OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Logan Valley Poultry Co., which was recently organized in Wayne for the purpose of giving the breeders of pure-bred poultry a market for their eggs at good prices is already doing a big business. There are, however, some varieties which are scarce around here and we have to send away for these eggs. If there are any breeders of the following varieties in the vicinity of Wayne it will pay them to write to us and list the eggs with us for sale:

Buff Plymouth Rocks, Rose Comb Buff Leghorns, Rose Comb White Leghorns, Buff Wyandottes, Silver Laced Wyandottes, Buff Cochins, White Langshans, S. C. Rhode Island Reds, S. C. and R. C. Black Minorcas, S. C. and R. C. White Minorcas, Houdans, Indian Runner Ducks, White Pekin Ducks, Rouen Ducks, Toulouse Geese, Bronze Turkeys.

We have made arrangements with breeders of all these varieties to furnish us with eggs, but the farmers here should raise some of these varieties and get the benefit of the better price for the eggs in CASH. We have arranged with the largest breeders of Bronze Turkeys in Nebraska to furnish us with turkey eggs and will be prepared to get you the eggs when you are ready to set them. We want the farmers around Wayne to go into the pure-bred poultry this year and next year we will buy your eggs at about three times as much as market price and pay you the cash. Write or call on

FOR BIGGER LIBRARY SITE

To the public: Will you help buy a lot that will be worthy of our new $7,500 library building? If all the families in Wayne and the surrounding country who use the library books, will contribute their share, we can buy fifty feet more of ground just north of the lot which the library association now owns, and have as grand a place for our library as could be wished for.

The lot now owned is the fifty-foot lot adjoining the Baptist church on the north. By buying another fifty feet and having the alley closed, we can build our library in the center and back from the sidewalk far enough to permit the making of a splendid park in front of the building. A. B. Clark who owns the fifty feet which we wish to buy, has made a very liberal offer on the lot. In fact, we are to get it much below its real value.

By all means let us buy this lot. It would be most unfortunate to put the library building under the shadow of the church. The building will have to have a frontage of at least forty feet wherever it is built, and if erected on the lot next to the church, it would be too close to the large building and to near the sidewalk where it would not show off to advantage.

The ladies worked, worried, begged, bled and tramped the streets to get together the money necessary to buy the lot they own, and they bought the best fifty-foot lot to be had in town. There is no doubt about it. But by giving them fifty feet more we can give them a lot that will be far better in every way. Citizens of Wayne: Mr. Carnegie, a man without property or interest in our city, has given us $7,500 for a library building for the benefit of ourselves and our children. Let us at least provide a suitable place as can be had upon which to erect this building. There is no doubt that the lot owned is not a satisfactory location, and the only way to improve it is to add the fifty feet and the alley to the north. The Commercial club will make a canvass of the town and surrounding country for the necessary money. The subscription books are now open at J. E. Hufford's book store. Drop in this week and leave your name and money.—Commercial Club.

TRIED IN DISTRICT COURT

The first case tried in the district court before a jury this week was that of the state vs. Carl Wittenburg, charged with the embezzlement of some hogs, Otto H. Kruger being the complaining witness. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The case of M. Norton vs. Mrs. Ulrich to recover wages for painting resulted in favor of the plaintiff. The case of J. W. Fox vs. Henry Suhr resulted in favor of the defendant, the plaintiff failing to make an appearance.

The action of Nils V. Peterson vs. Geo. Childs who was sued for damages alleged to have been sustained on account of injuries to the plaintiff by reason of falling down an elevator shaft in the defendant's store at Wakefield, was tried to a jury. The plaintiff was given a verdict for $600.

The case titled state vs. Albert A. Anderson was changed to Lillie Colander vs. Albert A. Anderson, and was on trial before a jury this morning.

The action in replevin of Rhoda H. Livenspire vs. Frank P. Livenspire was dismissed.

WAYNE-RANDOLPH DEBATE

Last Friday evening at Randolph occurred the second debating contest between the Randolph and Wayne high schools. Randolph upheld the affirmative, and Wayne the negative of the following question: Resolved, "That the policy of maintaining the United States Navy at its present strength is preferable to the policy of substantially increasing it."

All the speakers did splendidly, and the debate was strong throughout. The debate was opened by Miss Elsie Yost who laid down the following statements the affirmative hoped to prove: First, the problem of limitation of armaments must be solved without delay; second, the United States must take the lead in limiting armaments, and third, the United States can take this lead without endangering her own possessions.

Miss Yost substantiated the first point. Miss Nellie Thordahl taking the second said in part: "Since neither Germany, England nor Japan can take the lead because of complications, the United States which is at peace with all the world, must take it. That a navy for protection is an illusion and that no nation will voluntarily strike us, Miss Marjory Parmlinger on the third point, argued that our navy is sufficient to meet all demands which would be made on it in case of war.

Leslie Epler opened the debate for Wayne and laid down the following as a basis for argument:

First, war is probable; second, our navy is inadequate, and third, our navy must be improved.

Leslie substantiated the first point with the following argument and more Europe is crowded. With that condition Europe will not long respect the Monroe doctrine; hence the probability of war. Herbert Welch in substantiating the second point used a chart made from data found in the Congressional record for May 23, 1910 to show that our navy ranks low in number of vessels, quality of vessels, number of guns, and speed. Also to show our extensive coast line which would require a large navy for protection.

Tracy Kohl on the third point said he believed a large navy would be a preventative of war, and quoted from George Washington, who said, "in time of peace prepare for war."

The debate was strong on both sides of the question. The decision was unanimous in favor of the affirmative.

Randolph entertained Wayne royally, and we hope to do as well by them when the debate is here next year. A Spectator.

Fred Wintner returned Tuesday from Indianapolis, Ind., where he was called a few months ago by the fatal illness of his father. He will be employed during the summer on the farm of Chas. Weeces.

The caucus for the nomination of municipal officers will be held at the court house this evening. All citizens should be interested in the selection of candidates, and ought to be on hand at the meeting to-night.

The plan of the Commercial club, set forth in another column, to raise money with which to buy another lot for the library site should appeal to people as the right course to pursue. The site will be for all time, and the cost of the library building justifies extra effort along the line suggested at this time.

All during the winter, deposits in Wayne banks have been larger than they were last year. They show an increase now over what they were a year ago. This gratifying condition exists notwithstanding the lowering prices for farm products and the fact that less grain and live stock have been marketed than usual.

T. T. Thomas who has resided at Carroll or vicinity since 1892, died Sunday, and the funeral took place from the Baptist church in Carroll Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Funk conducting the services, assisted by Revs. T. D. and Jno. Davies. Mr. Thomas was born in Wales in 1842, and was well known and highly respected.

Secretary Berry of the Commercial club has received a letter from the state railway commission including a copy of the answer of the railroad company to the petition for a new depot at this place. The railroad company denies all the principal allegations in the complaint, and says the depot here is sufficient. The commission states that a day for a formal hearing will soon be set.

And best of all the upper is absolutely guaranteed not to rip from the sole. If it does, simply return the shoe—you'll receive a new pair cheerfully. WAYNE GIRL SEES VOLCANO

Miss Winifred Hunter, who is teaching in the Philippines, writes under date of February 8, the following letter to her mother, Mrs. E. Hunter, giving an interesting description of an active volcano.

"I'm afraid that before this reaches you you'll be scared and have your fears all smoothed over again because of our wonderful volcano.

"For some days previous to the explosion we had quakes of more or less frequency and violence, and were expecting something of the sort. Sunday night about 8 or 9 o'clock we sat on the sea wall wondering if something really would happen. Finally abandoning all hope of seeing anything exciting we went to bed and slept until about a quarter of two when a most terrific explosion wakened us. The roar was accompanied by flashes of lightning intensely brilliant. We tumbled out of bed into kimonos and slippers and rushed to the sea wall. Fifty miles to the south a funnel-shaped cloud was shooting up into the heavens, spreading at the top into a wider and wider blackness until it covered nearly half the sky. Great jets of flame seemed shooting up from the center of the column of smoke while all through the cloud vivid flashes of lightning shot in and out, darting now toward the center to meet the great red flames streaking upward and again forming a sort of halo around the edges of the cloud.

"The fireworks lasted for over an hour accompanied by continuous rumblings, and when at last we ran shivering into the house and into the light we beheld a queer trio as could be imagined. Mary B. had on three kimonas of various shades and diverse materials; Grace had her funny bobbed hair done in kid-curlers, and I was one of the class of objects which beggars description.

"For the past week theories of all kinds have been afloat, as to the cause of it all and in the meantime the old volcano continued to grow a little and stick out his tongue or 'bat' his fiery eye in appreciation of his own joke. In less than a week we had over 900 earthquakes, most of them perceptible, and I truly believe I was almost as sensitive to them as the most carefully strung seismograph.

"The total loss of life caused by the explosion is estimated at something over 2000. Too high on an island and in the center of a lake by the same name, many fisher-folk live in little barrios on the lake shore and make their living fishing. Great numbers of these barrios were utterly destroyed, some by the mud which swept over them and others by a tidal wave which rose twelve feet in the lake and swept inward 2500 feet. A peculiar feature of the explosion, or rather a peculiar result, is one upon which a theory that the disturbance was an explosion and not an eruption is based. The trees lie uprooted for a radius of seven miles, tops all turned away from the crater, while the small vegetation left bends inward toward the crater, suggesting a great force applied from above and the inward rush of air into the vacuum created.

"I've mailed you the Manila papers describing the leading events of the past week and have some kodak pictures to send.

"In the midst of all this turmoil we have been eating perfectly delicious strawberries from Bagnio, nice, jowly ripe tomatoes, fresh peas and beans out of the hotel garden. If it were not for so many blooming germs this country would be the most wonderful garden spot imaginable. At present the weather is delightfully cool and a bit rainy. I'm feeling fine and have a pupil to tutor in the afternoon."

LETTER FROM MR. BARBEE

The Herald has received a letter from W. H. Barbee, formerly of the vicinity, now living near Wash., where he recently located on a fruit ranch. The following from his letter will be of interest to his Wayne county friends: "I'm having fine weather here. It's no snow, but cool nights. The mountains in the distance are covered with snow, and are beautiful. There is no frost in the ground and the men are plowing and pruning. We have a fruit ranch of twenty acres, and like it fine so far. It is a little rainy at present. The children here have gone bareheaded to school all winter, and of course our children thought they must be in style and so follow the custom. Not being used to it, they all caught cold. Otherwise we have been quite well. This is undoubtedly a great country in which to enjoy life. With good wishes to Nebraska friends, I remain, Yours truly, W. H. Barbee."

JUHLIN-ELSON.

Mr. George A. Juhlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Juhlin of Wayne, was married at Smith Center, Kas., on Wednesday of last week to Miss Ethel Elson of that place. The Smith County Pioneer has this account of the wedding: Last evening at 8 o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Ethel Elson and Mr. George A. Juhlin, at the hospitable home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Elson, three miles southeast of this city. Rev. J. E. Everett, Congregational minister of this city, performed the ceremony in the presence of forty invited friends and relatives. The room was tastefully decorated with ferns and bushes and white roses. Immediately after the ceremony, the guests and newly weds sat down to a fine banquet. The bride in this event is one of the well known young ladies of Smith county, having been born and reared near Lebanon. She is the youngest child in the family, and has been one of the successful and valued school teachers of the county for a number of years. Her husband is a handsome specimen of young American manhood and around his home near Wayne, Nebraska, he is known as a man of industry, thrift and square dealing. He has a fine home near there which he and his wife will go the latter part of this week. They will be followed by the hearty good will and best wishes of hundreds of Smith county people.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE YOUTH'S COMPANION.

We have had to make The Youth's Companion larger to get in all the good things that Companion readers ought to have. The added amount would make four hundred pages of standard magazine size and print; but we have kept the price just the same—$1.75 for the fifty-two weeks of 1911. We would like to tell you what is in store for Companion readers during 1911. We cannot do it here, though; there is not room. But send us your address on a postal card, and we will send you the beautiful Prospectus of The Companion for 1911, announcing many new features, together with sample copies of the paper. We think you will agree, when you have read them, that there is no other paper that gives quite so much of such a high quality as The Companion.

Wayne People Can Tell You Why It Is So. Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Wayne people testify to permanent cures. Mrs. Henry Hansen, of Wayne, Neb., says: "Three years ago I was annoyed by sudden pains in the small of my back, caused by exertion or the contraction of a cold. There was a steady, throbbing ache across my loins and at times I was so lame and sore that I could not get up after sitting. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. Nothing brought me any permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They eventually cured me and there has never been the least recurrence of my trouble."

Bell, 653 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroad riding left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. There are 38 persons in all with a sufficient number of children to claim a public school where they expect to settle. Half a dozen other families left or will soon leave for California, Idaho, Canada and other places.

Steer Runs Amuck. Channing County—During the business rush of Saturday when the streets of West Point were crowded with traffic a herd of cattle was driven into town for delivery at the stock yards. One of the animals, attracted by the red cloaks and hoods of a bevy of school girls, who were being escorted to the matinee by Fred Sonnenschein, former mayor, charged fully upon them. Seeing the approach of the beast Mr. Sonnenschein gathered five of the children around him and endeavored to shield them from the attack by his own body, drawing them into the partial shelter of a store window. He was knocked down and trampled upon by the infuriated brute, but the children were rescued in safety.

Federal Court at McCook. York County—March term of federal court closed at York, the court having adjourned seven days. The case against James Bonthus of Indianapolis for mailing unmailable matter came up on a motion to quash. District attorney was allowed ten days to file brief in the case and defendant ten days to file reply. Two cases against Messrs. Sullivan, Stratton and Kerr of Hayes county for alleged perjury in connection with government land proofs were noted. There are cases against each of the defendants in court for alleged conspiracy in this same matter, however, which have not been disposed of.

Jam Was Destroyed. Douglas County—A thousand dollars worth of peach and apricot jam, sent to Omaha from Sturgis, Ky. and offered for sale at Omaha pie makers, was destroyed and destroyed by Mrs. Harriet McCormick, state food inspector, and City Health Inspector Fleishman. The goods were at the establishment of Myers & Co. The Connecticut pie factory had made a bid for them, but refused to complete the purchase without the approval of the food inspectors. Cans of this mold an inch thick were found in the jam, in some of the jars, with fermenting and bubbling gas in others.

Loynes' Missionary Convention. Wayne County—Several weeks ago it was planned to hold a series of loynes' missionary conventions in the Nelson district of the Methodist church. The first of these conventions opened at Neligh with a luncheon which was attended by about 75 men. Following the luncheon addresses were delivered.

Winter Day Time in Canada. It takes a good Canadian really to enjoy winter. For winter is a part of the national spirit of Canada. From the shores of Labrador to the mountains of the west, and from the boundless prairie to the frozen forests of the north, the Canadian people are accustomed to the winter season. It is a time of quietude and of rest, a time when the world seems to stand still. The snow-covered fields and the frozen lakes and rivers are a beautiful sight. The children are busy with their winter sports, and the men are busy with their winter work. The winter is a time of hope and of faith, a time when the people of Canada are united in their love for their country.

The NATION'S WEALTHY WIDOWS

WEALTHY American widows have come in recent years to play a most important part in several important divisions of the world's affairs. It is not, either, merely here in the United States that these moneyed women are making their influence felt. On the contrary, their influence has proven fully as potent in many circles abroad—so much so, indeed, that the good people of Europe have been compelled to take notice of the American widows as a class well worthy to rank with any subdivision of society abroad (not even excepting the nobility). If the comparison be made on the basis of gowns or millinery or jewelry or any of the other standards by which the feminine world sets its store.

Here in the United States it would be difficult to name a sphere in which the wealthy widows have not been exerting tremendous influence of late years. Even in politics they have not waited upon the victory of the suffrage cause to enable them to take a hand. For the present, to be sure, their influence is indirect, but it is none the less tangible, as witness the power of the salons maintained by that brilliant woman, Mrs. Pitt, widow of the late chairman of the foreign relations committee of the house of representatives and the backing which Senator Beveridge of Indiana has had through the fact that his wife is the kinswoman of Mrs. Marshall Field, widow of the Chicago merchant.

Socially there is no question as to the tremendous power of the American widow. To realize it one has only to stop to reflect how the polite world is dominated by the hospitalities of such well-to-do widows as Mrs. L. Z. Letter, widow of the Chicago multi-millionaire and mother of the late Lady Curzon, late vicereine of India; Mrs. George M. Pullman, widow of the car builder; Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, widow of the "Mining King"; Mrs. Mary Scott Townsend, widow of the Pennsylvania coal and oil magnate, and Mrs. M. A. Hanna, widow of the late United States senator from Ohio. Mrs. Hanna's life since the death of her husband, we may here digress to explain, has illustrated how great is the latitude of life open to the modern wealthy widow in contrast to the circumscribed existence of the average widow of a prominent official of a century ago, who upon the death of her husband, was wont to retire to his plantation or country seat and live in the utmost quietude if not in actual seclusion. After the death of her husband Mrs. Hanna lived for a time in a fashionable hotel in Washington. Then she built a house and occupied it for a time, later disposing of it to a prominent army officer. Next she had a special apartment arranged for her order in one of the largest of the new hotels in New York, even providing a special kitchen for "Maggie," her "jewel" of a cook. Then desiring a change, she hit upon the idea of her present program of life, which calls for an extended sojourn in Europe each spring and summer and a winter residence in Washington, where she has two apartments of 14 rooms each in a fashionable apartment house. Mrs. Hanna's $28000 apartment might seem a pretty pretentious residential establishment for a lone woman to maintain, but it is scarcely a circumstance to the enormous four-story mansion erected at the national capital by Mrs. Slater, another wealthy widow, who is the sole occupant of this palace save for the 18 servants who minister to her needs. Wealthy widows if may be added, have not shirked the responsibilities of house building. Indeed, on the contrary, it seems to be one of their fads. Mrs. Letter, in addition to her own "cottage" costing hundreds of thousands of dollars on the North Shore of Massachusetts near the summer home of President Taft. Mrs. Hay, widow of the late secretary of state, has built a magnificent mansion in Cleveland; Mrs. Pullman and Mrs. Marshall Field have ordered new homes from plans which they had a hand in making; Mrs. Pitt has built a splendid home since the death of her husband and the wealthy Mrs. Wren of Philadelphia had her nephew-architect carry out her ideas of a distinctive home. In point of achievement, however, unquestionably the greatest of all the house builders in the coterie of wealthy widows is Mrs. Albert Clifford Barney, who inherited one fortune from her father, a Cincinnati pioneer, and married another. Mrs. Barney is of a most artistic temperament and is indeed an artist of no mean ability in both oil and water colors. She spends much time in Paris, where she and two of her daughters, who follow the same art, are much in their element. When she is in this country Mrs. Barney divides her time and her boundless energy between the staging of Greek plays and other amateur theatricals of a most ambitious character and the designing and building of houses for lovers of it. These unique habitations that she creates Mrs. Barney sells or rents, and it is said to her credit that she is a clever enough business woman to make her art profitable in dollars and cents as well as in personal satisfaction.

In the field of philanthropy American widows have of late years accomplished so much good as to make these bereaved ones as a class the most respected and most admired contingent of American multimillionaires. The generosity of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst in good works has insured her a place for all time in our hall of fame and Mrs. Harriman's gift of a splendid park to the state of New York is but the first of a series of noble benefactions. Mrs. Russell Sage is another woman who in a comparatively brief widowhood has helped the needy in many ways, and the late Mrs. Gardner Hubbard, widow of the man who reaped the greatest financial rewards from the invention of the telephone, was lavish during her lifetime in good works.

There is one group of widows in the United States in the members of which—for all that they are most of them living very richly—the public is bound to take a keen interest. This group is made up of the widows of

CURRENT WRECKS A BRIDGE

Twenty-Seven Big Timbers Are Cut Through in One Day by Aid of Electricity.

One of the most ingenious uses to which electricity was ever put was in the wrecking of a bridge over the Washburn in Indiana. This bridge had been purchased by the county authorities, who intended to replace it by a steel structure erected on the old piers and abutments. The owner agreed to remove the bridge in 30 days. The chief difficulty lay in the short time agreed upon for the removal of the bridge. Several workers to whom the matter was entrusted declared that it would be impossible within 30 days to remove the old bridge without injury to the piers. The structure was to be blown up with dynamite, and the piers were to be left standing. The work was completed in 30 days. A BALL FOR BABY

If ever love is attached into a gift box it goes into the one that celebrates baby's first birthday. One of the first presents, which will give the little one a great deal of happiness, is a ball. The ball is a favorite toy for the baby, and it is a good idea to give the baby a ball. The ball is a favorite toy for the baby, and it is a good idea to give the baby a ball. RENEWS ANTIQUE WASHSTAND

Long Islander Sells Piece of Furniture for Fifty Cents and Buys It Back for $20.

An elderly Long Islander once attended an auction of old furniture. Among the articles for which bids were asked was a heavy marble-topped washstand. The Long Islander bid ten cents for it, and as he was the only one who spoke the washstand was knocked down to him. Rather to his dismay, as he had to have it conveyed to his distant home. For several years the antique washstand was an eyesore in the rear of the stand serving as a receptacle for cans of paint.

Bell Must Be Tuned.

The general impression is that the tuning of a bell is largely a matter of guesswork. It is not so. A bell tuner is a man who has spent years of his life in the study of the art of tuning bells. He is a man who has spent years of his life in the study of the art of tuning bells. He is a man who has spent years of his life in the study of the art of tuning bells.

Morning Bread

Pour one cup of boiling water into one cup of milk; when cool stir in one cake of compressed yeast (dissolved in one teaspoonful of salt. Add four to make a soft dough; turn on kneading board and knead 20 minutes; or until it will not cling to board. Set to rise for three hours, knead thoroughly, put in pans, and let rise one hour. Bake forty-five minutes. This will make three medium sized loaves. The bread is splendid and far less trouble than to bother with bread at all.

Scrambled Eggs

Beat five eggs slightly, add a half teaspoon of salt, a dash of pepper and a dash of paprika. Cook in a small amount of butter in a frying pan over a moderate fire until the eggs are thoroughly scrambled. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

To Clean Brillo-Brac

In cleaning Brillo-brac, especially china pieces, it is a good plan to use an old shaving brush. It is useful in dusting, crevices and is also excellent for use while washing pieces. Instead of putting soap in the water use a teaspoonful of ammonia in a gallon of warm water.

FINE POINTS ABOUT SOUPS

Delicate and Proper Blending of Savors is About the Chief Thing to Remember.

Often it is the small attentions of lack of them which makes or mars a soup. The methods have always been very clear to the initiated and the painstaking. But for those who do not know a few careful suggestions from Mrs. Beecher's Domestic Receipt Book, which are put in such a detailed form that they cannot but be helpful. She says: The delicate and proper blending of savors is the chief art in good soup-making. Be sure and skim the grease off the soup when it first boils, or it will not become clear. Throw in a little salt to bring up the scum. Remove all grease.

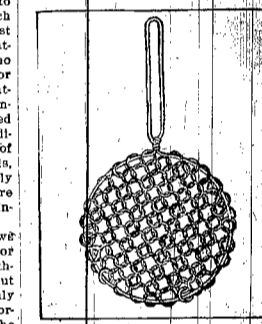

Be sure and simmer softly and never let a soup boil hard. Put the meat into cold water and let it grow warm slowly. This dissolves the gelatine, allows the albumen to disengage and the scum to rise and diffuses the savory part of the meat. Be sure not to leave any fat floating on the surface. A quart of water to a pound of meat, or a little less, is a good rule. Soup made of uncooked meat is as good the second day if heated to the boiling point. If more water is needed use boiling hot water, as cold or lukewarm spoils the soup. It is thought that potato water is unhealthy, and therefore do not boil potatoes in soup, but boil elsewhere, and add them when nearly cooked. The water in which poultry or fresh meat is boiled should be saved for gravies or soup next day. If you do not need it give it to the poor. Keep the vessel in which you boil soup covered tight, that the flavor be not lost.

Never leave soup in metal pots, as sometimes a family is thus poisoned. Thickened soups require more seasoning; nearly double the quantity used for thin soups.

KEEPS BROILING MEAT DRY

Platform of Rings Prevents the Steak From Being Immersed in Grease.

Once more we have an invention designed for those who pay more than passing attention to their meals and acceptable to all who care for food well cooked. This time it is a woman in California who has come to the rescue of gourmets by supplying them with a utensil that will broil meat dry. Only those who have partaken of steaks dripping with grease can appreciate the value of this device. The apparatus is a circular frame with a handle and inside the frame a network of metal rings. The meat is placed on the rings and then laid in the skillet close to the bottom. The butter cooks up through the rings and the meat is done without being immersed in grease.

A New Way With Spinach

One large cupful of spinach, boiled and run through a sieve. A small cupful of grated Parmesan cheese; a can of artichoke bottoms, half a cupful of cream, one hard-boiled egg and salt and pepper to taste. Mix the spinach with the cheese, chopped egg, and enough cream to form a soft paste. Season carefully. Heat the artichoke bottoms in a little milk and water, drain and lay on the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Put a heap of the spinach mixture on top of each bottom and bake in the oven for 15 minutes. Serve with melted butter, seasoned with a little lemon juice.

STATEMENT FROM TAFT PARTY
American legislators will keep financial hearing and...
Washington—A correspondent, who is accompanying President Taft on his journey to Atlanta, Ga., declares in a dispatch received here Thursday night that the administration has decided to no longer hold back its reasons for the sudden assembling of American troops in Texas along the Mexican border.
The United States government proposes to see that the Mexican revolution comes to a quick end and peace be established in the republic. The dispatch asserts that all aid possible for the United States government to give to Diaz will be given. Other sources in Washington take an opposite view and declare it is the intention of this government to overthrow the Diaz regime.
One report received declares that Mexico City is hemmed in by rebels and will be cut off from communication with the outside world March 11. The dispatch referred to, said Charlottesville, Va., through which the president's train passed, follows:
"All hopes as to the purpose of the government in sending 30,000 troops to the Mexican border has at last been swept away.
"The United States has determined that the revolution in the republic to the south must end.
"The American troops have been sent to form a solid military wall along the Rio Grande to stop filibustering and to see that there is no further smuggling of arms and men across the international boundary.
"It is believed that with this source of contraband supplies cut off the insurrectionary movement which has disturbed conditions generally for nearly a year without accomplishing anything like the formation of a responsible independent government will speedily come to a close.
"President Taft, on his way to Atlanta and Augusta for a ten days vacation, appeared well satisfied with the situation.
"There is a general belief that the rapid movement of troops into Texas and southern California will so speedily accomplish its purpose that the results in the end will constitute a valuable lesson in quick mobilization of an effective fighting force that will prove a revelation to the country at large, to the critics of the army in particular, and a justification of the diplomatically worded explanations that have been given out from official sources in Washington.
"There no longer is reason to doubt that the sudden move on the part of the American government was the result of either unofficial representations of foreign governments regarding the situation in Mexico or the intimation that several of the European powers were sounding each other as to the desirability of making representations to the United States on an early date. At any rate, the matter was put up to the administration in such a way as to call for the quickest sort of action. The necessity for this speed of mobilization was set upon by the war department as a heaven-sent opportunity to answer critics both in and out of congress, and that interpretation was put upon the movement.
"There was little doubt in the minds of these officials that the true meaning of the 'maneuvers' soon would be known and the logical interpretation so quickly put upon the movement of the troops unquestionably disconcerted the administration officials from President Taft down.
"There is no telling at this time how long the big army sent to the Mexican frontier will have to remain there. It will not be withdrawn until the revolution has been crushed out and until conditions in Mexico are much more stable than they now are believed to be.
"The situation in lower California is said to have caused more concern to the United States than at any other point. It was reported that the revolutionists were exceptionally strong there, and threatened to set up an independent government of their own. That of Diaz, of the revolutionists to the east. The line between the United States and lower California is but an imaginary one, and a revolutionary government there would be a source of constant worry."

JAPAN TREATY BEST TAFT COMMENDS CONGRESS, BUT ALSO CENSURES IN ATLANTA SPEECH.

Atlanta, Ga.—In an address before the Southern Commercial Congress Friday President Taft declared that the failure to enact reciprocity with Canada was the greatest disappointment of the Sixty-first congress, and that the greatest achievement was the ratification of the treaty with Japan.
He reached the convention hall shortly before 12 o'clock and was given a tremendous ovation.
The president was introduced by former Governor Francis of Missouri. A roll call of the states resulted in $27,000 being subscribed for the continuation of the work of the Southern Commercial Congress. When the state of Missouri was reached in the midst of the roll call, President Taft seized the gavel from the hands of former Governor Francis of that state and, taking charge of the convention, called on Missouri for a subscription. Mr. Francis, caught unawares, responded that he was not authorized to subscribe anything for his state's commercial bodies.
"We are not from Missouri, but we must be shown," replied the president.
"What will Missouri do?"
"I will subscribe $1,000 and an assurance state will assume as much more," said Mr. Francis.
After reviewing the remarkable industrial and commercial growth of the south, President Taft referred to the last congress as follows:
"The Sixty-first congress just closed has enacted more useful and progressive legislation in its three sessions than any congress since the war.
"One of the crying evils of the present day is the expense of litigation. This congress has passed an act making substantial reductions in the cost of appealing cases from the courts of first instance to the courts of appeals.
The president then enumerated several other laws that were passed.
"A great disappointment of the session," he continued, "was the final defeat of a permanent tariff board.
"Finally, and the most important thing which was done in the session just closed, was the ratification of the treaty with Japan.
"Of course, the greatest disappointment of the session was the failure of the senate to follow the lead of the house in ratifying the reciprocity agreement made with Canada.
"When we entered upon the negotiations I authorized the secretary of state and his commissioners to offer free trade in everything, but this Canada could not grant.
"Canada is at the parting of the ways, and I should like to see an opportunity to share away an opportunity for mutual benefit not likely to recur.
"Under my promise to use my utmost efforts to secure the ratification of this agreement by congress I have felt it my duty upon the failure of the senate to act to call an extra session for the purpose of securing the ratification of the agreement. I feel confident that a few six months of this agreement will so vindicate the wisdom of adopting it as to remove it from political discussion thereafter."

BALLINGER RESIGNS PRESENTS RESIGNATION AND TAFT APPOINTS W. L. FISHER. Retiring Official Bases His Request Entirely Upon His Health and Receives Warm Praise From President.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Richard A. Ballinger's resignation as secretary of the interior was accepted by President Taft and Walter L. Fisher of Chicago was Tuesday appointed as his successor.
Mr. Ballinger tendered his resignation in a letter on January 19, being on the condition of his health. The president replied at once, expressing his confidence in Secretary Ballinger, his reluctance to accept his resignation, and requested the secretary to remain in office until the close of the session of congress. Immediately on the adjournment of congress Secretary Ballinger renewed his request.
Tuesday President Taft, in a letter, formally accepted the resignation and Mr. Fisher was appointed as his successor, his commission being signed immediately by the president. Mr. Fisher will take office immediately.
"I have had the fullest opportunity," the president says, "to know you, to know your standards of service to the government and the public, to know your motives, to know how you have administered your office and to know the motives of those who have assailed you."
And in the conclusion of his letter the president declares that "every fiber of my nature rebels against such hypocrisy" (referring to the attacks on Ballinger's character) "and nerves me to fight such a combination and such methods to the bitter end, lest success in this instance may form a demoralizing precedent. But personal consideration for you and yours makes me feel that I have no right to ask for a further sacrifice."
The president goes on to declare it evident that he has been himself the ultimate object of the attack, and says that he insists on Mr. Ballinger's remaining in office "with the prospect of further efforts against you, in selfishly to impose upon you a burden that I ought to impose."

SERVICES AT TABERNACLE

Increased interest in being manifested in the series of union revival meetings, and a number of conversions have already been made.

At the meeting Sunday afternoon Evangelist Hart spoke of the need of personal holiness and received pledges from a crowd of Christians present that they would devote their efforts to raising recruits for the Christian army.

The big tabernacle was filled at the evening service Sunday when Evangelist Hart discoursed on "Shams," and the eloquence and earnestness of the speaker held close attention.

He said in part: "When I find a so-called Christian, on Sabbath morning, holding in his hand a goblet of the holy communion, and with the same hand during the week flipping the cards, the gambler's tool for a prize, when I see a man Sabbath morning on the way to the sanctuary, and the next night kicking up his heels at the dance, when I see one looking on the sacred page in the Sabbath school, and during the week gazing at the footlights of the drama, I say he is a humbug, a sham, and a farce."

"What is a sham? A sham is a young fellow walking down the street with his trousers pressed to a razor-edge, with a cigarette in his mouth and swinging a cane. That is a sham and a genuine article, too. A sham is something that looks good outside, and is nothing on the inside."

"O, what a worthless creature is a sham! He is worse than a curser or a drunkard. There is no holiness in a sham, for his very being is centered in deception and honesty is the greatest thing among men. The sham is cosmopolitan, coming from all avenues of life, and from all parts of the world. He may be found in politics, in business, society or religion. Of all shams, I think the religious sham is the worst. For a man to profess to be something when he is nothing, places himself on a low plain of relations with his fellow-men."

Tuesday night a large audience listened to a most remarkable discourse on "Hell." The impressive sermon lasted an hour and the audience was dismissed in silence with a simple request that no one speak to another within the building but that each one homeward bound ask himself the question, "Where will I spend eternity?"

Evangelist Hart had for his text, Tuesday night, "And in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment," as found in the words of Jesus about the rich man and Lazarus in the gospel of Luke. The speaker quoted passages not only of what old and the new Testament writers say, but what Christ himself said about hell.

He said in part: "There is throughout God's creation the reign of universal law. If I violate that law, I must suffer the penalty. The Bible does not say that the sinner in punished eternally for a few sins. But because he is an immortal being he must live eternally in the place his character determines. The punishment of sinners is an alternative fact; the necessity of a good government requires that the law breaker be punished. I shall we expect less from the government of heaven?"

"We cannot read the Bible without a profound conviction that justice is one of God's attributes, and all sin is direct rebellion against His government. I ask, 'Do the governments of the earth make good citizens of unsundered rebels or criminals? Shall we expect less from the skies? The law of retribution is seen everywhere in the nation, in its law making bodies, the state, in its executive power, the courts of justice, the jail, the prison, the hangman's rope and the electric chair."

"The doctrine of no future punishment and banishment from God is from hell, and not from heaven; from the devil and not from God. God said to the first man, 'Thy day thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die.' The devil said, 'Thy shalt not surely die.' Line up, brother. On which side are you?"

What bids to be one of the largest services of any description ever held in the city is being arranged for next Sunday at 2:30 when Evangelist Hart gives his special confidential talk to men only. This address has been given in most of the large cities of the country and often 5,000 men have heard it.

Mr. Hart addressed the high school Wednesday morning and the school will likely attend the meeting in a body on Friday night at the suggestion of Mr. Hart.

Subject for third week of revival: Sunday, 3 p. m. for men only, "Hot Shot," and 7 p. m., "The Unanswerable Question."

The clear features of her face were framed in the roll of her heavy locks, as I had seen them last. Her garb, as usual, betokened luxury. She was robed as though for some fête, all in white satin, and pale blue fires of stones shone faintly at throat and wrist. Contrast enough she made to me, clad in smock-browed tunic of buck, with the leggings and modeste of a savage, my belt lacking but prepared for rapsons.
