boost the Wayne baseball nine? The game the team won Monday was the sixth straight game and the boys are putting up a good game these days and should receive all the encouragement that lovers of the game can give.

There are some complaints about corn beginning to suffer from the continued effects of dry weather. It is only in isolated cases, however. The great trouble with the rains this season is that they have been mostly very local in character, many of them being merely showers, covering only a limited area.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Geo. S. Farran, asking for the nomination as county commissioner in the 3rd Wayne county district. Mr. Farran has given the duties of his office careful and painstaking attention in the past and should be accorded a re-nomination and election without opposition.

Thursday night's shower was not enough to help potatoes to any extent, but it cooled the atmosphere which was excessively hot, and was a good thing for the corn crop. While the corn is not materially suffering for lack of moisture, a few showers now will have a very beneficial effect on the caring and distribution of pollen, two essential things in producing corn.

We feel very sure that all who knew C. E. Eells, father of dentist Eells, who was here for several years, will regret to learn that the elder man died in a hospital at Sioux City Sunday, where he had gone for an operation. The remains were taken to the old home in Iowa Monday for burial, the doctor accompanying them. Mr. Eells was an old soldier and made his home here with his son off and on for a year or more.

Richard Closson, of Sholes, former editor of the Carroll Index, in company with his father-in-law, Mr. Hunter, of Webster City, Iowa, were callers Saturday afternoon. Richard came down to attend the Republican county convention and Mr. Hunter came along to see the city and see how they did things out here. Mr. Hunter is an old newspaper man and used to be associated with his father in the publication of the Webster City Freeman when we resided in that state.

The Sioux City Tribune of last Thursday evening contained a notice of a wedding in Mrs. A. Naffziger, of Wayne, an aunt of the bride, figured. The contracting parties were Miss Grace Zare, of Marcus, Iowa, and Marcus Daily, of Taft, California. As the groom passed through Sioux City on his way to Marcus, he thought it would save time to get the license there, only to find out when the time arrived for the ceremony that they could not be married at Marcus with that license, and then there was nothing to do but go to Sioux City, which they did, accompanied by the bride's father and aunt, leaving the guests in the lurch.

Voget has the best washing machines on the market.

R. N. A. drill practice at the hall Friday afternoon, July 29, at 2:30.

We have the best of pancake flour at the Wayne Flour and Feed Mill.

Try the Anchor Grain Co. for hard and soft coal. Phone 109.

When you want good ice cream get it at Whalen's. He makes the best.

You can always get a good lunch and a hot drink or delicious ice cream at Whalen's.

The assessed valuation of merchandise in Wayne county in 1910 is $1420 less than for 1909.

The Wayne base ball team defeated Randolph on its own grounds yesterday by a score of 4 to 3.

Otto Voget has just finished a fine job of plumbing for J. B. Stallsmith and the State bank and has one for Wm. Piepenstock.

You will find the announcement of William Prince, of Winside, in this issue, as a candidate before the republican primaries for representative from this district.

Take Notice All persons having accounts with the firm of Furchner, Duerig & Co., previous to July 20, 1910, are requested to call at the store and settle. Having gone out of business the firm is desirous of getting its affairs settled up at once.

Human Life for August The remarkable story of Miles Poindexter, the standard bearer of insurgency from the far west, who has become a national figure in his first term in Congress, is one of the leading articles in Human Life for August, 1910.

ANNOUNCEMENT I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of state representative from the Seventeenth Representative District composed of Wayne and Stanton counties, subject to the approval of the republican voters at the primary election to be held Tuesday, August 16, 1910.

Respectfully submitted, WILLIAM PRINCE, Winside, Nebraska

Tie Your Horses The runaways of the past week ought to be a valuable lesson to every one driving a team or large lot to take it for granted that they will stand if left in the street without tying. Flies are troublesome and any number of things may occur to cause a team to run away, thereby endangering the lives of people passing or driving along the street. There ought to be a fine for every one leaving a team standing in the street without being tied or attached to a heavy weight.

Hearing Set for Thursday The preliminary hearing in the case against William Pledge, the Dixon county farmer charged with the brutal murder of his sister, has been set for Thursday at one o'clock before Judge Brown, of Ponca.

After a long delay it was finally decided to place the charge of murder in the first degree against Pledge and this is the crime which he will be called upon to answer. Pledge still claims he is innocent of the crime and declares that the trial will show that the alleged confession of Eichtenamp was a lie.

Financial Report Of Wayne Chautauqua Association for 1910:

RECEIPTS
Sale of Season Tickets.....	$1333 00
Sale of Reserved Seats.....	170 10
Total Receipts.....	$1503 10
DISBURSEMENTS
Note and Interest for Deficiency of 1909.....	$ 88 77
Drayage and Clearing of Grounds.....	4 75
Labor.....	1 00
Rope.....	50
	$ 95 02
Redpath Bureau Guarantee	1400 00
	$1495 02
Total Receipts.....	$1503 10
	1495 02
BALANCE ON HAND.....	$ 8 08

Resolutions Adopted The republicans of Wayne county in convention at the court house in Wayne, last Saturday, passed the following resolutions:

Be it, Resolved, By the republicans of Wayne county in convention assembled, that we reaffirm our loyalty and support to the principles and record of the republican party, its execution of wise and beneficial laws, its faithful performance of its trusts for the progress, welfare and prosperity of the American people.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the republican national administration as exemplified in its record during the last session of congress into making into laws the pledges contained in the republican platform and we commend and approve the attitude of our republican representatives and senators, Norris Brown and E. J. Burkett during the last session of congress, and commend the attitude of Hon. George W. Norris therein as a faithful guardian of the people's rights and an able champion of free government.

That we unqualifiedly condemn the present appointment of state senators and representatives as shown by their respective districts and the population thereof, and firmly believe that a gross injustice is being done certain sections of the state to the advantage of others, and we hereby instruct our state senator and representative to use their power and influence to secure a fair and equitable reapportionment of the legislative district of the state. We believe in initiative and referendum and heartily favor the enactment of such a law.

See Otto Voget when you want a good job of plumbing.

Rye Flour at the Wayne Flour and Feed Mill.

Bath tubs and sanitary fixtures at Voget's hardware.

You can get old papers at this office—5 cents per bunch.

J. H. Mallory, of Omaha, was arrested at Wakefield Saturday on the charge of embezzlement, having been told by the Judge of the Council Bluffs-Omaha district to turn over $25 to H. G. McGehee as guardian of Mallory's children.

Presbyterian Notes The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be "Dreams and Visions." The object sermon to the boys and girls will be on "MONEY."

There will be no evening service next Sabbath, as the congregation will unite in the union open air service at the court house.

The ladies of the congregation will meet this week to consider plans for cleaning and re-frescoing the church.

Open Air Service The union services on the court house lawn will be resumed next Sunday evening. These meetings have proved very popular and the attendance has increased every week. The beautiful court house park is a fit place for quiet meditation on the Sabbath evening and the reverence and interest shown in the services show that the Temple of Nature is well adapted to stir up all that is noblest and best in human nature. The spirit of union amongst the Christian people augurs well for a religious awakening in our community.

Reader Visitors at the State Fair this year will have an opportunity to see the Wright brothers in several flights in their aeroplane, as the fair management have contracted with those gentlemen, who have made the world sit up and take notice, for several flights each day of the fair, September 5 to 9. They will bring with them three of their full sized aeroplanes which will be used in making their flights each day. When not in use they will be on exhibition and their working fully explained to those interested in air navigation. This will be an opportunity for the people of Nebraska to see the wonders of the 20th century.

Why Eggs Are Cheap NEW YORK, July 21, 1910 Mr. J. J. Ahern, Wayne, Neb., Dear Sir: In reply to your favor we wish to state that prices on eggs this year are much lower on account of the large production and the tremendous large holdings of storage eggs which is about one-third more than it was a year ago while the warehouses being so packed full of eggs that the banks and cold storage companies have refused to loan further money on eggs.

The goods have been running poor from all sections and the quality of eggs that have been served to the public has been giving poor satisfaction which made slow consumption. The eggs have been stacking up on this market and any reasonable offers have not been refused and I know of Western eggs being sold in this city as low as 13 cents per dozen in round lots. So the whole cause of lower prices is heavy production.

Yours respectfully, REIMER BROS. As New York is the great market for all eggs and as it costs about 4 cents per dozen to get our eggs to New York (this includes cost of cases, freight and commission for selling) it will readily be seen why eggs are 10 cents dozen in Nebraska.

Eggs at One-Third Price I can furnish a few settings of eggs from my best pen of Blueblood Barred Rocks at $1 per fifteen.

C. FRANK WHITNEY, Herald Office, Wayne, Neb.

Bulls For Sale Several high grade Durhams at my place four miles west and one mile north of Winside.

ED. ULRICH.

Six-Room House for Sale Four blocks west, one south of the College and a block north of N. E. corner City Park, well, cistern, with water in house. Coal shed. Eight different kinds of fruit. Built four years. Terms: $1500 cash or $750 down, balance in three years. The lot is 100x150 feet.

C. H. MILLER, Phone 250.

Poland China's THE BEST BRED J. M. Coleman, R. F. D. 2

LEAHY'S DRUG STORE J. T. Leahy, Phone 143. Edison Records and Phonographs for Sale Here

4 Big Clothing Specials

33 Boys' Knee Pants Suits worth up to $5, in all sizes, at $2.90

19 Young Men's Suits, sizes 33 to 38, worth up to $15, now $5.90

17 Men's Suits, in sizes from 34 to 38, worth up to $20 now $8.90

25 Boy's Knee Pants, worth up to 75c, will be sold during this sale at 29c

Dan Harrington

"Folks who save money," says the Judge, "always get money to save. Begin the right system and buy your drugs at Raymond's."

Wayne Feed And Exchange Mill

Grinds all kinds of Feed and sells Feed, Tankage, Bran, Shorts Oil Meal, Hay, Straw, all kinds of seeds and CINDERELLA, SUPERLATIVE AND NORFOLK FLOUR

Eggs and Poultry taken in exchange or we will pay cash for it

ROE & FORTNER

Capital $60,000

Herman Honey President

A. L. Tucker Vice President

H. B. Jones Cashier

P. H. Meyer Asst. Cashier

Does a general banking business. Invites your account. Open Loans

Lincoln Sanitarium

Sulpho-Saline Springs Located on our own premises and used in the Natural Mineral Water

BATHS

Rheumatism

Unsurpassed in the treatment of Rheumatism

Head, Stomach, Kidney and Liver Diseases. Moderate Charges. Address DR. C. W. EVERETT, Mgr., Lincoln, Neb.

New Meat Market

Has opened and is ready for business. A share of your patronage is solicited.

Beef, Pork, Sausage, Smoke Meats, Cooked Meats, Etc

And all other kinds of the best meats will be kept constantly in stock. Prices right.

Oscar Wamberg

Courtright & Son,

PAINTERS AND PAPER HANGERS

Wayne, Nebraska. Phone 299

Graves & Lamberson,

GRAIN & COAL

Best prices paid for Grain Coal sold at Low Price. We aim to please both buying and selling.

MOVED

During the construction of our new store building you will find us next door, in Craven & Welch's store

MINES

LEADING JEWELER

Ready For You

In our new location, one door south of Jeffries' shoe store, and

You To Call

When we will show you an up-to-date stock of goods and be better able than ever to serve you with Ice Cream and other good things.

Poland China's THE BEST BRED

J. M. Coleman, R. F. D. 2

LEAHY'S DRUG STORE

J. T. Leahy, Phone 143. Edison Records and Phonographs for Sale Here

4 Big Clothing Specials

33 Boys' Knee Pants Suits worth up to $5, in all sizes, at $2.90

19 Young Men's Suits, sizes 33 to 38, worth up to $15, now $5.90

17 Men's Suits, in sizes from 34 to 38, worth up to $20 now $8.90

25 Boy's Knee Pants, worth up to 75c, will be sold during this sale at 29c

Dan Harrington

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

Latest News of Interest Boiled Down for the Busy Man.

PERSONAL

Paul Sorrente, a foundry employe at Florence, N. J., collapsed from heat...

GENERAL NEWS

D. R. Spain of Tarentum, Pa., while holding his baby from one arm to the other...

Riot in Pennsylvania

Seranton, Pa.—During a riot at Carlisle...

List of Dead Sixty

Milan.—The list of dead in the cyclone...

Dual Denver Tragedy

Denver, Colo.—Passing a revolver against the temple of her husband...

Nevada Town on Fire

Reno, Nev.—Wadsworth, a town 25 miles east of Reno...

Sloux City Live Stock Market

Sloux City.—Saturday's quotations on the Sloux City live stock market...

Actor Overton Dead

St. Louis, Mo.—John S. Overton, an old time actor...

Explosions Causes a Loss

Cincinnati.—Two explosions wrecked a manufacturing plant at Central avenue...

Down in a Reservoir

Denison, Tex.—Harry Smith, a prominent business man...

JAP STEAMER SINKS

Forty survivors succeed in landing in lifeboats at Chindo.

206 PASSENGERS MISSING

Warships sent to scene in hope of picking them up—Ship struck in a fog and shortly afterward went to the bottom.

Tokio

The Tetsurei Maru, plying between Kobe and Pairen, sunk Sunday night off Chindo, Corea.

Direct reports from Chindo state that two of the Tetsurei's lifeboats landed 40 passengers, who tell of harrowing scenes when the beflagged vessel struck.

EIGHTH BIG INTERSTATE FAIR

Sloux City's Annual Autumn Show. Fortunate in Location—The Heart of Corn Country.

The eighth annual fair of the Interstate Live Stock Fair association will be held at Sloux City, Iowa, September 19 to 24, inclusive.

General Estrada, president of the Nicaraguan provisional government, has sent to Consul General Sussman, at New Orleans...

At a conference held at Cincinnati representatives of the Bucks Stove & Range company of St. Louis and of several unions...

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McEvilly and lit

the daughter, Mary, of Dysart, Ia., were killed here by the Freon passenger train on the Chicago & Northwestern...

Because of an article by Theodore

Roosevelt condemning prize fighting in the Outlook, the last issue of the magazine has been barred from sale in Hutchinson, Kan.

Work was attacked by the strikers,

a majority of whom are Italians, and fully 200 strikers were exchanged, one of them striking James Ciccone at the base of the brain.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

Best feeders, $5.35. Top hogs,

$8.65.

NEBRASKA'S RICHES

Twelve millions increase shown by assessors.

FIVE COUNTIES NOT REPORTED

When Returns are All in the Total Assessed Valuation Will Show $410,995,479.

With five counties missing the total assessed valuation of the state as returned to the State Board of Equalization by county boards is $390,286,138.

Of the increase this year $267,985 was on railroad property. Douglas county contributed $1,071,074 as its portion of the increase...

The following table shows the assessments by counties for the years 1909 and 1910, as equalized by the state board last year...

County

Table with 3 columns: County, 1909, 1910. Lists counties from Adams to York with their respective assessed values.

Civil Service Examinations

The United States civil service commission announces the following examinations to be held at Lincoln, Grand Island, Norfolk, North Platte and Omaha...

Springview Bank Case

Judge Lincoln Frost has issued a mandamus to compel the State Banking board to grant a charter for a new bank at Springview...

Hogs and Cattle

Compared with last year, the reports of the county assessors to the State Board of Equalization show that in many instances hogs have increased in value more than 100 per cent during the year...

Lumber Rate Hearing Continued

The State Railway commission has postponed the hearing of the Omaha dealers' lumber rate complaint until September 14...

Thomas is President

B. F. Thomas of Omaha was elected president of the Association of Nebraska Postmasters at convention here...

Postpones Oil Rate Case

The railway commission has again postponed the hearing of the oil rate complaint filed by Victor Wilson of Stromsburg...

Investigation of Irrigation

State Engineer Simmons went to North Platte to investigate the complaints regarding the order of the board, shutting down the head gates at the North Platte river...

FILINGS FOR OFFICE

List of Names of Seekers for Political Place.

Republican

A. E. Cady, St. Paul. C. H. Aldrich, David City.

Democrat

James C. Dahlman, Omaha. A. C. Shallenberger, Alma. W. R. Patrick, Papillion.

Prohibitionist

George I. Wright, Nebraska City. Clyde Wright, Lincoln. Lieutenant Governor.

Republican

M. R. Hopewell, Tokamah. Walter Johnson, Omaha. Ralph A. Clark, Stella. W. H. Green (fus.), Creighton.

Prohibitionist

Sam Lichty, Falls City. Secretary of State. Socialist—George M. Sutter, Omaha.

Republican

Addison Watt, Syracuse. John J. Ryder, Omaha. Democrat—Charles W. Pool (fus.), Tecumseh. A. T. Gatewood (fus.), McCook.

Socialist

John A. Cushing, Bellevue. Moses H. Wittstruck, Firth. State Auditor.

Republican

Silas R. Barton, Grand Island. Democrat—P. J. Hewitt (fus.), Lexington. Socialist—Charles J. Lambert, Stromsburg. State Treasurer.

Republican

Walter A. George, Broken Bow. Frank Stidling, Wilber. Democrat—Ralph D. Sturdevant, David City. James H. McGinley, Ogallala. George E. Hall (fus.), Franklin.

Socialist

H. A. Burns, Havelock. Prohibitionist—Albert Fitch, Central City. State Superintendent.

Republican

Frank S. Perdue, Lincoln. James W. Crabtree, Perou. Democrat—William R. Jackson, University Place.

Socialist

Charles Arnot, Schuyler. Attorney General. Republican—Grant G. Martin, Fremont. C. F. Underberg, Minden.

Democrat

Menzo W. Terry, Beatrice. C. H. Whitney (fus.), Hartington. Land Commissioner. Republican—E. W. Cowles, Fairbury. John Lyon, Central City.

Democrat

William B. Eastham (fus.), Broken Bow. C. F. Beushausen (fus.), Loup City. Robert W. Fleming (fus.), Berwyn.

Socialist

E. E. Olmstead, York. Railway Commissioner. Republican—Henry T. Clarke, jr., Omaha. E. Eweel, Grand Island. A. J. Van Alstyne, Omaha.

Democrat

Ben H. Hayden (fus.), Lincoln. William C. Brooks (fus.), Beatrice. W. F. Porter (fus.), Lincoln.

No candidate for United States senator will be nominated this year by the socialist party in Nebraska, owing to the $50 filing fee required by the state law to secure a place on the primary ballot...

Populist Headquarters

C. B. Manuel, chairman of the populist state committee, while in Lincoln announced that the populist headquarters at Grand Island would be at the Palmer hotel.

The Police Record

The police report for the month of June shows 133 arrests. Of these 119 were men and fourteen women.

NEBRASKA IN BRIEF

News Notes of Interest From Various Sections.

The Fremont postoffice is to be remodelled to the extent of $50,000.

Over 500 pioneers and settlers attended the picnic of the pioneers of Custer county.

The school census of Nebraska City shows 1,748 children as against 1,641 last year.

Lee Allison, living near Leigh, Cass county, is in a critical condition from the kick of a horse.

The Leigh fire department won first money in the horse races at the firemen's tournament at Howells. The run was made in 23 1/2 seconds.

The school census of the city of McCook, just recently completed, gives McCook 1,185 children of school age, a gain of 132 over last year's census.

Sheriff Chirnside of Jefferson county returned from Clinton, Mo., with Harry Gray, who escaped from the county jail in Fairbury about a year ago.

A human skull, with teeth and accompanied by other bones, has been found on the place north of Lyons known as the old "Jim Hart homestead."

Joy riders ran down a boy nine years of age, Gaius Hubbell, of Waterloo, who was thrown thirty-five feet, and his skull fractured. He will probably die.

The Superior board of education made arrangements to add a full course of manual training and domestic science to the school course upon the opening of school in September.

Ed Osborne, a farmer, aged about 24 years, living near Staplehurst, was arrested, charged with committing an assault upon the person of Anna Cornelious, a German girl, 17 years old.

Passenger No. 3, due in Ashland, struck and instantly killed a man at the west end of the Platte River bridge and from papers on his person he is believed to be Andrew J. The body was turned over to the coroner.

Word has reached Tecumseh of the death of E. W. Kitley, for many years a resident of Red Cloud and later in the shoe business in Tecumseh and in a general merchandise store at Elk Creek, in which in southern Idaho.

Governor A. C. Shallenberger has appointed Messrs. Jess Fouts of Diller and John P. Thiessen of Jansen as delegates to the second annual conservation congress, which convenes in St. Paul, Minn., September 6 to 9.

Kansas City Dispatch: Ward Mower, formerly of Beatrice, Neb., was found guilty of murder in the second degree in the criminal court in Kansas City, Kan. Mower killed Niel Mc Coy in a lonely ravine in Kansas City, Kan., last winter.

From an idea he gained while digging wells, Edward Murray of Lincoln has invented and patented a new type of grab bucket, which may revolutionize methods of excavation and hoisting work on a large scale, as now practiced.

County Superintendent Garland Lewis has just completed his annual report of the different educational sections in Custer county. It shows the schools to be in a flourishing condition with excellent standing. Several new districts have been taken in during the year, making a total of 274.

At Nebraska City Mrs. John Rousch went up stairs with a lamp in her hand to get some medicine. In coming down she tripped and fell, the lamp exploded and the house was soon ablaze. The woman was rescued although slightly burned and the house was saved, but the contents were destroyed.

William Stewart, living several miles south of Hastings, holds the record thus far of the best average yield of wheat in Adams county this year for fifty acres or more. Mr. Stewart finished threshing seventy acres of wheat, which totaled 2,170 bushels or an average of thirty-one bushels per acre.

While digging in the sewer ditches at Hartington E. L. Fleming, laborer was instantly killed by a cave-in.

Postmaster Schneider recently called attention of the postal authorities at Washington that Plattsburgh was over the limit on postal receipts and was entitled to free delivery under the law. He has received word to the effect that a check has been made and that his statement would be sent to look over the situation.

Four days after he had left Dodge, where he had been working on a farm, Joseph Kyskie was arrested in New York city, charged with the murder of a hotel clerk who refused to insert a nickel in a music box at his request. Kyskie had saved up money while working near Dodge to go back to the old country. He went to the Farmers' State bank and ordered a steamship ticket to Europe. When the ticket arrived he decided he did not want to go by that route and acted ugly when the agent demanded his commission on the transaction. He paid it, however, and left for the east, only to get into serious trouble.

Mrs. Eleanor Horne, widow of Colonel O. Horne and a resident of Syracuse for over twenty years, died last week.

J. W. Armstrong, perhaps one of the oldest men in that part of the state, celebrated his ninety-first birthday anniversary at Nebraska City.

Benjamin Austin, a well known farmer who lives west of Tecumseh, was taken to the Lincoln asylum for insane for treatment. Mr. Austin became overbated in the field and became mentally deranged, in fact, violent.

Not in years has the crop prospects in Stanton county been so good as at the present time. Corn is looking extra fine, while the acreage is 30 per cent larger than last year. The lack of rain in May and June will decrease the hay crop about one-third.

The threshing season has begun in this section, says a Republican City dispatch. The yield will be far better than last year, some fields turning out as high as thirty-two bushels per acre. The estimated average yield by many is at least twenty or twenty-two bushels per acre.

H. G. LEISENRING, M. D.

Surgeon and Physician. Static Electricity for chronic diseases. X-ray examinations.

Wayne, Neb.

F. M. THOMAS

Osteopathic Physician. First floor Wayne National Bank building.

Phone, residence 167, office 119.

J. J. WILLIAMS, M. D.

Office in old Wayne Nat'l. Bank Building. Vibratory Treatment given after 7 p. m.

Phone 12. Wayne, Neb.

DR. G. J. GREEN

Dentist. Office over State Bank. Phone 51.

D. D. TOBIAS, M. D. C.

VETERINARIAN. Office over Citizens National Bank.

WAYNE, Neb. Graduate Chicago Veterinary College.

S. A. LUTGEN

Physician and Surgeon. Answers all calls promptly day or night.

Phone No. 30. Wayne, Neb.

A. R. DAVIS

Attorney-at-Law. Over Citizens Bank, Wayne, Neb.

A. NAFFZIGER, M. D.

Office in Mellor Block. Lady in attendance. Hospital accommodations. Dietician.

Phone 65. Wayne, Neb.

I. W. ALTER

Bonded Abstractor. Real Estate and Loans. Insurance-Collections.

Opposite Union hotel, Wayne.

WILL R. O'NEAL, D. V. S.

Graduate Kansas City Veterinary College, Assistant State Veterinarian.

1 doorsouth white barn, phone 253.

John L. Soules

General Auctioneer for city or country sales. Phone connection.

Wayne, Nebraska. Box 398.

Wm. Broscheit

Novelty Repair Shop. Sewing Machines of all kinds cleaned and repaired; razors, knives and scissors ground and sharpened; and shoes also repaired on short notice.

When you want

Anything in the harness line, be sure and see our goods. The largest stock of harness in northern Nebraska. High grade quality, reasonable prices.

Wm. Piepenstock

Central Meat Market. Phone 67.

W. O. Hansen

For fresh and cured meats. We carry nothing but the best and everything is kept neat and clean. Your order will be promptly filled.

Wayne, Neb.

INTERESTING NEWCOMER AT THE LONDON ZOO

FEEDING THE BABY GIRAFFE

London—A baby giraffe, one of the few ever born in captivity, was born the other day in the zoological gardens. When three days old it stood five feet high and loddied about in lively fashion. It has taken to the bottle with avidity though it is not neglected by its mother, a 13-foot Kordofan giraffe. With the exception of a three-year-old brother of the latest arrival, no giraffe has been born in the zoo for a generation.

KEEPING COW QUIET

Milk Affected Where Animal Is Subject to Excitement.

Well-Known Physician Cites Instances Where Headaches Have Been Caused, To Be Obiterated by Weak Tea and Lemon.

London—This milk comes from cows that have been kept calm, excited and in a good temper, will be the guarantee of the honest dairyman of the future.

For milk from excited or irritated cows is, according to the latest scientific opinion, more immediately, though transiently, harmful than when it contains disease germs.

The reason is this: a well known physician declared recently, "When a cow is subjected to unpleasant emotions, such as temper, fear or sulking, the blood throws out toxins. In the milk secreted has the same effect, and this is the cause of the bitter taste in the mouth after such experiences."

Now, these poisonous bodies are eliminated from the blood by means of the various secretory organs of the body, among which are the salivary glands, and that is why their presence is detected by the taste.

In the case of milk cows a definite percentage of the sum of the toxins caused by fright, bad temper or irritability reaches the milk, and in extreme cases will cause it to go bad much before the normal time.

Patients frequently call upon me and complain that their health, though not radically bad, fluctuates unpleasantly in a way that they can only define as "nervous" slight, but very unpleasant, liver ailments.

In listening to their descriptions of their symptoms, I have been struck by the fact that many complain that very often they come down to breakfast feeling very fit and hungry after a vigorous cold tubbing, but half an hour after that meal are not well.

There are sensations of headache rather than real headache; unpleasant heart palpitations, sluggishness of thought and a sense of irritability.

PAYS BILL AFTER 46 YEARS

Woman Tells Mansfield (O.) Firm She Does Not Want to Die in Debt.

New York—Mrs. Carrie L. Bouries of Mansfield, N. J., was living in Mansfield 46 years ago. She was a widow with one son, without much money. She bought five dollars' worth of goods at a store there and said she would pay for them when she could.

This was agreed to by Black Bros., the proprietors. A few days ago Mrs. Bouries sent the firm a letter, inclosing the five dollars, which read in part: "I could have sent this money some years ago, but I felt that I should also send the interest. My son has since died, and now I find that I am only able to pay the principal. I hope that some day I may be able to pay the interest. I am now seventy-six years old and realize that I have not much time left."

DIES LAUGHING AT A JOKE

Heart Failure Causes Death of Jolliest Member of Maryland Merry Making Party.

Baltimore, Md.—Just one minute after laughing heartily over a joke that was sprung by one of his companions, Antonio Zeltvogel, 48 years of age, of 516 South Bentall street, gasped slightly and expired. Zeltvogel was visiting his friend, Michael Mackinnon, on South Bruce street.

The dying youth he, with several other men, was swapping stories. Zeltvogel had just concluded a story, and another member had stepped up to narrate a good one.

When he finished Zeltvogel roared with laughter. Suddenly his face became discolored and he gasped for breath. "Alarmed," the other men jumped up to aid him, but before they could reach him Zeltvogel was dead from heart failure.

The study of approval is kept to come from those who are well headed.

COTTON SEED FLOUR

Wholesome Substitute for Meat, Says State Chemist of Texas.

As Manufactured in Lone Star State Can Be Used as Human Food, Is Professional and Scientific Opinion of Dr. Fraps.

College Station, Tex.—That cotton seed flour, as manufactured by the cotton oil mills of Texas, can be used as a human food is the professional and scientific opinion of Dr. G. S. Fraps, state chemist of Texas.

In explaining what cotton seed flour is, Dr. Fraps states that it is cotton seed meal which has been especially treated so as to remove the hulls as thoroughly as possible. It is finely ground, of a bright yellow color and with pleasant odor and sweetish taste.

According to the investigation made by the state chemist, the following longer to live, but I don't want to die with any debts unpaid."

She received a receipted bill for her money the other day. Nothing was said about the interest. It was only by the dint of hard work that she was able to pay the five dollars.

Topless Potatoes.

Lewisburg, Pa.—Parks Murtiff, owner of the St. Charles hotel, operates a farm in the vicinity of Burnham park, and his farmer called him over and informed him that he was growing topless potatoes.

An investigation proved that two rows, supposed to have been early rose seed, were absolutely without sign of stalks; yet there are roots with potatoes the size of large shellbarks in the rows.

The farmer says it's a good thing, as it will fool the bugs.

Starts an Electrical Farm

Former New York Judge Improves on German Idea and His Plants Rush Season.

New York.—The newest thing in scientific soil sifting is the "electric farm." Ex-Judge Thomas H. Williams of Brooklyn is making the experiment.

He has purchased a two-acre plot at East Northport, L. I., on which he is trying to grow crops with the aid of electricity.

While the general scientific is not generally new, Mr. Williams thinks he has improved on the methods employed by experimenters' near Dresden, Germany. There the electric currents were passed through atmosphere surrounding young plants. It was found that while the growth was accelerated to a slight extent, it was not enough to warrant the expense of the electrical equipment.

Mr. Williams has strung wires on poles about a dozen feet above the ground to which seeds are planted.

These wires combine high amperage and low voltage. Windmills are used to generate the electricity. Part of the current is run into the storage batteries for use when there is no wind to work the mills. Mr. Williams tried the scheme first on a small plot at Central Slip, L. I. He is said to have advanced the growth of his alfalfa three weeks. He is now experimenting on a larger scale.

Rat Steals Hen's Eggs.

Potterburg, Ind.—A sitting hen at Charles Ferridge's, just west of town, has been losing the eggs placed under her, and only one remained.

Berridge kept close watch on the hen, and saw a large rat sneak to the nest, go under the hen, and soon appear with the egg which it rolled into a hole near the poultry house.

An excavation was made and the shells of 15 eggs, all that had been placed under the hen, were found in the rat hole.

CHILDREN KEEP DEATH SECRET SEVERAL WEEKS

GIRL SAYS SHE AND COMPANIONS SAW BOY DROWN. THEN DENIES HAVING TOLD.

New York—A strange situation arose recently in Flushing, L. I., through the mysterious drowning of five-year-old Willie Rivers of No. 32 Washington street, who met death in Flushing creek and whose body was found nine days afterward in Flushing bay. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rivers, his parents, have been investigating to learn whether the boy met with foul play. Civic organizations offered rewards and detectives have been working.

Mrs. Rivers was informed that her son was with five other children when he was drowned and that he lost his life through a childish prank. If the story is true five children carried the secret of her son's death locked in their hearts for an entire month, while the entire community was aroused.

Alda Rivers, ten-year-old sister of the drowned boy, told her mother that Irene Howell, five years old, of No. 64 Washington street, said she had seen Willie drown and she had caused his death without meaning to do so.

This was the story Irene Howell told Mrs. Rivers:

"I was with Willie when he was drowned. So were Anna Hayden, her brothers Sylvester and Thomas and Ida Stocking. First we went to pick violets. Then we went to the ice house docks at Lawrence street and Broadway. We were chased away from there and went to the Jackson avenue dump. We found an old boat in the creek tied to a post and went on to play.

"We were lying flat on the boat, waving sticks in the water, when I yelled, just for fun: 'Look, there's a big fish!' Willie jumped up, scared, and the boat rocked and threw him into the creek. The rest of us were frightened and ran away."

"What did Willie say when he fell into the water?" asked Mrs. Rivers.

"He cried 'Mamma! Mamma!'" answered Irene.

When Mrs. Rivers asked Irene why she and the other children had kept this important information secret Irene replied:

"My mother told me she'd whip me if I told any one."

Mrs. Warren Howell, mother of Irene, heard of her daughter's story. She took Irene to the Rivers home and there questioned the girl in the presence of Mrs. Rivers and a reporter.

"Did you tell Mrs. Rivers you saw her boy drown?" demanded Mrs. Howell.

"Yes, mamma," responded Irene.

"No, I was fooling her," replied the child.

"Did I say I would whip you if you told any one about this?"

"No, I thought it was smart."

Irene then said that she had been with Willie on the morning he was drowned, but did not go to the creek with him.

Mrs. Hayden, mother of Anna, Sylvester and Thomas, also brought her children to the Rivers home to deny the story told by Irene. Anna Hayden admitted she had been with Willie in the violet field, at the ice dock and at the drawbridge, but asserted she and Irene had come home before Willie was drowned. Both Anna and Irene said Ida Stocking was with Willie when they were out, but that Thomas and Sylvester were not.

Ida Stocking, who lives at No. 61 Main street, said she had been with Willie Rivers, but not when he was drowned.

Mrs. Rivers is ill with worry. Added to the shock of losing her son, the many stories that have been brought to her have so worked upon her nerves that she is in a state of collapse.

How He Felt.

"You are never pleased at anything I play on the piano," said the angry wife.

"No, you are quite right," replied the husband.

"If I set the piano fire and played the hose on it I don't suppose you'd be satisfied."

"No, I think I'd rather have you let it burn,"—Yonkers Statesman.

The Right Way.

"What do you think of that aviator couple's making their wedding trip in an aeroplane?"

"Very appropriate."

"How?"

"Aren't lovers always in the clouds?"

New Yell.

"I've forgotten all about the yellow peril!"

"Well, since I left college and discarded my rooting clothes I likewise have forgotten the yell apparatus."

A Geographical Fact.

"I would lay the world at your feet!" exclaimed Baron Puchah.

"Don't trouble yourself!" replied Miss Dolanston. "It's already there."

FOR THE LANDSMAN WHO GOES TO SEA

By LEONARD K. HIRSTBERG, A. B. M. D.

Adjectives and His have three degrees—save one. Seasick and seasickness are always in the superlative. Even a "light touch" is agony to the victim, and to him is just as bad as the worst case ever suffered by mortal.

And yet, in itself, seasickness is no more dangerous than a stubbed toe, and not nearly as terrible in its possible effects as a severe bump of the knee. For the knee is one of the most sensitive portions of the anatomy, while the much-abused, yet patient, stomach can stand a lot of bad treatment.

Just what the percentage of average travelers is who succumb to seasickness savants have neglected to figure, but a conservative may place it at about 90 per cent.

So, when statistical steamship agents tell you that probably 400,000 persons travel by boat on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the great lakes each year, you can easily compute the number of seasick sufferers at 360,000 personal.

And seasickness is no respecter of persons—prince and pauper, young and old, man and woman, all alike suffer from its pangs. Even animals feel it, and feel it sorely, while some persons never outgrow it, no matter how often they go to sea.

Sailing out of port on regular trips are more than half a dozen well-known navigators who "pay tribute to Neptune," as it is euphemistically expressed, every time they strike deep water. The attack does not last long with these victims, but it is doubly conspicuous because of their position.

As every one knows, seasickness is caused by the motion of a vessel at sea, but just how the motion acts on the bodily organism is still an open question.

According to some authorities, the violent and unaccustomed movements of the stomach produce gastric disturbances, and these disturbances cause vomiting. By other's the theory is advanced that the center of disturbance is the central nervous system, which becomes demoralized by the strange impressions striking the eyes.

Circulation in the medulla oblongata is impeded, say still others, with the result that a sort of storm develops in the nerve controlling the stomach. Flung, however, over that the imagination is much to blame, or that the brain itself is shocked, or that muscular fatigue, caused by efforts to maintain one's balance, is the real cause of the trouble.

On the whole, probably all of these things help. At all events, it makes no difference to the sufferer, and you may select your own cause when you next travel on the briny.

But the first symptoms are somewhat alarming. Comes a faint sense of giddiness; a creepy, chilly feeling of light-headedness. Ofttimes a perspiration breaks out on hands and forehead; your stomach seems sinking—and then comes nausea.

Regardless of the direction of the wind, the victim rushes to the side of the ship and gives up his last meal. Tears fill his eyes and his face grows white and his whole body becomes cold and clammy.

Hanging painfully to a stanchion, the sufferer votes not the passage of time nor cares for the coming of eternity. He is paralyzed, overcome by the pangs of a nameless, maddening terror. Then kind hands lay hold on him and lead him to his cabin, where he lies in most object misery for periods varying from 24 hours to the length of the voyage, be it six days or sixteen.

Sometimes, however, nausea does not develop, and this kind of sickness is described by its victims as even worse than that in which one gives up all within him. As the nauseated sufferers say that their form is the worse, the question is still open for discussion.

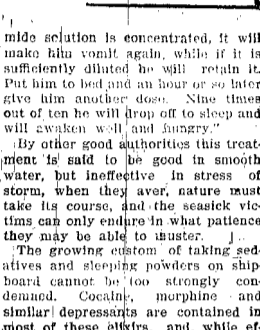

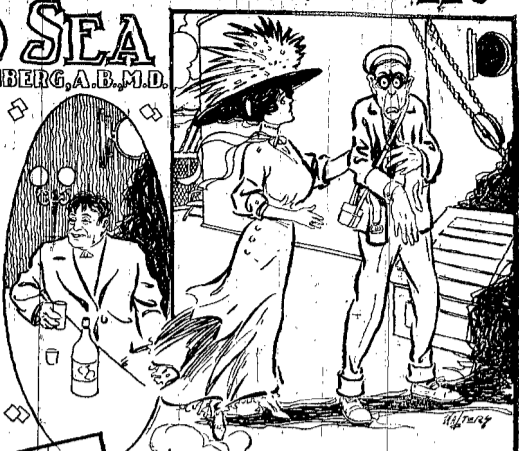

At all events, no pang known to terra firma equals in sheer terror and misery the despairing, lost sensation of the seasick. First, say those who know where they speak, the victim harbors a horrible fear that he is going to die. In the next stage he becomes apathetic and doesn't care a playance whether he dies or not; in the third stage he hopes that he will die, and prays for surcease from suffering.

"Please throw me overboard," is the plea frequently urged upon sea captains by unhappy sufferers, and at the time they really mean it.

Finally, the victim fears that he will not die, and longs for strength to enable him to rush to the side and hurl himself into the depths of ocean.

Far from being a dangerous affliction, however, seasickness is beneficial in many cases, and a large majority of travelers are improved in health, rather than harmed, by the complete rest and assistance it enforces.

People who never are seasick, in a variable cut too much at sea, the salt, crisp air whetting their appetites and the luxurious bills of fare tempting their palates and stomachs to over-indulgence in good things. But the victims of seasickness cannot eat, and an occasional fast is a mighty good thing for the system.

As far as is known, no one ever died of seasickness, although frequently this cause is ascribed in reports of the death of travelers. In practically all such cases, however, some organic disease has been the real cause, and not the simple seasickness itself.

For example, a woman last summer was carried ashore from an Atlantic liner, unconscious and dying, after suffering from seasickness for the two weeks of the voyage. When the cause of her death was ascribed to exhaustion, following mal-de-mer, but the truth soon was demonstrated that she had been hopelessly ill with a heart malady when she had set sail.

Some veteran traveler once counted one thousand and one alleged remedies for seasickness, but as the end was not in sight he stopped counting and roughly guessed that there must be ten thousand and ten. And each is as good as the other—or as useless. Still, each satisfies the patient's will yearning to take something for it, and so eases his mind and contributes to his ease and his man's orderliness in some degree to a sort of faith cure. A glass of water given to a nervous woman relieves her immensely, if she is led to believe it contains in solution some subtle and powerful specific.

So, too, with preventive measures; they are as numerous as the vain imaginings of man. Some are absurd and others may really be useful. As a general rule, a landsman preparing for a voyage should prepare by taking, for two or three days before sailing, some mild aperient, preferably one of the less-arid bitter waters. The sea air has the peculiar effect of impeding the intestinal functions of most persons, and the aperient serves to counteract this tendency.

As soon as the first symptom of discomfort strikes you, retire to your cabin and lie down—stretching at full length on the couch. Lie on your side, with your face to the wall and close your eyes. If you use any pillow, let it be a flat one, so that your head may not be elevated. Then try to sleep.

Should this treatment ease you and relieve you, give reverent thanks, and prevent. If however, nausea develops, prepare yourself for the worst of suffering and console yourself with the thought that "you are not the only one."

While the bromides, chloral, cocaine, chloroform and other drugs are useful in combating some of the more violent symptoms of seasickness, none should be taken without the advice of the ship's surgeon. Various wines and liquors also are recommended by certain authorities, but to be effective they must be taken in large quantities. And the relief is only temporary, the patient becoming gloriously drunk and sleeping off his "bun," only to wake up to renewed illness and nausea.

In some cases, however, champagne is really effective in relieving violent nausea, the effect being due to its carbonic acid gas, and practically the same result may be obtained by the use of soda water.

Best of all, say some surgeons of wide experience, is the plan of permitting the initial vomiting to continue.

"Leave the patient alone in his intention for a couple of hours," said one veteran to the writer. "By that time his stomach will be empty. Then give him a goblet of warm water, which rest and will at once be ejected. After that another goblet of a dram of bromide of potassium in as large a quantity of water as he can swallow. If the bromide solution is concentrated, it will make him vomit again, while if it is sufficiently diluted he will retain it. Put him to bed and an hour or so later give him another dose. Nine times out of ten he will drop off to sleep and will awaken well and hungry."

By other good authorities this treatment is said to be good in smooth water, but ineffective in stress of storm, when they aver, nature must take its course, and the seasick victims can only endure in what patience they may be able to muster.

The growing custom of taking sedatives and sleeping powders on shipboard cannot be too strongly condemned. Cocaine, morphine and similar depressants are contained in most of these elixirs, and while effective enough when administered by a regular physician, such things are extremely risky when employed in an unscientific, haphazard manner. While morphine may make a person sleep, its other effects are often disastrous, and in many persons it excites vomiting rather than abates it. In consequence, the prudent voyager will steer clear of all "bracers" that contain it.

So, too, are cocaine, chloral and chloroform (and similar "remedies") open to largely the same objection, albeit it is the theory of those who recommend them that they deaden the abnormal sensitiveness of the stomach lining and thus stop the vomiting. This may be all very true, but also it is true that their effects are not limited to the stomach, while, further than this, with healthy persons the vomiting of seasickness is by no means alarming. Indeed, severe "retching" without vomiting, is often more painful and harmful than the vomiting, and fully as disagreeable.

"Hot water for mine when I'm seasick," says one man, and, "Hot, black coffee for mine," says another, and there you are.

A list of all remedies for seasickness would fill a large book, and would include all the bromides, anodynes, narcotics, opiates and anesthetics, to say nothing of a thousand and one other fearsome things. Besides there is a long list of mechanical devices for the prevention or cure of seasickness. Some persons use tight belts and others are addicted to foot bags on their backs, while another relies upon massage. Yet none of these measures has a sound theory to back it, and none has been found generally efficacious.

Some persons are always seasick, no matter how many voyages they make; others have never been seasick and never will be, no matter how stormy the weather. May you be one of the latter number.

WORDS OF MASTER OF SATIRE

George Bernard Shaw at His Best in Answer to Invitation of Frenchmen.

Rodin's Parisian friends gave him a luncheon in recognition of his promotion to the rank of grand cross of the Legion of Honor. G. B. Shaw, whom the French papers call merely an English humorist, declined an invitation to attend, saying he himself was already assured of immortality, as the encyclopedias will henceforth catalogue him; "Shaw, subject of a bust by Rodin; otherwise unknown."

Shaw concludes: "To entertain Rodin seems to me to be rather presumptuous. It is as if Adam, after the seven days of creation, had offered a snuffbox to the Almighty with the remark: 'My congratulations! It's quite nicely done.' Personally I do not dare, but I trust Rodin will forgive my country, so he must be accustomed to it by now."

What He Wished to Know.

"Here's an article in this magazine entitled: 'How to Meet Trouble,'" said Mrs. Wedderly. "Shall I read it to you?"

"No, thank you," replied his wife's husband. "How to dodge trouble is the brand of information I'm looking for."

Avoiding Attention.

"You look sweet enough to kiss."

"Well, here is a railway station."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"Stupid! We'll go in there, and when a train comes in I will rush up to you and throw myself into your arms."

It is him. "So you like my doughnuts, do you?"

"No, madam, it ain't that," said the tramp. "Me and some friends down in the holler wants to have a game of quails."

Three Acts and An Injunction.

"Has Mullet secured a copyright on his frisky comedy?"

"He gets the injunction first."

"What injunction?"

"The injunction to prevent the poet from stopping the performance."

LIKED THEIR WEIGHT

Edward H. R. Green, the son of the richest woman in the world, is a bachelor. "The reason why I am a bachelor," said Mr. Green to a St. Louis reporter, "is that I'm so big that I can't disguise myself sufficiently to pose as a poor man. In any one person I'm afraid of being married for the wrong reason. I'm afraid lest, like the lady with the doughnuts, I may be the victim of ulterior and insulting motives. The lady I refer to, after assisting a tramp, received another visit an hour later from the same man. 'Madam,' he said, 'you gave me three doughnuts a while back. Would you mind adding another one to make it four?' Gladly, said the lady, all smiles, and she wrapped a doughnut in a newspaper and handed it to him. "So you like my doughnuts, do you?"

"No, madam, it ain't that," said the tramp. "Me and some friends down in the holler wants to have a game of quails."

Leander Clark
Real Estate
2205 Central Avenue,
Kearney, Nebraska

I will give a few of our bargains just to show how they run in prices. If you fail to find what suits you, do not think I am unable to furnish it, for I have anything in the way of farm, ranches, city property, sell small tracts of land near Kearney. I keep the best for the money and at the lowest prices and easiest terms. Office at 2205 Central Avenue, Kearney, Nebraska.

No. 1. A very fine half section, 3 miles from Odessa. 220 acres of choice level farm land in a fine state of cultivation; 9 or 10 acres in alfalfa; 2000 sq. ft. of buildings; some hog pasture; 50 acres of pasture, well fenced; telephone in the house; fine well, mill and tank; best of soil. Price $10,000. Easy terms.

No. 2. A fine 240 acre valley farm, 3 miles from Sumner and 5 miles from Eddyville. Good to school; all fenced and cross fenced for hogs and cattle into six fields; 500 feet of underground water; good 200 barrel cistern; new buildings, good frame barn, double granary and horse crib, well fenced, one and one-half story 2 1/2 acre alfalfa, 50 acres of winter wheat. You must see this farm. Price, $12,000.

No. 3. 400 acres two miles from Eddyville, Nebraska, 100 acres under plow, 250 acres fenced and ready for alfalfa, 200 acres of timber and timber, plenty of timber for fuel and posts, good road to town, pasture land to rolling, but farm land is mostly level and best of soil. $30 per acre.

No. 4. A quarter section two and one-half miles from Eddyville, Neb., 80 acres in cultivation, 20 in pasture, farm land level, good deep soil, new frame house, well, mill and tank; other buildings. A fine stock and grain farm. Price, $40 per acre.

No. 5. 240 acres not excelled in the country; the finest of improvements; and abundance of game ducks and tame grapes; 24 fine bearing cherry trees; 40 apple trees of best variety; 25 acres alfalfa; this farm sold for $100 story 2 1/2 acre alfalfa, 50 acres of winter wheat. A fine price for this a short time at $75 per acre.

No. 6. A fine Wood River section, well improved, two miles from Riverdale, 12 miles from Kearney, 40 acres in alfalfa, 200 acres of plow; fine school house; can be divided and purchased. Have choice of halves for $75, or the whole section for $70 per acre.

No. 7. A fine 20 acre highly improved farm 3 miles from Ashland, Neb., 30 miles from Omaha, 25 miles from Lincoln; 60 acres under plow, 15 in meadow and balance orchard, house, and barn; 14 horses, granary and hay mow, hog house, chicken house, tool house, two wells, and tank; good care and other improvements; good drive and plenty of all kinds of fruit. Price, $80 per acre.

No. 8. 100 acres in Clay county, three and one-half miles, 4 miles and 7 miles from DeWaver, 50 acres in alfalfa, 200 acres of plow; good 8 room house, 6-horse stable, well, mill, good crib 12x42 with 10 and 12 foot posts; 2 acres hog tight buildings all well painted, grove, hay house, close to churches, school, and other town land, rich black soil, in corn field, 90 acres in grain, 10 in alfalfa, 10 in wild hay meadow, corn yield 75 bushels an acre; last year, balance in pasture; fenced and cross fenced. Other improvements not mentioned. Price, $12,000. Easy terms.

No. 9. Here is a great bargain. Half section of improved land half mile from small railroad station, 1 1/2 miles to Paxton, 30 miles from North Platte; 220 acres under ditch with plenty of water. Can sell this for $40 per acre and take small home in Kearney or any good town.

No. 10. Fine section in Kimball county and 90 per cent level farm land, best of soil, easy terms. $7,400 for 349 acres.

No. 11. A chance of a life time. 130 acres choice level land, good improvements, 200 acres under plow; 100 in alfalfa this year, yield 4000 bushels; 50 horse frame barn, all good buildings; 150 acres alfalfa, 3 apples, 3 cherries, 3 tanks; plenty of lead, gravel, fenced and cross fenced. Worth $30 but offer it at $20 an acre.

No. 12. Choice level, well improved farm, half mile from good town. $25 per acre; easy terms.

No. 13. A fine quarter of 50 per acre 3 1/2 miles to Riverdale; 100 acres level farm land; 2 horse barn, some house, best soil, good well, tank and other improvements. A bargain.

No. 14. Fine table quarter 1 1/2 miles from Kearney, close to three other good towns, new house, 4-horse stable, hay shed, well, mill, tank, 120 under cultivation, level and fenced. $60 per acre.

No. 15. A few choices well improved quarters near Buda for $10000 acres.

No. 16. One of the best in the county, seven room house, this cellar, 15 horse barn, 24x24 double granary and corn crib, frame cattle shed, hog house, chicken house, good mill, tank, and elevated tank with pipe to crops, 12 acres alfalfa, 14 under plow, 12 in alfalfa, 12 in corn field, 7 1/2 miles to Kearney, 5 miles to Gibson, all buildings new. Price $100.

No. 17. A very choice valley farm 4 miles from Kearney, well improved, no waste land, corn will make this season 50 bushels per acre, plenty of timber in grove, never fails in crops. Price $100 per acre.

These farms are selling; buy while you can get them; do not wait until all are picked up by a man who knows a bargain. The shrewd buyers take these bargains while they are to be had. This is only a partial list. Snaps in western land at Grant, Sidney, Venango, Julesburg, and other points. Waiting to see what the other fellow will do loses many good bargains.

The Wayne Herald
The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County
Entered at the postoffice at Wayne, Nebraska as second class mail matter
Herald Publishing Co.,
A. E. WOODRUFF, Editor.
Official paper of Wayne and Wayne County
Published Every Thursday
Subscription, $1.50 a Year
Telephone No. 146

ANNOUNCEMENT
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of County Commissioner from the third district in Wayne county, subject to the approval of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held Tuesday, August 16, 1910.
GEO. S. FARRAN.

ANNOUNCEMENT
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of Representative from the district comprising Wayne and Stanton counties, subject to the approval of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held Tuesday, August 16, 1910.
Respectfully submitted,
W. P. ROONEY,
Wayne, Nebr.

ANNOUNCEMENT
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of State Senator from the Eleventh Senatorial District, subject to the approval of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held Tuesday, August 16, 1910.
Respectfully submitted,
CHAS. McLEOD,
Stanton, Nebr.

NEWS, NOTATIONS, NOTIONS

WRITTEN, CREDITED, STOLEN

Items Relating to People, Events, and Different Things.

Dixon will hold its annual harvest home picnic August 5.

The waterworks improvements at Hartington are to cost $8,300.

The old settlers of Burt county will reunite at Tekamah August 31.

The Stanton county fair will be held this year September 13 to 15.

Mrs. J. Sullivan, a pioneer resident of Dixon, is dead at the age of sixty-five years.

The way to stop your wife's eternal nagging you for money is to give her some.

The Cuming county teachers' institute will be held at West Point August 8 to 10.

The Cedar County Republicans, in convention assembled, declared in favor of county option.

The dates for the fall festival at Wausa have been changed to August 31 and September 1.

The pastoral relations of Rev. Gehret with the Wakefield Presbyterian church has been dissolved.

Rev. Wood, pastor of the Baptist church at Hartington, has resigned and will go south about October 1.

Tekamah has let the contracts for a new school building to cost complete $29,111, to be finished by January 1, 1911.

Hartington proposes to spend $22,000 in 1911 on the town. They ought to get something for that amount of money.

At Colebridge considerable stir and bad blood is being engendered by the question as to whether or not a pool hall shall be run.

William Earwood, whose parents reside at Randolph, was killed at Boise, Idaho, last Thursday in a head on collision on an inter-urban railway.

The Winsome Tribune thinks that if the same vote could be gotten out at the primaries as at the general election, Shallenberger would beat Dahlman five to one.

William Reed's free plate matter campaign for congress does not seem to be panning out very well. He would be a two for a cent congressman if his feature of his campaign is any criterion.

Farmers in the southeastern part of Cuming county have formed an organization the purpose of which is to handle for themselves in the market the advantageous way the products of the farm and to buy farm necessities.

The August issue of WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION is the much heralded "Good Time Number," devoted to mid-summer enjoyment, indoors and out. The regular departments and the fiction are all full of the good time idea.

Hartington has outstanding $7000 in school bonds, Coleridge and Laurel each $15,000, Randolph $9,300, Magnolia $10,000, Eelden $10,000 and district $91,000. The latter district has recently put up two modern school houses. Other districts have smaller amounts outstanding.

Only $500 in school bonds were issued in Cedar county during the year ending June 30. They were issued by the new district number 99 to pay for a new school house. The amount was not sufficient to put up the building, but the law deprives the district of the right to issue more than $500 bonds for this purpose.

The Burt County Herald says: "Senator Aldrich has done something for the people. There is a movement to make him governor on the republican ticket. Why not?" There does not seem to be any good reason why he should not be given the nomination. His record in the legislature is a good one, he is a clean man, and well fitted for the position.

The Call and Leader at Pierce are working a long drawn out, wordy quarrel (yes, that is nothing but words) as to whether or not a man at Ottumwa, Iowa, failed of reappointment as postmaster of that city. We do not believe their readers care two bits whether he did or did not, or whether such a man as Clark ever lived.

Yesterday died at midnight; it has gone into the measureless past. Today is the living, pulsing present to be taken joyfully into our hearts and made the most of. Tomorrow is a wonderful opportunity yet unborn; blow up the powers that are in you and grasp its possibilities by the forelock.

Dr. Lansing informs the Republican that he must make another move, his office in the country being a half mile in on the fifteen mile radius. The distance to his country office has been measured and been found to be fourteen and one-half miles from Wakefield, instead of fifteen miles as the doctor thought it was when he fitted it up on the Von Seggern place.—Wakefield Republican.

To Remove Coffee Stains
"Coffee-stains, even when cream has been put in the coffee," says WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION for August, "may be removed from table linen by rubbing the spots with pure glycerin. Rinse afterward in lukewarm water."

Feel languid, weak, run-down? Headache? Stomach "off"?—Just a plain case of lazy liver. Burdock Blood Bitters tones liver and stomach, promotes digestion, purifies the blood.

Best of Compliments.
Attention is a tacit and continual compliment.—Swechhine.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. Felber's Pharmacy.

Glasses for the Wine.
The custom of setting several glasses for each kind of wine before each guest belongs to the nineteenth century. In the eighteenth century the glasses were dipped, at each new wine, into small earthenware vessels filled with water, which were placed on the table within the reach of all the guests.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gently stimulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system, cure constipation and sick headache. Sold by all dealers.

Changed His Mind.
"You folks used to have a justice out here who was noted for his vindictiveness toward scorching automobilists," says the visitor to the suburbanite. "What's become of him? Has he retired from office?" "No," explained the native, "but you see, he saved enough from his fees last year to buy himself a roadster."

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. E. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

Barber Establishes Record.
A barber of Broken Hill, in Australia, in an attempt to lower the world's record, shaved 18 men in 14 minutes and 3 seconds, an average of 46 seconds each. The report doesn't say what his victims thought of the operation.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by all dealers.

One of Two Ways.
His divorced wife dying, her ex-husband weds her. Immediately she gets well. Either that woman loves the man to death and wants to live for him or she's just made up her mind to get well now that she's got him again and hand the cuss some of the discipline he escaped by divorcing her.

When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the bowels become deranged, the liver and the kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases. The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

St. Veronica's Handkerchief.
"The Handkerchief of Saint Veronica" created a sensation as a pictorial phenomenon, the Saviour's eyes appearing to open and close. It was painted by Gabriel Max, a German historical painter of the Munich school, in 1874.

Your Car Fare Paid to Quinn, S. D.
Quinn, South Dakota, is located in the best farming part of Pennington county, between Pierre and Rapid City. Good land for sale, at $20 to $30 an acre. Now is the time to buy for a home or an investment. Cut out this ad. and take it with you to FURNAS, THE LAND MAN, at Quinn, and he will pay your car fare from your town to Quinn, if you buy land of him.

A Few Short Weeks
Mr. J. S. Bartel, Edwardsville, Ill., writes: "A few months ago my kidneys became congested, I had severe backache and pain across the kidneys and hips. Foley's Kidney Pills promptly cured my backache and corrected the action of my kidneys. This was brought about after my using them for only a few short weeks and I can cheerfully recommend them." Felber's Pharmacy.

Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is quickly relieved by the free application of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It has relieved more pain and suffering and saved more lives than any other medicine in use. Invaluable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

Rather a Hard Dip.
One of the candidates for admission to the Primitive Methodist ministry in New Zealand this year is a young man who usually appears in public in Highland costume. And, according to a Maori paper, when his application came before the conference it was accepted, "on condition that he assumes civilized dress!"

Hay Fever and Asthma
Bring discomfort and misery to many people but Foley's Honey and Tar gives ease and comfort to the suffering ones. It relieves the congestion in the head and throat and is soothing and healing. None genuine but Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package. Felber's Pharmacy.

Rubber in South America.
The town of Para, the center of the rubber industry of the Amazon, is on the River Guama, about a hundred miles from the sea, but the Para district extends over a large region to the south and west. Throughout this and the forests of central and northern Brazil rubber trees are abundant.

"Is Life Worth Saving?"
Mrs. Mollie McRaney, Prentiss, Miss., writes that she had a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble, and that four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cured her sound and well. She closes her letter by saying: "I heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to any sufferer of kidney disease. It saved my life."

Wanted—A Drawing Card.
"Hold, man! What would you do?" "I would die! From this bridge I will leap into you mighty current and end it all—!"
"Heavens! But if you must, wait 20 minutes until I can send for my moving picture machine; this will make a corking film."

Must Be Above Suspicion
Kidney and bladder ailments are so serious in their consequences, and if unchecked so often fatal that any remedy offered for their cure must be above suspicion. Foley's Kidney Pills contain no harmful drugs, and have successfully stood a long and thorough test. Felber's Pharmacy.

Stumped the Pastor.
A Connecticut pastor was questioning a boy pupil of the Sunday school. The lad answered greatly to the satisfaction of the good man, but finally the latter was stumped when the youngster made his last reply. "What commandment, my son, did Adam break when he ate the apple?" asked the pastor. "Please, sir," returned the boy, "there were no commandments at that time."

Foley Kidney Pills Have Cured Me
The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. M. Winkler, Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and pained me. I seemed to have lost all strength and ambition; was bothered with dizzy spells, my head would swim and specks float before my eyes. I took Foley's Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. "Foley's Kidney Pills have cured me." Felber's Pharmacy.

Notice To Non-resident Defendant
To Henry A. Blunt:
You are hereby notified that on the 9th day of April, 1910, Bessie Blunt filed her petition against you in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, the object and prayer of which was to obtain a divorce from you on the ground that you have grossly, cruelly and wantonly refused and neglected to provide support and maintenance for plaintiff, although of sufficient ability so to do, and have willfully abandoned plaintiff without good cause for more than two years last past.
You are required to answer said petition on or before Monday the 22nd day of August, 1910.
BESSIE BLUNT, Plaintiff.
7 14 4
By A. R. Davis, Her Attorney.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS
Do Not Endanger Life When A Wayne Citizen Shows You the Cure
Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary complaint, lameness, headach, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids when a certain cure is offered them?
Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.
If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Wayne testimony:
W. H. Hoguewood, of Wayne, Nebraska, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief to a member of my family from a severe case of kidney trouble and rheumatism that had caused much suffering. I highly recommend this excellent remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PILES-FISTULA
PAY WHEN CURED
ABRECTAL DISEASES cured without a surgical operation and GUARANTEED to last a lifetime. No Chloroform, Ether or other general anaesthetics used. Write for FREE BOOK FREE.
DR. E. R. TARRY,
224 No. 3rd Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

TRADE AT THE German Store
TODAY

SPECIAL BARGAIN OPPORTUNITY

20 per cent Discount on all Summer Wash Goods in plain and figured. Now is your time to buy summer goods.	20 per cent Discount on all White Petticoats, Muslin Night Robes, Corset Covers, Gowns Undergarments for Ladies and Children.	20 per cent Discount on all Embroideries and Lace. We have a large stock of very pretty patterns in wide and narrow.
20 per cent Discount on all Ladies' Dress Skirts. These are not old ones but new, in black, brown, navy blue.	20 per cent Discount on Ladies' Shirt Waists. A nice lot to pick from.	20 per cent Discount on all Ladies' Men's and Children's Ox-fords in black and white.

We do not claim to sell merchandise at cost nor do we claim that we are losing money on the sales we make, but we do claim that we are selling honest merchandise. We are having this sale as we have too large a stock and want to make room for our large NEW FALL STOCK that is arriving soon. This store is just like your best friend. Try it out and you'll find honest goods, honest store methods, painstaking and careful service, prices fair and just, marked in plain figures, the same to you and everybody. Test the value of such a store acquaintance, it will prove its worth in many ways. The acquaintance proving worthy will be a lasting one. Won't you come and form it today. Your child will buy as good as you will yourself.

Highest Prices Paid for Produce
Furchner, Warner & Co
The German Store

Clasen & Nelson Brothers,
Contractors, Carpenters, and Builders.
C. Clasen President and General Manager. D. C. Nelson, Vice Pres. and Supt.
C. R. Nelson, Secretary and Treasurer
PROPRIETORS

Ideal Concrete Stone Works
Wayne, Nebraska

Manufacturer of all kinds of Solid and Hollow Concrete Building Blocks, Window Sills, Cornice Stone, Chimney Caps, Stone Veneering, Stone Coping, Porch Columns, Porch Columns, Stone Steps, Lawn Curbing, Cellar Floors, Concrete Foundations, Concrete Water Tanks, Burial Vaults, Concrete Fence Posts, Foot Scrapers.
In fact we will make anything you want in the Cement or Concrete Stone line, and put same up for you at reasonable prices. Contracts taken for the complete construction of buildings of all kinds, plans and estimates cheerfully furnished. All orders receive prompt attention. Come in and see our samples of what can be done in Cement and Concrete. Let us know your wants and supply your needs. All work positively guaranteed first-class.
Shop one door east of Wayne creamery. Phones: Shop, No. 200; Residence, No. 180. P. O. Box No. 452, Wayne, Nebraska.
Let us have your orders for Building Stone early, as it takes from four to six weeks to cure concrete stone so that it can be used without injury, and each one will have to take their turn as orders come in.