LESSMAN-M'INTOSH

Fifty invited guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntosh, one mile north of Wayne, on Tuesday, to witness the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Hazel Bernice, to Mr. Herbert F. Lessman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lessman, who live five miles northeast of this city. The McIntosh home was tastefully decorated for the occasion in green and white, and under a grand arch of smilax and wedding bells the ceremony was performed.

It was high noon when the bride's sister, Miss Mabel McIntosh, began playing the wedding march and announced the approach of the bridal party; the bride accompanied by her father who gave her away. The bride was attired in a gown of white net over white silk trimmed with ribbon and Baby Irish insertion, and carried an arm bouquet of white rosebuds. The groom wore the usual black. Amidst the circle of friends and well-wishers, the impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Alexander Corkey of the Presbyterian church.

After congratulations and good wishes had been expressed, the guests gathered around the wedding feast, the bride and groom occupying places of honor. It was an excellent dinner, and all enjoyed it thoroughly. The tables were decorated with carnations.

In the afternoon the guests were entertained with music by Mrs. Jno. Grier, and the bride, and Miss Mabel McIntosh.

The young couple were the recipients of many appropriate gifts, among which were generous checks from the parents of both the bride and groom.

The couple left Tuesday night for a brief wedding trip, going to Norfolk and from there to Omaha. They succeeded in eluding their friends, and thus escaped without being followed to the depot and made the targets for a shower of rice. When they return they will be at home on the Morgan farm eight miles northeast of Wayne.

The bride has spent most of her life in and near Wayne. She graduated from the Wayne Normal, and was a successful teacher for a number of years. At one time in a contest among teachers in essay-writing, she won first prize. She is bright and comely, and her manners, always reserved are pleasing. She has not allowed her mental attainments and gift of good looks to keep her aloof from work. Whether writing essays, teaching school, playing the piano, hauling cream to town or husking corn, when labor is scarce, she does it with the genial and buoyant spirit which all admire. Love for literature and music has not made her shun labor with the hands. She is, therefore, a well-rounded character, and is a prize which the fortunate groom should and doubtless does appreciate.

The groom belongs to a well known and highly respected family, and is a young farmer of industry, good habits and good address.

The Herald joins their many friends in offering congratulations and good wishes.

WOLTER-LILJE.

Mr. Fred H. Wolter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wolter of Omaha, and Miss Emma Lilje, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lilje, living seven and one-half miles northeast of Wayne, were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church, seven miles north of here, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Emil Gehrke, the pastor, officiating. Misses Clara Lilje, Ida Hinnerichs and Christina Wehrheuser were bridesmaids, and Messrs. Arthur Steckleberg, Paul Meyer and Herbert Henrichs attended the groom. The bride was gowned in silver gray satin and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink carnations.

After the ceremony, the crowd repaired to the home of the bride's parents where 150 guests gathered in time for the big, sumptuous wedding supper which was served at 6 o'clock.

The evening was spent in music and merriment, and at a late hour the crowd dispersed wishing the newly wedded couple a pleasant voyage over the sea of matrimony. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Wayne.

The presents were many and valuable, and attested to the esteem in which the young couple are held.

They will begin house-keeping March 1 on Chas. Lund's farm, five miles south of Wayne.

The bride was raised in this vicinity, and is a young woman of estimable qualities. The groom is a worthy and industrious young man who is to be congratulated over the bride he has won.

Among the guests were the following from a distance: William Wolter and wife of Omaha, Fred Steckleberg and wife of Lyons, and son Arthur of Magnet, Neb., Mrs. Duensing of Money, Ill., Mrs. Wolf of Chicago, Frank Dranselka of Pierce, Neb., Albert Dranselka of Kansas City, and Fred Oelerking of Money, Ill.

Advertised Letter List.

Letters—Mrs. Sam Owens, R. H. Raleigh, Miss Hattie Solson, H. F. Sorenson, Miss Vandike. Cards—Mrs. John Erskine, Mrs. S. E. Martin.

BIG TABERNACLE MEETINGS

TO BE HELD HERE IN MARCH

Start on the Fifth Hart and Magann are the Evangelists Employed for the Series.

Sunday, March 5th, at 10 o'clock the great series of evangelistic services under the leadership of Messrs. Hart and Magann, evangelists, of Fairbury, Ill., will begin. During Every evening the seating capacity of the structure has been taxed and the afternoon meetings have been largely attended. No attempt, so far, has been made to induce sinners to forsake their ways, because the evangelists declare the church needs to become more consecrated before it can hope that those whom it is seeking to convert will accept the invitation extended.

Hundreds of men and women who profess Christianity have during the week stepped forward and confessed that their lives have not been all the month of March these noted men will lead the churches in a campaign for the salvation of souls. The meetings will be held in a large tabernacle which is being erected on the lots just north of the Baptist church.

Seats for a large audience will be provided as well as for a chorus of about one hundred-twenty. The singing under the leadership of Prof. Magann will be a great feature of the meetings.

These men have been for several years together in this work and have been very successful.

Following are a few of the many newspaper reports which speak of their work in many of the largest cities of the country:

Evangelists Hart and Magann of Fairbury, Ill., have just closed a successful union tabernacle revival meeting in the city of Walla Walla, Wash. The services were held in a large tabernacle erected for the purpose, accommodating over 2,000 people. This building was often filled. Seventy-two meetings were held with an aggregate attendance of about 50,000. There were over 800 seekers forward.—Home Herald Chicago.

Marshall, Ill., August 5.—The tent meetings that have been successfully conducted by Evangelists Hart and Magann of St. Louis for the past four weeks closed tonight. The attendance was as high as 3,000 at some of the night meetings, and great interest has been worked up.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Hart and Magann have just closed their summer campaign of revivals in St. Louis, where they have been engaged in all the Methodist Episcopal churches of the city in tent work. They witnessed almost 1,000 seekers and many received a spiritual uplift. Several churches have been greatly strengthened by large additions to their membership, and two new churches were organized.—Christian Standard, Philadelphia.

Evangelists Hart and Magann of St. Louis have just closed a very remarkable revival in the Grand Avenue M. E. church, Milwaukee. There were over 400 souls who made confession of receiving Christ as their Saviour, and many witnessing to a greater spiritual uplift.—Free Press, Milwaukee.

Rev. Herbert C. Hart and A. S. Magann have just closed a week of strenuous work at the big Methodist tabernacle. It is estimated that 25,000 persons have attended the meetings in the six days campaign.

that they desired and expressed a determination to become more earnest and sincere. On Thursday night 300 grasped the hand of Hart and promised to aid him with their sympathy, their devotion and their money.—Seattle Past-Intelligencer.

CATCHY BURLESQUE GIVEN

EMPLOYING NEW MINISTER

Lively Cantata Presented by Young People of Baptist Church—Auditorium Crowded.

The presentation of "The New Minister" by Baptist talent Tuesday night attracted a big crowd to that church. There was not an unoccupied seat in the auditorium, and all listened with lively interest to the burlesque on church affairs in connection with the employment of a minister, depicting character, now almost unknown, though touching present-day realities enough to intensify ludicrousness. The following took part: Ray King, the minister; Helen Senter, the school teacher; Willis Fleetwood, sexton; Etta Conover, everybody's friend; Horace Theobald, Carlos Martin and Clarence Nelson, music committee; Ernie Johnson, choir leader; Ned Conover, Harold Sears, Pearl Hughes, Effie Laurman, Mrs. Lewis, Laura Conover, Oscar Anderson, Lloyd Alexander, Mrs. Smith and Etta Conover, choir members; Pearl Hughes, president of old maids' club; Rue Rickabaugh, Dorothy Rimel, Nellie Martin and Rose Bartosh, members of old maids' club; Mrs. Smith, president of ladies' aid; Etta Conover, Laura Conover, Myrtle Hutchens, Ethel Huff, Sarah Miller, Effie Laurman and Mrs. Lewis, members of ladies' aid; Prof. M. S. Davies presided at the piano.

A committee of three has been appointed to select a new minister, and the members sound the ladies' aid society, choir and old maids' club as to the kind of a minister the church should employ. Opinions were varied and interesting. Members of the ladies' aid talked the hardest and agreed the least over the sort of a leader the flock should have. The committee finally decided on a single man which action especially met the approval of the old maids and parents having marriageable daughters.

Spiritual welfare was quite forgotten in the paramountcy of vic-tuals, gossip and vying for the favor of the minister. The minister was welcomed by songs and a big supper, in the preparation of which the ladies' aid surpassed all former efforts in the culinary line. An unmarried minister in the field led the old maids' club to annual vow, taken a year before and pledging daughter who had been looking for a husband for twenty years.

A choir boy warns the minister not to tell the president of the ladies' aid his favorite dish, because she, on learning that secret at two former times, succeeded in marrying two of her daughters to ministers, and she still had on hand one whom she desired to dispose of in the same manner.

Anxiety over the one the minister proposed to marry was at last appeased by his choice of the school teacher who had refused his proposal a year previous.

The cash proceeds of the entertainment amounted to $70, and those having it in charge were well pleased with the result.

THE WEEK'S SOCIAL EVENTS

Shakespeare Club.

The Shakespeare club entertained last evening at the R. Craven home in honor of Mrs. Trigglett of Grinnell, Iowa, and Miss Effie Buffington. A four-course dinner was served at 7 o'clock. The house was elegantly decorated in national colors, with significant cherry trees and hatchets given conspicuous places. Water-color place cards were beautifully designed, each appropriately bearing a cherry. Alma Craven and Tot Chapin, the latter of Winside, assisted in serving the dinner. All had a good time.

Monday Club.

The Monday club met this week with Mrs. J. W. Epler, and devoted the afternoon to a study of Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale." Mrs. Welch gave a map study touching the lesson, Mrs. Main told the story of "The Winter's Tale," and Mrs. Heckert presented questions on the lesson. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Heckert.

Minerva Club.

The Minerva club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Gorst. Roll call will be responded to by giving current events; life of Whittier and poem, Mrs. Roe; brief history of Alaska; Mrs. Gørdst; beautifying homes, Mrs. Berry; reading, Mrs. Huse; instrumental solo, Mrs. Berry.

U. D. Club.

The U. D. club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Adah Kinne, and the occasion was observed as Nebraska day. Current events were given in answer to roll call, and each member, told something about the resources and government of the state. Mrs. Miller gave a very interesting reading touching the subject in hand. At 5:30 a splendid lunch was served by Mrs. Kinne. The next meeting takes place at the home of Mrs. Fisher.

Acme Club.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson was the scene of a merry party Tuesday evening, when the Acme club met to celebrate the 26th anniversary of the organization. In the spacious front room a long table was spread for the twenty guests; who at 6:30 were asked to find their places which were designated by beautiful and appropriate hand-painted place cards. The table decorations consisted of a potted fern on either side of which were the letters "A C" and "M P" formed of smilax.

Mrs. Miles, in the absence of the president, extended a welcome to the new members, giving a brief history of the club in the following rhyme:

As we have with us this evening
Some of our new members,
A pleasant 'tis to welcome them,
But how? Ah! "There's the rub."
Find it hard to do, you see,
I gladly do my part,
And would you'd welcome me
In words that touch the heart.
Since this gift has been denied me,
I'll do my best,
And bid you a hearty welcome.
What can be put to the test
As you have now been cast with us,
And your hearts with ours are as one,
Now that we have you here,
What we, as a club, have done,
Some twenty odd years ago,
In the history of our club,
Some women met together,
Of the former kind to grow,
So that we have remained true to the years,
And by friends have been mourned with
The name of the club at the first,
Was "Society of the Golden Mean,"
But soon we changed to Acme,
A very good change I ween,
For the good of this new circle,
And to reach the highest place
In all things intellectual,
We have chosen our members in place.
The meetings were full of interest,
To all who did partake,
Evening those who hid
A little to us did,
To refresh their weary minds,
And to keep the "ivy" would roll
After the "feast" of reason,
And to keep the "ivy" would roll
Do you wonder why they enjoyed them so?
Just look into their happy eyes
When from study they're released,
Or if they don't, you'll see them
The people will prove right well,
For when refreshments are offered,
The minutes are sure to fall,
And the feast commented upon
In words of delectable praise,
With the "ivy" and the "ivy"
But little comment raise.
At one time in our history,
We held in mind the date
Of the birthday of each member,
And then we'd celebrate,
We really became quite "spooky,"
We went back to the days of our youth,
And all these women's careers
I could not tell you in truth,
And I would you think should I tell you
Of what to some bore?
One day when they were to Norfolk
On a subject, "managers" it would
The "ivy" was a spoon was missing,
A beautiful gift from the guests,
The missing spoon in a satel fond,
Sighed many merry jests
Another found the "ivy"
When "Annie" was fifty-two,
We and our husbands surprised her,
And found her as ever, "true blue"
You'll not be with us long,
Now you learn our little trait,
One thing you will observe—
In this one is always late,
Another sometimes comes later,
But she doesn't give a rap
For her cheerful conversation,
Depends on "that little nap."
You will learn that our favorite pastime
When together we meet for some time,
Is the one of playing "chardes,"
And our minds are most for fun
To portray the events of the evening,
Especially "Gentleman a Night"
When the "Craw" is portrayed.
By a thing so sparkling and bright,
The "ivy" which is seven
Child of brilliant art,
The "remains" of the seven-seven menu
Are related in a "ivy."
The "chardes" that we claim to be "dandy"
Will be the far-fetched "water low" (ivy)
In another more low portrayal,
We discovered a "cornet solo" (so low)
Thus would I like to tell of the distresses
Which together we have met;
And the kind of information,
Which from each other we get,
But we hope that the ties of affection,
Will bind us in friendship true,
That our imperfections you'll overlook,
And love us as we shall love you.

Messrs. Brittel and Theobald responded in happy vein. Their wives doing all the talking at home, they were glad of an opportunity to express themselves. They were both confident of their ability to do their part when the task was "feeding the innerman," and that their wives were capable of the intellectual part.

After a guessing contest, in which Mrs. Bressler won the prize, a candle, to aid her in attaining "more brilliancy," the time was spent in playing chardes.

At a late hour the guests left for their homes, hoping that the Acme club might have many more anniversaries.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. R. K. Mellor yesterday, and besides the usual business, enjoyed a five o'clock tea.

AMONG HERALD EXCHANGES

Since Wayne has secured a donation for a Carnegie library building, Hartington and Ponea have signified their willingness to accept similar gifts.

Dakota City Eagle: M. O. Ayres, H. B. Skeen and George W. Carter returned Saturday from their trip to Florida. Mr. Skeen accompanied Mr. Ayres to this place, leaving the same day for his home at Cody.

Emerson Enterprise: S. J. Lingen, of Wayne, purchased the Jake Francisco property in South Emerson Wednesday and will move his family here soon. O. E. Danielson engineered the deal. The purchase price was $1,600.

Winside Tribune: On account of an early class in the morning, A. T. Cavanaugh was obliged to stay down at the Wayne normal all the week, instead of coming home every night as he has been doing heretofore. Earl Moles, one of the students, accompanied him home last Saturday and was a guest at the Cavanaugh home over the Sabbath.

The need of holding national party conventions in 1912 is removed according to the following reasonable conclusion made by the Stanton Pick-et: "With Sister Weeks of the Norfolk Press running Bryan for president in 1912 and Bro. VanDusen of the Blair Pilot booming Bob La-Follette on the republican ticket, there is no need of nominating anyone else. Get your ballots ready."

Contributed to Wakefield Republican: On February 11, 1886, in Blair county, Pa., a young couple, Mr. S. C. Bressler and Miss Idella Lafferty concluded to unite their fortune for better or worse and were married. Taking the sage advice they went west to grow up with and improve the country. Landing in Wayne county, Nebr., on March 25, 1886, settling on a new farm in the eastern part of the county where they built a small house and set up house-keeping, going to work in true western style improving and building up a home. Today they have a fine farm, well improved, and a family of seven children, five girls and two boys, intelligent and well educated. Now after a lapse of twenty-five years of continuous residence, their neighbors and friends came to their home on the 11th day of February, 1911, to help them celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consummation of this compact. The roads fairly good and the weather fine the old and young were here on time, spending a very pleasant time, enjoying a fine dinner and the generous hospitality of their home. Those present during the day and leaving kind remembrances were: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Clausen, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Killion, Mrs. D. L. Chambers, Mrs. W. B. Goreham, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Longe, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Chilcott, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Severance, Miss Hannah Bressler, A. E. Bressler and J. D. McKinnie. Owing to sickness and other unavoidable hindrances a number of families were not present. At the close of the day those present departed for their homes wishing mine host and hostess many returns of this anniversary.

TESTING SEED CORN

The majority of wide-awake corn growers realize the advantage of testing the germination of their seed corn before planting. The "ear to row" method of improving corn has emphasized the need of selecting seed corn on the ear. Although the apparatus required for testing the germination of ear corn need not be expensive, still it is believed that there are many who hesitate to undertake this work through fear that it will involve the expenditure of much time and labor. To satisfy this demand and to arouse a greater interest in corn improvement, the Nebraska Seed Laboratory has arranged to make single ear germination tests of seed corn for Nebraska farmers. Not more than fifty such tests, however, can be made for one person. If you wish your seed tested write us to that effect and we will send you fifty small envelopes in which the samples can be sent to this laboratory. Let us know at once if you wish us to make this test. Address Nebraska Seed Laboratory, Lincoln, Nebraska.

WAYNE BOY WINS HONOR.

William Grossland, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Crossland of Wayne, and a student of Wesleyan university, has won the honor of representing Nebraska in the inter-state oratorical contest which takes place in Sioux City next May. Thus, he won first place at the contest of the State Inter-Collegiate Oratorical association at Hastings Thursday night. Besides the honor of representing the state, he is awarded a prize of $50. There were eight contestants at Hastings, and three of the four judges gave him first place and one judge decided that he ranked second. This is the third time Wesleyan has sent him to the state contest, and at the latter a year ago many thought he should have been chosen to represent Nebraska. It is plain that he is eminently entitled to the honor—a fact which warrants his parents and many friends in feeling proud of him. Union Cottage Prayer Meetings. The following arrangements have been made for cottage prayer meetings preparatory to the Tabernacle meetings. The meetings are held on Tuesday and Friday evenings, and begin at 7:45 p. m. The places of meetings are as follows:

February 24, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Cortwright, Mrs. Nangle, Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. A. A. Welch, Mrs. Dragon.

February 28, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. McVey, Mrs. Lundberg, Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Mellick, Mrs. Henry.

March 3, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Benshoof, Mrs. Elming, Mrs. Shulteis, Mrs. Main.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

The subject of the C. E. prayer meeting will be "Missions in the South." Miss Ruth White is the leader.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "How Men are converted." In the evening the subject will be "Bringing Back the King."

THE 1911

United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separators.

The skimming power is there. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows. 91.88 of one per cent.

With the new interlocking skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so intensified, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so lengthened, the skimming force so increased, that the interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly one-half and runs with about half the power required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the incoming volume of the whole milk evenly outside the cream zone, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk, and you will see why it is that the Interlocking Style U. S. Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

Christ Schinstock of West Point, arrived here Tuesday morning, and in time for the afternoon train bought and got ready for shipment a car of horses. He left with the shipment for the Kansas City market. He had seven more horses than he could get into the car, and left them with L. L. Way. Mr. Schinstock expects to return here soon. B. E. Elliott returned Monday from the Big Horn country in Wyoming and has arranged to move there with his family about the first of March. He will locate on a farm near a place called Powell. Wightman writes a Wayne friend that he and his family are enjoying their sojourn in California, but he has expressed a decided preference for Nebraska. The doctor is not so particular about climate that he would be willing to swap Nebraska for California. In response to mention of his name in connection with the Wayne mayoralty, he indicated that he might accept the place if it came to him without a fight. He appeared to esteem the office as an honor if it were given him without an unseemly scramble, which, latter he would stoutly eschew. WAYNE DWELLING BURNS At 10:30 o'clock Thursday night the fire alarm attracted the hose company to the residence occupied by S. E. Bradford in the western part of the city, and which was discovered on fire, time not being lost at home and how the fire started is not known. The flames had made such headway when discovered that the contents of the house could not be saved, and were a total loss. The building which was owned by S. H. Richards of Allen, Neb., is also virtually a complete loss. The household goods were insured for $740 in the Dwellers House Mutual Insurance company of Lincoln, E. H. Babcock being the agent. The house was insured for $700 in the Springfield Fire and Marine company, Rola Ley local agent.

S. R. Theobald & Co. THE CASE OF THE COW. Campbell's Scientific Farmer. Here is a problem in proportion to the ancient riddle of three. The problem is propounded by the Agricultural college of North Dakota. This is it: "If a cow gives 175 pounds of butter a year and is worth $60, how much is a cow worth that gives 350 pounds of butter in one year?" "Oh that's easy," you say. "175-350; $60; () 60x350 is 2100, divide by 175 and we have 12, or 120 the value of the other cow." Nay, nay, that is not the way the experts figure it. Listen! "Suppose that butter will average 25 cents the year round, and it will do better, and that the feed is worth $40.00 for the year. The first cow would give a return of $49.75 less $40.00 for feed would leave a profit of $9.75, counting that the milk, calf and manure pays for the labor." "The second cow would give a return of $87.50 for butter and would give at least 4,000 pounds more milk which at 20 cents per hundred pounds, and it is worth more for feed, would bring $8.00. The calf from the good cow is worth more, but let that go. The return would be $95.50 less $40.00 for feed or a profit of $55.50 on the same basis as the other cow made a profit of $9.75. It would be practically fifteen 175 pound cows to make as much profit as the one 350 pound cow." Are you beginning to see the problem? This is our problem. If the land that produces fifteen bushels of wheat to the acre is worth $75, what is land worth that yields thirty bushels per acre? Adding an additional $1.75 per acre for the extra cost of the larger crop in harvesting, threshing and marketing, we have the total cost of producing the larger crop, $11.00 per acre. Thirty bushels of wheat at 80 cents per bushel gives us a gross income of $24 per acre. Subtracting $11 the cost of production leaves us $13 net per acre. Now observe the way this comes out—$13 is 6 per cent of $219 the value of the land which produces, by following the Campbell system, thirty bushels per acre. Now what do you think of that? The principle that applies to the cow applies with equal force to the contents of the cultivated fields in the United States. Get rid of your scrubby herds, they are losing you money every day—you are wasting your energy trying to make an losing proposition. Get rid of your old methods of farming, you are wasting your life and ruining your land by improper tillage. A Few Cockerels. I have just SEVEN of my thoroughbred Banded Plymouth Rock cockerels still for sale. Have reduced the price to $2.50 each. C. FRANK WHITNEY

The guarantee on the back of every sack of Splendid flour protects the purchaser on each and every purchase. "Use this sack of Splendid Flour down to the line below (which represents three-fourths of contents) and if it fails to satisfy in every respect, return the balance and get your money back."

No milling concern except the above has dared to come forth with such a broad guarantee. It goes without saying that the quality of Splendid Flour must be far superior to ordinary flour.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

When I have slipped my tether, and left this vale of tears, to see what sort of weather they have in other spheres, I want no costly castles with silver trappings bound; just put me in a basket and chuck me underground.

THE FUNERAL. Death would be far more jolly and pleasant every way, for the idle folly of making big display. It takes a roll unending to make a graveyard spread, and all the fuss of spending don't help the man who's dead.

My magazine informs me, in language fierce and wild, that all the grub that warms me is poisoned and defiled. The bread is doled and deadly; a slice would kill a horse.

DOPED FOOD. The poisoners are busy preparing human food; their game is weird and dippy, unadmirable and rude.

I met a ragged beggar, and handed him a cent, and said: "Don't buy akeg or a flask of St. Frument. Should you, in lurid living, expend this useful sum, 'twill make me balk at giving to others who may come. Don't waste in evil courses the cent I freely gave, but husband your resources, and like a man behave. One cent may grow to many, if not burned up or drunk; so do not blow your penny, but put it in the bank. I'd gladly give a dollar, but it would go for gin, and you would whoop and holler, and cops would run you in. So take this cent and hoard it, and when you have a stack, and amply can afford it, perhaps you'll pay me back."

My neighbor's bought a motor car, in which he travels fast and far. I see him burn up mile on mile, and put on forty kinds of style. I also see some folks turn green when gazing at that new machine. But I'm contented just to walk around a block. My soul for splendor never begs. I point with pride to my fat legs. There are no better legs in town; they bear me gaily up and down, through crowded street and quiet lane, and never revolt, and never complain. I do not have to paint them green, or fill them up with gasoline, or fuss around with wrench and maul, to make the blamed things go at all. I do not carry traps in kegs to make repairs on my fat legs; I do not send them to the shop, because they don't blow up or stop, they do not skid or bust or tire, or leave me stranded in the mire. They do not run poor victims down, and mash them up from heels to crown; they do not honk or hiss or toot, to scare some horseman's nervous brute. Year after year they bravely walk, my good fat legs, that never balk. I would not trade my trusty limbs for any car that snorts and skims beneath its load of idle rich, until it dumps them in the ditch.

THE CON-TENDED MAN. I tended just to walk around a block. My soul for splendor never begs. I point with pride to my fat legs. There are no better legs in town; they bear me gaily up and down, through crowded street and quiet lane, and never revolt, and never complain. I do not have to paint them green, or fill them up with gasoline, or fuss around with wrench and maul, to make the blamed things go at all. I do not carry traps in kegs to make repairs on my fat legs; I do not send them to the shop, because they don't blow up or stop, they do not skid or bust or tire, or leave me stranded in the mire. They do not run poor victims down, and mash them up from heels to crown; they do not honk or hiss or toot, to scare some horseman's nervous brute. Year after year they bravely walk, my good fat legs, that never balk. I would not trade my trusty limbs for any car that snorts and skims beneath its load of idle rich, until it dumps them in the ditch.

He came, half frozen, to my door, and asked for bread and nothing more. I put him by the fire to bake, and fed him pies and prunes and cake, and bales of hay and pails of bran, until he seemed a different man. "You are a wreck!" I said, "alas! What brought you to this evil pass?" "When I was young," the wreck replied, "I was my parents' hope and pride; they knew full well that I was meant to be the country's president. I wished to learn the barbers' trade and O, gee whizz! the fuss they made! My little hands should never be soiled by trimming whiskers, raw or boiled. And so they filled me full of lore, I studied years, and then some more, and never learned a blooming thing to help me when I starve, by jing! And as I conned my books with care, I longed to have a barber's chair. I waded deep in Darwin's trash, and longed to dye some gent's mustache. I studied Whateley, Sterne and Gough, and longed to cut some sideburns off. And when from study I was free, I found there was no place for me. Dame nature meant that I should wear an apron at a barber's chair, and here I sit, all stuffed with Greek, and not a kopeck in my break!" His story made my bosom sore; I sadly kicked him from my door, and pondered on the dizzy breaks the human parent often makes.

THE LECTURER. He had his victims safely packed where they could not escape; his throat was sore, his voice was cracked, his lungs were out of shape. He started when the night was young, and he yawned with his jaws; and when he broke a rib or lung, he did not even pause. The clocks boomed nine, in accents dread, and still he whanged away; and people wished that they were dead, and resting "neath the clay. He took a drink, and drank again, and for two seconds stopped; the village clocks were striking ten, and still he yawned and yawped. And people swooned and others wept, yet, though his voice was hoarse, the earnest, gifted speaker kept his stern remorseless course. Deep in his subject did he delve, he emptied wisdom's cup; and when the clocks were striking twelve, he just was warming up. Aurora threw her shining darts into that stricken hall, where some had died of broken hearts, and some of broken gall. The sexton took away the dead, and piled them up in ricks, while others fanned the speaker's head with clubs and rocks and bricks. There really ought to be a law to make bum speakers quit ere they have worked the tireless jaw till hearers have a fit.

THE WANDERER. I said, "alas! What brought you to this evil pass?" "When I was young," the wreck replied, "I was my parents' hope and pride; they knew full well that I was meant to be the country's president. I wished to learn the barbers' trade and O, gee whizz! the fuss they made! My little hands should never be soiled by trimming whiskers, raw or boiled. And so they filled me full of lore, I studied years, and then some more, and never learned a blooming thing to help me when I starve, by jing! And as I conned my books with care, I longed to have a barber's chair. I waded deep in Darwin's trash, and longed to dye some gent's mustache. I studied Whateley, Sterne and Gough, and longed to cut some sideburns off. And when from study I was free, I found there was no place for me. Dame nature meant that I should wear an apron at a barber's chair, and here I sit, all stuffed with Greek, and not a kopeck in my break!" His story made my bosom sore; I sadly kicked him from my door, and pondered on the dizzy breaks the human parent often makes.

LAUGHLIN-PAGE. Mr. Eli M. Laughlin who was married at Winnebago, Nebraska, on Wednesday of last week to Miss Lenora M. Page, who formerly taught in the Wayne school, and has lately been principal of the school at Chadron, arrived here Friday with his bride. The couple were cordially welcomed by their many friends. They will begin house-keeping March 1st on the Atkins farm, two and one-half miles northwest of town. The Chadron Chronicle of the 16th inst., has this to say of the bride: "Miss Lenora M. Page, who has been principal of the Chadron high school has resigned her position and departed Sunday evening for Winnebago, Neb., where she will be married on the 16th of February to Eli M. Laughlin. It might well be said that she was one of the most popular teachers in Chadron schools and will be greatly missed, not only by her scholars, but all who have had the pleasure of forming her acquaintance. Many of the scholars of the high school as well as a large circle of friends were at the train Sunday evening to bid the lady goodbye and each had with them a large supply of office which was showered on the young lady. It is the hope of all that her married life may be pleasant and that she will find it easier to look after one scholar than the large number she had to look after in the overcrowded school room."

AT PUBLIC AUCTION. Lot 23, Taylor and Wachob's addition to Wayne, Nebraska, will be sold to highest bidder for cash at court house, Saturday, February 25, 2 p. m. Abstract showing good title will be furnished purchaser. BERRY & BERRY.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL NEWS

The Normal observed Washington's birthday Tuesday morning at chapel exercises, listening to a patriotic address by Rev. Dr. Gorst.

Professor Bittel has been selected as one of the judges in a high school debate between Dr. Neill and Orlinson to be held in Atkinson next Monday night.

The next literary program of the Crescent Literary Society will be given in the chapel on Friday evening, March 3. An excellent program has been arranged and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present.

Professor House was not able to meet his classes the first of the week on account of illness. (On the recovery of Prof. House, we may expect a revision of his rules of procedure in the matter of regulating diet and guarding against disease germs.—Editor.)

Word was received yesterday of the death of Dr. L. A. Fairchild, father of Rachel Fairchild, grammar critic teacher of the Wayne State Normal. Miss Fairchild was granted leave of absence February 1 and has been at the bedside of her father since that time.

Mr. C. O. Johnson of Shickley, Nebraska, has been elected as janitor of the State Normal School at Wayne. Mr. Johnson began his services on February 20. Mr. Leindecker resigned his position as janitor some time ago but will remain in the employ of the state until March 1.

Miss Esther Kinport, of Anoka, Nebraska, returned home the first of the week and will begin work as teacher in a rural school next Monday morning. Miss Kinport was given a vacation of two months and made use of this time by taking a short course in the Normal. She has done excellent work and we are glad to know that she expects to return to Wayne for the summer term.

Indications are that there will be a large attendance in the summer session of the Normal. A number of inquiries have already been received from teachers who are interested in the summer term. The third regular bulletin of the school to be issued this year will be devoted entirely to announcements for the summer session. This bulletin will be issued about April 1.

President and Mrs. Conn went to Lincoln last Monday and at 1:50 Tuesday afternoon left on a special bearing a large body of teachers from Nebraska to attend the national meeting of superintendents and principals at Mobile, Alabama. The convention will be in session February 23-26 inclusive and President Conn will not return to the office for about ten days. Superintendent W. M. Davidson of Omaha, is president this convention.

Friends of the school have been watching legislative matters during the past week with considerable interest. Governor Aldrich has signed the bill appropriating the matriculation fees for the use of the library. The bill introduced by Senator Tallcott making changes in the entrance requirements to the state normal schools passed the senate without a dissenting vote. House Roll No. 54, which is a bill asking for an appropriation for a new building, has not yet come up for final passage in the house. This long delay is because of the absence of so many members of the legislature that the house did not take up any bills on third reading last week.

It is expected that the chapel will be taxed to its fullest capacity next Friday evening when the Peru male quartette will give one of their excellent musical entertainments. This quartette consists of Ross H. House, first tenor, Homer C. House, second tenor, Claude P. Lewis, baritone and the pianist, and Dale R. Whitfield, bass. The first two members belong to the famous "Peru Quartette" of several years ago. Reserved seats will be sold to the general public for 35 cents, to students of the Normal and of the high school for 25 cents. The general admission will also be 25 cents. We trust that many will take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

On last Saturday evening occurred the last of the preliminary debates. The question discussed was, "Resolved, That the Doctrines of Socialism Have on the Whole Been Beneficial to American Institutions." The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Mr. Britton, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Hesse, while the negative side was upheld by Mr. Hahn and Mr. Nance. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative. From the preliminary debates the debating committee made the following selections: To debate the State Normal School at Peru, Mr. Britton, Mr. Hahn and Mr. Cress; to debate Kearney, Mr. Hesse, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Briandson, alternate, Mr. Nance.

PLANS FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

AUGUST IS THE TIME FIXED

Course For Session Soon to be Selected Last Year's Assembly a Gratifying Success.

Directors of the Wayne Chautauquian association met Tuesday night, and decided to hold this year's assembly the middle of August, and conduct it in accordance with the plan followed last year. A representative of the Redpath-Slayton Lyceum Bureau of Kansas City will be here in a short time to arrange the course.

Last year's assembly was a success financially as well as meeting expectations in the way of an intellectual treat. Prior indebtedness was paid off, and a small balance was left in the treasury. Though support has been pledged to justify the belief that the coming assembly will fully equal, if not surpass, the success of the one held last year.

Whether this year's assembly will be held on the same site on Main street as last year, or on the school ground, remains to be decided. While the Main street location is more accessible from the business district, it is not so attractive as the school ground.

MR. CROSSLAND'S VICTORY

The Wesleyan. One year ago the intelligence was spread abroad that Mr. Crossland of the Nebraska Wesleyan had won first honors in the state oratorical contest, and that he would represent the state in the inter-state contest which would occur later in the year. Wesleyan felt honored; it was a triumph based upon ability. Several days later Mr. Crossland discovered there had been a mistake in the markings and immediately gave up on his own account the honors for which he had labored for two years. Again Wesleyan, though disappointed, felt honored by her representative. This was a triumph of principle. Mr. Crossland began at once to do over that which he had worked upon for so long a time. The result was that one year later at the state contest on Thursday evening Wesleyan was awarded first place upon a grading of three first and one second out of a possible four firsts. Perhaps there has not been in the history of the school or even that of the state so decisive and clean cut a victory. This was a triumph of both ability and principle. Mr. Crossland is to be congratulated upon his victory, but still more upon that spirit of principle which makes ability and wins victories, that pluck and determination which makes men do big things. The college is grateful and appreciative of what its representatives do in its behalf, and wishing to show that it stands behind those who go out to contest for honors in its name, it takes this opportunity of expressing its gratitude to Mr. Crossland for that which he has done.

DEATH WAS DUE TO LAUDANUM

J. D. BECHGTEL PASSES AWAY

Struck Over Head by Potato Thief Monday Night—Coroner Williams Holds Inquest.

Dr. J. J. Williams, coroner, A. R. Davis, county attorney, and Grant S. Mears, sheriff, returned this afternoon from Sholes where they went last night to investigate the cause of the death of J. D. Bechtel who died at his home, three miles west and a half mile south of that place, early yesterday morning. The question determined was whether he died from the effects of blows dealt by a thief who was plundering his cellar or from the effects of a dose of laudanum which he had taken. The coroner's jury found that he had taken nearly two ounces of the poison and that it caused his death. The evidence showed that he had sent for the laudanum saying he wanted to give it to some sheep, but instead drank it himself. The investigation disclosed no fracture or blood clots as a consequence of the assault made on him by an unknown individual Monday night.

It was nearly midnight Monday night when Mr. Bechtel heard a noise in his yard, and going out to investigate met a man coming out of his cellar with a sack of potatoes. Bechtel asked him what he was doing, and he dropped the potatoes and struck the farmer over the head three times with a plow handle. Bechtel was knocked down, but later dragged himself into the house. He could not identify the thief.

FOR MUNICIPAL OFFICERS

The first Tuesday in April the city will be asked to elect a mayor to succeed Mayor Bressler, and three councilmen to succeed Messrs. Gildersleeve, Lamberson and Kingsbury. Mayor Bressler says he will not be a candidate again, and so it will be necessary to pick his successor.

For the mayoralty the Herald's attention has been called to the availability and fitness of Lambert W. Roe. It is pointed out that Mr. Roe is a citizen who has long been identified with the growth and business interests of Wayne, has had considerable experience in handling municipal affairs, and is capable of sound and unbiased judgment.

The Herald has not heard whether the councilmen whose terms expire will run again or not, and has heard no other names mentioned in connection with those offices.

WAYNE NORMAL BILL PASSES

House roll No. 54 carrying an appropriation of $55,000 for a new building at the Wayne State Normal passed the house on Monday, and went immediately to the senate for consideration. Of the members present, all but six voted for it. (And it is noted with pleasure that every member of the house committee regently visiting Wayne and inspecting the school, supported the measure. It is believed the bill will meet little if any opposition in the senate, and that Governor Aldrich will give it executive approval without hesitancy.

HAYTIAN CUTLERY SALUTE

Steward of Naval Vessel Put Knives and Forks in Gun and Hotel Was Punctured.

Discipline aboard men-of-war being long to tropical countries is not as strict as that obtaining on the vessels of colder countries. Indeed, in some instances, it is a very lax.

The Defiance, a Haytian naval vessel, was lying in the harbor of Port-au-Prince. One day a mess cook, for some reason, cleaned about a peck of knives and forks on the gun deck, and being suddenly called away, and not wishing to spend time to go to the galley, he seized the messpots full of knives and forks and stuck it in the muzzle of the ten-inch gun, putting the tampion in after it. About an hour afterward the admiral came aboard, and as the gun was loaded with blank cartridge, they used it to fire a salute toward the town, and almost point blank at the mess hotel. The guests assembled on the porch to witness the ceremonies, when they were saluted with a ram of knives and forks, which stuck against the wooden walls like quills on a porcupine. Fortunately no one was hurt, although there were many narrow escapes.

Queer Marital Relations. Curious marriage customs prevail among the people dwelling in the Tangai Valley in India. Here it seems that the women are polygamous, and that several brothers possess one wife in common. The custom is said to be due to the poverty of the people. The children bear the names of all the husbands of the mother. How such a custom as to names works out in practice it is difficult to comprehend. If the husband establishes that his wife is a bad cook it is a sufficient ground; and on the wife's side, if she can show that her husband fails to provide for the upkeep of the house she obtains a divorce.

Daily Thought. Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.
