CLYDE OMAN, AUCTIONEER

HENRY HOGREFE GOES FREE

TWELVE MEN ACQUIT HIM

Goes to Jury Saturday Night Agreement is Reached Sunday Morning—The Evidence.

Henry Hogrefe, the Altona blacksmith charged with the murder of his wife, goes free according to the verdict of the twelve men chosen to determine his guilt or innocence. The case went to the jury at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, and an agreement was reached at 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon. It is reported that early ballots stood five for conviction and seven for acquittal. The number for conviction diminished until the ballot showed two to ten, and then an agreement in favor of the accused man.

When the foreman announced that an agreement had been reached, the court, after consulting with the jury, hurriedly notified the prisoner that he was free to go. The jury was brought from the county jail to hear his fate. Few others than those necessarily summoned to hear the judgment, were present when court convened for the one purpose Sunday morning. After the reading of the verdict, Hogrefe shook hands with each jurymen and thanked him, and then burst into tears.

THE TESTIMONY.

The main witness for the state was Mrs. Amelia Matz, formerly Amelia Moseman, who was called to the stand Friday morning. She testified that she went to the Hogrefe home in October, 1909, to help do housework; that along in the fall of January, Henry Hogrefe began making particular attention to her, and told of improper relations with defendant, declaring such relations were unwelcome and resisted by her. She testified that he found fault with his wife, that he expressed a desire to marry witness, and that he threatened to poison his wife if she did not die. She swore that Henry Hogrefe asked her to keep house for him on the Sunday following his wife's death.

Following Mrs. Matz on the stand, Charles Eiling, stepfather of Mrs. Hogrefe, was recalled and testified that the defendant asked him before the body of his wife was buried if Amelia Moseman, now Mrs. Matz, could not keep house for him.

J. T. Leahy, Wayne druggist, was the last witness for the state. He testified to the purchase of some ergot at his store by the defendant.

Friday afternoon the defense began the introduction of testimony. Mrs. Fred Ahlvers, sr., who was called by the defense, said she reached the Hogrefe home about a half hour before Mrs. Hogrefe died, and that the woman did not have any convulsions when she was there.

The defense then put on a number of witnesses for the purpose of showing that the defendant's reputation in the Altona vicinity was good prior to May 13. Henry Bergelman, Fred Ahlvers, jr., William Thies, Fred Ahlvers, jr., Fred Ahlman and Fred Dinklage testified to that effect. At the conclusion of this testimony court adjourned until Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Henry Hogrefe, the defendant, was the first witness called by the defense on the resumption of the trial Saturday morning. The witness confessed to improper relations with Mrs. Amelia Matz, nee Amelia Moseman, but denied that such relations were forced on her. He declared that Mrs. Hogrefe found out about the conduct of himself and Mrs. Matz and became very angry, declaring that she would kill him and herself. Hogrefe said the family had salmon for supper the night before Mrs. Hogrefe died, and that he complained to his wife that it tasted bitter. He said the little he ate did not stay in his stomach.

He said his wife got up early on the morning of her death on account of not feeling well, complaining of pains in her stomach. He said when she called him later she wanted him to take some salts, but he refused to do so saying he did not need them. He did not know whether she had taken salts or not. While he was at the barn doing chores she called him and explained that she was sick. He said he found her shaking and complaining of pains in her stomach. He then called in a neighbor, Hogrefe, who he thought his wife would die, or that she did not he would poison her. He denied that he wanted to marry Amelia Moseman, or that he ate a big breakfast on the morning of his wife's death. He said he fed the children, but ate nothing himself.

At the conclusion of Hogrefe's testimony, the defense rested, and the state recalled three witnesses in rebuttal.

Sheriff Mears was recalled to rebut the statement of the defendant that Mrs. Amelia Matz had taken a package of salts from the cupboard on the day after the funeral of Mrs. Hogrefe and thrown it into the stove. Witness said he searched the cupboard and found no salts there.

Mrs. Mary Bergt, neighbor of the Hogrefe family, testified in conflict with the evidence of the defendant as to the manner in which Mrs. Hogrefe was helped to her bed before she died.

defendant on the stand, swearing that she did not threaten violence nor encourage his improper relations with her.

ARGUMENTS OF COUNSEL.

The evidence was finished at 3:30 Saturday afternoon when the argument of counsel were commenced. County Attorney A. R. Davis opened for the state, followed by F. A. and Fred S. Berry. R. E. Evans presented the closing argument. The attorneys reviewed the evidence in detail, and were listened to attentively not only by the jury but by a crowd of men and women that thronged the court room.

The court's instructions were lengthy and thorough, going over the evidence carefully and explaining the law as it applied to the case. After the jury retired, Judge Welch took occasion to commend the lawyers for the dignified manner in which they had conducted the case, and the spectators for their quiet and respectful attention. There were no unpleasant clashes between the lawyers, and the dignity of the court was maintained in the highest degree.

THE DEFENDANT.

Henry Hogrefe who was tried on a complaint charging him with the murder of his wife, and acquitted, was born in Germany 32 years ago. He learned the blacksmith trade in the old country, and came to America in 1903, locating at Hooper, Neb. There he met and married his wife six years ago. Two years later the family removed to Altona. Of four children, born to the couple, two are dead, and twins are living, being in care of their grandparents at Hooper.

Mrs. Hogrefe died suddenly May 13, 1910. Facts of Henry Hogrefe's illicit relations with Mrs. Matz becoming known, and his wife's sudden death arousing suspicion, an investigation was instituted by the authorities. The dead woman's stomach was sent to a Sioux City chemist, and he reported that his analysis revealed the presence of strychnine. Hogrefe was accordingly arrested June 27, given a preliminary hearing and bound over to the district court without bail.

Aside from his two children, and an uncle living in Illinois, Hogrefe has no relatives in America. His parents and brothers and sisters live in Germany.

Donner, were quietly married last week at Oakdale, Neb., where the young couple spent a few days previous. Both parties are well known in Wayne where they have lived a greater share of their lives, and the hosts of friends join in best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

In the course of a letter to the Herald from J. H. Goll, a former well known citizen of Wayne, now living at Waterville, Wis., he says the weather was fine there up to a week before he wrote when a foot of snow fell and the mercury sank to zero. He says, however, that there is no frost in the ground, and that the moisture puts the soil in excellent condition for this year's crops. He mentions that wheat is selling for 71 cents per bushel, eggs and butter 40 cents each, and hogs 10 cents per pound. He says the Wayne colony is getting along well, and sends his regards to Wayne friends.

AMONG THE LADIES' CLUBS

MONDAY CLUB'S BIG NIGHT

Guests Invited to Help Honor Ireland Talk by Rev. Alexander Corkey Other Clubs.

Monday Club.

The Emerald Isle gave inspiration to the Monday club Monday evening. The members and their husbands, with Rev. Alexander Corkey and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. House as guests, gathered at the residence of Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch in time for a three-course dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Everybody did everything suggested Ireland. House decorations were green blended with America's national colors. Shamrock was conspicuous. Place cards, each featuring a small pig painted by Mrs. White, were unique and interesting. Several of the party were properly costumed. A bunch of artificial whiskers encircling the face, gave E. Spangham the right appearance to indicate that he had just arrived from Cork. C. A. Chase and Dan Harrington and a number of ladies were also properly decked out to enliven memory of the "old sod."

After an excellent supper, Mrs. Epler gave some Irish music, and Herbert Welch sang a couple of Irish songs. Then Rev. Corkey gave a brief address, portraying Irish scenes and character in his usually impressive and interesting fashion. He was given close attention throughout, and his talk was instructive and enjoyable.

Charities and general jollity followed, and every one had a good time, and the Monday club felt amply repaid for the effort it had put forth.

U. D. Club.

The U. D. club met at the home of Mrs. H. B. Craven Monday afternoon, and carried out a program full of interest and instruction. There was a book review by Mrs. Jas. Miller who read the "Back of Beyond" by Mrs. Craven read the "First Settler's Story," and Mrs. Morris presented a paper treating of Pacific coast writers. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Huffard.

Minerva Club.

The Minerva club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred S. Berry. Each member responded to roll call by giving the name of some new, practical invention. Two interesting papers were read, one by Mrs. Luitgen describing the practical aeroplane, and one by Mrs. Luitgen illustrating the plans and working of a coal mine. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Berry served a delicious luncheon.

Acme Club.

The Acme club met at the home of Mrs. Jno. T. Bressler Tuesday afternoon. The Bay View course was followed as usual, features of the program being the following: "Orators From Literature," Mrs. Jacobs; "General Conditions From Literature," Mrs. Weber; "Literature in the South," Mrs. Bressler. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Crawford.

YEARS FOR CALIFORNIA.

E. F. Feather, clerk of the district court, years for adventure and speculation and enterprise on the Pacific coast, and proposes to go there as soon as he can conveniently shake off the tentacles of his present office. He has had all the office-holding he wants, and then some, and expresses an anxiety to retire. This anxiety is stimulated somewhat no doubt by the call of the far west.

When he crosses the great continental divide and drops into the lap of California, he expects to pursue two prospects that he discovered while in the state recently. He would like to start farming in the long arroyos that reach from Oakland Bay to a developing and profitable industry. He says the crop is as staple as gold. And he likes oysters, anyway. He will likely engage in that business.

Another fortune lies in the development and use of a cluster of springs which he found in a giant canyon. There are three main springs within a few yards of each other. One gives forth soda water, another alum water and the third a high grade ink. He found the soda water an exact regulator of the human system. It perfects digestion, something not new to people who have tried the soda springs of the west. He says the alum will remove wrinkles from the face and restore youthful appearance in harmony with the rejuvenated feelings guaranteed by steady draughts from the spring. The ink can of course be put on the market at so much per and find a ready sale. He has his mind set on corralling these three springs, and then putting the wheels in motion to turn them to commercial advantage.

He takes the new-comer to appreciate and utilize natural resources. The man on the ground for a half century figures a nest of high-price springs as commonplace and worthless.

Thus, is it any wonder Mr. Feather twists uneasily in his chair when he thinks of the far west and contemplates the possibilities for those oyster farms around Oakland Bay and those apricot orchards that have hitherto gone to waste?

ST. MARY'S GUILD ENTERTAINMENT.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's church have arranged with Miss Margaret Carroll for a program to be given at the opera house, Friday evening, January 27, at 8:00 o'clock. Miss Carroll is well known in this locality, having taught for some years in our Normal College, during which time she has shown her ability in the field of drama, and by her pleasing entertainments endeavored herself to a host of friends, who no doubt will be pleased to turn out on above date, and by their presence in large numbers, show that old friends, though parted are not forgotten, and at the same time enjoy an evening of genuine pleasure from the splendid program that Miss Carroll can and certainly will give on this occasion. COMING IMPROVEMENTS.

With the past week the Herald has placed an order for a Mergenthaler Linotype machine, and will therefore soon replace the type setting with the more modern method. The paper has also ordered a folding machine, which will be in place in time for use when the Mergenthaler arrives. These improvements have become necessary in view of steadily increasing business, and in order to issue a modern, up-to-date weekly paper. The machine will so facilitate composition that much more news matter can be set every week. In fact, the machine could easily handle all the composition—news, paper, catalogue, etc.—in Wayne county, and will certainly be in the market to handle all it can get.

BANK PASSES RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of the directors of Citizens National bank January 17, the following resolution was adopted: Be it resolved by the officers and directors of the Citizens National Bank of Wayne, Nebraska, that in the death of Edward T. Rennick, the bank has lost a capable, earnest director, prompt and unselfish in his time and attention in any matter pertaining to its success; that the community has lost an earnest, upright citizen, ever responding to the call for the moral advancement and the success of any worthy enterprise of Wayne or his community. H. B. Craven, president; H. E. Jones, cashier; S. R. Theobald, C. J. Lynch, A. L. Tucker, P. H. Meyer, directors.

Two children of Henry Klopinger, one seven years old and another three years old, are sick with what is pronounced scarlet fever, and the home, three miles west of town, has accordingly been quarantined.

MRS. T. M. BROOKS OF FT. WORTH, TEX., KILLS MRS. MARY BINFORD.

EACH BULLET FINDS ITS MARK

Murderess Approaches Her Victim While She is at Work, and After a Short Scuffle Aims Deliberately and Fires into Her Body.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Mrs. T. M. Brooks, wife of a leading attorney, fired five bullets into the body of Mrs. Mary Binford of an elevator department store Monday afternoon.

Walking in the store Mrs. Brooks pleasantly spoke to persons she knew on the first floor, and proceeded to the second floor, where Mrs. Binford was employed as saleslady.

The woman grappled, and the scuffle the weapon was discharged, the ball passing through the head of Mrs. Binford.

Fragging herself, Mrs. Brooks stepped back and deliberately took aim and fired four times.

FIVE DIE IN WRECK

PASSENGERS IN SLEEPING CAR CRUSHED UNDER LOCOMOTIVE AT SAVATIA, N. Y.

TWO ARE FATALLY INJURED

New York Central's Boston Special Struck by No. 23, From New York, Whom Standing at Station—Bodies Not Identified.

Batavia, N. Y.—Five men are dead, two were probably fatally injured and eight others seriously hurt in the wreck of the Western Express and the Boston and Buffalo special, both westbound, at the station here of the New York Central railroad Friday.

The engine of train 23, the western express from New York to Chicago, struck the rear of No. 49, the Boston and Buffalo express, with such force that the rear car of No. 49, a sleeper, was crushed.

The engine was reduced to wreckage, beneath which four bodies were found. The mutilation was so great and steam played such havoc that early identification was impossible.

The bodies are: Man, fifty years old, probably Cassius C. Perrin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Masonic charm found beneath body in crushed berth.

Man, about thirty years old; smooth face, plain gold band ring, the word "Engagement" engrossed inside.

Man, about thirty-five; ring marked "F. J. S."

Robert McFarland, Detroit, Mich. The injured: H. H. Cade, Chicago; probably fatal; hurt; F. B. Van Valkenburg, Fultonville, N. Y., conductor, probably will die; Monte C. Frisous, Indianapolis; serious; H. C. Stiles, Dorchester, Mass., Pullman conductor; R. A. Smith, Rochester; James A. Moore, lawyer, Buffalo; L. H. Jones, Utica, N. Y.; Catherine Higgins and son, Thomas Higgins, Richland, N. M.; John Shaw, Toronto, Ont.; Mrs. John Shaw; Abram Cole, port, Boston.

Almost all the passengers were asleep when the shock came. There were desperate struggles with debris and many of the passengers reported among the injured at the hospital were exhausted because of their efforts to extricate themselves from the shattered car, and to help others.

Escaping steam from the punctured boiler of the locomotive added to the torture of those disabled and delayed the work of rescue.

Engineer J. E. Lydel, whose locomotive caused the wreck, made a statement in which he said he saw a caution light 4,000 feet east of the station and a signal against him 300 feet from the station, but was unable to bring his engine to a stop owing to slippery rails. He is said to be prostrated.

FIVE DEAD IN GAS BLAST

Ten-Cent Store is Blown Up at Connelleville, Pa.—Three Persons Injured.

Connellsville, Pa.—Five persons were killed and twenty injured in a gas explosion that wrecked a well-fitted five and ten-cent store here Thursday. The fire that followed completely destroyed the building.

Clerks and customers were buried in the collapse of the walls. One young woman went mad in anticipation of her horrible fate, fought off a rescuer and burned to death. The heat and smoke was so intense that all attempts at rescue were futile. Only three of the victims, all girls, have been identified.

The failure of workmen to cap the supply pipe after removing a natural gas meter caused the blaze.

STRIKE IN ALL PORTUGAL

Rail Employees Walk Out; Business Houses Idle—Spanish Minister Says Paralysis is General.

Lisbon.—A majority of the railroad employees in Portugal have gone on a strike. The government had long been warned of the movement and took active measures to maintain the service, with partial success.

Following the example of the railway men the employees of the commercial houses quit work on the ground that the government had failed to issue a decree fixing the limit of a day's work at 13 hours and providing one day of rest in seven.

As a consequence of this action many business places in this city are closed. The strikers are making an attempt to extend the movement to the provinces.

BATTLE IS FOUGHT

DISPATCH FROM MEXICAN BORDER TELLS OF RESUMPTION OF WARFARE.

MORE THAN 40 ARE SLAIN

Insurrectos Reported to Have Held Federal Troops at Bay for Three Hours When Latter Withdrew and Went into Camp.

San Antonio, Tex.—According to advices received in this city Thursday more than forty participants were killed in a serious battle that took place between the Mexican federal troops and the revolutionists just across the border.

The news came from Ed. O'Reilly, a newspaper correspondent who has been at the front in Mexico near the international line and was received here in a dispatch dated Comstock, Tex. It reads:

"Big fight; more than forty killed, bit myself." The insurrectos, it is reported, held the federals at bay for three hours, after which the latter withdrew two miles and went into camp.

This telegram indicates a reopening of hostilities after a lull of about a month, or since the insurrectos fought a draw battle with the forces of General Navarro at Ferro Prieto and soon afterward caught the federal commander's men in an ambush near the Matamoros and inflicted on them heavy losses.

SAYS TRUST WAR A "SHAM"

Samuel Undermyer Declares Little Corporations Are Pursued While Large Ones Let Go.

New York.—In an address before the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation Thursday Samuel Undermyer attacked the government's attitude toward the trusts as a "monstrous sham."

He predicted that the present session of congress would see the enactment of tariff commission legislation, but he advised the convention to insist through its representatives in congress, on a non-partisan, all-powerful commission.

He said that the American people had a right to demand of congress the establishment of a commission that would command the "same dignity and have the same adequacy of powers as the interstate commerce commission."

CALLS JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

ATTORNEY, BEFORE COURT, DENIES CONCERN IS A TRUST.

Reviews Chaotic Conditions of Early Oil Business and Eulogizes Head of New Jersey Company.

Washington.—Arguing before the supreme court of the United States against the proposed dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey as violative of the Sherman anti-trust law, John G. Milburn of New York addressed the court for three hours.

In his history of chaotic conditions in the oil business between 1860 and 1870, due to an overproduction of refining capacity, Mr. Milburn introduced to the court the character of John D. Rockefeller.

A statute of New Hampshire prohibiting a trust to a school of over $5,000 annually is the basis of the opinion written by Professor Taylor. Referring to the residuary clause as "null and void" the opinion says:

"As to the void gift, the testatrix died intestate and the subject matter passed on her death to her next of kin, under the New Hampshire statute, of distribution."

In the closing paragraph the opinion advises the attorneys for the next of kin that such agreements as they made with Mrs. Eddy and her trustee in her lifetime bind them only "in so far as they were such provisions of her last will as are legally valid."

KELLOGG FLAYS OIL TRUST

Declares Standard Was Born and Reared in Oppression—Assails John D. Rockefeller's Veracity.

Washington.—The government's side of the story of the Standard Oil corporation, with all the charges of sins laid at its doors, was placed in part before the supreme court of the United States by Frank B. Kellogg, special assistant to the attorney general, who, in an address of three and a half hours' duration on Friday "denounced" to show that the combine should be dissolved in accordance with the decree entered by the federal court in Milwaukee.

"The Standard," he said, "was born and reared in oppression and brought today over the country like a drunken colossus."

Mr. Kellogg said John D. Rockefeller either did not tell the truth in an affidavit he made in a suit in 1880 about the alleged lousiness of certain rebates with the trust or when he was on the stand in the present suit.

"Didn't he offer an explanation of the affidavit when he was on the stand in this case?" inquired Justice Lurton.

"No, he couldn't," responded Mr. Kellogg.

Mr. Kellogg showed that the profits of the Standard Oil were so vast as scarcely to be conceivable. He instanced the Standard Oil company of Indiana. On a capitalization of $1,000,000 this corporation shows in 16 years $63,000,000 in earnings, $29,000,000 of which it had paid in dividends, the remainder held in surplus.

He produced figures to prove that some of the Standard Oil's pipe lines had paid as high as 1,000 per cent on the capital, others paying from 100 to 350 per cent.

EDDY WILL DECLARED VOID

Gift of $2,000,000 to "Mother" Church is Said to Be Illegal.

Concord, N. H.—Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's $2,000,000 bequest to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, known as the "Mother church," is null and void under the New Hampshire law, according to certain legal lights, and it is possible that her sons may get the estate.

The residuary clause in the will, leaving the $2,000,000 to the "Mother church," is not legal in the opinion of Ex-United States Senator William E. Chandler, Hanis Taylor, the professor of constitutional law at George Washington university, and others. Their opinion was given out for publication here.

Beaumont, Tex.—The plant of the International Dressing and Construction company here was destroyed by fire Friday. The loss will reach about $80,000.

Child Slain by Thieves

Albany, N. Y.—Aid of the police throughout the country has been sought in an effort to locate the identity of a chubby, five-year-old boy whose frozen body with acid stains on the mouth, was found in a swamp on the Schaghticoke river. The child, it is thought, was poisoned by kidnappers.

ALL OVER NEBRASKA

Indian Funeral at Macy.

Burt County.—Llysses S. Grant, a prominent Indian on the reservation, was buried at their cemetery near Macy with many interesting Indian ceremonies in addition to the regular Presbyterian mission services. A costly metal casket with a Lyons underlaid, who had to order it specially from Fremont to get it there at the appointed time. Some of the peculiar ceremonies which seems interesting consisted in clearing the home of all furniture excepting a large range upon which a great feast was prepared and a cloth laid on the floor in the middle of the room when about 300 Indians partook. They also laid down after their feast with their feet toward the range and their heads toward the wall. The body was dressed in a white robe and after it was lowered into the grave a fine and costly blanket of a very light pattern was placed over the casket before the steel vault was closed and locked. Mr. Grant was about 52 years of age and was well to do.

After Twenty Years.

Otoe County.—The county court house has been hearing the matter of a final settlement of Charles E. Cotton, administrator of the estate of Lucy Ann Ballentine, which should have been made something like 20 years ago and which is being demoralized, who claims that her brother died by her daughter, Miss Mary Ballentine, a large estate and the administrator refused to account for it or made a final settlement of the estate. Cotton was the first National Bank of Syracuse at the time and a large stack of records of the bank are in court and being gone over by the attorneys and the court. Mr. Cotton is now a resident of Cheyenne, Wyo., and reputed to be wealthy, but when the left Nebraska he was about insolvent.

Mother Kills Her Baby.

Custer County.—Mrs. Nellie Mohatt, living five miles north of Broken Bay, is under arrest charged with killing her four-week-old baby by administering carbolic acid. Mrs. Mohatt was taken here by Corporal Dickinson and Prosecutor and confessed that she killed the child. She gave as her reason that she had too many children and that this one was not wanted. The woman is only 23 years old and is the mother of six children.

Cattle Were Buried Alive.

Dodge County.—John May, a farmer living five miles north of Fremont, discovered three cattle buried under a straw stack. Two of the cattle had been missing five days and the other, four days. At the time he discovered the bodies he reported them to the sheriff, thinking they had been stolen. Later he discovered them alive but buried under a straw stack. They were alive, but in weak condition.

School House is Burned.

Dakota County.—A disastrous fire broke out in Dakota City and in a couple of hours totally destroyed the large frame school building in the largest part of town. A terrific wind was blowing from the south and for a time, when the sparks and cinders were flying thick, endangered a large portion of the east part of town. The burned school building was built in 1892 and cost $4,000.

Eighteen Years in Pen.

Burt County.—Tom Dolan, the young Burt county farmer who was convicted two weeks ago in district court on the charge of forgery, was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary. Dolan maintained his innocence despite the unanimous belief of the jury, judge and those who heard his trial.

Consists of Hastings.

Adams County.—Considerable dissatisfaction was manifested in Hastings over the census returns published by the census bureau. The official figures give Hastings 9,338 inhabitants as against 7,188 in 1900. Most people expected the returns would show at least 11,000 or 12,000. This puts both Grand Island and Beatrice ahead of Hastings for third city in the state.

No Free Postage Stamps.

The house members refused to vote themselves postage stamps, a motion of Hoopedy for an allowance of five two-cent stamps and five one-cent stamps having been voted down.

Elevator Burned at Dannebrog.

Howard County.—A fire destroyed the grain elevator at Dannebrog. The contents, about 5,000 bushels of grain and 500 sacks of flour were also consumed. The property is owned by J. P. Taylor, of St. Paul. The building and a portion of the contents was covered by insurance. Loss about $19,000.

Court House Levy.

Custer County.—The majority for the court house levy at the special election held throughout the county is placed at 800 and is much larger than was expected.

Mrs. Mortenson Dies in Denmark.

Platte County.—Ed Mortenson received word from Denmark that his wife had died there in a hospital on Christmas day. Mr. Mortenson left the old country about a year ago. He had planned to have his wife come in a few months.

Shaken Horses Buried.

Douglas County.—Sixteen horses met death in Omaha in a fire believed to be of incendiary origin that totally destroyed the sales stable of Miller & Winder at Twentieth and Webster streets.

Struck by Train.

Jefferson County.—While coming through Lincoln yards George M. Allison, an engineer of Fairbury, who was running a local passenger train, struck a Greek section laborer named Luke Vassiloff, seriously injuring him.

House Prices $35,000 Bill.

Washington.—The house Thursday passed the legislative executive bill judicial bill, carrying approximately $35,000,000.

SERENE ONCE MORE

DRY MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE GET CONCESSIONS.

FIGHT NOW HARDLY PROBABLE

Committee Lists Not All Announced Yet, but Peace Seems to Reign Again in the House—Old Bills Re-appear.

Lincoln.—Important concessions in the making of standing committees for the house of representatives which are expected to secure the control of that body by the progressive democrats were being made from the organization, facing defeat on the floor of the chamber if the fight were carried through, the Leitch faction on the committee, to select committees and rendered shortly before midnight and accepted the greater portion of a list of changes in assignments, which the progressives had delivered to as an ultimatum.

This action by the organization men was expected to remove the prospect of a contest in the house over full committees and chairmanships.

A Few Bills.

The introduction of nineteen bills besides the reorganization of several other matters of doubtful importance, nullified the opening day of the session and won't's session of the house Tuesday. The session lasted less than an hour, being called together at 10:30 by Speaker Kuhl. There were twelve absentees, including Representative Schele of Seward who was excused on account of sickness in his family. Following the invocation by Chaplain Mickel and roll call, Evans of Adams offered a motion calling for a joint meeting of the house and senate committees of the house and senate in order that the work of shaping the appropriations bill might be facilitated as much as possible. Gordon of Richardson objected. Motion of Madison moved that the motion be tabled, but before his motion could be seconded, support was given Representative Evans' motion by Quackenbush of Nemaha and Johnson and by J. J. O'Brien. The motion was lost by a vote of 13 against and 11 for. Evans' resolution, which followed, was carried.

Initiative and Referendum. Representative Hefner of Lancaster has introduced a bill providing for introducing the first bill, it being the one to carry the bills of house roll No. 1.

Measure in the initiative and referendum is the one approved by the Nebraska direct legislation league, a non-partisan group of men who have been interested in the principle of direct legislation and who have spent much time during the past eight months in delving into the laws on the subject. As introduced, the bill requires a 10 per cent petition in order that legislation may be initiated by the people and a 5 per cent petition, in order to have legislation referred for action at a general election. A majority of all those voting on the submitted measure is to be sufficient to carry it, according to the bill. This is one point advised against by the retiring governor.

Time-Honored Guest Again.

Grueter of Taylor is the author this session of the time-honored binding twine bill. Last session, it was Bygones of Boone who was left at home last fall. Grueter wants the state to spend $50,000 for buildings and machinery at the penitentiary so that convict labor may be employed in the manufacturing of binding twine.

Sunday Baseball Bill.

A Sunday baseball bill has already put in an appearance in the house. It bears the name of Leitch of Otoe in place of Schele of Seward, who fought unsuccessfully all during last session for such a measure. By the provisions of the bill city councils in cities with more than 1,000 population may give consent for Sunday baseball games and such games are played in the 6th person to secure such consent four-fifths of the council must favor the sport on Sunday.

Jansen Has Trust Bill.

Senator Jansen of Gage has introduced a bill to authorize trust companies to organize and operate in this state. Charles S. Saunders of Omaha tried for three sessions of the legislature to pass a bill of this nature passed, but failed in the attempt. Mr. Jansen will take up the work which others left off. One of the arguments used in favor of trust companies is that they are useful in administering estates and performing other trust work.

Richmond and the Press.

Chief Clerk Henry Richmond in the house has an eye to the comfort of the newspaper men. He has worked at the business himself. So one of the first things he did on assuming the reins of the clerkship was to construct a press gallery in the chief clerk's office. This is about half way to the ceiling of the high-walled court and is equipped with every convenience for the wielders of the pen. A stairway from the office leads up to the "crow's nest."

Must Wear Paper Labels.

Indianapolis.—The Indiana legislature has passed a bill in the interest of measure in opposition to them will be registered as "lobbyists," if a bill introduced in the legislature should be passed. The bill provides that members of the "third house" shall record their names, the names of those they represent, the amount of their fees or salaries and whether or not payment was made by the interest in the bill services, and the titles of the bills they are concerned in.

DEATH OF MR. RENNICK.

Edward T. Rennick died on his farm, just west of town, last Sunday, after a long illness. He contracted pneumonia on December 3. After the disease had continued about ten or twelve days with the usual symptoms, improvement was hoped for but at that time there set in an acute malignant disease of the heart, from which it is very rare for one to recover.

Mr. Rennick came to Wayne county twenty-seven years ago, and was a citizen of high standing, respected by everybody. The funeral took place from the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. William Gorst, officiating. The large concourse of people in attendance attested to the esteem in which he was held.

The obituary read by the pastor at the close of the funeral service is reproduced as follows:

Edward Thomas Rennick was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, on the 17th day of October, 1855. Along with his parents and their other children he immigrated to the United States in 1869, settling in Muscatine county, Iowa. Fifteen years later, in 1874, he came to Wayne county, Nebraska, where he has ever since resided.

In April, 1885, he was married to Mrs. Rosa Olive Prescott who brought to her new home five beautiful Prescott children: Effie Lynette, Harry, Mabel Olive (now Mrs. Clyde Oman), Ernie and Susan Mary (Mrs. Harry Turlick), all of whom are here today except Effie who died many years ago. To Mr. and Mrs. Rennick were born four children, Maria, who is now Mrs. C. E. Wright, Bessie Gregory, William James and Lillian Frances, all three still at home. In April, 1898, this noble wife and mother went away to her heavenly home.

On the 14th day of June, 1900, Mr. Rennick was married at Winnebago, Nebraska, to Miss Adia West. To this union were born four children, Alvin Henry, Clara Lynette, Irma West and Elinor Jane, who with their mother and the other children remain to mourn the loss of this early passing from labor to reward.

Mr. Rennick was a noble husband and father. Twenty, or more, years ago it was a great delight to visit his home and feel the touch and charm of that genial, level-headed, attractive, modest but eminent manly character and disposition which made everybody about him happy. It was the ripening of these traits which in all the long weeks of his last illness provoked the most powerful purpose and longing desire to be restored to his family which he might continue to them the noblest and sweetest ministrations of his life. In his business career Mr. Rennick was always honorable and trustworthy. No improper advantages were ever taken nor any obligations neglected. His eminent business success stands upon the best foundation and unchallenged from every noblest standpoint. In his religious life there was no place for "sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." His perceptions of spiritual truth were clear and strong and his ethical life in beautiful harmony. Never keyed high for the spectacular, never wanting in fervency, his life was even and full of wise, buoyant, hopeful faith. In the things of the Kingdom he was a seer. Many years ago when Brenna precinct was without a church or a Sunday school Mr. Rennick became a key man. He was not naturally a Methodist. On the church building proposition it was said: "Ridiculous to think of a whole community building a church for fifteen or sixteen Methodists." This man said: "The Methodists are here. They can supply us with preaching and regular services. If the church is built it will not be for fifteen or sixteen Methodists. It will be for the whole community." And it has been.

Mr. Rennick said: "We can afford to make Common Cause," and, true to his theories, he gave his hand to the church, and his money to the enterprise. If the veil that hides glorified spirits from our view could be brushed aside for a moment until we could catch a vision of the redeemed and saved, who have gone home from the Altar, and if the enumerations could at once be tabulated of those born into the Kingdom, there and are blessing the church and humanity elsewhere with pure and helpful lives, and, if we could all see, as some do from time to time, the child and youth life that throngs little Grace church out of most of the homes, and have God and truth because of the education and incentives gained there, we would all say that Ed. Rennick was a prophet, and was right, when he said: "We can afford to make Common Cause." He built himself and his faith into that community and no wonder they are here; today.

Not is it surprising that the First Methodist Episcopal church of Wayne, on his moving to the home just west of town five years ago, should at once place him in its official and seek his calm and deliberate wisdom in guiding its affairs.

Mrs. Rennick in her own rights, by the charm of her Christian womanhood and her noble helpfulness and highly appreciated efforts, has won the confidence of us all. It will be the joy of this church, as far as possible, to minister to her comfort and to the wellbeing of her household in their very sore bereavement and ours. Stricken by fatal disease on the third of December, every moment since has been a moment of courage, fighting a hard battle until the end peacefully came at fifteen minutes to twelve, p. m., on Sunday, January 15, 1911. His house was in order, business affairs all closed up and he was left in both ways. To his pastor he said: "My faith has been abiding comfort. I am ready to do the Master's will which ever way he chooses."

On the visit of his physician Dr. Blair, last Saturday morning he said: "Dr. I believe that I will just go home." And later to his sister, Mrs. Mary Patterson Daran of Wilton, Iowa, he said: "I'm going to my home. Mary, besides my immediate family he leaves this sister, his half brother, William Patterson of Pilger and his brother, James of Stanton county. A good man, a tall oak has fallen just after high noon. His kindred and church have a rich legacy in the labors of his life and the precious memories which can never die.

PROPOSED LIBRARY BUILDING

The following letter to Mayor John T. Bressler explains the course necessary for the city to pursue to become a beneficiary of Andrew Carnegie's library fund.

New York, January 6, 1911. Mayor John T. Bressler, Wayne, Nebraska.

Dear Sir: Responding to your communications on behalf of Wayne: If the city agree by resolution of council to maintain a free public library at a cost of not less than seven hundred and fifty dollars a year, and provides a suitable site for the building, Mr. Carnegie will be glad to give seven thousand five hundred dollars to erect a free public library building for Wayne.

Respectfully yours, JAS. BITTRAM, P. Secretary.

P. S. It should be noted that the amount indicated is to cover the cost of the library building complete, ready for occupancy and for the purpose intended. Bene any expenditures on building or plans is incurred, Mr. Carnegie's approval of proposed plans should be secured, to obtain which please send sketch of plans for inspection. J. B. T.

FORMER WAYNE PEOPLE.

It will be of interest to the Wayne county friends of the family of W. M. Goodyear, who formerly resided here, to know that a double wedding took place at their home near Phillip S. D., recently. The Phillip Review gives this account of the wedding, and the Herald joins Wayne county friends in expressions of good wishes:

A pretty home ceremony was solemnized Saturday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Goodyear, northwest of the city, when four hearts succumbed to Cupid's darts. The contracting parties were Miss Marguerite L. Goodyear and Ed. J. Swartz, and Bond D. Goodyear and Miss Eva L. Crain. Rev. Oscar E. Tell was the officiating clergyman who tied the nuptial knots, pronouncing the ceremony which united the lives of these estimable young people. The wedding was a quiet one, witnessed only by a few relatives.

It is pleasant to chronicle the marriage of such worthy young people, and to note that their homes are built on the fertile acres of Stanley county. Both grooms have claims in the vicinity of Ash Creek, where they and their brides will be at home after January 10th. The Review joins with their many other friends in expressing sincere wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE BY AN ASIATIC TRAVELER.

Rev. H. H. Harmon, who is the pastor of one of the largest churches in Nebraska, has recently returned from an extended tour of Europe and eastern Asia and will be in Wayne next Friday evening, January 20th, to give his famous illustrated lecture, "A Trip to Palestine." With the aid of the attention he will be able to take his audience into the heart of Bible Lands as they appear today, and his lecture will be one of the most important of the kind ever heard in Wayne. Mr. Harmon comes under the auspices of the C. E. society of the Presbyterian church, and the lecture will be given in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. A special student rate of 15 cents has been arranged for all the students at the Normal and at high school who wish to attend this interesting and instructive entertainment. All Bible students will be favored with a rare treat in this illustrated description of the places made famous by the Bible characters, including Jesus Christ himself.

It often takes more courage to avoid a row than to engage in one. The acquisition of a Carnegie building appears assured if the city meets requirements in the way of maintenance. The improvement will help the city, and will guarantee a first-class library for all time.

The country needs more statesmen and fewer politicians men who thoroughly understand the intricacies of government and who have a high sense of duty to the public and posterity, rather than men who shout to the galleries and who know little and care less about the effect of legislation.

A night telegraph operator is needed at the Wayne depot. The operator, at present employed, finishes his day's work at 6:30 in the evening, and unless he is hired by the person having a message to send, to put in extra hours, there is delay until the next morning. More frequent advantage would be taken of the cheap rate for sending night letters if an operator were on hand to take care of the business. Wayne would seem to have reached a business class long ago entitling it to more than one operator.

A bill has been introduced in the California legislature similar to the one which aroused Japanese ire a few years ago, and caused the intervention of President Roosevelt. The proposed measure is designed to segregate Chinese and Japanese students, and provide separate buildings for them, and also to prevent any adult Mongolian from attending any public school. The Californians no doubt have good reason for wanting to keep the races apart in school - for one reason, to make less likely unfortunate marriages. The problem of how to live in the state with a motley aggregation of Mongolians is no joke to California people.

Men who are in a position to know believe the present year will be one of large growth and prosperity generally. Local conditions are not quite so active as usual because of the little corn that has gone to market, but this condition is temporary, for when the crops are moved there will be an abundance of cash in circulation. Wayne and vicinity promise to see more building than usual. A new building at the State Normal is confidently expected, and the proposed Carnegie library will help materially. Besides, many new residences are being planned for the city and country. This ought to be one of the liveliest years in the history of Wayne.

If the exemplary manner in which Judge A. A. Welch presided during the Hogrefe trial is a criterion of his service generally and at all times throughout the district, as it doubtless is, there should be no question about his re-election to the bench. There was such manifest respect for the court by lawyers and spectators that perfect order and dignity prevailed. Judge Welch has a high ideal of our procedure, and suffers no love or bias clashes between rival counsel. The attorneys and spectators behaved so well that words of commendation were expressed by the court at the conclusion of the trial, but for this uniformly good behavior a liberal share of credit belongs to Judge Welch. He presided with dignity and strict adherence to court rules that commanded the respect of all. Any one who attends a session of court with Judge Welch on the bench can appreciate the cause of his popularity over the district and the fact that other lawyers hesitate to enter the political arena to try to wrest the place from him.

WESTERN IMAGINATION. Western papers give vent to so much hot air in boozing their respective localities that they sometimes make themselves ridiculous in the absence of the facts. The Herald has before it an extract from the Boise Idaho Statesman. The Wayne county man mentioned and quoted in the article is unknown here, and he is quoted as saying things altogether at variance with actual conditions. It is absurd to suggest that any government home-lands were available, four miles from Wayne in 1890, and the boast of land selling for $70 to $100 is too mild to suit the facts, or stimulate the pride of land owners. The article from the statesman, which follows, shows how the newspaper imagination often performs in the west: "That Idaho is the ideal home spot for which he has been looking for many years, is the opinion of Jacob Campbell of Wayne, Nebr., who is stopping in Boise for a few days.

"Campbell is one of the largest land owners in Wayne county, Nebraska, and claims to be paying taxes on 1600 acres at this time. "He went to Nebraska in 1890, from Illinois, with no other possessions than a team of horses and a wagon worth perhaps $200, and a wife and three children.

"He took up a homestead about four miles from Wayne and since that time he has increased his acreage ten fold. "He said, 'I have seven children now, all boys, the youngest of which is 16 years old, and the boys all have the western fever and I can not say but what their dad has also.

"They all want to come west and grow up with the country and my wife and I thought that they would probably do so and decided to come with them in order that the family may remain united. "So I determined to come out west and look over the country as soon as we harvested our crops, and have been clear to the coast, and I must say that southern Idaho, more nearly approaches, our ideal spot than any other section at which I have looked.

"The land in Nebraska, which I homesteaded back in 1890, was not considered worth anything, yet that very same land is selling for $70 to $100 an acre now, and I believe that all this western land will show the same percentage of increase in a like period of time.

"I am going home in a few days, and will tell the folks at home what I have seen, and if my report satisfies them we will probably sell out our lands and come west. "We will travel in better style this time, than we did when we first came west."

(Copyright, 1911, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.) Omri and Ahab Lead Israel into Greater Sin. I Kings xvii:16-23.

Golden Text - Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people. Prov. xiv:34.

(1) Verses 15-16 - Who was Zimri, and whom did he succeed as king of Israel and by what method did he get to the throne?

(2) Did the fact that God had planned for the death of Elah, and for the destruction of his father's house, justify Zimri in being the instrument for doing it? Why?

(3) Did the people do right or wrong, and why, for making another king and conspiring against Zimri for having slain Elah the king?

(4) Verses 17-20 - How long did Zimri reign? (See Vs. 15, 19, 20.)

(5) Is there any reason to believe that God ever brings about civil war when he wishes to destroy a nation or to reform its abuses?

(6) What were Omri and his army engaged in when they heard that Zimri had slain King Elah?

(7) Can you give any information as to his treachery and the way Zimri caused Israel to sin?

(8) Zimri practically committed suicide; did the circumstances justify it, or is suicide always wrong?

(9) Verses 21-24 - After the death of Zimri, Israel was divided, one half following Omri, and the other half made Tibni king and followed him; say what was the cause of this division?

(10) How long did the strife or civil war between Omri and Tibni last? (Vs. 15-23.)

(11) What is the inevitable result when nations or individuals quarrel and fight among themselves?

(12) Verses 25-28 - What particular form did the sin of Omri take? (See Micah vi:16. I Kings xiv:7-9.)

(13) What were the influences do you consider, which led Omri to do such grievous sin?

(14) What is the root cause of all sin?

(15) Which is more prolific in leading people into sin, pride, i. e., wanting to shine as well or better than our neighbors, or the love of power which comes from money, position, or ability? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(16) What did Omri and what do all like him get, who have battered their goodness for position and power? (17) Verses 29-30. Which king is more likely to be a good man, one who comes to the throne by heredity or by the vote of the people?

(18) What are the chances for a son of a bad but popular father, becoming a good man?

(19) When wicked men see the evil fate of wicked men, why is it that they choose to follow in their fateful footsteps?

(20) Is the example of a bad king as likely to be followed as that of a good one? Why?

(21) Verses 31-33 - Did Omri make it easy or hard for his son Ahab to be a bad man and why?

(22) Why was it wrong for Ahab to marry the daughter of a foreign king who was an idolater?

(23) How much is a man influenced for evil by a clever but worldly wife?

(24) What was the worship of Baal? What was Jezebel noted for?

(25) To what extent does the law operate for nations and individuals, to go from bad to worse? (27) What did Ahab do to provoke the Lord to anger more than any other of the kings of Israel? Lesson for Sunday, Jan. 29, 1911. Jonahaphath's Good Reign in Judah. 2 Chron. xxi:1-12.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The Laird of Skibo, noble soul, believes the world is in a hole while war drums throb and cannon crash, and so he gives a wad of cash, to end the reign of blood and woe, and give the White Winged Dove a show. He dug ten million from his shoe, and sprang it with a howdy do. Far be it from a grass-fed bard to say things critical or hard, about a princely gift like this, designed to further human bliss. But where will all this money go? And will the White Dove have a show? Methinks I see the high brows meet, and make long speeches and repeat; I see the long-haired, four-eyed sports bold congresses of divers sorts; they'll write long books that no one reads, they'll junket here and junket there, and "resolute" and paw the air, and write peace anthems, full of thrills, while he of Skibo foots the hills. Methinks that when peace does appear, and earth has lost the battle fear, 'twill be because men grow more wise and gentle as time onward flies; 'twill be the harvest of the tears that men have sown in bitter years. This boon will have no branded hide; no Skibo cost mark on its side.

July the Fourth will soon be here, the gladdest day of all the year. A few more months of sleet and snow, and then the spring will come and go, and then the Fourth, the day of days, we'll celebrate four hundred ways. O buy your gun and toy balloon, and dynamite, and buy them soon! Have pity on the weary clerks who labor in the powder works, and buy your bombs and hand grenades before the winter season fades. Lay in your arnica and lint before the months of winter sprint. The drugstore clerks are patient souls, but when July upon us rolls they're rushed to death, and have no chance to shoot off guns with us and dance. Call in the surgeons now, I beg, and let him amputate your leg! It is atrocious and absurd to put it off until the third, for then he's worked both day and night, and cannot saw a leg off right. And coroners are human, too; their rights we ought to keep in view; so let them sit upon your brow and hold a little inquest now. If we would have our lives correct, the rights of others we'll respect.

The housewife sang as she did her chores, and the music floated around outdoors. Her voice was far from the Melba class; it would drill a hole through a pane of glass; the words were fierce and the time was worse, and she shrieked at the end of every verse.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S SONG The Judge was passing along that way, as he rode to court on his knee-sprung bay, and he shook his head and heaved a sigh, and wiped a tear from his good left eye. "When a housewife sings as she works," he said, "then a blessing rests on her faithful head; for her husband's kind and her children's good, and peace illumines her neighborhood. For wives don't sing if their hearts are sore, if sorrow stands in the cottage door." Then the jurist thought of his dwelling grand, with pomp and riches on every hand; of the jaded women who languished there, and filled with grumblings the perfumed air. They did no work and they sang no songs, but wearied him with their social wrongs; and the judge indulged in another sigh, and wiped a tear from his good right eye. Then his old horse stumbled and fell down flat, and he took a header and spoiled his hat.

Toiling away when the year is new; toiling away when its journey's through, that is the way we pilgrims do, toiling away, toiling away on the windswept hill, doing our tasks in the noisy mill, hoping for rest when the looms are still, toiling away, away. Toiling away at the fertile loam; guiding our ships o'er the spray and foam, saying a prayer for the ones at home, toiling away, away; toiling away in our humble sphere, all through the long, long weary year, smiling a bit when the night is near; toiling away, away. Toiling away for our daily bread; toiling away when our hopes are dead; toiling away till we go to bed, toiling away away; toiling away for our wages slim, toiling away when our eyes are dim, toiling away till the evening hymn, toiling away, away. Toiling away; 'Tis our end and aim! Toiling away for an honored name! Toiling away is the human game, toiling away! Here on the vessel the ropes we coil; here on the meadow we plow the soil, thankful that we have the strength to toil; toiling away!

A TIMELY APPEAL O buy your gun and toy balloon, and dynamite, and buy them soon! Have pity on the weary clerks who labor in the powder works, and buy your bombs and hand grenades before the winter season fades. Lay in your arnica and lint before the months of winter sprint. The drugstore clerks are patient souls, but when July upon us rolls they're rushed to death, and have no chance to shoot off guns with us and dance. Call in the surgeons now, I beg, and let him amputate your leg! It is atrocious and absurd to put it off until the third, for then he's worked both day and night, and cannot saw a leg off right. And coroners are human, too; their rights we ought to keep in view; so let them sit upon your brow and hold a little inquest now. If we would have our lives correct, the rights of others we'll respect.

DR. TURNER'S VISIT TO WAYNE The President of Hastings College is to be here next Sunday. President E. A. Turner, L. L. D., the executive head of Hastings college, will be in Wayne next Sunday, and will preach a special sermon for young people at the Presbyterian church in the evening. Dr. Turner is a polished scholar and a brilliant speaker, and is a power for good amongst young people, especially young men. At the presidential inauguration he has exceptional opportunities to come in contact with young people who are seeking to make the most of their lives, and his addresses are powerful and inspirational. He will be present also at the morning services of the Presbyterian church, and will assist the pastor in the communion service, and make a brief address to Christian people.

During the administration of Dr. Turner, Hastings college has grown year by year, and there is a large body of students in attendance at this well known institution this winter.

don't intend to read his book, or any dope that he may spring concerning all his voyaging. I'd rather read some simple tale about a man who drives a nail, or DOCTOR COOK saws a board or fixes a shoe, and buys his kids a round of shoes. Between ourselves, it is a shame, how cheap men play their dizzy game, and pile up bundles of long green by gabbing in some magazine. I stand up strong for Richard Roe who earns a modest slice of dough, by shoeing mules or mowing grass, or fusing round with window-glass. All through the week he toils and sweats; on Saturdays he pays his debts. He spends his homely, obscure life with his kids and wife. One quiet man like Richard Roe, who fixes clocks or shovels snow, or tires his fingers binding books, is worth a whole parade of Cooks. It makes no odds to any soul how near the pole was to the Pole; it makes no odds to any man what queer delusions filled his ear; it makes no odds what Eskimos for gumdrops gave their shoes and clothes. The only thing that counts on earth, the only thing of sterling worth, is work; by this I do not mean the working of some magazine.

Last night, worn out by hours of toil down in the busy mart's turmoil, I sat me in the fireside glow, and read some tales by Edgar Poe. I had not read those anecdotes since I was young and full of oats, but in my memory they stood as something grandly, weirdly good. So now I took the book and read of buried men who were not dead; of one-eyed cats and tell-tale hearts; of moldy bones and poisoned tarts; of nasty freaks who sat in tombs and talked about their divers dooms; of ushers in their crumbling homes; of skulls and worms and catacombs; of gloomy dungeons underground, of tons of wine, wherein men drowned; of condors' wings and owls and bats; and ring-tailed rats. I threw that silly book away. One idol more has feet of clay! Or is it that my taste is punk, since I have sored on Edgar's junk? Is all that rot concerning bats, and ghosts and ghoulies and sore-eyed cats the kind of stuff that stirs the heart of one who has reared for art? I do not care for art myself; I take some volume from the shelf some book that has a joyous strain, whose author was not quite insane - and in its cheerful pages find refreshment for the heart and mind.

Wm. Piepenstock MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS. Whereas, it hath pleased Almighty God, in His wise providence, to call to Himself our beloved co-worker and member of the official board of the Methodist church of Wayne, Edward T. Rennie; Therefore, be it resolved, by this official board that in his death the church and community have suffered an irreparable loss, that we remember with pleasure and gratitude the clear vision in the moral interests of the community, the readiness with which he put himself behind every moral and financial interest of the church; and we commend the sturdy Christian character of Edward T. Rennie as worthy of emulation by the membership of this church. Be it further resolved, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family in their great loss of a husband and father whose memory shall be a benediction to all whom he touched. Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the official board and a copy be sent to the family. G. W. Crossland, Theo. Deurig, C. H. Bright, Committee

Poland Chinas Three of these pictures show the boars used in J. M. Coleman's herd of Poland Chinas, and there are three more good boars in his herd. Anyone in need of bred sows or gilts can find what they are looking for. I have eighty sows and gilts to select from. I have three February gilts out of Nelson's Largest. They are good ones. The number of Price's Jumbo should read 150,731. My Poland Chinas range in ages from gilts to 5-year-olds, and people on the market for pure-bred hogs should see them. J. M. COLEMAN On R. F. D. AMONG HERALD EXCHANGES

A man was fined $100 or thirty-three days in jail for attempting to beat a Randolph landlord out of a board bill.

Rev. J. W. Beard has resigned as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Randolph with the intention of going to new fields of labor in the northwest.

The First National Bank and Farmer's State bank of Hartington have consolidated with a capitalization of $100,000. The reorganization will put up a new and modern banking house.

The Randolph Enterprise complains that there is a bootlegging and gambling joint in operation in that town, and that if it isn't discontinued before long, action will be taken to get rid of it.

The Madison Post, which has been run as a semi-weekly, is to be changed to a weekly. The Herald has never yet heard of a semi-weekly that was satisfactory to either the publisher or the public.

Carroll Index: The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sylvanus passed away Tuesday about noon, caused by pneumonia. The little one was only four years old and their only child and they have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

Battle Creek Enterprise: Senator Phil Kohl of the Eleventh district, has been successful in getting a place on several important committees, among them being public lands and buildings, highways and bridges, engrossed and enrolling bills, finance, ways and means, insane hospitals, insurance, and apportionment.

The school house at Dakota City having been destroyed by fire, the South Sioux City Record thoughtfully suggests that its town will purchase a building for the county records and officials, so that the court house at Dakota City can be vacated and used for school purposes. The Record thinks the court house would make an ideal school house.

Winside Tribune: H. E. Siman received a card this week from Lincoln to the effect that the supreme court had decided the Hoskins case in favor of the saloon. This legalizes the saloon now running in that village and it is not thought any farther steps will be taken to stop it until spring, when August Deck will probably get to work again.

Winside Tribune: We cannot see why bright men will go to towns and put in opposition papers when the field is already filled, just because some other fellows have a grievance over whisky, religion or politics. It may look good at the start but there is a mighty long grind coming and years of labor spent for nothing. There are plenty of towns wanting a paper and also plenty of established, paying papers for sale.

Winside Tribune: About the most contemptible and low piece of thievery we have heard of is reported from the Apex school district, happening during the holiday vacation. The teacher, Miss Lush, had purchased a lot of rope for the children to make swings, etc., and forgot to take it in when school was out. This rope was all stolen and although the guilty parties are strongly suspected, no sure proof of the petty crime has been found.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Wayne People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Wayne residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. Joseph Schmalstieg, of Wayne, Nebr., says: "It is a pleasure to confirm the public statement I gave in 1907, endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled by a heavy, dull ache through my kidneys and back. I also had dizzy spells and headaches. The kidney secretions were excessive and plainly showed that my kidneys needed attention. Doan's Kidney Pills drove away the pains in my back and toned up my system. Since then whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have relieved me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TO THE FARMERS.

Meals may now be had at Perrin hotel for 25 cents.

Aided by Advertising. Certain well-known American products, like garbanzo beans and apples, have become household articles in France, largely because of persistent and systematic advertising.

Order of Hearing on Petition for Appointment of Administrator

In the County Court of Wayne county, Nebraska. The heirs and all persons interested in the estate of the Grant, deceased. On reading the petition of Eugene Grant, praying that the administration of said estate be granted to Eugene Grant as administrator. It is hereby ordered that you, and all persons interested in said matter, may, and do, appear at the county court to hold in said court on the 25th day of January, 1911, at 2 o'clock p. m., to show cause, if any, there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and that the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing. With my hand and seal of said court, this 18th day of January, A. D. 1911.

JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mary C. Abbot, Wolfboro, N. H., says: "I was afflicted with a bad case of rheumatism, due to uric acid that my kidneys failed to clear out of my blood. I was so lame in my feet, joints, and back that it was agony for me to step. I used Foley's Kidney Pills for three days when I was able to get up and move about and the pains were all gone. This great change in condition I owe to Foley's Kidney Pills and recommend them to anyone suffering as I have." Felber's Pharmacy.

English Estimate of Poe. The best of Poe could be printed in a very few pages; but in the general opinion of Europe, at least, it is the best that American literature has yet produced, being better than anything else of the same kind in the whole world.—London Times.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a very valuable medicine for throat and lung troubles, quickly relieves and cures painful breathing and a dangerously sounding cough which indicates congested lungs. Sold by all dealers.

Old-Time Cooking Recipe. Curt Cakes (from the "Closet of Curries," 1709). Take a pint of oil, four eggs, leaving two of the whites, add sugar and grated nutmeg with a little flour, mix them well, and drop them like fritters in a frying pan in which butter is hot.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil at once. It acts like magic.

Many Varieties of Stamps. There are at the present time over 21,000 varieties of postage stamps in the world.

For either acute or chronic kidney disorders, take Foley's Kidney Pills. An honest and effective medicine for kidney and bladder disorders. Felber's Pharmacy.

Statistics of Persia. The population of Persia is believed by old residents to be about 12,000,000 or 13,000,000. The climate and general character of the country resemble those of Arizona and California, except along the north coast, which resembles South Carolina.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never disappoints those who use it for obstinate coughs, colds and irritations of the throat and lungs. Stands unrivalled as a remedy for all throat and lung diseases. Sold by all dealers.

To Clean the Chimney. Instead of throwing away potato peelings dry them and burn them in the stove. Those who burn soft coal will find this a great help. The potato peelings burn with such a fury that they carry the soot out of the chimney.—From "Little Helps" in the National Magazine.

your druggist for them. 25 cents a box.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is not a common, every-day cough mixture. It is a meritorious remedy for all the troublesome and dangerous complications resulting from cold in the head, throat, chest or lungs. Sold by all dealers.

Didn't Catch Him. A Missourian who bought some Texas land and wanted to unload it told a prospective buyer that it had "doubled in value since I bought it." "But," said the other, "you offered to sell it to me for the same price you said. How has it doubled in value?" "Well, you see, I gave twice as much as it was worth."—Kansas City Star.

Have you a weak throat? If so, you cannot be too careful. You cannot begin treatment too early. Each cold makes you more liable to another and the last is always the harder to cure. If you will take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the outset you will be saved much trouble. Sold by all dealers.

Enemy of Rattlesnake. No resident of Arizona, New Mexico or Texas would let a road-runner. It is firmly believed that the bird is the deadly enemy of that monster of the desert, the rattlesnake. The accepted tradition is that the road-runner and the rattlesnake are deadly enemies, and that the rattlesnake fears the road-runner beyond anything else.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They do the work when ever you require their aid. These tablets change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, gloominess into joyousness. Their action is so gentle one don't realize they have taken a purgative. Sold by all dealers.

He Could Not Quite Remember. Voltaire's plaint, "The necessity of saying something, the perplexity of having nothing to say," might have found an echo in an audience addressed for the third time in one service by an old gentleman famed for his readiness to speak. "I was thinking while sitting here of the words of the poet," said he. "I can't just remember the words, and the name of the poet has gone from me."—Youth's Companion.

FOR LAGRIFFE COUGHS, AND STIFFY COLDS

Take Foley's Honey and Tar. It gives quick relief and expels the cold from your system. It contains no opiates, is safe and sure. Felber's Pharmacy.

A Tree That Weeps. During the driest months of the Rhodeston year—August, September and October, a tree called by the natives Mikolpo, exudes moisture in large drops from its topmost leaves, and gives the traveler who happens to be standing in the immediate vicinity the impression that a shower of rain is falling. When the natives see one of these trees dripping, they say: "The Mikolpo is weeping for rain." Even during the hottest day the tree weeps copiously.—Strand.

LOOK FOR THE BEE HIVE

On the package when you buy Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs and colds. None genuine without the Bee Hive. Remember the name, Foley's Honey and Tar and reject any substitute. Felber's Pharmacy.

Neat Recipe. The anecdote is still told in Vermont of the reply which Mrs. Chittenden, the governor's wife, made to some squeamish visitors who objected to meeting the farmhands at dinner. "We usually all dine together," said the first lady of Vermont, "but I really think there should be two tables set—the first for the farmhands, because they have been working very hard and must be very hungry, and the second for the rest of us, who can very well wait."

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY—AN APPRECIATION

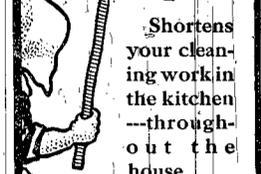

L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Felber's Pharmacy.

Living Books. Aprina Indian legend is an interesting one. An Arizona judge, who has been studying this tribe says that they select several promising youths of their tribe from time to time for living libraries of their traditions and they are carefully instructed in the historical legends pertaining to their tribe, being required to commit them faithfully to memory. They in turn instruct their successors, and thus preserve the traditions in the exact language recited by their ancestors at many years ago.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Felber's Pharmacy.

COMMISSIONER PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Neb., Jan. 5th, 1911. Board met as per adjournment. Present Geo. S. Farjan, Eph Anderson, and J. P. Stanton, commissioners.

Board proceeded to an organization, with the selection of Eph Anderson as chairman.

The following claims were on motion audited and allowed and warrants ordered drawn.
