RESULT OF THE PRIMARIES

DAHLMAN WINS NOMINATION

Aldrich Defeats Cady for Republican Nomination for Governor—Boyd Beats Brian.

THE WINNERS:

E. J. Burkett, republican nominee for United States senator. Gilbert F. Hitchcock, democratic nominee for United States senator.

C. H. Aldrich, republican nominee for governor. Jas. Dahlman, democratic nominee for governor.

J. F. Boyd, republican nominee for congress in Third district.

James P. Latta, democratic nominee for congress in Third district.

Chas. McLeod, republican nominee for senator, Eleventh district. P. H. Kohl, democratic nominee for senator, Eleventh district.

William Prince, republican nominee for representative, Seventeenth district.

Henry C. Bartels, democratic nominee for representative, Seventeenth district.

A. R. Davis, republican nominee for county attorney.

The primary in Wayne county passed off quietly, and the vote was very light. Less than 550 votes were cast, whereas the normal vote in the county is about 2,100. Therefore, the contest for nominations aroused little interest. Many people were not sufficiently acquainted with candidates outside of the county to exercise clearest judgment. It is a physical impossibility for candidates to see everybody, and it is equally impossible for people who have other business than politics to know enough about all candidates to always select the ones best fitted for public places.

While the vote was very light in every precinct in the county, Logan precinct takes the lead for indifference to the primary. Two members of the board appeared there, not being enough to organize, and so not one vote was cast. Aside from the two members, no one appeared to vote. There are said to be 100 voters in Logan. In Leslie precinct, which has about 100 voters, only about thirteen votes were cast, all democratic.

TOTALS IN COUNTY

Following are the totals in Wayne county:

For governor—Aldrich, 112; Low, 38; Cady, 85; Shallenberger, 127; Dahlman, 122.

For senator—Burkett, 118; Wheldon, 82; Sorenson, 11; Adams, 12; Birmingham, 14; Hitchcock, 96; Reed, 55; Metcalfe, 70.

Attorney general: Republican—Martin, 165; Anderberg, 49; democrat—Whitney, 132; Terry, 58.

For congress, Third district: Republican—Brian, 85; Boyd, 149; democrat—Latta, 202.

State senator, Eleventh district: Republican—McLeod, 203; democrat—Henry, 53; Kohl, 168.

For representative, seventh district: Republican—Rooney, 81; Prince, 162; democrat—Bartels, 166.

For county attorney A. R. Davis was nominated on the republican ticket without opposition. Though Frank Berry was not a candidate on the democratic side, he received a number of votes, and would become the democratic nominee if he would accept. As he did not file, however, he will likely not make the campaign, in which event Mr. Davis will be elected without opposition.

George Farran was nominated for county commissioner of the Third district.

The total vote in the county was 549.

Reports to the Norfolk News this morning state that Dahlman is nominated for governor by the democrats by a plurality of 8,000 over Shallenberger, and that Aldrich is conceded the republican nomination for governor by a plurality of 10,000 over Cady.

Judge J. F. Boyd has received the republican nomination for congress in this district, defeating L. G. Brian.

Phil Kohl of Wayne receives the democratic nomination for state senator over Henry of Plainview. In Wayne, Madison and Pierce counties Kohl receives a total of 543 votes, and Henry a total of 517 votes. The canvass is not completed in Stanton county as the Herald goes to press, but it is reported that Kohl has carried that county by a substantial majority.

Chas. McLeod receives the republican nomination for senator without opposition.

BASE BALL AUGUST 25 AND 26

Thursday and Friday, August 25 and 26, the fast ball team from Gayville, South Dakota, will be in Wayne for two games. This will give the lovers of this kind of sport a chance to see some classy baseball.

The Wayne baseball management are going to considerable expense to get this team to come here and need your loyal support. The visiting team brings with them Miss Amanda Clement, the great lady umpire. It will be worth the price of admission to see how Miss Clement can handle a ball game.

Games called at 3:30; admission 25 cents.

NEARLY COMPLETED

The new incubator factory is now inclosed, and the work of laying the cement floor has commenced. The building will be entirely finished and ready for the reception of the incubator equipment and business in two or three weeks. The greatly enlarged demand for the product of the factory means that many men and girls will be employed there, and that the industry will be one of the most active and important in the city.

CHECKING UP THE NORMAL.

State Treasurer L. G. Brian, representing the state normal board, U. S. Conn and W. D. Redmond, president and registrar respectively of the Wayne normal, were here yesterday to check up the institution preparatory to the state taking possession. President Conn and Registrar Redmond will soon be located here permanently. The three gentlemen speak in highest terms of the prospect for the school.

A GOOD MOVE.

Beatrice, Neb., Aug. 16.—At a special meeting of the commercial club Monday night, an agreement was adopted having for its purpose the protection of the merchants of this city against all forms of fake advertising. Merchants are fleeced out of considerable money each year by fake advertising schemes, and it is the intention of the club to see that the money used for such purposes is spent at home. All lines of business are to be properly guarded hereafter.

CREAMERY FLOURISHING

It will be of interest to know that the Wayne creamery makes an average of 1,500 pounds of butter per day, and is supplied with cream by about 250 farmers. Winside, Carroll and Altona have stations from which cream is shipped to the Wayne factory. The price of cream last week was twenty-eight and one-half cents per pound. The amount of money paid out in the course of a year may be readily appreciated, and the benefit derived from the creamery to the city and surrounding country is patent to all.

LADIES' EXCHANGE.

The ladies will hold another exchange on Saturday of this week at Epler's store, at 2:30 p. m., for the benefit of the high school.

The demand for home-made bread and cake could not be supplied last week. Do not wait to be solicited, but everyone contribute a little, as this is an object in which every person in Wayne or vicinity is interested—that of beautifying the interior of our fine high school building, making it the equal in this respect of other buildings of its class in other cities and towns, besides surrounding our children with the best examples of art.—Committee.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Monday afternoon the locals won in a hard-fought game with Stanton's bunch of crack ball-players. It was one of the most exciting games of the season, and until the eighth inning was a lively pitchers' battle. It was in the last half of the eighth that DePew's boys fired up and made the winning scores. Landers, local first baseman, made the final score by batting out another of his classy home-runs. This makes six for the Uni. lad, and according to Mr. Ahern's gift of shoes for every home-run, Landers will have enough shoes before the season is over to start a shoe store. Dilts, the pitcher, supported by DePew behind the bat, gave spectators an example of how ball is played in the big league games. Phillips, pitcher for Stanton, had Wayne's heavy hitters on his list for a long time. He worked hard, and it was not expected that he would have to yield to a shut-out game.

Hits—Wayne, six; Stanton, five. Struck out by Dilts, eight; by Phillips, two. Batteries—Wayne, Dilts and DePew; Stanton, Phillips and Hopper. Umpire, Barr. Time, one hour and forty minutes.

Score by innings:

RAILWAY ACCIDENT

A special to the Norfolk News tells of a railway accident at West Point early Sunday morning, as follows:

The most serious railway accident that has occurred here for many years happened Sunday morning at 4:50, below the stock yards at the entrance to the railroad yards at West Point. Westbound freight No. 39, a double header, with two heavy freight engines and a heavily loaded train going at a high rate of speed, struck two feet of sand, mud and debris which had been washed during the night from the high ground adjoining. The track was completely buried for a distance of over two blocks and when the train struck the obstruction the first engine left the track, toppled over on its side and lays half embedded in the debris, and almost directly across the track. The second engine jumped the track on the opposite side, but did not turn completely over. Both engines are badly wrecked and the majority of the freight cars torn to pieces.

Passengers and baggage on No. 2 eastbound were transferred at this point as also those on No. 1, the Dallas train, westbound. Passengers on No. 6, the Deadwood train, were considerably delayed. Though traffic cannot be resumed for some days. The track crosses a small stream at this point, which being over bank full deposited the sand during the exceptionally heavy rains of yesterday morning. None of the train crew were injured, the engine men jumping in time to avoid being pinned under the wreck.

POULTRY PROTECTION.

Lincoln Journal: Reports from many parts of Nebraska reveal an insecurity for prosperity of certain sorts, which is painful and intolerable in a settled community. Much of the not excessive sleep which the farmers allow themselves at this time of year between evening and morning chores is being lost under the necessity of guarding the chicken house. We cannot wish a return to the vigilance committee days

IN THE VICINITY.

Winside Tribune: Aug. Deck, of Hoskins, will go to Rochester, Minnesota, next week to be treated by Mayo Bros. and probably operated on.

Carroll Index: Geo Edwards returned from Arco, Idaho, Monday for a visit. George reports everything pretty good, a little dry, but all the Carroll folks doing first rate.

Randolph Times: The Cedar County Old Settlers picnic will be held at the Hartington fair ground August 31. A program of sports and addresses by prominent speakers will be arranged.

Emerson Enterprise: M. D. Doran, a prominent citizen of Emerson, was married Wednesday to Mrs. Ines Wallace, of Sioux City, by Judge Flynn at Pender. This is his second marriage and her third.

Laurel Advocate: The Gartner boys have threshed their winter wheat, and it yielded nearly twenty-five bushels to the acre. The Gartner boys have been raising wheat for some years with good success.

Winside Tribune: Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith started to Manchester, Iowa, last Saturday where they will visit and take part in a reunion of the Smith family. Mr. Smith has seven brothers and they have not been together for thirty-eight years.

Winside Tribune: Mrs. Chas. Long returned Friday from a visit of several weeks with her sister at Phillip, South Dakota. She said that it seemed good to get back where there was something green, as that country was nearly burned up with drought.

Allen News: The State Normal School board has elected teachers for the Wayne Normal, and among them are found, H. H. Hickman of Wausa, formerly of Ponca, I. H. Britell, of Columbus, Neb., and Supt. Hahn of Blair. All are known to school men of Nebraska and are of the best in their respective fields.

Wakefield Republican: John Lutt threshed oats that went forty-two bushels to the acre machine measure and weighed out about fifty bushels to the acre. Oscar McGee threshed yellow Kersian oats going fifty-six bushels, and Frank Hanson's oats went fifty-four. All of the oats reported are weighing out heavy.

Randolph Times: John Coulter of Gregory went to Sioux City last Friday with his wife and baby and both of the latter were operated on for appendicitis. Numerous Randolph friends wish for their early and complete recovery. The baby is only a few months old, and is the second case ever know in Sioux City of so young a child.

Bloomfield Monitor: W. A. Needham, W. R. Ellis, W. D. Funk and J. C. Stahl departed last Monday for Chicago to take in the grand triennial convale of Knights Templar which convenes in that city this week. Most of them expect to return the latter part of this week. Mr. Stahl will go from there to Akron, Ohio, after the conclusion of the convale and visit his relatives for a few days.

Laurel Advocate: The county board of health met at Hartington Tuesday and presented to the board of county commissioners a set of resolutions which the latter accepted, looking toward the curbing of the disease known as infantile paralysis should it appear within the county. These resolutions will be conspicuously posted and call for a strict quarantine under penalty of a fine. At Mason City, Iowa, where the disease has raged to the greatest extent, a strict quarantine is proving very helpful in stamping it out, and it is hoped that like precautionary measures will be found effectual here.

This from the O'Neill Frontier is probably ancient, but it is worth reading again: Missouri is a funny place. Last week a lad from the backwoods came further north and seeing a young lady playing a piano, ran to his brother, saying, "Oh, Bill, come and see this girl. She is knocking regular thunder out of a bureau." Two state senators were boasting of their qualifications one day at Jefferson City. One said, "I am a minister;" the other said, "I am a lawyer, and I'll bet you $10 that you don't know the Lord's prayer." The money went up, and the Missouri clergyman began, "Now I lay me down to sleep," etc. "It is your money," said the lawyer. "I did not believe you knew it. I have not heard it all before in twenty years."

when horse thieves were hanged at sight and on suspicion. Unless the state is quick to defend our valuable chickens this is what will happen. Even a farmer cannot cheerfully lose so costly a thing as a chicken. If we would save our telephone poles from a use never intended for them, we must make this state too hot for chicken thieves and do it quick.

It is not that so many Nebraska people have suddenly turned outlaw, but merely that new conditions have brought new temptations. The Beatrice Express has this situation in hand when it says, apropos of an automobile raid on a Gage county hen house:

"It used to be that a chicken thief occupied a position in the lower stratum of knavery, and pickpockets and burglars and horse thieves and others of the upper ten in that sort of society looked down on him. However, under present conditions, when chickens are bringing top prices and a good night's haul is as valuable to the thief as the appropriation of a horse, the chicken thief has been admitted to the higher circles and is even being looked up to by the common diamond and jewelry robbers, bank 'ooters and others."

There you have it, the irresistible value of the chicken, raising chicken stealing into the realm of high finance; and the uncatchable automobile, protecting the operator as effectively as the high priced lawyer of other high financiers. Fifty dollars' worth of Lancaster county chickens were carried away in one sack recently. The farmer cannot store his chickens with other valuables in burglar proof safes, for chickens must have air. What can he do?

The last legislature approached the problem by making chicken stealing grand larceny. Evidently more severe measures are required, perhaps a system of chicken wardens to punish chicken stealing as a capital crime. Certainly we must not let chicken growing be discouraged. If eggs and chickens are to be more rare than now and proportionately more expensive, the thieves might have them all, for all the difference it would then make to the slim pursed urbanite.

TOO MUCH SPEED

Complaint is made at Randolph that automobiles are driven at a dangerous speed, the Enterprise of that city having this to say on the subject:

The speed at which some of the Randolph autoists are running through the city has called forth much comment from various citizens and unless the autoists reduce their speed, the state law will no doubt be applied. Most men driving an auto do not fully realize the speed at which they are running a car, but special care should be taken in the city limits. An ordinance regulates the speed limit in the city, and if this is not enforced by the authorities, the individual citizen has a perfect right to seek protection from excessive speeding through the statutes of the state.

Money in Nebraska.

Fremont Tribune: The Chicago Tribune has published the views of representative bankers of western states concerning the present financial condition.

Something of a money scare originated in New York and has had its influence throughout the country. The Chicago paper declares this has produced a salutary effect because it has brought about a more conservative action among western bankers. This has been reflected in more cautious loans and better securities. At this season each year the volume of money necessary for the moving crops becomes a matter of concern. It is gratifying that the Chicago Tribune's inquiries have disclosed a satisfactory situation. For Nebraska the following summary is presented by Luther Drake, president of the Merchants' National bank of Omaha:

"For a number of years, owing to our great prosperity, the banks of Nebraska have been able to furnish the necessary funds for crop moving purposes without assistance from the outside. Although the banks in Nebraska have suffered a decrease in deposits during the present year by reason of investments by our farmers in lands in other states, I believe the banks will be able to move our crops this season without assistance from our eastern friends. This bank is confining its loans to strictly mercantile purposes.

"During the present year the insurance companies have been tardy in taking up the farm loans secured by loan brokers throughout the west, and this had the effect to compel country banks to carry them. My observation teaches me, however, that a large percentage of the farm loans have been taken up by the eastern people and I have no doubt that by August 1 or September 1, they will be absorbed by our friends in the east, and the Nebraska country banks relieved of the burden."

"A considerable amount of money has been taken from Nebraska and invested in Canadian lands during the last few years. It would not be proper to make an estimate of the amount without corresponding with the banks in the state in order to arrive at something like accurate figures.

"In my conversation with country bankers I do not learn that the farmers have gone much in debt to purchase automobiles. Where it has been done it has been mainly on short time pending the sale of a portion of their crop."

"The suggestion of Secretary MacVeagh that the national banks in the country should organize currency associations is well enough in its way, on the theory that in time of peace it is wise to provide for the future."

CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETS

Members of the republican county central committee met in A. R. Davis' law office Saturday afternoon to reorganize and discuss the forthcoming campaign. Committeemen expressed themselves as sanguine of republican success this fall. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Bert Brown for chairman, and Chas. Beebe secretary. The committee expects to become active in behalf of republican candidates and continue so through the campaign. Messrs. Brown and Beebe are fully acquainted with the political game, and will make efficient leaders.

The State Fair this year is offering premiums in cash to the amount of $2,650.00 for county exhibits in agricultural farm products. The state has been divided into three sections, western, central, and eastern, for county collection exhibits and the amount of premiums offered is an inducement for any county to make a display of their agricultural products. Additional premiums are offered for individual exhibits. The fair this year will be held September 5 to 9, and counties contemplating an exhibit should begin to get ready. Premium lists may be had from W. R. Mellor, Secretary, Lincoln.

Quaint Table Manners.

Jorome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire, talked at a dinner about the delights of a backwoods vacation.

"I go to a quaint backwoods village every summer," he said, "and numberless are the quaint people I meet there."

"Old Houcher, for instance, the janitor of the village church, is most amusing with his quaint ways. I had old Houcher to lunch one day, and the cold lobster was served with a mayonnaise sauce. When my servant offered this sauce to Houcher, the old man stuck his knife in it, took up a little on the blade, tasted it, then shook his head and said:

Hastrop Clegg, whose distinction was that of being the oldest loafer in the circle, spat accurately into the draft-bottle of the stove, sat back and lifted his hat with a flourish.

"Well, boys, I reckon it's about time, ain't it?" he growled. "Leetie Tom must be a-goin' 'awn two year old, and I don't remember ez Tom 'r his pappy has ever done a livin' thing for Nance."

A half-hour later, Brother Japheth, trading back to Deer Trace on the pike, saw the light in the long-deserted cabin back of the new foundry plant; saw this and was overtaken at the Willow gates by Thomas Jefferson. "How do you get on, Tom?" asked he and he could not well help observing that the buggy had been lighted off its burden of household supplies.

Tom turned the horse over to William Henry Harrison and went in to his related attorney, ostensibly to consult. It was not so; he had had that his mother and father had gone over to the major-house. Solitude was grateful at the moment; he was glad of the chance to try to think himself uninterfered with out of the snarl of misunderstanding in which his impulsiveness had entangled him.

The pointing of the thought was to see Ardea and have it out with her at once. Reconsidered, it appeared the part of prudence to wait a little. The lawyer would call some time, and he would feel at liberty to demand freedom from this drowsy disturbance he had given it. But who, who have known Thomas Jefferson from his beginnings, may be sure that it was the action-thought that triumphed. They also serve who only stand and wait, the motto he excelled his own, and when he had finished his solitary dinner and had changed his clothes, he strode across the double lawn and rang the minor-house bell.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Deer Trace family and the two guests from Woodlawn were in the music-room when Tom was admitted, with a large bouquet of flowers, and a card from the presiding grandfather, and the ex-artilleryman. Under cover of the music, Tom slipped into the circle of listeners and went to sit beside his mother. There was a courteous hand-wave of welcome from Major Dabney, but Miss Euphrasia seemed not to see him. He saw and understood, and was obstinately impervious to the chilling east wind that that quarter.

Ardea lingered lovingly on the closing of the concert. He had seen when the final chord was struck her hands lingered on the keys until the sweet voices of the strings had sung themselves afar into the higher sound heaven. Then she turned quickly and surprised the audience by her exclamation: "You poor things!" she laughed. "In another five minutes the last one of you have succumbed. Why didn't somebody stop me?"

The iron-master said something about the heavy work of the day, and helped his wife to her feet. The Major came awake with a start and bestirred himself hospitably, and Miss Euphrasia rose to speed the parting guests—rather, the two of them who had been talking at a moment. The widowed Ardea laid behind with Tom, whom Cousin Euphrasia continued to ignore. "I came to tell you," he said, in a low tone, snatching his opportunity. "I can't sleep until I have fought it out with you."

"You don't deserve a hearing, even from your best friend," was her discouraging reply; but when they were at the door she gave him a formal reprieve. "I shall walk for a few minutes on the portico to rest my nerves," she said. "If you want to come back, be there."

He thanked her gravely, and went obediently when his mother called to him from the steps. But in the Woodlawn veranda he excused himself, and when the door closed behind the two, he swung, he swiftly recrossed the lawn to pay the penalty.

The front door of the minor-house was shut and the broad, pillared portico was deserted. He sat down in one of the rustic chairs. The door opened and closed and Ardea stood before him. She had thrown a wrap over her shoulders, and the light from the music-room windows illuminated her. There was an earnestness in her slate-blue eyes, but in Tom's thought she had never appeared more unutterably beautiful and desirable—and unattainable.

"I have come," she said, in a tone that burnt him to the heart for its very beauty. "What have you to say for yourself?"

"I'm afraid, I haven't left myself much to say," he began, politely. "I was hazy foolish, and it seems that I haven't outgrown it. But really, if you could know."

"Unhappily, I do know," she interrupted. "If I did not, I might listen to you with better patience."

"It did look pretty bad," he confessed. "And that's exactly what I wanted to say; it looked a great deal worse than it was, you know."

"I am bound to believe what I see with my own eyes," she rejoined. "Perhaps you was one of the latter; it seems not so believing."

"Of course I can't if you take that attitude," he complained. "And then he said traitorously: 'You talk about friendship. You don't know the meaning of the word.'"

"If I didn't I should hardly be here at this moment," she suggested. "You don't seem to apprehend to what degrading depths you have sunk."

"This sings in the business field rose before him accusingly and prompted his reply.

"Yes, I do; but that is another matter. We were speaking of what you say this evening. Will you let me try to explain?"

"If you will tell the plain truth," he pleaded, "I can't do it. I don't understand, I can't do anything. You know I had a falling-out with the old scamp of a moonshiner who calls himself her father. She came to me for help, and broke down. In the midst of telling me about it, I can't stand a woman's crying any better than other men."

"And that was all—absolutely all." "Don't lie to me," he said, briefly. "She gave him her hand with an impulsive return to the old comradestship. 'I believe you, Tom, in the face of all

"Now you are more reasonable," she said, approvingly. "I shall ride to-morrow morning, and if you should happen to overtake me, we might think up something."

The door was opening gently under the pressure of her hand, but he was loath to go.

"I wouldn't take five added years of life for what I've learned to-night, Ardea," he said, passionately. And then "I'll see you early to-morrow, and over to marry Vincent Parley?"

In the twinkling of an eye she was another woman—cold, unapproachable, with pride kindling as if she had received a mortal affront.

And then he bade her good-night and went his way with a fitting song of triumph in his heart which not even the chilling breath of the leave-taking was sufficient to silence.

"She loves me! She would still love me if she were ten times Vincent Parley's wife," he said, over and over, trying to fit the words were on his lips when he fell asleep, and they were still ringing in his ears the next morning at dawn-break when he rose and made ready to go to ride with her.

Home Moving Pictures.

In being adapted for the home moving picture have entered a new and very promising stage. A simple apparatus recently patented is described as only three feet long by one foot deep. It is provided with a ground glass at one end, on which a picture six inches in size can be thrown, but if a larger view is required, the ground glass can be removed, when the image will be projected upon a white sheet or other surface provided, and will be enlarged more or less, according to the distance from the machine of this new screen. Any convenient lamp, such as an acetylene or a kerosene lamp, will serve for an illumination. It is expected that the apparatus will be made in a variety of styles, from a cost of a dollar or two to quite expensive outfits, and the spools of film, lasting two to three minutes, are to be furnished at prices comparable to those of phonograph records. Freedom from risk of fire is claimed, as the film is heated much less than the powerful lights necessary for the larger machines.

One Trip Nearly Paid for Schooner.

Dealers at T. Wharf were given a surprise when Capt. Horace Hillman of the 14-ton schooner Eliza Denner of Edgartown offered 20,000 pounds of fish to buyers at the exchange. No one believed that a schooner the size of the Denner would attempt rounding Cape Cod at this season so deeply loaded. The captain had recently purchased the vessel and thought if he could reach Boston at a time of high prices he might be able to nearly pay her purchase price.

With five young men belonging to Martha's Vineyard Capt. Hillman took the schooner out on the ocean side of Nantucket and in a short time filled the craft to the hatches. The venture proved so successful that the crew earned about $30 each and the Denner almost paid for herself.—Boston Herald.

The Aniquity of the Organ.

The organ is the most magnificent and comprehensive of all musical instruments. While the pipes of Pan, aside from that mythical personage, indicate a very ancient use of pipes as a means of producing musical sounds, the "water organ of the ancients" furnishes to the student of organ history the first tangible clue regarding the remote evolution of the instrument.

In the second century the magi, or astrologers, used pipes with a crude key-board, he said, which, by a simple arrangement, he said, are involved in much obscurity. It is asserted that an organ, the gift of Constantine, was in the possession of King Pepin of France in 757, but Althelm, a monk, makes mention of an organ with "jetty pipes" as far back as the year 700.

The Little Things That Tell.

A South Side mother was dressing for a tea the other afternoon when the front door bell rang. She instructed the maid that if the visitor appeared to be about to make a formal call to say she was not at home. But the mother had not counted on the 6-year-old daughter playing in the front yard.

The maid, seeing a woman dressed as if for calling, obeyed instructions. "She is not at home," the maid said. "Why, she is, too, Minnie," came a sharp interruption from the child on the lawn. "I saw her lower the curtain just now."

"Perhaps she just came in," the maid responded wearily. "I'll see."

The situation was saved by the fact that the visitor was the mother's sister, whom the maid did not know.—Kansas City Star.

Panning His Specialty.

"So you have made up your mind to be a specialist—in what line?" was the question put to a struggling doctor by a friend.

"I don't know," was the answer. "I have been considering various advantages in different branches. A chiropractor can generally get a foothold, no matter how bad business is; a manicurist has usually something on hand, and an ear and eye specialist can often get a hearing when there is anything in sight. I haven't dwelt on the possibilities of throat or dental or hair specialties because the two former always lock down in the south and the latter may get but a bald living or be expected to dye for his patients!"

At the Tomb of Rachel.

Writing from the Holy Land, a correspondent of the Philadelphia Exponent has this to say about the tomb of Rachel, which is marked by a monument, the funds for which came from Sir Moses Montefiore: "Two hours' journey to the south of Jerusalem, on the road toward Hebron, stands a small fortress called Bawak, beside the gate of which are three tanks for the reception and preservation of rain water. Near this fortress, beside a spring, stands a house said to have been built by King Solomon, and a mile and a half farther south is the tomb of Rachel."

A bag's habit of scratching itself against a post has led to the invention of an automatic disinfecter for animals, which it sprays as they rub against a supporting column.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the hell agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Read What Galva-nite Roofing Is

How It Saves Money

Galva-nite roofing makes a one-piece roof that will do away with all trouble and expense for repairing as long as your building lasts. It is made from heavy wool felt. To each side of this base we apply three coats of mineral asphalt which is rolled in under high pressure. With the last coat flaked Mica is rolled in. This gives the roofing a "coat of armour" that defies all kinds of weather. It makes it pliable and easy to handle and prevents it from cracking. If you use Galva-nite, the first cost is the last cost. You will never have to spend a cent for repairs, patching, painting or new gravel. You forget you own a roof.

As long as people think they will come nearer getting a square deal from the administration by having Ballinger eliminated from the cabinet, he ought to be ditched notwithstanding his determination to stick.

The Nebraska delegation in congress will be expected to get busy next winter in behalf of an appropriation for a government building in Wayne.

There are no cliques nor little admiration societies nor other barriers to prevent citizens from keeping together and pulling together for Wayne.

People who have never stepped at Winside, but who have passed through the place on the train, have a very favorable opinion of the town because of the shaded and well kept park which greets the eye at the depot.

The statement of the healthy condition of the state's finances, published elsewhere in this paper, is very gratifying, and large credit for the good showing really belongs to a law inspired by ex-Governor Sheldon.

Col. A. L. Bixby, poet-philosopher of the Lincoln Journal, in writing that paper from St. Lambert, Canada, where he has been luxuriously entertained with other members of the American Press Humorists' association, mentions one rich dinner which he enjoyed exceptionally well, but which he couldn't describe because it was of French design, with a French bill-of-fare.

The announcement that Secretary Ballinger will retire from the cabinet next month will strengthen the republican party in the middle west where the record of that official is regarded with aversion.

The government requires that roads be kept in passable condition to accommodate rural carriers, and attention has been called to a few stretches of road on routes out of Wayne needing repair.

an active interest in all roads leading to Wayne. Good roads facilitate travel between the farming community and the city, and make it easy to market farm products.

The primary law has had another test, and its features will be discussed pro and con for the next few months. When the last legislature took the law in hand to work it over, it made one improvement—it ordered general use of the rotating ballot which removed advantage accruing to the candidate whose name appeared first.

Urging lack of water power as an objection to profitable manufacturing in Wayne is unsound and untenable. The city already has several flourishing productive plants, and can have more by going after them with determination.

A STUPENDOUS REFORMER.

One of the late pre-primary sessions at Lincoln was an open letter from William Hayward, dealing with one Frank Harrison, who for a number of years has followed the role of a stunning and stupendous reformer.

Harrison writes a letter in which he attempts to explain. He says Mr. Hayward conferred with him last fall about getting the support of the Capital, but that the paper was committed to Mr. Tobey, and that the only way Hayward could get its support was to buy up the stock and drop him, Harrison, out.

It seems an attempt was made to connect Hayward's name with the saloon and brewery business, which line of warfare was, however, effectually silenced by the testimony of some of the best people of Hayward's home town, Nebraska City, commending his excellent character and exemplary citizenship.

He explains the enormously increased production due to the scientific selection of seed, and then points out why too much drouth hurts, and enough moisture helps the maturing of the grain, using terms and reasoning, however, that so far surpass this department's understanding of corn culture that it cannot reproduce them.

"Fishing is never good in hot weather, and it is said only a lazy person will fish, and lazy people are too lazy in hot weather to fish. There is no more important vocation than that of teaching, and none in which the compensation is more inadequate, considering qualifications required and duties performed.  It has been solemnly announced by Sioux City milk dealers that the price of their goods would be raised Sept. 1 on account of the dry pastures and scarcity of cow feed. Pastures were getting pretty dry even in Wayne county a few weeks ago, but since the late heavy rains cause for alarm has disappeared. It is probable rain has also fallen in the vicinity of Sioux City, as general rains are not in the habit of discriminating in favor of the just as against the unjust, and therefore the basis for a boost in the price of milk must have been largely knocked out. It now remains to be seen whether Sioux City milk dealers who felt justified in squeezing up the price, and had made up their minds to do so, will now, with the justification rapidly waning, have the strength to crush down temptation and share with consumers the benefits of better pastures and greater milk supply.

 Members of the state normal faculty have been on the alert lately for houses here. President U. S. Conn will occupy the residence belonging to the college; Prof. I. H. Brittel has rented the Wollert house, and Prof. C. H. Bright is to occupy the Culler property. Others want houses, and it is understood a number of new ones will be built.
 Rev. J. H. Karpenstein returned Monday from Bloomfield where he took part in the Missionsfest held on Sunday. The meeting took place in the splendid grove of G. Ege, who is a brother-in-law of Fred Volpp, formerly of Wayne. Rev. Karpenstein met Louie and Henry Volpp while in Bloomfield, and says they are doing well. He says the drops up the Bloomfield line look fine.
 According to the assessors' returns there are 114,374 dogs in the state as compared with 111,530 last year. The assessed value this year is $131,236, and last year $118,070. Wayne county has 1,146, forty-seven less than the county had last year.

THE OLD SETTLERS' PICNIC

As mentioned in the last issue of the Herald, the old settlers' picnic was scheduled for last Thursday, and a large crowd gathered on the college campus to listen to the speeches and see the ball game. The committee in charge was disappointed over the absence of the music that had been arranged for the occasion. Aside from that feature, the picnic passed off pleasantly and successfully.

T. W. Moran, president of the old settlers' association, called the assembly to order and presided during the meeting, and he made a most creditable presiding officer. After the formal address by Rev. Alexander Corkey, who gave emphasis to the work of education as begun by the pioneers, informal talks were made by Dr. R. B. Crawford, Otis F. Crane, Judge Jas. Britton and Miss Charlotte M. White.

The report of the historian, Dr. Crawford, proved an interesting feature.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: P. M. Corbit, president; Dr. R. B. Crawford, vice president; David Cunningham, treasurer; Charlotte M. White, secretary.

In the ball game between Wayne and Wakefield, the latter won in a score of three to one.

CARROLL TO HAVE CARNIVAL

Carroll is preparing for a carnival and baseball tournament to take place during five days of the week beginning August 30. The Index has this to say of the entertainment:

The Carroll Baseball Tournament and Carnival is going to be a hummer from start to finish. The Savidge Carnival company will be here five days, commencing August 30, and all lovers of this class of entertainment will have the satisfaction of enjoying it to their hearts content. This company is well known here and needs no recommendation from us further than to say that they are stronger and better this year than ever.

There will be baseball enough to satisfy even those who are most enthusiastic over the game. It is expected that the best teams in this section of the country will be present and compete for the prizes. The towns of Randolph, Wayne and Laurel have all agreed to place teams in the tournament and as these teams are all playing fast ball, good games are assured. Carroll expects to also have a team in the tournament and all are out for the big money.

The amusements will commence on Tuesday August 30, and continue until the evening of Saturday, September 3. The first ball game will be on Wednesday, August 31. On September 1 and 2 there will be two games each afternoon for the big purses. The two winners of the first day to play the second and also the two losers.

State Fair.

We sometimes wonder if the people of Nebraska really appreciate the fact that the Nebraska State Fair is considered the best exhibition of its kind given by any state in the Union. It is not one of the largest, but it is certainly one of the best. The Iowa Homestead, one of the foremost agricultural papers in the country and which has a representative present at every state fair held in the United States, says: "While the Nebraska State Fair is not one of the largest, I have always considered it one of the best of the state fairs from an educational point of view for the farmers and stockraisers." This indicates that the people of this state have right at their door the best fair in the United States and those who have never attended a session of the state fair should go this year and see for themselves what is considered by outsiders the best in the country. The dates are September 5 to 9 and it will pay you to take note of that date.

The Lisbon Earthquake.

The Lisbon earthquake of 1775 is clearly entitled to rank among the appalling disasters of history. As to the destructiveness in comparison with the recent calamity in Sicily, it may be said that in the Lisbon earthquake there perished about 65,000 people. The life loss from the Messina disaster has not as yet been fully agreed upon, but in all probability it did not greatly exceed that of 1775. The property loss in the Portuguese city was probably in excess of that which took place in Messina, since Lisbon was much richer than was the Italian city.

Treatment for Bolls.

Apply a plaster of gum opium; if that is not convenient, powdered opium mixed with a little mercurial ointment. It relieves the pain and controls the inflammation and the incision in size. In two or three days a limited amount of suppuration will take place and the small core come out.

Old-Time Favorite Dishes.

Many of the favorite dishes of today have come down through the ages. Griddle cakes date back to the middle ages, when they were a favorite with the Britons of Wales; macaroons have taken their place as a dessert since the time of Chaucer, and the boys have enjoyed their gingerbread and the girls have lunched on pickles for 500 years, or ever since King Edward II. "set the style."

Most disgusting skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned.

Disregarding the Rules.

"You are suspended!" thundered Prof. Preston Yellers of the school of Journalism. "What is my offense?" inquired the student. "You have violated one of the first rules of modern sensationalism. You wrote an item about an elopement without referring to the girl as a beautiful society young lady."

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

Eagle Made Things Lively.

J. E. Martin, a forest ranger of Buena Vista, Cal., was attacked by an eagle the other afternoon while riding down the mountain side, and, being unarmed, was compelled finally to seek protection among some thick bushes. The big bird circled about him several times and darted down upon his head, tearing his scalp and lacerating his face.

Foley Kidney Pills

Tonic in quality and action, quick in results. For backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness, urinary irregularities and rheumatism. Felber's Pharmacy.

Anglo-Saxon Bread.

The food of the Anglo-Saxons was largely bread. This is shown by the fact that a domestic was called a "loaf eater," and the mistress of the house was called a "loaf giver." The bread was baked in round, flat cakes, which the superstition of the cook marked with a cross to preserve them from the perils of the fire.

In buying a cough medicine, don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough. Sold by all dealers.

Cat Mother's Duckling.

At an Oxfordshire (Eng.) village inn a duckling was the solitary result of a setting of eggs, and, careless of its fate, the owner gave it to the cat, who was suckling a kitten. The cat at once took to the little stranger, and now washes and nurses it with the same care as she devotes to her own offspring.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets tonight before retiring and you will feel all right in the morning. Sold by all dealers.

A Democratic Preacher.

A good story is told of a "country gentleman" who, for the first time, heard an Episcopal clergyman preach. He had read much of the prayerbook and pride of the church, and when he returned home he was asked if the people were "stuck up." "Yahaw, no!" replied he. "Why, the minister, actually preached in his shirt sleeves!"—Judge.

Shoes.

The better the shoes, it seems, the less the people walk. American shoe manufacturers have made an epoch in commerce, for American shoes are copied and imitated all over the civilized world as the best output of all nations. Yet the typical American will not walk and so the easiest new on his shoes that ever lived.—New York Press.

"Measure for Measure."

Country Editor—"Billy, run over to the store and ask 'Mr. Krump' for the loan of his peck measure for a short time." New Office Boy—"Yes, sir; but what'll I say you want it for—'he's sure to ask me?" Country Editor—"Well, the fact is that Elias Skinfint is due here in half an hour to renew his subscription with two bushels of apples and—well, I know Elias' of old!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by all dealers.

Daysey Maymo's Genius.

Application has been made by Mrs. Lyander John Appleton to have Daysey Maymo installed in the chair of mathematics at the state university. "As a proof of the skill," she wrote in a letter to the board of Regents, "she always keeps the scores for the duplicate bridge whist games, and when there is a prize no one questions her totals."—Atchison Globe.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by all dealers.

A Famous Joke.

Though unquestionably many of Punch's jokes are deliberately manufactured, or else improved from actual incidents, but slight textual editing just as they occurred. Thus Joe Allen it was—the light-hearted artist to Punch's first number—who provided Mr. Du Maurier years afterward with that "social agony" in which a great lover of children, invited to a juvenile party, bursts into the room with the cry of "Here we are again!" walking in on his hands like a clown, to find that he has come to the wrong house next door and was scandalizing a sedate and stately dinner party.—Life.

For Quick Relief from Hay Fever

Asthma and summer bronchitis, take Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly relieves the discomfort and suffering and the annoying symptoms disappear. It soothes and heals the inflamed air passages of the head, throat and bronchial tubes. It contains no opiates and no harmful drugs. Refuse substitutes. Felber's Pharmacy.

Live by Catching Fireflies.

In Japan there are people who obtain a livelihood by catching fireflies. These fireflies are used as ornaments at social festivities. Sometimes the insects are kept caged, sometimes released in swarms in the presence of the guests. The firefly hunter starts forth at sunset with a long bamboo pole and a bag of mosquito netting. On reaching a suitable growth of willows he makes ready his net and strikes the branches with his pole. This jars the fireflies to the ground where they are easily gathered up.

Acute or Chronic Kidney?

No matter if your kidney trouble is acute or chronic, Foley's Kidney Remedy will reach your case. Mr. Claude Brown, Reynoldsville, W. Va., writes us that he suffered many months with kidney complaint which baffled all treatment. At last he tried Foley's Kidney Remedy and a few large bottles effected a complete cure. He says, "It has been of inestimable value to me." Felber's Pharmacy.

Smoking in Ancient Days.

It seems very probable that there were smokers in England long before the introduction of tobacco, according to the London Chronicle. Pipes have been discovered imbedded in the mortar of churches built before Europe's first acquaintance with tobacco, and it seems only reasonable to suppose that the people of that day smoked herbs of some sort either medicinally or for pleasure. Cattlefoot was inhaled for asthma, though whether a pipe was used in the process remains a matter for conjecture.

Keep Smiling.

When a man smiles, and much more when he laughs, it adds something to his fragment of life.—Sterne.

An Inquiring Spirit.

"Liquor," said the Experienced Cop, "surely gives a man a peculiar way of looking at things. Last night I was patrolling my beat through a side street when I saw a drunk backed up against a railing, and smiling cheerfully at a half dozen young hoodlums who were pretending to josh him, while in reality they were going through his pockets. They bent it as soon as I bove in sight. 'Say, I said to the drunk, 'don't you know that those hoodlums were going through you?' 'Sure I know it,' said the drunk. 'I just wanted to see how far the damned little rascals would go. Here's where I've got the laugh on them—I've got $500 in my inside vest pocket, and they never guessed it.'"

Gretna Green Marriages.

The production of a Gretna Green marriage certificate in court is not absolutely unprecedented, for in the Wakefield case, in 1827, such a certificate was produced and identified by the famous blacksmith himself, and in another case at Carlisle as also; in the early nineteenth century, a Gretna Green certificate played its part. Some idea of the number of these marriages may be gained from the fact that one of the "priests" is said to have had sometimes made as much as £100 a week, a code of secret signs between himself and the postboys enabling him to ascertain the station of his clients, and to charge accordingly, just as a doctor of today charges you according to your supposed means.—London Chronicle.

They Have a Definite Purpose

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser, Terre Haute, Ind., tells the results in her case. "After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." Felber's Pharmacy.

The Wayne ball team went to Laurel Tuesday and in the afternoon defeated the boys of that place in an eight-inning game, the score being 2 to 0. Rain interrupted the game and made it impossible to play the ninth inning. Thus far this week the Wayne boys have played three shut-out games. Wayne will have the novelty of seeing a lady umpire, Amanda Clement, officiate at the game between the team of this place and Gayville, South Dakota, on Thursday and Friday of next week. It will be seen how much more friendly the crowd will be disposed toward the umpire's decisions with a lady occupying the throne. The many friends of Miss May Gibbs, kindergarten teacher in the local schools, will regret to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. F. B. Miss May Gibbs is the only child, and to her the hearty sympathy of Wayne friends will be extended. J. J. Ahern returned from his fall buying trip to the Chicago market today. This was home products week in Chicago and every manufacturer in the city made special displays of his fall goods in the thousands of show windows of the great retail stores on State Street, thus affording visiting merchants a fine opportunity to see and compare the new goods and styles. A day spent in studying these displays gives a merchant just the information he needs most to guide him in buying the right goods for the coming season. Mr. Ahern informs us that his new purchases will begin to arrive immediately and many of them will be open for your inspection next week. PRESERVING HEALTH OF CHILD Possible to Avoid the Ordinary Infantile Diseases, That Have Been Considered Necessary. The idea prevails among many people that children must have the ordinary diseases of childhood, and that it is better to expose them early in life so as to get through with them as soon as possible. It is an old-fashioned belief, and the object today is to protect children from infection instead of exposing them to it. As children are more susceptible to variations in temperature than adults, so are they also more apt to contract certain diseases. The surest way to protect them against infection is not to expose them at all. It is extremely difficult where there are large gatherings of children, such as at public schools or in thickly populated districts, but if the health of a child is maintained by pursuing proper hygienic measures as to food, bathing, sleep, fresh air and sunshine it is safe to say that it runs a small risk of contracting one of the infectious diseases, even when exposed to it. We should strive to develop the tissues of the body by proper modes of living to such a degree that exposure to unfavorable conditions will be met with resistance. Just a Bee Story. There is nothing strange about the tale of that Spring City man who says that when his bees could not store honey, they gathered shellbacks. It used to be one of our particular delights to go out of an early morning and watch bees crack shellbacks with their teeth.—Philadelphia Inquirer. The mistake of a Comma. This instance of what a mistake of a comma can produce has been noticed. Lord Palmerston then entered upon his head, a white hat upon his feet, large but well-polished boots upon his brow, a dark cloud in his eye, his faithful walking stick in his hand, a dark menacing glare saying nothing.—The Circle. Who Has 'Em? "I understand you have a fine track team here," said the visitor to the man who was showing him over the college campus. "What individual holds most of the medals?" "The town pawnbroker," answered the guide after due deliberation.—Buffalo Express. Can You Guess What He Meant? "I wonder what the teacher meant about the singing of my two daughters?" "What did he say?" "He said that Mamie's voice was good, but Maude's was better still."—Cleveland Leader.

QUITE A SNAP FOR HUBBY An artist was sketching in a field when a full-grown turkey approached. He tried to frighten it away and it immediately struck its beak into his face. It then destroyed his sketch and, although he kicked it again and again, aimed continuous blows with its beak at his eyes. He was thoroughly exhausted before his cries for help brought a golfing party and a farmhand on the scene. Easy One for Him. Diddler invited two or three to take a drink, and was telling big stories about himself. "Come," said one of the party, "you have told us what you can do; now tell us what you cannot do." "Well, that's easily done," replied Diddler. "I can't pay for the drinks you have just had." Impractical Advice. "An artist," said Mr. Teechum, "should strive to reproduce what is nearest to his thought and deepest in his affection." "Yes," replied the mercenary genius, "but the laws against counterfeiting currency are so severe." DOG USED THE TELEPHONE Intelligent Act of Animal Imprisoned in Office, Reported by the London Mail. The operator at Grimsby telephone exchange received an unexpected call from the premises of a firm of tobacconists in the early hours of a recent Sunday morning. Putting the instrument to his ear, his surprise developed into wonderment for all he could get in reply to the usual query: "What number, please?" was the vigorous barking of a dog. Coming to the conclusion that there were burglars in the place, the operator informed the police. In the meantime the owner of the dog suddenly remembered that he had, contrary to practise, left the animal, a fox terrier, in the office, had gone to the premises to release it. When he arrived he found a couple of police officers about to force an entrance, and their astonishment was great when reacting the office they found that the terrier had climbed on to a desk five feet high and knocked the receiver off the telephone. Used to hearing its master's voice over the instrument, it had apparently barked into the mouth-piece to draw attention to its plight.—London Mail. Blind Tiger Sees. "Don't you think your metaphors are somewhat mixed in your write-up of the gambling dens?" "How so, sir?" "You say here: 'The blind tiger had its baleful gaze fixed upon the youth of our fair city.'—Houston Post. Strange Death of Child. A peculiar accident happened to the infant child of Mr. W. J. Wollard of Brighton, South Australia, who fell out of her perambulator and was caught by the neck in the framework. When released the child was dead. The One Great Influence. The heart is the key of this world, and of life. Through our very imperfections we are often more capable of influencing others, and this strange influence expands the riddle of our existence.—Novels. TO GET ANSWER TO LETTER Simple Plan That Is Not Only Effective But Really a Requirement of Courtesy. You may have occasion often to write a letter of inquiry to a stranger who is under no obligation whatever to answer your question unless he shall see fit to do so out of kindness or fellow feeling. How are you to make reasonably certain of a reply? It is taken for granted that your inquiry is reasonable and in good taste and judgment. You have something to ask as a favor. You should make that request as simple of answer as possible. You should make your question as brief as you can. To this end leave out the end of your written query enough space blank on which the person addressed can fill in answers fully and without formality, and call his attention to the fact. Enclose with your query an envelope addressed to yourself stamped and ready for the mails. Here is the philosophy of the plan: Many persons are inclined to put off letter writing of any kind. They must be in the mood for it. They "owe" letters to some of their best friends. Letter writing, anyhow, is a bore. But even to the person in this position a query with a blank space for answer at the bottom of the sheet, the envelope addressed and stamped, makes it doubly easy for the writer to scribble at once with lead pencil the answer, re-fold the sheet, put it in the envelope, and post it. Try it. You'll get results. Ancient Knives of Stone. Herodotus tells us that the knives used by the Egyptian surgeons were made of stone. The first mention of knives anywhere speaks of them as being of stone, so they must date back to an ancient epoch. Nature's Own Proof. The most beautiful flowers are those that are double, such as double pinks, double geraniums, and double dahlias. What an argument is this against the chilling deformity of single blessedness! Freedom of the Will. The freedom of the human will is limited to the choice between what he is forced to regard as good and evil, what he cannot fail to regard as evil, but in his choice he is unlettered.—Baron Stockmar. Sincerity, a Mark of Virtue. Be resolutely and faithfully what you are; be humbly what you aspire to be. Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also.—Henry D. Thoreau. Satire. When a hero is to be pulled down and degraded, it is done in dog-gery.—Addison.

USE MACHINES FOR JUDGING Method Recently Devised Would Seem to Put End to All Possible Controversy. For registering the results of athletic contests, the human eye and voice sometimes seem painfully inadequate. Close contests of this kind are now judged in some parts of the world by judging machines. One such device, the invention of an Austrian, is designed to be placed at the finish line in a running race, and consists of a light metal frame partitioned into two or more divisions, each about four feet wide. On top of the frame stands a small cabinet containing numbered divisions corresponding to the numbers of the tracks. The instant the first man passes through his division a shutter falls, disclosing his track number. The other numbers are immediately locked, except when the machine is set for final heats. In this case a small cylinder is attached to the machine. Close contact of this kind strikes the mark on the revolving cylinder as the men finish. Thus the exact positions of all competitors can be told to a nicety. The same inventor has originated an automatic judging machine for bicycle races. It consists of fine light metal strips placed in a small trench about two inches wide, which is sunk across the track at the finish. During the last lap these strips, which are coated with enamel, are placed in position by means of a lever, and the first wheel to cross receives five marks. In crossing, however, it displaces one of the strips, and the next wheel, therefore, receives only four marks, and so on.—The Sunday Magazine. Judicial Wisdom. Philip of Macedonia, in passing sentence on two rogues, ordered one of them to leave Macedonia with all speed and the other to try and catch him.—Plutarch. A Softened Expression. "Father," said the small boy, "what is a 'euphemism'?" "It is something, my son, that enables a man to say he is a free lance instead of admitting that he is out of a job." LITTLE "WILLIE" WAS BUSY When Mamma Found Her Darling He Was "Passing Cards" for Bootblack. A glistering car with a liveried footman on the curb stood at the Fifth avenue door of a fashionable jeweler, the New York Morning Telegraph says. Suddenly a richly dressed woman, wildly excited, rushed out, followed by several young men from behind the counters. "Where is my Willie?" she cried. "I was looking at some jewels and he slipped away. Have you seen Willie?" The footman shook his head stolidly in the negative. Just then an elderly man who was reading a card and grinning, came in to Fifth avenue from around the corner. He interrupted the excited mother. "I beg your pardon, madam," he said. "He must have left by the side door while you were absorbed in the jewels. I really thought it strange that a child from some home of wealth should be passing cards for a bootblack. That is what he was doing. He was probably pressed into service by the quick-witted bill passer." She rushed through the crowd and found the child busy, as the stranger had said. "Nasty cards!" exclaimed the mother, seizing them indignantly. Willie was dragged to the car howling. "Where did you get them?" she demanded. "Man given 'em to me," he bawled. "Man told me to give 'em to my friends. I want my cards." Struggling with his mother, he was whisked away in the car. Time's Consolation. Time is the most important thing in human life—for what is joy after its departure?—and the most consolatory—for pain, when time has fled, is no more.—Von Humboldt. Setting the Standard. Mrs. Adams (of Boston)—Now, promise me, Wally, that you will never write anything you would be ashamed to send to the Atlantic Monthly.—Life. CHILD'S LIFE SAVED BY CAT Sleeping With Infant, Pet Received Death Thrust Delivered by Insane Father. In the St. Germain quarter of Paris a little French child owes its small life to the liking of the family cat for the little one's warm, soft bed. Owing to the animal's presence there beneath the blankets what would have been a ghastly tragedy became almost farcical. The child's father, once a prosperous merchant, had come down through speculation, and was in constant brooding over his reverses because insane. He imagined that Beelzebub had promised to direct him to a spot where hidden treasure was concealed, providing the blood of a child was offered to him. Accordingly one night recently Grenard, the person in question, rose from his bed, and with a knife in his hand went towards his child's cradle. The poor mother, struck dumb by horror, sprang out to stop him, but the man was too quick for her. Shrieking aloud in his frenzy, and averting his face, he stabbed twice at the sleeping child before the frantic mother could intervene, and mad with distress, snatch her little one from the crimsoning bed clothes. Her joy was unutterable to find her baby unscathed. The child had been saved at the expense of its trespassing pet, which had received both thrusts.

THE OLD SPACIOUS CLOSET The Roomy Old Closet, Which Fond Recollection Presents to the City Resident. "Rarely indeed does Mrs. Billtops indulge in mournful reminiscence," said Mr. Billtops. "Cheerfulness is her keynote and her courage never fails; but this morning when she was looking for something in a trunk which for lack of closet space she keeps in her room, she said to me: 'Era, do you remember the closet I had in my room when we lived in So and So?' And I said I did. "If I should put this trunk in the closet here," said Mrs. Billtops, "I couldn't shut the door." "To that proposition I assented. "But you could put this trunk in that closet," Mrs. Billtops continued, and still have plenty of room to walk around it there to get at the things hanging on the walls. "I remembered, and Mrs. Billtops almost groaned. "We would not go back to the old oak bucket, we'd rather have the water laid on; we wouldn't want again those old time freezing rooms, we like our rooms better warmed; but ah, those old time closets! Those grand old closets, as big as a present day room!" Chivalry Still Existing. "Some say that the age of chivalry is past. The age of chivalry is never past, so long as there is a wrong left to be redressed on earth, or a man or woman left to say—'I will redress that wrong, or spend my life in the attempt.'—Charles Kingsley. Human Fallibility. Every man hath in his own life sins enough, in his own mind troubles enough, in his own fortunes evils enough, and in the performance of his offices failings more than enough, to entertain his own inquiry.—Jeremy Taylor. Tragic Death of Stowaway. The body of a stowaway, who had hidden himself on top of a boiler on board an ocean liner, and had been suffocated by smoke, was discovered when the liner reached Southampton from New York the other day. MADE A "HIT" OF ACCIDENT Sicilian Actor Certainly Gifted With True Dramatic Instinct, as This Incident Shows. Giovanni Grosso, a Sicilian actor of unusual dramatic energy, is the hero of a peculiar story, says the Florence correspondent of the London Express. He was playing one of his finest parts, where he had to stab his enemy with a dagger. Suddenly, in the heat of his passion, Grosso let the weapon slip out of his hand, and it alighted in the pit on a man's head, cutting it slightly. An indignant member of the audience flung the knife back to the stage, where it was dexterously caught by Grosso. Raising it aloft in his hand, and as if it were accused, Grosso smashed it in two, and then stamped upon it. Then, with a swift bound, Grosso was in the pit beside the injured man. The next minute he had climbed back to the boards, with the victim in his arms. After settling him in a chair, Grosso threw himself on his knees and began a long entreaty for forgiveness. This was readily granted by the much embarrassed playgoer, who on his side begged to be allowed to return to his seat. But this was not to be until Grosso, weeping copiously, had bestowed no fewer than 50-resounding kisses on the man's blushing cheeks. The action was greeted with loud cheers, and after Grosso had gratefully bowed his thanks, the play was resumed and successfully concluded. The Beginning. "A good start is important in telling a story." "Yes," replied the author; "but my next book is secure on that score. I have a special cover design by a leading artist." Few indeed, Are Fortunate. Happiness is a bird we pursue our life long without catching it.—Virgil. Only Real Conquests. The only conquests that cause no regrets are those made over hatred.—Napoleon.

DOG USED THE TELEPHONE Intelligent Act of Animal Imprisoned in Office, Reported by the London Mail. The operator at Grimsby telephone exchange received an unexpected call from the premises of a firm of tobacconists in the early hours of a recent Sunday morning. Putting the instrument to his ear, his surprise developed into wonderment for all he could get in reply to the usual query: "What number, please?" was the vigorous barking of a dog. Coming to the conclusion that there were burglars in the place, the operator informed the police. In the meantime the owner of the dog suddenly remembered that he had, contrary to practise, left the animal, a fox terrier, in the office, had gone to the premises to release it. When he arrived he found a couple of police officers about to force an entrance, and their astonishment was great when reacting the office they found that the terrier had climbed on to a desk five feet high and knocked the receiver off the telephone. Used to hearing its master's voice over the instrument, it had apparently barked into the mouth-piece to draw attention to its plight.—London Mail. Blind Tiger Sees. "Don't you think your metaphors are somewhat mixed in your write-up of the gambling dens?" "How so, sir?" "You say here: 'The blind tiger had its baleful gaze fixed upon the youth of our fair city.'—Houston Post. Strange Death of Child. A peculiar accident happened to the infant child of Mr. W. J. Wollard of Brighton, South Australia, who fell out of her perambulator and was caught by the neck in the framework. When released the child was dead. The One Great Influence. The heart is the key of this world, and of life. Through our very imperfections we are often more capable of influencing others, and this strange influence expands the riddle of our existence.—Novels. TO GET ANSWER TO LETTER Simple Plan That Is Not Only Effective But Really a Requirement of Courtesy. You may have occasion often to write a letter of inquiry to a stranger who is under no obligation whatever to answer your question unless he shall see fit to do so out of kindness or fellow feeling. How are you to make reasonably certain of a reply? It is taken for granted that your inquiry is reasonable and in good taste and judgment. You have something to ask as a favor. You should make that request as simple of answer as possible. You should make your question as brief as you can. To this end leave out the end of your written query enough space blank on which the person addressed can fill in answers fully and without formality, and call his attention to the fact. Enclose with your query an envelope addressed to yourself stamped and ready for the mails. Here is the philosophy of the plan: Many persons are inclined to put off letter writing of any kind. They must be in the mood for it. They "owe" letters to some of their best friends. Letter writing, anyhow, is a bore. But even to the person in this position a query with a blank space for answer at the bottom of the sheet, the envelope addressed and stamped, makes it doubly easy for the writer to scribble at once with lead pencil the answer, re-fold the sheet, put it in the envelope, and post it. Try it. You'll get results. Ancient Knives of Stone. Herodotus tells us that the knives used by the Egyptian surgeons were made of stone. The first mention of knives anywhere speaks of them as being of stone, so they must date back to an ancient epoch. Nature's Own Proof. The most beautiful flowers are those that are double, such as double pinks, double geraniums, and double dahlias. What an argument is this against the chilling deformity of single blessedness! Freedom of the Will. The freedom of the human will is limited to the choice between what he is forced to regard as good and evil, what he cannot fail to regard as evil, but in his choice he is unlettered.—Baron Stockmar. Sincerity, a Mark of Virtue. Be resolutely and faithfully what you are; be humbly what you aspire to be. Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also.—Henry D. Thoreau. Satire. When a hero is to be pulled down and degraded, it is done in dog-gery.—Addison.
