THE HERALD'S IMPROVEMENTS

INSTALLS LINOTYPE MACHINE

Work—'Patent Injuries' Discard—More County News.

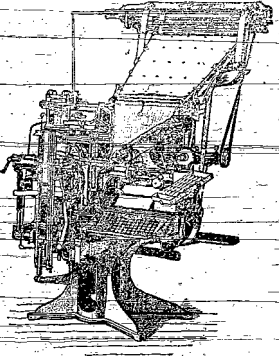

The Herald's new standard linotype machine has been installed within the past week, and has been used in getting up today's paper. As soon as a paper is set up can be developed in handling the machine, it is expected that it will not only save on the cost of the Herald, but for all other papers in the neighborhood reading assistance.

It is the same kind of a machine used on all the big dailies of the country. The pages were larger, and four of them were printed in Sioux City. In those days when daily papers were carried by the rural mail service every morning into the country, the printer in "patent injuries" is often old and of no interest by the time it reaches readers. Therefore, the mission of a paper like the Herald must be to attract itself mainly by publishing the news from the rural districts and towns of the county. Such will be the aim of this paper, and it will endeavor to steadily improve in so doing.

SOUTH OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKET

Cattle—Heavy receipts last week closed the market the lower, although top price of the season was paid, $5.00 for 1370 lb. heaves. Another decline of a dime was recorded yesterday.

THE HERALD'S NEW LINOTYPE MACHINE

try. It has facilitated composition, and made it possible to greatly increase the output of a newspaper office.

The linotype does not set the type. It casts a single-line at a time, but not being constantly in use. The matrices drop into place by working the key-board, much like a typewriter, and then after a line is cast, they go back automatically into the magazine and are again ready for service. It is one of the most intricate and wonderful machines ever invented.

The Herald feels it is taking a long step forward in the installation of a linotype, which, with the new folder, used for the first time this week, gives the plant a capacity for work seldom equaled in a country office.

It will be seen that the paper is reduced from a seven-column newspaper to a four-column paper, all done in the object in making the change in the size of pages is to accommodate four pages instead of two at one time on the Herald's press. The number of pages will be regulated by the amount of advertising from week to week, and in every issue there will be more news and other features of local interest than when steady, today with $5.00 top and bulk of better cattle $5.00 to $5.80; warmed up common $5.00 to $5.50. Heavy feeders are a little lower but light weights strong. Best cows and heifers $4.75 to $5.50, fancy a little more. Good killers $4.00 to $4.75; cutters $3.50 to $4.00 and canners $3.00 to $3.40. Veal calves 50c lower, top $7.50, bulk $7.50 to $8.50. Bulls also 25c off at $4.00 to $5.00. Look for a liberal run and steady market this week.

JOHN KATE CHOSEN FOR MAYOR

SO THE MASS MEETING DECIDES

Hughes for Clerk, Kingsford for Treasurer and Britton for Police Judge—Councilmen.

The court room was packed Thursday night when the citizens' convention took place for the nomination of city officers. John H. Kate was elected mayor. For clerk, H. S. Kingsford; for treasurer and judge Jas. Britton; for police judge Ward Gibson; were held in the close of the mass meeting, and candidates for nomination were nominated being the following: First ward, W. W. Kingsford; second ward, C. W. Lamberson; and third ward, G. H. Bright.

Registrar, W. D. Redmond of the State Normal was elected chairman and Chas. Beebe secretary of the mass meeting. John H. Kate and L. W. Roe were placed before the convention for mayor. The ballot resulted in the choice of Mr. Kate by a majority of three votes, Kate receiving 127 and Roe 124 votes.

Mr. Kate was declared the nominee, and was called to the front to make a speech. He responded in a brief, plain, proclaiming his loyalty to Wayne all the time. He spoke of the invitations other towns had offered to get the incinerator factory, and said they were turned down because he had confidence in Wayne and proposed to spend the rest of his days here. He pledged himself to serve the people faithfully if elected to the mayoralty.

Parson Hughes and W. P. Rousay were announced for city clerk, but the latter refused to be a candidate, and the nomination of Hughes was made by acclamation. H. S. Kingsford for treasurer and Judge Jas. Britton for judge were nominated without opposition.

At the conclusion of the mass meeting, citizens gathered in their respective wards to nominate councilmen. W. Kingsford was nominated in the first ward. Geo. Lamberson and D. S. McVicker were rivals for councilmen in the second ward, the vote being 38 to 41 in favor of the former. Since

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

TWO OF WOMEN'S CLUBS MEET

Neither Club Carries Out Usual Program—Taxwell Reception Given—Social Parties.

Monday Club. A number of the ladies of the Monday club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Chase. They devoted the time to sewing and sociality. The attendance was not so large as usual on account of the meetings at the tabernacle. The next club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Meador.

Aene Club

The Aene club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Williams, and instead of the regular program, a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Williams served delicious refreshments. The other ladies' clubs did not meet this week. Mrs. Chas. Kate entertains this evening at a 6 o'clock dinner in honor of Misses Edith and Florence Woods of Sioux City.

Mrs. C. A. Chase entertained a number of ladies informally yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Will Nangle of Austin, Minn. A splendid luncheon was served.

the caucus Mr. McVicker had become a candidate by petition against Mr. Lamberson. In the third ward, C. H. Bright and L. C. Giffels were suggested for councilmen, but the latter withdrew and the former was chosen by acclamation.

Regardless of the outcome of the election, the city will remain dry unless those favoring a return to the policy of licensing saloons were able to pull a special election. The time to propose it is on the proposition at the regular election is too short. The Herald has heard of no such effort to call a special election.

In Critical Condition

The condition of Mrs. R. E. Huse who has been ill for a number of months at the home of her son, E. W. Huse, has become very serious, hope for her recovery having been nearly despaired of.

Leaves for the West

W. S. Gollie left this morning for the west, expecting to stop at Lee, Ariz., Colie, to visit a brother, and then go north into Oregon and Idaho. While away, he will look for a new location.

RAILWAY COMMISSION COMING

HOLD HEARING FEB. MARCH 30

Asks Congressional Club Secretary to Arrange for Use of Court Room for the Purpose.

Secretary E. A. Berry of the Congressional Club, has received a letter from the state railway commission announcing that a hearing will be held in the court room at this place March 30 beginning at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of determining the need of a new depot here. The city will be expected to produce proof to support the allegations in the petition to the commission requesting an order to the railroad company to erect a suitable station in Wayne.

For a long time the present depot has been considered by Wayne citizens as inadequate to the needs of the freight and passenger traffic at this point. The present depot is not large enough, and lacks modern conveniences. The platform between it and the tracks is too small to safely accommodate the crowds that gather when trains come in. The depot should be on the north side of the track to avoid the necessity of crossing the track to get to it. The groving freight and passenger business, due to this point and coming down the branch line, is said to render Wayne the busiest station on the company's line in northeast Nebraska. The reason why a new depot should be built promises to be fully presented at the hearing, and local lawyers will look after the city's interests at the hearing.

Two Weddings

Judge Jas. Britton officiated at two weddings at his office yesterday. Mr. Frank H. O'Gara was married to Miss Pearl Clark, both of Laurel, and Mr. Ben F. Sherburn was married to Miss Gleda Clark, both of Wayne.

AN EDITOR GETS A POSTOFFICE

Ponce Man Drinks Himself to Death—Mrs. Maggie Davis Convicted—Other Happenings.

It is said that Editor Hughes of the People's Republic has been slated for postmaster at Pender.

Barber was found dead at Pender on Wednesday of last week as the result of a drunken carousal participated in by himself and a number of companions.

April 1 has been designated as clean-up day at Lauron. It is a custom followed in many towns to get part of a day for a united attack on the winter's accumulation of ash, paper and rubbish generally.

Omaha Trade Journal: Publisher of the right sort is a most effective weapon on to use against unfair competition. But never make the mistake of abusing a competitor, no matter how unfair he may be, nor how much he may abuse you.

Pence Journal: Frank Skene came over on Monday evening for a visit at the P. F. Davey home. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Skene who were already visiting here and Frank were soon off for Gairford, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Maggie Davis has been convicted in the district court at Hastings of the murder of her husband, and sentenced to life imprisonment. An appeal has been taken. The defense tried to justify the killing on the ground of insanity, and a number of witnesses supported the insanity plea.

Carroll Times: Sam Black a resident of Magnet and a brother of W. W. Black of Carroll, died at his home at Magnet last week. Mr. Black was quite well known by many of the residents of Carroll who will be pained to learn of his death. He was buried under the auspices of Magnet I. O. O. F. lodge last Saturday.

Wakarusa Republican: The Wakarusa high school will this year graduate the largest class ever. There were three who were granted diplomas. The class of '11 also has some members as follows: Alta Green, Nora Larson, Irene Howard, Hilda Sloop, Della Long, Katie Carpenter, Bert Chillingworth, Harold Donelson, Charlie Paul.

Mrs. Mary Wheeler, the Randolph woman who smothered a number of windows in town, among them being the plate glass in the Security National bank, is held at Hastings on a charge of malicious mischief. She has a family of five children, and her husband, her husband who deserted her, the county has had to help her. It is probable her mind has broken down under more than her share of trouble.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Ago ought to give a man wisdom, but it seems to depend on the man. A. J. Bussell tells the story of a New York aristocrat in the case and fellow of fifty-old who was so wrought upon by the ravishing beauty of his stepdaughter that he raised her wages and began writing tender love messages which she didn't think meant for her, leading her job. Through a mere accident the wife of the fifty-old man got one of those love-laden missives and read it with considerable interest. Then she took it to the office, when she knew her husband would be absent and de- livered it to the one for whom it was intended. The young lady confessed that the letters from her employer were mighty annoying, and were tolerated for business reasons only. That evening in the rich man's home a same lecture was delivered, without excitement or effect, the party to whom it was addressed admitting that he was a shipping old idiot and promising to either reform or apply for admission to the home for the feeble-minded. And here ended the first lesson.

CANADA THE LAST WEST.

Now Offers More and Better Opportunities Than Any Other Country in the World.

The west, as far as the United States is concerned, is gone. The young men looking for a future, the old man looking for a place to build a home for himself and family at the least possible expense and effort are turning to the larger, broader and easily cultivated fields of western Canada which can now be bought at very reasonable prices. It is the present day land of opportunity. Fifty or twenty years ago land in the western states could be bought cheap but not any more. With development comes advance in land values. So it will be with Canada, but the man who buys cheap land in Canada now will not have to wait fifteen or twenty years for the advance. He will realize quicker returns than the man who bought cheap western lands in the United States. Things are done quicker in these days than they were. Development is more rapid. The Canadian Trans-Continental Rail Road have arranged to spend $500,000,000 in western Canada immediately. This is a demonstration of faith in this new country that's put to rout all question of doubt as to progress and development. With railroads come population and with population comes increase in land values. In western Canada, there are all kinds of good cheap land, especially in the Saskatchewan district, which has proven to be the most fertile wheat producing country in the world. Land in this district can now be bought for as low as $10.00 to $20.00 per acre, and on easy payments that we own over 100,000 acres in the fertile Saskatchewan district, and it will sell any man who is looking for a good investment or an opportunity to get a home and farm cheap. So write us for our book called "The Guide to the Last West." This book tells all you want to know about Canada and a copy will be sent to any body free of charge. Just send us your name and address—Jesse Lash & Development Co., Norfolk, Nebraska.

The Bill of Rights. The Bill of Rights in English history is the declaration made by the Lords and Commons to the Prince and Princess of Orange on February 13, 1689, in an act setting forth the rights and liberties of the subject, and settling the succession of the crown. This bill is virtually the beginning of free government in England. Never since it passed the parliament has British king dared to interfere with the fundamental rights of the British people. The Bill of Rights, while not original—the most of its principles being a repetition of those laid down in Magna Charta—is justly looked upon as the foundation of English freedom.

Eagles in England. Eagles in Canada are protected, and a young fellow gets seven days for robbing a nest on the famous Cragside Rock at Axminster. While the old eagle was away one of her two young was taken and kept as a pet for three months, but the bird ate two rabbits a day, so it was sold at too expensive, and the sheriff got wise.

United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separators.

The skimming power is there. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests, standing over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—91.82—of one per cent.

With the new interlocking skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so intensified, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so lengthened, the skimming force so increased, that the interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly one-half and runs with about half the power required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the incoming volume of the whole milk evenly outside the cream zone, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk, and you will see why it is that the interlocking Style U. S. Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

Hancock were in Wayne Tuesday afternoon, on their way home to Carroll from Foster, Neb., where they had visited a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Phipps. The X-Ray incubator factory is a very busy institution these days. Monday the firm shipped out 300 machines, and there are still a large number of machines going out every other day. Mrs. Van Norman of Moulville, Ill., was an arrival the latter part of last week, and expects to make his home with his brother in Wayne and find employment at the incubator factory. Christensen Bros. is the title of a new retail chain firm established in business here. O. M. Christensen of Harlan, Ia., and W. M. Christensen of Newman Grove, Neb., comprise the company, and they expect to devote themselves mainly to handling north-east Nebraska and southwest Minnesota lands. Last fall they bought the entire section of Dr. W. Stank just north of town, and the Burkholder quarter, five miles southwest of here. They are substantial citizens, and promise to be "five wires." Walter and Arthur Savage, who have been in Wayne this week, are getting ready for the show season. They will have two amusement companies this year, one a repertoire company and the other a carnival company. The former will be under the management of Arthur Savage, and will begin the season in Wayne May 1 with three days' entertainment, and the latter, under the management of Walter Savage, will start from this point, showing here four days beginning June 1. They are Wayne young men, and Wayne people are proud of their success. Ready to be surprised. "So far," said Brother Dickey, "though I had my ear to the ground for kerf, no smelt, no 'oom', I ain't heard no footstep or Mister Chris's man coming 'eray, an' I reckon he's gwine to take me by surprise by givin' me a whole ham!" Monument to Wine Maker. Epiphany, the center of the champagne country, has erected a monument in honor of the founder of its prosperity, the Benedictine monk, Don Perignon, 1638-1715, the inventor of the process for the manufacture of sparkling wine. Beech is immune. The beech is less often struck by lightning than any other tree; 54,000 are struck for 1,000,000.

WINDY MOVING PICTURES. If They Were Taken When the Air Was Still They Would Look Absolutely Dead. "What makes the wind blow so much in the moving pictures?" The question is asked by almost every one who has been bitten by the bug of the moving picture show. It is a fact that in every scene where there's hell a chance of getting up a breeze it blows around, or at least a brisk gale blows their hair in the trees in the background and the skirts of the harassed heroine in the front. A moving picture man solved the problem. "That's easy," he replied in answer to a query. "If the pictures were taken when the air was perfectly still, show-it-the-thing-character-appeared-to-be still the picture would be as dead looking as a 35-cent chromo of 'Twilight.' So a time is selected for photographing the scenes outside when the wind is playing old bow with things generally, trees swaying and skirts fluttering and hair flying—haven't you ever noticed how much more attractive a woman is when her hair is streaming behind her like the burgee on a racing yacht? Then too, when everything's busy moving it looks like there's something doing all around."

EARLY DAYS IN THREE COUNTIES

Taken from the Wayne Herald, of March 24, 1881, published by Hunter & Childs:
Z. Ziemer injured himself so badly in the fall that he was confined to the house.

hood there are snow drifts thirty feet deep by actual measurement.
The ever the Missouri river had not broken, but was expected to do so at any time.

Location of the town of Brookdale has been confirmed as reported in a recent issue of the Herald.
By the aid of his dog, W. A. Gler caught a deer alive, and John Britton, with the same aid, killed one, the first deer to be ever seen.

A Reynolds was in Pocon in the southern part of the county, and reported that his cattle were standing in the weather in good shape.
This shows that his locality is an immense display of nature's wholesale business.

Rep. from the Sioux City branch of the coal mining industry, the present plan of selection will be upset in the northwest.
Ministers can make any headway in preaching about hell, when the very notion of it has something comforting about it of this kind of death.

"It is stated that the reason of some loss among the cattle in the southern part of the county is that the farmers are standing their stock on the sunny side of a snow bank, which causes the hoariness to be of the burdens of life, and they lie down and die."

From the Harrison-Herald, March 22, 1881:
It is noted that M. S. Merrill was absent from a meeting of the village board of which he was a member.

This reference to the weather appears in winter is said to have been kicked up by the fact that some four or five of the biggest and most aristocratic planets of the solar system have all straggled round to the same side of the heavens, perhaps for the purpose of sending a political message, and thus being off together, have with their attractive qualities, doubtless acted on us, as it were, thereby pulling our atmosphere all out of shape, getting a cruel hitch on our electrical currents and magnetic fields.

From the Wayne Herald, March 19, 1881, published by W. H. McNeal:
Citizens of Pierce subscribed $3,500 as a bonus to get a normal school.

Big Crowd Hears Evangelist Hart's Address to Men on Sunday-Program for this Week
Evangelist Hart had no word of approval for the dance, whether executed in the exclusive circles of the home or in the public hall. He saw absolutely no good in it; no refining influence. He said:
Liberals are taken in the dance hall and even in the homes of the cities where the dance is tolerated, that would not under any other circumstances be permitted, and these very liberties culminate in the divorce court. No man, unless he is guilty of similar offenses, likes to see his wife in the arms of another man. True love respects any trespass upon its right, and the fact that the sexes embrace in an embrace of half in the presence of possibly hundreds of others; does not sanctify the deed, but in any such makes it all the more degrading.

THE SENTENCE

A small limp slice of black cloth is, according to ancient custom, put on the top of the judge's wig in England before he passes sentence of death, and is properly called the "sentence cap" or "black cap." Covering the head was a sign of mourning among the Israelites; Greeks, Romans and Anglo-Saxons, and is referred to in Samuel 4:16-36. Putting on the black cap is not a grim sign of revenge of the law, but is rather a token of sorrow, expressing the regret the judge feels at having to condemn the prisoner to death.

WEARING OF THE HOOD

In England the hood was not finally given up until the early part of the fifteenth century. The "great valvet hat" worn by the mayor of London, John Welles, in 1459, is cited as a singularity by Stow, who states that previously the coveture of men's heads was hooded, for neither cap or hat is spoken of in the laws. There are a few earlier instances of hats being worn by nobles and even the middle classes.

MAKING PEASUPE'S CRADLE

The poorest of India's wretched must have a peaspupe's basket or cradle, fashioned by her own careful fingers. The general design depends upon the customs and traditions of the tribe, and the materials used are determined by the natural resources of the region inhabited; but the ornamentation is dictated by the artist's ingenuity and artistic perceptions.

GRAND JURY IS CALLED.
A special Grand Jury in the Norfolk Daily News says:
George Berry, the well known Norfolk sheep ranchman, was elected for the Madison county grand jury which was organized here yesterday and departed from Norfolk today to perform acts of alleged law violation that may be brought before it. There is still considerable mystery as to just exactly what crimes the grand jury has been called to investigate.

Judge Welch put the grand jurors under all sorts of restrictions as to secrecy and they went into secret session in the county commissioners' room at the court house. The grand jury do not know anybody is permitted to enter. County Attorney Nichols is on hand, where he can be called at any time, but he is silent.

It is expected that all indictments against these men will be returned at the next term of court here this Monday.

SUICIDE AT GREGORY.
Special from Gregory, S. D., to the Norfolk Daily News:
Last night about 23, a gentleman who came here last fall from Sioux City, committed suicide about 3 o'clock p.m. at the Lewellyn hotel in this city. Jones used the fire escape porch by tying one end around his neck and the other around a window sill, and he fell to his death. He had evidently been dead two hours when discovered dangling from the side of the building by people passing. Dependable for want of funds and dependent on his wife's earnings, he committed the act. The cause of the lid on gambling in Gregory has made that calling unprofitable.

GRACE BARGHOLZ.
Mr. Robert Graf, son of Michael Graf of Winnsie, and Miss Ella Bargholz, daughter of Henry Bargholz of Winnsie, were married at the Germania Lutheran church in Winnsie, Wednesday at 4 o'clock by Rev. J. H. Karpenstein. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white tulle. Miss Ella Graf and Mr. Gustav Graf, sister and brother of the groom, attended the ceremony. They will reside on a farm two miles from Winnsie.

DEATH OF INFANT GIRL.
Kathleen, daughter of James Griffin and Mrs. J. T. Leidy of Wayne, died in a hospital at Sioux City Saturday. The little one who was born December 27, 1909, was seized with appendicitis and was taken to Sioux City where an operation was performed. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's church in Wayne, and interment took place in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Wm. Keams officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Leidy have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to tender heartfelt thanks to the kind friends who gave sympathy and assistance during the fatal illness and funeral of our beloved child, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Leidy.

W. J. BRYAN HONORED.
The fifty-third birthday anniversary of W. J. Bryan was celebrated by a crowd of 1,300 friends at a banquet in Lincoln Monday. Chas. Clark, Senator Owen, Senator Kern and Richard L. Metcalf were among the speakers. All of them praised the great orator, Nebraskan, and emphasized the value of his public service to the state and nation.
The following paragraph from the pen of Mr. Bryan gives the high personal estimate of Mr. Bryan when she first met him, and is interesting:
"My personal knowledge of Mr. Bryan dates from September, 1870. It was then that I met him on his junior year. I saw him—first in the parlors of the young ladies' school which he attended in Jacksonville. He entered the room with several other students, was taller than the rest, and attracted my attention at once. His face was pale and thin; a pair of keen dark eyes and a thin nose were prominent features. He wore a broad-brimmed straw hat to look well, I thought; a broad thin-lipped mouth and a spare chin, completed the contour of his face. He was not thought to be 'fastidious' in dress, and he wore a simple suit. I noted particularly his hair and his smile. The former, black in color, and in quality, and parted distastefully; the latter, expansive and generous. In later years this smile has been the subject of considerable comment, but the well rounded cheeks of Mr. Bryan now check its onward march, and no one has seen the real breadth of the smile who did not see it in the early days. Upon one occasion, a hearless observer was heard to remark that man can smile in his own ear, but this was a cruel exaggeration."

LEARNING TO LIKE POETRY
Dean of Salisbury Pleds Out the Way in Which a Taste For It May Be Cultivated.
"I have no patience," said the dean of Salisbury, in a recent address, with people who automatically say they do not care for some of the best products of the human mind. If you have not, at present, a liking for poetry," added the dean, "then make one."
"But how? Choose a poet who is generally acknowledged to be a true poet, and read him every day, and read him every day, even if it be but for five minutes, read a page carefully, noting every suggestive word and visualizing every scene. The important word in that advice is the word 'carefully.' Poetry must be read carefully or it were better read. Its beauties should be noted, the subtlest and sweetest beauties are not those that hit you in the eye. Read carefully and read honestly. Don't, for heaven's sake, make any excuse of enjoying something you do not enjoy or of seeing things that you do not see. Better far never read a line than to do that. But but for something that really appeals to you, and when you find it tie it to you and make it yours. If it is nothing more than a happy phrase, you will be surprised to find how quickly you will grow adept in the search for such beauties, even as a school-boy grows adept in the search of fiction, or a student of an archaeologist in the search for flint arrow-heads.—Current Literature.

A Learned Russian Baby.
William Lyon Phelps tells the story about Louise, Louis Stevenson as illustrating the co-mopolitanism of Russian character, which Professor Phelps says is unaccountable inasmuch as the international expert and philosopher of Russian novels, Stevie's writing from Moscow to his mother Jan. 7, 1874, said: "We have two little Russian girls with the youngest of whom a little polyglot father of three or four I had the most laughs the little seven at lunch today. Second youngest is French, and she is everlastingly laugh very much. After some examination she announced occasionally to the whole table in French that I was a madman. This busy conclusion as to my sex she had after several days, but her opinion was unshaken in a language quite unknown to me and probably Russian. To complicate the report of her accomplishments she said proudly to me in very commendable English: 'Three days later Stevenson added: "The little Russian girl is only two and a half. She speaks six languages."

"A Right and Lawful Road"
An excellent idea of road and ready methods of arriving at a measurement is the Elizabethan way of getting the "feet." Ptolemy, Lehigh, who wrote an surveying treatise after service on Sunday sixteen men were stopped at the church door, just as they happened to come out, and they were taken to the church. The length thus obtained was taken as "a right and lawful road to measure and survey the land with," and a sixteenth part of it as a right and lawful foot. Although big and little men were thus roughly averaged against each other, the results naturally varied to some extent. From it is, as Shaw Sparrow notes in treating of this road as the architectural "bay" which gives us the "bay window" that a boy is sometimes found to be rather less than sixteen feet of twelve inches.—London Chronicle.

His Shepherd and His Flock.
A certain good bishop was in Italy for his health, and while walking in the country one day he met a small girl who was leading some pigs. The bishop was surprised to find a great deal of trouble, and the good bishop offered to stay and watch the ones that were straying and rooting in a ditch while the little shepherdess had to go to the two runways that had strayed from the fold. When she came back the reverend gentleman stroked the angelic curls, kissed the child and offered her how much she earned by her hard work and was told that she received 4 soldi a day.
"Do you know," said he, "that I, too, am a shepherd? But I earn much more than you."
"Ah, yes," answered the little peasant, "but you don't see how much more pigs than I do."

Impending the World War.
In Germany they are celebrating annually. Trained bands are held in leash until the time of the war is over, and then they are let go. On such occasions, however, the wild and mad and "madder" they get. Sometimes they are let loose in a state of excitement to kill in a long series of short sword-fights. The fighter spins his boarding speed along in an almost terrific "hug" divided with huge sword-fencing. Heaving over sideways to the earth, the sportsman thrusts his spear dull and deadened in the soil and the winner then struts upward and turned off with a flourish of his sword on the wild hog rushes, and with all the impetus of his long flight he plunges upon the spear point and there, impaled, dies a bloody death.

Peculiarity of Sea Otter Fur.
"This collar," said a furrier, "is sea otter skin, the costliest for known purposes, but it is not so costly as you would pay $1,000 for a silver fur skin you'd pay $2,000 for a sea otter. It is only the Russians, the world's greatest fur buyers, who go for this most precious of all furs. They use it exclusively for coat collars. Why? For a strange reason, an unaccountable reason. Sea otter is the only fur in which the breath won't freeze."—Chicagoan Equivocal.

MacPherson's Testimony.
The Aberdeen building is right—Bryan's, a deal of sufferin' attendant on your whisky drinkin', for MacPherson's yell mind—no whisky man's drinkin' his air whisky there's the terrible expense take think of an' while he's drinkin' a friend's whisky he drinks some London that he suffers terrible the mornin'—London M. A. 3.

The Sequence.
It was a Kingston (Oj.) woman who recently also got into hot water of the carcass bit question in a new way. She said: "I got a girl to relieve me of physical fatigue, and soon I got rid of her to relieve my mental fatigue."

Cited His Own Case.
Singleton—Even a married man has a right to his own whisky. I'm a peckle—My dear fellow, it isn't a question of right—it's a question of courage.—Philadelphia Record.

Little Words.
Out of the 237 words in Abraham Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg speech are some of the most valuable. I don't list the big words that count—New York Herald.

The Recoll.
Sophomore—Wonder what makes the telegraph lines hum? Senior—I've wired and for dough, and I guess he's talking about Chicago.

Long as the stream.
The stream that flows in the republic of Brazil, says L'Etouffe du Sud, a French paper, published in Rio de Janeiro, has a river that carries one of the greatest forces of any stream in the world. The name is of Indian origin and is "Tamanduatey," and is also called without saving anything in length, "River of the Great Tamanduatey."
Desirable Locality.
"In your suburbs healthful?" "No, unless you're a millionaire." My wife's just had voice as soon as we moved out here, and "What's the price of the lot next to yours?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Plans have been completed for the establishment of great preserves in Africa where the elephant may be free from the attacks of hunters. In some parts of the Congo the elephant has been exterminated.

They had to be scolded. Teacher Miss Chinese Boys Fight. That Being Only Fault She Knew How to Correct. The doctor who tried to throw all his patients into the sea because that was the only thing he knew how to cure, has his counterpart in the young Sunday school teacher who was transferred to the Chinese quarter from an Irish neighborhood where fighting was being talked up to reform. All had been ordered to stay the fight microbes were known to her, but three Chinese boys have yet to learn that water were made to fight with her teeth and fists. Each had, she was positive, was feeling with subtle Oriental wickedness, but that was much harder to tackle than the rampant Irish-American variety she had been used to. At last she managed to stir up a real fight between two Chinese youths, but before their fists had been done the mission superintendent interfered and rebuked her for allowing so much bad blood to come to a head. "But what could I do?" she said helplessly. "I just had to let them fight. They all needed to be scolded for something, and that is the only thing I know how to correct them for."

THE WEEK AT STATE NORMAL

WHAT THE STUDENTS ARE DOING

Members of Faculty on Program for Teachers' Meeting at Norfolk—The Coming Debate.

President Conn will address a part of his meeting at Wakefield Friday afternoon.

Miss Vivian Campbell was summoned to her home at Emerson on Tuesday by a message announcing the death of her father.

Evangelist Hartz and Rev. Corkey were visitors Tuesday morning. Mr. Corkey led devotional exercises and Mr. Hartz gave an inspiring address to the students.

Miss Ethel M. Kenaston of Battle Nebraska, enrolled for work Monday morning. Miss Kenaston has just closed a six months' term of school in Boyd county and will spend the remainder of the year being re-enrolled in the Normal.

Professor E. J. Huestner has just begun the erection of a fine residence on his lot south of the Normal school grounds. This will be a one-story building, 30 by 40 feet, with basement. The contract was awarded to J. H. Foster and calls for the completion of the building by July 1.

The contract for printing 7000 announcements for the summer school has been awarded to Hammond Printing Company of Fremont. These announcements will be completed and ready for mailing on April 1. There will be a 10-page booklet printed in duplicate the work outfit for the summer term, which is to begin on June 6 and continue eight weeks.

The debating team which was selected to meet Peru is now busily engaged in gathering material for this fight. The contest will be held early in May. The question for discussion is, "Resolved, That the United States Should Fortify the Panama Canal." Wayne has chosen the affirmative side of this question and the school will be represented by James Britton, Walter Hahn and G. E. Coes.

A program has been received announcing the meeting of the North-east Nebraska Teachers' association to be held at Norfolk on March 30 and 31. The Wayne Normal will be represented in this program by Miss Hahn as the representative of education, Professor Hahn as the representative of the English department and Miss Kenaston as the representative of drawing and industrial art. Professor Hahn is announced as one of the principal lecturers of the session, and he will also appear on the program in one of the sectional meetings.

The friends of the Normal continue to watch with much interest the work of the legislature. Up to the present time the Normal school at Wayne has been well cared for. The bill appropriating the maintenance fund received by the institution for the use of the library was signed by the governor some time ago. The bill asking for $55,000 for a new library and science hall has been enacted into law with the emergency clause and this fund is available to begin work on the new building at once. The bills for salaries and general maintenance have passed the House and will receive the attention of the Senate this week. Another bill asking for $15,000 for water and water is on general file in the house.

A visit to the model school rooms last Friday afternoon evidences that two-story houses and apartments the excellent work being done in the grades by Miss Fairchild and Miss Stocking. Our visit was during the noon intermission, yet nearly every child in either department was in his seat and at work not from necessity but from choice. The interest shown by the children in industrial work was especially pleasing. The Model School is exhibiting some very fine work in this line. The clay modeling in Miss Fairchild's room shows very careful work, while the radio baskets are well made and have good design. The weaving and reed baskets in Miss Stocking's room is unusually good. The children of the third grade take great pride in their baskets, bouquet holders and napkin rings. The baskets and bouquet holders have been stained and varnished and look very much like the expensive Japanese basketry.

NEWS FROM WAYNE SCHOOLS

At a recent meeting of the board of education all the teachers of the present corps were re-elected, and were given one week to decide whether they will hold their respective positions next year or not. On Saturday evening the board of education will assemble to fill vacancies, should any occur.

braska at Norfolk, the former on Thursday evening, March 30 and the latter on Friday evening, March 31.

Miss West, an eighth grade teacher, will discuss "The Systematic Teaching of Ethics" in the grade section of the Teachers' association, on Thursday afternoon.

Our senior class will play "The Mishap of Marrows" this spring. The characters have been assigned and all are working hard to make the class play a great success. The class is hoping to realize a dividend, over and above all expenses to leave a worthy class gift to the high school.

On Friday morning the tenth grade gave the following at St. Patrick's day program, with Raymond Fox presiding: Piano solo, Ruth Sutherland; historical sketches of Ireland, Frank Stoddard; Ireland and its people, Martha Weber; St. Patrick, Louise Deitch.

Those of the kindergarten pupils who are to be first grade pupils next year are being taught reading from now on preparatory for first grade work.

The pictures recently purchased for our decorating contest have arrived and will be placed in the school rooms at once. They are universally pronounced "beautiful."

Our schools will have an exhibition at the Teachers' association next week.

FARM HOUSE UP IN ICELAND

Typical Structure of Turf in the Guest Room of Which Was an Organ Made in Vermont.

The guest room contained a negro bed, a big round table and an organ made in Brattleboro, Vt. On host produced the usual box of sauff, and with it a box of good cigars.

The host and hostess then showed us all over the house. It is a turf structure and is typical of the older farm houses, with narrow, dark, windowless corridors, in labyrinthine maze from room to room. One passage-way leads to a large open mound where a fire is made to smoke, heat and dry and to establish the stable house and everything in it. Another passage-way leads to another kitchen with a modern stove. The walls are all of turf. In the roof with fast enough detension in the roof to make a framework to hold it in place. Very steep stairs lead up to the badstods, or sleeping apartment. The badstods, in fact, forms the sitting and common work room of the family, especially in winter, as well as the sleeping room of the entire household. Bricks built into the wall extend around the room and are often filled with sawdust or treacherous sawdust to throw a felt or two or several and a thick coverlet of old rags. The floors are sometimes covered with boards, but more often consist of damp earth. Examining the shelves, we found numerous articles of domestic economy, while large chests containing clothing and valuables are scattered throughout the house. Springfield Republican.

Breaking the News. Six months after the Assau line had been laid down an earthquake, happened and rangled up the teacher completely. One native station-master, whose platforms had been swallowed up by the earth and whose tracks had changed into a switchback railway, wired his chief: "Sir, act of God occurred here, please arrange."
