Williams of Wayne began service as clerk in the Holtz clothing store February 1. Cedar County News: Chas Becker was in the city yesterday on business. He is preparing to remove from the place he has been occupying northeast of Randolph to one further south on the county line near Carroll. Stanton Pickett; The Big S basketball team went to Wayne last Friday in an automobile but the team over there did not give them a game. It was a cold ride for the boys and they were disappointed at not securing a game. The Wakefield Republican favors moving the county seat from Ponca, but doesn't want it to stop until it reaches Wakefield. That paper thinks Wakefield is the most easily accessible town in Dixon county, and therefore the one that ought to have the county seat. Winsde Tribune: Mr. Cullen and Loretta are expected home the last of this week. Loretta was operated upon for the goitre last Thursday, previously having her tonsils removed. She stood the operation splendidly and her many friends hope that she will now enjoy good health again. Beldens Progress: Editor Huse of the Wayne Herald is praying for a night telegraph operator at Wayne and says the business of the town demands another operator. Wayne is one of the busiest and fastest growing towns in Northeast Nebraska and we are glad to see it progress. The town of Dixon had a stabbing affray on Tuesday night of last week. John Hanson who lives north of that town, was stabbed just below the heart by Ab. Wright as the result of a row. The trouble is said to have started in a saloon and finished on the street. It is thought Hanson will recover from the wound. County Attorney Kingsbury and Sheriff Maskell were notified, and went to Dixon to get Wright who will face a serious charge. Norfolk Daily News: The news contained in a special dispatch to The News from Washington that Congressman Latta of the Third Nebraska district announces unreservedly that he will retire from public life at the end of his present term, will cause considerable of a sensation in political circles in this district. Congressman Latta is now serving his second term. He was re-elected last November over former Congressman Boyd by the biggest majority ever given to a candidate in this district—7,300. In some circles it was stated he would be a candidate for governor two years hence. It was also stated that Latta had promised Dan Stevens, of Fremont, chairman of his committee, that he would get out of the game after this year to give Stevens a chance, and this announcement is probably in accordance with that reported promise. Bloomfield Monitor: The Bloomfield Commercial Club at a recent meeting, decided to request the business men of this city to discontinue buying calendars "and to apply something like the amounts paid out annually for this purpose into a "Good Road Fund." It was figured that the business men pay out annually considerably more than $1,000 for calendars alone and if these funds could be applied to the roads leading to the town that the town would receive many more benefits from the expenditure of their money. A petition was consequently circulated and in an hour's time nearly every merchant signed it and pledged amounts ranging from $20 to $150 to be paid to the Commercial Club by June 1st, 1911, to be used on the roads. In addition they further pledged themselves not to buy any calendars for the ensuing year. In lieu of this the Commercial Club will buy enough calendars to supply the entire trade territory giving to each business and household one good calendar for the year 1912. It is a good move and the Monitor heartily commends the spirit which actuates our business men in taking this step. It is one step toward a bigger and better Bloomfield.
