SUIT IS REPORTED SETTLED

It is reported that the breach of promise suit instituted by Mary Cauley against Phil Sullivan of Wayne, in the district court at O'Neill, has been settled by an agreement between the two parties, and the action dismissed, the defendant having paid an amount in cash that was satisfactory to the plaintiff.

Speaking of the case, the O'Neill Frontier has this to say:

"The court room spectators who, like men in Athens in Paul's day that spent their time telling or hearing something new, may feel a pang of disappointment—as the counsel for the plaintiff was very much surprised and began to wonder from whence would come his fees—that the sensational $150,000 damage suit of Mary A. Cauley against Phillip Sullivan has been settled out of court, the case dismissed, and there will be no touching testimony nor fancy flights of oratory nor sharp exchanges between lawyers for them to listen to. The case was to have been tried at the April adjourned term of district court, but now not at all. Attorney R. R. Dickson for the defense secured a dismissal of the case Wednesday, but what the terms of settlement were between the one with a broken heart and the old lover, the newspapers do not know, as that does not become a part of the record of proceedings in court. The main facts in the case, as set forth in the petition when the suit was filed, aside from a few incidentals that were withheld, have already been published. Mary A. Cauley brought suit for $150,000 damages against Phillip Sullivan, a wealthy but elderly gentleman of Wayne county, for breach of promise along matrimonial lines. The case was slated to make quite a stir, but everything has been amicably mended out of court, and there will be no trial of the case."

SALVATION ARMY WOMAN.

Yesterday's Omaha Bee published a report from Randolph that Miss Anvov Merritt had been discredited as solicitor of money for the Salvation Army and was being held at Wayne under a charge of obtaining money under false pretense. It is true that the woman was detained at Carroll, and County Attorney Davis called there to investigate. But was found she was an accredited representative of the Salvation Army and was released. Her detention was due to initial inquiry from an Omaha source unacquainted with the facts.

HOLD TELEPHONE MEETING

About twenty-five men, mostly farmers representing the different rural telephone lines out of Wayne, met at the court house yesterday afternoon to talk over the matter of improving the service. The question was freely discussed. Some supported the idea of building an independent exchange, while others favored an effort to get better service from the Nebraska Telephone company. What is called a grievance committee, consisting of Harry Craven, W. H. An Airboat.

The aeroplane is an airboat rather than a flying machine, says St. Nicholas. The only action of the bird that it imitates is the bird's soaring, in nearly the same sense in which a boat floats on its deck. With the duck, however, there is one difference. It shares the balloon principle, because its body will not sink when it stands still, whereas the aeroplane will fall unless it is constantly urged forward. The duck is lighter than its bulk of water, as the balloon is lighter than its own bulk of air. To call an aeroplane a flying machine is therefore exactly the same as to call a boat a swimming machine. Keeping in mind the swimming of the duck and the floating of a fish and of human beings.

has made good far in advance of the anticipation of its friends. SUCH STRIDES! We challenge any firm to equal the record made by this flour in the last six months.

To know that housewife uses S P L E N D I D F L O U R is self-evident she takes pride in her bread, and pastries, too. Nothing "technical" in the use of this flour; simply apply ordinary bread-making rules and success is assured.

Flour made from the choicest of wheat, it naturally follows, a good flour will be produced if proper milling methods are applied. None but the choicest wheat is bought by the Splendid milling concern; no occasion for the "treating method" or mixing process before grinding so commonly used. S P L E N D I D is made on honor. Made to sell on a basis of quality and quality only.

S P L E N D I D continues to sell at a price in keeping with its well known quality. In every sack, the interest of the customer is at stake and the patron realizes that reputation, 40 years milling experience and the most modern methods are equally responsible for the existence of a flour that is true to name.

SPLendid

We can refer you to 200 or more housewives who would gladly explain the merits of Splendid.

Wheat Wheat Wheat

Every farmer in northeast Nebraska, should sow some wheat 10, 15 or 50 acres. It produced more, was of better quality and made more money for the producer, than any crop on the farm for 1910. We are making special efforts to induce the farmer to sow wheat. If you need seed, come to us; leave your orders and we will procure it for you at lowest cost. If you want it cleaned, (better than any fanning mill can clean it) we are here to do it for you. We will run it over our milling separator once, twice or three times if necessary. It will cost you nothing and we return to you the screenings. The time to sow wheat will soon be here. You can bring your wheat now, while you have a little extra time, as everything will rush you with your work later. If you have any wheat to sell, remember that we pay 2 cents above the market for it. We also manufacture the BEST FLOUR that is used in Wayne. We did not say JUST AS GOOD but THE BEST. It will cost you nothing to find this out. JUST TRY IT. 1000 customers say so and the Baker says so.

Messrs. Clasen & Nelson Brothers returned Saturday from Omaha where they attended the annual convention of the Cement Users' association. While there they purchased a mounted concrete mixer and one of the latest cement brick machines. They will be able to furnish prospective builders with any of the latest designs in cement products. Their business has so greatly increased during the past year that they were compelled to install the latest labor-saving machinery. They will now be able to satisfy the trade better than ever before, and they invite the home builder to visit their plant, and look over their entire stock before building.

The funeral of Mrs. W. A. Miller took place from the Lutheran church in Wayne Saturday afternoon, and was attended by a large crowd of sympathizing friends. The constant devotion of the family to Mrs. Miller in her long illness has elicited favorable comment, one son quitting his position in town to give his undivided attention to his mother. Such devotion shows excellent qualities of mind, and will continue a source of satisfaction to the sorrowing family long after the earthly tenement, vacated by the object adored, has returned to dust. A bill in the senate takes a shot at pool halls, requiring them to close every night at 10 o'clock.

Wayne is reasonably sure of a new Carnegie library and new building for the State Normal this year.

Omaha feels grieved over the imputation that its election methods have not been pure, and appears anxious for an investigation.

United States senators sometimes make fobs of themselves, and show weakness by giving vent to spasms of bad temper.

Some one has introduced a bill in the legislature to regulate hatpins. The proposed law restricts the length of a hatpin to seven inches unless the point is properly muzzled.

The Chicago girl who wants to marry a Montana Indian, confesses that she likes the redskin better than the whites, and madly asserts that her love will never be satisfied until she is wedded to the stalwart brute of her choice.

The person whom nature unfortunately neglected to give the power to discriminate between truth and falsehood, good and evil, is the one always ready to charge others with lying or bad motives.

Every member of the legislature figures that he must introduce a few bills in order to gain the plaudits of his constituents. Therefore, the legislative hopper is loaded every session with bills that never get beyond committees.

The fact that newspaper manufacturers are opposed to reciprocity with Canada suggests that such a treaty would reduce the cost of paper to consumers—something which publishers might selfishly endorse if the reduction would not be more than offset by a general depression of prices.

The Pender Republic treats the church at considerable length, and criticizes it somewhat on the ground that it does not accomplish as much as it should.

Some of the state's enthusiastic admirers of W. J. Bryan are getting up a dollar dinner party in honor of his birthday March 20.

People should take pride in patronizing home institutions, and newly married couples ought to feel they have begun house-keeping most auspiciously if they have allowed local dealers to furnish all their initial supplies—furniture, hardware, stoves, clothes, eatables and everything.

If reciprocity with Canada would include manufactured goods, there could be no complaint on the part of those who have wanted a reduction in the tariff. The proposed policy, dealing fairly with all parts of the country, would virtually accomplish the very ends for which many have been clamoring.

On Wednesday morning Prof. House of the Normal school addressed our high school in a most helpful as well as delightful way. Mr. House took for his subject, "What We Live For—Health, Wealth, Sociability, Knowledge, Beauty and Rightness."

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES. "The Church and Its Stewardship" will be the subject of the morning service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. In the evening the pastor will preach on "The Quarrel between the Apostle Peter and the Apostle Paul."

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The early bird, so the sage affirms, is always catching the choicest worms; and this is proof, says that wise old grouch, that man should hasten to leave his couch. But the richest sleep that a man can have, the kind that acts as a balm and salve, is the sleep that comes when he ought to rise—if he'd be healthy, wealthy and wise.

The flies are dead. We used to say upon the long hot summer day, that we would gaily do our toil, if only flies were boiled in oil.

THE VANISH-ED FLIES

With a board, and set our traps and laid out sheets of trickery to catch their feet, and pawed and howled, and wished the flies were in their graves, dad-bing their eyes. And now the flies are dead and gone; and as the winter days roll on does any pilgrim stop to say how sweet life is since they're away?

CLAIRVOYANCE

I sought the parlors of the seer, and he wore vestments weird and queer; he fiddled with a crystal globe, and had strange symbols on his robe. He moved with sombre, stately grace, around the incense-reeking place. He said, in low sepulchral tones: "You'll please cough up a pair of bones. Before I pierce the mystic shroud that hides the future from the crowd—before I penetrate the veil I always have to see the kale." I drew two dollars from my pance, and then he went into a trance, and I could hear him softly say: "Your life will be both sad and gay. Some days with joy will be a bloom, and other days will teek with gloom. The gods for you are storing wrath, and dangers lurk around your path, but you will triumph in the end, so loosen up again, my friend."

Old Tolver the tailor is making lots of scads; he has the trade of business men, and all the wealthy lads. While others are complaining that things are mighty slack, he's busy as a bumble-wasp, and adding to his stock. I order sundry garments, and ask when they'll be done; he studies for a moment, as solemnly as one who has no sort of liking for idle, empty talk: "Your rags will sure be ready at half-past ten o'clock." He gives me this assurance and gravely turns away, to tinker with his tapeline around some other jay. All sorts of things may happen before the hour he set; perchance there'll be a deluge of water beady wet; a fire may sweep the village, a cyclone snort around, perhaps a howling earthquake will harrow up the ground. There may be labor riots, there may be battle's shock—but my rags will be ready at half-past ten o'clock. Old Tolver the tailor is prosperous and wise; he never makes excuses, he never deals in lies. He's careful with his promise, but when the same is made, it's good as royal warrant—and so he gets the trade.

It was a day of ice and sleet; all glory was the village street, and went a-whizzing through the town. Six times I broke my collar bone, and I was full of grief and groan.

HELPFUL HIRAM

Six times I landed on my head, and breathed a wish that I were dead. Six times I fell upon the walk, and slid in anguish round a block. And then I reached (and not too soon) a stretch of walk with ashes strewn; there man might use his legs and feel he didn't need to dance and reel. Old Helpful Hiram did the trick. Old Hiram's crippled, bent and sick. He's lonely, feeble, tired and gray; he has no wealth to give away, and yet he tries, the best he can, to benefit his fellow man. And when he sees men whizzing past, their coat-tails flapping in the blast the victims of a day of sleet, he sprinkles ashes on the street, and men with broken collar bones are blessing him, in earnest tones. You often hear some geezer say if he had wealth to give away, he'd do so much to help the race; he's simply talking through his face. You do not need a pile of dough to help to lessen earthly woes. Just look around you, and you'll view a thousand things that you may do.

The world had wacked me pretty hard, had soaked me oft beneath my guard, and put me to the floor; and so, distressed and full of woe, I said: "I'll quit this world and go, and try the other shore."

SELF DESTRUCTION

Mr. Wax, and asked him for his battle-ax, to amputate my head. "I am resolved," sternly cried, "to try my hand at suicide; I might as well be dead." I thought that Wax would throw a fit, and beg me that resolve to quit, and make a pleasing fuss; I thought he'd argue and implore against my threatened deed of gore—but he's a measly cuss. "You're welcome to my battle-ax," said this wrong-headed Mr. Wax, "and I endorse your scheme; for life is but a train of ills, of debt and doubt and doctor bills, and bliss is but a dream. I would that I were brave like you! I'd chop off my own headpiece; too, and shake this tiresome gang; but I'm a spiritless gnat—shoot or drown myself, or hang. So go and end the beastly grind, with peaceful and contented mind, and I, a thing of nerves, will linger in this vale of tears; and wish I could suppress my fears, and imitate your curves." I handed back his doggone ax to that base creature, William Wax, and chased myself away; somehow I balked—I don't know why—when he encouraged me to die, and I'm alive today.

MRS. W. A. MILLER

Margaret Anderson was born in Blain, Perry county, Pa., June 27, 1847. In March 1868 she was united in marriage to Mr. William A. Miller, of the same place. To this union were born five sons, one of whom preceded her in death. In November of 1894 she with her family came to Wayne, Nebr., where she lived until the death messenger summoned her to her heavenly home on Wednesday evening at 9:30, Feb. 1, 1911, at the age of 63 years, 7 months and 4 days. There remain to mourn her loss the bereft husband and four sons: Alfred of Cherokee, Ia., James of Wakefield, Nebr., Harvey and Wilson of Wayne, Nebr. Also one brother, Mr. Thomas Anderson of Green, Ia., and two sisters, one of Hope, Kansas, and the other of Perry county, Pa., survive her. Mrs. Miller was highly esteemed by all who knew her; she was a faithful and consistent member of the Lutheran church for many years. She was a great sufferer during her illness in the last five months, but bore it with Christian fortitude. The funeral was held at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, on Saturday, at 2 p. m., conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. J. Ringer. The remains were laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

Spurious Superiority.

Dr. Johnson said of a certain Mr. Kondrick: "Sir, he is one of the men who have made themselves public without making themselves known." That is to say, all his fame rested on attributes he did not own, but possessed only as the jackdaw in the fable stalked the peacock's feathers in his tail.

Giving Him Full Information.

A member of an eminent St. Louis law firm went to Chicago to consult a client. When he arrived, he found that he had unaccountably forgotten the client's name. He telegraphed his partner, "What is our client's name?" The answer read: "Brown, Walter E. Yours is Allen, William B."

Elijah's Victory Over the Prophets of Baal. I Kings xliii: 1-2, 17-40.

Golden Text—Choose you this day whom ye will serve. Joshua xxiv: 15.

(1.) Verses 1-2—How long had the famine lasted in the land?

(2.) Did the Lord speak to Elijah in any different manner to what he speaks to those who serve him today?

(3.) Why had God kept Elijah away from Baal for three years or during the continuance of the famine?

(4.) Would the suffering caused Baal by the famine have put him into a better frame of mind to realize his sin, and whether or not does suffering as a rule bring about repentance?

(5.) Verses 17-20—What law in strict human nature did Ahab demonstrate in the way he accepted Elijah?

(6.) Why is it that sinners when they suffer for their sins generally put the blame on some one else?

(7.) In what respects was it true that Ahab and his house were the troublers of Israel?

(8.) Verse 21—What test did Elijah propose to Ahab and the people?

(9.) Why did not Ahab slay Elijah when he was in his power and seeing he had been hunting him for that purpose?

(10.) Verse 21—Which is the more harmful condition, to be almost persuaded to be a Christian or to be definitely decided that we will not? Why?

(11.) Why had the people of Israel been halting between serving God and Baal?

(12.) Why could not the people answer the challenge of Elijah?

(13.) What can you say about the value of Elijah's advice to the people?

(14.) Verse 22—Was Elijah correct in his opinion that he was the only prophet remaining true to God? (See Chap. xix: 18.)

(15.) In what sense is the proverb always true, that "one man and God are always a majority"?

(16.) Is it always God's plan to give the victory to every man of God, no matter if he is alone and all the people are against him? Give your reason.

(17.) Verses 23-25—Was the plan Elijah adopted to prove that Baal was no god his own, or had it been given to him by God? Give your reasons. (See verse 36.)

(18.) Why would it be either wisdom or folly, in this day, for any good man to adopt the same sort of test to prove that those who opposed Christianity were wrong?

(19.) What is the supreme test, or proof, to-day that our God is real; and a present help in trouble, and all other gods are false? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(20.) Verses 26-29—What reason is there to believe that these prophets of Baal believed in their god?

(21.) How much value can you get for the truth of any cause from this evidence that its advocates are willing to suffer or even die to prove their faith in it?

(22.) Verses 30-39—What proof have we to-day that the Lord is God, fully as convincing as this miracle?

(23.) How much value do you place upon conversions produced by such wonders as were here displayed?

(24.) Verse 40—What evidence is there that the wholesale slaughter of four hundred and fifty men, by Elijah, was done at the command of God?

CAPITOL DESTROYED

HISTORIC FILE AT JEFFERSON CITY, MO., IS WIPED OUT.

LOSS PLACED AT A MILLION

Gov. Hadley Personally Directs the Fight Made by Firemen to Save Structure—Flames Spread Rapidly Because of Building's Age.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The Missouri capitol building was entirely destroyed by fire Sunday night. Many of the records of the governor and other state officers are a complete loss.

"The total damage, including the structure and many records and state papers in the offices of the governor, secretary of state and treasurer, is estimated at $1,000,000, with no insurance.

Lightning, which struck the cupola of the dome shortly after 7 o'clock, spread the flames to the roof of the house of representatives on the north side of the structure, and in less than a half hour it was apparent that the entire building was doomed.

Because of the inadequacy of the water pressure the fire could not be reached, and no aid could be rendered for some time by the local fire company.

Gov. Hadley personally directed the fight against the flames, which, because of the age of the building, rapidly gained great headway. The penitentiary fire department was immediately called for the scene and the convicts worked heroically, sealing walls and taking dangerous chances for their lives.

The local military company was called out and formed a cordon around the building, driving spectators from dangerous positions and removing records from the different state departments.

FAST IN WRECKAGE, KILLS SELF

An Express Messenger Ends Life Rather Than Be Roasted.

Paris, Ont.—Whether he was roasted alive, John Whitelaw, an express messenger, shot himself dead while pinned under the wreckage of a Grand Trunk passenger train here late Saturday night. Four trainmen met death in the crash.

"An express messenger, Whitelaw, always carried a revolver, and although crushed under the wreckage of his car, he remained conscious and urged rescuers to extricate him. The wreck was burning, however, and the workers were driven back, leaving the express messenger to face death in the flames.

"If you don't help me soon, I'll end it all," moaned Whitelaw. In a moment more there was a muffled shot. He had kept his word.

ROOT HITS LORIMER

NEW YORKER ASSERTS BRIBES WON SEAT FOR THE ILLINOIS SENATOR.

ARGUES LAW POINT OF CASE

He Says Attorneys for Accused and for Newspaper Should Not Have Seen Committee, But That Enough Evidence Was Obtained.

Washington.—The hardest blow struck in the senate for the unsetting of Senator William Lorimer was delivered Friday by Elihu Root of New York. The New York senator declared that Mr. Lorimer holds his office as the result of bribery and should not be permitted longer to hold his place in the chamber.

The New York senator held the undivided attention of his colleagues as he discussed the report of the committee on privileges and elections, by which Mr. Lorimer was exonerated. Mr. Root's position had been a question of much speculation, and so high is the esteem in which his opinion is held that it is known that some members of the senate have held in abeyance their own opinions until they could hear from him.

There was a large attendance of senators and the galleries were well filled. Mr. Root spoke without notes, and in the main his address consisted of a careful analysis of the testimony taken by the committee. The argument was almost entirely legal.

The speaker lost little time in indicating the conclusion he had reached, which was entirely antagonistic to Mr. Lorimer. He took the position that the investigation committee had been at fault in permitting either the attorney for Mr. Lorimer or the attorney for the Chicago Tribune to direct its course in the matter of connecting Mr. Lorimer with the corruption of members of the Illinois legislature, but agreed that even in the face of its faults in this respect the committee had obtained sufficient evidence effectually to taint and invalidate the election.

Citing the resolution under which the inquiry was directed, Mr. Root said that the committee had failed to find the testimony sufficient to justify the conclusion that Mr. Lorimer's seat had been rendered invalid by the employment of corrupt methods or practices.

"It is fair to infer," he said, "that the committee was of the opinion that corrupt methods and practices were resorted to, but that their legal effect was not such as to invalidate Mr. Lorimer's election. This view is sustained by the testimony before us and I regret to say that, after an examination of this testimony, I am constrained to disagree with the members of the committee."

Saying that he had been forced to this conclusion with deep regret on account of both his respect for the members of the committee and his regard for Mr. Lorimer, Senator Root said that he had been impelled to rush an adverse view in the interest of the state of Illinois and of the country at large.

"I cannot," he said, most emphatically, "come to any different conclusion."

Mr. Root expressed the opinion that both the state and country had been disgraced by the methods of the Lorimer election.

Senator Bailey of Texas asserted that if the doctrine of law and practice laid down by Senator Root was to be followed there had not been a lawful election of a United States senator in Illinois for many years. He said he refused to believe the people of Illinois were "rotten to the core."

RUSH TROOPS TO FRONTIER

War Department Orders United States Cavalry to Mexican Border to Preserve Neutrality.

Washington.—Four troops of cavalry from the Presidio, California, and six troops from Fort Meade, S. D., are today ordered rushed to the Mexican frontier to preserve the neutrality.

This action followed a visit to the White House from Mr. Casanvis, special ambassador from Mexico. The Mexican ambassador, Senor de La Barra, is not now in the city.

The war department and the state department have taken note of the statement from the insurgent general at Cuarez that he will bombard Juarez. The administration has not revealed its attitude toward this threat, but it is thought that the government will take the same ground as it did in the case of Puerto Cortes in Honduras and against bombardment because of the large foreign and American interests in Juarez.

The news reached the state department Friday that the Mexican government intended to ask the United States to allow the use of its railroads to transport Mexican troops from Sonora province to the neighborhood of Juarez. So far as can be learned the United States will not object.

BLAST KILLS SCORE

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION IN JERSEY CITY CAUSES PANIC IN NEW YORK CITY.

MORE THAN 150 INJURED

Detonations Felt Many Miles Away—Skyscrapers Are Rattled—Men and Women Rush Into Streets Fearful of Earth Shocks.

New York.—At least a score of persons were killed, 150 or more injured and property damaged to the extent of $500,000 when an explosion of 25 tons of dynamite occurred Wednesday at a pier close to the Central railroad at New Jersey's passenger ferry slip at Communipaw, N. J.

At the same time the terrific force of the blowup reached through the underlying strata of rock not only in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Richmond and the Bronx, but far way points in Long Island and Connecticut, rocking skyscrapers, smashing glass, tearing away window frames and sending panic-stricken tens of thousands of men and women into the streets, fearful that an earthquake or some other vast natural turmoil was upon them.

As in all upheavals of tremendous force, persons here by escaped death; buildings close at hand were not injured; persons far away were killed; structures at great distances were almost torn apart.

What happened, briefly, was this: Two cars of dynamite, containing 25 tons each, from the Dupont Powder company works in Wilmington, Del., had arrived on the tracks at the end of pier No. 7 almost adjoining the big Central station at Communipaw, the explosive being consigned to Palisades, on the Hudson, for use in blasting out rock.

Two lighters, the Katherine W. and the Whistler, had drawn up to the pier and to receive cargoes of the dangerous stuff. One of the former was Captain John Healy and eight men, on the latter four men.

On the pier each itself were twelve Polish laborers, some starting to eat their dinners from their pails; others engaged in transferring the dynamite from the freight cars to the lighters. There were at least 24 men within actual handling distance of the dynamite.

Next there was an awful roar, a great cloud of haze and dust, a tremble of earth and structures above the earth within a radius of 30 miles square, an immense wave from the river that splashed high above everything near by, and then a vision of death, maiming and wreckage.

GARMENT STRIKE OFF

ALL OVER NEBRASKA
UNION OFFICIALS ORDER WORKERS TO SEEK PLACES.

Chicago.—After twenty weeks of bitter struggle the garment workers' strike is called off.

Realizing that it would be useless longer to continue the struggle, the executive committee of the strike committee of thirty-five took action ordering the long drawn out fight against the "association" clothing houses at an end.

The action was taken quietly at a session of the committee and with the sanction of President Thomas A. Rickett of the United Garment Workers of America. The action was tantamount to a declaration of unconditional surrender.

At the close of the meeting word was passed among the strikers that the walkout was at an end and that all pickets were withdrawn from the strikebound shops. The announcement was received without demonstrations of any kind, and it was said to be practically certain that the remainder of the strikers will apply for their old places as individuals.

The effect of calling the strike off will be that the strikers must return to work in the shops of the "association" houses as individuals. The open shop policy of the employes will be maintained and all grievances, if any, will be adjusted by the employers with each individual employe.

Action of terminating the strike was taken without consulting with President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor and Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the Women's Trade Union league, principal leaders of the strike and heads of the joint strike conference board.

RUSSIAN ADMITS KILLING 40

Cholera Bacilli Used by Slayer and His Operations May Have Caused Epidemic.

St. Petersburg.—By the confession of Doctor Pantchenko, the notorious poisoner, it was developed Thursday that aristocratic Russians had paid sums as high as $250,000 to rid themselves of creditors and other undesirable persons by the poison route.

Pantchenko was arrested with Count O'Brien De Lassy, some time ago charged with the murder of the count's brother-in-law, Vassili Bogdurin, heir to estates valued at $3,500,000, for order that the property might be inherited by Countess De Lassy.

Pantchenko confessed his guilt, but set up the defense that he committed the crime while under the hypnotic influence of the count.

The whole country is interested in the case because of the wholesale confession made by Pantchenko. Every mysterious death of recent years is recalled and there are rumors that the poisoner may have been engaged to cause the death of members of the royal family. He has admitted that he made a business of killing for hire, heirs, rivals in love, insistent creditors and, in fact, any undesirable persons whose enemy was prepared to pay liberally for their sudden taking off.

The poison doctor, according to the police, has admitted causing about forty deaths, his fees running as high as $250,000 for a single assassination. His method was to inoculate the patient with cholera bacilli after he had been called to the bedside in his professional capacity. He is now credited by some with having originated the cholera epidemic of a few years ago.

KING'S HONOR IS CLEARED

Editor Mylius, Who Charged British Ruler With Illegal Marriage, Is Sent to Prison.

London.—After brief proceedings a special jury before Lord Chief Justice Alverston cleared King George of imputations against his personal character by finding Edward F. Mylius guilty of circulating a libel. The defendant was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

Mylius was charged with distributing the "England and Wales" in the form of a Paris publication edited by Edward H. James, in which it was alleged that his majesty while prince of Wales contracted a morganatic marriage with the elder daughter of Admiral Sir Michael Seymour at Malta in 1890. The crown called the admiral as a witness and he testified that the daughter in question, now the wife of Captain Napier of the British navy, never had seen his majesty before 1898, when she called on him with the witness at Portsmouth. His only other daughter died in 1895 and for three years preceding her death had been with her father at Malta, where he was commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean squadron. The king had not visited Malta while his daughters were there and the younger daughter never had spoken to him.

EXCELLENT GRAIN FIELDS IN WESTERN CANADA

YIELDS OF WHEAT AS HIGH AS 54 BUSHELS PER ACRE.

Now that we have entered upon the making of a new year, it is natural to look back over the past one, for the purpose of ascertaining what has been done. The business man and the farmer have taken stock, and both, if they are keen in business detail and interest, know exactly their financial position. The farmer of Western Canada is generally a business man, and in his stock-taking he will have found that he has had a successful year.

On looking over a number of reports sent from various quarters, the writer finds that in spite of the visitation of drought in a small portion of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, many farmers are able to report splendid crops. And these reports come from different sections, covering an area of about 25,000 square miles. As, for instance, at Laird, Saskatchewan, the crop returns showed that J. B. Peters had 12,800 bushels from 320 acres, or nearly 40 bushels to the acre. In the Blaine Lake district the fields ranged from 15 to 60 bushels per acre. Ben Crews had 1,150 bushels from 24 acres. Edmond Trotter, 1,200 bushels from 30 acres, while fields of 30 bushels were common. On poorly cultivated fields but 15 bushels were reported.

In Foam Lake (Sask.) district 100 bushels of oats to the acre were secured by Angus Robertson, D. McRae and C. H. Hart, while the average was 85. In wheat 30 bushels to the acre were quite common on the newer land, but of 15 acres of land cultivated for the past three years George E. Wood secured 495 bushels. Mr. James Traylor, near Regina (Sask.) is still on the shady side of thirty. He had 4,000 bushels of grain last year, half of which was wheat. Its market value was $25,000. He says he is well satisfied.

Arthur J. Somers of Strathclair threshed 700 acres, averaging 25 bushels to the acre. Thomas Foreman, of Milestone, threshed 11,000 bushels of wheat, and 3,000 bushels of flax of 600 acres of land. W. Wenhofsen, of Strathclair, threshed 15,000 bushels of oats from 96 acres. John Gonzila, of Gillies, about twenty-five miles west of Rosthern, Sask., had 180 bushels from 3 acres of wheat. Mr. Gonzila's general average of crop is 40 bushels to the acre. Ben Cruise, a neighbor, averaged 45 bushels to the acre from 23 acres. W. A. Rose, of the Waderheim district, threshed 6,000 bushels of wheat from 240 acres, an average of 25 bushels, 100 acres was on summer fallow and averaged 33 bushels. He had also an average of 60 bushels of oats to the acre on a 50-acre field, Wm. Lehman, who has a farm close to Rosthern, had an average of 27 bushels to the acre on 60 acres of summer fallow. Mr. Midway, of Rapid City (Man.) threshed 1,000 bushels of oats from 7 acres.

A field of the different varieties of wheat per acre at the Experimental Farm, Brandon, was: Red Fife, 28 bushels; White Fife, 34 bushels; Preston, 32 bushels; early Red Fife, 27 bushels.

The crops at the C. P. R. demonstration farms at Strathmore (Alberta) proved up to expectations, the Swedish variety oats yielding 110 bushels to the acre. At the farm two rows of barley were 48 1/2 bushels to the acre. Yields of from 60 bushels to 100 bushels of oats to the acre were quite common in the Strathmore region. But last year's crop was uncommonly good and the hundred mark was passed. Wm. Craig had a yield of oats from a measured plot, which gave 107 bushels and 20 lbs. per acre.

Albert Teskey, of Olds (Alberta) threshed a 100-acre field which yielded 101 bushels of oats per acre, and Joseph McCartney had a large field equally good. At Cupar (Sask.) oats threshed 80 bushels to the acre. On the Traquair farm at Cupar, a five-acre plot of Marquis wheat yielded 54 bushels to the acre, while Laurence Barknel had 37 bushels of Red Fife to the acre. At Wordsworth, Reder Bros. wheat averaged 33 1/2 bushels to the acre, and W. McMillan's 32. The yield of Alex (Alberta) threshed 1,042 bushels of winter wheat of 19 1/2 acres, or about 53 bushels to the acre. John LaCroft of Dinton, near High River, Alberta, had over 1,100 bushels of spring wheat from 50 acres.

E. F. Kolpe, near Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, had 800 bushels of wheat from 20 acres. W. Metcalf had over 31 bushels to the acre, while S. Henderson, who was hailed as a "hot" head, had an average return of 23 bushels of wheat to the acre.

McWhirter Bros. and John McElnay, of Rodvay, Saskatchewan, had 25 bushels of wheat to the acre. John Kennedy, east of the Horse Mills district near Edmonton, from 40 acres of spring wheat got 1,767 bushels, or 44 bushels to the acre.

J. E. Vanderburgh, near Dayville, Alberta, threshed four thousand bushels of wheat from 120 acres. Mr. D'Arcy, near there, threshed ten thousand and fifty-eight bushels (making measure) of wheat from five hundred acres, and out of this only sixty acres was new land.

At Flooding, Sask. A Winter's wheat averaged 39 bushels to the acre and several others report heavy yields. Mr. Winter's crop was not on summer fallow, but on a piece of land broken in 1882 and said to be the first broken in the Flooding district.

The agent of the Canadian government will be pleased to give information regarding the various districts in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, where free homesteads of 160 acres are available.

When the millennium comes there will be schools to which janitors and railway porters will be sent to learn something about ventilation.

Paid a Ghost's Debt.

An amusing story of an old woman's superstition came before Judge Drummond at Balleborough, county Caran, in the course of an action brought by Miss Anne Brady against a local farmer named Connell.

The plaintiff told her that the ghost of her brother Phil who had been dead 26 years, was haunting her because he forgot to pay defendant 70 shillings he owed him. The witness was frightened and paid the money, which the defendant swore on "the poker and tongs" was due.

The defendant said he, after Phil died, walked nine miles to the wale to see if he could get an opportunity of mentioning the debt, but was not given a chance.

He having said anything whatever about Phil's ghost, his honor, in giving judgment for the plaintiff, said he firmly believed the story.

Primitive Paper-Making. In Madagascar a kind of writing paper is made by some of the native natives and the fetich priests is made from the bark of a shrub named hahova.

The bark fiber is boiled and macerated until a thin paste is obtained. Then a leaf of the plant called ravipa, or traveler's tea, is coated with pulp, formed from a particular kind of rice, and over this is spread the hahova paste, on both sides of the leaf.

After the coating has thoroughly dried and adhered, it is polished with a smooth shell, and the paper is ready for use in writing. The manufacture of the ink employed, like that of the paper itself, is a monopoly of the notables and priests who use it.

This paper may be bought by travelers at about a cent and a half per sheet, but only a few hundred sheets are produced in a month.

Orris Roots. The orris root, so familiar to lovers of perfumes, should really be called iris root, since it is made from the roots, or rather rootstocks, of several species of iris, especially Germanica.

The combea blue flag of the gardens, and Iris Florentina, a white variety, it is reported that the root has to be dried and preserved for some time before the fragrance is fully developed. The freshly dug plants have no fragrance.—American Botanist.

Twice Recovered His Sight. A remarkable case of a blind man's second recovery of sight happened at Northampton the other day.

A grocer named George Vaughan, aged 64, who was quite blind, recovers his sight five years ago. He collided with a pillar box and immediately found that his sight had been restored.

Some time afterward he again lost his sight, but recovered it again some hours before his death the other day. He was then able to see and recognize the members of his family.—London Daily Mail.

Not Much of a Prize. The first prize in a lottery held at a fete at Aibeiges, in France, was kept a secret until the drawing took place, when the winner found, to his horror, that it consisted of two graves, on which flowers were to be planted at the expense of the giver.

The giver is a florist and also the local grave-digger.

True Praise and Flattery. The unctuous hypocrite lies in such contrast with the man of honor as is the slanderer and scandal monger. The fair and open face of honest praise, the caress of true affection, the thrilling verdict of a noble man and real glory, are as far away from flattery as the stars are from mud puddles.

Surely Encouragement. "This is the fourth time you have asked me to marry you," said the good-looking girl, resentfully. "I am sure I have never encouraged you."

"I don't know about that," replied the serious young man. "You're the only girl I know who doesn't laugh when I propose to her."

Chance for Occupation. Grouty—See here, you've had my lawn mower a whole hour. Do you think I ought to be kept standing around here all day wasting my time waiting for it? Prouty—Certainly not. I'd be glad to have you rake my lawn in the meantime, old man.—Boston Globe.

Founder of Physical Geography. Alexander Humboldt may be considered the founder of the science of physical geography. His great work, the "Cosmos," written after he was seventy-six years old, was the first scientific description of the world. It is a work of supreme and abiding value, notwithstanding the fact that many new things have been learned since the time of its publication.

At the Chilean Forge. For the most part the methods of horseshoeing in Chile are primitive and the tools used are simple and few, consisting usually of a hammer, a nail, a pair of pliers, a crude knife and an anvil, all of which are made in the country. There is no need of fire, as the workman beats the shoe into shape cold.

The Small Courtesies of Life. The way to make yourself pleasing to others is to let them see that you care for them, and show people what Sterne called "the small, sweet courtesies of life," those courtesies which make no parade, but which manifest themselves in tender words, little kind acts of affection and loving words, the presence in everyday life. These are the much appreciated "small courtesies."—Home Notes.

Needle Caused Death. The mysterious death of a child at Rotherhithe, England, was explained in a peculiar way at a recent inquest. A doctor said that in some unexplained way a needle had penetrated the baby's chest, and the beating of the heart against its point caused death from hemorrhage.

Bust of Early English Bishop.

A sculptured bust of an early bishop has been discovered in the Cheviot Hills. It is beautifully cut in Sicilian marble, which has been rendered almost chalk by age, and the figure suggests that it may represent Paulinus, the great apostle of Christianity to Northumbria in 625-633 A. D., who stayed in the Cheviot district at Yeavinger, where King Edwin had a palace.—London Telegraph.

For the Freshman. Freshman—Where are the bathrooms to be in the new dormitory? Sophomore—It's a freshman's house; there won't be any bathrooms; they're going to put in vacuum cleaners.—Lippincott's.

An Alphabetical Shift. There is a strong egotistic tendency in modern literature. "Yes. Formerly, when a man wanted to be startlingly emphatic, he used a big 'D.' Now he uses a large 'I.'"

Shameful Waste of Time. "A man in Ohio has trained a hog to walk on its hind legs." Why take all that trouble when the woods are full of a species of hog possessing naturally that accomplishment?—Richard News-Leader.

The Philosopher of Folly. "Eating food to keep it from spoiling," says the Philosopher of Folly, "is converting one's self into a domestic reduction-plant."

Hygiene Not Paramount. A cup of cold water may still be given in charity, even if you have used the cup.

The Wherefore of It. Mrs. Crabb—"The Wilkinsons boast that their servants have grown gray in their service." Crabb—"Humph! From worrying about getting their wages, probably."

Not Eligible. Seymour—"Hello! What are you thinking about now?" Ashley—"Oh, not much; just thinking that Adam and Eve could never have been lawful inmates of an orphan asylum."

Uncle Allen. "Still," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "you can gather some of the facts of a man's life from his tombstone. It usually gives the correct dates of his birth and death."

No Demand. "Why don't people write poems like Paradise Lost" or Dante's Inferno? asked the sincerely literary person. "What's the use?" rejoined the confident scribe. "All the people I know who bought the works you mention had to be persuaded to buy them for the sake of the pictures."

Unlike in Real Life. "I was so sorry we had to move away from that cozy little flat," said the comely young matron; "on the floor right below us was a young man who played the cornet every evening, and the music he made was the most delightful I ever heard."

The Formula. Willis—"So the play will appeal to all classes?" Gillis—"Yes, indeed, it's three-quarters full of up-to-date slang to catch the young people, and one-quarter full of old, reliable cuss words to get the old fellows."—Puck.

True Friendship. I cannot contentedly frame a prayer for myself in parting without a catalogue for my friends, nor request a happiness wherein my sociable disposition does not desire the fellowship of my neighbor.—Sir Thomas Browne.

Here's to the Peanut. If one touch of nature makes the whole world kin, certainly the peanut is a touch that makes men, pigs, chickens, sows, all appreciate at the same time the real delights of that never-satisfying tidbit—the peanut.

Courage of Different Kinds. The bravest of men sometimes show a yellow streak. The sultan of Sulu is afraid to ride in an elevator, yet at one time he had 14 wives.

Showy Boots in Russia. All Russians have a weakness for handsome footwear, and the result is that there are more pairs of showy boots worn in the czar's empire than anywhere else on earth. This preference extends to the women as well as the men.

The Test of Civilization. The quality of the bread which a nation eats is the true index of the grade of civilization.—Baker's Weekly.

German Proverb. By three things we learn men—love, play and wine.

Something to Remember. Bear this in mind, love letters are never burned until after you're married, the girl, and sometimes not then.—Detroit Free Press.

One Effect of Trust. Those who trust us educate us.—George Elliot.

True Wisdom. I believe in trusting a man when I have got a man I can trust.

Healthy New England. New Zealand has about the lowest death rate in the world.

An Intelligence Office. A small body of women, entirely surrounded by mistresses.—Life.

Danish Proverb. The more a man's teeth, and the more a woman's eyes, and the more a child's hair, the more a man's love, and the more a woman's pride, and the more a child's mischief.—Danish Proverb.

AS TO PRAISING OF MEN

One Man Who, Grown Older, Has Changed His Views on This Subject.

"I used to think," said a man now older than he was, "that no man ought ever to be praised, that it was up to every man to do his duty and to work to the best of his ability without praise or coddling, but I think a little differently about that now. I think now that occasionally when a man has done a good thing it does no harm to pat him on the back a little."

"You have to use discrimination about this, I will admit. There are men who if you praise them, get a swollen head, throw out their chests and think they are the whole works and straightway begin to debilitate or to require praise all the time, but there's an astonishing number of men of quite another sort."

"I know lots of men who work not only faithfully but well, men devoted to duty who take a pride in what they do whatever it may be, and who think of that only, never looking for praise; but, like the rest of us, they are still human. And now suppose some day such a man pulls off a job that is really a little better than his daily good work?"

"Why, what I feel like doing and what I do now is to say to him, 'Billy, it was a good thing, and I find it does no harm, but on the contrary I used to think that it was up to a man to do his duty and that if he didn't he was a poor sort, and as far as that's concerned I think that way now, but now I think a little praise now and then does no harm, and it may be for the man that gets it a source of very great comfort and pleasure.'"

Working Backward. A Japanese house is built differently from an English one. The roof, which with us is the last important part of the outward structure to be completed, is with the Japanese the first thing to be finished. All the tools used by the carpenter, and pliers have a reversed action. The Japanese carpenter does not push a plane away from him, but pulls it toward him.

The gullets are threaded in the opposite way to ours; the saws are made so as to cut on the upward pull and not on the downward thrust; screws have their threads reversed, and keyholes are always made upside down and the keys turned backward. In the house if the clock is an old one it will have stationary hands, with the face revolving backward and the hours marked 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3 and so on, reckoning from noon.

How It Looked to Him. Mrs. Dresser was looking over the grocer's bill. "How many pounds are there in a peck, Henry?" she asked. "Her husband looked up from his newspaper. "Are you trying to figure out the weight of your latest collared, my dear?" he asked.

Alcohol in Vegetables. Vegetables contain a great deal of alcohol, and it is said that they exert an intoxicating influence on those who depend upon them exclusively for food.

Have Trust. "I'm sorry women think for men," says the Philosopher of Folly, "but a pretty girl depends on her curves."

AS DONE IN THE DAKOTAS

Drummer Digs Up Price, but Objects to One Family Hogging Everything.

"I don't exactly like the way they do things in North Dakota," said the Chicago drummer as he was asked about business in the west.

"Do you mean mercantile?" was queried. "It's social and mercantile mixed together. For instance, I admired a young lady in one of the villages out there. I called her 'honey.' I called her thus because her real name was Samantha. You wouldn't call me one you loved 'Samanth' would you?"

"Never!" "My admiration grew cold, and she sued me for breach of promise. They said that calling her 'honey' was the same as asking her to be my wife. Queer country, eh? I should smile. The girl served the papers on me here as a constable, or duval, he. She did it. Come to find out her father was the jailer, and she came and looked at me, through the cold, cold bars."

"It was tough." "The only man in town who might have bailed me out was her cousin. The only lawyer was her brother-in-law. The judge of the circuit court was her old uncle. I had no show, and had to come down."

"Well, they found $75 on me, and a nephew of my 'honey's' drove me outside the county in a buggy and dumped me out on the highway and said the circus was over. It's not kidding about the price, but I do hate to see one family hog everything."

A Prayer Ten Centuries Old. Among the Recollections and manuscripts taken by the Pelliott mission of France from a cave in Chinese Turkestan, where they had lain during ten centuries, is a curious manuscript recorded by the French Academy of Sciences. The manuscript is in one of the oldest known Hebrew texts. It is a prayer formed of passages taken from the Psalms and from the prophets, written in beautiful square Hebrew, with a very rudimentary system of vocalization.

Evidently the manuscript was carried on the person of the man who owned it. Hebrew scholars believe that the document dates from the eighth or ninth century of the Christian era, and that it belonged to a Moslem Jewish merchant of Arabia. No such paper was known in Arabia in either the eighth or ninth century, therefore it is supposed that the manuscript was transcribed for its owner when he was in Arabia, where such paper was to be found.—Harper's Weekly.

Proved. The Cook—Sure, an' ye don't mane to tell me that ye think it's bad luck to break a mirror? The New Maid (earnestly)—Ay don't talk it—Ay know it!

The Cook—Gory bet an' how do ye know it? The New Maid—Er, ye see an' ye break an' Ay lose my job!

Have Trust. "I'm sorry women think for men," says the Philosopher of Folly, "but a pretty girl depends on her curves."

SPARE MINUTE FOR THE EYES

Nothing Gives Eyes Such Complete Rest as Habit of Closing Them Occasionally.

If you will spare a minute every half hour to the eyes they may be spared to you many years in consequence.

A well-known oculist declares nothing gives the eyes such complete rest as the habit of closing them occasionally for a minute or too. In threatened cases of eyestrain he has sometimes advised no other cure and the patient has recovered, his normal sight.

Where one uses the eyes constantly, especially for close work, as the woman who does her sewing, embroidery or painting, the relief to eyes of lifting them from the work and closing them while one slowly counts twenty-five cannot be overestimated.

Another rest is to change the point of vision from time to time. Look away from what you are doing and gaze blankly into space. Do not attempt to concentrate on anything, merely look out of the window or into a distant corner of the room.

Do not begrudge the time for this eye resting. It is the best sort of investment you can make and will not take half as much time or money as visits to the oculist.

Counteracting Lack of Sunshine. A house built in Brooklyn was designated as far as could be, to counteract the lack of sunlight, which the house's situation made unavoidable. The chief means for giving the impression of sunshine were yellow tinted walls and amber glass skylights. Monotony in the yellow tones was avoided because the location of each room offered some peculiar problem which was best solved by a tint different from that of the rest of the house. It is said that even on gray days there was enough of the stimulating effect of sunshine to prevent dull spirits, and the effect of the design on the health of the occupants was most beneficial.

Bank With Royal Depositors. The English banking world is congratulating itself upon the receipt of a large and acceptable account. In fact, King Manuel of Portugal has honored the house of Coutts on the Strand with the deposit of his private fortune, and England is so much richer for Manuel's loss. This firm of Coutts is a remarkable establishment, by the way, for all the royalty which has had occasion to leave money in London. Every English king, from George II. to the present King, has kept his wealth in their vaults, and Louis Philippe the shah of Persia and Leopold of Belgium have all patronized the Coutts.

Copenhagen's Deer Park. Copenhagen, Denmark, has the largest park of any city in the world, its area is about 4,260 acres.

Literature for Criminals. Scientific burglary is perhaps practical to a greater extent in America than in England. They have even a literature on the subject, which the police find difficult to suppress. And some time ago a huge volume was openly published which quitted all the latest methods of crime, from robbing a till to blowing up a bank safe. Most of the copies were seized, and those that remain are nearly as valuable as the folio Shakespeares. On this side of the Atlantic, however, scientific instruction in the criminal arts has hitherto been confined to magazine articles, although the great Brit writer knows at least three books that the up-to-date criminals would find exceedingly useful.

One by a celebrated chemist incidentally divulges secrets that would make the fortune of a forger. Another by a well-known lawyer describes an infallible means of proving an alibi, while the third shows the man who is "wanted" how to leave the country by ways never watched by the police.—London Chronicle.

INTRODUCTION ANNOYED HER

Haughty Little Miss Shows Her Resentment When Presented to a Terrier.

There is a little East End girl, still under six, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness. Likewise, she has her points in respect to dead-gameness. She was taken out to Lake-wood about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little Miss played around in front of her aunt's place for awhile. Then her aunt let a playful young terrier into the yard, saying to the child:

"This is your little four-footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child, and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled to town. The little girl was home with her mother.

She had walked right to the far corner as soon as the fox terrier pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunty's?" her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty little person.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For Sleeplessness. Lack of proper ventilation often causes sleeplessness. Many pills of mankind have been blamed on the "draught" and while to mothers, it seems a bad policy to bring up a child with the draught-of-air fear always present in mind, it is not advisable to sleep with the air blowing directly over the body. But there should be plenty of air in the room. Wear a nightcap, if you are afraid of a cold in the head, and place a screen in front of the window. That will protect the body and yet allow a free current of air through the room. If you are sleepless, fill the lungs with fresh air, breathe deeply and rhythmically, and soon you will fall asleep. A cup of hot milk and long deep breaths of fresh air are better sleep inducers than drugs.

Scientific burglary is perhaps practical to a greater extent in America than in England. They have even a literature on the subject, which the police find difficult to suppress. And some time ago a huge volume was openly published which quitted all the latest methods of crime, from robbing a till to blowing up a bank safe. Just so. "Every man has his price," remarked the moralizer. "Perhaps he has," rejoined the demoralizer, "but it isn't every man who has his market."
