VISIT BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

INSPECT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Met by Delegation of Business Men—Appreciate Needs of State's Institution.

The following members of the committee on public lands and buildings of the house of representatives arrived here Tuesday at 10 o'clock to inspect the State Normal. L. H. Eastman of Franklin county, Geo. W. Lindsey of Webster county, Con. McCarthy of Cuming county, Richard C. Regan of Platte county, B. K. Bushee of Kimball county, E. W. Roberts of Phelps county, W. D. Haller of Washington county, and E. H. Dort of Nemaha county. They were accompanied by H. C. Bartels, representative from this district.

They were met at the depot by a delegation of business men who accompanied them to the college. Arriving there they were shown the different buildings and impressed with the need of improvements. They attended chapel at 11:45, and two of them made short speeches. The visitors were served with dinner in the dining hall, and later witnessed a basketball game.

At 4 o'clock they arrived in the business district and found attractive quarters arranged for their reception in the new Bressler building. There citizens gathered and got acquainted with them, and talked much of the present and future of the State Normal.

At 5 o'clock the legislators were regaled with an excellent dinner at the Boyd hotel, the citizens' committee joining them around the festival board.

At 7 o'clock they departed for Norfolk, feeling they had been most cordially received and royally entertained. They appreciated the fact that Wayne is composed of live wires who not only know how to boost for their town, but who know how to treat guests with genuine hospitality. The manifest local interest in the future of the school impressed the legislative committee very favorably. Brought in touch with the character of Wayne, its enterprise and public spirit became pronounced.

The two legislative delegations visiting the Normal have been so agreeably surprised at the possibilities of the school and so firmly impressed with the needs of the institution that there is no doubt they will do all in their power to have it treated generously in the matter of appropriations.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL NEWS

Dean Hahn spent Friday and Saturday at Blair.

Misses Jewell and Piper spent Sunday with friends in Stanton.

Miss Maud Woosley of Columbus, who has been visiting her sister Miss Violet Woosley, returned home Tuesday.

Mrs. J. R. Latta, of Lyons, Nebraska, accompanied her daughter to Wayne Monday and made arrangements for her to take a course in the Normal.

One of the most interesting games of basketball of the season was the game played last Tuesday afternoon between the Midgets and the first team of the Normal. The game was witnessed by members of the faculty, a large body of students, and by the legislative committee. From the applause it was evident that the sympathy of the spectators was with "the little fellows." But the superior size and strength of the first team proved too much for them and the Midgets went down to defeat after a hard fought battle by a score of 15 to 24.

This week will occur two of the preliminary debates preparatory to the debate with Peru on the 5th of May. On Thursday evening, February 16, the debate on the initiative and referendum will be held. On Saturday evening, the subject of socialism will be discussed. The young men have taken great interest in these debates and are prepared to interest the public. No admission fee will be charged. Come and hear the boys speak on questions of today. The subject for the debate with Peru has been received. It is "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Fortify the Panama Canal." The three debaters who are considered as doing the best work in our preliminaries will uphold the affirmative of this question against Peru in the town of Wayne, May 5th.

Hon. H. C. Bartels received an ovation from the student body when he appeared in chapel with the house committee last Tuesday morning. Mr. Bartels represents Wayne county in the Nebraska legislature and has introduced two measures in the interest of the school at Wayne. One is for the appropriation of the matriculation fees for the use of the library, which has already passed both houses, and the other is a bill asking for $55,000 for a new library and science hall. This bill has been recommended by the finance ways and means committee, and also by the committee of the whole. Mr. Bartels is quiet and unassuming but he is popular with the members of the legislature and his methods are such as to bring results.

Nine members of the public lands and buildings committee of the house of representatives visited Wayne last Tuesday and spent nearly the entire day at the Normal, visiting the work of the school and inspecting the needs of the institution. Only one member of this committee had ever been in Wayne before, and all were surprised to find so large a number of young men and young women as were present at the chapel period. The school has had a remarkable growth since its opening last September and the fact that the attendance has increased two hundred per cent. in the last two months gives assurance that within the next two years this will be one of the large Normal schools of the state. Both of the committees that have visited Wayne left thoroughly convinced that the present equipment must be greatly increased to meet the needs of the rapidly growing school, and we are confident that the present session of the legislature will see that a sufficient maintenance fund is provided for the coming biennium, and also grant the request for a new building.

On the evening of the 24th of February, at 8 o'clock in the Normal chapel, will be given a concert by the male quartette of Peru, Nebraska. Two of the singers are teachers of music in Peru and two are students. The two tenors used to sing in the famous Adelpian Quartette that made itself famous in the state of Nebraska and in many of the neighboring states. It is the earnest desire of the Normal management to bring to the citizens of Wayne each year a few thoroughly high class entertainments. No music is better enjoyed both by professional musicians and by the ordinary listener than that of a well-trained male quartette. We guarantee to the public such an evening of pleasure as will more than repay for the effort to be present, and for the small sum charged for admission. Reserved seats will be sold to the general public for 35 cents, to students of Normal and of the high school for 25 cents. The general admission will also be 25 cents. We trust that many will take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

SCACE-EVERETT.

Mr. Homer Scace of Wayne and Miss Alice V. Everett of Lyons, were united in marriage at Sioux City Tuesday afternoon. At Emerson they were met on their return to Wayne by Misses Elsie and Lucile Scace and Mrs. Ed. Perry and showered with rice and good wishes.

Mr. Scace is employed at the incubator factory, and is a young man of good habits. His bride taught the eighth grade in the Wayne schools a few years ago, and won many friends while here. Wayne friends will wish the newly married couple abundant happiness and prosperity.

COOPER-MOREHOUSE.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weber at high noon yesterday when Miss Lena Morehouse of Omaha, who is a sister of Mrs. Weber, was united in marriage to Mr. Earl W. Cooper of Gilt Edge, Montana, by Rev. Alexander Corkey of the Presbyterian church.

Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. Following the ceremony, dinner was served. Miss Amelia Griffin of Florence, Neb., niece of Mr. Weber, designed very artistic place cards for the occasion.

The bride's gown was white chiffon over white silk, and she carried a white bouquet of roses. The groom wore the conventional black. The bride's traveling suit was brown cheviot with hat to match. The happy couple will take an extended eastern trip, and will be at home after April 1, at Gilt Edge, Montana.

THE WEEK'S SOCIAL EVENTS

AMONG THE WOMEN'S CLUBS

Minerva Club Carries Out an Elaborately Planned Party—Other Clubs and Events.

Minerva Club.
The members of the Minerva club, with their husbands, enjoyed a most delightful time at the residence of Judge and Mrs. Jas. Britton Tuesday evening. The occasion was dedicated to "Hearts and Flowers" in honor of St. Valentine.

Upon arriving the guests were met by cupid, represented by little Mary House, who presented each with a tiny arrow containing the name of a familiar flower. By comparing arrows and matching flowers, partners were secured for supper. The march to the dining room was accompanied by the strains of the "Flower Song," played by Mrs. House.

The color scheme was carried out on the tables, with red and white carnations and ferns serving as center pieces and beautiful hand-painted hearts being used for place cards. The Misses Ruth Fortner, Ardath Conn and Mildred Roberts, and Masters Frank Roe and Leroy Owens served the sumptuous three-course supper. The danger of reckless haste in eating was tactfully avoided by having the courses separated by a series of appropriate speeches, the following toasts being responded to, with President U. S. Conn of the State Normal acting as toast-master: "Flowers in Romance," Mr. Fred S. Berry.

"Flowers in Literature," Prof. J. T. House.
"Flowers in Scripture," Rev. William Gorst.
"Flowers in the Philippines," Prof. C. H. Bright.

After this feast for the mind and body, the luring strains of music started up again and called the guests to the parlors where dissected hearts were distributed and couples thus formed for what was called a "grand heart drill."

Next was a flower contest which caused a good deal of merriment. Mrs. Conn won the prize, a flower calendar, and Mr. Berry won the consolation prize, a huge heart. Next a fruit pie jumble was served. Prof. J. T. House securing the largest piece. Then followed charades and other games which provided lively amusement for all until a late hour.

During the evening a letter was read from Mrs. Bert Brown, sojourning with her family at Long Beach, Cal., written on valentine post-cards, one to each member of the club. She described her winter home in a very interesting and pleasing style. Mrs. Ley, another member who is also at Long Beach, remembered the club with a treat which looked like bologna, bologna, wieniwurst and sauerkraut, but which in fact proved to be candy.

The evening was one that would cast flowers upon life's highway and make the heart glad.

Monday Club.

Mrs. Hahn entertained the Monday club this week. Roll call was responded to by quotations from King Lear. "Stratford on Avon" was the title of a paper read by Mrs. White. The club finished reading King Lear. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Epler.

Acme Club.

The Acme club met at the home of Mrs. Jacobs Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Mines read an article descriptive of the development of the great northwest. Mrs. Blair read an article touching the work of the library commissioner, and Mrs. Jacobs read an article written by the children's librarian of Pittsburg, Pa. At the next meeting at the home of Mrs. H. F. Wilson the club will celebrate the twenty-sixth anniversary of its organization. A 6 o'clock dinner will be served.

U. D. Club.

The members of the U. D. club, at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Hufford, Monday afternoon, supplemented the usual literary program with a social time and demonstration in cooking by each member. The result was a big six o'clock dinner, at which the merits of the various viands and delicacies were freely discussed.

Party at M. E. Church.
The Sunday school classes of Mrs. Beebe and Mrs. Lutgen enjoyed a valentine party in the M. E. church parlors Tuesday evening. About seventy were present. After games appropriate to St. Valentine's day, including the telling of fortunes, a supper was served. During the serving of supper, Willis Fleetwood sang a solo. Mrs. Ed. Johnson, Mrs. L. White, Mrs. Clyde Oman, Mrs. P. C. Crockett and Mrs. Chas. Culler assisted in the entertainment. The young folks enjoyed themselves hugely, and appreciated the efforts of those who planned and carried out the entertainment.

Mrs. H. F. Wilson entertained at dinner yesterday a number of lady friends in honor of Mrs. Young, a guest from Sioux City.

Friends of Miss Margaret Baker gave her a delightful surprise Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Various games furnished amusement, and at a late hour light refreshments were served.

MORE GROUND FOR LIBRARY

Members of the Commercial club have been impressed with the advisability of acquiring more ground for a plot for the proposed Carnegie library building, and have for consideration a proposition from A. B. Clark who agrees to dispose of his lot adjoining the one already purchased. Another lot would make the library building appear to better advantage, and give opportunity for parking and beautifying the surrounding grounds.

COMPLAINT IS FILED.

The Wayne Commercial club has filed a formal complaint with the state railway commission setting forth reasons why the railroad company should be required to build a new depot at this point. A hearing will probably be had in due time, and it is believed the showing to be made will amply warrant the commission in taking action favorable to the city.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Among out-of-town relatives who attended the Cooper-Morehouse nuptials were: Mrs. Griffin and daughter of Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Morehouse of Randolph.

J. S. Gamble of the Winside vicinity, closed a deal yesterday for the eighty-acre farm of Chas. Bright, four miles northeast of Wayne, at $100 per acre, and is moving to the place this week.

On Friday night, the 24th inst., the Peru Normal male quartet will give an entertainment at the college in Wayne, and members of the quartet are spoken of in the highest terms. Two of them belonged to the Adelpian quartet which was well known in the state some years ago. A rich treat is in store for all who attend.

After fifty-five a man should quit going to banquets, if he has anything to eat at home.—Bixby in the Lincoln Journal. But he won't quit. Avidity to surround a banquet table and stuff the internal works with rich and burdensome viands is one folly which old age seldom overcomes.

THE 1911

United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separators. The skimming power is there. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—0.138 of one per cent.

With the new interlocking skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so intensified, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so lengthened, the skimming force so increased, that the interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly one-half and runs with about half the power required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the incoming volume of the whole milk evenly outside the cream zone, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk, and you will see why it is that the Interlocking Style U. S. Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

The Gardian Knot. The famous Gardian knot was made of leather taken from some part of the harness belonging to the chariot of Heracles, king of Phrygia. It is said that this knot was so tied that the ends of the leather thong was not visible hence the difficulty in loosening it. Many must have tried to untie it for its fame as a "sticker" and at last reached the great Orator, who declared that the lucky experimenter should be rewarded by the kingship of Persia. Alexander, trying his hand and meeting with no better success than the others, drew his sword and cut into the knot until he found the ends of it.

Flats With a Purpose. "I hear they are building flats now that are provided with disappearing furniture." "I suppose that is for the purpose of providing more room." "That is understood to be the reason, but it will come in handy to have such a flat when the land assessor makes his appearance." Chicago Record-Herald.

True Consistency. A prominent Chicago Sunday school worker and club woman went into one of the Michigan avenue china studios to make some purchases. After examining different pieces on one table the customer turned to the artist and said: "I think I will take everything but this on the table. But what is this jar for? I never saw anything just like it before," pointing to one done in pearl lustre, about four inches high and having a fluted cover. "That is a potpourri jar," answered the artist. "Oh, is it?" she queried, then she turned to the artist and said in a decided manner: "I will take everything but this, and I have always made a point never to buy or have a thing to do with anything pertaining to pokers."

Valuable Scientific Achievement. English scientists have perfected a process for extracting radium from pitch-blende by means of which more radium can be produced in two months than in one year by the Austrian method.

54-40 OR FIGHT BY EMERSON HOUGH

SYNOPSIS.

Senator John Calhoun is opposed to the portfolio of secretary of state in Tyler's cabinet. He declares that it is necessary to mean that Texas and Oregon must be added to the Union.

"We Still Have the Dona Lucrezia and Her Little Jealousies."

thinking for them, I have thought." He turned to the table and took up a long, folded document which I saw was done in his cramped hand and with many interlineations.

CHAPTER XIX.

The gentleman from Tennessee. Women distrust men too much in general and not enough in particular.

Now all the more was it necessary for me and my friend from Oregon to hasten to Washington. Rumors abounded, I found as soon as I struck the first cities below the Canadian line.

It was a strange, ominous, indescribable tension of the atmosphere which exists when a great people is moved deeply.

CHAPTER XX.

The Lady from Mexico. As soon as a woman is cured, we are no longer there—Montrose.

After a time my chief reentered the office room and beckoned me to my table. I put before him the dry leaf of the document which he had given me for clerical care.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Old Gentleman rose and bowed. "I thank you for the honor of your flattery, sir," he began; but Calhoun raised a gentle hand.

"If it would please you, sir, to defer your visit to your own country for a time, I can secure for you a situation in our department in biology, where your services would be of extreme worth to us."

"I should say nothing as to a strong showing in any case. I should only say that if war came legitimately—or otherwise—I should back it with all my might. I feel the same in regard to war with England."

CHAPTER XXII.

Will Not Be a Success. Patience—My brother has written a society play.

Patience—What do earth does he know about dresses? Will Not Be a Success. Patience—My brother has written a society play.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Travelled as Merchandise. A novel charge of fraud has been before the Italian courts recently.

Travelled as Merchandise. A novel charge of fraud has been before the Italian courts recently. A dealer had four cases of liquor which he was sending, or rather taking, from Naples to Milan.

PUBLISHER OF HAMPTON'S MAGAZINE RETRACTS ACCUSATION AGAINST STANDARD.

ARTICLE CAUSED LIBEL SUIT

Hampton's and Moffett Declare Upon Investigation Oil Company Is Not Connected With Sale of Impure Candles.

New York.—In the matter of the libel suits brought by the Standard Oil Company for $250,000 damages against Hampton's Magazine and for $100,000 damages against Cleveland Moffett, the former the publisher, and the latter the writer, of an article in the February issue of the magazine which defamed the company in connection with the sale of glucose and candy in Philadelphia, the following retractions have been signed in the office of Shearman & Sterling, the Standard Oil company's lawyers in the case, and have been issued from the company's offices at No. 26 Broadway.

"Hampton's Magazine, 66 West Thirty-fifth St., New York, Jan. 31, 1911.

"Standard Oil Company, 26 Broadway, New York.

"Dear Sirs: In the February issue of Hampton's Magazine there was published an article, written by me, entitled, 'Cassidy and the Food Poisoners.' In that article I referred to the investigation of Mr. Cassidy, with respect to the manufacture and sale of impure candles in Philadelphia, and made the statement that your company manufactured and sold impure material which went into these candles and that, when the various dealers were arrested and fined, at the instance of Mr. Cassidy, your company paid the fines.

"Upon investigation I have ascertained that your company was in no way concerned with the transactions referred to and I hasten to retract in the fullest manner all charges made against your company and to express my sincere regret that I should have fallen into this serious error. Yours truly, Cleveland Moffett.

Jan. 31, 1911.

"Standard Oil Company, New York City.

"Dear Sirs: Referring to foregoing letter of Mr. Cleveland Moffett to you, we beg to state that we are convinced that Mr. Moffett was in error in his statements with reference to your company. We greatly regret that these errors should have been made. It is the desire of Hampton's Magazine to be accurate and fair in all that we say in our March number we will publish this letter and the foregoing letter of Mr. Moffett. Yours truly, Ben. B. Hampton, President, Broadway Magazine, Inc."

CURED HER BABY OF ECZEMA

"I can't tell in words how happy the word 'Cultura' sounds to me, for it cured my baby of itching, torturing eczema. It first came when she was between three and four weeks old, appearing on her head. I used everything imaginable and had one doctor's bill after another, but nothing cured it. Then the eczema broke out so badly behind her ear that I really thought her ear would come off.

GRANTS OF THE SOUTH

When one speaks of granite the mind naturally reverts to Vermont. It is difficult to associate granite with any section of North America outside New England, yet it must now be acknowledged to the credit of the south that Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia are producing large quantities of stone of good quality which insures the south a place in the market at any rate.

The incubator factor is shipping out in response to orders an average of 100 machines per day. On Tuesday 135 were shipped. March will be the highest month for business at the factory, and if the increase keeps on at the same rate that has been shown the past month, the institution will do ten times the business it did last year. Messrs. Kate and Raymond are naturally well satisfied, and have reason to figure that the future offers unlimited possibilities. The factory is a success beyond the most sanguine expectations of the proprietors.

Miss Agnes Savidge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Savidge, was married at Sioux City on February 8 to Frederick S. Sandagger of New Orleans, La. In announcing the marriage, the Omaha Bee says: "Mr. and Mrs. Sandagger, who spent the latter part of the week in Omaha, left last evening for a trip to Central and South America. The groom, formerly of Omaha, now resides in New Orleans, La." The announcement received by the Herald says the newly married couple will be at home in New Orleans after March 1. The Wayne friends of the bride will extend hearty good wishes.

Writing the Wakefield Republican from the Ozark mountains in Missouri where he lives, Wm. Park, former resident of Wakefield, recalls the joys and sorrows of the early days hereabouts. He says the Logan valley is the garden spot of the world, though, as he adds, "in the early seventies we sure had our troubles." Then he goes on: "Grasshoppers and blizzards brought famine and death. None of us can ever forget those days of suffering." Turning his memory back farther, he touches his experience in Canada in this way: "I was born in Canada in a new country. There the first settlers had the fever and ague and many of them died but afterwards became all right when the country got cleared up and drained." Mr. Park's friends will be impressed with the comforting assurance he gives that the old settlers who died, became all right after the country got cleared and drained.

BAPTIST PASTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. Parker Smith who has served as pastor of the Baptist church in Wayne for about five years, astonished his congregation Sunday morning by announcing his resignation at the close of his sermon. Few knew he contemplated leaving the pastorate, and so his announcement was unexpected and caused surprise and regret. The resignation takes effect the last of March when he expects to remove with his family to the big ranch of his father-in-law, C. A. Pierson, near Ravenna, and there have a part in looking after the latter's extensive agricultural and stock-raising interests.

Rev. Smith makes the move mainly on account of poor health on the part of his wife. He believes life on the farm will be a source of better health.

During his five years' pastorate here he has made many friends who will reluctantly part with him and his family. Who will be his successor is of course unknown at this time.

FOR GOVERNMENT BUILDING

WORD FROM CONGRESSMAN

Latta Says Bill for Federal Building at Wayne Will be Introduced at Next Session.

That Wayne is in line for a federal building, with good promise of securing one within a few years, is shown by a letter from Congressman Latta to F. A. Berry, secretary of the Wayne Commercial club. Mr. Berry had written the congressman urging Wayne's claims, and here is the reply:

February 11, 1911.

Mr. F. A. Berry, Secretary, Wayne Commercial Club, Wayne, Neb.

My Dear Mr. Berry: Your favor of the 8th instant, in which you mentioned that you are interested in a public building for your city, is at hand. I have had Wayne in mind and am going to do the very best I can for you in this line. This was not the right year or rather session of congress for a bill for that purpose, as there would have been very little possibility of securing its passage. However, at the next session of congress I am going to introduce bills for public buildings in two or three towns of the district and Wayne will be the first one to be introduced. Assuring you of my interest in your town and its business interests and further trusting that I may be of real service to your people, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

JAMES P. LATTA.

NEWS FROM WAYNE SCHOOLS

The attendance is very good. Attend the contest tonight. A good program.

Newly enrolled pupils are Bernard and Jerold Rudd in the first grade; Helen Rudd in the third grade and Lyle Gamble in the seventh grade.

Mrs. Karpenstein and Mrs. Epler were recent visitors.

Many valentines were made by the pupils in the lower grades and sent or given to intimate friends.

This being Lincoln-Washington month, patriotism is being especially emphasized in all departments.

Remember the art exhibit at the high school this week on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings. This exhibit gives everybody an opportunity to see the best there is in art for a very low price. The exhibit has been arranged for by the ladies of the decorating committee and certainly merits everyone's patronage. Mr. Whitmore is not paid anything for giving the exhibit, and all the money taken in will be expended for pictures for the schools. Buy your tickets from the pupils. Remember the dates, Friday and Saturday of this week, from 2 to 6 in the afternoons and from 7 to 10 in the evenings. COME.

The seating of the gymnasium is another very good addition to our building.

The basket ball game last Friday evening between our high school and the Bloomfield high school resulted in a victory for Bloomfield by a score of 12 to 10, while the game between the State Normal Midgets and the second town team resulted in a victory for the Midgets by a score of 24 to 14. Both were good games.

On Friday evening the tenth grade gave the following program with Glenn Duerig presiding: A Sketch of Rome, Joe White; "Typical Romans," Raymond Duerig; piano solo, Leta Fisher; "Regulus' speech to the Carthaginians, Ina Hughes; biography of Caesar, Ina Elming.

James R. Garfield and John Merritt Driver will address the North Nebraska Teachers' association at Norfolk, in March.

Attend the debating and declaiming contest tonight.

We shall be glad to file and care for any good magazines that any one may see fit to entrust to our care.

Particular numbers of the following are especially desired at this time for the debating work: Munsey, McClure's, Scientific American, Independent, Outlook, Review of Reviews, Harper's, World's Work, World Today, Century, Nation and Cosmopolitan.

If you have any of these and are willing to lend them to us please phone to the office and we will send some one for them.—High School.

COMING CANTATA.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

"The Coming of the Kingdom in Wayne" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church by the pastor next Sunday morning. In the evening the sermon will be on the theme "An Invitation to the Hill of the Lord."

The leader of the C. E. prayer meeting next Sunday evening is Paul Mines. The topic is "Serenity; How to Get it and What it Accomplishes."

In place of the regular church prayer meeting this week, the Presbyterians held a conference at the manse in regard to the tabernacle meetings. The importance of prayer and personal work was emphasized, and the great opportunity for the salvation of souls was discussed.

MRS. STEHR ARRESTED.

Norfolk Daily News: Mrs. Henry Stehr was quietly arrested last Saturday and taken to Madison with her baby, according to Night Patrolman O'Brien at whose home Deputy Sheriff Monroe Smith visited Sunday. Mrs. Stehr was again brought to the city yesterday noon and her baby remained in the care of the deputy sheriff's wife at Madison. Mrs. Stehr is packing up her clothing and will be returned to Madison today.

It is said that no charges were filed against the woman as yet, but it is reported the same charge of murder in the first degree, placed against her husband, will be filed against her. A number of county officials and many neighbors of the Stehrs believe the mother is as much at fault for the death of little Kurt Stehr as the father.

The announcement of the engagement of another Gould will make the public wonder in despair whether the supply will ever run out.

While the legislature defeated county option, it is pledged to the initiative and referendum, and with the latter facility for soundly the popular voice, the question of statewide prohibition is likely to be up for a vote sooner than it would have been if the former policy had been adopted.

Descendants of old Jay Gould have been the most uniformly foolish of any family in the country. There have been few exceptions to the rule of mental poverty and weakness.

There has been little demand for ugly valentines, and comparatively few have been bought in recent years. Until a few years ago, the market was flooded annually with caricatures designed to fit in exaggerated form, individual peculiarities.

Whether the city shall remain "dry" or return to the license system will probably be considered at the spring election, though the matter has thus far aroused no discussion and little manifest interest.

A Christian Science practitioner in New York is being prosecuted at the instance of a medical society on the charge of violating a state law. By a stretch of imagination it is contended by the prosecution that Christian Science is a pretense at medical practice, and having no license, is unlawful.

In a little hut, amidst forest clearings in Kentucky, Abraham Lincoln was born 102 years ago last Sunday. Born to the lowest estate to which mankind is heir, condemned to a life in which there was apparently neither hope nor sunshine, by the pinching struggle of his parents for existence in a hostile country overrun by the savage red man, he made, more of his scant heritage than is given to most men, and became the most majestic figure in modern history.

It looks as though this were an opportune time for the city to encourage the Nebraska Telephone company to install a modern plant.

We understand there would be a small increase in rates unless one used a four-party line. Residences could do that without increasing the cost a cent, and then would have infinitely better service than is furnished at present.

Two esteemed friends have sent the writer copies of a special edition of the Portland Oregonian. The edition marks the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the paper, and the occasion is taken advantage of not only to show the development of that paper from a small beginning to a giant institution, but to set forth the growth of the state of Oregon during a half century.

Andrew Carnegie counseled a group of American girls, employed on a magazine, to treat millionaires mercifully, and not refuse to marry them simply because they are ultrarich. Carnegie admits the good fortune of being born poor, but does not mention any advantage in staying poor.

Mr. Carnegie is quoted as follows: "Most millionaires' wives are not happy. They have too many luxuries and have no mental resources to fall back on. Some of my partners have been unjustly criticised for what was not their fault, but the fault of their wives."

People are divided on the proposed reciprocity plan with Canada as they are on all public questions. President Taft urges the adoption of the treaty in the strongest terms, and expresses the hope that congress will act favorably.

No one is enough of a seer to foretell exactly the effect on American trade of the proposed reciprocity. Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson had this to say recently in answer to a communication from the national grange protesting against acceptance of the agreement.

"The pending reciprocity treaty with Canada will go some distance towards meeting the demands of the people at the last election without interfering with the policy of protection as applied to the whole world."

"Canada opens her doors to our fruits, which will give to our orchardists a growing market for their products. Fish comes into the United States free, which will mean quite as much to our people as the opening of our markets to Canadian poultry products. We are to have free trade in seeds, which is well, because many seeds are more valuable coming from northern latitudes."

Old winter has its calm delights which I enjoy on stormy nights. It's nice to sit beside the fire, and read a book or twang a lyre, and listen to the tempest rave, and wonder why it won't behave.

It often is said that a man must be dead before he is spoken of highly; but that isn't true of the popular view of that sweetest of poets, Jim Riley! O we sit by the fire and we list to the lyre he plays as no other can play it, and all the year long we love him and his song, and we're only too happy to say it!

He came from old Missouri, where plums and paw-paws grow, and has hoed and weeded the long potato row, he's sweated in the cornfields with old and rusty tools, and he has quoted language to cheer his lazy mules. Now in his high position he'll doubtless make mistakes, for he is more than human, go guiltless of breaks, but you may bet your whiskers this yeoman from the West will tighten up his gait, and all ways do his best.

New Rugs Have Arrived

I wish to announce to prospective buyers that part of my spring order of rugs have arrived and the rest are expected soon. This order consists of the very latest patterns in the different grade rugs. Bought direct from one of the largest manufacturers in the United States and shipped direct from the mills.

In addition to the furniture shown in my store, I have several large shipments bought direct from Eastern Manufacturers, due to arrive soon.

Remember, I sell the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets. The Straus & Foster Mattresses, Karpens Upholstered Goods, Globe-Wernike Bookcases, New Home Sewing Machines and several other well advertised and strictly guaranteed lines.

Come in, see and examine these lines thoroughly. The better you are posted, the easier it will be for you to make your selections and the better you will be satisfied. I can save you money and deliver the goods if you will give me the chance.

RAISING FINE HORSES. Speaking of G. L. Carlson of Norfolk as a scientific horse breeder, the Norfolk News says this among other things: "From a well known agriculturist who visited Norfolk recently it was learned that the eyes of the scientific world were looking toward Norfolk for new wonders of scientific horse breeding and that instructors have wandered to this city from all over the globe to learn what they have never known about the horse." In a few days about twenty pure bred Belgian horses will arrive in Norfolk direct from Belgium, ship ped here through the efforts of the Norfolk Commercial Club. These horses, with the exception of a few scattered through this vicinity, will be the first pure bred horses shipped directly to this city from Europe for solely breeding purposes. Farmers are taking a keen interest in this work and their appeals for a better grade of horses have been answered.

Mr. Carlson will appear before the farmers and Norfolk citizens on one of the three days' session of the farmers' institute which will be held here, commencing February 28. His subject on "the platform" will be "Scientific Horse Breeding," in which lecture Dr. C. A. McKim, owner of the Norfolk horse hospital, will do the dissecting. Mr. Carlson has on many occasions refused to lecture before universities and colleges, because of his limited time. He is being swamped with applications to lecture before scientific institutions all over the United States.

UNION AMONGST CHRISTIANS. The proposed tabernacle meetings in Wayne during March are very practical illustrations of the real unity amongst all Christian people. The one bond of union which binds together Christians of every church is loyalty to Jesus Christ. All are agreed in acknowledging him as Lord and Master, and in seeking to extend his influence and power throughout the world. The surrender of the life to Christ makes anyone akin to all the denominations, and gives to men everywhere the highest religion and the noblest morality.

A Little Business Romance of the Banana Trade

By O. HENRY

(Copyright by Almasa Magazine Co.)

PROUDY knew exactly where Dicky Maloney had fled from or how he reached Puerto Rico. He appeared there one day and that was all. He afterward said that he came on the fruit steamer Thor, but an inspection of the Thor's passenger list that date would have found it to be Maloney's curiosity, however, soon perished, and Dicky took his place among the heterogeneous litter of the stranded adventurers, refugees and odd fish from other countries that line the shores of the Caribbean.

He was an active, well-muscled, rolling fellow with an engaging gray eye, the most irresistible grin, a rather dark, or much sun-burned complexion, and a head of the fiercest red hair ever seen in that country. Speaking the Spanish language as well as he spoke English, and seeming always to have plenty of silver in his pockets. It was not long before he was a welcome companion both with the natives and the resident foreigners. A considerable amount of speculation still existed concerning the object of his stay in Puerto Rico, but only he alone knew by opening a small shop for the sale of cigars, dulces and the handwork of the interior Indians—fiber and silk woven goods—dovekin zapatos, and basket-work of tin tools. Even then he did not change his habits for he was drinking and playing cards half the night with the commandante, the collector of the port, the jefe Pollo, and other gay devils among the native officials. The care of the shop he left entirely to Pasa. And now it is both desirable and fitting to make Pasa's acquaintance, for she was Dicky's mistress.

La Madama Theresa Buncamano y Salazar de las Yglesias kept a right shop in Calle numero ocho. No disguise, find you, for rum-running is a government monopoly, and to keep a government shop is a commendable respectability if not a supereminence. Moreover, the saddest of predicaments could find no fault with the conduct of the shop. Customers drank there in the lowest of spirits and recklessly, as in the shadow of the dead, for the madama's ancient but vaunted lineage counteracted even the rum's heaviest to be joyful. For, was she not of the Yglesias who landed with Pizarro? And had her deceased husband not been Comendador de Caminos y Puertos for the district?

In the next room, seated in the rocking-chair, dreamily strumming a guitar, could generally be found her daughter Pasa—"La Sanita Navajada" the young man had named her. Navajada is the Spanish word for a certain shade of color, that you must go to more trouble to describe in English. By saying "The little saint," that the most beautiful-delicately slightly orange-golden you will approximate the description of Dona Pasa Buncamano y Salazar de las Yglesias.

That Dicky Maloney would, sooner or later, expose this field was a thing to be foreseen. There were few dooms in Puerto Rico his red head had not been poked into.

He saw Pasa one afternoon sitting by the door with an unusual staid look upon her face. Dicky rushed off to find one of the white duck wall-flowers to present him. In an incredibly short time he was seated close beside the came rocking-chair. There were no back-scratchers-wall papers with Dicky. At close range, was his theory of subjection. To carry the effort with one concentrated, ardent eloquent, irresistible escaud—that was Pasa's way.

Pasa was situated from the proud, dominant family of the epoch. Moreover, she had had unusual advantages: Two years in a New Orleans school had elevated her ambitions and fitted her for a fate above the ordinary maidens of her native land. And yet here she succumbed to the first red-haired scamp with a gib tongue and a charming smile that came along and courted her properly. For very soon Dicky took her quietly to the little church next to the Teatro Nacional, and then to his little shop in the grassy road where customers seldom troubled him. And it was her fate to sit with her patient, satiny eyes and figure like a biscaie Psyche, behind the sequestered counter while Dicky drank and pillaged with his frivolous acquaintances.

He never felt curiosity. There was a wife for you!

The one mistake Dicky made in Puerto Rico was to run out of money at the wrong time. Where his money came from was a puzzle, for the sales of the shop were next to nothing, but that source failed at a peculiarly unfortunate time. It was when the commandante, Don Honor of Coronel Espinaran (Caribbean looked upon the little saint seated in the shop and felt his heart go pitapat.

The commandante, who was versed in all the intricate arts of gallantry, first delicately hinted at his sentiments by doubling his dress uniform and strutting up and down before her. Her saucy eyes, instantly perceived, were diverted to the extent of a smile. The commandante saw the smile, which was not intended for him, and was convinced of an impression made. He entered the shop, confidently, and advanced to open compliment. Pasa froze; he pranced, she flamed royally. She was charmed to injudicious persistence, she commanded him to leave the shop. He tried to capture her hand and Dicky entered, broadly smiling, five minutes later he pitched the commandante out the door upon the stones of the street, senseless. That five minutes Dicky had spent in publishing him scientifically and carefully, so that the path might be prolonged as far as possible.

A barefooted policeman who had been watching the affair from across the street, now blew a whistle and a squad of eight soldiers came running from the quarter just around the corner. When they saw that Dicky was the offender they stopped and blew more whistles, which brought out reinforcements of twelve.

Dicky, being thoroughly imbued with the martial spirit, stooped and drew the commandante's sword which was gleaming about him, and charged his foe. He chased the standing army four squares, playfully predding its squealing rear, and harking its bare, gingiv-colored heels. He was not so successful with the chief authorities. Eight minutes of this profession originated him, and converted him, triumphant and warily to talk "El Diablo Colorado" they dubbed him, and decided the military for its defeat.

Dicky, with the rest of the prisoners, could look out the barred door at the grass of a little plaza, a row of orange trees, and the red roof and white walls of a line of insignificant buildings. At sunset, along a path across the plaza, came a melancholy procession of sad-faced women bearing plantains, bread, cash, and fruit—each coming with food to some wretch behind those bars to whom she still clung. Twice a day, morning, noon and sunset, they were permitted to come. Water was furnished her guests by the republic, but no food.

For two days succeeding Pasa came at each appointed time and brought him food. He eagerly inquired, each time if a letter or package had come for him, and she mournfully shook her head.

On the morning of the third day she brought only a small loaf of bread. There were dark circles under her eyes. She seemed as calm as ever. "By jingo," said Dicky, who seemed to speak in English or Spanish as the whim seized him, "this is dry provender, muchachita. In this the best you can dig up for a fellow?" Pasa looked at him as a mother looks at a beloved but capricious babe.

remember any one with red—any one named Maloney. Such a lot of college men seem to have missed their advantage. One of the best mathematicians of the class of '91 is selling lottery tickets in Bollo. A Cornell man dropped off here last month. He was second steward on a guano boat. I'll write to the Department if you like, Maloney. Or if there's any tobacco, or newspe—

"There's nothing," interrupted Dicky, shortly, "but this. You go tell the captain of the Catarina that Dicky Maloney wants to see him as soon as he can conveniently come. Tell him where I am. Hurry. That's all."

The consul glid to be left off so easily, hurried away. The captain of the Catarina, a stout man, Seliellian born, soon appeared, shoving, with little ceremony, through the guards to the jail door. The Vesuvius Fruit Company had a habit of doing things that way in Puerto Rico.

"I am exceedingly sorry—exceedingly sorry," said the captain, "to see this occur. I place myself at your service, Mr. Maloney. Whatever you need shall be furnished. Whatever you say shall be done."

Dicky looked at him unsmilingly. His red hair could not detract from his attitude of severe dignity as he stood, tall and calm, with his nose and mouth forming a horizontal line.

"Captain De Luico, I believe I still have funds in the hands of your company—ample and personal funds. I ordered a remittance last week. The money has not arrived. You know what is needed in this game. Money and money and more money. Why has it not been sent?"

"By the Cristobal," replied De Luico, gesticulating. "It was dispatched. Where is the Cristobal? Of Cap Antonio I spoke her with a broken shaft. A tramp coaster was towing her back to New Orleans. I brought money ashore thinking your need for it might not without delay. In this envelope is one thousand dollars. There is more if you need it, Mr. Maloney."

"For the present it will suffice," said Dicky, softening as he thanked the envelope and looked down at the half-inch thickness of smooth, dinky bills. "The long green!" he said gently, with a new reverence in his gaze. "Is there anything it will not buy, captain?"

When the captain had departed Dicky called the sergeant of the jail squad and asked:

"Am I in prison by the military or by the civil authority?"

city miles in the interior. But during the hot season, from May to October, the entire population migrates to Puerto Rico, where the sea breeze renders the pursuit of business and pleasure possible. Custom had so established this annual habit of the executive that a commodious government building had been erected on the beach at Puerto Rico for the use of the president and his official family during their sojourn.

But now, this year, though the middle of May was almost come, the heart of the people was not stirred to the customary joyous preparation. Throughout the entire republic there seemed to be a spirit of silent, sullen discontent. The administration of President Zarilla had made him far from a popular idol. Fresh taxes, fresh import duties, and more than all, his tolerance of the outrageous oppression of the citizens by the military had rendered him the most obnoxious president since the despised Alfonso.

But the most impolitic of the administration's moves had been when it authorized the Vesuvius Fruit Company of New Orleans, an organization plying twelve steamships and with a cash capital something larger than Costa Rica's surplus and debt combined. Naturally an established concern like the Vesuvius would become irritated at having a small, retail business with no attempt to squeeze it. So the government resorted to a policy of refusal. The president retaliated by clapping an export duty of one per cent on bananas—a thing unprecedented in fruit-growing countries.

An emissary requested an interview with the representative of the company. The Vesuvius sent Mr. Frantzoni, a little, fat, ways whistling secretary to the Minister of Finance, sandbagging in behalf of Costa Rica.

Senator Ortiz opened negotiations by the announcement that the government contemplated the building of a railroad to skirt the alluvial coast lands. After touching upon the benefits such an improvement would confer upon the interests of the Vesuvius, he reached the definite suggestion that a contribution to the road's expense of one hundred thousand pesos would not be more than an equivalent to benefit.

Mr. Frantzoni declined any benefit from the contemplation of a road. He was authorized, however, to offer a contribution of five hundred to the contemplators.

Did Senator Ortiz understand Mr. Frantzoni to mean five hundred thousand pesos? By no means. Five hundred pesos. And in answer, not good.

"Your offer insults my government," said Senator Ortiz, rising indignantly.

"Then," cried Mr. Frantzoni, in a warning voice, "we will change it."

The offer was never changed. Mr. Frantzoni must have meant something else.

step, and his broad, seductive grin showed that he recognized their presence.

Dicky had attired himself becomingly for the festive occasion in a well-fitting black suit. Pasa was close by his side, her head covered with the ubiquitous black mantilla.

Mr. Vincent looked at her attentively.

"Botticelli's Madonna," he remarked, gravely. "I wonder when she got into the game. I don't like his getting tangled with the women. I hope you will keep away from them."

"Captain Cronin is almost drew attention from the parade."

"With that head of hair! Keep away from the women! And Maloney! Hasn't he got a license? But, nonsense aside, what do you think of the prospects? It's a species of filibustering out of my line."

Vincent glanced again at Dicky's head and smiled.

"Rouge et noir," he said. "There you have it. Make your play, gentlemen. Our money is on the red."

"They ceased talking for General Pilar had descended from the first carriage and had taken his stand upon the top step of Casa Morona. As the oldest member of the cabinet, custom had decreed that he should make the address of welcome, presenting the keys of the official residence to the president at his close.

Holding in his hand the gilt keys of Casa Morona, he began his address in a historical tone, touching upon each administration and the advance of civilization and prosperity from the first diti striving after liberty down to present times. Arriving at the regime of President Zarilla, at which point, according to precedent, he should have delivered a eulogy upon its wise conduct and the happiness of the people, General Pilar paused. Then he silently held up the bunch of keys high above his head, with his eyes closed regarding it. The ribbon with which they were bound fluttered in the breeze.

While this act of the drama was being produced the scene-shifters had been busy at the duties assigned them. Two of Cruz's dragoons had seized the brittle reins of President Zarilla's horses, others formed a close guard, and they galloped off with the tyrant and his two malodorous ministers. No doubt a place had been prepared for them. There are quite a number of well-barrated stone apartments in Puerto Rico.

"Beware, wits," said Mr. Vincent, calmly, looking another clear.

Young Olvarra had reassessed the steps and spoken a few words to General Pilar. That distinguished veteran descended to the walk and approached Pasa, who still stood, calm and wonder-eyed where Dicky had left her. With his hat in his hand, and his medals and decorations shining on his breast, the general gave her his arm, and they went up the steps together. And then Ramon Olvarra stepped forward and took both her hands before all the people.

And while the cheering was breaking out all around where Captain Cronin and Mr. Vincent turned and walked back toward the landing where the ship's gig was waiting for them.

"There'll be another presidential proclamation in the morning," said Vincent, musingly. "As a rule, they are not as reliable as the elected ones. But this youngster seems to have good stuff in him. He planned and maneuvered the whole campaign. Olvarra's widow you know, was wealthy. She gave the boy eight years of the best education in the states. The company wanted him up and backed him in the little game."

"It's a glorious thing," said Cronin, half jestingly, "to be able to discharge a government and insert one of your own choosing, these days."

"It's business," stated Vincent, stopping to offer his cigar to a monkey swinging from a lime tree; "and that is what moves the world of to-day. That extra real on the price of bananas has to go. Mr. Cronin, the quickest way of removing it."

HEREDITY

Can Be Overcome in Cases.

The influence of heredity cannot, of course, be successfully disputed, but it can be minimized or entirely overcome in many cases by correct food and drink. A Conn. lady says:

"For years while I was a coffee drinker I suffered from bilious attacks of great severity, from which I used to emerge as white as a ghost and very weak. Our family physician gave me various prescriptions for improving the digestion and stimulating the liver, which I tried faithfully but without perceptible result.

"He was acquainted with my family history for several generations back, and once when I visited him he said: 'If you have inherited one of those tripe livers you may always suffer more or less from its inaction. We can't dodge our inheritance, you know.'

"I was not so strong a believer in heredity as he was, however, and, beginning to think for myself, I concluded to stop drinking coffee, and see what effect that would have. I feared it would be a severe trial to give it up, but when I took Postum I felt very well made, it completely filled my veins with a hot beverage and I grew very fat."

"I have used Postum for three years, using no medicine. During all that time I have had absolutely none of the bilious attacks that I used to suffer from, and I have been entirely free from the pain and debilitating effects that used to result from them."

"The change is surely very great, and I am compelled to give Postum the highest credit for its well-earned success."

"Shall I Deliver Them to Enrico, Olvarra's Assassin, or to His Son?"

"Surely there is no martial law in effect now, senator."

"Buono. Now go or send to the alcalde the Juez de Paz and the jefe de los Pollos. Tell them I am prepared at once to satisfy the demands of justice. A folded bill of the 'long green' held in the sergeant's hand.

So, that night Dicky sat by the window of the room over his shop and his little saint sat close by, working at something silken and dainty. Dicky was thoughtful and grave. His red hair was in an unusual state of disorder. Pasa's fingers often ached to smooth and arrange it, but Dicky would never allow it. He was poring tonight, over a great litter of manuscripts and books and papers on his table until that perpendicular line came between his brows that always distressed Pasa. Presently she went and brought his hat, and stood with it until he looked up, inquiringly.

"It is sad for you here," she explained. "Go out and drink vino blanco. Come back when you get that smile you used to wear. That is what I wish to see."

Dicky laughed and threw down his pen. "Vino blanco stage is past. It has served its turn. Perhaps, after all, there was less entered my mouth and more my ears than people thought. But, there will be no more maps or frowns tonight. I promise you that. Come."

They sat upon a red sileta at the window and watched the quivering gleams from the lights of the Catarina reflected in the harbor.

Presently Pasa rippled out one of her infrequent chirps of audible laughter.

"I was thinking," she began, anticipating Dicky's question, "of the foolish things girls have in their minds. Because I went to school in the states I used to have ambitions. Nothing less than to be the president's wife would satisfy me. And, look you, red pleasured, to what obscure fate has 'thou stolen me!'"

"Don't give up hope," said Dicky, smiling. "There was a dictator of some name, I believe. Why not a President Maloney of this country? See the world, and I'll make the race. We'll capture the Irish vote, easy running, by a head."

HOUSE FAVORS PACT

A TEST VOTE IS TAKEN IN THE HOUSE ON THE McCALL MEASURE

G. O. P. RANKS TORN ASUNDED

One Hundred and One Republicans Vote Against Immediate Consideration and Sixty-Three For—Nineteen Democrats in Opposition.

Washington, D. C.—The McCall bill, carrying into effect the Canadian reciprocity agreement, reached the floor of the house and probably will be passed before adjournment.

A test vote was taken after the house was called to order. Mr. McCall moved immediate consideration. This was objected to on the ground that it was District of Columbia day on the calendar, and important matters of legislation were pending.

When the voting began it became apparent that the lines were being tightly drawn between those favoring and those opposing the agreement. As finally corrected the vote to take up the bill was 197 to 129. The bill will be passed, it is said, by even a larger majority.

One hundred and one republicans voted against immediate consideration. This number will show a decided diminution on roll call. Sixty-three republicans voted for immediate consideration. The democratic vote was divided, 134 in favor of immediate consideration and 19 against. As in the case of some of the opposing republicans a few of the democrats voted against immediate consideration because they are members of the District of Columbia committee.

Democratic leaders say there will be but six or seven votes against the passage of the bill from their side.

No time for a vote was set, but Mr. McCall will endeavor to secure an agreement to end general debate, then to begin the reading of the bill for amendment, the house to remain in session until the measure is passed.

MOVING PICTURES OF BIG DITCH

Col. Goethals, Engineer in Charge, Entertains Congress.

Washington—A scene with but very few parallels in its history was offered in the hall of the house of representatives Monday. Col. Goethals, of the corps of engineers of the United States army and chairman of the isthmian canal commission, addressed congress supplemented by stereopticon and moving pictures of the work that has been accomplished under his supervision at Panama.

For two hours Col. Goethals spoke and frequently he was applauded. The pictures, too, again and again drew applause as they showed the mighty accomplishments of the Americans who are digging the great ditch.

Tramp Attacks Little Girl.

Wayville, Ill.—Attacked and assaulted by a tramp while returning from school, 13-year-old Grace New daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry New living near here, is in a serious condition. The attack was committed in a lonely place along the road a short distance from her home.

PACT IS TAFT AIM

RECIPROCITY WILL BENEFIT FARMER, MANUFACTURER AND MIDDLEMAN, HE DECLARES.

GOOD WILL GREATEST AIM

President at Corn Show in Columbus Urges Extension of Agricultural Resources by Leveling of the "Useless Tariff Wall."

Columbus, O.—In an address at the National Corn exhibition here Friday President Taft declared that reciprocity with Canada will benefit the entire United States—the farmer, manufacturer, railroad company, middleman and the warehouseman.

While his speech was devoted especially to showing that the farmer had nothing to fear, but much to gain, he attempted to prove also that all the other interests of the country would be benefited.

"We have with pioneer energy pushed on to the Pacific," the president said, "and taken up all the good land. We are spending millions to reclaim the arid and semiarid lands of the great western desert. Should we not by taking down a useless and unnecessary tariff wall bring within our agricultural resources the great plains of the northwest when they can bring to us what we need, and that without hurting any of our own people?"

The president expressed the opinion that in addressing a corn exhibition audience it would be especially appropriate for him to answer the criticism which has been made of the agreement, "as an attack upon the farmer by depriving him of protection."

"It is said to be a manufacturers' agreement," he said, "that is, in the interest of the manufacturing classes and adverse to the farmer."

"I am a Republican and the Republican party has always advocated and pursued a policy of protection for American products and manufactures. For a long time the policy had little or no limitation. It was thought that tariffs on protected products could not be too high, that if all foreign products were excluded, competition would stimulate production and reduce its cost and its price. The temptation to stroy competition by combinations became so great, however, that the party to its effect limited its policy and imposed the limitation, that the tariff should be limited for purposes of protection to the difference between the cost of production in this country and the cost of production abroad, with an allowance for a reasonable profit to the American producer."

"The principle of protection thus stated takes away the justification for any tariff whatever by way of protection on articles imported from a country where the conditions as to labor and other circumstances are the same as in ours and thus make the cost of production substantially the same."

"Canada is our neighbor on the north. Her soil is like ours. Her climate is temperate like ours, except that her growing seasons are shorter and she cannot raise corn in great quantities. It is difficult to see in what respect her farmers have any advantage over our own except a virgin soil in the far northwest."

"How is the farmer to be hurt?" the president asked. Then he took up the effect it would have on corn and wheat prices, on the value of farm lands in this country and on the United States milling industry. He declared that in respect to corn the American farmer is king and will remain so, reciprocity or no reciprocity. As to wheat, he said the domestic price is governed by the world price, and that "the sending of any part of Canada's surplus through our country instead of through Canada to be milled or exported without affecting the price of wheat for our farmers."

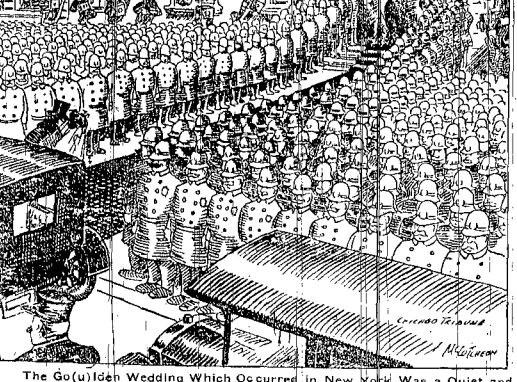

"The value of farm lands, Mr. Taft said, is affected by the proximity to market more than by any other element, and he maintained that the American farmer still would have the advantage in this respect."

"The greatest reason for adopting this agreement," the president declared, "is the fact that it is going to unite two countries with kindred people and lying together across a wide continent, in a commercial and social union, to the great advantage of both."

THREE DIE IN RIVER

STREET CAR PLUNGES INTO ICY STREAM AT SHEBOYGAN, WIS.

Sheboygan, Wis.—Imprudently leaping in a speeding trolley car, three women were drowned when the car plunged into the Sheboygan river through the open draw of the Eighth street bridge here.

The dead, Miss Anna Mather, aged fifty-three, Sheboygan Falls, a music teacher; Miss Thelma VanOwenker, aged sixteen, a kindergarten teacher; Miss Olga Wilhelmite, Sheboygan, a waitress.

Motorman George Thiene and Conductor Frank Weber were saved, as were two other passengers, one of whom was Paul O. Etzold, a traveling salesman from Milwaukee. They escaped death by jumping just before the car plunged into the river.

The death of the three women is probably due to a stumble by Etzold. As he rushed out of the car, he fell and the three women fell over him. He regained his feet and leaped from the car, but the women behind him were trapped.

The rails were slippery and the motorman was unable to set his brakes. He made an attempt to escape as the car plunged from the bridge into the river.

TEN ARE BLOWN TO ATOMS

M. K. & T. Engine Explodes and Shopmen Are Killed—Roundhouse Partly Demolished.

Smithville, Tex.—Ten shop employees of the Missouri Kansas & Texas railroad were torn to fragments and seven others were injured when an engine under repair exploded in the Smithville yards. Besides the loss of life, railroad property valued at $20,000 was destroyed.

The engine was blown to atoms, two other locomotives standing on nearby tracks were wrecked and the roundhouse was partially demolished. With the bursting of the boiler a rain of fragments of the engine and portions of human bodies fell by several hundred yards.

What remained of the roundhouse and portions of the bodies were mated, in several instances identification was not possible.

GUARANTY LAW COST

GOVERNOR SAYS $92,600 IS NEEDED FOR BIENNIIUM.

Old Removal Bill Defeated. Governor Adrich has submitted a special message to the legislature in which he incorporates a report of Secretary E. Royse of the state banking board stating that an appropriation of $92,600 will be necessary to enforce the banking laws, including the guaranty of deposits provision, for a period of two years.

Mr. Royse has inquired into the operation of a similar law in Oklahoma. To verify annually at least 10 per cent of the loans and deposits as required by the new law will require twelve state bank examiners at a cost of $43,200 for salaries and $24,000 for traveling expenses, or a total of $67,200 for that item of expense.

Shorne of its objectionable features, so its supporters claim, and strengthened by the spirit of fairness in which they add it is written a new capital removal bill made its appearance Friday afternoon. Its predecessor was consigned to the tomb of defeat at the morning session, only 38 mourners being present at the last sad rites of the long talked of, and deeply cherished measure.

The new bill eliminates among other features, the stipulation that contestants for capitalistic honors shall live west of the 97th meridian, a very prominent part of the departed bill and one which Representative Price sought to have left out, had he succeeded in securing a recommitment of the measure to the committee of the whole for specific amendment.

Revise Initiative and Referendum. As the result of a little reflection and research on the part of the radical supporters of an initiative and referendum bill, Senator Skiles has asked unanimous consent to amend Senate Bill No. 1 so that some of the objections made by the "conservatives" are satisfied. The amendment eliminates the "party circle" provision now existing with reference to constitutional amendments and also meets Senator Alberts constant assertion that the bill as originally drawn was not self-executing and might be ineffective even if passed. The conservatives regard this request of the Skiles follower as a vindication of their fight Tuesday. The amendment will be inserted by the committee on constitutional amendments and the bill will be presented for a vote after the amendment is printed and engrossed.

Must Vote at Home. The senate committee on privileges and elections has recommended for passage Volpp's bill, requiring students to vote at their parental home and not at the place of their student residence if they receive help from home. This bill, if passed, will eliminate the student vote in Lincoln.

For Defending the Bill. The claims committee has voted to allow C. A. Whedon $5,000 for his work in defending the bank guaranty law, and has given Judge L. N. Albert, at present state senator, $2,500 for his work.

The lower house of the Nebraska legislature is in favor of tariff revision even if it does touch some of the chief products of the state. It so voted this morning in turning down almost two to one the resolution of condemnation directed against the proposed treaty by Colton.

Farmers Discuss Hog Cholera. The agricultural committee of the house held an informal meeting at the Lincoln hotel last evening to discuss the Lincoln bill, which is now before the senate, largely on the Sanborn serum bill. This measure calls for the appropriation of $15,000 for the establishment of a hog cholera serum plant to be operated by the state. Several veterinary surgeons from over the state were present to give the legislators information on the subject. The bill was originally referred to this committee, but was recalled.

$1,131,940 for Biennium. The salary appropriation for state officers and institutions was introduced in the house. It carries a total appropriation of $1,131,940 for the biennium as against an appropriation of $956,200 in the bill five years ago. Of this increase $92,500 represents salaries necessitated by the opening of the Wayne and Chadron normal schools. The net increase and institutions in the bill two years ago is $422,400.

A motion was passed instructing the university removal investigating committee to also take cognizance of the dual medical school now being supported by the state, half of it in Omaha and half in Lincoln, to see whether it considered it profitable for the state to maintain its medical department. Holmes or Douglas could not understand the motion. He believed it affected one of the largest cities in the state and wanted the motion laid over a day while he looked into it. The speaker ruled against him and the motion was passed.

Governor Adrich has prepared a special message to submit to the legislature. It is said to contain information in regard to the needs of the state banking board to enforce the guaranty of deposits act. The governor will ask for twelve state bank examiners instead of the five or six now on duty. The salaries and expenses of the twelve examiners will reach $25,000 a year. If the legislature amends the law so as to eliminate that part which requires examiners to verify notes and other assets in banks, eight or nine examiners will be able to do the work.

Illinois Gains Two. House Passes Census Reapportionment Bill. Lower Branch of Congress Will Have Total of 433 Members After March, 1913.

Washington.—The house of representatives passed a substitute to the original census reapportionment bill which fixes the membership of the lower branch of congress at 433 after March 3, 1913.

The following states gain by the new bill as follows: Arizona, 1; Alabama, 1; California, 3; Colorado, 1; Florida, 1; Georgia, 1; Idaho, 1; Illinois, 2; Louisiana, 1; Massachusetts, 2; Michigan, 1; Minnesota, 1; Montana, 1; New Jersey, 2; New Mexico, 1; New York, 6; North Dakota, 1; Ohio, 1; Oklahoma, 3; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; Rhode Island, 1; South Dakota, 1; Texas, 2; Utah, 1; Washington, 2; West Virginia, 1.

The Democrats, aided by a few Republicans who declined to be bound by the party caucus, won the fight for an increased representation. They voted down the Republican caucus bill to maintain the membership at 393, and then passed the original Crumpacker bill fixing the membership at 433. If Arizona and New Mexico should be admitted to statehood they will be given two representatives each, bringing the total to 445.

The action of the house must be ratified by the senate. The house leaders believe the senate will follow the wishes of the lower house.

Taft Gives an Ultimatum. There Must Be a Vote on Canadian Agreement or an Extra Session.

Washington.—President Taft has served notice on congress through Senators Crane and Carter that there must be a vote on the reciprocity agreement with Canada or he would call congress back in extra session almost immediately after March 1.

Mr. Taft summoned Senator Crane of Massachusetts and Carter of Montana to the White House to urge upon them the necessity of expediting legislation in the senate, so there would be no necessity for an extra session of congress. Vice President Sherman and Senator Smoot also were in conference with the president.

Knockout Brown Had Shade. Champion Wolgast Meets Defeat at the Hands of New York Lightweight.

Philadelphia.—Ad Wolgast, conqueror of Battling Nelson, proved shockingly the most martiale wrestler of his career in a six-round bout with "Knockout" Brown of New York in Jack O'Brien's new arena Wednesday.

Brown battered the Michigan chap pretty much as he pleased for the entire six rounds. He hit Wolgast as he pleased and when he pleased, suffering only in the clinches, where he was made to appear the advice he really is.

COUNTY OPTION IS DEFEATED

The Bill Lacks One Vote in the State Senate.

Without any drawbacks the county option bill was defeated on its passage in the senate Wednesday. This result was not unexpected, it generally being believed that Battling of Otce would vote against it. He was the only republican who did so. Bills of Voyle, who introduced the bill, Lee of Boyd and Bodison of Buffalo, were the only democrats who voted for the bill. It received sixteen votes, while seventeen were cast against it.

By agreement the bill at no stage of its progress was discussed on its merits, it was a measure to make the present local option law subservient to the county option law in counties that might adopt county option and vote to prohibit saloons in the county. It provided that county and town licensing boards should be governed by the result of a vote of the entire county when the vote was in favor of prohibiting the issuance of licenses.

The roll call on the bill resulted as follows: Yeas: Bodison, Brown, Cordell, Cox of Kearney, Cox of Hamilton, Herr land, Jansen Kemp, Lee, McGraw, Ollis, Reynolds, Seltzer, Smith of Boone, Smith of Fillmore, Varner—16. Nays: Albert, Banning, Bartling, Bartos, Bullman, Burton, Kosh, Sprehead, Ploegs, Placek, Keason, Skaps, Talcott, Tanner, Tibbets, Volpp, Wilcox—17.

Petitions Against Sunday Baseball. A bunch of petitions against Sunday baseball were introduced in the senate Monday, all of the papers being referred to the judiciary committee, which had the bill in charge. A petition to Senator Picketts was headed by E. S. Burr of Carbonate, a petition to Senator Skiles was headed by W. Cady of Pleasantdale, a petition to Senator Cox of Hamilton had the name of the Rev. A. V. Wilson of Ong at the top, one to Senator J. A. Cox was headed by E. A. McVeay of Stockman, the petition addressed to Senator Varner came from J. A. Dorens of Madison and others. Senator C. E. Smith received two petitions, one from G. W. Stone and others of Exeter, and one from A. A. Smith and others of York. A petition to Senator Stock and Brown of Lancaster was headed by the name of J. R. Priest of Norfolk, while the last of the bunch of petitions addressed to Senator McGraw had the name of C. H. Shader of Bloomington at the beginning.

Wins Second Round. Eastman's bill appropriating $100,000 for another agricultural school in the southwestern part of the state passed the house by a bare majority, and the boosters for that enterprise won the second round which pushed the bill on towards final passage. The bill has been met with great earnestness by boosters from Harlan and Phelps counties, who have sent repeated delegations to Lincoln in the interest of the measure. Ex-Governor Shallenbarger was one of these boosters. Eastman, the author of the bill, feared that he might lose on the final vote, but succeeded in mustering fifty-one votes for the measure as opposed to forty-seven cast against it.

The Nebraska state senate recommended the initiative and referendum bill for passage Tuesday afternoon after a session devoted largely to the measure. The bill was discussed in committee of the whole and after minor changes was ordered engrossed for a third reading. Friends of the measure stood shoulder to shoulder and succeeded in voting down all radical amendments offered.

Skiles of Butler, the introducer of the bill, championed the measure, while Albert of Platte opposed some of its provisions and proposed referring it to a committee to digest the many proposed amendments. Placek of Saunders offered several amendments which the introducer of the bill opposed and they were defeated.

Capital Relocation Again. Capital relocation was the big issue taken up at Wednesday's session of the house and it consumed the entire forenoon. The lobby and the gallery were both crowded with spectators and every lawmaker in the lower house was on his mettle for the unusual fray.

Prince of Hall led the attack for the removal contingent, while he was opposed mainly by Filley of Gage, Mockett, Hatfield and McKelvie of Lancaster and Smith of Boone. The arguments were warm on both sides.

Income Tax Favored. In the upper house the joint resolution favoring the income tax received the vote of every senator present when the vote was taken, thirty-two senators voting for the bill. Among the bills passed was S. F. No. 55, which prohibits the use of vehicles or conveyances in getting voters to the polls.

S. F. 38, by Bartling, the Sunday baseball bill, passed by a vote of 19 to 13. This not being sufficient to pass a bill with an emergency clause, a second vote was taken with the emergency clause stricken out and the vote was the same. Tanner of Douglas was the only senator absent. Volpp of Dodge proposed a call of the house in order to bring in the absent member. The chair convinced him that a two-thirds vote could not be given in favor of the bill even with Tanner present, so the motion for a call of the house was withdrawn.

Jack Vought of Hudson has been busy in the lobbies of the legislature for the past few weeks. He has been denigrated by the retailers of the city and state to look after the interests of a bill which was introduced by Bushee of Kimball county in the house, himself a retailer. The bill provides that the exemption law covering $500 of personal property of the head of a family shall not apply to wages. The bill seeks to give the retailers some way of collecting bills for goods sold on credit to consumers.

This notice will be published in the Wayne Herald for three weeks successively prior to the 14th day of March 1911. Witness my hand and seal of said court, this 14th day of February 1911. JAMES BRITTON, County Judge. F16-13

VAN DRIVER WAS DISGUSTED

Thought Magistrates Should Wear Their Gowns on Street, So They Could Be Dodged.

Magistrate O'Connor was picking his disgruntled way through the rain the other day, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. He had halled a street car from the pavement, and sheltered under his umbrella, made for the rear platform, when a four-ton furniture van whirled on him, drawn by three bristly trotting horses. Magistrate O'Connor escaped demotion by a brisk sidewise leap. He called a remonstrance to the driver. As far as he could see, that personage had his head thrust around the corner of the furniture van, while he called back interesting items to the magistrate. Magistrate O'Connor chased him in the street car, caught him at a blockaded corner and had him arrested. The driver appeared before Magistrate O'Connor himself, when the latter had gotten into his silk robe of office.

"I could send you to the work house," said the still angry magistrate, "but I will let you off with a fine of $5. I intend to give a warning to all reckless drivers." The driver looked at Magistrate O'Connor sullenly, and thrust his hand into his pocket. He peeled off five ones and started for the clerk's desk to pay.

"Hold on there," said Magistrate O'Connor, gathering up a bunch of his silk gown in nervous hands. "Haven't you anything to say for yourself?" "Yes," said the driver, sourly. "They ought to make you guys wear them Mother Hubbards on the street, so's a feller could dodge yuh."

"THIRSTY CANE" THE LATEST

Invention of Clever Frenchman That Makes Man Temperate by Drinking for Him.

A French inventor has hit upon a peculiar device for combating the drink devil. This is the "thirsty cane." Why do men drink? Because other men insist on standing them drinks. Many a big business deal is done over a glass, nowhere more so than in French cafes, and drummers would lose half their custom if they refused an appetizer offered by a customer, to whom they must of course stand another in return. The cane makes them temperate by drinking for them. Here is the inventor's description of it:

"The cane is hollow. The handle is pierced with several holes and a rubber tube inside forms a siphon. The air being expelled, the liquid is sucked up. The cane is emptied simply by turning a valve and the liquid absorbed can be poured into the street on leaving the saloon."

The cane is warranted to hold from six to ten aperitifs, according to size. It is simple to use, as the top need only be put into the liquid at intervals when the other man is not looking. The hollow cane reminds one of the "yards of ale" of medieval England. The yard was a glass measure three feet long. At one end was a bulb holding about half a pint, at the other was a trumpet-shaped mouthpiece, and the two were connected by a thin tube. The task, no easy one, was to drink the vessel dry without spilling a drop and at a single draught.

Determined on Suicide.

George Eccles, who was under sentence of three years' penal servitude and five years' detention at Winston Green, jail, Birmingham, England, hanged himself in his cell with a rope which he made from yarn secreted during the course of mail bags.

Quite in Keeping.

"Queer, wasn't it? It was at the mouth of the river—"
"Yes."
"We ran into the teeth of the gale."

The Bug and the Birdman.

In one respect the aviator has a great advantage over the pugilist. He invariably comes back.

Seek to Raise Rubber Tree.

An effort is being made near Boston to raise a rubber tree, which has been imported from central Africa.

SPEAKING VOICE IMPORTANT

When Its Correct Use Has Been Learned the Development of the Singer Is Easier.

Few singers, students, or even teachers of singing, pay enough attention to the speaking voice. The teacher and his pupil are together so little—a brief half-hour or two each week—and there are so many things demanding attention that there seems almost no time for consideration of the speaking voice. Yet, consistency demands that a bad habit of voice use in speech shall be corrected so that the use of the voice in conversation shall not retard the perfection of the singing voice.

I am often asked if the process of tone production is the same in speaking and singing. I answer that it should be the same. When the voice is correctly used in speech it will require no different, but merely amplified treatment for singing. Unquestionably the young person who has a correct use of voice in speech will find it less difficult to develop a good singing voice, than one who has an incorrect habit.

Deep breath control, pliable organs of articulation, and full, or complete, vowel pronunciation, are the fundamental requisites of correct speech and correct singing alike. When the speaking voice of a singer is not so produced, its use in conversation is sure to retard the perfection of the singing tone.

BARN DOOR WORTH SAVING

Farmer Dockridge Rescued It From the Flames, for It Bore His Accounts for Six Years.

Farmer Dockridge was hastily awakened in the dead of night by Alf, the farm servant, who told him the barn was on fire. Instructing Alf to blindfold the horses and lead them out through the back door if there was time enough, he hurriedly donned his trousers, rushed into the kitchen, grabbed up a screw driver and ran out to the barn.

The roof was burning fiercely, but he dashed into the building and began with frantic haste to unscrew the hinges of the smooth pine door that opened into the corn bin.

Alf had succeeded in getting the horses out safely, and the sparks were falling round the old man, but he stuck to his task until he had finished it, and emerged from the burning barn carrying the door just as the roof fell in.

"That's a good deal of risk to take for the sake of saving a bit of fire wood," commented a neighbor who had been awakened by the flames and had run over to see if he could be of any use.

"Firewood," exclaimed Farmer Dockridge, pointing to the pencil marks that covered the door. "See them figures? There's all my business accounts for the last six years. That door's worth more than the whole barn!"—London Telegraph.

Got Useful Information.

"There's no place like a pawnshop for picking up useful hints," said the imprudent man. "Every time I happen into one I glean some item of general information that almost reconciles me to the necessity for being there. On my last visit I saw another man redeeming ostrich feathers. Our uncle brought them out tightly sealed in a glass jar.

"What did you can them for?" the man asked.

"So they wouldn't spoil," said the pawnbroker. "A glass jar is the safest thing on earth to keep feathers in. Moths and dust cannot get at them, besides you can keep an eye on them easily and any trouble that might have been brought in by the feathers were nipped in the bud."

"That hint I consider worth going to a pawnshop for. The way things look now nobody belonging to me will ever have any ostrich plumes to take care of, but if we ever do have any I shall know what to do with them."
